Hard Calls for 90s Medical Professionals

PIEL '40, GILLEY '77 AND WEAVER '60 DISCUSS THE ETHICS OF MODERN MEDICINE

Now, we can't allow anyone to die," says Carolyn Forman Piel '40, a retired pediatric nephrologist and research professor emeritus at University of California, San Francisco. With the coming of kidney transplants in the early 1960s, ethical dilemmas have become commonplace and reflect the dramatic change in Piel's field since she entered medicine in 1946. Prior to the time when kidney transplants became possible, nature took its course among children born without kidney function; they were allowed to die. "Unfortunately, many parents [today] insist on doing everything to save a child's life. But there are difficult questions to consider, 'Will the child be able to exist normally?' 'What will be the quality of its life?' All of us are going to have to decide how much technology we can afford," in terms of real costs as well as emotional costs.

Piel's concerns mirror those of others in health professions, where wrestling with arduous ethical questions is as routine as a daily vital signs check. As often as not, the answers to many ethical interrogatories fall somewhere in the gray areas, neither black nor white.

For Beth Mason Gilley '77, a pediatrician affiliated with East Tennessee Children's Hospital, her attitude toward "extraordinary" intervention and its cost has changed completely since her residency at Memphis' LeBonheur Children's Medical Center (1987-90). The ASC graduate admits she was jaded in those days when vast amounts of public money were expended on pulling children of teenage (often drug-using) mothers "from the clutches of death" only to place them in less-than-ideal homelife situations. However, "when you pulled back from resuscitating a baby that was dying in front of you, you didn't know how its life would turn out." At best its future was shaky.

Today, the Knoxville resident and mother of two says she sees the long-term perspective a bit more clearly. Some babies will always have problems, she acknowledges, but it's impossible to be cognizant of a newborn's potential. Some will fight off severe illnesses and live normal, healthy lives.

The public as well as the private costs of health care are staggering, but the repercussions of an ailing America that postpones or goes without medical treatment are just as costly, if not more so.

Physician's assistant Myra Glasure Weaver '60, who serves a low-income, largely Hispanic clientele in Austin, Texas, sees what happens when people try to survive without health care benefits. Her patients are homeless teens or low-paid and uninsured workers who live at or below the poverty line and who "fall between the cracks of Medicaid and Medicare." Because they cannot afford care, many postpone seeing a doctor until their problems are severe. At that point, help is sought through a hospital emergency room.

About 50 percent of these cases are not emergency situations and are referred to the Blackstock Family Health Center, where Weaver serves. Weaver and the clinic attempt to form an ongoing relationship with patients to prevent health problems from becoming severe. Prevention, she stresses, should be the goal of both the individual and the overall health-care system.

Weaver believes all humans have a right to receive health care, a conviction backed by her faith and service as a Presbyterian elder. She also endorses the medical team approach, practiced at Blackstock. Midlevel practitioners (such as physician's assistants and nurse practitioners) stretch health care dollars that enable medical practices to see more patients, more affordably, she explains.

Close-up on Health and Science

In this edition of MAIN EVENTS, you will be given a closer look at Agnes Scott graduates who are involved in an array of health and science fields. On the cover, Doctors Beth Gilley '77 and Carolyn Piel '40, and physician's assistant Myra Weaver '60 discuss ethical dilemmas which they face daily; and Patricia McGuire White '74 discusses the award-winning SHARP!Women program. Inside, Holly Bennett Rielly '77 recounts the experience of having three kidney transplants; Susan Mead '82 relays her mid-wife assisted child birth experience; Anne Herman Dunwody '52 conveys the attributes of the hospice movement; and Randy Jones '70 and her firm are recognized for the marketing of an Atlanta hospital. Look for similar special focuses in future editions.

Changes to Come

The Office of Publications has been listening to the suggestions of your class secretaries and the Alumnae Association's Strategic Planning Committee and is planning an expanded schedule for MAIN EVENTS. Look for more details coming soon.

Success for SHARP!Women

SUMMER SCIENCE AND MATHEMATICS PROGRAM GAINS NATIONAL RECOGNITION

Project Kaleidoscope (PKAL), a national reform effort to strengthen undergraduate science and mathematics in the liberal arts setting, named Agnes Scott's SHARP!Women project one of 29 "Programs That Work."

"Your program exemplifies the PKAL vision of what works in undergraduate science and mathematics ..." said Jeanne L. Narum, PKAL director, in a letter announcing the designation. In conjunction with the recognition by PKAL, SHARP!Women's Director Patricia McGuire White '74, assistant dean of the College, was invited to outline the program at a conference of the National Science Foundation, Feb. 24-26, in Washington, D.C. Only three schools out of the 29 recognized as "Programs That Work" were selected to make presentations. "They were interested in knowing what we're doing, why it works, and why we think it's successful," comments White. Through this sharing aspect, other institutions will have models for comparison and adaptation to help strengthen and reform their own programs.

The ASC SHARP!Women summer program consists of ongoing ASC faculty research projects. "It was basically research work," says Natalie El-Jourbagy '95, an ASC chemistry major and SHARP! participant. "When I went in the lab room, I didn't know how the day would end—whether I'd find something or not. That's what made it so exciting."

SHARP!Women began in the summer of 1990 as a small pilot program with two ASC faculty and two ASC students. In summer 1991, high school participants were added. This past summer, the program brought together for six to eight weeks six high school teams (consisting of one faculty member and two rising 10th, 11th, or 12th grade girls) for three weeks and 15 ASC students for six to ten weeks. The ASC faculty, students and high school faculty received a stipend for their work; high school students received an honorarium.

"I think it was a great experience for us," comments Darby Beach '94, an ASC astrophysics major. "I really enjoyed learning about image processing. That's something I wouldn't have had a chance to do otherwise."

"One thing that is unique about SHARP! Women," remarks White, "is that all the participants are involved in the research. It allows students to see what research is about. They collect data and interpret it. High school students love it. They like learning with the teacher who hasn't previously done this research project [either]. ASC students have an undergraduate opportunity to be involved with research, which is needed. It's one thing to learn information in class and another to apply it. The high school teachers take things back to the classroom, having an effect on all of the students they teach."

The number of people being affected is impressive. In four years a total of 28 ASC students have been involved, 20 of them still in college, one a research assistant, four in graduate school and three in medical or dental school. One SHARP! Women student has expressed plans to become a teacher because of her experience with the program. Some 27 high school students have participated over the past three years; 63 percent of these students are still in high school. Thirty percent are in college and express a desire to pursue studies in science-related fields.

The summer 1994 SHARP!Women Program is being sponsored by an anonymous gift of $67,000.

"The program in general has been a lot of fun to work with and has been very successful in introducing women to science and maintaining that interest. Everyone involved has benefited," says White.

FROM THE PRESIDENT

If I ever had any doubts about wishing to stay in Georgia following my retirement, they certainly would have been obliterated by the cruel and unusual winter which the northern part of our country has experienced this year.

As a Minnesotan, I am proud of the hardiness of the people of my native state, including my family members. However, I recognize that after living in the South for these last 12 years, I have no desire to lead a challenging life as the northern climate often requires.

Of course, it is not only the climate that keeps me in Decatur by choice. I am a big booster of Decatur as a marvelous small city in the great metropolis which is Atlanta. Decatur feels like a hometown, with its forward-looking business people, city officials whom we know as friends and neighbors and the fun of the arts festivals and concerts on the square. We have all this within 15 minutes by train or car from the center of downtown Atlanta, making Decatur one of the very best places to live within the entire urban area.

I have purchased a retirement home in Decatur within walking distance of the post office and downtown, and I look forward to the kind of leisure which I have not known since I was a small child. The opportunity to attend cultural events, lectures, concerts and art exhibits to the extent which I enjoy provides a wonderful prospect.

My church home in Decatur is the most satisfying congregation I have ever experienced, and I feel very fortunate that my last position before retirement has brought me to a place which now provides church fellowship, friends within and outside the College, cultural opportunities and access to urban advantages as well as a climate that is less rigorous than those of any other places I have lived.

At present, I am not seeking another position or work assignment, volunteer or paid. I shall continue on the board of another Presbyterian college and be involved in volunteer board activity. To all of those who believe I cannot be content, knowing of my high energy level and compulsiveness in work, I say that if I do get bored in retirement, I shall then seek some useful activity.

As I leave the presidency of Agnes Scott, I am pleased that I have witnessed in my years at the College the improvement of the externals and the conditions of the enterprise. The campus is in fine condition; we will be technologically up to date; the endowment has increased substantially along with its support of college programs; the level of expertise of the staff has increased significantly; and we are a modern college in all systems and methodology.

What I have not been able to accomplish is the renovation of the heart of the institution—its spiritual and educational life, although strides have been taken with the appointment of a chaplain and the addition of new programs such as Global Awareness, women's studies, the MAT, and the Scott-free Year 5. But I am heartened by the fact that these issues are being addressed under the board's direction by the faculty, staff and students at Agnes Scott, and I trust that these most important aspects of the College, the very reason for our existence, will be strengthened and focused in the years to come so that Agnes Scott College can be the leader in women's education that it has every opportunity and obligation to be.

New Pre-med Certificate Program

SPECIAL PREPARATION NOW AVAILABLE FOR STUDENTS SEEKING ADVANCED HEALTH PROFESSION DEGREES

Agnes Scott College will offer a new one-year post-baccalaureate program beginning this summer that prepares women for medical school, veterinary school, and other allied health professions. This new Post-Baccalaureate Pre-Medical and Allied Health Professions Program (Post-Bac Pre-Med) helps women who are college graduates wishing to change careers acquire the necessary courses for medical school or other professional specialties in the growing health-care field.

With intensive classes, laboratories, seminars and internships, the Post-Bac Pre-Med program is individually tailored based on the student's prior academic experience and may be completed in one or two years, depending on previous academic work and individual circumstances. A certificate is awarded upon completion of the 36-40 hour program. During the glide year between taking the Medical College Admission Test and matriculation into medical school, students may take additional courses to enhance their preparation for professional or graduate school.

"This was part of the whole science center emphasis that came out of the College's strategic plan of 1991," says Sarah R. Blanshei, dean of the College. "We were looking at the program holistically, at the pre-college programs (Futurescape and SHARP!Women), the retention programs and the post-baccalaureate program, and a master's in science which we've decided not to go for right now. We decided instead to put this pre-health certificate program in place. There are a number of programs like this elsewhere but there isn't one at a women's college in the South. We knew there was a need for it because women had been coming to us for some time for this type of study."

As a women's college, Agnes Scott is uniquely aware of the barriers many women face, both in studying science and in changing careers. The program also includes monthly seminars encompassing women's health issues, medical ethics, clinical practice and health policy.

Application deadline to begin the program in June is May 15. For more information, contact the director of special programs at 638-6184.

MAJOR GIFTS

Anonymous Gift to Fund SHARP!Women Summer 1994

A $67,000 anonymous gift to fund the SHARP!Women summer program at Agnes Scott led a group of gifts totaling $157,750 that were given to the College recently.

The SHARP! gift will fund the award-winning program (see page one) designed to give high school girls, high school teachers, college women and ASC professors collaborative hands-on research experience in the areas of science and mathematics. SHARP! will mark its fourth year this summer.

A $66,000 gift from the estate of former psychology professor Katherine Omwake was given to supplement a scholarship in her name. Omwake served ASC for 43 years.

John M. and Martha Boone Shaver '41 made a stock gift valued at $24,750 which is being used to establish a scholarship in memory of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E.B. Boone Jr.

A portion of a centennial gift given by Louise Isaacson Bernard '46 was used to purchase a gate for the Lawrence L. Jr. and Mary Duckworth Gellerstedt '46 Track and Field and for other materials and equipment for the Woodruff Physical Activities Center, valued at $25,000.

Interim President To Be Announced

SEARCH FOR PERMANENT PRESIDENT IS UNDERWAY

The Agnes Scott College Board of Trustees plans to name an interim president to serve the College from July until the appointment of a new president, according to a March letter to the ASC community from Presidential Search Committee Chair Clair McLeod Muller '67.

The Search Committee's recruitment efforts for a permanent president "will be concentrated in May through July; followed by screening, reference checking and preliminary interviews beginning in August," Muller wrote in the letter.

The committee has engaged Academic Search Consultation Service (ASCS) of Washington, D.C., to assist in the permanent search. In mid-April, two ASCS consultants—Christine Young and Samuel Spencer—began conducting forums and focus groups with various constituencies of the College.

Young is a graduate of Wellesley, a former professor and former acting president of two women's colleges, who has overseen 40 presidential searches since 1987. Spencer, senior consultant with ASCS, is president emeritus of Davidson College and a trustee emeritus of Agnes Scott.

In addition to on-campus discussions, ASCS and the committee will seek input from alumnae during Alumnae Weekend on April 30 and will schedule meetings with the larger alumnae clubs throughout the country during the next few months.

Nominations from all the constituencies of the College will be considered. All comments and suggestions, both written and oral, will be treated as confidential and will not be shared beyond the committee. Please address all correspondence to: Presidential Search Committee, Agnes Scott College, 141 East College Ave., Decatur, GA 30030.

"They'll Always Be With Me"

HOLLY BENNETT RIELLY '77 HAS SURVIVED THREE KIDNEY TRANSPLANTS WITH HELP FROM HER BROTHER AND SISTER

On the night before surgery I would write my will, a love letter to my husband, and a letter to my family. Luckily I never needed them," recalls Holly Bennett Rielly '77. This was a soul-searching prelude to Rielly's third kidney transplant on Dec. 9, 1992. Although her first two transplanted kidneys, donated by her brother and sister, are mere silent occupants of Rielly's body today, to the recipient they remain as evidence of her siblings' love.

The realization of that love and the past experience of two transplants helped pull Rielly through her third—this organ was rescued from a cadaver. "I was optimistic and considered myself lucky for [making it] through what I did," explains Rielly. "I am an optimistic person anyway."

During the wait between kidneys, Rielly went through blood-cleansing dialysis three days a week. "Since I have diabetes, it complicates things," says Rielly. "I can only wait about a year for a kidney while using this dialysis treatment." Dialysis cleans the blood, but not as well as a kidney. For some, the transplanted kidney functions 20 to 25 years, but diabetes shortened Rielly's kidney life to about six years. So while her outlook remains positive, Rielly feels some ambivalence about enduring a possible fourth transplant: "I don't know if my body could endure it."

The third transplant, done in Pittsburgh, was preceded by a six-month wait—a virus kept Rielly from receiving the first available kidney. "I was heartbroken about being rejected."

Holly Rielly '77 and the daily doses of medicine that keep her alive. A large portrait of her brother and sister hangs on the wall behind her.

But within 10 days another strong, more compatible kidney was available. With it came the introduction of the new drug SK-506 into her system. An immuno-suppressant, SK-506 is designed to prohibit the body's immune system from attacking the (foreign) transplanted organ. "Hopefully with this drug, I'll do better longer," says Rielly, who had some nurses training just prior to her first kidney transplant.

Aside from the obvious physical challenges a transplant presents, the cost factor is staggering. In the dozen years since her first transplants, the cost has risen from $36,000 to $97,000. In 1970, to Rielly's advantage, the National Kidney Foundation of Georgia (an organization in which Rielly is active) convinced the U.S. Senate to accept renal patients on Medicare.

Rielly has stood three times at the precipice between life and death and survived. From this perspective she has accepted the experiences as opportunities for spiritual growth. "My belief in God is much stronger now. He's not going to let me down." She feels as though God won't give her more than she can bear.

Rielly, who has gained so much time and life from donated organs seized the opportunity to turn the tables "of a sort" six years ago when her husband died and Rielly ensured the donation of his organs. Upon her husband's death and with the donations of her two siblings, 15 people have been kept alive. "I would like to thank my family for their unending love and support. What greater support could they give than my brother and sister donating their organs. They'll always be with me."

Spotlight On Medical Marketing

RANDY JONES' FIRM WINS GOLD TOUCHSTONE AWARD

CHD Public Relations of Atlanta, headed by Randy Jones '70, recently received a Gold Touchstone Award from the American Society for Health Care Marketing and Public Relations of the American Hospital Association for its work on the statewide immunization efforts of Scottish Rite Children's Medical Center. This prestigious national award honors the achievements of Scottish Rite and

CHD Public Relations for their development and successful implementation of a detailed media relations plan that established an advocacy role for the hospital and increased its market share, enhanced physician referrals and attained positive media exposure. "The role of public relations and marketing agencies in the health care industry is definitely changing," comments Jones '70, president of CHD. "Health care reform is making the future hard to predict."

Mead '82 Chooses Home Birth

BABY BORN IN SOFT GLOW OF CANDLELIGHT

Morgan Holliday Mead came into the world on Nov. 2, 1993, in his mother's own bed, amidst the glow of candles and flashlights, with his father, a midwife and attendant (both neighbors) on hand for the delivery. "I wanted to give my baby the chance to come into the world in the best possible environment—at home surrounded only by those who love him the most," said mother Susan Mead '82 of her home birthing experience in Floyd County, Va.

Despite some complications that required the new mother to be hospitalized for two days, Mead considers the experience a very positive one and says she never lost confidence in those she selected to attend at the birth. She expressed her gratitude at finding a doctor who accepted her choice and was willing to backup the midwife as necessary. She quickly adds that Baby Morgan was never admitted to the hospital. Rather, he and his father stayed with Mead as visitors.

"IT IS

RETRO NEWS

The "hostess" system of receiving gentlemen callers is implemented. Says one "Agnes Scott News" article of Feb. 9, instead of being "forced to find their way to the maid's office to have their dates called, [men] were received in the central hall of Main by a student hostess who takes the caller to a seat in the parlor and summons his date."

An April 26 editorial in the "Agnes Scott News" bemoans the negative effects of the "new" rushed cafeteria dining on students' manners: "When we stop and think after such a meal, what have we really gained besides a little time? We have not added anything to the enjoyment of others, or to the general atmosphere of the dining room, or to the health of ourselves."

The issue of the United States' presence in Vietnam is debated in Political Science 348 - International Law. Students hold a mock trial of the International Court of Justice in which North Vietnam brings suit against the United States alleging that the U.S. presence in Vietnam is illegal. The class finds for the plaintiff.

In the "Scottie Speaks" student response section of "The Profile" newspaper, students respond to the questions "Should Agnes Scott go coed?" and "Why?" Some of the responses are: "Yes. That would cure the winter malaise."

"No. It would destroy half the spirit of Agnes Scott. Besides, what boy would want to graduate from Agnes Scott?"

"Yes. I'd like to get to know boys as friends."

"Men are irrelevant, immaterial and unnecessary."

Hospice Advocate

DUNWODY '52 OFFERS PHYSICAL, EMOTIONAL SUPPORT

To a terminally ill patient living at home, a kind word, a listening ear or a comforting presence will go a long way toward making that difficult experience easier. Ann Herman Dunwody '52 does just that through Hospice of Central Georgia, centered in Macon. The hospice program — from the Middle Ages versions that were way stations for weary travelers — evolved into today's version that offers support and assistance (physical, social, emotional and spiritual) for those on the journey from this life to the next.

As a hospice advocate, Dunwody's activities include friendly visits, errand running, supportive help to the patient and the patient's family, and emotional counseling for the patient's family and friends up to one year after the patient's death.

Dunwody has been a volunteer since the program's inception in July 1983 with the help of a seed grant from the Medical Center of Central Georgia. Dunwody says her own personal experience with a dying family member motivated her to volunteer. "My mother had died of cancer. It was not long afterward that I began reading about the hospice movement. I saw the need and when our program got started in Macon, I volunteered for the first class of advocates. When they talked about the program I thought, 'This is something I could do.' Having gone through the experience, I thought I could help others who were going through this."

— Emily Pender '95

"The only thing I might do differently is to be closer to the hospital," says Mead, an assistant professor of sociology at Radford University. "We live 30 minutes away, but we have friends who are much closer. Next time, I might decide to have the baby at their house just in case."

Mead's decision to have her child at home was based on her overall lifestyle as part of an alternative community that focuses on being closer to the land and life's natural cycles. Mead's home, with no electricity, required the light of candles and flashlights at the 9:35 p.m. birthing of Morgan. The bottom line, concludes Mead, is that, "It is nice and important to have the technology at our fingertips if we need it, but we have gotten away from using our intuition and innate abilities to do what our bodies were designed to do."

Card-to-Computer Catalog

In March, the weighty card catalogs in McCain Library were shifted forward to make room for the new on-line computer catalog.

CHRISTOPHER AMES, associate professor of English, delivered a paper entitled "Digging Shakespeare's Grave: The British Hollywood Novel and the Canon" at the 19th Annual Conference on Literature and Film at Florida State University in January.

ANNE BEIDLER, assistant professor of art, in February organized and chaired a four-person panel entitled "The Uses of Repetition or Serialization in Feminist Image Making" at the Women's Caucus for Art National Conference in New York City.

CATHY BENTON, acting athletic director and soccer coach has been elected as one of eight members of the NCAA National Rules Soccer Committee. She is one of two people representing NCAA Division III Coaches.

MARTHA J. BISHOP, artist affiliate, received first prize in the summer musical competition "Recorders on Parade." Her article, "Continuo Playing as Viewed from Below," was published in the September and October 1993 editions of Atlanta Early Music News. In February, she performed two recitals of Bach Viola de gamba Sonatas at Agnes Scott College and St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church.

BARBARA BLATCHLEY, assistant professor of psychology, in cooperation with J.F. Brugge and M. Kudoh of the University of Wisconsin, published a paper entitled "Encoding of Amplitude-Modulated Tones by Neurons of the Inferior Colliculus of the Kitten" in the 1993 edition of Brain Research.

ROSEMARY THOMAS CUNNINGHAM, associate professor of economics, in January presented to the American Economic Association in Boston, Massachusetts, a paper entitled "Teaching Econometrics Without a Statistical Package."

MARYLIN DARLING, associate professor of physical education and associate professor and chair of the department of theatre and dance, received her Ph.D. in August. Her dissertation was entitled "The Impact of Affirmative Action on the Placement of Females in Higher Education." In January, she presented a paper of the same title to the National Association of Physical Education in Higher Education in San Antonio, Texas.

CALVERT JOHNSON, associate professor and chair of the department of music, college organist and chair of the music department, published Florence Price: Suite No. 1 for Organ, which he edited from the original manuscript and added a lengthy preface entitled "Florence Price and the Organ." In November he presented a Harpsichord recital entitled "Early Keyboard Music by Women Composers" at the Decatur Presbyterian Church. In February, he repeated the performance for the Alumnae Association continuing education program and the Atlanta Music Teachers Association. In January, he gave organ recitals at the Cathedral of St. Philip Episcopal in Atlanta and at the French Huguenot Church in Charleston, S.C. The latter, entitled "English Organ Music 1780-1820," was presented to the annual meeting of the Southeastern Historical Keyboard Society.

MYRTLE LEWIN, associate professor and chair of the department of mathematics, in January presented a talk in conjunction with Tom Rishel of Cornell at the Annual Meeting of the Mathematical Association of America. The talk, entitled "An Analysis of the Effectiveness of Support Systems for Beginning Calculus Students at Cornell," was based on a pedagogical research project she designed and implement during her sabbatical year at Cornell. The system examined the role of collaborative learning in a beginning math course and associated gender distinctions in learning styles.

RAFAEL OCASIO, assistant professor of Spanish and director of Latin American Studies, delivered a paper entitled "Magical Realism: The (R)evolution of Cuban Santería and Hispanic Hagiography," to the Nov. 4 meeting of the South Atlantic Modern Language Association in Atlanta. He also attended an "Institute in Integrative Studies" seminar at Miami University in Ohio Nov. 6 through 12.

PATRICIA G. PINKA, professor of English, presented a paper entitled "Re-walking The Easter Parade," an analysis of the 1948 film as a feminist comedy, to the Jan. 28, session of the Conference of Literature and Film at Florida State University.

TINA PIPPIN, assistant professor of Bible and religion, attended the November annual meeting of the Society of Biblical Literature where a special session was held to discuss her book "Death and Desire: The Rhetoric of Gender in the Apocalypse of John." The discussion included responses by Elisabeth Schüssler Fiorenza of Harvard and David Barr of Wright State.

MARTHA W. REES, assistant professor of anthropology, published an article entitled "Liberation or Theology? Ecclesial Base Communities in Oaxaca, Mexico." The article appeared in the Autumn 1993 issue of The Journal of Church and State.

KAREN J. THOMPSON, assistant professor of biology, has received a $15,000 Whitehall Foundation research grant to provide equipment, supplies and technical support for her study on the neural basis of sexually dimorphic behavior in grasshoppers. She also received a $2145 gift from the Grass Foundation of Quincy, Mass., to purchase equipment for her animal behavior class.

BING WEI, physical education instructor, gave a presentation on the national physical training standards for youth and university students in the People's Republic of China to the January 26 through 30 meeting of the Southern District American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance in Nashville, Tennessee.

JULIE A. WEISBERG, assistant professor of education, presented a workshop entitled "The Global Thinking Project: Telecommunications and Environmental Education" to the 34th Annual Science and Leadership Conference, which was sponsored by the Georgia Science Teachers' Association.

DARLENE ELEANOR YORK, visiting assistant professor of education, presented a paper entitled "Teachers in Culturally Diverse Classrooms:

Training for Cross-Cultural Success" at the February 12 through 16 meeting of the Association of Teacher Educators in Atlanta. She also presented a paper entitled "Measuring Cross-Cultural Competencies: Setting Standards for Excellence" at the February 17 through 19 meeting of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education in Chicago.

STAFF NEWS

LUCIA HOWARD SIZEMORE, director of alumnae affairs, served as a panel member for "Ask the Experts," the alumni affairs section of the February 13 through 16 Council for the Advancement and Support of Education District III meeting in Nashville, Tennessee.

VICTOR WILSON, assistant dean of students, was elected 1994 secretary of the Decatur Business Association, a community group that sponsors local events and promotes the City of Decatur.

CAROLYN WYNENS, manger of community relations and special events, will chair the 1994 Decatur Beach Party Committee for the Decatur Business Association, of which Agnes Scott is a member. Funds raised from the annual downtown Decatur event are used for local beautification projects.

Senior Class Campaign Surpasses 50 Percent

CLASS OF 1994 BREAKS RECORD IN SENIOR CLASS GIVING

As the class of 1994 prepares to graduate, it continues to leave its mark on Agnes Scott College. As of February, over 53 percent of the class (64 women) had contributed to the annual Senior Class Campaign. If all pledges are collected, the class of 1994 will contribute over $7,300 to the annual fund. The 53 percent participation marks the highest level since the senior campaign began in 1989. Over the last five years, the participation rates for graduating classes have averaged only 32 percent, and the classes of 1992 and 1993 saw participation drop to 20 percent and 24 percent, respectively. According to Molly Dohm, assistant director of the Annual Fund, who oversaw this year's campaign, the increase in pledges can be attributed to a change in the way the senior campaign was conducted. Previously, the "campaign" consisted of one letter sent by the vice president of development and public affairs to all seniors in March of their final year. The letter and the enclosed pledge card requested a donation to the annual fund with little explanation of what the fund was or why it existed. The resulting participation levels fell far short of those experienced by comparative institutions such as Randolph-Macon Woman's College or Hollins College. Last year, Dohm conducted research on colleges and universities with populations and giving programs similar to those of Agnes Scott and determined that many students did not understand the importance or function of the annual fund. She concluded that involving students in the annual drive made the process more accessible to the very individuals the campaign is designed to reach. Armed with this information and a list of seniors, Dohm met with then Vice President for Development and Public Affairs Bonnie Johnson and Dean of Students Gué Hudson. Together, the three selected student leaders whose interests and participation recommended them as candidates to undertake the campaign project. Seniors Britt Brewton and Tiffany Goodman were selected as co-chairs of a committee consisting of LePret Dickinson, Julie Dykes, Ginger Frix, Laura Home, Elena Paras, Jackie Postma, Sara Sabo, Cristina Santana and Nancy Zehl. According to Goodman, participating in the campaign was an enjoyable experience because it was easy. "Molly was well organized and efficient," says Goodman. "She wanted to be finished [with the bulk of the work] by Thanksgiving, and we were."

At the beginning of fall semester, a letter from Brewton and Goodman was sent to all seniors. Each committee member was then assigned a small list of seniors to contact personally. To further involve the class, the committee held a kick-off party, "Senior Study Break," on Sept. 29, 1993. The class was treated to snacks, episodes of "Beverly Hills 90210" and "Melrose Place" as well as a presentation from Holly Markwalter '86, alumnae fund chair, cousin of Marianna Markwalter '94. During January, the Alumnae Board hosted an appreciation party for those who have pledged. At the end of the year, a thank-you party will be held for the committee members and the up-to-date list of participants will be recognized at the annual "Senior Dinner" sponsored by the Alumnae Association.

The campaign's goal of 75 percent participation matches the goals set by the 25th and 50th reunion classes. While the goal has not yet been met, Dohm says that the class of 1994 is doing very well compared to the other challenge classes. Last year's 50th reunion class saw 73 percent of its class donate while the 25th reunion class came in with a 51 percent participation.

Giving Society Formed

ASC ALUMNAE AND FRIENDS ARE AMONG THE 90 CHARTER MEMBERS

More than 90 alumnae, faculty, trustees and friends of Agnes Scott have become charter members of the Frances Winship Walters Society. The new giving society is named for Walters a member of the class of 1896 and a trustee for 17 years who because of her own generous bequests has been called "the second founder of Agnes Scott."

While opportunities for membership in the society are ongoing, charter membership closes Dec. 31.

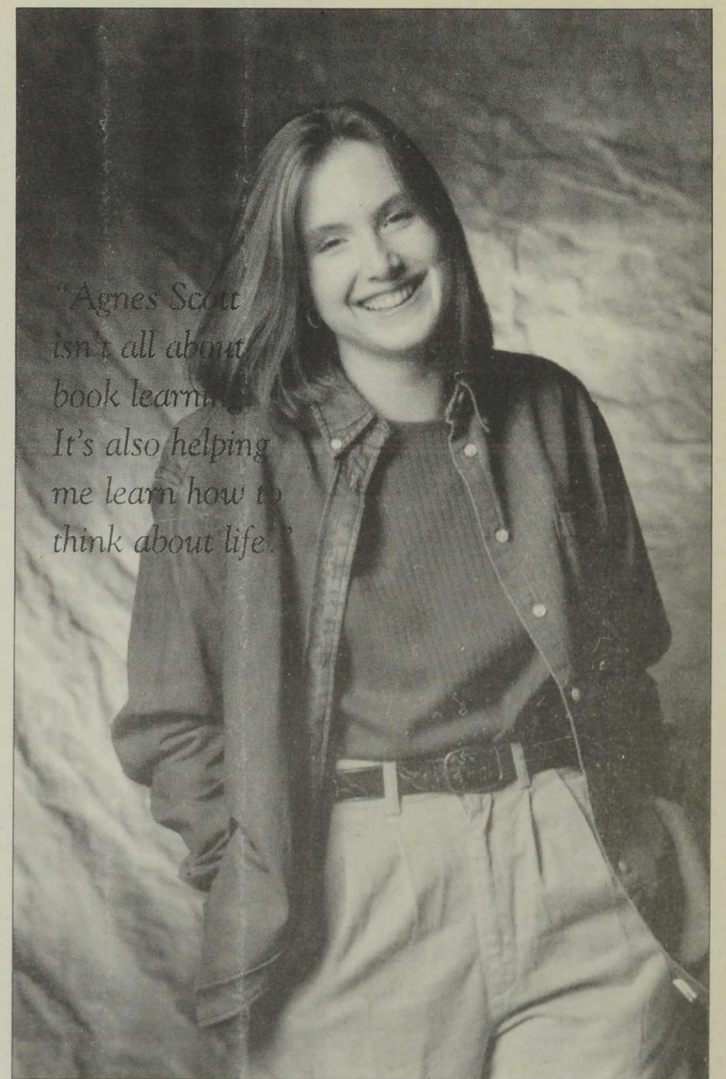

Founded earlier this year, the Frances Winship Walters Society is designed to recognize those who support Agnes Scott through planned gifts such as trusts, bequests, retirement accounts or charitable life income plans, explains Jean Stroman, director of planned giving for the College.

According to Stroman, just as the College benefits from these gifts, donors may benefit in various ways: tax-free income, estate tax savings, income tax deductions and capital gains avoidance.

"Too often, generous gifts entrusted to the College have gone unrecognized because they came at the end of the donors' lives," explains Stroman. "The Society provides a way for us to thank donors during their lifetimes."

Among charter members of the society is Belle Miller McMaster '53 who gave a deferred charitable gift annuity. "We decided this would be a great way to plan for our retirement and provide a significant gift to the College," she says.

Stroman encourages friends of the College to add their legacies to that of Society namesake Frances Winship Walters whose dream was for Agnes Scott to become an institution equal to any woman's college in the nation. Her many gifts, which ranged from a scholarship to building construction, culminated with a bequest at her death in 1954 of $4.25 million—more than doubling the endowment at that time. Today Frances Winship Walters' gift is worth almost $150 million.

"Agnes Scott isn't all about book learning. It's also helping me learn how to think about life."

You can help students like Pam Peel enhance their educations. Donations to the Annual Fund are used to recruit outstanding professors, provide scholarship aid, arrange special opportunities for educational travel and internships and maintain facilities. Please mail your Annual Fund contribution today: Annual Fund Office, Agnes Scott College, 141 E. College Ave., Decatur, GA 30030.

PARTING WORDS

An Actress Quakes

NANCY CHARLES '65 CHEATS DEATH NEAR THE CITY OF ANGELS

I can't say my life flashed before me at 4:31 a.m. on Jan. 17, but part of my mind was searching for the rewind button. I am a professional actress and live with my husband Michael and 7-year-old son Will in Santa Monica, Calif. It was in that early hour that the earth literally moved under our feet—or our beds anyway.

At the first loud BANG of the 6.6 Northridge earthquake, Michael and I shot up in bed. "It's an earthquake," I said. No kidding. We remembered later that we both sat there for a few seconds, thinking it would stop as it had in the powerful Landers quake the year before. But this one didn't. It ebbed only momentarily, then rolled and shook. My husband leapt up to get Will from his room, only to be thrown to his knees by the vibrations. (He sustained rug burns from the crawl down the pitching hallway.) Will shot out of his room crying and clung to my husband. We huddled in a door jamb as the shuddering alternated between "reasonably violent" and "unreasonably violent."

We heard glass breaking in the kitchen and living room, pictures flying from the walls, and bookcases crashing. Will sputtered and whimpered and Michael and I, in the face of gross evidence to the contrary, kept repeating, "It's all right, Will. It's all right." The house was pitch-black from power failure. As we shook and prayed and clung to each other, I devoutly wished I had heeded earlier earthquake survival advice. There we stood: no shoes ... no flashlights ... scanty night wear. When our building had been rattled like a can of Tinker Toys for nearly a full minute, we scrambled in the dark for clothing. Dressing proved difficult. Our child was Super Glued to us. As we raced past the kitchen to the front door, Michael, now holding our son, wondered, "Why does Will smell like Scotch?" The liquor cabinet was in puddles and shards.

Outside, the neighborhood was flashlighted and Walkmanned to the max. I met some neighbors for the first time since moving to California two years ago. It became a sort of "High and the Mighty" bonding experience, everybody comparing experiences of life on the edge. Smoke billowed from the grocery store two blocks away. A kind of New Age masseuse from the next door could be heard: "We must think positively. We can change the future if we try. We can eliminate future quakes with our minds." O.K.

After two hours of warmth and reassurance and everyone accounted for, survivors reluctantly straggled back inside, noting debris to be dispatched tomorrow, and wall cracks, like ominous fingers, silently warning. Some slept in cars in the open; Michael, Will and I all climbed in bed together and dozed between aftershocks. Later, we would find a pay phone that worked and call relatives to assure them we were alive and well and possibly reconsidering our career goals. Often that first day, we would catch each other staring into space, trying to perceive order in the aftermath of a 6.6 Richter quake.

Over the next three days, adrenaline pumped with each new tremor as we cleaned and reorganized—a job usually reserved for invading relatives. The apartment looks grand, utilities are once again in service, and hot showers are a daily occurrence—at least for the grown-ups. (Will reveled in the absence of THAT nightly ritual.) In fact, it is probably the children who adjust most readily in these situations. Only hours after the initial quake, Will, on his way to the bathroom, asked matter-of-factly if we thought there might be a 5.0 aftershock while he was in there. If so, he wouldn't shut the door so he could seek the safety of a door jamb.

But for me, something has changed fundamentally. The earth—that orb so dear to the poet's heart, kissed by the Pope, seen from space as so touchingly and beautifully alone—had been shaken. Everything seems more tentative and precious now. But I must confess, in the middle of the chaos, when our very lives shook like thunder, the thought that passed through my mind was, "Where's my lip-stick?" Ah, Vanity. One great propelling force of mankind. Or at least of one actress cheating death near the City of Angels. And not a locust in sight ... yet.

—Nancy Linehan Charles (formerly Nancy Yontz '65) moved to California after 12 years in New York City. She has performed in plays from the Kennedy Center to off-Broadway and regional theatres, in television and in film.

Krill, Skardon Named Trustees

NATIONSBANK, CAROLL REED EXECUTIVES JOIN BOARD

Agnes Scott College named two new members to its Board of Trustees at its January meeting. Kay Lawther Krill '77, president of Carroll Reed, and Sally Skardon '70, a senior vice president of NationsBank of South Carolina, will be filling current vacancies on the board.

Krill, with a degree in psychology and economics, has been president of Carroll Reed Inc., in Conshohocken, Pa., since 1992. Prior to joining Carroll Reed, Krill was executive vice president in charge of merchandising at 200 stores and the Barrie Pace catalog operation for Hartmarx Corporation in Chicago. Her previous experience includes directing the merchandising catalog operation during her seven years with Talbots in Hingham, Mass., overseeing merchandising as vice president for Mark Shale in Chicago, and serving as a buyer for Macy's in Atlanta from 1977 through 1981. She has been a Junior League member since 1978 in various chapters such as Atlanta, Boston and Chicago. She serves on the Board of Visitors for The Bolles School in Jacksonville, Fla., and is currently a member of St. David's Episcopal Church and the Junior Saturday Club in Wayne, Pa. She was selected to the Top 40 Executives Under 40 list in "Crain's Business" magazine in Chicago in 1991 and is a member of Who's Who International.

After attending Agnes Scott, Skardon continued her education at Georgia State University, graduating in 1974. In 1982 she received an M.B.A. from the University of South Carolina. She has served as the senior vice president and the Columbia city manager at NationsBank of South Carolina since 1992. Prior to that time, she established a career in banking through positions at North Carolina National Bank and NCNB of South Carolina and gained six years of experience as a bank examiner and bank relations representative at the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta. She has been honored with a YWCA Tribute to Women in Business Award in both Columbia and Charleston and has been involved in the estate planning councils for both South Carolina cities. Her civic activities also include the Historic Charleston Foundation and the Charleston Area Arts Council.

Dorothy Holloran Addison '43, a member of the Board of Trustees from 1982 to 1992, was elected trustee emerita of the board at the January meeting.

