To the Board of Trustees of Agnes Scott College:

AT THE CONCLUSION of the seventy-fourth year of Agnes Scott's service in the education of young women, I present herewith my twelfth annual report as president of the college.

In prefacing the report of the past year's activities on this campus I want to bring to your attention two statements—one from a well-known literary figure, and the other from a college publication.

The late E. E. Cummings has left us truth worth pondering in this brief paragraph:

Better worlds are born, not made, and their birthdays are the birthdays of individuals. The significant birthday of an individual is not the day he is born. The significant birthday is the day he realizes he is responsible for the kind of person he will be and assumes conscious and planned direction of the process.

A recent statement from a Pomona College publication impresses me with its timeliness and practical sense:

The very expensive, small private liberal arts college is justified in a period of universal public education only if it aims at producing, and succeeds in producing, men and women capable of creative and imaginative leadership at every level of the social hierarchy and in every area of knowledge and action.

Those of us who bear responsibility for such a college as Agnes Scott are aware that the validation of our efforts is to be found in our product. Are we able to do something for young people that is, in any sense, distinctive and determinative? Is it factual that the home, the church, the immediate and larger community receive persons from our campus who are disciplined to think, liberated from prejudice and narrow provincialism, and who are prepared to stand up to life with resourcefulness and courage? Is the impact of a college with ideals and purposes such as ours different in any sense from that of other types of institutions of higher learning? Are we deceiving ourselves in claiming that a relatively small Christian liberal arts college is best qualified to help undergraduates in their total development?

In my Annual Report for 1956-1957 I made an assertion that continues to seem important, particularly at the close of the period of intense self-examination and reappraisal in which Agnes Scott has been involved during the past two years: The students who . . . go from our campus to hundreds of communities throughout the world are our product—and the validity of our effort as a Christian liberal arts college is ultimately determined by the value of their lives. The importance of Agnes Scott as a college cannot be estimated by numbering our alumnae; the number, of course, will always be relatively small. Nor can the contribution of this institution be measured accurately merely by determining the wealth or the renown of our graduates. The ultimate test is the intrinsic worth of Agnes Scott students, here and after college days are over, in the homes that they establish—the professional and business careers upon which they enter—the church, civic, educational, and social relationships that they maintain. I am quite willing for Agnes Scott's contribution to be measured in such terms; that it should be so measured is, at any rate, inevitable.

Administrative Policies and Plans

COLLEGE SELF-STUDY

We have completed our period of self-study which was begun in January of 1961 as a part of a plan of periodic institutional appraisal fostered by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. The program has involved members of the administration and faculty, trustees, alumnae, and students in a careful survey of all areas of Agnes Scott's life. A visiting committee representing the Commission on Colleges and Universities of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools came to the campus last February for a period of review and appraisal. This committee was composed as follows:

John R. Hubbard, Dean of Newcomb College of Tulane University, Chairman
Sarah L. Healy, Dean of Women, University of Alabama
Marguerite Roberts, Dean of Westhampton College, University of Richmond
James A. Servies, Librarian, College of William and Mary
Edwin R. Walker, President of Queens College

It is our intention, of course, to give careful attention to the findings of the visiting committee when they are received in final form. The committee spoke appreciatively of the "monumental two-volume work, the first of which is a narrative report and the second containing the appendix and reports of all the questionnaires used in the compilation of the information presented." These documents, compiled by a steering committee under the chairmanship of Dean C. Benton Kline, Jr., provided the guide lines for the inquiry by the committee.

SEVENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

Agnes Scott must raise $350,000 by January 26, 1964, in order to complete successfully our $10,500,000 seventy-fifth anniversary development objective and to claim an anonymous challenge gift of an additional $500,000. An intensive effort to raise the remaining amount is now in progress.

The development program in which we are engaged was projected by the Board of Trustees in 1953. The capital funds that have been raised during this period are being used to strengthen the endowment and to provide much-needed additions and improvements to the college's physical properties.

Construction will begin in the late fall on a fine arts building, to be located in the area south of Presser and Campbell halls. This building will be occupied by our departments of art and speech and drama. Exhibition galleries, an outdoor sculpture court, seminar and classrooms, studio facilities for painting, sculpture, and ceramics, and a little theatre are included in the plans. This structure will bear the name of Mr. Charles A. Dana of Wilton, Connecticut, who recently announced a gift of $350,000 to be used in erecting the building. The architectural firm of Edwards and Portman has been authorized to prepare plans and specifications for the building.

OUR ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

While, in a broad sense, the entire college session of 1963-1964 will commemorate Agnes Scott's seventy-fifth anniversary, the specific plans for observance will begin with a thanksgiving convocation on Founder's Day, February 22, and will conclude with Commencement on June 8, 1964. It is hoped that the anniversary events will point the college forward for the next quarter of a century.

We are planning to present a very unusual lecture series during 1963-1964. Distinguished men and women of letters, scientific pursuits, religion and philosophy, public affairs, and the fine arts will interpret and relate their respective areas of specialization to the remaining years of this century. Among our anniversary lecturers who have accepted invitations are Wernher von Braun, director of the Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Alabama; Viktor Frankl, author, lecturer, and professor of neurology and psychiatry at the University of Vienna Medical School; Charles P. Taft, distinguished statesman, lawyer, and churchman; Margaret Mead, curator, American Museum of Natural History and adjunct professor of anthropology, Columbia University; Charles P. Snow, writer, lecturer, and scientist; Mark Van Doren, writer, lecturer, and professor emeritus, Columbia University; Huston Smith, professor of philosophy, Massachusetts Institute of Technology;

Helmut Thielicke, professor of systematic theology and social ethics at the University of Hamburg and guest preacher at St. Michael's Church, Hamburg, Germany; Albert C. Outler, Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University (Religious Emphasis Week speaker); Paul Scherer, visiting professor of homiletics, Princeton Theological Seminary; Ferenc Nagy, writer, lecturer, prime minister of Hungary in 1946; George M. Docherty, minister of New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, Washington, D. C. (Baccalaureate preacher); and LeRoy Collins, ex-governor of Florida and currently president of the National Association of Broadcasters (Commencement speaker). The Budapest String Quartet will be presented on March 6.

Alumnae Week End, scheduled for April 24 and 25, will be one of the central occasions of the anniversary year. Featured events will be a dinner honoring area leaders in the forty-five area campaigns throughout the nation and a lecture by Mrs. Walter C. Dowling, alumna and wife of our former ambassador to West Germany. Mrs. Dowling will speak on "The Role of the Educated Woman in World Affairs."

DEVELOPMENTAL READING PROGRAM

Agnes Scott will offer again this fall a developmental reading program staffed by The Reading Laboratory of Philadelphia. All entering students will be tested for reading competence, and returning students will have the opportunity to be tested. Students participating in the program will have instruction three times a week, for seven weeks, beginning October 7. Three previous offerings of the program have met with good response, and students have found a marked improvement in comprehension and rate of reading.

CONTINUING EDUCATION FOR ALUMNAE

For the second consecutive year, a program of continuing education will be offered Atlanta area alumnae and their husbands this fall. Three courses will be offered concurrently on five Tuesday nights, October 29-November 26, from 7:30-9:30 p.m. The courses are as follows: American Political Biographies (Mr. Posey); Existential Themes in Modern Thought—Religion, Psychology and Philosophy (Mr. Chang, Mrs. Drucker, Dean Kline); and Relationships Among the Fine Arts (Mr. Hensel, Miss Osborne, Mrs. Pepe, Mr. Singdahlsen, Mrs. Walker).

Faculty and Staff

PERSONNEL

There are currently seventy-seven teaching members of the Agnes Scott faculty. Of these, 70% hold the Ph.D. degree. The ratio of students to faculty is 9.5 to 1.

Additions to the faculty during the 1962-1963 session were the following: Margaret Williams Powell (B.A. Franklin College, M.A. University of Chicago, Ph.D. Indiana University), visiting professor of classical languages and literatures (winter and spring); Erika Meyer Shiver (B.A., M.A. State University of Iowa; Ph.D. University of Wisconsin), visiting professor of German; Marion T. retary in the alumnae office (formerly assistant to the librarian); Patricia Rogers Dufeny (B.A. Agnes Scott College), assistant to the librarian; Elizabeth D. Smith (B.A. Roanoke College, M.C.E. Presbyterian School of Christian Education), Nancy Bond (B.A. Agnes Scott College), Jo Claridy (B.A. Agnes Scott College), and Elizabeth K. Moore, assistants to the dean of students; Harriett Elder Manley (B.A. Agnes Scott College), secretary to the registrar and to the director of admissions (resigned January, 1963); Mary Agnes Anderson (B.A. Agnes Scott College), secretary to the registrar and to the director of admissions; Della Cook Ray, manager of the bookstore; Hendrica Schepman, manager of the alumnae house; Marie Lewis, manager of the mailroom and assistant in the office of the business manager (formerly secretary to the treasurer); Louise C. Altman, bookkeeper; Miriam Y. Smalley, secretary to the treasurer; Jerrye Foreman (R.N.), associate resident nurse; and Sara Brisendine, assistant to the dietitian.