LUCIA'S TURN

The Alumnae Association Board's strategic planning consultant had some valid points: We don't take sufficient pride in our accomplishments. We receive financial support from 41 percent of our alumnae. We're able to attract 700 to our Alumnae Weekend festivities. These are significant figures. So why don't we feel good about it? What keeps us from touting our achievements?

Do our constant efforts to seek a higher standard make us forget that we are already very good? Is it because we, as women, have been conditioned not to brag on ourselves or claim credit? What makes us seem to focus on our shortcomings instead of our triumphs? How can we allow ourselves to take sufficient pride?

When we look at Agnes Scott in relation to all institutions of higher learning which face the same demographic changes and budget constraints, only then do we realize how fortunate ASC is to have the alumnae support, financial resources and renovated physical plant that we enjoy.

The achievements of our alumnae are made clear to me each time I sit down with the Awards Committee to select recipients of the Outstanding Alumnae Awards. As the committee works through files and nominations (roughly 50 names per year) a powerful combination of pride and humility overwhelms the group. The accomplishments of the women who have passed through these gates inspire each of us who has shared the same collegiate experience.

It should be a surprise to no one that our levels of participation are high—both in giving and in attendance at Alumnae Weekend. Over the last five years our average participation in the Annual Fund has been 41 percent, ranking ASC above the national average for private liberal arts colleges and about midway on a list of schools with whom we compare ourselves. If all the alumnae who have ever given to the annual fund contributed in one year, we would have 76 percent participation and lead the nation! That would really give us reason to feel sufficient pride.

As we welcome the class of '94 into our Alumnae Association, they give us great reason to feel sufficient pride. Their senior class campaign for the annual fund has already reached 51 percent; their goal is 75 percent. Perhaps they will help us reach that dream of being the top college in the country in percentage of participation! In their midst we will also find talented, intelligent and thoughtful women who will make us very proud. Watch for them; they will be coming your way soon—and will give us reason to feel more-than-sufficient pride.

Sincerely,

Lucia

Virginia and her husband, in keeping with their great interest in gardening, plan a garden tour of the Windward Islands in the Caribbean. Mary Knox Happoldt feels like a commuter between her home in Highlands, N.C., and her daughter's home in Alpharetta, Ga. Because of this season's snow storms, she drove South to be sure to be at Kay's for Christmas and for the arrival of her other daughter, Mary Lou, from New Hampshire. Mary celebrated a most happy Christmas with her grandchildren, the Ken Reeds and the Ken Smiths.

In the spring, Mary accompanied Mary Lou and her daughter to Shelbyville, Tenn., to a horse show where the child's Tennessee walking horse won a

The secretary heard from quite a few '29 classmates at Christmas. Everyone seemed aware of the class reunion this April. Those who didn't take note—the 65th will be a memorable one.

Mary Alice Juhan writes that two painful disabilities will keep her from attending this year's reunion—the first one she's ever missed.

A Christmas card came from Helen Ridley Hartley with a report of her first automobile accident. The salutation was: "What was hurt? My ego—it was my fault." She claims her tastes, interests and attitudes have all changed with age, but after reading her letter your secretary didn't think so!

The postman dropped off a letter from Katharine Lott Marbut. Her grandchildren never fail to amaze us. They include everything from vice president of New York Life Insurance Co. to assistant attorney general for the state of Wisconsin to a lawyer practicing in New York City.

Did you see in the President's Report for 1992-93 that Violet Weeks Miller headed the list of givers?

Your secretary records with deep sympathy the death of Pearl Hastings Baughman.

Congratulations to Jean Alexander Bernhardt and husband, John Christian, who celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary. At 84, Jean has just published her first book, Murder at the Royal Oak, set in England, where she and John have spent summers for the past 30 years. Jean and John have three great-grandchildren. Jean's special interests are family, church, garden and collecting antiques.

She enjoys seeing Martha Stackhouse Grafton from time to time and sent a newspaper clipping about Sally Abernethy Eads '65, who lives in Fincastle, Va. Sally is a history teacher at Virginia Western Community College and a community leader in the political, educational, civic and social life of Botetourt County, Va. Sally is of special interest to the class because she is the daughter of the late Robert Sidney and Belle Ward Stowe Abernethy.

Sara Octavia "Tave" Young Harvey, 85, lives on the 14th floor of a retirement facility in Fort Worth, Texas. She remains very active—aerobics three times a week and a two-mile walk on other days. She does a lot of bridge playing and enjoys going to movies and eating out with friends. She and her son serve meals every Monday night at a Presbyterian night shelter.

Katherine Leary Holland has moved to a new retirement home in Clarksville, Tenn., where she shares a one-bedroom apartment with Muffin, her cat. She goes to a retina specialist in Nashville who has helped restore partial vision in her right eye.

Elisabeth Branch Johnson still lives on the farm to which she came as a bride, but is no longer engaged in farming activities. She travels a great deal and takes one big trip a year. She remains active in the Garden Club, Daughters of the American Revolution and three bridge clubs, and enjoys doing volunteer work at the library.

Jo Smith Webb was recuperating from a bout with pneumonia during the holidays. She remains active in the Methodist Church, Garden Club, Women's Club, DAR, Library Board and the Arts Council. She and Julian celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary in September 1993.

Classmates Gladney Cureton; Nancy Simpson Porter; and Polly Vaughan Ewing all died recently. Sympathy goes to class president, Mattie Blanche "Bee" Miller Rigby, on the death of her sister on Sept. 30, 1993.

On Oct. 25, 1993, the Fourth Monday Lunchers met at the Anna Young Alumnae

House to discuss plans for a 60th reunion in the spring of 1994. With Louise McCain Boyce, class president, presiding, the group decided to send a letter to all active alumnae, requesting their preferences for reunion activities. Members of the class who were present: Louise McCain Boyce, Anna Kathryn Maness Nelson, Alae Risse Barron Leitch, Carolyn Russell Nelson, Josephine Morton Fricke, Mary Sloan Laird, Eleanor Williams Knox, Mary Hamilton McKnight, Nelle Chamlee Howard, Bella Wilson Lewis and your secretary, Ruth Shippey Austin.

Carolyn Nelson writes, "With thanksgiving for sufficient endurance and health I had in October, two good weeks in Spokane with my son Rusty and family. From there, I went for one good week with my son Raymond to Haines City, Fla. The Georgia Russell families had a great Thanksgiving in Griffin, Ga., with Ina (my 36-year-old baby) and Ralph, who have the ideal place for the 15 of us."

Martha "Plant" Ellis Brown sent Nelle Howard a letter saying she no longer drives around Atlanta, but she enjoys going on guided tours when escorted by Delta. She doubts she will be at the reunion. Nelle also received a letter from Hyta Plowden Mederer with news of her recovery from a heart ailment. Hyta hopes she will be able to attend the reunion.

Elinor Hamilton Hightower writes, "Our tribe increased some more this past year—two new granddaughters-in-law, and we are expecting a third great grandchild in December."

Jean Gould Clarke sends word she has just moved from West Palm Beach, Fla. to Knoxville, Tenn. "I have moved into a lovely home on the golf course. I have two sons in business here, and four grandchildren. I have a son and his family in Nashville, Tenn., who have two daughters. I hope to make it to the reunion."

Florence Preston Bockhorst's newsy letter sends word of all her family. "Highlights are visits from the children. R.S. and P. Bockhurst in Sierra Vista, Ariz., were back for a high school reunion in July 1993. Rhea and her family were here from Marietta, Ohio, for Thanksgiving, Mary Anne from her hospital work in Fort Myers, Fla., and Furman and his family from Lecanta, Fla., were he is with Florida Power and Light. The summer family gatherings are always inspirational in Montreat, N.C." Florence says she and Roland are enjoying retirement.

Lucy Goss Herbert's granddaughter, Susan Molinaro [who is the daughter of Lucy Herbert Molinaro '64 and the great-granddaughter of Lucy Durham Goss (Institute)] is a first-year student at Agnes Scott. Susan is one of two fourth-generation students this term. Anne Mitchell, the other, is the grand-niece of Florence Bockhorst.

Martha Allen Barnes writes that she and Jarvis are very involved in their church work, and Martha serves on the Executive Board of Emory Hospital Auxiliary. They took their granddaughter to Cancun, Mexico, for Christmas.

Mary Virginia Allen, during the fall of 1993, had numerous eye operations on for glaucoma, involving intense and prolonged pain. But as of Dec. 6, when she mailed her news, she was better, and planned to spend Christmas with friends in Decatur. The class sends her best wishes for a complete recovery and a healthy 1994.

Marion Calhoun Murray had a good visit with Betty Fountain Gray in August. From Atlanta, she went with her daughter and her two teen-agers to Pittsburgh and western Maryland, and had another boat trip on the Monongahela and Ohio rivers. Marion had a knee replacement in September. It went "A-OK."

Helen Derrick Gardner writes that this has been a quiet but satisfying year, the highlight being a trip to Alaska, including Barrow.

Jane Goodwin Harbin says she enjoys reading her classmates' news, and wishes she had some to report. She and Betty Lou Houck Smith had a long telephone conversation recently, and vowed to see each other in the new year. Jane's five children and 13 grandchildren are doing well; four grandchildren have graduated from college.

Anne Scott Harman Mauldin and John summed up their September trip to Vancouver and Victor, Jasper, Lake Louise and Banff: "Scenery awe inspiring." In October, they went to Little Rock for a meeting of the Callaway Family Association, of which she has been secretary since 1975. In January 1993, she and John celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Their children hosted a lovely reception at North Avenue Presbyterian Church. In June, Anne Scott and Dorothea Blackshear Brady were given a great "Coming of Age" party by Elizabeth Blackshear Flinn '38.

Anne Humber Little was also honored on her birthday, when her children hosted a beautiful reception. Pictures from her past and a collection of flags from many countries visited were displayed under the legend "Around the World in 80 Years!"

Guidelines For Submitting Class News

The next CLASS NEWS deadline is May 5, 1994. News received after that date will be published in the next issue.

Please send your class news, notices of births and of deaths to the Alumnae Office. The Alumnae Office will send you a postcard acknowledging receipt of your information.

Please include the alumna's maiden (birth) name and class. Please verify spellings. All news needs to be typed or written clearly. If you or your classmate has an unusual spelling of a name, please call that to our attention.

In sending a birth announcement, please include the husband's name, even if the alumna does not use it in her mailing address. Also include the baby's name and birthday.

Please report weddings and other planned events only after the fact.

Agnes Scott has nearly 10,000 living alumnae. We want to keep in touch with all of you and keep you in touch with each other. Except for budget restraints limiting the number of pages, CLASS NEWS is printed with only minor editing, so be selective. Let us hear from you regularly.

Contact your class secretary today with your news.

Adelaide Stevens Ware and Melton moved to a Life Care Retirement Community in Lakeland, Fla. While Melton was a minister in the Florida United Methodist Conference, they served in Tallahassee, Jacksonville, Winter Park, Coral Gables and Tampa. Ad continues in the field of spiritual formation, developing a lay ministry of intercessory prayer, and has written a handbook on ways to carry out this work. An advocate of one-on-one helpfulness, she is taking a course in spiritual direction under the Episcopal Diocese of South Carolina. The Wares bought a condo in Blowing Rock, N.C., and will spend summers there.

After 35 years in White Plains Lilian Grimson Obligado and her husband have moved to Mohegan Lake, N.Y., two minutes from two of their sons. Three sons and one daughter have given them seven grandchildren. Lilian retired as a translator for a pharmaceutical company in 1977, and now does volunteer work. The Obligados spend a few months each year in Argentina, where he has relatives.

Loice Richards Kennedy and husband loved living in Princeton, N.J., but are more partial now to their Florida winter home. Loice has a stepson in New Orleans and one in Bangkok.

Marie Townsend now lives in Victoria Estates of Atlanta and enjoys books, television and her telephone.

Celia Hoffman who shares a love for books, television and telephone, would love to hear from her classmates.

Rosa Miller Barnes and Fred Sr. moved into a Life Care Community in Vero Beach, Fla. Since Fred suffered several strokes, Rosa spends most of her days keeping him company. Son Fred Jr. appears weekly on TV with the popular McLaughlin Group. Rosa's daughter and her husband are active in the International Christian Outreach program that recently took 200 young people to Europe. Rosa and Fred have six grandchildren.

Irene Wilson Neister recently attended the oldest writers' conference in the nation: the State of Maine Writer's Conference at Ocean Park, Maine. She won two awards for her poetry. She is now recovering from brain surgery.

Enid Dean McKoin Bushong was looking forward to Millard's homecoming from a month's hospitalization. Children and grandchildren have been standing by.

Helen Handte Morse and Jack went to a family reunion arranged by their grandson, Peter Sather, a senior at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy. Peter's sister Kelly will complete her law courses at Duke University this spring. Kelly recently had lunch with Frances James Donohue. The younger Morse son is a veterinarian in Pacific Palisades, Calif., and during a visit there, they lunched with Eva Poliakov Goodman '35 and Shirley Christian Ledgerwood.

Shirley has written a children's book based on the parables of Jesus. She is looking for a "friendly" publisher for it, and also for the 18 poems which Catherine Wood Marshall LeSourd gave her as an ASC graduation present. Shirley and John had Elderhostel trips to Yellowstone and Glacier parks. They cruised to Jamaica and the Caymans. They had all of their children home for the holidays.

Susan Rebecca Whitley Nunan and Carlton continue to develop their international connections. Granddaughter Robin will be married to a Spanish national whom they like very much. They are involved in the progress of their two half-Russian grandsons: Dima, who writes poetry; and Rurik, who plays the violin. Carlton celebrated his 85th birthday; they swim five days a week.

Meriel Bull Mitchell and Bill love their winter home in Naples, Fla., but are glad to welcome back spring in North Carolina. Meriel and her ASC roommates Mary Margaret Stowe Hunter and Frances Miller Felts are life-long friends. Mary Margaret had three weeks in Australia, New Zealand and Fiji. She often visits Frances at Litchfield and Pauley's Island. Mary Margaret and Carrie Phinney Latimer Duvall enjoyed a trip to Egypt and Israel with Ruby Hutton Barron's son, Dr. Bill Barron, and his wife.

at the Assembly Inn.

Sara Frances Estes expected all her family (16-20 people) to visit over Christmas. She plays bridge with her sister Jane in Greenville, La Grange and Gay, Ga.

Sarah Jones Cheatham keeps busy with 12 grandchildren, five great-grandchildren and plans to give the same attention to two more who will appear in 1994.

GAYLE'S PLACE

I have spent many volunteer and teacher days leading nonprofit organizations through the strategic planning process, emphasizing the importance of self-evaluation and of writing down in a systematic plan all the hopes and dreams of an organization.

Two years ago, as I became president of our Alumnae Association, it seemed terribly important to me and to the association board that we develop a strategic plan for the association, which would dovetail with the College's own strategic plan, set two years ago. We have covered much ground thanks to the encouragement and financial support of President Ruth Schmidt, the tireless efforts of Lucia Sizemore and her staff, the wise counsel of Faye Allen Sisk and her Strategic Planning Committee and to the insightful feedback of alumnae from across the nation. As we gather in late April for Alumnae Weekend, we will share the plan which will take the association into the next century.

Yet as I write this final article, my reflections are centered more on Agnes Scott's ability to educate the whole person, to shape many women to come as it has shaped us. Even now as I relay the importance of strategic planning, I know that a good plan requires flexibility, that is, change. The specific manner in which a plan is implemented or the degree to which it is implemented will depend upon the willingness of our successors to ask tough questions, to admit their strengths, work on their weaknesses and push forward toward positive change. I have believed this for a long time, and I have experienced the richness of self-development through a personal difficulty of the last year.

I had planned to share what remained of our teenage sons' rearing with my husband, to bring closure to our much-enjoyed careers, then to move to the mountains together to grow vegetables, ride horses, raise Golden Retriever puppies and marvel at the sunsets. This was our "strategic plan" for later life. But it was not to be. With June came some unexpected terrifying words and finally-admitted truths, bringing to a tragic and unnecessary end 25 years of shared experience. Faced with a life-plan that was no longer viable, I leaned heavily on the love of family and friends as I confronted the fears and uncertainties one faces when shaken to the inner core. I asked tough questions about myself and my needs, sought out answers—though some were painful, celebrated the positives of my life and began to glimpse at a revised dream that is healthy and whole. While family and friends continue to provide me with the foundation of love and concern, Agnes Scott and other life experiences are giving me the mind-power and heart-power to forge ahead down a new trail.

As I leave the association as its president, I am proud of all our hard work to put together a sound strategic plan. Yet what speaks to me the loudest at this time in my life is the richness of the Agnes Scott experience that ignites in each of us a deep, lifelong desire to grow and learn. Thank you, Agnes Scott; you taught me to seek truth and to demand answers; you have, therefore, helped me to change through easy times and hard times.

Sincerely,

Gayle Gellerstedt '71
Alumnae Association President

from Augusta, Ga., that she and George have three grandchildren in college, but not in Georgia.

Bertha "Bee" Merrill Holt, our class president, and her husband attended a meeting of the Danish West Indies Study Circle of the Philatelic Society in England last summer and then went on to a "walking tour" of Sicily!

Anne Thompson Rose and Ben met all their children and grands in Washington, D.C., last August and were given a special tour of the Dead Sea Scrolls by the curator who arranged the exhibit. There were four ASC grads in the group.

Lettie McKay VanLandingham and Van flew to Jamaica on a work mission last fall. They, with 40 others, finished a house in Negril, hoping to attract a minister to nearby churches. They plan to go to Costa Rica for more "hands on" mission work in March.

Joyce Roper McKey and husband were about to go on a cruise when Joyce fell and broke her ankle and leg. This happened in the same week that Ellen Little Lesesne crushed her ankle, so Joyce says she and Ellen have talked on the phone "a lot!" Ellen's injury, caused by an automobile accident in September 1993, did not interfere with the celebration of her and her husband's 50th anniversary with about 100 relatives, friends, and children in October. Ellen's other news is that her project "Hospice of Williamsburg County" is now fully operative.

Dr. Virginia Suttentfield is still enjoying her "independent" lifestyle. She has entered several local art shows, paints, draws, plays the organ for chapel services, and enjoys that rare combination of "camaraderie and solitude."

Nell Allison Sheldon spent the holidays with her daughter and family in Oklahoma City again. Nell writes that Kennon Henderson Patton gave a luncheon which Louise Young Garrett attended in Greenville, S.C., over the holidays. Nell attended a reunion of her classmates from the Shanghai American School in Tucson, Ariz., last October. She met her old English teacher and 80 of her former classmates. En route home, Nell visited her friends at the Greystone Presbyterian Church in Oklahoma City, where Charlie preached. Nell also saw Martha McAfee Wolcott '39 and Peggy Lou Armstrong Durdin '30, her SAS English teacher.

Elizabeth "Lib" Blackshear Flinn and Bill made a trip to California last summer to visit their daughter in San Francisco. They motored down the coast to San Diego, stopping at the "Hearst Castle," San Simeon and the famous San Diego Zoo. Last August, 14 of their children, spouses and grands enjoyed a wonderful reunion at Hilton Head Island. Lib and Bill are also taking a refresher course in French.

Dorothy "Dot" Kelly Wood has been traveling in Antarctica, the Baltics, the back roads of Europe, and Canada since the death of her husband in January 1993. She was just back from a month in Italy and Sicily; and will go to Turkey, Israel and Egypt in January 1994.

Catherine "Kitty" Hoffman Ford will be in the Emirates on the Persian Gulf to visit her daughter who teaches English at the university there. Kitty will also visit Turkey and Egypt on this trip in January.

Jean Chalmers Smith called to say that Carol Hale Waltz Halsey was honored recently for her successful business career as owner of an Atlanta antique shop at the Girl's High School 59th Reunion at Phipps Plaza. Seven ASC grads attended the luncheon, including Jane Turner Smith, Ruth Hertzka, Lulu Croft and Margaret Morrison Blumberg. Former ASC French professor Martha Crowe, who taught at Girls' High in Atlanta, was also there. Jean and Walter planned to spend Christmas in California on their return from a trip to Italy.

Louise Bailey White lost her husband in April after a long illness. She retired in 1982 as director of guidance from Crystal River High School in Crystal River, Fla. After returning to Marietta, she and her husband enjoyed courses in weaving, oil painting, flower making, Bible study and exercise.

Mary Frances Guthrie Brooks has a new address. After 12 years, she and her husband Wayne have moved from Cape Elizabeth, Maine, to 11 Hatsawap Road, Cambridge, MD 21613, in order to be closer to their son and daughter.

Mary Hollingsworth Hatfield and husband John celebrated the big one, their 50th wedding anniversary. This happy event took place at Callaway Gardens and was attended by 15 children and grandchildren.

In October 1993 Emily Harris Swanson attended a California State Convention of the 1918 Club in San Diego. This is an international club of people who were born in 1918, and is the only one of its kind. Emily started a club newsletter and was secretary-treasurer for one year.

Mamie Lee Ratliff Finger writes that she and Ellis attended two meetings of the Council of Bishops of the United Methodist Church in 1993. Also, Mamie Lee has been traveling to art museums in Washington, D.C., Boston and Worcester, Mass. She and Ellis were eagerly anticipating the visits of all their children and grandchildren to Knoxville for Christmas.

Catherine Farrar Davis and Dick visited the beautiful aquarium in Chattanooga in October 1993 and enjoyed seeing the fall colors from a boat ride on the Tennessee River.

Ethelyn Boswell Purdie and Douglas visited 11 Civil War battlefields last fall. They went as far west as Shiloh, Tenn., and as far north as Gettysburg, Pa. They were moved by the contrast between the present beauty of these places and the courage and suffering that took place there over a century ago.

Rachel Campbell Gibson attended the wedding of her granddaughter, Deanne Downing, at Sonomas Mission Inn in the beautiful wine country of northern California. All of Rachel's children and many others of the Campbell clan were there.

June Harvey Eager, a well-traveled lady, went to China in November, saw the famous terracotta warriors in Qian and climbed the Great Wall. She says that she came home counting her blessings. In June she was planning a snow skiing trip to Snowshoe, W.Va. with her "kids and grandkids."

The last item of news is a sad one. Marie Merritt Rollins writes that her husband Dick died on Sept. 30, 1993, only two weeks after they celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. She said that the sweet time they had with their children and grandchildren helped them through the sad time. The class sends its sympathy.

Grace Elizabeth and Frank went to England and Ireland, visiting a former American Field Service guest. They celebrated two family birthdays with Grace's 99-year-old mother. Their youngest is a youth minister in Colorado Springs. Daughter Martha Cooper Maddux '69 is involved with the Young Life organization.

Frances Abbott Burns, with daughters Julia Burns Belk '66 and Anne Burns, recently visited organic farms in northern Italy and Provence.

Mary Lang Gill Olson entertained Penn Hammond Vieau and Lamar overnight. The Olsens attended their grandson's graduation from Virginia Tech in December 1993.

Evelyn Baty Christman is once again serving as board secretary for her local League of Women Voters.

Louise Hughston Oettinger will return soon to the United States when her husband retires from the U.S. Information Agency.

Marjorie Boggs Lovelace and Charlie visited Gary Horne Petrey and Don on their way from a Thanksgiving family gathering in Black Mountain, N.C., to Destin, Fla.

Nell Echols Burks designed a "Kneeling Chair for Gardeners" for an auction that benefited the Fine Arts Museum of the South in Mobile, Ala.

Elizabeth "Betty" Alderman Vinson celebrated her birthday with a cruise through the Panama Canal. A cable announced the arrival of great-grandson Avery Gordon Bingaman. She and Ed celebrated their 51st anniversary and attended a reunion with 113 other Vinsons.

Jane Luthy Champion

recently published her second book, A Cherokee Treasure, the story of a Cherokee tribe attacked by Conquistadors in search of gold in northern Georgia. Her first book, a limited edition entitled Echoes of the Past, sold out.

Sally Matthews Bixler's life is centered around her church and family. In October she visited Henrietta Thompson Wilkinson and (by phone) Mary Evelyn Francis Ault in Montreat. She enjoyed a celebration of her brother's birthday in Michigan. Henrietta enjoys retirement in Montreat, volunteering and painting. She had lunch recently in New Orleans with Evelyn Baty Christman, who had just recuperated from a broken hip.

Nell Moss Roberts was in Kentucky last winter while her daughter underwent surgery. In June she went to Greece and Italy. In October she celebrated her birthday by traveling to the Grand Canyon with her daughter Ann Roberts Divine '67 and later with her whole family in Atlanta.

Katherine "Kay" Patton Carssow and Bill had a family reunion on the Guadalupe River. In the fall they took a long trip including a cruise on the St. Lawrence River.

Mary Reins Burge visited son Tyler, who is head of the philosophy department of the University of California, Los Angeles. He was invited by Oxford University to speak at the John Locke Series.

Ruth Slack Roach traveled the Mississippi River from New Orleans to Memphis, hearing lectures about the history of the area. In July she enjoyed the annual Slack reunion with sisters Gene Slack Morse '41 and Julia Slack Hunter '45.

Harriet Stimson Davis is preparing to sell her house and move to Presbyterian Village in Austell, Ga. Thanksgiving was celebrated with her fifth grandchild, Anna Bailey Davis, born Nov. 8, 1993.

Violet J. Watkins reports that former ASC professor Philip Davidson is her neighbor and is active on the speaking circuit.

Polly Ware Duncan spends her time with quilt guilds, book clubs, bridge groups, an embroidery guild, a church circle, Delta Kappa Gamma and Special Olympics with her daughter.

Joan Brinton Johnson spends most of her time gardening and taking related courses at Longwood Gardens. She also baby-sits, restores dolls and walks her cocker spaniel.

Harriet Fuller Baker's son, Lt. Col. Ben Baker, is stationed at the Pentagon. In 1987 he was selected to be a part of the original Space Command. Harriet's grandson, Richard, is an ordained Baptist minister.

Marguerite Baum Muhlenfeld and Ed visited Atlanta in June 1993 to attend a niece's wedding, then enjoyed a week at St. Simons Island. In the fall they made short trips to the Virginia mountains and Delaware Beach.

Laura Sale McDonell and Durward celebrated their golden anniversary with a reception in New Smyrna Beach given by their three children. Laura has since recovered from knee surgery and Durward preached the whole month of January at the Ebenezer Methodist Church in Nassau.

Sarah Gray Rainey Glausier and Pinkie celebrated their 50th in December 1992 by taking a trip down the Danube.

Susan Self Teat and Jimmy celebrated their 50th in May 1992. Although Jimmy was not well, he enjoyed the celebration their children gave them.

Dorothy Peteet Mitchell and Francis had a wonderful celebration of their 50th anniversary in October 1991.

Helen Hardie Smith and Bill celebrated their 50th in February 1993 in the Florida Keys. They were joined by members of their immediate families. Both enjoy flying their airplane and helping with hurricane relief around Miami.

Nina May Snead de Montmollin and Jimmy celebrated their 50th in July 1991, by flying to Bangor, Maine, renting a car, and driving 2,000 miles around Canada, staying at bed and breakfast inns.

Nancy Gribble Nelson and Ellis observed their 50th anniversary in July 1991 with their three children and four grandchildren. Since Ellis retired from the presidency of Louisville Presbyterian Seminary 12 years ago, he has taught at seminaries in Texas, California, Iowa and now in Virginia. Nancy asks, "This is retirement?" They are in good health.

Margaret Lentz Slicer and Sam celebrated their 50th anniversary in September 1993. They enjoy life on beautiful Cape Cod.

Martha Boone Shaver and John celebrated their 52nd anniversary in June 1993. They stay close to home in Louisville, Ky., these days; Martha stitches away her time with the embroidery guild.

Mary Ivy Chenault has recuperated from cataract surgery. She flew to New Jersey to visit her two daughters, stopping off in Atlanta for a quick visit with both sons. She and Dave will mark their 50th anniversary this year.

Frances "Toni" Alston Lewis' husband Sam is improving rapidly from his stroke, as is Toni from a broken arm. They spend the coldest months on Lake Corpus Christi, near Tulsa.

Miriam Bedinger Williamson joined all her children and "grands" at her grandson's wedding in Charlottesville, Va., the Saturday after Thanksgiving 1993.

Gay Swagerty Guptil, despite her stroke in 1990, can drive, negotiate stairs and walk around her Baptist Village home with a cane. Although she cannot speak well or write, she enjoys notes.

Sara Lee Jackson and Jamie Mackay were married in Birmingham, Ala., at All Saints Episcopal Church on Dec. 18, 1993. Sara's sister, the Rev. Stratton Lee Peacock '46, a Presbyterian minister; and Jamie's brother, a Methodist minister, took part in the ceremony. Sara and Jamie will live in his recently built retirement home on Lookout Mountain: Route 1, Box 385, Rising Fawn, GA 30738.

Georgia Poole Hollis was married June 19, 1993, to the Rev. B. Hawkins McCain, a retired Methodist minister. Their address is 101 Cedar Crest Dr., Birmingham, Ala. 35216.

Betty Waitt White married Robert Hemmick, three years ago. They spend time between his cattle ranch and a low maintenance home in San Antonio. The Hemmicks travel a lot among their combined eight children and 11 "grands." They recently visited Susan Self Teat in Charlotte.

Ann Henry enjoyed a Baltic cruise last summer. She found St. Petersburg a beautiful city, but in desperate need of restoration.

Nina Broughton Gaines reports the births in August 1993 of two new great-grandsons, bringing the "grands" total to nine and the "great-grands" to five. Nina has been busy helping victims of last summer's Midwest floods.

Marian Philips Comento reports that since retirement in 1985, she has enjoyed membership in North Atlanta Senior Services and maintains over 200 plants in her home, which keeps her very happy and busy.

IdaJane Vaughan Price and Frank spent two weeks cruising the Baltic last summer: Stockholm, St. Petersburg, Copenhagen and stops in between. They spent Christmas, New Year's and their golden wedding anniversary (Jan. 5) cruising the Rotterdam.

Mary Louise Musser Kell and Tom spent the month of March 1993 in Kenya, Tanzania, Zimbabwe, Botswana and South Africa. They will never forget the beauty of the landscapes.

In spite of a broken ankle in August 1993, Lucile Gaines MacLennan left on Sept. 5 for a Smithsonian tour called "Footsteps of Odysseus." Beginning in Troy, the tour ended in Ithaca.

Margaret Sheftall Chester

has joined the Board of Trustees of the Milwaukee Art Museum and serves on the Guild and National Council of the Metropolitan Opera. The Chesters went to a friend's resort in Hua Hini in February 1993, to the Preakness in May, and to the opera in New York in April—the 25th anniversary of Domingo and Pavarotti at the Met. Memorable! All this while building a house (contemporary southwest) in Scottsdale, Ariz.

Neva Jackson Redfern and Clarence had nine days in Paris and four days in Cannes last summer. Highlights of the trip were Monet's garden in Giverny and the Matisse Chapel in Venice. They returned to Interlochen, Mich. for the Chamber Music Conference in August.

Elizabeth Russell Stelling had an interesting and inspiring experience studying the journeys of Saint Paul on a trip to Greece, the Isles, and Ephesus.

Caroline Long Armstrong and W.E. began "Elderhosteling" in 1982 and in September completed their 24th session of Senior-Citizens University study sessions. They encompassed seven states plus Oaxaca, Mexico, practicing their Spanish with the natives. She stays busy with volunteer work, charities and Women's Club.

Julia Ann Patch Diehl writes that her husband is not well. She serves as a mentor for an Education for Ministry class at church. She has a new grandson in Lawrenceville, Ga.

Lillian Gish Alfriend and Bill drove across the United States after spending the summer enjoying the foliage of New Hampshire. They arrived at their home in Ventura, Calif., amid terrible Malibu fires, Santa Ana winds, smoke and ashes, but were very fortunate their area was untouched.

Dorothy "Dot" Garland Johnson visited her daughter Julie in New Jersey in the summer, and daughter Lynn's family on Cape Cod in September. Her son Brittain and his family from Canada visited her in Neptune Beach, Fla., in August; and son Dan from La Paz, Bolivia, came in October. Her daughter Celia was married in California in October. Dot's 90-year-old mother, Carrie Garland, and her daughter Jeanie and grandson Jerry live nearby. Dot is dating a retired attorney.

Josephine "Betty" Nash Story and Bill celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in December. They traveled to the Cove in North Carolina for a Billy Graham retreat in September. Other travels included Madrid, Nice and Venice, two weeks on the Black Sea, the Greek Islands and Egypt. Betty plays tennis twice a week and walks every morning with daughter Linda Story Lubitz '72, a financial planner.

Dale Drennan Hicks and Basil made a tour of Greece in June, doing "the footsteps of Paul." The tour leader was Phil Noble, husband of Betty Scott Noble '44, who was in the group.

Susan Dyer Oliver and John celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in June with a musical concert performed by their children and grandchildren for their family and church family. The Olivers enjoyed an Alaskan cruise aboard the Regal Princess. Their grandson, son of Diana Oliver Hart '67, married in June 1993.

Among the guests at the 50th anniversary celebration of Dorothy "Dot" Nabers Allen and Kirk, given by their children at Montreat, N.C., were Gay Currie Fox and Neva Jackson Redfern. In late August, Dot and Kirk took a group of 24 on a chartered canal barge in Burgundy. Margaret "Bobbie" Powell Flowers '44 and Langdon were in the group. They have one grandson at Yale Divinity School and one in his senior year at St. Andrews College. Five others are in grade school.

The class's love and sympathy go out to families who have lost loved ones. Margaret Hartsook Emmons' son J. Graham Emmons of Richmond, Va. died Sept. 25, 1993. The bank of which he was a vice president was named in his honor.

Dorothy "Dot" Holloran Addison became a grandmother on July 15, 1993, in New York City, when Dorothy Holloran "Holly" Hutcheson was born to Dorothy and Sam Hutcheson. Holly's grandmother, there for the birth, was absolutely ecstatic, and goes to see her every month.

Betty Brougner Campbell writes that she is well and living on Lake Martin, just out of Dadeville, Ala. She and husband Bill, both retired, spend their time gardening, working on their shoreline, making wine and having company. Four of their children live in New Orleans; one is in Philadelphia. They have 13 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mary "Mardia" Hopper Brown and Tommy had three super events follow the April reunion: their 50th wedding anniversary reception July 23, put on by their five children; their annual family vacation gathering in August at Hilton Head (all 23 immediate family members were present); and the marriage of their youngest son Bruce in November.

In June, Regina "Pat" Stokes Barnes and Henry celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in Florida. All five children and 12 of their 14 grandchildren were with them for a week. In August, Pat and Henry visited overnight with Nancy Thomison Hawkins at her new home in Dayton, Ind. In September they toured Europe, cruising on the Rhine for five days and spending quality time in London.

Lillian Roberts Deakins spent a happy summer in 1993. In July, her granddaughter Dorothy Clarke married in Seaside, Fla.; and in September, her granddaughter Lillian Clarke married in Boca Raton, Fla. To top it off, in October, she toured southern England for a week with two friends.

Marjorie "Margie" Wilson Ligon writes, "The family, 16 strong, will be in next week for Thanksgiving. Lang hasn't retired — he says he can't when I'm still eating! We diet as usual, and arthritis keeps me quiet. No real news, but we stay busy. God has blessed us."

Susan Spurlock Wilkins enjoyed the reunion and said, "Our granddaughter Rebecca Chambers is a sophomore at Agnes Scott and is the first fourth-generation student at the College. We are very proud that she chose to follow her mother, grandmother and great grandmother to Agnes Scott."

Swanna Henderson Cameron writes that the 50th reunion was followed by two wonderful trips she and Dan took to Europe. In June, they spent two weeks in France (retracing Dan's World War II route); in August, they flew to England, took the Orient Express to Venice, then launched off on an 11-day cruise. In December, Swanna underwent successful breast surgery at Duke University Hospital. She will continue treatment at Duke off and on for a few months.

Martha Dale Moses and Sid are two of our most frequent travelers, and go all over the world. Their latest was a most unusual bus tour around eastern Turkey titled "In Search of Noah's Ark." They went from Istanbul to Trabzon on the Black Sea; climbed up to an early Christian monastery; drove close to snow-capped Mt. Ararat and hiked to see the Tumulus of Antiochus.

Alice Clements Shinall enjoyed a three-week tour of New Zealand and Australia. The New Zealand scenery is magnificent, all the people were friendly and the food was great.

Lots of news came in Molly Milam Inserni's letter.

Hansell Cousar Palme was promoted to telecommunications specialist at AWT/Research-Cottrell and loves her work so much she has no plans to retire. She has four grandchildren and her daughter is soon to become a doctor of microbiology.

Mary Munroe Brown and her husband made a memorable pilgrimage to England and Scotland. Joining a group from St. Columba's Episcopal Church in Washington, D.C., they learned lots of church history and ended the pilgrimage on the island of Iona, St. Columba's very own church in Scotland.

Other travels of the class of '45 include Margaret Mace Hannah's two visits to the West Coast — one to stand by during corrective ear surgery on grandson, Christopher; and one in July to Washington, Oregon and British Columbia.

Joan Stevenson Wing enjoyed a cruise to Greece, Malta, Venice, Florence, Portofino and Barcelona. She lives in Atlanta, and has four grandchildren, all of whom live in Texas with her son in Dallas and her daughter in Houston.

Frances Brougher Garman, who still works and is not ready to retire, had a great trip to Alaska last summer, a trip to San Antonio in October, then to "opposite ends of the country" to visit her two great-grandchildren. In November 1993, she and daughter Linda, from Germany, went to Conyers, Ga., to see Kelly Ganzer and family, to Alabama to see sister Betty Brougher Campbell '43 and to Washington to see sister Doris.

Another tripper was Elizabeth "Betty" Glenn Stow, who lists her trips of 1993 as Russia; Callaway Gardens and St. Simons Island, Ga.; Highlands, N.C., and Orlando, Fla. She also volunteers her time editing and teaching at church.

Dorothy "Rounelle" Martin has recovered from a sudden gall bladder bout and surgery.

Leila Holmes has retired from medical research and her newspaper column in Thomasville, Ga. She now enjoys the Thomasville Cultural Center; a reading club; a writer's club; gardening, art and bridge lessons; five nieces and nephews; church interests and summers in Whiteside Mountain, Highlands, N.C.

Barbara Frink Allen reports some frightening days during the Russian uprising. Son Jimmy and family lived next door to the Russian Parliament Building with militia posted in their parking area, and apartment phone lines cut when White House lines were cut. Barbara and Lew visited them in May 1993.

Happy news: Mary Neely "Nulla" Norris King reports Jane Middlebrooks Fonvielle's recent remarriage. We wait to hear his (and her!) name and other details.

The alumnae office received news that Sue L. Mitchell is president of the Ducktown Basin Museum in Tennessee.

Senior Recreation Program for the Manhasset Senior Advisory Council. She and Larry visited Wordsworth's home in Corasmere.

Evelyn Ruth Nancy Moore Harrington Whitehall has been in touch with Shirley Graves Cochran and would like to hear from some of her classmates. She is a widow, retired, and lives in London. Her address is 49 Ridgemount Gardens, Bloomsbury, London, WC 1 E 7 AU, England.

Celeta "Lella" Powell Jones' husband Harry has a cousin in Roanoke, Va., who has been ill and has been treated very kindly by a woman there. Imagine her surprise to learn that the good samaritan was Louise Reid Strickler!

Unfortunately Barbara Kincaid Trimble has suffered a series of strokes. She is recuperating at her daughter's so if you would like to send her a card, the address is: c/o Mrs. Timmy Jackson, Hardy Parker Road, Moultrie, GA 31768. We all wish her well.

"It's a good thing I like boys," wrote Martha "Scottie" Johnson Haley. She says that being housemother for the Betas at Washington and Lee has been both rewarding and exhausting. Scottie likes being back in her home state of Virginia, and has seen Vicky Alexander Sharp, who has not been in very good health.

Lucille "Bunch" Beaver wrote that she retired and went on a 43-day binge of opera performances (56 operas sung by 15 companies). She made seven trips from Washington to Georgia in conjunction with her duties as a trustee of Riverside Military Academy in Gainesville. She visited the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Ann Stratton Lee Peacock and Bob sold their home in Columbus, Ga., in February 1993 and moved to Montreat, N.C., just in time for the big blizzard in March. They survived 20 inches of snow with no problem. Bob has joined the Asheville Community Band and Stratton has signed on as interim minister of education at the First Presbyterian Church in Asheville. Their son Lee lives in Omaha, and daughter Melissa is in Raleigh, N.C.

Eleanor Reynolds Verdery went around the world (in less than 80 days) with a group sponsored by the Baptist Foreign Mission Board in May 1993. It was an exciting trip, and she is visiting various churches relating her experiences.

Lura Johnston Watkins and Bill traveled almost as much as Bunch and Eleanor last year. They visited friends in Naples, Fla., in January, got snowbound at a woman's club convention at the Greenbriar in March, spent two weeks in Alaska in June, went to Hilton Head in July and Ohio in October. In between, they occupied their condo in Pinehurst, N.C.

Maud Van Dyke Jennings' father celebrated his 100th birthday in February 1993 with a three-day gala, with many relatives and friends. In December, Maudie flew unexpectedly to London to help "sit" an apartment, and enjoyed seeing "Wind in the Willows," museums, etc. She spent Christmas with daughter Edith Jennings Black '71 and her family in Albany, Ga. Edith was named Georgia Latin Teacher of the Year.

Marguerite "Maggie" Toole Scheips, after all these years, finally has a daughter. She and Charlie's second son, Ted, the first of the four to be married, wed Maggie, a "darling young French woman" in her hometown. All the Scheipses enjoyed the wedding and then a visit to Paris. Two of their other sons live in New York City. Maggie is trying to convince Charlie that they should sell their home in Connecticut and retire to Manhattan. They like the museums, opera and theatres appeal to them both.

L. Elizabeth "Beth" Walton Callaway and Bo are moving back to Georgia, as Bo is now president and CEO of Callaway Gardens. She related a harrowing tale of son and husband sailing a new boat south in the midst of high winds and seas. Bo went overboard but was tethered, so all ended calmly. While Bo was sailing south, Beth had visits in New York with Marybeth Little Weston-Bergman '48, Mary Sheely Little Miller '48 and Harriet Gregory Heriot '48; and in Rockville, Md. with Marianne Sissy Jeffries Williams.

Beth plans to be at the mini-reunion, along with Phyllis Antoinette Anne Eidson Owen, Laura Winchester Hawkins and many others. Be sure to let Florence "Fluff" Paisley Williams know as soon as possible if you'll be there. She has some interesting plans made and wants to share the beauty of western North Carolina with as many as possible.

Ellen Rosenblatt Caswell reports her first grandchild, born to Kate and Dave on Dec. 15, 1993, in Nashville. By now she has cuddled Max Bernard in this very special Christmas season.

Ann Stine Hughes is another class member already planning for the mini-reunion at Black Mountain in October. Her activities include vocal performances galore, even a duet with her husband at her church's 100th anniversary and the performance of a poem she wrote, "Returning the Gift," set to music and done each holiday season. She is also president of the Waukegan Women's Club this year.

Earlier in the summer, Eleanor "Sweetie" Calley Cross had a houseparty in Covington, La., where Anne Eidson Owen and Bill, along with your secretary and her husband, Larry, enjoyed learning of the famous Louisiana hospitality. A highlight was lunch with Walker Percy's widow.

Minnie Hamilton Mallinson and husband Howatt are working in Taipei, Taiwan, for the first six months of 1994. He is serving as co-pastor with a Taiwanese pastor of the East Gate Presbyterian Church.

Helen Goldman Alperin is chairman of her synagogue's library for 1993-94 and finds it a rewarding activity. She also continues with her tour guide work, enjoys several hobbies, runs a household and tries to keep up with husband Joe. She has two grandchildren she just visited in Princeton, N.J., and three in the Atlanta area.

Peggy Baker Cannada writes from Edwards, Miss., that she enjoys good health and a happy, busy life. She and Ray have five grown children and 13 grandchildren. Ray had bypass surgery in 1980 and since then he has had two strokes, but is doing well. Peggy's father died in 1992, and her mother is 99 years old. Peggy is district consulting coordinator for Friendship Bible College and is still active in her local church.

Betty Jean Barnes Stuebing and L.A. enjoyed having Anne Hagerty Estes '47 and Louis visit them in September 1993 in Michigan at Bethany Beach. They all went "birding." Louis became interested in tennis again. Anne and Louis went to China in November.

Mildred Claire Jones Colvin and friend George Rooks spent three weeks in Israel and Egypt in the summer of 1993. She sent along a great picture of her family at Cal Jr.'s wedding, also in the summer of 1993.

Amanda Hulsey Thompson and Ray enjoyed a trip to the Greek Isles and to Istanbul in June. They have a new grandson, Morgan Thompson Hughes, born Sept. 13, 1993, to daughter Kelly.

Anne Treadwell Suratt also has another granddaughter, Colleen Elizabeth Suratt, born Dec. 8, 1993, to Ellen and John Suratt, who live in Decatur, Ga. Adele Dieckman McKee, after going on the Board of the Young Singers of Callanwolde to help with writing grant proposals, became president of the board in August 1993.

Lida "Dabney" Adams Hart was honored on her retirement from Georgia State University with a scholarship that was set up in her name at the school. She enjoyed three weeks visiting old friends in England in September 1993.

Best wishes to Nancy Haislip Cammack and Philip Houston on their marriage in August 1992. Phil is retired, and both he and Nancy have grown children. They live in her home in Baltimore.

Mary "Pris" Hatch Taylor is teaching still at Greenville Technical College. She is head of the English Department and works with Adult Education Developmental Studies.

Rose Mary Griffin Wilson and Bill welcomed a second grandson, Matthew James Wilson, born Oct. 21, 1993, to Dayna and John Wilson of Denver, Colo.

F. Evelyn Puckett Woodward, Ed.D. retired as a professor in 1992. She co-authored Mathematics Applications for College Students and in 1993 wrote a supplemental math textbook.

Martha "Mott" Warlick Brame and Bill had a couple of pleasant trips during 1993, under Smithsonian auspices — to the Hudson Valley of New York and to the Cotswolds in England.

Sally Ellis Mitchell and husband George's 1993 Christmas card showed them on the rim of the Grand Canyon, a picture taken during a September visit to Arizona.

Nancy Parks Donnan was in Boulder City, Nev., for Thanksgiving with family members; took a trip on her boat, "Second Love," with husband Bob to Richmond in June; and spent a couple of happy months in Montreat during the summer.

Nancy Huey Kelly, husband Thad and their large family (22 strong including parents, children and grandchildren) enjoyed a week at Callaway Gardens in June 1993 and another kind of reunion in October for the dedication of a monument in Fayetteville, Ark., to Thad's grandfather.

Harriotte "Otte" Winchester Hurley spent a busy 1993, leading a weekly Bible study group in her home and visiting with children from Macon, to Knoxville, Tenn., to San Francisco.

Olive "Ibby" Wilkinson Turnipseed retired in 1993 after many years of working with Asian church-related organizations; husband Lonnie has just begun a two-year term as director of church world service for the National Council of Churches. The couple continues to live in New Jersey, with children and grandchildren near enough for frequent visiting.

In November 1993 your class secretary had a marvelous visit with Billie Rita Adams Simpson in Charlotte. Rita's cordiality exceeded all bounds and it was fun to become re-acquainted after nearly 47 years. After many years with the Charlotte Observer, Rita is enjoying a very active retirement, which includes travel and membership on a variety of church and charitable boards.

The class mourns the deaths of Janet Aurada Ponder, who died of cardiac arrest; Margaret Louise Hamer Floyd, who died in the fall of 1992 after years of poor health; and Julia Pennington Willett, who died in November after a 15-month battle with bone cancer. Deepest sympathy goes out to the members of their families and to Virginia Lynn Phillips Mathews, who lost her eldest son, Craig.

Ann Pitts Cobb saw Lillian "Lil" Beale Hollis '52 at a party in Goldsboro, N.C., in December 1993. Lil's son married a cousin of Ann's husband. Ann is the cultural arts and foreign language coordinator for the newly merged Edgecombe County Schools in North Carolina. She also teaches Spanish at South Edgecombe Middle School and continues to direct her church choir. She and John have three married children and five "wonderful" grandchildren. Ann stays in touch with Jessie Hodges Kryder.

Martha Jane Davis Jones has been teaching second grade in DeKalb County for 19 years. Classmate Phyllis Narmore Matthews' death is noted with sadness.

Alline Marshall drove to Miami to help Barbara "Babs" Young Hall plan the next reunion to be held in the Bahamas. Babs will be the hostess. Make your plans now to come.

Mary Carolyn Schwab Drakes attended a photography seminar in the Golden Isles of Georgia in December. Her son Bob was married in October. His grandfather officiated!

Elizabeth "Betty" Cole Van Houten, a real estate broker associate with Harry Norman Realtors in Atlanta, is a member of the Million Dollar Club of DeKalb County and was on the Million Dollar Council of Harry Norman in 1992. She is also on the DeKalb Women's Council of Realtors and was 1993 Member of the Year of the DeKalb National Council of Realtors.

Christine "Tina" Hand Elliott and Bob are living in Antioch, Tenn., near Nashville. For several years they have been traveling with two groups of people who assist needy countries with agricultural development. They have already been to China, Russia and Romania in this endeavor. In January 1994 they were to begin working in Egypt where they will live for several years with some leave time in the U.S. Tina and Bob have five children and 13 grandchildren.

Martha Ann Stegar and Yalcin Peker have been very busy in their retirement from Georgia Tech Research Institute and in the first year of their marriage. Martha Ann volunteers one day a week in the children's discovery rooms at the new Fernbank Museum of Natural History in Decatur and participates in the museum's classes and digs relating to Georgia's pre-historic Indian culture. She and Yalcin spent 30 days in Turkey exploring Yalcin's roots. She and Yalcin sold their home and are now living at 2296 Melinda Drive, Atlanta, GA 30345-1913.

Jimmie Ann McGee Collings and Tom attended orientation by the Baptist Home Mission Board in October 1993. Tom, who retired from his pediatrics practice, is working hard in two Appalachian clinics and is going into remote areas of the mountains to serve patients.

Ann Goodwyn Mapp and Jim flew their private plane to Knoxville, Tenn., in November 1993 to visit Ann's son Tom Greenwood and granddaughter Brittany Ann.

Betty Libbey lives in Mount Rainier, Md., and is now retired after working for many years in the music library at Catholic University. She also sang for many years all over the District of Columbia, Baltimore, and in New York.

Julianne Morgan Garner, Virginia Kay Daniel and Betty Rawls Skelton enjoyed a recent visit together in Birmingham, Ala., and had fun catching up on 40 plus years.

Nancy Cassin Smith and Ralph have had a year of refurbishing their three homes, which were damaged by hurricane Andrew and the "snow storm of the century." They still found time for traveling and to attend family reunions in North Carolina and Indiana. At their farm in Duplin County, N.C., they enjoy making pickles, jelly and wine.

The alumnae office received news that Sally Thomason Kell was honored in June 1993 upon retirement from Ducktown

Keep those post cards coming!

Landis Cotten Gunn's husband, Yale, retired from active ministry and she from teaching as a vision therapist. They have moved to Knoxville, Tenn., to a Presbyterian retirement community. After the marriage of son number three, they toured northern France and have been traveling throughout the U.S. "Freedom is wonderful," says Landis.

"We're finally moving South!" writes Wynelle Melson Patton. Bill retired and they are moving to Chapel Hill, N.C. One daughter is on the Duke Medical School faculty and another on the University of North Carolina Dental School faculty. A third daughter is a medical resident at Brigham and Women's/Harvard Medical School.

Muriel Gear Hart is moving back east with retiring husband, Mac. Muriel, while at the Presbyterian General Assembly, had lunch with June Carpenter Sloan. The class extends its sympathy to Muriel on the death of her brother, Richard.

June Carpenter Sloan was in Blowing Rock, N.C., last summer, visiting Margaretta Lumpkin Shaw and Bud; Carol Lou Jacob Dunn '53 and George; and Mary Beth Robinson Stuart '53 and Jim, who is the interim pastor at the Presbyterian Church there. June and husband Rudy are having a wonderful time at their home on Ski Mountain, N.C.

From Augusta, Ga., Sylvia Moutos Mayson writes that Pen has retired to the golf course and she has caught "bridge fever." She remains active in her church, visits her mother in a nursing home daily and keeps up with her busy children and new grandbaby Alexandra.

Not all of the class of '52 has retired. After 21 years, Helen Jean Robarts Seaton continues as head of the psychology department at Ursuline College. She and Bob spent Christmas in England with son Scott, his wife Diana and 2-year-old William. Daughter Sandy and husband Lee will be ordained in May at the Presbyterian Union Theological Seminary of Virginia.

Edith Petrie Hawkins recently became a professor of pathology at Baylor College of Medicine and Texas Children's Hospital. She is about to become a grandmother again.

Although Ann Green Cross's husband Pete retired, Ann still owns her real estate company which is "going strong" with 30 associates.

Speaking of grandchildren (as we so often do), Carol Solomon

Rees and Eddie are first-time grandparents. Richard Rees was born in June 1993 to son Ed and wife Yvonne.

Between September and December 1993, Shirley Ford Baskin made a trip to China with her husband, underwent surgery and three new grandchildren were born.

Phyllis Galphin Buchanan and Jim are grandparents again. Hope Nicole Buchanan was born Oct. 29, 1993, to Mike and Karyn. Grandson Sam is now a "big brudder."

Although retired for five years, Ann Boyer Wilkerson is still busy. She is quilting (her 11th), doing yardwork and watching her six grandchildren grow. She works with the children's church choir and proof-reads the museum quarterly. Remember Ann's mother, Reba Bayless Boyer '27? She is going strong at 89 and went with Ann to Switzerland in May 1993.

Ann Parker Lee reports that she continues with her routine: keeping house, sewing, doing laundry, going to meetings, boating and keeping up with her grown children and grandchildren.

All in all the class has been blessed and your secretary prays many days of continued blessings on each of you in 1994.

Jane Hook Conyers, who resides in Austell, Ga., and working at Cobb Hospital, attended the class' reunion. Her three children are all grown and scattered.

Tylertown, Miss. claims Ellen Hunter Brumfield, now retired and doing volunteer work. Her two children also live in Mississippi.

Anne Jones Sims resides in Cartersville, Ga., and Warren is now retired. Their four children live in the area, as do their five grandchildren.

Music fills the life of Sarah Leathers Martin and husband Eugene. Imagine being a visiting lecturer at Emory University

The Atlanta area has claimed

Despo Matheson Zakas ever since graduation, and she says she has a rosy outlook on life.

Who would have thought Margaret McRae Edwards would wish to study botany, identify trees, wildflowers and shrubs and actually pitch a tent by herself?

Evelyn "Taffy" Merrill Daniel is teaching in Perry, Fla., and continues to love it. She now desires some grandchildren—after her daughters marry, of course.

Athens, Ga. is the home of Adaline Miller Royce. She and Richard now have five grandchildren, and Adaline looks forward to spending more time with them.

Belle Miller McMaster and George moved back to the Atlanta area following her retirement from the Presbyterian Church (USA) denominational office in June. She is now acting director of the program for "Women in Theology and Ministry" at Candler School of Theology, Emory University.

While George works, Carlene Nickel Elrod spends her time with horticulture and historic interests. The have three children and six grandchildren, and live in Huntsville, Ala.

Both husband George and Lilla Kate Parramore Hart are still working in Valdosta, Ga., while their five children are scattered.

Margaret "Peggy" Ringel Zell and husband Donald live in Jacksonville, Fla. and have four children and four grandchildren. They have traveled extensively; Peggy was especially impressed by China.

Mary Ripley Warren and Bill have traveled a lot, but Mary still would like to visit a set of "Days of Our Lives."

If you need travel advice, call Louise Ross Bell and husband Harry in Gulfport, Miss. They have probably been there and certainly can advise you. Their four children are in the state of Mississippi.

One who was missed at the reunion was Rita May Scott Cook, who is living in Thomasville, Ga. with husband Carroll. Their travels have included a trip to Germany to see the Passion Play.

Edith Sewell, who is living in Honolulu with husband

Robert Husselrath, was ordained a deacon in the Episcopal Church in 1985. She has four children and three grandchildren.

Priscilla Sheppard Taylor and Jack have lived all over the world, but are currently in McLean, Va., where he writes and she edits (for someone else). They have four children and one grandchild.

One of the most interesting occupations is that of Natalie Stratton Howard, who owns and draws home plans with husband Johnny. They live on Lake Burton in North Georgia.

Frances Summerville Guess and John are still in the Emory section of Atlanta, as are their two children.

Currently working as a fine arts model, Lindy Taylor Barnett is living in Atlanta and has three children.

Williams Island, Fla. is home to Margie Thomason Cooper and Lee, where he is a hotelier. Margie has retired from teaching, but surprised herself by earning a Ph.D. prior to that. Her two children are in the Southeast.

Anne Thomson Sheppard has four children, one grandchild, Gerry and retirement now as well as her familiar twinkling eyes and humor. She and Gerry are still in Laurens, S.C., the four children scattered.

Another classmate who missed the reunion was Charline Tritton Shanks who was in Australia welcoming a new grandchild. She and George have five children living all over the world. Charline lives in Gainesville, Ga.

Mobile, Ala. is home to Vivian Weaver Maitland, and she continues to enjoy her job with the FBI. Her three daughters give her great pride.

Barbara West Erwin is in Birmingham, Ala., with five children and 12 grandchildren scattered over the Southeast. Her youngest grandchild arrived in October 1993. Barbara's daughter-in-law Robin has been pronounced in remission from inflammatory breast cancer. God does work miracles.

The class missed Mary Young Gilchrist at the reunion. Mary lives in Groton, Conn., and is retired from her office and book-keeping jobs. She has three children and enjoyed living for a time in Italy.

Patty Hamilton Lee and husband Bill moved to Northern Virginia last fall to develop and organize a new Presbyterian Church at Stephens City. They love the Shenandoah Valley and enjoy it in a different way than they did their 28 years in Florida. Patty has opened a private counseling practice here but looks forward to retirement with Bill.

The Lees get together frequently with Mary Edna Clark Hollins '56 and Bill, and with Jane Frist '56 in Montreat, N.C. In the Washington area Patty is near former roomie Joan Johnston and her Bill. Patty, Joan and Ann Allred Jackson lunched together recently.

New from Pauline Waller Hoch: Daughter Paula married Tracy Bridges in May 1992. Paula is a medical social worker at Emory University Hospital and lives in Roswell down the street from her daughter, Madeline, her husband Paul, Emma, 3, and Patrick, born July 11, 1993. Pauline's son David is working in the family business.

Pauline enjoyed a trip to Israel in November 1992, and with husband Walter, a trip to New England and Nova Scotia this past September. Pauline spoke with Constance "Connie" Curry, Grace Greer Phillips, Catherine Lewis Callaway, and Jeanne Levie Berry at an ASC Atlanta chapter luncheon in October 1993.

Agnes "Mickey" Scott Willoch welcomed a new grandson, Bryan, born in March 1993 to son Raymond Scott Willoch and Florrie Price Willoch. Mickey and Ray enjoyed a trip to Ireland in July 1993.

Eleanor Swain All still enjoys aerobics after 10 years. She is certified in English and Special Education and is looking for a position in a public or private school. She and Bill enjoyed exploring Chicago while on a recent business trip.

Stella Biddle Fitzgerald's father, P.H. Biddle, died at age 99 in February 1993. She continues in Child Protective Services in Chester, S. C., where George is minister of Purity Presbyterian Church. Daughter Ann '85 married Frank Aichinger in October; both are Presbyterian ministers. Ann will continue serving two churches in Jefferson, S.C.

Guerry Graham Myers' husband, Charlie, had heart bypass surgery in June 1993 at Piedmont Hospital in Atlanta. He continues to improve daily. Guerry's youngest daughter, Guerry Drey, had a second son, Charles Guerry on March 19, 1993.

Judy Peace Harte's husband has been retired seven years. They enjoy their four married children and six grandchildren at home and at the beach.

Ann Bowen McCown's father, Al Bowen, died this year; her mother, Ellen Bowen '26 lives near Tryon, N.C. Ann works in Vance's law office, and they enjoy their grandchildren, Ry, Katy and Bowen.

Betty McFarland Bigger looks forward to ASC news. When the snow is deep in Kansas, they enjoy trips to San Diego and Miami to see their children now that John is semi-retired.

Mary Edna Clark Hollins reports they enjoy seeing ASC friends at Montreat, and spent three weeks in Alaska last fall. M.E. renovated her mother's Montreat house and is renting out part of it.

Jane Frist rented her Orlando home and moved to Montreat, where she renovated her mother's log cabin into a bed and breakfast and founded her own real estate company. Her daughter flies the German and French routes with Continental, and her two sons work together in Mount Dora, Fla.

Ann Alvis Shibut is the comic writer of our crowd; her letters are masterpieces of the mundane. Her house is a little emptier this year because they had to put their 22-year-old kitty-cat to sleep. Even the boys moved away younger than that, Ann stated. For fun and games, contact Ann via e-mail "Shibut@urvax.urich.edu".

Gene Allen Reinero Vargas has taught third and fourth grades in Bogota, Columbia for 25 years. Her daughter Susan '86 is married to a Greek Cypriot; they have a two-year-old son, Ari, and live in Cyprus.

Daughter Karen is married to a Dutchman and lives in Utrecht. Daughter Caroline '87 and son Frederick work with their father.

Judy Nash Gallo's husband Ray murmurs thoughts of retirement. She has enjoyed real success as a volunteer court appointed special advocate.

Daughter Anne has returned to Harvard to work on a master's; son Ray practices law in Los Angeles. Judy visited with Hazel Ellis and Margaret Woolfolk Webb in Bakersfield recently. She also spoke with Harriet Talmadge Mill and Rebecca "Becky" Barlow while in the Virginias at a family reunion.

Margaret Woolfolk Webb is recovering from a serious illness. The class sends its best to you, "Woolk."

While Joanne Brownlee Whisler's husband John has retired from Monsanto and plays golf three times a week, Joanne has not figured out how to retire from housework. They put 6,200 miles on their motor home last year.

Mary Jane Milford Spurgeon lives in Parkersburg, W.V., and writes that she took early retirement to enjoy travel and volunteering. Her main interests are literacy and the local arts center. She has traveled abroad several times to Russia, Poland, and East Germany (before the Wall came down). This past year she traveled to China, Hong Kong, and Japan.

Marilyn Tribble Wittner and Harvey took a grand two-week vacation to Canada in November. They enjoyed taking the train across the continent and playing in the snow in the Canadian Rockies.

Kathy Flory Maier, who lives in Prospect Park, N.J., wrote in October that she was on the way to see Aaron Christopher, her newest grandchild.

JoAnn "Joie" Sawyer Delafield writes from New York that she and Dennis are enjoying the return of all three children. They are in graduate school at New York University, Columbia, and Harvard. They spend time at their farm in the Adirondacks.

Catherine "Cat" Hodgkin Olive reports from Lexington, N.C. that Hubert has retired and they enjoy traveling. Last year they toured Germany. Both of their children are married and they have one granddaughter in Lexington.

Jean Clark Sparks has been a librarian at Florida Institute of Technology in Melbourne for eight years. She received her M.L.S. degree from the University of South Florida last year.

Caro McDonald Smith's son Mayson married in November at Peachtree Presbyterian Church in Atlanta. Daughter Katherineine was in the wedding, and Joan St. Clair Goodhew and husband Bill attended.

Your secretary and husband Penn have a new granddaughter. Allie Corrine McWhorter was born in August (on Friday the 13th) at Fort Polk, La. She joins sister Carroll, age 5.

The class mourns the death of Carolyn Tinkler "Tink" Ramsey on Nov. 11, 1993. She was an enthusiastic and dedicated member of the class.

Frances Singleton Woodside met Wardie Abernethy Martin's daughter on a recent international flight. Fran has a master of fine arts from the University of Georgia and exhibits her works regionally and nationally. She teaches in Greenville, S.C., but travels frequently to Italy.

Sally Sanford Rugaber lives in Roanoke, Va., where her husband is publisher of the "Roanoke Times and World News." Sally has been president of the Arts Council of the Blue Ridge. Their daughter Leslie lives in Seattle and is to be married in 1994.

Weddings in 1992-93 were mini-reunions for a large group of Scotties. English Ray, daughter of Lila McGeachy Ray and Dick was married in Charlotte, N.C. with Wardie Abernethy Martin, Jane King Allen, Patricia Forrest Davis and Ann Rivers Payne Hutcheson in attendance. Also, Wardie and Jim's daughter Margaret married in Charlotte in May, with many of the same '59-ers there, along with Jane Kraemer Scott and Lillian Shannonhouse Weller.

Barbara Varner Willoughby and Don's big news is Colleen Margaret Gredy, a new granddaughter. The couple traveled to Russia recently with a Georgia Tech group and visited Barbara Harrison Clinebell and Bill in Arizona and North Carolina.

Jeanette Beaird Jones and Milton sent news of their children who live in Columbus and Atlanta and of course, news of their grandchildren. Jeanette has retired after 20 years of teaching.

Isabella Strait Huffman and George are still in Orlando, but daughter Lillian married in July and lives in Sydney, Australia. Russell is a first-year med student at Duke, and Elizabeth is in Atlanta, where her husband is youth minister at North Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Mary Morris Hurlbutt lives in Honolulu and has frequent getaways to Maui. She is a librarian at an elementary school. She vows to attend our 40th reunion.

Many thanks to you for responding to the plea for news.

Nancy Boothe Higgins is working on a monograph "The History of West Chester" and a chapter, "Religion and Churches," for the Chester County (Pa.) Historical Society. She's doing a census of World War II veterans from the area, while also employed by UPS. Her greatest joys are her three grandchildren and flower garden.

Anne Modlin Burkhardt plans to build a small mountain inn near Asheville, N.C. Even more energetic, she plans to go trekking in Nepal in January before her feet and knees give out.

Georgeanne Richardson Herzog reports she's a "stockbroker, divorced, hockey mom." Her youngest son, Geoff, is being recruited by many Ivy League colleges to play hockey.

Ellen Hines Smith won the 1993 National Humanitarian Award from the National Legal Services Corp. She was also elected mayor pro tem of the city of Spartanburg in 1993.

Virginia Johnson Braswell has become the executive director of the Owensboro, Ky., affiliate of Habitat for Humanity. She is the presiding officer for the local League of Women Voters, and is planning a summer wedding for her third daughter.

Emily Bailey and a friend went to New York City in September, where the highlight was taking a Saturday class in Peter Kump's Cooking School. In November she and Grace Lynn Ouzts Curry went to the Holy Land.

Eleanor "Bunny" Henry Coates is a graduate student in anthropology at the University of Pennsylvania, and will return for the third year, to work in Copan, Honduras. She photographs ancient Mayan masonry in the system of tunnels beneath the acropolis.

A. Ginger Marks Espy says she spends several wonderful days at the beach each March with Jean Corbett Griffin and Jo Jarrell Wood. She also sees Harriet Elder Manley and husband Jim often. Ginger's husband, Tom, retired this year (is working part time) so Ginger resigned her job to be free to travel with him. They spent two weeks in Alaska in September.

Susan Abernathy McCreary went to the wedding of Martha Lambeth Harris' second son, Wayt, in June. As godmother, she helped celebrate the wedding, then hosted Wayt and his bride, Elizabeth, and Martha's other son, Ben, and his wife, Michel, when they gathered in Alexandria, Va., for a Thanksgiving visit. Then when Katherine "Kay" Gwaltney Remick's daughter Charlotte was married in August, Susan and her husband Bob joined in the celebration.

When Mary Wayne Crymes Bywater and husband Bob took daughter Leslie back to the University of Virginia in late August, they got to visit Susan and Bob in Herndon, Va., and were given a personal tour of Washington, D.C. After that, Susan and Bob went Paris to visit their daughter.

Artist/Sculptor With International Experience

LYNN DENTON '63 RECEIVES POLLOCK-KRASNER GRANT

Lynn Blackwell Denton '63, a Philadelphia based painter and sculptor whose work was featured on campus during the College's Centennial Show "Artsynergy," has been awarded a grant from the Pollock-Krasner Foundation for a year's development of her work.

The artist has exhibited painting and sculpture in the United States and abroad for 25 years. In 1968-69 she served a residency at the Cité Internationale des Arts in Paris. In Philadelphia she has exhibited at the Institute of Contemporary Art and has had solo exhibitions at the Morris Gallery of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and at the Nexus Gallery. Recent National shows have included a three-year traveling exhibition, "Alice, and Look Who Else: Through the Looking Glass," organized by the Bernice Steinbaum Gallery in New York.

In 1985 she won a competition to transform a 2,000 square foot plaza near City Hall in Philadelphia into a temporary work of art—

"Insites '85." More recently, Denton completed a major commission of eight ceramic murals for the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta.

In 1993 she took a leading role in a successful challenge by the local Art Emergency Board to the Pennsylvania Convention Center to award major commissions to regional artists.

Other awards have included a Mid-Atlantic Arts Foundation Grant in 1989 and numerous residencies with the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts' Artist-in-Residence Program. Denton has taught at the University of the Arts and Moore College of Art and Design in Philadelphia, and she currently holds a field faculty position in the master's level visual arts program of Vermont College, Norwich University, Northfield, Vt.

Louise Zimmerman Austell sells residential real estate for Prudential in Winston-Salem, N.C.

Anneke Schepman Corbitt is a registered nurse in Florence, Mass. She has just completed a three-year training program in Shiatzu (Japanese massage) and has taken the exam for national certification.

Frances Anderson has a new book out, "Art-Centered Education as Therapy." Frances is scheduled to teach a course in art therapy at Agnes Scott, July 22-24. She gave presentations at the American Art Therapy Association Conference in Atlanta last November and will present her work in a two-person show at the College of Notre Dame near San Francisco from May to July.

Elizabeth "Deedie" Withers Estes writes that she's "winning the cholesterol battle." Her oldest child, Andy, is now working in Boston.

Ann Williams Wedaman and Tom have been in Kansas City, Mo., for 21 years. Tom is an engineer with Allied Signal; Ann is a librarian at a community college.

Lynn Denton is active in an artists support network in California and is establishing a similar group in Philadelphia. She is artist in residence at the Community Women's Education Project in Philadelphia, a project designed to help inner-city residents. Lynn will travel to Oaxaca, Mexico, in January to paint. On one visit to California, she saw Kennette Farlowe Brock.

Edna Vass Stucky and family are happy and healthy in Moundridge, Kan. Son Brandon is in his second year at Bethel College in North Newton, Kan.; daughter Krystal is a high school junior.

Ipek Aksugur Duben and Alan maintain homes in New York and Istanbul. Alan is an archeologist with a specialty in Turkish society and history. Ipek is an artist and has had several shows of her work in Istanbul. Ipek visited ASC last spring and wrote that it was a "wonderfully emotional experience to be back after 30 years. It looked as beautiful as ever."

Margaret "Maggy" Harms wrote so enthusiastically that she has been selected to represent Sprint to The Atlanta Project (TAP) as corporate advisor for the West Fulton cluster. Maggy is thrilled and will be working fulltime in the community for at least the next year.

Lucie Callaway Coffie and Frazier spent a few days at Hilton Head with Pat Conrad Schwarz and Bill. Lucie sees Lydia Wammock Ramsey fairly often. Lucie continues with her clinical social work and private practice. She takes great delight in her 13-month-old grandson Lael.

Betsy Schenck Kylstra and her husband continue their counseling work at a Florida conference center and are duplicating the program from a church in Oenang, Malaysia.

The Rev. Dr. Carolyn Craft continues as professor of English at Longwood College, Vicar of two congregations in the community, and interim campus minister at Longwood and at Hampton Sydney College. She moved into a new house: 1702 Briery Rd., Farmville, Va. 23901, last year.

Sylvia Chapman Sager lives in Williamsburg, Va., and does a variety of volunteer work—audience development for an early music group; transporting disabled to concerts; working with church committees.

Since last August, Michele Bullard Smith has been a math instructor at McNeese State University in Lake Charles, La. Her address: 2342 Lake St., Lake Charles, La. 70601.

Mary Jo Beverly Limbird and family are still in California, though Glenn worked most of the fall in North Carolina. Mary Jo still plans to teach for three more years (until she can retire with full benefits) and then perhaps they'll head east to stay.

Susan Keith-Lucas Carson and George returned from their trip to New Zealand last spring to find that George had been appointed a federal administrative law judge! The downside of this honor and challenge is that he is now working in Charleston, W.V., and commuting home to Winston-Salem on weekends. The phone bills, says Sue, are "astronomical!" Sue is still directing communications for the school system.

Maria Wornom Rippe and Peter are enjoying being host family to a Polish exchange math teacher, in the States on a Fulbright program. Maria says Mirka is cooking them wonderful Polish food, and they're showing her some of the country on weekend trips. Maria does some Sunday "supply" work in Lutheran churches, but says she's generally too busy with her computers in the school library for the meditation and preparation needed for preaching.

Carolyn "Kelly" Mulherin Oates says, "Montana continues to grow on the Oates," but she also spent some of last summer traveling—notably a three-day, 50-mile canoe trip down the Missouri River with the church junior high group. Kelly reports that sleeping in a tent again was not difficult, but "getting up again the next morning was a bit tricky..." Kelly's parents are now living with them in Missoula; her mother has some serious health problems.

Garnett Foster, outrageously over-committed, with pastoring her diverse congregation in Tacoma Park, Md., chairing the board of Stony Point Center, working with Partners for Peace (a Middle East advocacy group), teaching at McCormick, still managed some vacation time last summer in Colorado and New Mexico and "wrangled a ticket" to Clinton's inauguration!

Martha Griffith Kelley reports on her children: Jenny is at Rutgers, working on her dissertation in Geometric Measure Theory; David is a senior at Furman, majoring in music theory and organ, and planning to go to graduate school in composition; Robert is a high school senior and also plans to major in music.

The settlement ends years of litigation and gives the Catawba Nation $50 million and the right to expand its reservation by 4,200 acres.

Helen Davis Hatch is president of Helen Davis Hatch Architects, Inc.

Lucia Howard Sizemore continues to enjoy her work as alumnae director at ASC and seeing classmates at the various alumnae chapter meetings around the country. In Montreat, N.C. she saw Elaine Nelson Bonner, who moved to Asheville two years ago to become the director of Christian education at a church there; and Ann Durrance Snead, who had come up to visit Elaine. In Chicago, she had dinner with Molly Dominy Harrington, who lives in Milwaukee.

In Roanoke, Va., Lucia saw Sally Abernethy Eads, who is teaching history at Virginia Western Community College and serves as the first woman ever appointed to the Botetourt County School Board.

In early December 1993, Carol Napier Sutton Lumpkin entertained the Dalton alumnae chapter in her historic, refurbished home. It was a delightful event, all heard about Carol's transition from California to Dalton. The class was saddened over the death of Carol's mother last August.

Adele Josey has become a "handy person" in her new home in the Garden Hills area of Atlanta. She serves on the board of the Atlanta Humane Society.

Irene Knox Brock and Tom are enjoying their new home in Roanoke, where Tom is a vice president of General Electric. Irene raises orchids and teaches therapeutic riding. Son Tom III graduated from Georgia Tech; daughter Susan, a graduate of Randolph-Macon College, is living in Wilmington, N.C.

The rewards and challenges of teaching high school Latin since 1968 have been ample for Jean Binkley Thrower. She's currently taking up golf, a hobby Bill enjoys as well. They are involved with the Moravian Church near their home in suburban Winston-Salem. Jean keeps in touch with classmates Judy Almand Jackson and Donna Evans Brown.

Sara "Sally" Hudson Wasowski and Andy have written their fourth book, Gardening with Native Plants of the South. Sally has been a landscape designer for 12 years, while Andy is a freelance writer. Their first book, Requiem for a Lawnmower, was published last year; another is forthcoming, Native Landscaping: El Paso to L.A.

Sarah "Sally" Elberfeld Harrold promised to make the 30th reunion. She and her daughter Sarah, a high school sophomore, enjoy life on the Oregon coast where Sally teaches writing and literature at Southwestern Oregon Community College, gardens, sails and makes pottery.

Susan McCann Butler, continues to teach English at Thomas Nelson Community College in Hampton, Va. and serves as chair of the curriculum committee. Her husband, Scott, also teaches English at TNCC. Daughter Anne is 11 and is becoming well-known as a soloist in the church choir and a writer at school. Classmate Chee Kludt Ricketts teaches art at Anne's school.

After teaching in North Carolina and Texas public schools for 15 years, Nancy Thompson Beane joined the staff of Westminster Schools five years ago, serving as college counselor for the last two. Husband John practices law and their 15-year-old daughter is a first year student at Westminster, where she plays volleyball and basketball. Nancy, Susan Philips Moore and Carol Thomas Trockman recently enjoyed a mini-reunion.

Gué Pardue Hudson and Mary Kay Owen Jarboe fulfilled a long-time dream of going to Egypt, and had a fabulous time on the ASC Alumnae Tour.

Betty Derrick has also been traveling — Paris and Provence. She probably passed (at breathtaking speed) Peggy Moore Hall and Conrad who were on the French roads at the same time.

Sarah "Sally" Bainbridge Akridge rekindles her Atlanta connection with a son at Georgia Tech. She was able to visit with Scott spouses at Tech's class of '68 homecoming. (You must come to your ASC 30th.) In May 1993 she hosted a field trip of Washington D.C., alums and Peggy Barton Driggs '63 "held us slack-jawed and awed by her performance from her play on Harriet Tubman, Sweet Chariot."

Florence "Penny" Nowlin McKee and Bill have lived in Scottsdale, Ariz., for nearly 20 years. Penny has "retired" from W.B. McKee Securities, which they started in 1987. She is active in volunteer work.

Laura Carmichael Poole is involved in educational therapy at a Christian school in Oregon. Her youngest child is in college; her oldest, Elaine, has returned from a year of mission work in Albania. Laura and Tom have a new home with a view of Mount Hood. They took a trip to Europe this year.