New faculty appointments for the 1963-1964 session include the following: Ludwig Richard Dewitz (B.D. University of London, Ph. D. Johns Hopkins University), visiting professor of Bible (spring quarter); Dean Greer McKee (B.A. Parsons College; S.T.B., S.T.M., Th.D. The Biblical Seminary), visiting professor of Bible; Charles Blanton Cousar (B.A. Davidson College, B.D. Columbia Theological Seminary, Ph.D. University of Aberdeen), visiting associate professor of Bible; Joan Elizabeth O'Bannon (B.S. University of Maryland; M.A., Ph.D. University of Virginia), visiting assistant professor of economics; Frederick C. Giffin (B.A. Denison University, M.A. Emory University), visiting instructor in history; Philip Benton Reinhart (B.S., M.S. Yale University), instructor in physics; Jay C. Fuller (B.S. Johns Hopkins University; Teacher's Certificate in Piano, Peabody Conservatory), visiting instructor in music (fall quarter); Mary McDonald Brittain (B.A. Agnes Scott College, M.A. Emory University), visiting instructor in education (fall quarter); Sue Sexton Trotter (B.A. Wellesley College; certificat d'études françaises, l'Université de Grenoble), visiting instructor in French (fall quarter). Marion T. Clark and Erika M. Shiver, who were visiting members of the faculty in 1962-1963, will be professors of chemistry and German, respectively.

New appointments to the administrative staff are as follows: Ann Ward Bullard (B.A. Montreat College, B.B.E. Columbia Theological Seminary) and Alvia Rose Cook (B.A. Agnes Scott College, M.Ed. Harvard University), assistants to the dean of students; Rosa Margaret Frederick (B.A. Agnes Scott College) and Mary Beth Thomas (B.A. Agnes Scott College), assistants to the registrar and to the director of admissions; Lilly M. Grimes, bookkeeper in the office of the treasurer; Inez W. Paddon (R.N.), resident nurse in charge of the infirmary; Evelyn M. Payne, secretary to the director of public relations and development; Linda Lee Phillips, secretary in the library; Anne Ramsey, secretary in the office of the registrar-director of admissions; and Mariane Wurst (B.A. Agnes Scott College), secretary in the alumnae office and senior resident.

The following promotions are effective with the 1963-1964 session: Frances Clark to associate professor of French and Merle G. Walker to associate professor of philosophy and chairman of the department. Lillian Newman and Ione Murphy, assistant librarian and assistant dean of students, have been promoted to the faculty rank of assistant professor.

Members of the faculty who will be on leave during 1963-1964 are Paul Leslie Garber, professor of Bible; Koenraad W. Swart, associate professor of history; Elvena M. Green, assistant professor of speech and drama; Miriam Drucker, associate professor of psychology (winter quarter); Everett T. Keach, Jr., assistant professor of education (fall quarter); and Mary Virginia Allen, associate professor of French (fall quarter).

Miss Melissa Annis Cilley, assistant professor of Spanish, has retired after thirty-two years of devoted service to Agnes Scott College. We are planning to set up the Melissa Annis Cilley Library Fund as an appropriate means of honoring her for her service to the college.

The faculty salary scale for the 1963-1964 session is being advanced again at each rank. The median salary for full professors is being increased from $8,500 to $9,000; for associate professors from $7,500 to $8,000; for assistant professors, from $6,400 to $6,800; and for instructors, from $5,200 to $5,500. This increase in salaries for faculty and staff people amounts to approximately $50,000. The college is getting this money through the increase in tuition for new students in accordance with the schedule adopted by the Board of Trustees. The following table shows the increase in median faculty salaries since the 1951-1952 session:

	1951-52	1963-64
Full professor median . . . . .	$4,350	$9,000
Associate professor median . . . . .	3,575	8,000
Assistant professor median . . . . .	2,925	6,800
Instructor median . . . . .	2,400	5,500

Buildings and Grounds

CAMPUS AND PLANT improvements undertaken last summer, in addition to the usual painting and repair work in housing units and other buildings, were as follows:

Renovation and air conditioning of the college bookstore.