Rebecca "Becky" Griffin Ramsey lives in Covington, Ga., and is vice president of Ramsey Furniture Co. She is a leader in many community organizations and is organist of the Oxford College of Emory University and First United Methodist Church. She worked on the political campaigns of her husband, Sam, who is serving a third term on the city council. Becky has appeared on several episodes of the television series "In the Heat of the Night." Becky and sister Alice Griffin Long give frequent two-piano programs.

The class extends sympathy to Ann Teat Gallant on the loss of her father, and to Elizabeth Ann Glendinning on the loss of her mother.

Chappaqua, NY 10514

After finishing an M.A. in philosophy at University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill, Louise Roska-Hardy and Karl moved to Germany "for a while," and have ended up raising a family there. With no German language background, she passed the language entrance exams six weeks after arriving, and started from scratch in the German university system. In 1985, she took her Ph.D. in philosophy. She teaches graduate philosophy at Frankfurt and the University of Heidelberg. She is writing Habilitation, a book based on her research. Meanwhile, Karl, son Daniel, and daughter Suzanne, are adjusting to Louise's lengthy absences as she lectures in Switzerland. They live in a former barn of stone and brick, parts of which date from the 15th century. They expect renovations to keep them busy for several years. Louise keeps up with Tyler MacFadden '71 and Sharon Roberts Henderson '71.

Susan Stimson Peak opened a residential real estate company in January 1994. She loves business and finds time to lift weights three times a week. Susan, her husband, and son Hunter, live in a rambling house in Durham, N.C., where classmates are welcome.

Virginia "Ginny" Simmons Ellis has been pastor at Bayshore Presbyterian Church in Tampa, Fla., for nine years. She and husband Harry run to keep up with their three children: Luke, 14; Rachel, 12; and Beth, 5.

Elizabeth "Beth" Johnston writes that she is still in Atlanta and enjoys seeing several classmates on a regular basis—Juliana Winters, Rebecca Hendrix and Anne Dillard-McGeach.

Elizabeth "Betty" Wilkinson Tardieu is living in Fairhope, Ala., where she is writing a dissertation on novelist Ellen Douglas.

Mary E. Brandon, assistant dean of the Social Sciences Division at the University of Chicago, reports that she has cut back her volunteer activities to one key post on the board of the Illinois American Civil Liberties Union. She is a runner and bike rider.

Sharon Jones Cole and Matt will celebrate their 20th anniversary in 1994. Sharon stays busy with daughter Martha, and son Lewis, while Matt works at Norrell Corp. Sharon enjoys her book club and church choir, and has recently taken up the piano again.

Pam Westmoreland Sholar has recently completed the restoration of a 1902 house in Mooresville, N.C. The house is now outfitted with a kitchen sink with legs, a wood/gas stove for cooking, and another wood stove in the bedroom. Paula Wiles Sigmon was delighted to have a chance to see Pam and her charming home over the Christmas holidays, after Pam's return from a family outing at Mohonk Mountain House in New Paltz, N.Y. An oncologist, Pam welcomed an ASC junior and prospective medical students as her "shadow" in January.

Dianne Gerstle Niedner, husband Mal, and son Charles, 5, were joined by Juliana Winters and her mother at Cape Canaveral for the November Space Shuttle launch. Mal, an astronomer with Goddard, had an important role in the Hubble repair mission. Di and Mal also welcomed Juliana and her mother to their home in Greenbelt, Md., for Christmas, while Paula Wiles Sigmon, Hugh, sons Jeremy and Eric, 12, and dog Blaze joined them for a festive New Year's Eve celebration. Paula is director of electronic data interchange product marketing for TSI International in Wilton, Conn. She extends sympathy, on the part of the class, to Virginia "Ginger" Rollins Hopkins, who lost her father in 1993, and sends her thanks to all those who responded to her recent request for news.

Meredith Howe Abston received her M.S. in 1986 and is a physical therapist in Round Rock, Texas, where she lives with husband James and daughter Laura.

Martha Bell Ashton and husband Graeme are both scientists living in Colorado Springs with their two children. They own a company which designs and tests space propulsion concepts. Martha's "down to earth" interests are hiking, fishing and cross stitching.

Nancy Vick Barnes is a travel agent in San Diego. She and husband Rik have co-authored three editions of The Complete Guide to American Bed and Breakfasts. Nancy had to miss our reunion because her mother (widowed several years) was married that weekend.

Clare Smith Baum runs a jewelry business in Chapel Hill with husband Walter. She still studies piano, plays church organ and is active in the Chapel Hill Preservation Society and the Chapel of the Cross.

Elizabeth "Betsy" Anderson Blair lives in Durham, N.C., with husband Dale and daughter Alison. She has an M.A. in production design and dance/drama, is a dance teacher and choreographer, has performed on television, and conducts workshops on women and creativity. She was awarded the Raleigh Medal of Art in 1991.

Candice Colando Brown and husband Davie live in Staunton, Va., and are both active in preservation work. He is executive director of the Preservation Alliance of Virginia. Candy worked for the alliance for five years, but currently co-owns Table Grace, a catering company. She is a trustee of the Woodrow Wilson Birthplace Foundation, active in the vestry, Christian education, and Friends of the Library board.

At the time of the reunion, Margaret Burch was enrolled fulltime at Mercer University working on another degree in music. She worked for 10 years as a college financial aid administrator; and also has a master's in microbiology, another one in education, and an associate's degree in music.

The Rev. Mary Boyd "Tig" Sugg Click is a Presbyterian minister in Eden, N.C. She and husband Jay (also a Presbyterian minister) have two sons. In addition to her pastoral duties, Tig founded a soup kitchen in Concord, N.C. Her years since ASC have included working on Capitol Hill for Senator Ella Grasso and lobbying in Richmond, Va.

Janet Bolen, program coordinator of Dalton's (Ga.) Education is Essential Foundation, testified before a Congressional subcommittee in Washington, D.C., in September 1993, answered questions there about literacy education in the small business work force.

Deborah Corbett Gaudier writes of the tragic news of her son's death in December 1993. Two months after they moved from Atlanta to Darien, Conn., due to her husband's transfer to New York City, 8-year-old Danny was hit by a car in front of their house. He never regained consciousness, and died on Dec. 12. Deborah says her family's survival was made possible by Noroton Presbyterian Church, which enveloped them with love and support. Heartfelt prayers are with you, Deborah.

Wendy Hellings Aldrich writes that all is well in Tucson, where Larry runs the business operations for the two newspapers. Wendy keeps busy with volunteer work, church, tennis and a Spanish class.

After teaching high school biology for 16 years, Molly Hand Weinburgh decided to complete her Ph.D. at Emory University and is currently an assistant professor in science education at Georgia State University.

When Lib McGregor Simmons received a call to be pastor of University Presbyterian Church, the family moved to San Antonio, Texas, just in time for Christmas.

Congratulations to the Rev. Elinor Perkins "Perky" Daniel and Wally on the adoption of baby Anna early in 1993. In addition to motherhood, Perky has managed to finish a draft of her Ph.D. dissertation. She is taking a break from regular pastoring, but continues to co-chair the board of the Interfaith Coalition in Atlanta.

Suzie Blackwood Foote lives in Jackson, Miss., with husband Ashby who owns an investment firm. Children, Turner, Sarah, Stuart, and Tommy, are all healthy and happy. Suzie is active in children's ministry at her church. Her sister, Mindy Blackwood D'Alessandro '76, is a corporate banking executive in Orlando.

Your class secretary moved to Tallahassee in August when Gary accepted a position as University Planner in Residence at Florida State, and Mary Jane is serving as interim pastor of Fellowship Presbyterian Church, where Pam Hanson Miller '73 and M. Angelyn Bagwell '85 are members. She's enjoyed lunch with Patricia Cook Bates who stays on the go in Quincy, and talking with Susan Michael Grabowski, who owns and operates Tallahassee Kitchens. Susan's daughter is at ASC.

Diane Beeler writes that she, Julie and Valerie, moved into a circa World War II home in Oak Ridge last June. Diane has formed a consulting business and writes a weekly business column for The Oak Ridger newspaper. She plays the piano for events sponsored by the Oak Ridge Civic Music Association, as well as for Unity Church in Knoxville.

Beth Abbott Christian reports that "things continue well" for her, Cary and John. They enjoy Tallahassee, where Beth works with Southern Bell.

Lucile Palmer Dobson is a licensed clinical social worker in private practice. She lives in Tallahassee with husband Steve, an attorney, and son Dylan.

Pam Braswell, who lives at Balboa Island, Calif., recently spent nine months in Georgia before returning home to practice business litigation and corporate law with an Orange County firm. Her visit to Georgia triggered sentimental memories of days at Scott.

Julia McRae Barham lives in Memphis, Tenn., where husband Neil teaches in a private Christian school, and she enjoys caring for Hannah, age 3, and Seth, 8 months.

Congratulations to Janet Lynn Norton, who has successfully completed a series of academic pursuits at Emory. After earning a master of librarianship in 1978, she went on to receive a diploma for advanced study in early childhood education in 1991, followed by a Ph.D. in 1992 in educational leadership. She is assistant professor in elementary and early childhood education at Kennesaw State College in Marietta, Ga.

Martha "Marty" Hench Suarez and husband Joe spent a year building a veterinary hospital, DeBary Animal Clinic, in Deltona, Fla., to provide more space for Joe's growing practice. Marty served as "construction expeditor." She is office manager, while sons Sam and Dan attend school. Marty and the boys recently had a six-day excursion to London with Grandma Suarez.

International traveler Beth DeWall reports that "all in the great city of Chicago is super." She recently returned from a business trip to Asia, where she worked with sculptors, manufacturers and trading companies and visited mainland China, including Beijing and the Great Wall.

Jill Worthey is active in civic work in LaGrange, Tenn. She planned for 1994 to be the "year of the yard and grounds of our home, Hancock Hall," and requests "any words of gardening wisdom" from former classmates.

Sherry Huebsch Druary is back in the south after nearly five years in Los Angeles, where Dick served on the staff of Hollywood Presbyterian Church. They are helping to build an evangelical Presbyterian church in the inner city of Montgomery, Ala. Sherry home-teaches her two girls. For the past three falls, Sherry joined Martha Watson Payne and Jeanne Jones Holliday for a get-together with kids at Jeanne's farm in Juliette, Ga. Sherry also enjoys regular visits with Eleanor "Perky" Perkins Daniel '75, who lives in Atlanta.

Congratulations to Jane Sutton Hicks, who writes that her "accomplishment" for 1993 was their fourth daughter, Frances Patton, born June 18. The newest addition "is a dear."

Entrepreneurs Pedrick Stall Lowrey and Jacob have moved to Greenville, S.C., where she has her own landscape design company and he has his own accounting firm.

Melissa Mills Jacobs still lives in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where she is working on a master's degree in communications. With daughter Julia, middle school parenting is "interesting," Melissa reports. Husband Dan is a portfolio manager with an investment company.

Lark Todd Sessions continues to have a "WONDERFUL" time at home with son William.

Ann Patton Henley now lives in Duluth, Ga., and loves being back in the Atlanta area. Her time is filled with carpooling sons Jason and Drew to sports practices; her youngest, Allison, has her own schedule of activities.

Susan Grier Bennett's daughter Elizabeth is 13, with Will close behind at 10. Her family spent a week last summer at a guest ranch in central Colorado, where they enjoyed western trail riding, white water rafting and incredible scenery. A week later, Susan had bilateral bunion surgery. She is nearly recovered but wonders if her feet will ever return to their former size. Susan loves her work in hospital public relations, but recently tried consulting on a small project for another non-profit agency.

Nancy Leasendale Purcell writes of a "whirlwind 18 months" during which she and her family relocated to Brunswick, Ga., built a marsh-front home, and opened Roger's new practice in civil and structural engineering, surveying and land planning. Nancy is back to full-time teaching at-risk first and second graders. She's also pursuing a graduate degree as an education specialist. Daughters Kathryn and Claire are 10 and 5.

Ann Galloway Lowe and Jeff and Amy, age 10, were pleased with their family addition: James Franklin Lowe.

Marianne Lyon is back in Houston, after spending 12 years in Malaysia and Norway. She recently completed a master gardener's course with the Harris County Agricultural Extension Service and is "gardening happily, if not always successfully." Marianne is also acting in community theatre and serving on the board of directors of Company Onstage.

Rita Davis-Enfinger writes that she is "feeling older and hoping for the wiser part anytime now!" She is busy with her 3-year-old, their home and family business.

Lydia Bendeck Acha and George recently moved into a new house in Miami, Fla. Lydia is a Mary Kay Beauty Consultant and is dedicated to her family. They have two daughters—Beverly and Gabrielle Sophie.

Gay Gurley Popham and Ray have four children, ages 14, 11, 4 and 2. Gay is a "full-time mother, chauffeur, cook, tutor, entertainer."

Karen Bittenbender Zauderer also has four children, ages 16, 14, 10 and 7. Karen often has lunch with Martha Hackett Smith.

Susan Smith Perry writes that she is enjoying her new job in the education department at the Mint Museum of Art.

Pat McWaters Dragstedt heads a group opposing the building of a nuclear waste dump in Wake County, N. C. She's been on the front page of the Raleigh News & Observer and on CNN. Pat has become, in the words of Ellen Fort Grissett, "a media queen!"

Pediatrician Sara Elizabeth "Beth" Mason Gilley was profiled in East Tennessee Children's Hospital's publication It's About Children.

Susan Pirkle Trawick is a pediatrician at Snapfinger Woods Pediatrics and has three children: Ada, David and Jessie.

Holly Bennett Rielly had successful cataract surgery and is off the medication prednisone.

Kathleen O'Brien was recently promoted to the position of financial manager at Fort McPherson. In her spare time, she has become "personally responsible for keeping the airline industry solvent" by traveling to places like Hawaii and France. She will be on special assignment in Washington, D.C., during 1994 and would love for classmates to look her up. Kudos to Kathleen for volunteering for an ASC phonathon.

Susan Spiegel Barge reports that Los Angeles is beginning to feel like home (but Susan, do they know how to "talk right"?). She is busy with children, Andrew and Jamie, while her husband continues with his accounting career.

Judy Miller Bohan has resigned from her formal job to devote more time to the family environmental business (a sophisticated and lucrative type of dirt cleaning). Now she gets to spend more time with Rankin and Patrick. Judy helped set up a book review club at her local library.

Elizabeth "Beth" Nease Hawkins and her husband are enjoying the family business — he does the dentistry, and she does the office part. "Confirmed sources" in Gainesville, Ga., say that their four children have the most beautiful teeth in the city.

Elaine Wilburn Zullo is enjoying her job as a teacher/companion to a 5-year-old boy with Down's Syndrome. She helps him socialize in the classroom and supplements his academic instruction. An interesting aspect of these duties is that she communicates with him through sign language. Elaine and her husband spent a storybook-like New Year's Eve in traditional New England style, they (with neighbors) cleared off a frozen pond for ice skating and went inside at midnight for lobster and champagne.

Last fall Mary Anna Smith took time off from her business in New York and went on a jaunt through New England with several friends. They stopped at Elaine's house for dinner, where they were entertained in true 1990's form: her husband fixed dinner.

Congratulations to Martha "Martie" Lovvorn Moore and her husband on the birth of Wesley Franklin Moore. Their daughter Alix loves being his "second mom" whenever she can.

Martha Jane Cates Hammett is raising two daughters in Houston and has established a pet farm in her back yard. She is following our ASC motto, "Put virtue in your faith and knowledge in your virtue," by studying with an extensive and well-structured Bible program.

"Outstanding Classmate" Lucy Hicks Worrell began her own insurance business in Kentucky in 1984. Three years later, she married, and expanded the business (purchasing two additional agencies) forming "Woodford Insurance." For the past two years, Lucy and her husband have won trips from the industry for outstanding performance. Hence, she skipped the classes 15th reunion. Lucy and her husband have managed to juggle child-care concerns by locating their offices in their big Victorian home. They supplement their own personal care with day care. At the time this edition went to press, Lucy was eight months pregnant with her third child, hobbling around with her knee in a splint because of an ice fall injury!

The alumnae office received news that Janet Kelley Jobe was promoted to assistant vice president in the financial services division of Provident Life & Accident Insurance Co.'s disability operations department in September 1993.

Counselor Susan Barker Johnson has a private practice in Valdosta, Ga.

Sarah Ann Fairburn married James Knox Pannill on July 31, 1993, in Atlanta, and honeymooned in the mountains for a week. Sarah is working for Cotton States Insurance. Knox, a Georgia Tech graduate, works for Intecdor Corp. Kathleen Hollywood Smith was matron of honor. Other ASC alumnae in attendance were Carol Willey, Kathy Stearnes Thomas '81 and Pat Arnzen. Kim Clark Douglas was unable to attend because her husband, also named Kim, broke his hip in a skateboard accident, and she had to stay home to care for him.

Lisa Beswick McLeod and Cliff are loving Orlando, Fla. Lisa is especially glad to be back in familiar territory. The church where Cliff is minister is growing rapidly, along with their section of Orlando.

Keller Murphy Torrey and Sam have moved to 1520 Northcliff Trace, Roswell, GA 30076. Ford, age 6, started kindergarten this year; their daughter Keller is three. Keller reports that it's been quite a year, as she has also changed jobs.

Jennifer Spencer Osorio, her husband Richard and two sons, B.J. and Lee, live at Rock Eagle 4-H Center in Eatonton, Ga., where Richard coordinates the Environmental Education Program. In June 1993, Jenny completed her master's in public administration. After working 12 years with the Department of Family and Children's Services in Georgia, she began work as a presidential management intern with the federal government. She is a program analyst with the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta.

Rebecca Burtz Melton and Wayne's second son, Joseph Samuel, joined the family two years ago to welcoming brother Jarrett, 7. Rebecca and Wayne live in Alpharetta. Wayne is in his 14th year with First Financial Management Corporation where he is an assistant vice president. Rebecca stays busy with the children, volunteer work and frequent trips to Canton to visit her mother. On a sad note, Rebecca reports the death of her father, Judge Samuel P. Burtz, on Aug. 25, 1993, during heart bypass surgery.

English Taylor Ball reports that life with three children is living in the fast lane.

Your secretary went to Charleston, S.C., for her brother's wedding in December 1993 and visited briefly with Elisa Norton Cooper, Rick, and two of their three sons. Elisa is president of the board of Charleston Catholic Schools and has returned to work full time. She is the property manager for the Roper Hospital Office Building.

Sherri Brown, a teacher at Decatur High School for 13 years, was chosen as STAR Teacher for 1993 by student Michael Dwyer. Sherri teaches world history and cultures.

435 Creekside Court
Roswell, GA 30076

Following a brief stint in insurance sales, your secretary is back selling Mary Kay products and trying to enjoy her children who are 7 1/2, 6 and 3. Single parenting is a major challenge, and the days tend to blur together, but Mary manages to have a little bit of a social life and laughter.

Susan Mitchell Beckett is living in Dothan, Ala., with her husband and their two children, Wells, age 7 1/2, and Katie, age 5 1/2.

Beth Jewett Brickhouse and Don are enjoying their two children, Matthew and Emily Kathryn in Charlotte.

Ann Harris Merrill was in Atlanta over New Year's with their daughter, Ashley Tetterton. Ann still works for Thom McAn and Rod sells real estate in their hometown, Chelmsford, Mass.

Susan "Melody" H. Richardson and Ken Zirkman were married in June 1993. Melody has formed a legal partnership, practicing mostly corporate litigation.

As you may have seen in the last Main Events, Liz Steele Forman is president of the Charlotte Alumnae Chapter. That chapter is full of '80s-era Scotties: Joy Jun Favrot '82 is vice president, Lisa Bowers Smoots '85 is secretary, and Paige Hamilton Kerr is treasurer.

Karen Tapper is still living in Los Angeles and working in the court system.

Jeanne Cole Ledsky and John are in the Chicago area.

Diane Shaw completed grad school and is now working in Washington, D.C., and living in Virginia.

Maribeth Kouts has left Panasonic and begun fostering her musical abilities full time. She is doing some recordings and is working with the children's choir at St. Jude's Catholic Church in Sandy Springs, Ga. Maribeth performed several concerts in Atlanta last year.

Maryanne Gannon Deaton, Eric and Maggie moved to Houston in November 1993. Eric accepted a new job as director of planning and forecasting for Coca-Cola Foods; Maryanne is now a full-time mom.

The Deatons visited with Lynn Stonecypher Thompson, husband Pete, and Mattie, their Great Dane "puppy," before leaving Chicago. Lynn and Pete live in Crystal Lake.

Ute Hill is a sales manager for a pharmaceutical company in Germany and travels widely in Europe. She lives close to Heidelberg and would love for anyone visiting the area to look her up.

Joy Lyn Jun and David Blair Favrot Jr. were wed in San Francisco, July 24, 1993 and made their home in Charlotte, N.C., before an Oct. 3, 1993 motorcycle accident in which David was killed. Joy was seriously injured but is on the mend and expected to fully recover. Memorials may be made to the David Blair Favrot Jr. Memorial, in care of Washington & Lee University, Lexington, VA 24450. The class's sympathy and prayers go out to Joy.

Emma Villafane Zell (RTC) is a librarian in a private school in Stuart, Fla. Her love of travel took her to London, last spring where she enjoyed the British Museum, saw "Miss Saigon," and "walked her feet off." She recently visited Savannah, Ga., for a conference of the Art Libraries Society/Southeast Region on African-American art.

Becky Lowrey's big news is that she re-married in July 1993 to Kendall "Rip" Barrier, but says she is keeping her maiden name. Becky and Rip live in Morganton, N.C., with her boys, Edwin and Wilson. She is a music therapist, and Rip, a recreational therapist.

Victoria Haynes Schwartz and her husband Paul report that son, Brian Frederick, born last year, is being well received by their daughter Carla Edith. Victoria is a freelance writer and editor, working mainly for small businesses and non-profit organizations. She stays in touch with Jane Zanca '83, at the American Cancer Society, where Victoria has done several projects. She also stays in touch with Denise Spears Severson '81, who lives near Griffin, Ga.

Tobi Martin wrote that she teaches English as a second language to Japanese and Portuguese children, ages 6 to 11, at the American School of Lisbon. After school she works out in aerobics and Scottish folk dance, and continues as secretary of a co-dependency group. She also attends small Bible study group and co-leads a Cadette Girl Scout troop. Tobi spent a week in 1993 in Naples attending a friend's wedding, then flew to the states to visit friends in New Jersey, Ohio and New Mexico before going home to Shreveport, La. In August, she attended the Scottish Dance Society Summer School in St. Andrews, Scotland. For Christmas, she went to Jerusalem.

Please continue to write.

ANNUAL FUND

Agnes Scott has again surpassed its Annual Fund goal, set at $1,204,125 for 1993-94. Gifts received totaled $1,219,173, exceeding the goal by $15,048. Excluding bequests, gifts totaled $1,104,034, up from $1,027,173 for the 1992-93 school year.

Alumnae contributed $730,504 toward the 1993-94 total, surpassing their goal of $625,000 by $105,504. The percentage of alumnae giving was 38.1 percent, only slightly lower than the 1992-93 participation level.

The ASC Annual Fund is an essential source of unrestricted funds for the College operating budget. These funds support daily operations such as student scholarships, library resources, salaries, energy costs, general physical plant maintenance, campus programs and other important activities.

Interim President Named

SALLY MAHONEY, FORMER ASSOCIATE PROVOST AT STANFORD, TO SERVE ASC

Sally Mahoney, senior associate provost emerita at Stanford University, has been appointed interim president of Agnes Scott College, Board of Trustees Chair Joseph R. Gladden Jr., announced Aug. 11. Mahoney will assume her duties on Aug. 22.

Building on a history of stability, yet moving to meet the needs of a changing and vital institution for women, the Trustees appointed Mahoney, who brings 30 years of experience in private higher education, to prepare the College for the arrival of a new president next year.

Mahoney held a variety of administrative posts at Stanford in the years after she joined the university's dean of students staff.

She moved into the provost's office to lead the academic support and student services programs. She secured a $450,000 annual commitment of univer-

Interim president Sally Mahoney

Gladden expressed delight in Mahoney's selection. "Agnes Scott is currently engaged in a number of important projects that will build on our traditional strengths to sharpen the focus of the College to educate the leaders of the 21st century. Sally Mahoney brings a wealth of experience to lead us through this process. We are delighted that she will be with us."

Mahoney shares Gladden's vision. "There are aspects of Agnes Scott that resonate with my own experience," she said. "I think that we can come quickly to work together, laying creative foundations for transition to permanent College leadership. I am grateful for the opportunity to make a leadership contribution to ASC at so important a time."

A 1961 honor graduate of San Francisco College for Women with a degree in English, Mahoney pursued graduate study in English at Stanford as a Woodrow Wilson Fellow in 1961-64. She received an M.S. in management from the Sloan Program at the Stanford Graduate School of Business in 1993.

■ Alumnae of Agnes Scott are invited to meet Mahoney at the College's Opening Convocation, 10:25 a.m., Aug. 31, in Gaines Auditorium.

sity funds for classrooms, served as university registrar, chaired the committee of deans concerned with undergraduate policy, and was involved in Stanford's widely-reported strategic planning process to reduce expenses while enhancing accountability and effectiveness. Other areas of responsibility included residential education, fund raising, faculty appointments management, admissions and financial aid, and faculty committees on academic policy.

First MATs Awarded

GRADS HEAR CLOSING ADDRESS BY PRESIDENT RUTH SCHMIDT

In a world where everything changes, "Learn to be flexible." That was the message of President Ruth Schmidt in her humorous last official speech, delivered at Agnes Scott College's commencement ceremonies, May 14.

Schmidt warned the 116 women receiving bachelor's degrees and the first ever nine recipients of master's degrees that as times change, their "jobs may become obsolete" and that their liberal arts foundation should help them adapt and adjust to these changes.

The president was called to heed her own advice that day, giving the impromptu speech when a breaking news story in Washington, D.C., prevented Nina Totenberg, legal affairs correspondent for National Public Radio, from fulfilling her ASC speaking commitment. Covering President Bill Clinton's nomination of Stephen Breyer to the U.S. Supreme Court on May 13 required Totenberg's attention.

Included in the crowd of more than 1,100 gathered on graduation day was Yu Zhen Ping, mother of Guanzhong "Shelia" Yao Zhang '94. She visited the United States for the first time from Shanghai, China, to see her daughter graduate with honors.

Millard Fuller of Americus, Ga., founder of Habitat for Humanity and father of Georgia Fuller '94, addressed the seniors and their families at the baccalaureate ceremonies on May 13.

Publication Changes

NEW SCHEDULE, CONTENTS ADDITIONS FOR MAIN EVENTS

The publications office at Agnes Scott College will reduce the number of pages in its regular issues and double the number of Main Events newspapers it produces in the coming year.

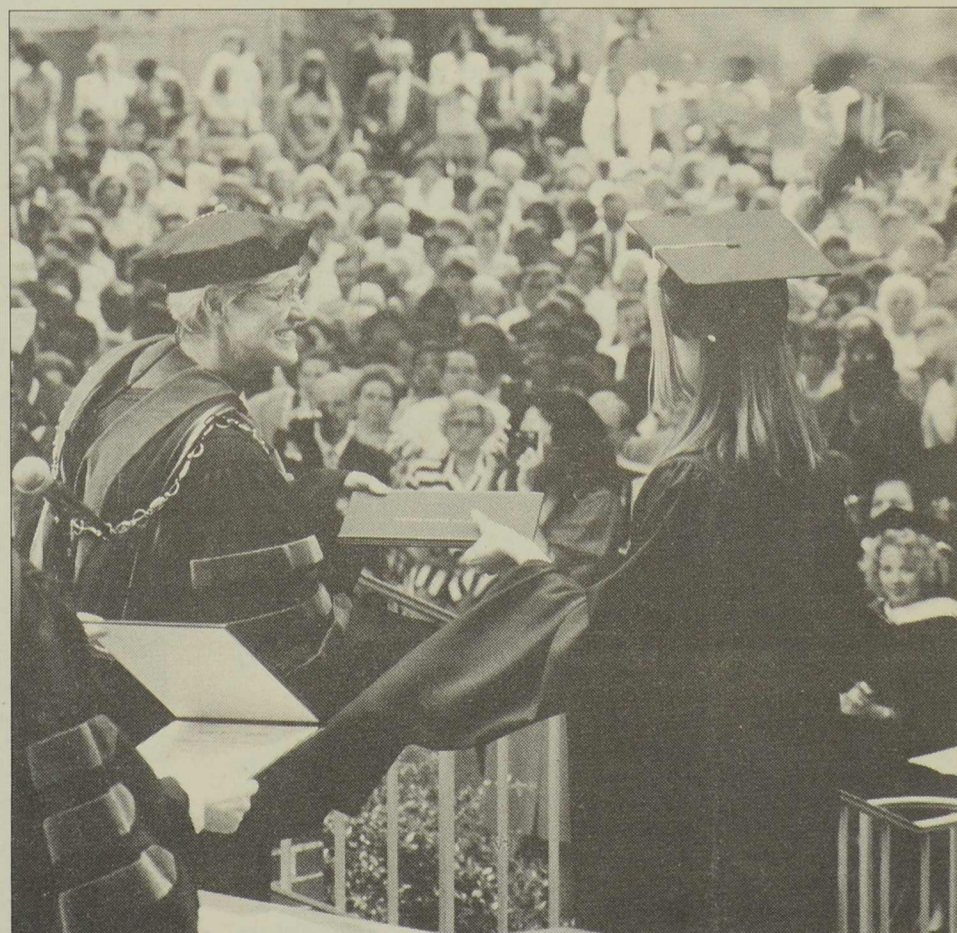

Responding to recommendations from the strategic planning process of the ASC Alumnae Association for more frequent news from the College, publications will add three new issues of Main Events to its regular issues published in April, August and December.

The April, August and December issues will continue to include class news from alumnae secretaries (although slightly shorter versions, limited to 650 words per class). Deadlines for class news that will appear in the April, August and December editions will be Jan. 16, May 15 and Aug. 14, respectively.

Published between the regularly-scheduled newspapers will be two eight-page issues that will cover campus and alumnae news and a third that will feature College business news and a list of donors to the College, traditionally included in the annual President's Report.

Send comments on the new Main Events schedule or about any of the alumnae publications to the Office of Publications, Agnes Scott College, 141 E. College Ave., Decatur, GA 30030, (404) 638-6301.

At the May Agnes Scott graduation ceremony, 116 women received bachelor's degrees and nine were awarded the first ever master's degrees. In her final commencement address, President Ruth Schmidt encouraged the Class of '94 to "learn to be flexible."

Presidential Search Committee Update

To: The Agnes Scott Community
From: The Presidential Search Committee
Clair McLeod Muller '67, Chair

PROGRESS REPORT #2

We are pleased with the progress of our search at this point, and want to give you a report. In the spring we conducted a careful review of priorities for the next president involving faculty, alumnae, students, trustees, staff, administrators, etc. Thanks again to all of you who contributed to this process. We then launched an ambitious and comprehensive search, using both advertisements in key publications as well as personal letters to hundreds of people in good positions to suggest outstanding candidates. In addition, all members of the Agnes Scott community have been encouraged to submit nominations.

At our meeting yesterday, we reviewed the results to date and developed a strategy for screening the many expressions of interest we have received and those to come. This review of credentials will occur over the next six weeks, during which time we will continue to cultivate additional prospects. The number and variety of responses are already encouraging.

By early September, we expect to be ready to narrow our focus to a smaller number of people whose talents and experiences most closely match the priorities for the next President of Agnes Scott College. Members of the search committee will then spend the months of September and October learning more about these people through reference calls and preliminary interviews.

We look forward to bringing you further reports of our progress in the fall.

Clair Muller

Library Grant

$100,000 WILL AID CATALOG AUTOMATION

In June, the Arthur Vining Davis Foundations of Jacksonville, Fla., announced approval of a grant of $100,000 for Agnes Scott College to help fund the McCain Library automation project. Automation of the library holdings catalog, which will cost an estimated $300,000, is one component of the campus-wide $5.1 million Information Technology Enhancement Program (ITEP), which will provide a comprehensive computer network throughout the College and link ASC with institutions around the world.

The Foundations award grants to educational, cultural, science and religious institutions, that demonstrate financial strength, with a preponderance of gifts in 1994 being directed toward private higher education, hospice, healthcare, religion, public television and secondary education.

The Foundations have awarded ASC grants in the past: a $100,000 grant in 1989 during the Centennial Campaign for renovation of the Dana Fine Arts Building, and a $50,000 grant in 1977 for renovation of the board room in McCain Library. The most recent grant will be put to use in the 1994-95 fiscal year.

In addition to this grant for ITEP, the College earlier received a $1 million grant from The Lettie Pate Evans Foundation, Inc., and a $75,000 grant from The Tull Charitable Foundation, Inc., of Atlanta. Both The Coca-Cola Company and IBM Matching Grant Program have provided computer systems for ASC.

Astrophysical Intern

WHITE ONE OF 12 STUDENTS IN SMITHSONIAN PROGRAM

Jenny White '95, of Stone Mountain, Ga., was one of 12 students selected nationwide for a summer research intern program sponsored by the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass.

White spent 10 weeks analyzing data from satellite-borne X-ray telescopes to determine the brightness, energy level and distance of X-ray objects seen near the center of the Milky Way galaxy.

White and the other undergraduate interns worked closely with senior Smithsonian scientists on research projects in astronomy, astrophysics and the space sciences. The Undergraduate Research Internships were inaugurated this year.

You're right, I should have been more specific in my ad. When I wrote "literate," I really wasn't thinking of computers.

QUALITY TIME

In this edition of Main Events, we introduce a new feature—a single-panel cartoon "Quality Time" by Berkeley, Calif., artist Gail Machlis. The artist's works have appeared in the San Francisco Chronicle, Cosmopolitan, New Woman and in newspapers nationwide. Machlis, who is one of fewer than a dozen nationally syndicated women cartoonists, studied art at the Sorbonne, received her graduate degree in creative writing from Mills College in 1986 and earlier received her undergraduate degree in French from the University of California at Berkeley.

Admission Update

FIRST-YEAR CLASS UP AFTER "FOCUSED" RECRUITING

The entering class of first-year students for fall 1994 stands at 150 as of July 28, up from 139 at same time last summer. The yield for this fall's entering class thus far, figured from the number of applicants who become enrolled students, is 43 percent. Last fall's yield was 39 percent. In 1967 the yield was the highest in 25 years, 70 percent.

Acting Director of Admission Stephanie Balmer suggests this fall's large entering class is the result of purposeful recruitment methods employed by the admission office. "We have produced a much more focused approach in the recruitment of students seeking a private education. The personalization of the recruitment efforts on the part of the admission staff has again played a significant role in this year's success."

Slightly less certain are the head counts for Return-to-College students and transfer students who make fall college decisions later in the summer. Current response levels indicate that numbers for both of those groups should hold constant in the coming year.

Travel Blitz '94

ASC STAFF TO VISIT ALUMNAE, STUDENTS, CORPORATIONS IN 15 CITIES

The development, alumnae and public relations offices are joining efforts with the admission office in a 15-city blitz of the Southeast during September, October and November. During two- to three-day visits, development staff will be visiting individual alumnae and making calls on corporations and foundations in appropriate cities, as well as co-hosting alumnae meetings with the alumnae office staff. The admission office will be attending college fairs, making high school visits and hosting dessert and discussion gatherings for potential students and their parents. The public relations office is proposing a two-week print advertising campaign to precede the visits.

The purpose of the ASC travel blitz is to coordinate efforts of the outreach programs of the college in cities which have traditionally produced a strong admissions pool.

The 15 cities, targeted by the admission office, are Atlanta, Chattanooga, Columbus, Jacksonville, Knoxville, Macon, Memphis, Miami, Nashville, Orlando, Pensacola, Tampa, Thomasville/Tallahassee, Tri-Cities (Tn.) and Valdosta.

Please contact the College at (404) 638-6294 regarding individuals in these cities who should be contacted by any of the departments hosting the fall blitz.

CHRISTOPHER AMES, associate professor of English, received a Fleur Cowles Fellowship for research at the Harry Ransom Humanities Center, University of Texas at Austin during 1994-95, and two fellowships, the John Randolph and Dora Haynes Foundation Fellowship and the Mayer Fund Fellowship, for research at the Huntington Library during 1994-95. In April, Ames delivered a paper entitled "The Story Behind the Story: Offing the Writer in Sunset Boulevard and The Player," at the International Conference for the Study of Narrative Literature in Vancouver, British Columbia. He received an honorable mention in the 1994 Teaching Awards competition conducted by the South Atlantic Association of Departments of English.

JOSEPHINE B. BRADLEY, instructor of sociology and anthropology, delivered a paper entitled "Reconstruction of Self: African-American Women in Academe" at the SPARC conference held at Agnes Scott College, April 29. She was a guest lecturer in the Southern Women's History class at Oglethorpe University, speaking on the topic of school desegregation in Greensboro, N.C., 1954-58, a presentation she had made at Presbyterian College in Clinton, S.C., in February. To the Association of Social and Behavioral Scientists in Jackson, Miss., March 24-26, Bradley presented a paper entitled "Fixing-up a Run-Down People: Reconstruction of the Black Community." She spoke on the subject of "Cultural Diversity in the 21st Century" during International Career Day, March 24, at Druid Hills High School. Bradley read her original poetry at a Women's Studies Colloquium, March 16, at Emory University.

LINDA HUBERT, chair of the department of English, and TINA PIPPIN, assistant professor of Bible and religion, were co-recipients of The Vulcan Materials Company Teaching Excellence Award, which brought a $500 grant to each. The award, determined by students and faculty, is given annually to a faculty member who has made a distinct difference in the teaching climate of the College. This year there was a tie and the Georgia Foundation for Independent Colleges, administrator of the award, agreed that it could be shared on a one-time-only basis. Pippin also published an article entitled "Jezebel Re-Vamped" in A Feminist Companion to Samuel and Kings, edited by Athalya Brenner and published by Sheffield Academic Press in 1994.

CALVERT JOHNSON, professor of music had two recitals in April: a trumpet and organ recital at Agnes Scott College with artist affiliate Jonah Rabinowitz on April 5, and an organ recital at the Central Congregational Church in Atlanta on April 24. Johnson's article "Caroline Wuiet: Eighteenth-Century French Composer, Journalist, and Novelist" was published in Women of Note Quarterly volume 2/1 in February. Johnson's recordings of "Early Spanish Organ Music," recorded at Holy Trinity Church in Lynchburg, Va., and "Go Tell It on the Mountain," recorded at Sharp Memorial United Methodist Church in Young Harris, Ga., have been released on compact disk and cassette tapes by Calcante Recordings.

RAFAEL OCASIO, associate professor of Spanish, presented "Toward a Political Reading of the Mythical Elements in Afro-Cuban Poetry," to the Caribbean Studies Association XIX Annual Conference on May 24, in Merida, Mexico. He also had his article "Literary Offspring: The Figure of the Child in Marcel Proust and Reinaldo Arenas" published in Romance Quarterly in the Spring of 1994.

RICHARD PARRY, Fuller E. Callaway Professor of Philosophy, received a National Endowment for the Humanities "Master Works" grant that will allow him to teach 12 sessions, with two other professors, on East and West philosophy, at Marist High School in Atlanta. Parry also presented a paper entitled "The Psychology of Perfection in Plato's Gorgias," to the Society for Ancient

ASC Re-accredited

SACS REAFFIRMS COLLEGE'S "FIRST-CLASS" STATUS

Agnes Scott College received notification on July 1, from the Commission on Colleges and Schools, that the SACS Committee on Criteria and Reports has "recommended reaffirmation of accreditation" with a request for a follow-up report from the College by May 1, 1995, addressing the visiting committee's recommendations.

"We are glad that we have been reaffirmed in our accreditation but we were not surprised because we are a first-class institution," says Sarah R. Blanshei, dean of the College.

"Of the original 18 recommendations that were made to the committee, our responses to five of them [submitted May 15] were satisfactory. We still have 13 to address.

"Many of the 13 recommendations were identified in Agnes Scott's own Self Study."

The committee made recommendations in the areas of institutional purpose; planning and evaluation; undergraduate completion requirements; undergraduate instruction; criteria and procedures for evaluation; scope and accountability; student government, student activities and publications; student records; organization and administration; administrative organization; financial resources; and facilities master plan.

"They will be keeping a close eye on us because they felt we had not addressed some of the recommendations that were made in the past," adds Blanshei, who chaired the College's Self Study Steering Committee.

"Things that should have been done are certainly do-able within the next year."

Greek Philosophy on Dec. 28, 1993, during the meeting of the American Philosophical Association in Atlanta.

MARTHA REES, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology, was the 1994 recipient of the Representative Council Faculty Award, voted on by the student body. Faculty members are nominated each semester on the basis of motivating students to learn, promoting diversity, possessing past and current academic knowledge, challenging students while displaying innovation and a sincere interest in student concerns. Rees contributed to The End of the Agrarian Reform in Mexico, Past Lessons, Future Prospects by writing a chapter on Southern Mexico and contributing preliminary conclusions. Rees recently published Reviews in Anthropology and Etnias, Desarrollo, Recursos y Tecnologias en Oaxaca. She presented her paper "Land and Tenure in Tlacolula, Oaxaca, Mexico" to the Latin American Studies Association on March 10-12, in Atlanta. In November of 1993, Rees presented "Mexico, Land, Tenure and Society" to the American Anthropological Association in Washington, D.C. To the 13th International Congress of Anthropological and Ethnological Sciences in Mexico, D.F., from July 29 to August 4, 1993, she presented, "La Tenencia de la Tierra en Oaxaca, Mexico. Conclusiones, Preliminares sobre el Impacto de la Reforma a la Ley Agraria." Rees presented on April 22-23, 1993, to the Society for Economic Anthropology in Durham, N.C., "Household Dynamics in Crisis: Women's Work, Migration and Craft Strategies in the Central Valleys of Oaxaca, 1960-1990." March 10-12, 1993, she presented "Mi Tierrita: Land Tenure and Use in Oaxaca, Mexico" to the Society for Applied Anthropology in San Antonio, Texas.

REGINE REYNOLDS-CORNELL, Adeline Arnold Loidans Professor of French and department chair, was honored recently at a performance of an operetta dedicated to her, which was written and performed by French majors and minors in the presence of the Consul General of France and the Cultural Attache of the French Embassy. She participated in round-table discussions at the Sorbonne, Paris, May 26 and June 2, sponsored by the Societe d'Etudes de Seizieme Siecle. Reynolds-Cornell attended a colloquium on the Guises, June 3 and 4, sponsored by the same society, at the University of Reims. Reynolds-Cornell published a book review on Old Comedy in the French Renaissance in the May edition of The French Review.

LARRY RIDDLE, associate professor of mathematics, had his article "Introducing the Derivative Through the Iteration of Linear Functions" published in the May issue of Mathematics Teacher. Riddle also presented a talk on "Symbolic and Graphical Explorations of Riemann Sums" at the Georgia Institute of Technology workshop on "Using Technology in the Teaching of Mathematics and Science."

DONNA SADLER, associate professor of art, presented a paper entitled "Gender and Genealogy in Gothic Art: Reims, a Case Study" at the 26th Annual Medieval Conference, held May 7-9, at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

CATHERINE V. SCOTT, associate professor of political science, was invited to participate in National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Seminar for College Teachers entitled "What is Enlightenment? Eighteenth Century Answers and Twentieth Century Questions" at Boston University, June 13-Aug. 5.

N.J. STANLEY, assistant professor of theatre and dance, recently published an article entitled "The Ford Foundation Begins to Fund Nonprofit Theaters" in Frank Magill's book Great Events from History II:

Arts and Culture. The article chronicles the involvement of the Ford Foundation in the creation of a network of non-profit professional theaters across the United States.

HARRY WISTRAND, associate professor of biology, received a grant from the National Science Foundation's Instrumentation and Laboratory Improvement Program for improvement of molecular genetics laboratories at Agnes Scott. The grant is for purchase of equipment including a thermal cycler for utilizing the Polymerase Chain Reaction (PCR) for DNA amplification and computer hardware and software for DNA analysis. This equipment will be used to teach these techniques to students in molecular genetics and biochemistry courses.

DEAN BLASCO, ITEP construction manager, received his master's of science in civil engineering from Georgia Tech on March 9.

Academic Review Committee Seeks Alumnae Input

The Academic Review Committee, formed by the Agnes Scott College Board of Trustees and comprised of faculty, students and administrative staff, is reviewing and recommending changes to the ASC academic program, including curricular and non-curricular-related academic initiatives.

Agnes Scott alumnae and friends are invited to forward ideas to assist the committee in its task to better position the liberal arts academic program at ASC for the next decade.

Send ideas by Oct. 1 to Terry McGehee, chair, Academic Review Committee, Department of Art, Agnes Scott College, 141 E. College Ave., Decatur, GA 30030.

PROMOTIONS & NEW FACULTY

MARYLIN DARLING, chair of the department of theatre and dance, and CALVERT JOHNSON, chair of the department of music, have been promoted to the position of full professor at Agnes Scott College, effective 1994-95.

Turning Points

A PERSON'S INFLUENCE CAN EXTEND FURTHER THAN EXPECTED . . . EVEN TO THE DOORS OF COLLEGE

The woman sits shyly across the desk from me. Her baby girl gently bounces on her knee; a son squirms in the chair next to her. In Spanish, I ask for the documents which verify her address and authorization to work in the United States. She digs in her handbag for the papers.

My friend told me you have employment services here. I have two children and my husband is in Mexico. I want to work as a housekeeper.

She describes her difficult reality very matter of factly. I try to avert my sympathy that surfaces as pools rimming my eyes. My mind wanders to a more personal situation 14 years ago when my mother, Cila, a new arrival from the Philippines, was in the same "seat" as this young woman, though in Chattanooga, Tenn., amid the sound of crying babies and the fetid scent of building mildew.

We would like to help you Mrs. Balais, but you have to be 55 years old to work at Senior Neighbors. We could use your help as a volunteer.

Mother's broken English was peppered with pride: "I can't work for nothing Mrs. Raymo. I have two girls."

While Mother's job search continued, the family took refuge in an old church nursery.

Cila cleaned the church in return for God's and the priest's help. For two months, as she dusted every pew, I explored the dark corners behind the altar and welcomed the compassionate eyes of an onlooking Jesus. My sister stayed at my mother's heels or slept between the pews drawing an occasional blessing from Father Rudissill. The mysteries of the dark church fed my imagination; I created spirit playmates and guardians.

Mother soon found us a small, dilapidated house on Eleanor Street where she used her magical green thumb to grow a flower garden out front. This was our home for about a year.

A turning point came in 1980 when a petite, white-haired Virginia Wing Power '26 arrived at our house in her big car. She gave Mother a job. Power and her husband lived in a beautiful home surrounded by a "Garden of Eden." Many good things began there—a new life, a new love for existence. My sister and I delighted in playing there while Mother worked. Mrs. Power introduced us to Mother Goose, to learning of many kinds, and to Agnes Scott College.

She was a recipient of an ASC Outstanding Alumnae Award and her award hung at the foot of the stairs. I stared at it often. In 1990, with the help and encouragement of the Powers, I found myself at the doorstep of her alma mater. I too became a "Scottie," walking on the same brick walkways, becoming familiar with the same old buildings, memorizing the ghost stories about Main and Dana, and loving the view from my Rebekah window. Professors became mentors and friends. I would have four years of limitless, never-ending growth that began between those church pews in Chattanooga and in the Powers' Garden of Eden.

My thoughts return to my own work of today, to the voice of the woman I am interviewing. She is looking for her Garden of Eden. The woman's feelings are familiar to me and in recognizing them in this cycle of life, I'm back where I started, but this time I'm sitting on the other side of the social worker's desk. We review job leads and I give her three referrals.

She is my last client for the day. I will look forward to the ride home, the time to think in traffic, to count my blessings.

Alumnae Weekend

A swinging, flag-waving, high-hat sort of good time

Alumnae came from as close as Decatur and as far away as Switzerland, to attend "Growth and Change," Alumnae Weekend, April 29-May 1. More than 600 Scotties from "4" and "9" reunion classes, as well as non-reunion classes, participated in various activities, including an annual meeting, a presentation of research projects by students and faculty, dedication of a new dance studio, student-directed plays and dinner on the Quad with classmates, faculty, students and guests. For more views of Alumnae Weekend, see the photos interspersed throughout "Class News."

FOUR ASC GRADS HONORED FOR OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENTS

Distinguished Service to the College

A lawyer, political leader and loyal alumna, Juliana Winters has served Agnes Scott in a wide variety of capacities: class president, president of the Washington, D.C. alumnae chapter, president of the alumnae association and member of the College's board of trustees. During her tenure as alumnae association president, she wrote memorable "president's columns" in alumnae publications, short essays that were gems of brevity, clarity of thought and wit—characteristics she has demonstrated in all her college-related positions.

In 1987, Winters helped establish the "Distinguished Centennial Lecturer" program at Agnes Scott, with the post filled by former First Lady Rosalynn Carter, a friend of Winters.

After graduation from Emory University law school in 1977, Winters worked for 10 years in the U.S. Department of Transportation and at the Civil Aeronautics Board. In 1987, she returned to Atlanta to continue her career in aviation law at the Federal Aviation Administration.

Virginia Milner Carter '40
Distinguished Career

In 1990, at an age when many women retire, Virginia Carter became national sales director and vice president of one of America's largest insurance companies. She trains 8,000 sales representatives in 45 states and 5 Canadian provinces, and has under her supervision more than 100,000 people.

After service with several small insurance companies and a stint with the Navy in World War II, Carter helped found an insurance marketing company in 1977. It grew steadily until 1987, when it merged with Primerica Financial Services, one of the nation's largest financial services companies.

Throughout her career, Carter has been a primary supporter for her four children, adroitly juggling her responsibilities as business leader and mother.

She has also found time to be an active member of her church and a dedicated alumna of Agnes Scott, serving as a church elder and hosting reunions for her classmates. Writes one alumna, "Virginia uses her college experience in business and her business experience in the service of her college."

Susan Elizabeth Lowance '55
Distinguished Career

Combining academic discipline with business practice and theory, Susan Lowance directs the program for senior executives at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, among the nation's most prestigious such seminars. She also directs MIT's year-long MBA for executives.

In her field, Lowance is unusual, for most executive-training seminars in American business schools are conducted by men. She is the first woman to hold the position she occupies at MIT, where enrollment of women in both programs remains at only five percent.

Before assuming her current post, Lowance served for 10 years as director of the Smith College management program, offering management development for women executives only. Both at Smith and MIT, she finds that her tasks include marketing the program to employers and trying to increase the enrollment of women participants.

Distinguished Community Service

One of seven "women of achievement" in Memphis, Virginia Dunaway has solved a glaring problem, despite apathy and ignorance surrounding her. She is founder and executive director of the Memphis Food Bank, a clearinghouse that, by the time of her retirement in 1991, was annually distributing five million pounds of unsalable but wholesome, usable food to 300 charitable feeding programs across the Mid-South.

Dunaway married while at Agnes Scott. Following graduation, she and her husband moved to Memphis, where she reared two sons and, at times, worked in her physician husband's office. In 1977, Dunaway became a VISTA volunteer assigned to the Metropolitan Inter-Faith Association. When MIFA sent her to a training session on food banks in 1980, she immediately saw how valuable such a facility could be for Memphis.

Persuading wholesale distributors, processors, retail stores, brokers and warehouses to cooperate with the new food bank, she raised funds for its operation and worked out procedures for collection and distribution.

Resigning in 1991 because of additional family responsibilities, Dunaway now works part-time as a consultant for the Second Harvest National Food Bank Network, monitoring food banks across the country.

In addition to her work in helping feed the nation's hungry, Dunaway has served as an elder in her church, participated at the presbytery level as an educational consultant, been a teacher's aid and hospital volunteer. Currently serving on her church's congregational care committee, she looks forward to participating in a new church program for homeless women and children, scheduled to begin next year.

A WORD FROM LOWRIE

Picture yourself in Gaines Auditorium sitting with your classmates and 600 other alumnae at the end of the Agnes Scott College Alumnae Association annual meeting. Outside the sun is bright, the early spring green leaves are blowing in the gentle breeze, and lunch is waiting. As your new alumnae president, I announce that we will sing "God of the Marching Centuries."

Looking over toward the organ, I'm told by the organist that the organ isn't working. What to do? Sing a cappella! Together we begin, tentatively at first, then strongly, "Lord of the passing years." As we sing, "Here on this moment's height," the organ suddenly joins us and wondrously—we are all singing the same song in the same key!

I take this as a favorable omen for the next two years during which I will lead the alumnae association. Our immediate task is to implement the Strategic Plan constructed so carefully under the leadership of my predecessor, Gayle Gellerstedt, using data given by you alumnae.

The newly-elected ASC Alumnae Association Board met after Alumnae Weekend to begin planning. The Leadership Conference on Sept. 17 will focus on the Strategic Plan and how activities for the board and alumnae will be developed and structured.

As a beginning, we will work with the College to establish more effective support of the offices of admission and career planning and counseling, increase communications, encourage greater participation in continuing education programs for alumnae, and encourage alumnae and students to increase their support of the Annual Fund. To accomplish these tasks, the board will review its structure and make changes as needed.

I hope we will all be working together as we were "singing"—the same song in the same key. Join us as we continue in our endeavors to support Agnes Scott College and its alumnae.

Alumnae Elections

NEW OFFICERS TAKE REINS OF ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION AS COLLEGE ENTERS PIVOTAL YEAR

At the annual meeting of the Alumnae Association of Agnes Scott College held April 30, in Presser Hall, a new slate of officers was accepted by the membership for 1994-1995.

■ LOWRIE ALEXANDER FRASER '56 was elected president of the association. Fraser is a researcher in the department of research and evaluation with the Atlanta Public School System and serves on the board of directors of the Atlanta Women's Network. She was a member of the 1990 class of Leadership Atlanta. Along with her degree in history and political science from ASC, Fraser holds an M.A.T. in history from Emory University, and a Ph.D. in educational leadership from Georgia State University.

■ EMILY SHARP ROBINSON '83 was elected alumnae admission representative chair. Robinson serves as the president of the board of the Columbus (Ga.) Alliance for Battered Women, is a member of the board of the Columbus Jobs Council, treasurer of the Columbus Lawyer's Auxiliary, and a member of the Junior League of Columbus.

■ SALLIE MANNING OGDEN '82 was elected alumnae garden chair. Ogden is vice president in the factoring division of Trust Company Bank where she is a new business representative. She solicits new accounts in industries throughout the Southeast and Canada. She is also the president of the class of 1982 and a master gardener in DeKalb County.

■ ELLEN FORT GRISSETT '77 was elected publications chair. Grissett serves on the editorial staff of the Junior League of Raleigh newsletter. She is an active member of the Triangle ASC

Alumnae Club. Grissett has worked 15 years in editing, writing and public relations and has had articles published in a number of magazines.

■ ELIZABETH STEELE FORMAN '81 was elected vice president for chapter advancement. Forman is a 10-year member of the Junior League of Charlotte and is presently serving on the Junior League board of directors. Her business is ESF Image Development, which involves consulting in presentation skills, etiquette and protocol.

■ VERNITA BOWDEN LOCKHART '76 was elected vice president for alumnae advancement. Lockhart is a chemist with The Coca-Cola Company where she tests new packaging materials to ensure the taste of The Coca-Cola products. She is a member of the Junior League of DeKalb County, the South DeKalb YMCA and the American Chemical Society.

■ ANNE JONES SIMS '53 was elected awards chair. Sims is a homemaker and the wife of recently retired vice president of Shaw Industries, Warren Sims. She has been a leader in the community life of Cartersville and in the First Presbyterian Church. Sims is a supporter of fine music, receives satisfaction from gardening, and devotes time to Christian care giving.

■ EVE ANDERSON EARNEST '64 was elected class officers chair. Earnest is involved in her neighborhood civic association, her church, and serves on the Habitat for Humanity Board of Directors in Atlanta. Earnest served on the Annual Fund Committee and aided in the establishment of the ASC book award, given to Atlanta high school juniors by the Atlanta chapter of the alumnae association.

A Tribute to Sims

FACULTY ENRICHMENT FUND ESTABLISHED TO HONOR LONG-TIME ASC HISTORY PROFESSOR

As a tribute to her many years of service to Agnes Scott, retired history professor Catherine Strateman Sims is being honored by her dedicated former students with the establishment of The Catherine S. Sims Faculty Enrichment Fund.

The fund, set up this summer, will provide additional financial support for the professional growth of ASC faculty members.

A scholar and constant supporter of women's colleges, Sims graduated with honors in history from Barnard College in 1934 where she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. After a year spent at the Institute of Historical Research, University of London, she earned master's and doctorate degrees from Columbia University. She taught history at ASC for 22 years, with a three-year leave during that time to serve as the dean of the American College for Girls in Istanbul, Turkey.

Professor Catherine Sims

She was dean of Sweet Briar College for nine years, returning to ASC as a visiting professor in 1975 and as interim dean of the College in 1989-90.

Throughout her distinguished academic career she has worked to uphold the standards of private education. She served as a senator of the Phi Beta Kappa Society for 18 years and was a long-time member and chair of the Committee on Qualifications. From 1982 until 1985, she was president of the society.

Ruby Rosser Davis '43, one of the many alumnae organizing the fund, says, "Dr. Sims has chosen the most caring avenue possible. She recognized the need for funds to subsidize research and professional growth among faculty members, and she knows that this will enrich the education of ASC students."

Faculty from all departments may apply for grants, and as the fund continues to grow, applications will be reviewed and awards made by the faculty's Professional Development Committee.

A minimum contribution of $10,000 is required to establish a named fund at Agnes Scott.

Guidelines For Submitting Class News

The next CLASS NEWS deadline is Jan 16. News received after that date will be published in the August issue. Deadline for the August 1995 issue of MAIN EVENTS is May 15. News received after that date will appear in the December 1995 issue.

Please send your class news, notices of births and of deaths to the Alumnae Office. The Alumnae Office will send you a postcard acknowledging receipt of your information.

Please include the alumna's maiden (birth) name and class. Please verify spellings. All news needs to be typed or written clearly. If you or your classmate has an unusual spelling of a name, please call that to our attention.

In sending a birth announcement, please include the husband's name, even if the alumna does not use it in her mailing address. Also include the baby's name and birthday.

Please report weddings and other planned events only after the fact.

Agnes Scott has nearly 10,000 living alumnae. We want to keep in touch with all of you and keep you in touch with each other. Except for budget restraints limiting the number of pages, CLASS NEWS is printed with only minor editing, so be selective. Let us hear from you regularly.

Contact your class secretary today with your news.

New Trustees

GELLERSTEDT, REAVES NAMED TO ASC BOARD

D. Gayle Gellerstedt '71 and Louise McKinney Hill Reaves '54 were named to the Agnes Scott College Board of Trustees at the May meeting of the board.

Gellerstedt, of Decatur, received her degree in psychology from Agnes Scott. In 1992, she earned a master's degree in early childhood education from Georgia State University. She is currently a kindergarten teacher for 26 high-risk children at College Heights Elementary School. Prior to 1992, when she began teaching, Gellerstedt served as associate director of the Institute for Fund-Raising Leadership of Coxe and Associates.

Gellerstedt, the immediate past president of the ASC

Alumnae Association, is the daughter of Lawrence and Mary Gellerstedt, of Atlanta, both previous ASC board members.

Reaves, of Stone Mountain, received her ASC degree in English, was a member of Mortar Board and Phi Beta Kappa. She is currently executive secretary for Sanders and Sizemore, Financial Consultants, having served in similar positions with the Emory University School of Law and the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce.

Reaves is the daughter of Caroline McKinney Clarke '27, and the mother of Caroline Reaves Wilson '82.

In other action, the board named Betty Scott Noble '44, of Decatur, trustee emerita.

news that her husband, David, died in December. David was sick a long time, but Connie was able to go to Converse College in May 1993 for the dedication of a lovely garden in memory of her daughter, Cornelia Dasher, who had been president of the Converse Alumnae Association. There is also a rose garden there in memory of Connie's first husband, Ralph Dasher. Connie has happy news, too. Her son Tom Dasher is now acting dean of arts and sciences at Valdosta State College in Georgia. Her grandson, Kevin McLaughlin (Margaret's son) graduated from Emory Medical School in May and married in June.

Gay Swagerty Guptill has moved near Louisville, Ky., and is living with her son Stephen in the town of Prospect.

Dorothy "Dot" Holloran Addison and Tom have just returned from a wonderful tour of Israel, Syria and Jordan. This was not their first visit, but Tom especially enjoyed this one because the weather turned cool and it snowed. This event saved him from riding a camel and climbing a mountain! Dot keeps a journal on these trips and uses the information to enhance the weekly Sunday school lessons she teaches. However, she lets nothing interfere with her monthly trips to New York and her visits with her new granddaughter.

In January your secretary ran into Mary Brock Williams and James, and Lillian Roberts Deakins at Sea Island. The group had a nice visit while relaxing and enjoying the luxury and beauty of the area.

In February, Frances Radford "Raddy" Mauldin had back surgery to correct spinal stenosis. She had been having pain when walking and had a bad limp. After several consultations, Raddy and her doctors felt that surgery was the only answer. The operation was successful, and after a painful recovery, she is feeling much better. She now has to look forward to and think about another operation to repair some slippage of her hip prostheses. However, these thoughts were put aside while she and Henry were in California in June with Judy and her family, and attending their granddaughter Ann's high school graduation.

The class sends its love to Aileen Still Hendley whose mother, Mrs. Eddie Still, died in March. Her mother had been an invalid for several years.

Mary Elizabeth Ward was presented the distinguished service award from the South Carolina Branch of the Orton Dyslexia Society for her early work in the field of dyslexia.

Believe it or not, the class's 50th reunion is coming up in less than a year—April 28-30, 1995. Lots of activities are planned. Each of you should be there. More details will follow in the fall.

Emily Singletary Garner hosted Joyce Freeman Marting for a seminar on Flannery O'Connor at Georgia College in Milledgeville, April 13-16. Prior to the seminar, Emily had a house party which included Joyce, Jeanne Newton Snipes, and Bettie Manning Ott, among others.

Joyce escaped some of the record-breaking winter weather in Akron, Ohio, arriving at the Los Angeles Airport Jan. 17 (the day of the earthquake) to meet a friend. They went sightseeing in San Diego and Palm Springs Valley. In February, Joyce went with a Smithsonian group to Bali, Indonesia, studying Alinease arts and culture.

Barbara Frink Allen had very few problems from the Los Angeles earthquake of January. Barbara got together with Bettie Manning Ott in Saratoga, and the two drove to Sausalito to meet Carolyn Fuller Nelson who came down from Sonoma. Bettie Ott's tally of grandchildren grew by three to twelve in 1993.

Dorothy Khan Prunhuber writes, "We all celebrated my BIG birthday by taking a family vacation to St. Croix. There were 12 of us including the three grandchildren, and we had a wonderful time at a great swimming-snorkelling beach. Larry is losing some of his muscular strength and we do not know yet what the diagnosis is. What has seemed to help him is participation in an aquasizer program three times a week. Naturally, I go too and enjoy it!"

Dorothy Dyrenforth Gay's husband, Ed, is an invalid, but keeps the books "so he can tell me what I've done wrong." Dorothy says he's the funniest man she's ever had to live with. Their son Rhodes resigned his judgeship a year ago and is now in private practice.

Anne Equen Ballard and Perry became grandparents when Wiley Perry Ballard IV arrived last Dec. 1.

Julia Slack Hunter, after travels to Israel, Jordan, Syria and Egypt, and before her trip to Denmark, will meet with Virginia Brown McKenzie, Anne Ballard, Scott Newell Newton, Elizabeth "Betts" Davis Shingler, Betty Glenn Stow and others to plan the class's 50th reunion. Julia and Hugh plan to go rafting down the Colorado River into the Grand Canyon in August after Julia's family reunion at Jekyll Island in June.

Molly Milam Inserni enjoyed an all-too-brief visit in February from Dorothy "Dot" Hunter and Pat Elam, who stayed in Puerto Rico only two full days, but were great sports to drive with their hostess in loco traffic. Dot and Pat were glad to have Ruth Gray Walker take up residence on St. Simons Island, Ga.

Minnie Mack Simons couldn't join Dot and Pat in Puerto Rico in February because of a babysitting commitment for her daughter Lillian and a traffic court rendezvous.

Jean Hood Booth is in the same wonderful house in the Apple Valley of Commerce, Ga.

Betty Glenn Stow taught an eight-week short story course for Emory's Senior University and plans a trip to Alaska in August.

Betts and Bob Shingler took two offspring and spouses to London for theatre and a visit to Canterbury early this year.

Mary Cumming Fitzhugh had Frances Brougher Garman and two daughters (Linda from Germany and Kelly from Conyers) for lunch in the fall. Molly Milam Inserni was delighted to get a Christmas phone call from Mary. "Little Mary," whose twins are 14, plans to move back stateside from Spain.

Street established by their parents in the twenties. After Dorothy's death, Bee continued her lifestyle until last Christmas season, when managing the grounds and the aging house began to take a toll. Bee is now happy to be where a number of her friends also live. She enjoys the programs provided, and still wins at bridge.

Anna Mae McCollum Fleming and Bee keep in touch by phone, each laughing off any communication as old-fashioned as writing. Anna has spent some time in a care center recovering from a fall, but is doing well now.

Patricia Collins Butler spent the Christmas season in Washington, as usual. She had a plane ticket in her pocket to visit Greenville and your secretary when the winter storms caused a postponement. Meanwhile, she had scheduled a mini-trip to Italy and returned in mid-January with Frank to LaJolla, Calif. The southern visit is still in a holding pattern.

Your secretary was in seventh heaven during Alumnae Weekend, having a "suite" in Hopkins Hall on campus with daughter Lynn Frederick Williamson '59, who flew in from St. Mary's, Md., to participate in her 35th reunion (reported "fabulous"). Peggy Frederick Smith '62, completing her term as a member of the Alumnae Board, made it a threesome.

Artist Peggy Swayze celebrates Bible stories in the striking colors of stained glass.

Multi-hued Gifts for God

ASC ALUMNA HAS DEVOTED HER LIFE TO USING ART TO TELL THE GOSPEL

Margaret "Peggy" Van Hook Swayze '47, a petite woman, uses a cane to balance herself as she walks carefully, although with a sprightly step, across the Agnes Scott quad. She hasn't been on campus in 47 years and marvels at its changes—the gymnasium is now the Alston Student Center, the stables are gone and to her surprise, there is an entire building devoted to art, Swayze's own passion and life-blood.

Since leaving Agnes Scott, Swayze has used her art as a means of "telling the story of the Lord." She has painted, sketched and sculpted depictions of Adam and Eve, the Psalms, the Old Testament prophecies of Isaiah, Moses and the Ten Commandments, parables, the miracles of Christ and other Biblical stories in oils, stained glass and wood. Much of her stained glass (the artist's dominant medium), housed in St. Anne's Episcopal Church in Atlanta, is contemporary and strikingly colorful in its narrative. With each window, Swayze often shares her personal insight—bringing a degree of uniqueness to standard scriptural interpretations.

The Rev. John Rabb, rector of St. Anne's, agrees. "Her art is very expressive and gives a powerful image to each story." He points out a nativity window in which Swayze included a mother cat and kittens in the manger scene. "Every time I see that I see a regeneration of life that is not often captured in art."

Using an abstract expressionist style, Swayze has fashioned stained glass for 21 churches across the country. At St. Anne's, a church designed by her architect husband, she has created the majority of the sanctuary windows. Swayze and her husband were among St. Anne's founding members more than 39 years ago.

Each glass work takes about six weeks to complete, depending on the complexity of the design and installation, and can cost as much as $30,000.

"This is my gift from the Lord to the people. I'm just a tool and I'm grateful for it," she says of her work's inspiration. "The Lord has never failed me."

While at Agnes Scott, Swayze studied psychology and art and eventually earned a certificate in interior design from Parsons School of Design in New York. She continued to study art techniques at New York University, the University of Georgia and Georgia State University.

"When I was at Agnes Scott they offered the very best in education but not a lot of freedom of thought," remembers Swayze. "Back then it was much more structured than it is now but the quality of education was deeper and wider than any I had experienced before. Maybe that is partly where I learned my discipline."

That's how she describes herself as an artist—disciplined—much like a carpenter. Her regime: work for a couple of hours in the morning, break, then work for a couple of hours in the afternoon. Swayze pursues her work deliberately not waiting for "motivation" or "inspiration" each day—once an idea takes root she tackles it head on until it's completed.

Outside of her work for the church, Swayze also freelance designs using mosaic and breeds whippets and Afghan hounds with her husband and daughter. But being an artist is all Swayze has known. She recalls the time her grandmother placed her in her lap and told her matter of factly that God loved her and she would grow up to be an artist. "I always believed what she told me. Knowing what I was destined to do has made life a little easier," she laughs.

Frances Garman took a trip with a friend to the Pacific Northwest last Christmas to visit her friend's grandchildren. Frances is a certified education diagnostician with Cooperative Educational Services.

Beverly King Pollock continues the study of play, poetry and short story writing at the University of Pittsburgh. Husband Mel still paints and teaches Impressionism to fourth graders once a week. Their big volunteer work is with AIDS victims and families. Bev is president of the Shepherd Wellness Community, a social outlet and resource center for families with AIDS and HIV related illnesses.

Margaret Mace Hannah and Sam missed their summer visit to New York, but had a lovely vacation in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia.

Wendy Whittle Hoge's daughter Hilary married in January. Wendy and Inge

Probstein chat by phone. Said Wendy of Inge: "What a wonderful thing, I keep thinking, that late in life she has full scope to use her tremendous abilities with students fully able to appreciate them." Wendy is still "working a bit, though not much, and still enjoying it."

Inge wrote a "snow-bound note." She was teaching American novels: Henry James, Edith Wharton, Theodore Dreiser, Upton Sinclair at the time. In early April, Inge was off to Italy for two weeks.

Betty Jane Moore teaches piano part-time, and has as many adult students as children. Her husband has had two strokes and is in a nursing home.

Betty Howell Traver and Dan enjoyed a trip to Egypt last winter.

Carolyn Hall Medley indicates that she always enjoys contact with her classmates and is hoping to come for the "big one"—Alumnae Weekend.

Claire Rowe Newman is recuperating from surgery on both knees. We send best wishes for a full recovery.

Celetta "Lella" Powell Jones and Harry have a new granddaughter, Ann McKay Fox. Lella and Joyce Gilliland Dickinson had a brief visit at the funeral of a mutual friend.

Sarah Walker Womack goes to Montreat every summer and enjoys seeing lots of Agnes Scott friends. Her husband has retired.

Mary McConkey Reimer, Elizabeth Weinschenk Mundy, Conradine Fraser Riddle, Edwina Davis, Marjorie Naab Bolen and the class scribe represented the class of '46 at the Alumnae Weekend luncheon in late April.

Mary Duckworth Gellerstedt and Lawrence attended the annual meeting of the Alumnae Association to see daughter Gayle (who was the outgoing president) turn over the gavel.

Conradine Fraser Riddle retired in October 1993 as a microbiologist from the Centers for Disease Control in the Hospital Infections Program. Connie gave Uncle Sam 30 years of service. Nancy Haislip Houston writes from Baltimore that husband Phil, who was a retired geologist, is now working again as a cartographer for the United States Department of Defense. Nancy has two unmarried adult children: Sally in Baltimore and Tommy in Washington. Other children: Dabney living in New York with his son; E. Lee and her husband and two children in Chicago.

Martha Beacham Jackson writes from Daytona, Fla., that her husband, Sid, retired in 1981 and they have enjoyed traveling to Britain, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Italy, Bermuda and, in June 1993, California. In addition to touring in the United States, she spent a lot of time in Highlands, N.C., with her mother, who died at age 95 in July 1992. Martha still paints and enters an occasional art show.

Barbara Whipple Bitter has moved to Perry, Ga., to be with her mother, Carolyn Smith Whipple '25. Leaving Statesboro after 28 years wasn't easy, but she is adjusting well.

Anne Elcan Mann and Barbara went to Italy for a month in the spring, attending an Elderhostel and visiting Anne's daughter, whose husband is studying on a Fulbright in Venice.

Jean Ewing Bellingrath Mobley writes that after two years at Agnes Scott, she went on to Duke, graduated in 1948 and received her master's degree (1954) and Ph.D. (1970) from the University of North Carolina. She married C. Wade Mobley in 1949; and they have a son, a daughter and six grandchildren. Jean retired as head of the mathematics department at Pfeiffer College in Misenjeimer, N.C., in August 1989 at the same time her husband retired as superintendent of Rowan County (N.C.) Schools. In June 1993, after Wade had a bad year health-wise, they moved to a Presbyterian Retirement Center, The Pines at Davidson, N.C.

Mary Alice Compton Osgood and John went to visit their daughter and her family in Windhoek, Namibia, South Africa in January. "Mac" is still much involved in working for Loomis House Retirement Community and as a docent in the Mount Holyoke Art Museum. Caroline Hodges Roberts writes that she and Marvin retired Dec. 31, 1993. After 45 years in business, they sold their Northside drug store — the one mentioned in the Anne Rivers Siddons' novel Peachtree Road. They are selling their Atlanta house and moving to their Bent Tree home near Jasper, Ga. Caroline says their four grown children and four grandchildren are scattered, but they see them often.

Mary Elizabeth Jackson Etheridge says she and husband Bob have taken a great leap "backward" by keeping their two granddaughters while daughter Virginia gets started again as a member of the business world. It was a wonderful reunion! The class had an enthusiastic, large group back, with more husbands in attendance than ever before. Indeed, with 52 of the class returning, the '49ers won the cup for highest percentage of returnees—41 percent. For all of you who missed the reunion, begin planning now to attend the 50th reunion in 1999!

Marietta classmates Eleanor Compton Underwood, Nancy Denny Ryle, and Peggy Pittard Bullard and their husbands extended special hospitality to those attending the reunion while Dot Quillian Reeves and her husband went way beyond the call of class loyalty by hosting the dinner Saturday night for 86. It was a beautiful warm evening, with no rain, allowing the group to visit and reminisce for hours. Dot's husband, Harrison, who polished brass and moved rugs into the garage, should be elected a permanent member of the class of '49. Jo Culp Williams is owed a debt of gratitude also, since she served as treasurer and co-chair for the reunion.

Speaking of elections, at the class meeting on Saturday, April 30, Reese Newton Smith was once again elected president. Dot Reeves agreed to be vice president; Mary Price Coulling is secretary again, and Dorothy Sullivan "Sully" Tippens is taking over as fund chair. With a bit of coercion, 10 helpful classmates agreed to be supplemental secretaries (Sue Tidwell Dixon, Nancy Parks Donnan, Pat McGowan Evans, "Binky" Stubbs Farris, Marie Cuthbertson Faulkner, "Bunny" Brannan Hamrick, Evelyn Foster Henderson, Joan Lawrence Rogers, Dot Quillian Reeves, and Jane Eford Watkins). Help them keep up-to-date with all of you in Main Events.

At least half of you have received the updated directory of the class. If any of the rest want a copy, send word—along with $7.50, which includes postage—to Mary Coulling.

Julia Weathers Wynne writes that her 96-year-old mother has been living with her for the past three years. Julia and Don's son Don III married in April 1993, and the young couple lives in Julia's old home in Atlanta. Julia has one son who is a judge in Hall County, another son with the IRS in Atlanta, and a daughter who teaches science at Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C.

Katherine Geffcken was unable to attend the reunion because she had just taken part in festivities for the Centennial of the American Academy in Rome (held in Washington, D.C.), celebrating with ambassadors, congressmen, people in academia and the arts, and Hillary Rodham Clinton. She could not be away longer from her teaching assignments at Wellesley. She also plans to attend another Academy centennial celebration in Rome this summer — "more ambassadors and more lavish dinners and speeches!" Katherine is a member of the board of the American Academy (made up of 100 supporting American colleges and universities) and also of the Agnes Scott College Board of Trustees.

Annie Charles "Charlsie" Smith Harris wrote that she was with the reunion group in spirit, but was prevented from coming because of family responsibilities — her parents live with her, and husband Jim is in uncertain health.

Betty "BebLa" Blackmon Kinnett could not attend the reunion because this was "our year to take sixth grade grandchildren to D.C. and New York." BebLa and husband John's children have given them 12 grandchildren.

The reunion was great. The class of 1954 had the farthest-flung attendee of the day, Ulla Beckman, who came from Stockholm, Sweden. Ulla has recently retired from a Swedish government appointment which took her to Botswana and Zimbabwe in Southern Africa. She invited everyone to visit her in her new apartment in central Stockholm. Write ahead, she likes to travel!

Mary Pritchett Webb has returned to the Atlanta area fold. She and husband Phil have moved to Woodstock from Arizona to be near family. Mary already has a few piano students and plays the organ at a small Methodist church in Marietta.

Betty Ellington Parrigin and husband Perry were not actually flooded in their home in Missouri last summer, but the waters came closer than they would have wished. They are very aware of the devastation and the time it will take to make the farmland productive again. For a much needed break, they took a trip to England, returning in luxury on the QEII.

Gwynneth Davies Kelley has been having adventures. She went with her missionary husband, John, for many years to Costa Rica and Ecuador—a "fascinating" time. Since completing a B.A. in art at the College of William and Mary in the '70s, Gwynneth has created art and lectured on her grandfather, Solon Borglum. Some inspiration comes from living in his studio, which has been in the family since 1907. Her most exciting adventure was in 1980 when she sailed from Yorktown, Va., to Spain in a 43-foot cutter with three others all over 50. Gwynneth was the cook. Now excitement looms as son Kevin trains to be on the 1996 Olympic Sailing Team.

Carol Macauley Jones is so occupied with her library work at Columbia College, Mo., that she has little time for other activities. She enjoys the Jane Austen Society which celebrated the author's birthday at Carol's home. Husband Bart has been busy teaching day and evening at Columbia College, as well as having a paper on Jimmy Carter published.