Renovation of the treasurer's office.

Soundproofing of the visual aid rooms in Buttrick Hall.

Installation of food and drink dispensing machines on the ground floor of Buttrick, in the area below the lobby.

Razing of Cunningham and Tart houses in order to clear the site for a new dormitory; installation of sewerage mains in the new dormitory area.

Renovation of college houses at 220 and 226 South McDonough Street for use as living units during 1962-1963.

Construction of three parking areas: one south of Presser and in front of Campbell Hall; one between Hopkins Hall and College Avenue; one in the area behind two college houses at 184 and 206 South Candler. These parking areas were designed to alleviate crowded conditions, particularly when special events bring visitors to the campus.

Installation of fluorescent lighting in the reserve book room, and of additional lamps on the tables in the main reading room of the McCain Library.

Soundproofing of the language laboratory.

Included in the program of improvements authorized for the summer of 1963 are the following:

Major repairs to the power plant. The present boilers will be retubed and repaired. We propose to install new stokers in both boilers and to install twin gas burners in one boiler. In addition, we are replacing pumps, motors, valves, and piping where needed so as to insure adequate service for the coming session.

Provision for a new electrical distribution center to give relief to our overloaded electrical service. We propose to build an underground vault to allow for present demands and for the future load increases.

Decorate and refurnish Inman lobby.

New flooring on main floor of Murphey Candler Student Activities Building. Repainting. Fan heaters installed downstairs.

Rooms 105 and 205 Buttrick Hall partitioned to give additional classroom and office space. White stone around front entrance steam cleaned.

Redecoration of date parlors in Agnes Scott Hall.

New lighting in post office. Purchase of additional mail boxes to provide one for each student and faculty member.

Re-upholster furniture in library, in addition to extensive repairs, new flooring, plaster and painting.

Raze cottages at 220 and 226 South McDonough Street and at 155 South Candler Street.

Provide additional telephone facilities.

Routine repairing and painting in college buildings.

The Trustees have named the new dormitory "Winship Hall" in honor of the Winship family, and particularly in grateful recognition of the distinguished service rendered to Agnes Scott by the late George Winship, chairman of the Board during the years 1938-1956. The dormitory, accommodating 146 students and 3 senior residents, will be ready for occupancy when college opens in the fall. Plans and specifications for Winship Hall were prepared by the architectural firm of Ivey and Crook. Barge and Company has constructed the building. A dedicatory occasion will be arranged in the fall of 1963.

Trustees

THE TERMS of the following Trustees expired with the annual meeting of the Board on May 10, 1963: Mr. G. Lamar Westcott (Synodical, Georgia), Mr. James A. Minter, Jr. (Synodical, Alabama), Mr. Hal L. Smith (Corporate), Mr. Charles F. Stone (Corporate), Dr. Harry A. Fifield (Corporate), Mr. George W. Woodruff (Corporate), Mr. Alex P. Gaines (Corporate), and Mrs. Leonard E. LeSourd (Alumnae).

By action of the Board at the annual meeting, Mr. Westcott was re-elected as Synodical Trustee for a term of four years, subject to ratification by the Synod of Georgia, Presbyterian Church (U.S.); Mr. Minter was re-elected as Synodical Trustee for a term of four years, subject to ratification by the Presbyterian Synod of Alabama; Mr. Smith, Mr. Stone, Dr. Fifield, Mr. Woodruff, and Mr. Gaines were re-elected as Corporate Trustees for terms of four years each; and Mrs. LeSourd was re-elected as an Alumnae Trustee for a term of two years, subject to ratification by the National Agnes Scott Alumnae Association.

At the annual meeting of the Board on May 10, 1963, Mr. Hal L. Smith was re-elected as chairman, Mr. William C. Wardlaw, Jr. as vice-chairman, and the President of the College as secretary.

Agnes Scott College is exceedingly fortunate in the men and women who serve on the Board of Trustees. The members of the administration are grateful for the fellowship and encouragement of Board members. I am particularly appreciative of the devoted service that the Board has rendered during the past year. I anticipate the continued association with the Trustees as we enter upon the seventy-fifth anniversary year at Agnes Scott.

Respectfully submitted,