Carolyn "Randy" Randolph DeLay has to rest every now and again from retirement fun like turning her clay yard into an "English" garden. Despite working out three days a week, these grandparents were pooped after keeping up with their 3-year-old grandson's trick-or-treating.

Carol Jones Hay is also having difficulty coping with the full life since her husband Pete retired after 38 years on the faculty of Presbyterian College.

Nancy Lee-Riffe is thinking about retirement after 33 years of teaching, especially after a sabbatical in 1993. Her spare time is taken up with her research, committee work at the college where she teaches English and advising the students there.

Virginia "Bo" Hancock Abernathy has been married for over 37 years — to the same man! Her four children are married and not too far from her, so she gets to see her five grandchildren. She and Sid recently "lost their minds" and built a lake house in Tennessee, which means two yards to cut and eight bathrooms to clean! In between, Bo finds time for gardening, china painting, and sewing.

Judy Promnitz Marine is still principal of Westminster Elementary School in Atlanta. Between romping with six energetic grandchildren, she served on several education-related Olympic committees and is involved in curriculum development for schools during the 1996 Olympics.

Jane Crook Cunningham and Ray donned their traveling shoes for a venture to Arizona, where they "fell into a frozen river in a vehicle." The water was not deep, but it was an hour and a half before they were extricated. Jane taught at a community college during winter quarter.

Barbara Northey Severinghaus and Tom also experimented with cold water, ice-fishing near their Minnesota home. They are pushed to keep up with their daughter, who has presented them with four grandchildren in four and a half years. One son is an ombudsman in the Omaha mayor's office, another a Navy pilot living aboard a sailboat in Monterey Bay.

Mary Lou Kleppinger DeBolt and Don have retired and moved from Dallas, Texas, to Hot Springs, Ark. (no cold water for them). Their eldest of five grandchildren is following in family footsteps, studying engineering at Rolla School of Mines.

Carol Tye Dozier and Don visited Addie Steans Morrison and husband Harold at their winter home in Florida in March. Tongues wagged and much catching up was done.

Genevieve Guardia Chenault and Hank toured Berlin, St. Petersburg and Scandinavian cities last summer, missing the birth of their second grandson.

Frances Patterson Huffaker has returned to Kingsport, Tenn., from living in Japan for three and a half years. "My husband, Jim, will retire Feb. 1. After we sort out our household, we look forward to traveling in the U.S. and welcoming our friends to visit us."

Carolyn Barker Lonas has her eighth grandchild. She has moved back to her old homeplace in Hixson, Tenn.

Helen Sewell Johnson writes, "I have spent many hours shoveling snow, negotiating icy driveways, and caring for family—those components of middle age. In addition to my usual painting, writing and dance lessons, I have been enchanted with my first litter of poodle puppies."

Virginia McClurkin Jones writes, "My daughter Grace was married Dec. 18, 1993 in Cookeville, Tenn., at St. Michael's Episcopal Church. She and her husband live in Knoxville. I was recently named to the Board of Anderson County Center for Community Justice and completed my term as assistant treasurer on the Board of the Concord Yacht Club in Knoxville."

This is Kathy Cole Butler's last time to report your news as secretary. Please send your news to Catherine Girardeau Brown, P.O. Box 274, Lookout Mountain, TN 37350.

Marion "Pinky" McCall Bass married William S. McBride on June 12, 1993, in Atlanta in the company of her four children, grandchildren, parents and friends, including Diana Carpenter White '58 and Clara Rountree Couch '43. In 1993-94 she initiated an artist sponsored project in Oaxaca, Mexico. Eighteen artists participated, working from two weeks to one month in their various art forms. An exhibition of the group was held in the School of Fine Arts in, Oaxaca in March and plans are in progress for exhibitions in the United States. Lynn Denton '63 and Clara Couch were among the participants.

Frances Gwinn Wolf writes that after 34 years of church work she is currently and happily unemployed. She wrote a mystery story for a magazine contest which was judged to be in the top hundred out of 5,000 entries. There may be another author from the class of '58 soon. Husband Peter assumed Senior Judge status in the Washington, D.C., Superior Court in April and enjoys more leisure time. Children's occupations and whereabouts are as follows: Jenny finished her Ph.D. and is a psychologist working in the Philadelphia area; Ken married in August 1993, and is working on a master's in theater history at Catholic University in D.C.; Catherine is doing photographic editing by computer for a company that produces CD-ROMs; Carrie spent a recent winter in St. Petersburg, Russia, where she taught English. Now back in Washington, she teaches English as a second language to adults.

Margaret Woolfolk Webb continues to make tremendous progress on her road to recovery. The class can all give a cheer for this good news!

Harriet Talmadge Mill and Bob, who is retired, spend about half their time now in Arundel, Maine. All three children have packed and moved out. Harriet and Meg went on a Tennessee-North Carolina-Georgia tour last spring. The following October, Bob and Harriet had a wonderful trip to England and Scotland, spending time in an old weaving town in Suffolk and in Edinburgh and Glasgow.

Emily Bailey and Grace Lynn Ouzts Curry extend thanks to the class of '61 for membership support of the annual fund drive for 1992-93. Forty-two percent of the class (76 donors) contributed $13,510. Hopefully, this year will be even better.

Betsy Dalton Brand writes that she will go on the Sea Cloud, (Marjorie Post's sailing ship) to the Greek Isles and Turkey to follow the journeys of Paul in June 1994. Leighton Ford will be teaching on board. Her son Robert lives in Phoenix, her daughter Mary is married and living outside of Pittsburgh, daughter Elizabeth is married and living in Charlotte, and daughter Sally just graduated from Duke University and plans to go to graduate school.

Betty Bellune Alpern has been living in New York City since 1966. She pursued an acting career until 1972, married Morris Alpern, a writer, and had a daughter, Claire, who is now at the University of Maryland.

Alice Frazer Evans is gratified with the completion of a five-year program working with 12 theological seminaries on globalization and the publication of her recent book on the subject. She spent much of 1993 in South Africa as a consultant to a program on mediation/negotiation training with grass roots community leaders. She taught in Australia in February 1994.

Harriett "Boog" Smith Henderson lives in Spartanburg, S.C., and is proud to have four grandsons. She has a small business in her home where she "bakes or makes" food for small groups and also does alterations.

Dutton Lemmond Moore continues to serve as a media coordinator in an elementary school where she is trying to learn all about laser video disks, CD-ROM and multimedia, as well as teaching fourth and fifth graders word processing. Her 16-year-old daughter, Karen, is a lifeguard at the Duke Diet Center. Her son, Lang, and his wife are in Montgomery since he graduated from Harvard Law School in June 1993.

Julia "Panni" Doar Grubb and Betty Mattern York were together for the Tri Delt reunion at the North Carolina beach last summer. Panni's husband, Bob, was named an endowed professor at Washington University School of Medicine. Her son, Robert, is in medical school at Emory University, and her daughter is at Princeton University.

The alumnae office received news from Betsy Boyd Thomas, who is program director of the southeast region of the Georgia Council on Child Abuse Inc. She changed jobs after eight years as a therapist to abused children; her roles now are teaching, advocacy, prevention and administration. Betsy recently began "moonlighting" as a dance teacher for pre-schoolers. She has a two-and-a-half-year-old grandson. Sadly, Betsy is in the process of a divorce after 35 years of marriage, which she says is "a real challenge and adjustment." Her family, friends and church have been her "lifelines."

Margaret Lipham Blakely is a family and individual counseling program manager at Family Service Inc. in Fort Worth, Texas.

Betty Ann Gatewood Wylie recently participated in a storytelling session at Agnes Scott's Scotland Yard snack bar. She enjoyed the opportunity to meet so many attentive, responsive students. Betty Ann was scheduled to have knee surgery in June—the class sends its best wishes.

Carol Hickey loves her retirement after 30 years in public education. She is still keeping busy teaching at Grace Academy, a private high school. She "is" the school's math department, and teaches ninth grade physical science and 10th grade biology.

Elizabeth "Libba" Lee Neal writes that she and Heidt have been married for 30 years. They are very proud of daughter Lee, a certified public accountant, and Margie, a physical therapist. Libba says that her granddaughter, Sarah Margaret Bush (Lee's daughter), is "wonderful." Libba keeps in close touch with ASC alumnae friends in Columbus: Ida Pound Page and Sally Gordy Kenimer.

Beth Webb Nugent is still with the Children's Heart Center at Emory's School of Medicine, but now on a part-time basis. She has time to travel and read and may go back to art and embroidery. Daughter Kelly is a senior at Dartmouth College and plans to go on to graduate in international studies.

Sara Ector Vagliano sends her news from Norfolk, Conn. She lives on a farm, edits The French American Review, and is on the board of Planned Parenthood of Connecticut. Husband Alec is retired from international banking. Son Dan graduated from Yale University in 1987 and is vice president of a Washington, D.C., public relations firm. She has four step-grandchildren, loves New England, and promises to participate in the 35th reunion! And she has stopped smoking!! Sara has kindly offered to help coordinate a get-together for class members in New York City.

Some 30 members of the class in the Atlanta area gathered at Leila Jones Graham's on March 6. This mini-reunion was a big success. The class would like to do something similar in other cities where there are large numbers of '63 alums nearby. Charlotte and Raleigh-Durham come to mind. Please pass on your ideas and suggestions to Leila or Cornelia Bryant.

The alumnae office received news that D'Etta Brown Leach is in her third year of a Ph.D. program in American History/Women's Studies at the University of North Carolina.

The total number of classmates at the reunion in April was uncertain, but the group was sitting on every available surface and spilling out the door of the faculty lounge at the class meeting. Those present agreed that they like themselves and each other much better now than they did 30 years ago; the group dares to think it may have "jelled" at last! One particularly proud moment of the weekend was having classmates Andrea Pfaff and Garnett Foster as the preachers for the Sunday morning worship service.

Peggy Barton Driggs got up in the reunion class meeting and said, "I have an announcement: I've finally done something!" She certainly has—her play, Sweet Chariot, a one-woman drama based on the life of Harriet Tubman, won the 1994 Playwriting Competition of the Festival of Southern Theater. It will be presented by the drama department of the University of Mississippi in Oxford, July 28-30!

Thanks to everyone who sent back last winter's questionnaires! Here, in no particular order, are who and where and how some of the class members are:

Eve Anderson Earnest completed five years as director of Christian education at Central Presbyterian Church in Atlanta and served as volunteer coordinator for National Football League/Habitat for Humanity "Blitz Build" in conjunction with the Super Bowl. She has a "wonderful husband" and three sons—a Davidson senior, a Georgia Tech sophomore (who reportedly refuses to date Scotties) and a high school junior.

Diane David Hambrick has been in private practice for 24 years as a clinical psychologist in Charleston, S.C. She helped start the statewide Council for Mediation and Alternative Dispute Resolution with Mary Lowndes Smith Bryan '67. Twice married and divorced, Diane has two children, Matt and Anna, both scheduled to graduate from the College of Charleston this year.

Mary Lou Laird works for Adventures in Mission (AIM), taking groups from churches for one to two-week projects in the Caribbean and Latin America to build, work with children, etc. She lives with two golden retrievers—Joyful Noise (Noisie) and Hallelujah Chorus (Hallie).

Ann Daniel Chapman is in the midst of the tenure review process, and says it's going well. Her children are "slowly but surely" leaving home.

Anita Yount Sturgis has a Georgia real estate license and is currently associated with Referral Realty. She is also a volunteer in the Marietta school system. Her son Fred Jr., 23, graduated from Furman University last year, works for Arthur Andersen, and will be married in June; Kelly, 21, attends Auburn University; and Brett, 14, is in eighth grade.

Jan Lamaster Redford received her Ph.D. in counseling psychology from the University of Houston in August 1993, and is currently working in the learning support services area of the University of Houston. Daughter Tracy is in Denver, son Tommy is in Houston—both are employed!

Karen Baxter Harriss has made three mission trips to work with Mayan Indians in the Yucatan; and is still working with a local exchange student program in Charlotte. Her husband and kids are "all just perfect"—Herb because "he's here, supportive, and true," and Elise and Drew because "they're NOT here, but not too far away, and both on their own!"

Shirley Lee is in her sixth year of teaching math at Southside Comprehensive High School in Atlanta.

Mae Hall Boys is teaching remedial reading part-time at a private clinic for children with learning disabilities, as well as speed-reading and SAT prep classes. She has a two-year-old granddaughter, Amanda, the daughter of Mae's daughter Mary Brittain Boys White and husband Michael (both Georgia Tech graduates). Mae and husband Tommy recently won a husband/wife golf championship.

Nancy Barger Cox works with her husband, Ronnie, who is dean of engineering at the University of Tennessee-Chattanooga, in his consulting business, and is learning to use a "Mac" computer. Daughter Kathy has a B.A. in chemistry and is applying to graduate schools; son David is a senior and daughter Sherry is a first-year student at University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill.

The alumnae office received news that Dianne Hunter Cox and husband Bill have been living in Costa Rica while Bill works on a project there. They plan to return to the states at the end of 1994.

Betty Armstrong Fenasci's daughter, Rachel, spent her junior year in Paris. Son Sean is at Louisiana State University, where he made the all-conference water ski team.

Patricia Gay Nash is working full time as a certified public accountant. Her husband, Skip, works for AT&T. Rebecca is a senior at Meredith College in Raleigh, N.C.; Alison is a first-year student at Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y.; and Katie is in eighth grade.

Sandra Prescott Laney and husband Leroy are enjoying Honolulu. Sandy is a public relations coordinator for a local independent high school. Leroy is senior vice president for First Hawaiian Bank. Scott graduates in June 1994 and will attend college on the mainland. Lee is a sophomore interested in competitive laser sailing.

Peggy Simmons Zoeller is a pediatrician in Louisville, Ky. Husband Bruce is a real estate appraiser. Their two older sons live in Louisville while the two younger sons attend Bryan College in Dayton, Tenn.

Carol Wilson Owens has completed her 10th year teaching middle school science. Carol and husband Ray became grandparents in August 1993 when daughter Karen, a certified public accountant, had a son, Logan. Daughter Kathy, a June 1993 graduate of Georgia Tech, is working as an engineer.

Carol Sutton Lumpkin has had major changes in her life since 1989 when she was in the San Francisco earthquake. After her divorce and business closing, she moved to Dalton, Ga. Carol has remarried, opened a business, and serves on numerous boards in the community.

Charlotte Webb Kendall and Jerry live in St. Petersburg, Fla. Daughter Allston graduated from Clemson. Daughter Sara, 17, plans to attend Clemson also. Charlotte and Jerry were one of 10 couples who founded the Clemson Parent Council four years ago. The Kendalls spent three weeks in England in the summer of 1993.

Jane McLendon toured New Zealand, Australia and Hawaii with 30 friends in February and March. They joined local groups in the countries for Scottish country dancing.

Nina Nelson Smith and husband Jim became grandparents to James Emerson Smith III in September 1993. Daughter Shannon graduated from the University of South Carolina Law School and is planning an October wedding. Nina is president of the Richland County Bar Association and serves on the regional airport commission.

Margaret Brawner Perez has been teaching English as a second language, and is currently a secondary counselor for "at risk" kids in a middle school. Margaret helps them stay in school.

Happy news of two marriages to report! Gabrielle "Gaby" McCall Guyton was married Dec. 18, 1993, to Ronald Olin Harrelson. ASC alumnae attending the wedding were classmates Peggy Whitaker, Linda Woody Perry and Lynne Anthony Butler, as well as Barbara Hoffman Harkins '69 and Edith McLeod Guyton '70. Gaby and son Mitch, 12, are delighted with their "expanded" family. Ron has a son, Ron Jr., 27, and a daughter, Kym, 25. Both Gaby and Ron work for BellSouth companies. She is a systems designer II with BellSouth Business Systems, and Ron is a quality consultant with Southern Bell.

Blizzard conditions did not prevent Katherine Harlan and Bruce Mowday from having a lovely wedding with family at Kathy's home in Downingtown, Pa., in February. Kathy's mother, brothers, aunt and uncle all made it there despite perilous travel conditions. Bruce's two daughters, sister, and mother and father were able to join the celebration. Bruce even had to drive through snow drifts to pick up the judge who officiated. Bruce is a newspaper editor. Kathy is contemplating a career change as marketing executive for food products, and might consider a move from the South!

Carol Cole Renfro and Joe live in Lavonia, Ga. Carol is head of the technical services department and computer systems for the Anderson, S.C., library where she has been a technical services librarian for almost seven years. Joe teaches 6th grade and ministers at Faith Presbyterian Church. Daughter Shara graduated from Clemson University with a degree in chemical engineering in May 1993. Shara married Jeffrey Lamb, who was working on his master's at Clemson; they live in Chicago. Carol and Joe's son, Daniel, is in junior high school. Carol directs their church choir and is active with many hobbies.

Bronwyn Burks Fowlkes has been promoted to vice president at Bank South NA in Atlanta, where she has been in the bond trustee administration department for nine years. She's the mother of two sons in college—Tommy, a junior at Rice University, and Park, a freshman at Elon College. In the summer of 1993 she visited Vicky Plowden Craig in Lufkin, Texas. She went with Vicki and her son to begin his sophomore year at Texas A&M. Neil is a tuba player in the Aggie band. Bronwyn is an active outdoors enthusiast. She enjoys hiking, biking and paddling. Working part time at the outdoor shop, REI, in Atlanta keeps her up on the latest developments in sports.

Many thanks to everyone who made the 25th reunion so enjoyable! Mary Chapman and Adelaide Sams Probst headed up the committee which included Nan Johnson Tucker and Minnie Bob Mothes Campbell. One highlight of the weekend was the dedication of the Martha Wilson Kessler Dance Studio, established by Martha Wilson Kessler and Richard to enhance the Agnes Scott dance program. Nicki Noel Vaughan graciously opened her home for the cocktail buffet on Saturday night. Lalla Griffis Mangin compiled a directory of interesting information about the class of '69. Those unable to attend the reunion were missed.

The class meeting lasted for most of the afternoon as those attending each gave a brief synopsis of the past 25 years. A new slate of officers was also elected. They include Sarah Gillespie Richardson, president; Prentice Fridy Weldon, vice president; Mary Anne Murphy Hornbuckle, secretary (this class is in a rut!); Minnie Bob Mothes Campbell, reunion chair; and Rosie Wilson Kay, fund chair.

The following information was taken from the reunion booklet compiled by Lalla Mangin, as well as conversations with your secretary.

Carol Blessing Ray did not come to the reunion, but sent word that she is seriously thinking of becoming an electrician or plumber after the remodeling of an addition to her home. She and Bunny Teeple Sheffield keep in touch.

Phyllis Brandon Parker and Ken live in Hobe Sound, Fla., with their four daughters. Phyllis teaches school and has enjoyed trips to London, Paris, the French Riviera and Switzerland.

Catherine Auman DeMaere writes that she has the same husband, children, and home that she did five years ago. She is involved in a Guatemala activist group.

Margaret Barnes Carter stayed with Lalla Griffis Mangin for the reunion, enjoying a few extra days of visiting and sight-seeing.

Carey Burke Jones missed the reunion because of a buying trip to New York. She is the proprietor of Imprints, a shop specializing in personalized stationery, invitations and gifts.

Mary Cappleman Zahl is in Tubingen, Germany, where husband Paul is studying for his doctorate in theology.

Mary Chapman teaches sixth grade at The Children's School, an independent Pre-K-6 school overlooking Piedmont Park in Atlanta.

Chrusanne Chotas O'Neill and Jerry made it to the cocktail buffet. Candy says she is waiting for her youngest daughter to finish high school so she can drop out of society and travel around the world.

As reporter for Minneapolis City Business, a weekly business journal, Sandra Earley covers non-profit organizations, the media, advertising agencies, law firms and occasional education stories. She is married to Phelps Hawkins who just resigned as senior vice president of news for Congratulations to Juliana McKinley Winters, who was honored during Alumnae Weekend for her years of outstanding service to the College!

Jennifer Clinard and George Moore were married on Feb. 14. They eloped to Carmel, Calif., while Jennifer was in the midst of working on the film Murder in the First. For the duration of the project she was called "The Honeymooner."

After seven years in Phoenix, Genie Rankin Sherard and Reid feel almost like natives. Reid is still busy financing fast food restaurants, and Genie is in her 21st year with IBM. Their pride is Reid Jr., almost three years old, who ensures that there is never a dull moment around the house.

After several years as a child and family therapist, Marcia M. McMurray returned to school, studying at Vanderbilt School of Law. She has been practicing law for five and a half years, and is a principal with Bell & Associates, P.C., in Cleveland, Tenn. She returned to Cleveland, her home town, to practice law with her father. In addition to her practice, Marcia is involved in community activities, including the Civitan Club, Boys and Girls Clubs and the Chamber of Commerce.

Susan Mees Hester has been in the Raleigh area at Wake Medical Center for nearly 12 years. She is director of community services. Her son Nathan is 19 and a freshman at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill, where he is a teaching fellow scholar. Sons John Jr. and Andrew, at 12 and 10, are in seventh and fifth grades. Susan has moved to a new home in Cary, N.C.

Marceil Morrell is vice president and general counsel of GTE-Florida. She lives in Tampa, Fla., and Atlanta, Ga.

Mary Beaty Watkins is still teaching high school chemistry in Gwinnett County at Parkview High School, where Shera Hudson teaches biology. Mary's daughter Anna, a junior at Davidson College, is studying for a year in Montpelier, France. Son Jay is a sports enthusiast, specializing in soccer and basketball. Outstanding alumna Virginia Milner Carter '40 is surrounded by friends and classmates at the alumnae luncheon following the annual meeting.

Anne Dillard-McGeoch is back in Atlanta with no plans to move away again. In October, she joined Helen Tyler McFadden '71 and fellow South Carolinians for a nature weekend in Minnesota, complete with snow and a cabin on the lake. Since her move in the summer of 1993, building a house occupied every spare moment. The task was completed, and the entire family came for Christmas.

Virginia Crane Gleser and Robert live and own a shop in Modesto, Calif. They often do craft shows in the Bay Area, where they enjoy sleeping on their new 30-foot sailboat. Her family is very much on the go. Son Brian studies at Modesto Junior College and helps out at craft fairs. Both Eugene and Saul are at the University of California at Santa Cruz. Audrey, a senior in high school, spent last summer in the Dominican Republic learning Spanish and making new friends; and Rosie, a high school sophomore, is also applying to an exchange program. Olivia, a sixth-grade honor student, enjoys composing and playing the piano.

Since Ann Yrwing Hall got an M.A. in library science in 1992, she has done volunteer work at the local public library in Nokomis, Fla. She is also a director of the Friends of the Library board. Sons Christopher, 12, and Philip, 10, play basketball constantly. Along with Alex, 5, they keep Ann busy. She took all three boys to visit her parents in Sweden last summer.

Terri Hearn Bailey is an assistant United States Attorney, representing the federal government in court. However, most of her energies are directed toward her family. With one son and four daughters, there is always something exciting going on. Terri and husband Stan visited with Howard and Mary Ames "Amy" Cooper Dean at Thanksgiving.

Linda Story Lubitz is an investment manager and financial planner in Miami, where she recently started a new firm in partnership with an insurance specialist. Linda is an often-quoted expert on topics ranging from college planning and mortgage refinancing to after-disaster planning. She is director of the Rotary Club of Miami and team captain for the corporate campaign for the Historical Association of Southern Florida.

Paula Wiles Sigmon sends her thanks to all those classmates who responded to her recent request for news. She especially appreciates the news from classmates who signed their postcards! Several left her to play sleuth, studying postmarks, handwriting, children's names—any clues that might reveal whose news was being reported. She hopes she got it all right!

The alumnae office received news that Terry J. Hiers is editor and creative director of the United Methodist Board of Higher Education & Ministry. She edits a magazine for first-year college students. She also went to Zimbabwe in April for the opening of Africa University, the First United Methodist University on the African Continent.

Becky Wilson Mistretta works for the United States Department of Agriculture in New Orleans. On her "off" time she has been taking art classes and following a New Year's resolution to get physically fit.

Cindy Moses NeSmith writes from Livingston, Mont., where her husband, Randy, is working on mine reclamation projects for Hallett Mineral Co. Their four-year-old daughter, Robyn, had a leading role in the 1993 production of "The Nutcracker" for the Yellowstone Ballet. Cindy is actively involved with the Depot Museum in Livingston. Robert Redford's "A River Runs Through It," filmed in Livingston, provided a major fund-raising opportunity for the museum. A new exhibit "Rails across the Rockies," has opened at the museum. Cindy is also secretary for the Montana Museums Association.

Allyn Fine Crosby writes to let everyone know Mary Norfleet is not lost! Dr. Mary Norfleet Megson is alive and well, a pediatrician with four children. Allyn also talked with Charlotte Gillis and Kate Kussrow '77 over the holidays. Allyn has two sons ages 12 and 10 and a daughter Isabel who is 7. Allyn is studying horticulture and landscape design at a local college in Richmond, Va. Hats off to husband Claude and the children who are very helpful around the house so Allyn can study!

Beth Wickenberg Ely is an Episcopal priest living and working in Charlotte, N.C. Beth has two churches and does lots of civic work with battered women and child abuse cases. Beth and husband Duncan have one son, Penn, age 7. Beth writes that there are two other Agnes Scott College graduates who are Episcopal priests in the area: Rachel Fowler Haynes '61 and Julie Cuthbertson Clark '53.

Susan McLarin Caffery married John M. Caffery III on Oct. 7, 1993. Their hobbies include sailing their 20-foot catboat, tennis, swimming and the symphony. Susan's sons, Christopher age 13 and Jonathan age 11, are great! Susan is still teaching chemistry; two of her students really want to go to ASC in the fall. The Cafferys are still in Texas and love the mild weather.

Mary Jones Underwood writes that her husband Paul has been in Okinawa, Japan for six months as part of his duty as a Marine Corps infantry officer—he's a major now. Mary and her two children spent the month of December on Okinawa with him, then they all spent the first week of January in Tokyo.

Lucy Holiday Collins is the mother of four daughters ages 15, 12, 7 and 4, which she considers her greatest achievement and greatest continuing challenge. In an attempt to rise to the challenge, Lucy and her husband along with two other couples have started a school. Covenant Academy is a small school which emphasizes a strong classical approach to academics undergirded by a thorough grounding in the principles of the Christian faith. Lucy feels that this is the same combination which has made Agnes Scott a wonderful college. Lucy's hobbies are gardening, hand-engraving, reading and teaching her daughters to cook and sew.

Lynne Jameson is now living in South Carolina with her 13-year-old son, Brad. Lynne is working with a very exciting company, Corporate Telemangement Group. It is a long distance telephone service where all her years of experience with New York Telephone and AT&T really come in handy.

Rose Ann Cleveland

Fraistat and husband Neil live in University Park, Md. Rosa Ann is executive director of the Concert Society at Maryland (arts presenting organization at the Univ. of Maryland). Neil is a professor of English at the University at Maryland in College Park. Rose Ann and Neil have a daughter 6 and a son 10.

M. A. Bleker writes that her mother died last January ending a torturous year for both. M.A. is busy putting her life back together; she is in a new home in the heart of Midtown and is having a grand and glorious old time.

Denise Hord Mockridge is in the medical technology program at Georgia State University as a full-time student. She feels that somehow it was easier 20 years ago without children. Denise was on CNN as part of a story on older women going back to college.

Melinda "Mindy" Rapp Stuk remains busy with her children Paul, 13; Fred, 10; Elizabeth, 4, and all their corresponding activities; as well as Taz, their yellow Lab (yes it's short for Tasmanian Devil). Husband Stephen is a professor at Emory University and Mindy's mother is now living in Sandy Springs. After moving last May (six miles down the road), Mindy spent a good deal of time and energy re-landscaping and re-doing the new house to make it a home. Rebekah "Becky" Strickland continues to work in Atlanta as an attorney for the Kilpatrick and Cody firm, specializing in estate planning. She has been having fun going to Costa Rica on "birding" trips.

their son, Coleman, age three. She works full-time as a flight attendant for Delta. Paige has been busy with their new house and her position as director of the Meals on Wheels program in Charleston.

Becca Robinson Nichols resides in Columbus, Ga., and is married to Perrin, an attorney. They are raising four boys, ages 2 to 10. Becca spends most of her time acting as a family chauffeur, performing her duties as treasurer for the PTA, and volunteering at their church. In her spare time, she likes to read and work in her garden.

This edition's Profile of Outstanding Classmates goes to Katharine "Kaki" Manning Zeigler. She and her husband Belton are raising three children in Columbia, S.C. Belton is an attorney who specialized in international trade law, until he and Kaki made a family decision to retire from the fast lane. At that time, he went to work for South Carolina Electric and Gas, where he is presently employed. Since graduation, Kaki has had an interesting and varied 15 years, but her most rewarding time has been the long hours as a "stay-at-home Mom." She happily reports the children are now old enough that she is "beginning to see the payoff."

Immediately after graduation, Kaki had a short stint as an interior designer, then went to work with IBM as a troubleshooter for field reps. She has also been employed as a kindergarten teacher and an organizer of corporate conventions and events. Other jobs include teaching computer skills to elementary students and teaching Sunday School.

Much of Kaki's family life has centered around her 6-year-old daughter, who has just completed the last of 10 operations on her hands and feet. It literally has been a lifetime project, with the first operation performed when the child was only 6 weeks old. As a result of these experiences, Kaki and Belton have become involved in Family Connection of South Carolina. This organization matches families who have children with special medical needs with families who have been through a similar experience.

For fun, Kaki spends a month each summer as the assistant program director at Merri-Mac, a girls' camp in the mountains of western North Carolina. When at home, she relaxes in her garden, which must be beautiful now that she has completed the Master Gardener course at Clemson University.

Those are the things Kaki does when she isn't working at her "real job" as volunteer coordinator for the Trinity Housing Corporation. This non-profit corporation was formed by the Mission Committee of Trinity Episcopal Cathedral to provide housing and one-on-one counseling for homeless families. It owns several multi-unit properties where families are given a home while family life advisers teach them skills to live successfully on their own. Kaki loves this difficult but rewarding work because it allows her to "experience the highs and lows of life, the miracles along with the tragedies."

Don't Dare Duggan

ASC ALUMNA COUNTS HER OUTDOOR EXPERIENCES AS A PLUS WITH HER JOB WITH THE SCOUTS . . . "BOY SCOUTS" THAT IS

The things I'm most proud of have originated on a dare," says energetic Duggan Lansing '83, director of public relations for the North Atlanta Council of the Boy Scouts of America. When the Alabama native set out to look for a job in 1985, following a brief and "frightful" foray in retail sales, she caught wind of the Scouts job.

"I was interviewing with an ad agency and asked them what type of volunteer work they did. The interviewer said they did some work for the Boy Scouts. He paused and said, 'They're looking to hire a PR person, but never mind, they're looking for a bright young man with a journalism background.' That was all it took," remembers Lansing, "I felt I'd been dared."

To apply for the job, she took her first name, Nancy, off her résumé. "I made Agnes Scott College as small a type as possible, and listed every outdoor experience I ever had," explains the tall, rangy woman who has climbed Mount Rainier, run five marathons, and done her share of skiing, rafting and SCUBA diving. "I was set afire by the fact that they thought only a male with a journalism major could do the job." Competing with three men, Lansing began a push for the PR job, chipping away at management's resistance, arguing: "I may not be an Eagle Scout; I may not be a journalism major, but I can write; and I have an objective view of the Scouts."

She sold them. "When I started out eight years ago, my job was strictly communications and public relations," Duggan says. "Right now, 50 percent of my job is public relations and the other 50 percent is fund-raisers. Each year I've asked for a little more . . . a piece of a banquet . . . the annual golf tournament."

This summer Duggan and her husband, John, who also works for the Scouts, spent eight weeks in Blairsville, Ga., at scout camp. Duggan was the business manager.

"She has been a tremendous asset to the scouting movement," says Penny Jones, director of support services for the Atlanta Area Council, "and she brings a fresh approach to it. She hit the ground running."

VOLUNTEER LIFE

When Duggan isn't promoting the Boy Scouts or planning her next adventure, she and John volunteer. She spends one night a month at a women's shelter; together they spend frequent Sunday mornings preparing breakfast for the homeless at First Presbyterian Church of Atlanta. Duggan is also active in the Junior League of Atlanta, recently organizing the entire recycling effort for Super Bowl 1994. "I think the Junior League needs more women who have climbed mountains and run marathons. I think it's full of women who can but haven't."

The never-say-dare Lansing leans forward to listen carefully to questions before answering with candor, her expressive hands punctuating responses. Her husband is gentle stillness and strength, the perfect foil for her spark and hyperactivity. Explaining his wife's appetite for adventure, John says, "She does the things she does because she is absolutely terrified of being vanilla."

Whatever her choices, they have never been boring.

The Mount Rainier climb, instigated in 1987, included Lansing and five companions who were part of a group of two dozen climbers. They covered 10,000 feet up the slope the first day. After eating an early dinner, the guides sent everyone to bed to resume climbing early the next morning. They slept on shelves (three to a shelf) built in the wall of a "smokehouse-type building—it smelled like dirty, old socks."

The next day, a guide monitoring the health of Lansing and the others, thought Lansing showed signs of altitude sickness. Lansing rallied, continued the climb, and was on the first rope team that took the summit later that day. "I ran across the crater to the box [where a log book of climbers' name is kept], exhausted but adrenaline pumping, and signed the book. I dedicated the climb to Mama. I think I spent most of the descent sliding down on my butt." Within hours she was planning her next challenge—a marathon.

CHALLENGING LIFE

Lansing's sense of adventure grew, in part, out of her rural upbringing on her family's Midway Plantation, a working farm named for its position on the Alabama River midway between Mobile and Montgomery. There, near the town of Catherine, Nancy Duggan Childers learned to drive by age 11, "as soon as I understood about shifting gears and could see over the steering wheel"; command the family workhorse, Dammit; hunt alongside her father; and water ski on the bordering river.

Perhaps it was also this upbringing that prepared her for the challenges of her junior year of high school.

She attended Chatham Hall, a girls' boarding school in Danville, Va., and that fall her mother died. Suddenly Lansing was forced to handle homesickness and grief. She remembers being propelled through the period by a larger-than-life teacher—Claudia Gallant.

ASC alumna Lansing faces challenges, from marathons to fund-raisers, with spirit and humor. "She is absolutely terrified of being vanilla."

"She looked like Mama Cass Elliott and put a new perspective on everything. This is a woman who described drinking a flat Coke and made it sound like an out-of-body experience."

She encouraged the students to keep journals and make lists of outlandish things they wanted to do before the end of time. Climbing a mountain, going on an Outward Bound trip, running a marathon and having twins were all on Lansing's list. So far she's done all of these, except the twins. While Duggan and John are expecting their first child in October, they haven't given up on the notion of twins in the future.

The wish list grows and certainly Lansing hopes to greet each challenge with the spirit and humor that she did in her first Atlanta marathon. "I kept looking behind me every couple of miles and saw this woman. She was at least 70 years old, white hair, wearing support hose and tube socks. She paced me for at least 13 miles and finally stopped to go to the bathroom," Lansing laughs. "I didn't stop. I was not gonna let her pass me."

By all counts, the 10-year reunion this past April was a wonderful success! Many thanks to Sue Feese and Mary Ellen Huckabee, who served as reunion coordinators. Also, many thanks to outgoing class officers: Betsy Shaw Brown, president; Leslie Lyons Watkins, vice president; and Betsy Benning, fund chair.

Both Friday night at Manuel's Tavern and the reception Saturday night in Rebekah turned out to be great times for old friends to get re-acquainted. The class meeting Saturday afternoon helped everyone share the pain of losing our beloved classmate Peggy Schweers as well as honor the memory of Beth Finklea Freeman's son with the planting of a special tree.

Beth wrote: "David and I would like to thank each and every one of you for the memorial you made possible for our son Hugh. A tree is a wonderful way to celebrate the short life that he had. The tree will grow to give shade to Agnes Scott friends and students. Agnes Scott is a very special place to me and you are all very special people."

Other class news reported recently includes the following:

Nancy Griffith Lewis reports that she had a great time at the reunion and that 1984 is the best class. Nancy says that the class has so much diversity and so many genuinely nice people that it's too bad everyone does not see each other but once every five years!

Joy Johnson made it onto the dean's list in the school of graduate studies and helped construct an experiment that flew on Shuttle mission STS-62 this past March.

Ann Weaver reports she will be training teachers in the curriculum that is written and tested at University Laboratory School. She is also teaching seventh-to ninth-grade science. Ann hopes to be in graduate school at the University of Hawaii, and if that doesn't work out she'll be on her way to Alaska in 1995. For fun, Ann is learning to be a goalie on her soccer team, "The Buzz." Guess how she came up with that name!

Your class secretary thanks you for the privilege of serving the class these last five years. She has truly enjoyed receiving and compiling everyone's news and also appreciates the opportunity to serve as the next class president with Sissie Owen MacFie, vice president; Karen Young, secretary; and Meg Jenkins Locke, fund chair. Thanks to Meg, who helped raise the class participation percentage in the Annual Fund campaign during Alumnae Weekend; she collected over $500 from those attending the reunion.

The alumnae office received the following news:

Linda Newland Soltis was promoted to director of public relations at Greater Buffalo Partnership in Buffalo, N.Y. Her public relations duties will be in addition to her work in the area of regional marketing, which she assumed last May.

Allison Jean Boyce will graduate from the University of Arkansas and work in the corporate department at Troutman-Sanders.

Elizabeth F. Stevenson '85 has been named director of corporate communications for Sales Technologies, Inc. (STI), a wholly owned subsidiary of The Dun and Bradstreet Corp., where she is responsible for creating and implementing all public relations activities for the Atlanta-based sales force automation company.

Prior to joining STI, Stevenson was director of public relations for another Atlanta sales and marketing software company where she worked for five years.

Stevenson is a recipient of a Phoenix Award Certificate of Excellence, from the Georgia Chapter of the Public Relations Society of America (PRSA). Stevenson is a member of PRSA and the National Investor Relations Institute.

bara "Eileen" Altman. She traveled to the Washington, D.C., area; Huntsville, Ala.; Santa Cruz, Calif.; Atlanta; Pensacola, Fla.; and Jamaica. She also went to Turkey to visit her brother and his family. In addition to her work with the county mental health department, she's been volunteering with the Chicago Women's AIDS Project.

Just before Christmas 1993 Sarah Bell Meekhof, husband John and daughter Erin took a two-week mission trip to Cameroon in West Africa, where they visited John's sister and her family. The Meekhofs live in upstate New York.

Virginia "Ginger" Thompson Jablonski gave up her paying job to stay at home with daughter Kate, born Aug. 28, 1993. Ginger and Mike had a visit last fall with Elizabeth "Libba" Boyd Kellner, Scott and their two children, Ben and Annie. During the past year, Ginger served on the alumnae awards committee for Agnes Scott. (Your secretary's mother was on the committee, too, and really enjoyed getting to know another of her daughter's classmates!)

Bradie Barr is now a published author. Last summer she published an article titled "Active Management of Short-Term Portfolios" in the Journal of

Cash Management. It even mentioned her Agnes Scott education—what advertising! Bradie is director of investment operations for Capital Holding Corp in Louisville, Ky.

David and Cindy McGee Hitt are now settled in Panama, where David is stationed with the Army. They will be there for the next three years. Cindy reports the palm trees are 30 to 60 feet tall, the flowers are beautiful and the weather is always warm. Sounds like paradise!

Marietta, GA 30060

The class of '89 had a great five-year reunion over the April 29-May 1 weekend. More than 40 classmates attended the events that were held over the three days. Cindy Franks did an excellent job organizing the reunion, and Shannon Gibbs Gasaway created great T-shirts to commemorate the event. Those who couldn't attend were greatly missed.

The festivities began on Friday night with a get-together at Rio Bravo in Buckhead. On Saturday the class attended the annual meeting of the Alumnae Association, had lunch under a tent on the quad, and held the class meeting in Buttrick. The highlight of the weekend was a great party at Eddie's Attic in Decatur. A new slate of officers was elected at the meeting. Congratulations to Jennifer Rozelle, president; Carolyn Weaver, vice president; Louisa Parker, secretary/treasurer; Cindy Franks, reunion chair; and Crystal Collis, Kathryn Deane Chambless, Jill Jordan, and Alisa Duffey Rogers, fund chairs.

Dee Agee got engaged in March and bought a house in New Jersey.

Jeanne Bressoud has been busy chasing around her one-year-old son.

Felerese Bradshaw Carroll and Elsa Jann Newman write that "no news is good news!"

Kathryn Deane Chambless married Larry Chambless in January 1994. In April they sold their house in Grant Park and were looking for a new place.

Crystal Collis is finishing her dissertation and will be an assistant professor at Reinhardt College beginning this fall. She has been teaching at the University of Georgia in Athens for the past five years in the English department.

Gwen Garrity's son William will be celebrating his second birthday in September. Gwen writes that she enjoyed the reunion, getting re-acquainted with classmates and having fun showing off her son! She hopes to teach pre-school in the fall.

Susie Rights Gatland is on a steering committee for a June fund-raising polo tournament for the American Heart Association. She also enjoys volunteering for the Atlanta Humane Society.

Conchi Gonzalez received her master of social work from Catholic University, Washington, D.C. in May 1993. She is currently working in Washington as a bilingual special education social worker in public schools. Her middle school has a high client population of children from Central America.

Jill Jordan lives in Boulder, Colo., and works in the MacLaren/Markowitz Gallery, which sells fine art. She is active in a variety of sports—hiking, biking and rock climbing.

Dolly Purvis is still working for the Decatur-DeKalb News Era. Her responsibilities have broadened. Dolly writes, "Instead of just writing sports, I am also the paper's social editor (please hold the laughter). This means I cover garden clubs and wrestling in the same day." Dolly also writes, "Still married; still three dogs."

Shari Ramcharan will finish her master's degree in marine biology in July. She married Matt Brady in June. In August they will move to Winston-Salem, N.C., where Shari will work at the Bowman-Gray School of Medicine and Matt will begin a Ph.D. program.

Mandy Roberts writes that it was great to see and catch up with everyone at the reunion.

Sharon Tiller recently bought her first house in Alpharetta, Ga. Sharon now has a niece, a nephew and two young cousins. She writes that "there are plenty of babies around, so there's no pressure on me from my parents!" Sharon works for a German-based company, Siemens, and may have the opportunity to work in Germany for a while. She visited Ireland for a month last year and had a wonderful time.

Carolyn Weaver finished her MBA at Emory Business School this May. She writes that "changes are ahead for me—I'm not exactly sure what!"

Shelby Threlkel Weisberg and her husband, James, are moving to Long Island, where they have just bought their first house.

Seminary in Louisville, Ky.

Kim Lamkin married Rus Drew on Jan. 22. (Yes, the ASC Rus!) Andrea Johnson Swilley, Allena Bowen Owen and Teresa Ramirez Dore served as bridesmaids. Other Scotties in attendance were Claire West, Tracy Perry and Dolly Purvis '89. Kim and Rus honeymooned in the Caribbean and now live in a College house on E. Hancock Street. Kim and her boss recently won two prestigious public relations awards in her job at Ogilvie and Mather Advertising. Congratulations!

Tracy Perry married ASC sweetheart Ian Willoughby on May 7. Claire West and Jennifer Boyd Miller served as bridesmaids. Sharon Murphy, Wendy Worthy, Leigh Echols, Michelle McGinnis Robinson '88 and Stephanie Wallace '91 also enjoyed the big bash. Tracy's grandmother, Martie Doak Michael '42x, was a beautiful grandmother of the bride! Tracy and Ian honeymooned in San Francisco and now live in the Brookhaven Post development.

Claire West has recently begun a second career as a Bodywise International consultant. Good luck to Claire in her new business venture.

Please notice your secretary's new address and SEND SOME NEWS! Your secretary wants to know what everyone is doing so planning can begin for the five-year reunion!

The alumnae office received news that Sanjukta Shams completed her master's in religion at Florida State University in 1993.

Pamela Clemmons Kidd is a research assistant for the U.S. Senate Armed Services Committee, and is about to complete her M.A. at Georgetown University.

Michele Barard-Mehrtens lives in Virginia, just outside Washington, D.C., with her husband, Nick, and daughter, Marina Renee, who was born Thanksgiving Day 1992. She has made a career shift into computer graphics.

Carol Duke Rymer and husband Charlie, a professional golfer who played on the Nike tour, live in Atlanta with their two "babies," Bobo, a Welsh corgi, and Pluto, an Italian greyhound. Carol graduated from Emory University with a master's degree in public health/public policy and management, and works for Nix, Mann & Associates architectural firm as a medical facility planner and research specialist.

Jennifer Pearson is a first-year law student at Georgetown University Law Center.

Jennifer Seebode married Rick Day on March 19 in Memphis. Denice Dresser Arnold traveled from San Diego with her baby, Ashley, to be a bridesmaid in the wedding, which Mary Mathewes Kassis and Michelle Roberts also attended. Both newlyweds serve in the Air Force.

Melanie Mortimer is still living in Tokyo, Japan, where she is in her second and final year of a master's program focusing on management and communications. She is also working as a free-lance writer and editor for Tokyo Journal, a monthly magazine. In her spare time, Melanie is taking advantage of the international environment: attending U.N. conferences, working with her adviser as an "intercultural trainer" for businesspeople preparing for overseas travel, learning Japanese, and volunteering for an AIDS/HIV English hotline.

Cara Cassell is still teaching English at Decatur High School, where she has found herself teaching drama as well. Cara says that, luckily, she has taken one acting class to prepare for this new role. She reports that Chrissie Lewandowski is completing her teaching certificate at Georgia State University and living in Decatur with Wendy McLean. Also, Kim Kizirian recently married her longtime boyfriend.

The alumnae office received news that Sarah Ann McMillan finished her master's degree in health science, and is residing in sunny Savannah. "I am still unemployed!" she exclaims.

SECRETARY

Mary Williams
150 Sussex Club Drive, #17
Athens, GA 30606

Since our class secretary was busy getting married this spring, President Amy Higgins took the responsibility of relaying our class news.

Mary Williams married Russell Smith April 30 in Brunswick, Ga. Mary also completed her master's degree in social work from the University of Georgia this past spring. Mary and Rusty are residing in Toccoa, Ga.

Rita Ganey married Keith Devlin on June 18 at the Houston Mill House in Atlanta. Classmates Sandee McGlaun and Laura Shaeffer Gray were bridesmaids.

Vanessa Elliott married Mark Goggans May 22, 1993. They are living in Norcross, and Vanessa has one more year of study left at the University of Georgia Law School.

After transferring our sophomore year, Stephanie Keller attended Austin Peay State University in Tennessee and graduated with a double major in fine arts and Spanish. She is currently in graduate school in southern Mexico at the Autonomous University of the State of Morelos.

Cindy Dunn and Stan Silvert were married on Nov. 21, 1992. ASC bridesmaids included Amy Higgins, Regan Cone, and Alyson Bunnell '94. Cindy and Stan recently bought a house in Stockbridge and enjoyed returning to Georgia after living a short time in Texas. Cindy enrolled at Georgia State last fall to begin working on her master's degree in history.

Amy Higgins completed a master's degree in mass communications with a concentration in public relations from the Grady College of Journalism and Mass Communications at the University of Georgia. She was inducted into Phi Kappa Phi this past spring.

Brooke Price married Dr. David Francis Kane Aug. 21, 1993. They now reside in Neuchatel, Switzerland.

Congratulations to Jessica Carey, who received a scholarship to attend law school this fall at Duke University. She and husband Johnny, an organizer for the Teamsters Union, moved last month to be closer to the Duke campus.

Mary Claire Myers King married Pascal Berger June 14, 1993 in Paris. She is now working as a marketing and communications assistant for Seagate Technology in Paris. Her job involves travel in Europe, Africa and the Middle East. She says she would be thrilled to see classmates if they happen to visit Paris. Mary Claire also reports that Donna Kimball is working in Atlanta as a paralegal. Donna plans to attend graduate school in English, and visit Mary Claire in Paris.

Janessa DeFrees has been accepted to Mercer University's Doctor of Pharmacy program and will begin classes in September. She says she's excited to move from Cocoa Beach, Fla., back to Atlanta.

Barbie Stitt is now working for the state of Georgia as an environmental specialist. She also has a new home in Lawrenceville, Ga.

The alumnae office received news that Faith St. Michaels had a benign brain tumor, and recovered from surgery at Cobb General Hospital in late March. Doctors expect no impairment.

News From The Classes of the 1930s

TRAVEL, ANNIVERSARIES, AWARDS DOMINATE NEWS FROM THE CLASSES

Ooops! Main Events whizzed right through the Roaring Twenties and jumped to the Fabulous Forties in the August edition, completely leaving out the Class News from the 1930s. We regret the error and any disappointment or inconvenience it may have caused the members of the classes from that decade. The error was detected when the August edition arrived in the publications office. This special printing was assembled, printed and mailed as quickly as possible after that discovery.

The class members who attended the 60th reunion had a wonderful time! There were 18 from the class of '34 at the general alumnae meeting on Saturday morning, April 30, who were surprised to learn that the class had the highest dollar gift for the Annual Fund this year—over $87,000! Nineteen attended the Fifty Year Club luncheon and 21 were at the wine and cheese party.

That Saturday, Class President Louise McCain Boyce conducted the class business meeting held at the Alumnae House after lunch. The slate of officers, including Nelle Chamlee Howard and Mary Sloan Laird, co-presidents, Bella Wilson Lewis, secretary, and Eleanor Williams Knox, fund chair was unanimously elected.

Louise made the announcement that the Mary McDonald Sledd memorial-in-progress fund had reached the $3000-plus mark. The fund will be used to purchase library books for students preparing for a teaching degree in early childhood education, since Mary had an outstanding career as director of the Decatur Presbyterian Church Pre-School.

Jean Gould Clarke has moved from her West Palm Beach, Fla., home to Knoxville, Tenn., where her two sons and their families live. Another son and his family live in Nashville. She took a trip to Hong Kong this spring with a daughter-in-law. Three of her granddaughters graduated, from the University of Vermont, University of Georgia and Vanderbilt; one granddaughter is at Florida State; one granddaughter is in fourth grade; and one grandson is a high school freshman.

Tennessee Tipton Butler

says, "In spite of some physical difficulties and some forgetfulness, I'm doing fine and am happy to be coming to our reunion."

Charlotte Reid Herlihy sends a big hug to everyone and is looking forward to reading news of the reunion in Main Events.

Plant Ellis Brown writes that being old is no picnic! She still travels on some escorted tours.

Bella Wilson Lewis lodged a Scott Free Year-5 student in her guest room this year. She says her student is thoughtful, quiet, independent, and fun to know.

Sara May Love writes, "I am ten years older than the last reunion, and in spots it hurts and in others it shows. Praise the Lord for Rogaine—it really works. I have been on Elderhostel trips and have stayed at bed and breakfast places. The Baptist Church, only two blocks away, still keeps me busy. I like to read about my fellow survivors."

Nelle Chamlee Howard writes: "My 65 years of gardening pleasure are demanding a price, and I'm having my second hip replacement April 12. I'll probably have to celebrate in the rehab center where they teach you to dress yourself and walk again." Lucia Howard Sizemore '65 (Nelle's daughter and Agnes Scott alumnae director) says that Nelle was allowed to go home from the rehab center the Saturday of Alumnae Week and is doing well at home.

Carolyn Russell Nelson has just returned from Spokane, Wash., where she took care of her son's children while her daughter-in-law was having surgery. She returned home in time to prepare for their annual house party at Historical Russell House in Winder, Ga. Her guests included Helen Boyd McConnell, Mary Grist Whitehead, Johnnie Mae York Rumble, Elizabeth Johnson Thompson and Martha England Gunn.

Martha England Gunn shared a letter she received from Sybil Grant's sister about Sybil's death. Sybil joined the Navy when WWII started and had an outstanding career for 26 years, rising to the rank of commander when she retired. Her distinguished service earned her the Legion of Merit Award.

Kathryn Maness Nelson enjoyed a visit from her son and his family this spring. Her two little granddaughters enjoyed the Atlanta Zoo, Fernbank Science Center and other sites at Atlanta History Center.

The class was saddened to hear that Edith Kendrick Osmanski died in June of cancer.

Marjorie Tindall Clark has traveled recently around the United States and to China. She enjoys staying active with senior citizen groups.

Sarah Austin Zorn recently had hip surgery and is rehabilitating in Albany, Ga. She writes that her grandson, George Zorn III "Trip" was married by his grandfather, "Daddy George." Sarah's husband, George Zorn Jr., supervised the 10 grandchildren at the wedding, even three-year-old Susannah!

At the end of the class meeting, Lucy Goss Herbert read the class history she wrote for the 50th reunion in 1984. As on the previous reading, it was hilarious! Several asked how many of the class had died over the years, and the statistics are as follows: 28 deceased, addresses of six lost, 21 attended the reunion, and 33 were unable to attend, which makes up the total of 88.

Your secretary has loved all 10 years of writing class news for Main Events. Be loyal to the new secretary, Bella Wilson Lewis, and surprise her with news of your activities.

Laura Whitner Dorsey continues to work vigorously for Gardens for Peace, a non-profit organization created to promote international gardens as symbols of peace. Laura and her daughter, Laura Dorsey Rains '66, helped establish the Agnes Scott Garden for Peace. Laura was also active in organizing "The Gardens of Autumn," a tour of six outstanding Atlanta gardens, and a spring symposium of English landscape gardening. Both events were sponsored by GFP.

Sarah Cook Thompson writes from Beaverton, Ore., that "other than celebrating our 57th wedding anniversary at a lovely dinner and dance party at a hotel in Portland, we live quietly." Sarah works in her church and teaches Sunday School. She likes to garden, read and enjoy music and her family. She and Herbert have two daughters, 10 grandchildren, and 11 great-grandchildren.

Fidesah Edwards Alexander, in Chattanooga, says she is looking forward to the 60th reunion in 1995. She still drives, but takes a helping driver on long trips like the one to Texas in January. Fidesah sold her small farm in Georgia in March. Of her eight grandchildren, two have finished college in Texas. Three are in college in Kentucky and North Carolina, and one in Kentucky finishes his internship at the University of Louisville in May.

Betty Lou Houck Smith lives now in Ooltewah, Tenn., which means "owl's nest." She sends a vivid account of her recent history: "I'm glad to see 1993 fade away into the ages past. In September I slipped on an overly-waxed floor and broke two ribs. In November, I 'met up' with a Tennessee flu-like germ with which I was unfamiliar, and it wiped me out for five weeks. It prevented my attendance at a granddaughter's wedding in Atlanta. During the last months of 1993, I felt like an old rotten cantaloupe. Am fine now, hitting my stride again, albeit not as long a stride as formerly. Had a telephone visit with Jane Goodwin Harbin (Rome, Ga.) in November. We both swore that we would get together in 1994."

The sons of Alice McCallie Pressly and Bill follow the footsteps of their educating family. William Jr., professor of art history at the University of Maryland, has also been a visiting professor at Princeton University this past year. Son Paul is headmaster and president of the Savannah Country Day School in Savannah. Alice and Bill fill their time with church leadership, attending lectures, reading and enjoying friends at Lenbrook Square.

Shirley Christian Ledgerwood is writing a biography of Catherine Marshall LeSourd, who was her roommate at ASC. The class watched with interest and pride the television production of Christy, based on Catherine's novel about her mother's teaching experiences in the Tennessee mountains.

Mary Richardson Gauthier and her husband enjoy living on the 12th floor of a retirement community in Falls Church, Va. They overlook the Washington Monument and National Cathedral. After earning a master's degree at Vassar, Mary supervised 36 Work Progress Administration nursery schools, forerunner of Head Start. Mary and her husband traveled extensively while he was engaged in foreign aid programs. They lived in Turkey for two years during which Mary learned the language.

Mary Potts received a master's degree at Tulane and was a medical social worker in Atlanta. She loves living in a cottage at the Pines in her native North Carolina near Davidson. A niece's husband teaches at Davidson, and Mary enjoys many of the activities there. She attends the same church as Sam Spencer, brother of Sarah Spencer Gramling. Spencer is on the search committee for choosing the next ASC president.

Loraine Smith McMaster has retired from her career in social work but continues in that field as a volunteer, working with preschool children, and in a program for preventing AIDS. She often hears from children she helped to find foster homes; her volunteer work helps ward off loneliness since the death of her husband.

Mary Vines Wright and Corley have a daughter who lives in France, and a son who lives in Decatur, Ala. Mary's husband reports that Mary is still beautiful.

Jane Blick Meatyard is writing a children's story based on happenings at Tall Timbers, her Maryland recreation place.

Frances James Donohue has traveled recently in the South, attending a family reunion and the christening of her sister's grandchild, and visiting a number of relatives in South Carolina. In connection with the 50th anniversary of D-Day, several letters written by Frances' brother during World War II were published in the Atlanta Constitution.

Rosa From Poliakoff still enjoys running her department store in Abbeville, S.C. Her daughter, Doris Poliakoff Feinsilber '63, has been working for Civil Service in Washington, D.C., for six years. Rosa traveled extensively in 1993, but has been at home this year.

Floyd Butler Goodson and her husband are grateful to be as well as they are right now, although Floyd has had some serious health problems.

Dean McKoin Bushong has made a remarkable recovery from a stroke. Her husband, Millard, died suddenly, July 9.

Sara Cureton Prowell and her husband live in the farm house which has been theirs since 1950. They still have their garden and tractor, but farm no more and have sold all their cows. They have two sons and six grandchildren.

Mildred Clark Sargent and Jim will attend a 50-year reunion of surviving officers of Jim's 14th Air Force Fighter Squadron, the 528th, which served with distinction in China during World War II. Jim is working with a Peking professor in the compilation of a list of pilots killed in action, whose names will be included on a monument that the Chinese are erecting in Nanking.

Harris Jones at "Iona Place," the Jones cottage there.

For Alumnae Weekend Eula Turner Kuchler was able to come from Raleigh, N.C., having made a good recovery from a broken hip last year. Also able to be on campus was Marie Stalker Smith, whose walking tour met with frequent interruptions as so many former students from Westminster Schools recognized and greeted her. She still teaches there, and hopes to return this summer to Cambridge, England, to take some classes. Marie reports that Mary Kneale Avrett is quite ill.

The class has worked its way to front row seats in Presser now during Alumnae Weekend, and at the Fifty Year Club dinner '37ers filled a table. In addition to Eula and Marie, attendees were Frances Steele Garrett and husband Franklin, Jane Estes and sister Sara, and Florence and Fannie B. They were joined by a student, Vivi Jarrett, who had done a marketing internship (carpets, of course) while staying in Fannie B.'s home in Dalton, Ga.

Lillian Whitehurst Corbett lives in Marshall, N.C., with a son and a daughter close by. Her last two grandchildren are in colleges both within the state. Lillian stays busy with the League of Women Voters, her church, and several clubs. In fact she was so busy she failed to sign her news reply postcard and it took some detective work on the part of the Asheville alumnae to find who had written.

Alice Hannah Brown has a new residence in Haverford, Pa.

Ola Kelly Ausley writes that Ellen Little Lesesne was honored recently at the annual Williamsburg County Chamber of Commerce banquet as Humanitarian of the Year for her work in organizing hospice in Williamsburg County. "I want all of ASC to know of Ellen's honor," Ola writes, "because she did it all from the very beginning, and it took hours of work—getting it started, getting people, getting it certified, and then celebrating." Ola also forwarded a newspaper photo and article of the event for the class scrapbook.

A surprise call from Anne Wheaton Bower described her experience of the California earthquake in Santa Monica. She said it was like a "giant shaking your bed at 4 a.m." Although the only damages to their home were to the brickwork, chimney, and plaster, their much-treasured cat is still in shock. At first they couldn't get her out of the house, and now they can't get the cat back in! Anne says although they were 12 miles from the fault, there were over 4,000 aftershock waves, some of them registered 4 or 5 on the Richter Scale.

Nell Allison Sheldon plans to attend the China Reunion for former Presbyterian Missionaries and their families. The reunion, sponsored by Columbia Seminary's exchange program with the China Christian Council and Nanjing Seminary, will take place Oct. 14-16. Bishop K.H. Ting, president of the China Christian Council, will be the keynote speaker. Ting will bring greetings from the Christians of China, and express his appreciation for the honorees who labored for so many years. Nell will help round up the "Mish Kids"!

Winnie Kellersberger Vass has suffered from a foot infection, slipped disk, and inflammatory problems that required nine weeks of treatments. She says the "one-horse shay is falling apart, but the life and spirit inside still chomp at the bit!" Winnie has formed a prayer group to pray for the selection of Agnes Scott's new president. Both Winnie and her husband, Lachland, are working on or have completed books. Winnie's The African Heritage of American English, published by the Indiana University Press, is still considered one of the major contributions to the study of Africanisms in the United States, and Lachland's The Lapsley Saga is almost completed. The saga describes the story of Samuel N. Lapsley and the two "paddle-wheelers" which Lach's father built for the American Presbyterian Congo pioneering mission.

Frances Lee sends word from San Diego that she still travels. In June 1993 she visited the Black Hills of South Dakota, the Rockies, Durango and Mesa Verde, Colo. In October she joined the Smithsonian Odyssey Tour to Malta and Sicily, where, by the way, she says the cappuccino is superb. In February she traveled by train through the famous Copper Canyon in Mexico.

Lettie McKay VanLandingham writes, "We are busier (retired) than when we were working!" She and her husband keep the music library at their church, sing in the choir, help with the retired teachers organization and manage trips to Australia and New Zealand as well as attending an Elderhostel near Kennesaw Mountain, Ga.

Mildred Davis Harding writes from St. Petersburg, Fla., that she is busy putting her papers in order and gathering an ASC file.

Notice has been received of the death of Sara Ruth Arechavala Tyler. The husbands of Kennon Henderson Douglas and Effie Anthony Chenault have also passed away.

Alumnae Weekend came and went with 55th reunion festivities for the class of '39. Cora Kay Hutchins Blackwelder and the alumnae office did a superb job of planning and directing the class's activities. Some of the memorable moments were: classes on Friday with the students, a luncheon honoring award winning alumnae, a dinner for the Fifty Year Club on Friday and a luncheon on Saturday, a wine and cheese party and patio party on Friday and Saturday, a brunch and reception on Saturday for President Ruth Schmidt, the general meeting of the Alumnae Association, and an alumnae worship service on Sunday in the lovely little Mary West Thatcher Chapel in Alston Campus Center (the old gym) followed by the brunch for alumnae and granddaughters of the College.

At the class meeting and reunion dinner, Dorothy Lazenby Stipe displayed a poster she had made which was inscribed with the names of 34 deceased classmates.

Dorothy Lazenby Stipe has been elected president; Mary Frances Thompson, vice president; Elinor Tyler Richardson, secretary; and Lelia Carson Watlington, fund chair.

Emma McMullen Doom helped on the reunion committee, but was not able to attend the reunion because she and Jim were moving that weekend to Highland Farms, a retirement community in Black Mountain, N.C., where they have a number of friends.

This column is your class secretary's last communiqué as secretary, a position she has held for five years. Thanks to each of you who sent news. Take care, and keep well. See you five years from now at the 60th reunion!

Remembering 1993-94

IN A YEAR OF CHANGE, AS AGNES SCOTT BEGINS TO REDEFINE ITS ROLE AS A WOMEN'S COLLEGE

For Agnes Scott College, the 1993-94 school year was a year of transition and a year of development. President Ruth Schmidt, after more than a decade of leadership, retired and a search committee began the task of replacing her. Numerous guests on campus added insight and texture to students' lives and education. The College was recognized nationally by several publications. And faculty, in the intimate campus atmosphere, continued to inspire and encourage students. Here is a brief, chronological look at the year's highlights.

JULY

1—Market value of the College endowment reaches $204.6 million; the College receives a "AA-" rating from Standard & Poors and an "Aa" rating from Moody's Investors Service. ASC is placed among the nation's elite education institutions in credit ratings.
10—Ayse Carden '66, professor of psychology, completes her guest lectures at Kinjo Gakuin University as part of the exchange program between the Japanese institution and Agnes Scott.

AUGUST

18—Six students complete degree requirements for the Master of Arts in Teaching Secondary English, the first master's degrees awarded by ASC.
27—In the class of 1997, two newcomers, Anne Mitchell and Susan Molinaro, are fourth-generation Scotties.
31—Six hundred students enroll for the fall semester, including 27 graduate students and 22 Scott-Free Year 5 students. Three of the graduate students are men—the first admitted to a degree program at ASC. Students find a renovated bookstore, a renovated snack bar and a meal card system instituted by the new food service company, ARA Services.

SEPTEMBER

Money Guide, produced by Money magazine, ranks Agnes Scott 65th on its list of 100 best buys in college education in the country. This is up from 80th in 1992 and 86th in 1991.
6—Jocelyn de la Cruz, associate professor of history at Trinity College of Quezon City, Philippines, arrives on campus to spend the academic year at ASC.
7—Kyoko Fujimori, professor of English at Kinjo Gakuin University, becomes the third faculty member to teach at ASC as part of the faculty exchange program between the College and its sister institution in Nagoya, Japan.
7—President Ruth Schmidt announces her retirement, effective June 30, 1994, following a Board of Trustees resolution affirming her presidency and calling for a significant academic review.

18—At the Alumnae Association's Annual Alumnae Leadership Conference, the Alumnae Garden is dedicated as the first collegiate "Garden for Peace."
20—The annual U.S. News & World Report ranking of colleges and universities again lists Agnes Scott in Quartile Two of the national liberal arts colleges.
22—Mexican writers Silvia Molina and Maria Luisa Puga, guests of the Cultural Olympiad, participate in the CHIMO Convocation, an event that highlights ethnic diversity at the College.

OCTOBER

1—Virginia Moreland, former head of reference at Georgia State University, joins ASC as College librarian. She replaces Judith Jensen, who retired in June.
8—Barro Rojo, Mexico's premier contemporary dance company, offers a master class sponsored by ASC and the Cultural Olympiad. The ensemble's performance in Gaines Auditorium is the first in a series of Festivals of the Americas.
15—As part of the Information Technology Enhancement Program (ITEP), the Mac Lab—with eight new Macintosh computers and other equipment—opens in Dana 215. Additional upgrades include a new IBM-compatible computer system for students and a 22-station interactive learning center in Buttrick Hall.
29—The Department of Theatre and Dance announces the residency of internationally recognized choreographer Jane Comfort. Comfort choreographs a new piece for the Studio Dance Theatre, which premieres April 21-22, 1994, in the production Danceexpressions '94.

NOVEMBER

1—The Office of Admission hosts Great

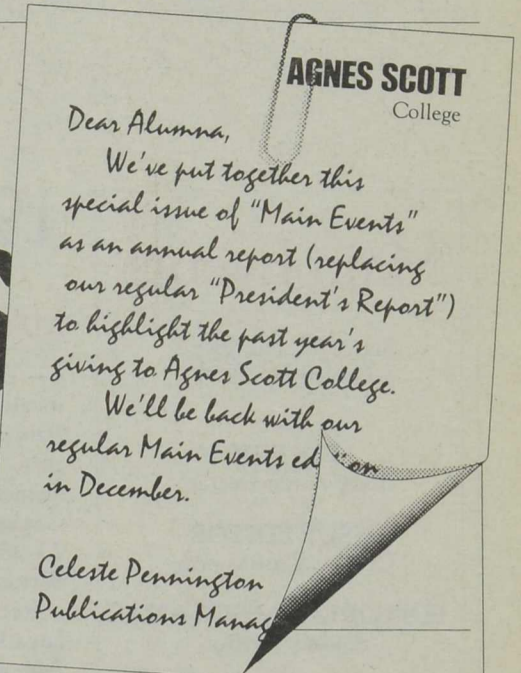

Scott! Agnes Scott's largest fall overnight event for high school juniors and seniors taking a closer look at ASC.
20—Agnes Scott's Chapter of the National Coalition Building Institute (NCBI) hosts the Decatur Cluster of the Atlanta Project for diversity training.
30—Bonnie Johnson, vice president of development and public affairs, leaves Agnes Scott. Effective Jan. 1, 1994, she becomes executive director for development and assistant dean of the Emory School of Medicine.

DECEMBER

1—Vice President for Business and Finance William Gailey assumes the duties of acting vice president for development and public affairs.
6—The Strategic Plan Monitoring and Revision Committee holds its organizational meeting. The goal of the committee is to make planning an ongoing process rather than a series of one-time efforts. The new committee replaces the Strategic Planning Steering Committee and Task Force.
9—The National Endowment for the Humanities awards the College a $152,041, three-year grant for language departments and individual humanities disciplines to develop a language-across-the-curriculum program.
28—Nineteen students and two faculty members spend 13 days visiting St. Petersburg and Moscow in Russia as part of the 1993-94 Global Awareness Program.

JANUARY

A new legacy gift club, the Frances Winship Walters Society, is established to recognize alumnae and friends who make a planned gift to ASC.
19—Rep. John Lewis of Georgia's Fifth Congressional District speaks at the annual convocation in honor of the Rev.

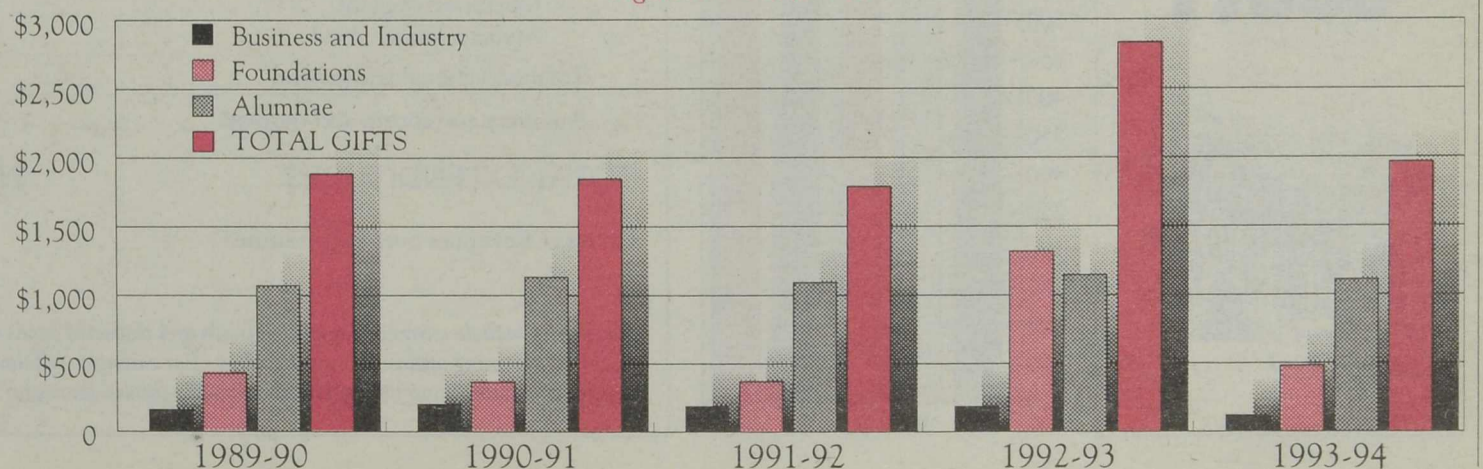

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.
28—Following diligent work by students and staff to develop a parietals plan that better meets student needs, the Board of Trustees approves three options for hours for entertaining male guests.
28—Kay Lawther Krill '77, president of Carroll Reed, and Sally Skardon '70, senior vice president of NationsBank of South Carolina, fill vacancies on ASC's Board of Trustees. Dorothy Holloran Addison '43, a member of the board from 1982 to 92, is elected trustee emerita.
28—A covenant between Agnes Scott and the Synod of the South Atlantic of the Presbyterian Church (USA), was adopted by the College's Board of Trustees. It reaffirmed and made formal long-standing ties and described the nature and scope of the continuing affiliation between the College and church.

FEBRUARY

4—The Senior Class Campaign by the class of 1994 reaches an all-time high. By graduation, participation exceeds 53 percent.
16—Shirley Malcolm, head of the Directorate for Education and Human Resources Programs of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, visits Agnes Scott. She is nationally recognized for her role in promoting the advancement of women, minorities and the disabled in the sciences.
19—Futurescape, Agnes Scott's program to encourage pre-college girls to study science and math, brings 110 students and 48 parents to campus. The 1994 program is supported in part by a Nordson Corporation Foundation grant of $3,650.
20-21—The Office of Admission hosts a record number of scholarship semi-finalists for Scholar's Weekend; 184 students attend the event and compete for merit scholarships ranging from $6,000 to $17,000 annually.

1993-94 Opens opportunities for decade ahead

MARCH

6—The Atlanta Virtuosi begins its annual Hispanic Festival of the Arts in Presser Hall with a concert, "Latin American Jazz," performed by Yanci Korosi, Greg Carageorge and Juan Racines. 23-25—Agnes Scott's Annual Writer's Festival brings noted writers Ingrid Isermann, Melissa Fay Greene, Carolyn Forché, Lee Abbott and Mary Kratt '58 to campus to read from their works.

APRIL

1—International multimedia performance artist Theodora Skiptares begins a month-long residency in theater and drama. During her visit, she directs students in an original performance. 8—The Princeton Review: The Best 286 Colleges for 1994 ranks Agnes Scott in the top 20 schools in 14 of 61 categories. 8—ASC announces its new Post-Baccalaureate Pre-Medical and Allied Health Sciences Program, a one-year program to prepare women for medical school, veterinary school and other allied health professions. 29—As part of Alumnae Weekend festivities, the Martha Wilson Kessler Dance Studio is dedicated in honor of Kessler '69 and her husband Richard, who gave an accumulated gift of $368,000 to establish the Martha Wilson Kessler Dance program to augment dance at ASC. 29—The Rev. Paige McRight '68 is appointed the Julia Thomas Smith Chaplain.

MAY

14—As fill-in graduation speaker for National Public Radio reporter Nina Totenberg, who had an unavoidable conflict, retiring President Ruth Schmidt inspires students to be flexible as they move into their new careers.

30—The number of new student pre-enrollment deposits for the fall semester reaches 143, peaking at 150 in August.

JUNE

1—The College announces the receipt of several large gifts including a grant of $100,000 from the Arthur Vining Davis Foundations to help with library automation, a gift of $25,000 from the estate of Josephine Larkin '39 and an additional $25,000 donation from William H. Hightower and Elinor Hamilton Hightower '34 for the scholarship fund named for Mrs. Hightower. 30—Giving to the Annual Fund during 1993-94 fiscal year totals $1,219,173, surpassing the goal of $1,204,125. The percentage of alumnae giving reaches 38.1.

1993-94 Giving Report

Alumnae giving to the Agnes Scott Annual Fund in 1993-94 totaled $731,533 (excluding one-time bequests), surpassing our goal of $625,000 by over $105,000. Total alumnae giving to the Annual Fund, including $79,139 in one-time bequests, reached $810,672. Alumnae contributed more than 65 percent of the Annual Fund grand total of $1,219,173.

Corporations and foundations contributed a total of $284,164 to the Annual Fund. They were among the 3,913 donors who supported the College in 1993-94 contributing a total of $1,965,847 to all funds.

Alumnae participation reached 38.1 percent. Agnes

Scott is most appreciative of the tremendous response received from donors whose generosity continues to ensure that funding needs are met.

Five-Year Overview Of ASC Enrollment

Alumnae Giving by Class

Alumnae who contributed to the College during the 1993-94 fiscal year are listed by giving club within each class year. Giving clubs at Agnes Scott are at the following levels:

- The President's Circle ..... $10,000 and above
- The Founders' Club ..... $5,000 to $9,999
- The Deans' List ..... $2,500 to $4,999
- The Tower Circle ..... $1,000 to $2,499
- The Colonnade Club ..... $500 to $999
- The Gazebo Club ..... $250 to $499
- The Century Club ..... $100 to $249

Donors who contribute $1,000 or more receive complimentary tickets to all Agnes Scott College events.

The Consecutive Giving Program was begun in 1990-91, the first year of Agnes Scott's second century, to recognize donors who give consistently to the College. The numeral preceding each donor's name indicates the number of consecutive years that person has given since the program's inception.

THE FIRST EDITION OF THE ASC ANNUAL REPORT
"WHO'S/WHAT'S-THAT?" PHOTO CONTEST

Throughout this MAIN EVENTS "Annual Report" are photographs from the Agnes Scott College archives. For a few, we have identification of the subjects; for some, we have an estimate of the year. Almost never do we have both. If you know anyone in any of the photos, write to Publications (address on page 2). We'll publish the results in the next MAIN EVENTS. Contest "rules" follow with succeeding photos. What do you win? We'll award commemorative Agnes Scott Coca-Colas to the top three contestants. But mostly we encourage everyone to give us their reactions to the photos in this journey down ACS's "memory lane."

The ASC archives identify this only as "Dorm in Agnes Scott Hall about 1900." What's happening? Who are the people in the photo (anybody's mom? grandmother?) And is that a "care package" from home?

PHOTO # 4: SO WHAT WAS THAT DRESS CODE?

What's different about this picture and today's campus dress? If you can't answer that, you've missed too many alumnae weekends. While making reservations for this year's event, send in names of these students and the year they were photographed—sometime in the 1940s.

Reunion Giving

The second year of Agnes Scott's reunion giving program was a great success, as the classes of 1944 and 1969 led special efforts to support the Annual Fund in honor of their respective 50th and 25th reunions. To encourage participation, an anonymous alumna from the class of 1969 challenged her class to meet its goal by offering to match, dollar-for-dollar, each gift they made to the Annual Fund last April. Thank you to both of these classes for their outstanding support.

Class	RG Leaders	Goal	Total Gifts	% Participation
1944	Mary Frances Stovall Betty Ashcraft Senter	$30,000	$27,615.00	63%
1969	Tish Lowe Oliveira Martha Wilson Kessler	$30,000	$28,081.09	53%

From the archives, we know this was taken in the 1940s. But that's it. An extra bonus if you can identify the major difference between this room and dorm rooms today. (Hint: check out those brass beds.)

Phonathon Volunteers

Volunteer support is critical to the success of any fund-raising effort, and Agnes Scott's Annual Fund campaign is no exception. Phonathon volunteers worked many hours, and their assistance in attaining the Annual Fund goals was invaluable. Phonathon volunteers for 1993-94 were:

The Class of 1994

The Senior Class Campaign began in 1989 to encourage continued support of the Annual Fund by Agnes Scott's newest alumnae.

The Class of 1994 set a campaign record with 59 percent class participation and $7,700 in pledges. We extend a special thank-you to the members of the Class of 1994 who demonstrated their support of the College with a five-year Annual Fund pledge.

Named Gift Funds

Naming a fund in memory or in honor of a loved one is a tradition at Agnes Scott College. Following are lists of loan funds, annuity funds, library and scholarship funds, as well as other special memorial/honor funds named for people close to the Agnes Scott family.

The funds are listed alphabetically. A special description is included for each fund (in bold type) which was established or increased during the last fiscal year (July 1, 1993-June 30, 1994).

Current policy requires a gift of $10,000 or more to establish a named fund.

GIFTS & CONTRIBUTIONS

It seems a fitting conclusion to our collection from the archives: these photographs have little or no identification, but lots and lots of appeal. Frozen moments from the millions that have been experienced by ASC students for more than a century. Maybe you recognize a few friends—or yourself—and remember the events pictured. Let us know if you do. For the top responses—the most correct answers or the best imagination, in the opinion of our judges—we'll send a commemorative Agnes Scott College Coke. To all who enter this sort-of contest, our thanks. And to all, we hope the photographs remind you of great times at a great college.

Thanks to the Trustees

With a combined total of nearly 70 years of service to Agnes Scott College, six College trustees were honored at a recent Board meeting with a resolution of appreciation. The Rev. Joanna Moseley Adams, Louise Isaacson Bernard '46, Margaret Abernethy Martin '59, M. Lamar Oglesby and John E. Smith, II, completed their active service as Board members in July 1994 in accordance with current rotation system which limits the number of years trustees can serve. Betty Scott Noble '44, was also honored for her service and was named a trustee emerita.

Adams of Atlanta joined the Board in 1986 and served on the academic, student affairs and faith and learning committees, as well as an ad hoc committee to study the College's relationship with the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.). Adams is currently the senior pastor of Trinity Presbyterian Church.

Bernard served since 1978 in many capacities, including committees devoted to development, buildings and grounds, investments and student affairs. She was a member of the executive committee for seven years and was on the audit committee for nine years, serving as chair for three years. Bernard is the owner of Isaacson's at Phipps Plaza in Atlanta.

Joining the Board in 1990 after service as the Alumnae Association president, "Wardie" Martin of Charlotte, N.C., chaired the student affairs committee for the last three years and served on the faith and learning and executive committees. Martin is administrative coordinator of the Junior League of Charlotte, Inc.

Noble of Decatur and descendent of Agnes Irvine Scott, namesake of the College, served on the Board since 1984. She served on the executive committee for seven years, chaired the student affairs committee for two of those years and the nominating committee for three, and was a member of the ad hoc committee to study the College's relationship with the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.). She also served actively on the Centennial Committee which planned the centennial exhibit at the Atlanta History Center in 1988-89.

As a member of the Board for the last 16 years, Oglesby has served on the executive committee and as chair of the investment committee since 1979. Other committee assignments include personnel and nominations. Oglesby is the vice president of Kidder, Peabody and Co., Inc., of Atlanta.

John Smith, president of John Smith Company, an automobile dealership in Atlanta, is a 12-year member of the Board, with service as the building and grounds committee chair for five years. He also served on the executive, investment and banking committees.

PARTING WORDS

Happy 50th Birthday!

By William Gailey

The Annual Fund is now a half century old! Thanks to the continued and enthusiastic support of alumnae, friends, corporations and foundations, the Annual Fund has contributed millions of dollars to the operating budget of the College over the past 50 years.

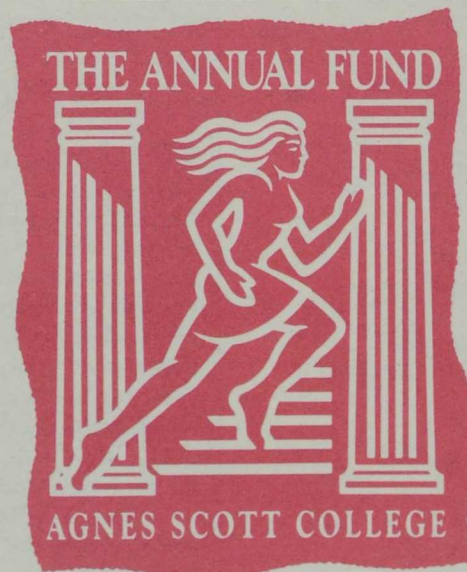

The Annual Fund's phenomenal growth testifies to the power of the combined efforts of dedicated women.

In 1944, Margaret Ridley '33, President of the Alumnae Association, and Mrs. Crawford F. Barnett '32, alumnae representative to the Board of Trustees, recommended to the Board that an annual gifts program be established to defray alumnae expenses and provide support for the College.

On May 26, 1944, the Trustees established an "Annual Fund Campaign." This program became the nucleus of the present-day Annual Fund.

As we begin to celebrate our fiftieth birthday, it is only natural that we look back not only over the past half-century, but also over the past year.

During fiscal year 1993-94, the development division began several new initiatives. Among these were the formation of the Frances Winship Walters Society, an intensifying of the Senior Class campaign, and the institution of a personal solicitation effort by members of the development staff and Trustees.

These initiatives enabled the College to surpass its goal of $625,000 in alumnae giving and an overall goal of $1,204,125. Gifts to the Annual Fund provide the foundation of support for academic excellence that is the hallmark of an Agnes Scott education.

Combined with tuition and endowment income, gifts allow Agnes Scott to cultivate and nurture the high standards that have been our tradition.

The Annual Fund ensures the excellence of academic programs, provides library resources and underwrites financial assistance programs for students who might otherwise be unable to attend Agnes Scott.

Your gift contributes to these efforts and makes you a partner in the college's growth. Without your continued support, the College would be unable to sustain its efforts to reach the pinnacle in women's education.

Gailey is vice president for business and finance and acting vice president for development and public affairs.

Decatur Campaign Kicks Off in January

COLLEGE SEEKS TO RAISE $30,000 FROM BUSINESSES IN THE DECATUR COMMUNITY

Agnes Scott College plans a first-ever push to raise unrestricted dollars from the Decatur business community in January 1995 during the "Decatur Campaign." Chaired by attorney and ASC Trustee Clark Candler, the campaign will point out the positive economic impact of Agnes Scott on Decatur and will raise $30,000 from businesses and foundations. The 10-day fund-raising campaign will be kicked off with a breakfast on campus in mid-to-late January.

"We realized that there were no unrestricted gifts to the College from Decatur businesses. For a college of our size and caliber we thought that very unusual," notes Andrea Swilley '90, assistant director of major gifts. "So we decided to organize this campaign targeting the community."

Committee Chair Candler estimates that the economic impact of the College on the community is substantial, noting the many goods and services ASC purchases in the community. "I am looking at this campaign not just as a money raiser but as a renewed effort to reestablish ties to the community. There has been a perceived isolationist mentality between Decatur and Agnes Scott but we want to remind people of our mutually beneficial relationship. Developing money is only part of the focus."

Decatur business owner Lyn Deardorff '84 describes the campaign as one step among many efforts the College has made to reach out to the community, yet she believes its significance will be measured by its success at engaging both on a continuing basis. "I don't see this as a negative situation," says Deardorff, owner of Final Touch Gallery and Books, "but a lack of awareness, perhaps, a silence on each side. I consider this campaign as Agnes Scott attempting to cross over and establish an ongoing relationship with the Decatur business community—which now must reach out, as well. The sidewalk runs both ways."

In the past, says Swilley, the College has received monetary gifts from individual businesses in Decatur, "but this is the first time for the College to undertake a unified campaign targeting Decatur." Decatur was included in the original metropolitan Atlanta campaign launched in 1908 and responded with gifts of $25,000, representing 10 percent of the overall, Atlanta-wide goal. The Decatur Campaign will be a yearly addition to the existing fund drive.

trustees; Deardorff; Decatur City Commissioner Bill Floyd, Southern Champion Construction; Linda Harris '89, Decatur Downtown Development

Bye Bye Bertie

To the tune of "Bye Bye Birdie," almost 300 gathered at Agnes Scott on Nov. 30—"Bertie Bond Day"—to bid farewell to Mary Alverta "Bertie" Bond '53 who is retiring after 34 years as assistant to the president for three of the College's presidents. Bond was cited for her integrity, a career of soothing "faculty frustrations, frights, fights and dis-ease" and for providing a key to the mysteries of the College for each administration. Bond, who actually retired in August, has worked most recently with Interim President Sally Mahoney to insure a smooth transition.

Scott Candler Jr. Dies

ASC BOARD OF TRUSTEES MEMBER FOR 20 YEARS

Scott Candler Jr., 68, a member of Agnes Scott's Board of Trustees for 20 years, died on Nov. 16.

"The Candler family has, since the early days of this institution, provided leadership on the board of trustees, and Scott Candler Jr., continued that tradition. He cared about this College, and he served it with loyalty and dedication," says Mary Alverta "Bertie" Bond '53, secretary of the board of trustees.

Candler served on the board from 1972 to 1992. Four previous generations of the Candler family were also members of the ASC board: Milton Candler, 1896-1909; Charles Murphey Candler, 1889-1935, and G. Scott Candler Sr., 1924-1972. Scott Candler's son, Clark E. Candler, was elected to the ASC board in 1992.

Scott Candler received a bachelor of arts degree from Davidson College in 1949 and bachelor of laws degree from Emory University the following year. Beginning in 1950 he practiced law with the Decatur firm McCurdy and Candler.

Candler is survived by his wife Betty Jean Ellison Candler '49, one daughter, Rebekah Byrd Candler, and two sons, George Scott Candler III and Clark Ellison Candler.

Fifth Progressions Seminar

ACKNOWLEDGING WOMEN'S INFLUENCE AS HEALTH CAREGIVERS—PAST AND PRESENT

Women have moved quite naturally into health care fields because they were the earliest health care providers, explained Valerie Fennell, an associate professor in anthropology at Georgia State University. Fennell discussed the subject in a keynote address which opened this year's Progressions Seminar on "Women's Health Issues," held Nov. 12, at Agnes Scott. The seminar, attended by 45 women from the Atlanta area, was hosted by Agnes Scott and sponsored by 16 women's colleges.

Fennell noted that women, as collectors of plants and herbs and preparers of food in antiquity's gathering/hunting societies, were the primary providers of sustenance for their families and villages. In this sense, women were the first caretakers and as keepers of the fire for their communities, the first chemists.

Fennell contends that men were not primarily involved in healthcare until it "evolved" into a wage earning occupation. With that transition came the move away from herbal remedies toward chemical/synthetic remedies. "The wisdom that began with women moved to men who controlled chemistry and the women in health care."

INTERIM OBSERVATIONS

I write this shortly after a College memorial service celebrating the life of Stephanie Rothstein, the Agnes Scott sophomore from St. Cloud, Fla., killed early Friday evening, Sept. 23, in an automobile accident in Florida. Our Oct. 17 ceremony of reflection and remembrance was made special by the presence of Richard and Lisa Rothstein, Stephanie's parents, of Stephen Graves, her pastor and the person who introduced her to Agnes Scott, and other members of her extended family. They joined with basketball teammates and other students, with faculty, coaches and staff, in a ceremony of prayer and commentary, poetry (some of Stephanie's own), slides and photographs which reminded us of the places and people, many of them present, who had been so important in Stephanie's life.

At the service, Acting Director of Athletics Cheryl Appleberry and Coach Nancy Rast announced that a plaque bearing Stephanie's poetry and a picture of her on the basketball court would be displayed permanently at the Woodruff Physical Activities Building. We were able to announce that AT&T had made its $10,000 scholarship for Stephanie the foundation gift of a scholarship in her name. The College has agreed to find funds to match that gift. We were also able to announce that sophomore Hillary Spencer of Pensacola, Fla., and first-year student Jennifer Phillips of Gainesville, Fla., who had been injured in the accident, were in stable condition. The celebration brought healing closure to a tragic accident that tested and strengthened the Agnes Scott community.

In recent years Agnes Scott has been blessedly free from such tragedies. Stephanie's is the first residential student death since 1978. The unfolding events beginning the night of the accident are witness to care and professionalism among staff and faculty, to generosity of spirit as all members of the community reached out in mutual support to one another, and to reserves of faith on which we drew in trying to comprehend the events.

At each event there was the need to ponder Stephanie's death and also to inform the community about Hillary and Jennifer. We encountered Stephanie, herself, in the wonder and wisdom of her poem which Professor Christine Cozzens had saved from a first-year class, a poem which Dean Gué Hudson read at Stephanie's funeral in Florida. College, typically, is a place for the young, for energy that comes from anticipating almost infinite possibility. Whatever vulnerability there may be is not usually a point of focus. The loss of a student and the serious injury of two others shakes and tests a college. Agnes Scott's response has been one of faith and impressive community support.

MAJOR GIFTS

$50,000 Grant Funds Faculty Development

The BellSouth Foundation awarded the College a $50,000 grant in October for faculty development in the uses of technology in teaching and learning.

Agnes Scott College received $33,000 from the Lettie Pate Whitehead Foundation in August, representing one-half of its 1994 scholarship grant to the College.

A $20,000 grant from the Benwood Foundation of Chattanooga, Tenn., arrived in July, representing the third payment on a $100,000 grant that supplements the George T. Hunter Scholarship Fund.

The Georgia Forestry Commission awarded Agnes Scott an urban forestry grant of $5,634 in July. The College will create a walking tour of distinguished campus trees during the 1994-95 school year as well as educational materials that will help increase awareness of trees on the tour and the environmental value and beauty of trees in the Agnes Scott community.

Student Leader Profiles

STUDENT LEADER PROFILES IS A NEW FEATURE IN MAIN EVENTS WHICH WILL SHOWCASE STUDENT LEADERS AND ALLOW THEM TO DISCUSS THE ROLES OF THEIR ORGANIZATIONS ON THE AGNES SCOTT CAMPUS.

JENNY WHITE '95
Honor Court president
Hometown: Stone Mountain, Ga.
Major: Astrophysics
Organization Established: 1970

Honor Court is the judicial body of the Student Government Association. Its purpose is to uphold and regulate the Honor Code.

Honor Court orients the campus community, in particular new students, to the Honor System and its integral role at Agnes Scott, explains Jenny White. During her term in office, White hopes to bring a renewed sense of the importance of the honor system on campus, "not just to students, but faculty and staff as well."

White says Agnes Scott's honor code will continue to influence her well beyond graduation. "I've developed my own honor code in relation to the way I treat and respect people. It's respect not only for others' personal property but also for their ideas and opinions."

Jenny White '95

TINA GURLEY '95
Witkaze president
Hometown: Huntsville, Ala.
Major: History
Organization Established: 1976

Witkaze promotes awareness of African-American culture, achievement, contributions and history to the Agnes Scott community-at-large.

As president of Witkaze, Gurley hopes to acclimate Agnes Scott's African-American first-year students to campus life with a strong sense of welcome. Other plans include making Witkaze "more accessible, campus-wide" by developing strong cultural activities in which students can learn about African-Americans. As the only predominantly African-American organization on campus, she notes Witkaze has been instrumental in opening the campus community's eyes to an African-American's experience on a predominantly white campus. Gurley wants others to benefit from her "excitement about learning."

Following graduation in 1995, she will go on to teach high school because, "Teachers make a positive difference in kids' lives."

WENDY RIVIERE '95
Student Government Association president
Hometown: Kenner, La.
Major: Biology
Organization Established: 1906

The Student Government Association (SGA) is a body that governs the student population at Agnes Scott. The student body elects the organization's president, vice president, secretary and treasurer.

In addition to governing the student population, "SGA serves as a liaison between students and the College administration. It makes sure issues such as awareness and responsiveness to student voice in the presidential search and academic review are addressed," says Wendy Riviere. During her term as president, she hopes to be a "catalyst for positive change," by rebuilding communication among students, the administration and the Agnes Scott Board of Trustees. Riviere encourages student involvement in campus affairs. "A lot of students miss out on a whole different aspect of the College if they don't become involved." Working with SGA and other campus organizations has given Riviere an awareness of who she is. "I'd like to see myself doing things for a positive change in the future in either medicine or health services administration."

AWARDS/RECOGNITION

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE PHYSICAL PLANT DEPARTMENT received an award on Oct. 18, from DeKalb County Genesis Program in recognition of the support the department has given to the county program. For four years the physical plant has provided employment opportunities to underprivileged and handicapped persons so that they may further their integration into the mainstream work force.

GUS COCHRAN, professor of political science, earned a juris doctorate from Georgia State University in June. Prior to receiving his J.D., Cochran received the Student of the Year in Labor and Employment Law Award presented by the Labor and Employment Section of the Atlanta Bar Association in May.

REGINE REYNOLDS-CORNELL, Adeline Arnold Loridans Professor of French and chair of the departments of French and Japanese, has been recognized by Pi Delta Phi, National French Honor Society, for 20 years of service as a moderator.

LUCIA SIZEMORE, director of alumnae affairs, was selected to join Leadership DeKalb's class of 1995.

VICTOR WILSON, assistant dean of students, has been named president of the National Orientation Directors Association. Wilson was elected at the organization's national conference Oct. 29-Nov. 1 in Portland, Ore. and is its first African-American president. The association is comprised of orientation professionals and students from across the U.S. and Canada.

EXHIBITIONS

ANNE BEIDLER, assistant professor of art, held a one-person exhibition entitled "Re-imagining the Boundaries: Works on Paper," Sept. 19-Oct. 7 at the Hodson Gallery on the campus of Hood College in Frederick, Md.

GRANTS

VINCENT ANIGBOGU, assistant professor of chemistry, was awarded a $18,255 grant by the National Science Foundation in June for the purchase of a flame graphite furnace atomic absorption spectrophotometer. The equipment will be used in laboratory courses and research activities. The award was based on a merit review of the proposal submitted by Anigbogu for national competition.

LINDA C. HODGES, William Rand Kenan Professor of Chemistry, was awarded a $23,156 grant by the United States Department of Agriculture to purchase a high performance liquid chromatograph for collaborative research with students. The research project is entitled, "Assessing the Role of Salicylic Acid in Plant Defense by Gradient HPLC."

PUBLICATIONS

REGINE REYNOLDS-CORNELL, Adeline Arnold Loridans Professor of French and chair of the departments of French and Japanese, had a book review published in the May 1994 edition of the French Review. Reynolds-Cornell discussed Donald Perret's Old Comedy in the French Renaissance. A volume of essays entitled International Colloquium Celebrating the 500th Anniversary of the Birth of Marguerite de Navarre, edited by Reynolds-Cornell, has been published by Summa Publications.

CALVERT JOHNSON, professor of music and chair of the department of music, has been published in Ann

This paper presents Judith Ortiz Cofer, a Puerto Rican novelist and poet who teaches English and creative writing at the University of Georgia.

JOHN F. PILGER, associate professor and chair of the department of biology, co-wrote a paper that was published with Mary E. Rice of the Smithsonian Marine Station. The paper entitled, "Asexual Propagation and Reproductive Strategies," appears as a chapter contribution on the sipuncula in the 1993 multi-volume series entitled Reproductive Biology of Invertebrates.

LARRY RIDDLE, associate professor of mathematics and chair of the department of math, reviewed the Macintosh software package TEMATH (Tools for Exploring Mathematics) in the October 1994 issue of the Notices of the American Mathematical Society.

READINGS/
RECITALS

CALVERT JOHNSON, professor of music and chair of the department of music, had two recitals: "Women Composers for Organ and Harpsichord" at the Cleveland Museum of Art, Sept. 25 and "Early Spanish Organ Music" at John Carroll University, in University Heights, Ohio, Sept. 27. Johnson performed "Organ Works of Florence Price" at the Cathedral of St. Philip in Atlanta on Oct. 16 and at the College Music Society's national meeting in Savannah, Oct. 21.

SARAH LEATHERS MARTIN, artist affiliate/organist, participated in a faculty recital at Agnes Scott in September.

NANNETTE SOLES, artist

affiliate in voice, performed at the Robert Shaw Choral Festival in the Quercy region of France in July. At the festival, Soles and other performers were recorded for a compact disc produced by Telarc. Several solos by Soles were included.

MEMYE CURTIS TUCKER, part-time assistant professor of English, read from a selection of her original poetry in August at the Bread Loaf Writers Conference in Vermont, where she was named John Ciardi Scholar in Poetry.

WORKSHOPS/CONFERENCES

RUTH BETTENDORFF, associate dean of the College, represented Agnes Scott College in a faculty exchange program with Kinjo Gakuin University in Nagoya, Japan in July. She presented a speech entitled "The Status and Patterns of American Working Women."

REGINE REYNOLDS-CORNELL, Adeline Arnold Loridans Professor of French and chair of the departments of French and Japanese, presented a paper entitled "Is the Shrew Tamed or Has She Donned Her Thinking Cap?" at the international meeting of Sixteenth Century Studies in Toronto, held Oct. 27-30.

CALVERT JOHNSON, professor of music and chair of the department of music, presented a workshop entitled "Early Spanish Organ Music and Performance Practices," Sept. 26, at John Carroll University. He also presented this workshop at the Episcopal Church of the Epiphany in Atlanta, sponsored by the Atlanta Alliance for Early Music, Oct. 14.

VIRGINIA MORELAND, College librarian, presented a paper entitled "Technostress and Individual Differences," during the conference "What's Stress in Technostress: Managing Information Overload in a Challenging Information World" held Oct. 28 in New York City.

TINA PIPPIN, assistant professor of Bible and religion, participated in a Race and Class in Bible Translation conference held in September at the International Theological Center (ITC) in Atlanta. The conference is part of a three-year project on the subject of race and class in Bible translation. Pippin co-organized the conference with Professor Randall Bailey of ITC in conjunction with the Bible Translation and Utilization Unit of the National Council of Churches.

LARRY RIDDLE, associate professor of mathematics and chair of the department of math, attended an advanced workshop on "Augmenting the Teaching of Linear Algebra with Software Tools," sponsored by the National Science Foundation at the University of California, San Diego, June 21-25. The purpose of the workshop was to develop high quality computer exercises and projects for distribution over Internet.

N.J. STANLEY, assistant professor of theatre, delivered a paper entitled "Mamet Mouthing Off: The Wasteland of American Buffalo," at the annual conference of the Association for Theatre in Higher Education in Chicago, July 27-31. Stanley also chaired a panel entitled "Sophie Treadwell: A Reappraisal."

She participated in the workshop entitled "Using Cooperative Learning in the College Classroom" presented to the faculty of Gainesville College on Sept. 15. On Sept. 24, Gender Equity Day, Wiesberg made a presentation to Gwinnett County fifth and sixth grade teachers. On Oct. 17 Wiesberg was a member of a panel that discussed "New Pedagogies for Promoting Gender Equity" at a conference entitled "Reconciling Gender Issues in Higher Education," with CHRISTINE COZZENS, associate professor of English, MYRTLE LEWIN, associate professor of mathematics, and RUTH BETTENDORFF, associate dean of the College, at the University of Vermont. At the conference Wiesberg presented a paper entitled "Process as Content: Constructivist Pedagogy in Teacher Education."

Beck Visits White House

Carl Beck, circulation assistant in McCain Library, and other members of the Return-to-Normandy Association (RNA) were invited guests of President Bill Clinton at the White House in November.

The Veterans Day reception honored retired and active duty personnel whose active duties had spanned World War I through the Somalia conflict. "It was such a pleasure to be recognized for what we did and to know that somebody is thinking of us, as RNA is a group that wants to remember those who didn't come home from World War II," says Beck, who was among the first wave of paratroopers to hit Normandy on D-Day.

The Return-to-Normandy Association made news in June when its 42 members, from the 101st Airborne Division, observed the 50th anniversary of the D-Day invasion by reenacting their 1944 parachute jump into Normandy.

While at the White House, Beck received the President's permission to include his daughter Chelsea on Agnes Scott's mailing list.

Senior Fund

The class of 1995's Senior Campaign for the Annual Fund is led by co-chairs Holly Demuth and Daka Hermon. Currently, 24 percent of the senior class has pledged $3,850 to the Annual Fund. Molly Dohm, acting director of the Annual Fund, anticipates that by the end of the school year "the class will have met their goal and surpassed the class of '94." The class of '95 seeks to set a new College record for senior class participation by soliciting 60 percent class participation in comparison to the 59 percent record high set by the class of '94.

Embracing This Precious Life

JUST BEFORE THE BIRTH OF HER FIRST CHILD, CELIA BOOHER '84 FINDS A REMINDER OF HER OWN MORTALITY

My daughter turns one today. As I reflect on her first 12 months, I remember all the wondrous and strange events that filled my life a year ago.

I was preparing to bring my much-anticipated firstborn into the world and, at the same time, fearing that I might orphan the child. Four weeks before Elizabeth was born, I found a lump in my right breast. Assuming it was a byproduct of pregnancy, I casually mentioned it to my doctor who asked me to wait while she called a specialist to arrange an appointment.

As I tried to adjust to impending parenthood, I was now a potential cancer patient, a most pitiful sight as an obviously pregnant woman visiting the Breast Cancer Care Center.

I was lucky to have many positive influences in my life during this time. My husband and family were very supportive. Also, I was involved in an exciting new business that had opened to rave reviews two weeks before my child arrived. Yet even though I had plenty to occupy my mind, I still had "what if" thoughts of my sickness and potential desertion of this child, and I constantly felt a restless pressure to do something—anything—to restore my life to order and peace.

My frustration and fear mounted as I was told many tests and procedures could not be done during my pregnant state, or for months following childbirth as my body careened through early motherhood. I pursued every possible path of discovery: the breast ultrasound was inconclusive; the needle biopsy indicated the tissue was benign—but that test was extremely unreliable.

It was not until six months later, when a mammogram revealed that the mass had disappeared completely, that my months of dread drained away like the clogged milk valve which had produced the lump.

My most astounding realization was that this type of experience is common. I recall a friend who couldn't get together with me over a holiday because of a lumpectomy, a neighbor who missed a play group due to a needle biopsy and, perhaps the most frightening, a co-worker's wife who breastfed her child for almost a year before she discovered the strange sensation in her breast was something to worry about.

Now as I count my blessings, I not only clutch my precious child to my chest in a loving embrace, but also put my hand to my breast for yet another self exam. I cannot claim to be a cancer expert, but I have had a brush with the disease. My prayers go out to the community of women who battle this ruthless intrusion into their lives, and I foster a fervent hope that my daughter will not have to live with these fears.

Bertie Bond Bids Farewell

LAUGHTER, TEARS AND MEMORIES OF 34 YEARS AS ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT

The Woltz Reception Room was crowded with a chorus of close to 300 well-wishers who bid farewell to Mary Alverta "Bertie" Bond '53 on Nov. 30 after her 34 years of service to Agnes Scott. For 24 hours, the campus celebrated "Bertie Bond Day," and after a program of reminiscence and proclamations, Betty Scott Noble '44 read a resolution from the Agnes Scott Board of Trustees naming Bond "Assistant to the President and Secretary of the Board of Trustees Emerita." Bond served as assistant to three consecutive presidents of the College, beginning with Wallace Alston.

"I have given a few parties during my days at Agnes Scott, maybe one thousand, but I have been outclassed," Bond responded to the group with a slow grin. "I want to thank you for this."

Described by Sally Mahoney, interim ASC president, as her "guide to the mysteries of Agnes Scott," Bond was remembered by administration, faculty, students and alumnae as a woman of integrity and "elegant discretion." House mates Kate McKemie and Kathryn Manuel, both retired ASC faculty members, noted with humor that over the years Bond was so guarded with the inner workings of the College that "we learned more from the students than from Bertie."

Anne Jones Sims, representing the class of '53, presented Bond with a gift from "class members, their daughters and faculty." The ASC Student Government Association read a resolution from the students that honored Bond for her years of service, her role as confidante and adviser to the Social Council.

Professor of English and Chair Linda Hubert '62 thanked Bond for being Agnes Scott's muse of memory and for "touching five decades of Agnes Scott life." Hubert also said, "We know what we will miss with your retirement."

Hubert also remarked at Bond's low-key chuckle while Dean of Students

Gué Hudson recalled her first encounter with Bond in the fall of 1964: "I won't forget those eyes, those eyes that say, 'Don't mess with me, Darlin'."

Hudson teased further, then said, "I have waited 34 years for this," to which Bond retorted, "Watch your manners."

In the end, after an Agnes Scott chorus honored Bond with two songs and after Mahoney presented her with an Agnes Scott chair and watch from the College, it was, of course, Bertie Bond who had the last word. "I will miss this place, but I have a lot of memories," she said with a sly smile, "some of them I hope will fade quickly. . . ."

"To use a South Georgia expression, I am fixin' to get out of here. So take care of my College, will you?"

Phonathon Pledges Reach $39,014

The Annual Fund phonathon in October raised $39,014 in pledges, with 473 alumnae making definite pledges and 307 expressing a willingness to consider. The Annual Fund is directed toward unrestricted giving: scholarships, financial aid, academic departments, salaries and other areas of need. Forty-four student volunteers and three alumnae completed 1,055 calls during the three-day fundraiser. The next phonathon is scheduled for March 1995.

LUCIA'S TURN

Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary defines synergism as "cooperative action of discrete agencies such that the total effect is greater than the sum of the effects taken independently." Over the fall, I have found myself using this word regularly as the offices of alumnae affairs, admission, and development have worked together to implement a joint travel program.

Cities were selected for the travel program based on a report provided to the Office of Admission by a marketing research firm. Factoring in numbers of high schools, schedules of college nights, current students' hometowns, alumnae numbers and levels of activity yielded the target cities for this fall's initiative. While the admission effort set the timing and the dates, responses from area alumnae also helped develop the actual activities in the various cities.

Advertisements were placed in local area newspapers prior to the arrival of the Agnes Scott team in most cities. Based on ads designed by the Council for Independent Colleges for its national campaign, the Agnes Scott ads featured alumnae from the targeted cities whose activities in the community reflected the various ways a liberal arts education prepares one for life and service in the real world. If only space and timing had allowed us to use everyone!

Like a farmer planting seeds, we will not see the results of these efforts for some time. However, immediate enthusiasm for the program has made a difference. Alumnae have had more personal interaction with the College in geographic areas not regularly visited and admission has had outstanding groups of prospective students in several meetings. During this year of transition, it is important for Agnes Scott to find new and synergistic ways to use the resources of the College most effectively as we build our new future together. We welcome your input and interest as we continue to plan together!

Sincerely,

Lucia

Counseling/Multicultural Affairs Center Opens

ONE OFFICE NOW PROVIDES THE SERVICES OF COLLEGE CHAPLAIN, PERSONAL COUNSELOR AND NEW MULTICULTURAL AFFAIRS ADVISOR

I'm here to help students sort out direction in their lives," says Karen Green '86, multicultural affairs advisor. "I want to be a bridge builder—to help students learn to understand their empowerment through coalition building."

Green is a member of the Center for Counseling and Multicultural Affairs (CCMA), a new clearinghouse for students seeking advice on a variety of concerns. Depending upon their area of interest, students have access to the advisor of multicultural affairs, personal counselor or College chaplain.

The center, located in Winship Hall, opened in September. "The center has helped give students focus on where to go to get a counselor and it has helped the professional counseling staff to feel cohesive," says Gué Hudson '68, dean of students.

While the chaplain and personal affairs counselor have been long standing positions at ASC, the multicultural affairs component is new to campus.

Green was previously director of multicultural affairs at Hamilton College and prior to that was the director of student activities and housing at Agnes Scott. She is now studying for a master's in theology at the Candler School of Theology at Emory University, in addition to advising the College on multiculturalism and diversity.

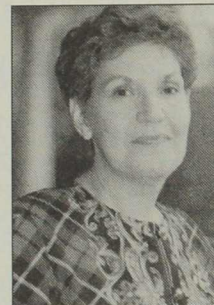

"The National Coalition Building Institute and Racism Free Zone have done some great work [on campus] but there is still room for other avenues to challenge the community concerning the development of multicultural issues. I will work with all students including the dominant culture. They, too, have a part to play in this process—to be informed and held accountable once they have been informed," Green says.

Shirley has been a personal counselor at the College since 1987. She works with students on an individual basis and in group workshops concerning stress reduction, test anxiety, relationships, family issues, self-esteem, etc. "This is an opportunity to create a counseling center that provides more services and meets whatever needs the students may have," says Shirley.

New Chaplain Named

PAIGE MCRIGHT '68: "HELPING STUDENTS DISCOVER FAITH AND VALUES"

The Rev. Paige M. McRight, 1968 graduate of Agnes Scott, has been named chaplain at ASC. The Presbyterian minister, who received her divinity degree from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1971, comes to Agnes Scott from First Presbyterian Church in St. Petersburg, Fla., where she served as associate pastor since 1989.

A native of Hartselle, Ala., McRight previously served as associate presbyter for ministerial candidates in the Presbytery of Greater Atlanta, 1980-89. From 1970 to '78 she was chaplain and counselor of the drug and alcohol program at Clayton Mental Health Center in Riverdale, Ga. During 1971-72, McRight was a chaplain intern at Presbyterian University of Pennsylvania Medical Center in Philadelphia. The prior year, she was assistant chaplain and housemother at Rider College in Trenton, N.J.

Her community service includes serving as a member of the board of directors of the Career and Personal Counseling Center at Eckerd College in St. Petersburg, and of the Pinellas Chapter of Habitat for Humanity. She also served on various committees of the Downtown Kiwanis Club of St. Petersburg.

Says McRight, "I hope in my work with students this year as chaplain of the College to help young women discover the faith and values" as they learn and grow as students.

Elizabeth F. Potter '69

Elizabeth F. Potter '69: Exploring Politics of Gender and Science

SOCIAL INFLUENCES TILT BOYLE'S LAW OF GASES

Ten years ago, Elizabeth F. Potter '69 was at Boston University attending a two-day colloquium on the relationship of gender and science. After one talk, she remembers someone from the audience saying, "Yeah.

But you will never be able to prove that gender politics has anything to do with Boyle's Law of Gases." In the heat of the moment, noted Potter, "I said, 'I will.'" also traveled, held demonstrations, petitioned parliament and generally threatened the status quo. "As long as Linus' scientific views were viable, so were the natural science views that underpinned their political views," explained Potter.

Boyle and his followers maintained that matter was not alive, but inert. His theory, now standard to histories of science, took an empirical approach to "truth." As he worked to disprove Linus' theories, says Potter, he was at the same time contending with sectarian views which he recognized as a threat to prevailing political and religious hierarchies. (Boyle adhered to the popular idea that women's sexuality was "dangerous to men" and antithetical to the masculine pursuit of knowledge.)

At this fork in the road of scientific and religious thought, the issues were "loaded with gender politics," said Potter. Boyle eventually won the scientific debate, demonstrating that air pressure, not a vacuum, moved the Torricellian mercury barometer. He also helped win the day for continued male social control and a "new science" closed to women.

"We operate now under the scientific paradigm that Boyle helped put in place," Potter said later. "Scientific data alone did not decide the issue. Certain social principles tilted the decision against hylozoism and for the mechanistic paradigm. Both positions explain the data equally well."

Potter has a Ph.D. from Rice University. The politics of gender in 17th century science is a recurring theme in Potter's writing and in lectures at Amherst, Brown, Duke and Stanford universities and at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where she has been a visiting scholar in women's studies.

The Agnes Scott lecture was sponsored by the Kirk Fund.

do with Boyle's Law of Gases." In the heat of the moment, noted Potter, "I said, 'I will.'" As a result of that resolve, Potter unearthed what she calls a research gold mine and she is now working on a book-length monograph exploring the intersections of gender and the development of early modern atomic theory—in particular the principle of inertia and Boyle's Law of Gases.

In early November, Potter, the Quigley Professor of Women's Studies at Mills College, presented a public lecture, "Gender Politics and Boyle's Law of Gases," to those gathered in Rebekah Conference Room at Agnes Scott.

According to Potter, when Robert Boyle (17th century British natural philosopher and "father of modern chemistry") refuted Franciscus Linus' Aristotelian and hylozoist theory of matter, it also amounted to the refutation of sectarian religious/political belief.

Linus (an exiled British Jesuit scientist) adhered to the concept that all matter is alive and conscious, an idea also generally accepted by sectarians—Quakers, Seekers, Anabaptists and other religious/political radicals of his day. They advocated individual freedom and rights; sectarian men and women had spiritual equality within their churches where both voted, prophesied and preached; the women

Guidelines For Submitting Class News

The next CLASS NEWS deadline is Jan. 16, 1995. News received after that date will be published in the August issue. Deadline for the August 1995 issue of MAIN EVENTS is May 15. News received after that date will appear in the December 1995 issue.

Please send your class news, notices of births and of deaths to the Alumnae Office. The Alumnae Office will send you a postcard acknowledging receipt of your information.

Please include the alumna's maiden (birth) name and class. Please verify spellings. All news needs to be typed or written clearly. If you or your classmate has an unusual spelling of a name, please call that to our attention.

In sending a birth announcement, please include the husband's name, even if the alumna does not use it in her mailing address. Also include the baby's name and birthday.

Please report weddings and other planned events only after the fact.

Agnes Scott has nearly 10,000 living alumnae. We want to keep in touch with all of you and keep you in touch with each other. Except for budget restraints limiting the number of pages, CLASS NEWS is printed with only minor editing, so be selective. Let us hear from you regularly.

Contact your class secretary today with your news.

Music Department Seeks Donated Instruments

Agnes Scott College's music department is seeking donations of orchestral instruments for use by students enrolled in applied music lessons and also for those participating in the College's orchestra. Although all instruments would be useful, of special interest are large instruments that are normally provided by schools rather than owned by students. These include cellos, string basses, bassoons, harps, tubas and percussion instruments.

The music department will approve the acceptance of each gift. If an instrument cannot be used, the donation should be made with the understanding that the instrument may be sold by the College for the acquisition of other instruments.

Donors are responsible for shipping costs of instruments located outside the Atlanta metro area. Instruments may be sent to: Calvert Johnson, Department of Music, Agnes Scott College, 141 East College Avenue, Decatur, GA 30030-3797. Donors should also fill out IRS Form 8283 and submit it with the instrument for proper gift credit.

Sarah Spencer Gramling and her husband, D. Richard Gramling, continued their interest in space research and exploration. Richard retired three years ago after being with the space program since its beginning. They enjoyed seeing their children, who live near them in Cocoa, Fla., more often. Sarah helped Mary Margaret Stowe Hunter and Carrie Phinney Latimer Duval celebrate their July birthdays with a day at Montreat. She also welcomed Lucia Howard Sizemore '65, who addressed those attending the tea for "Scotties" at Montreat. Lois Hart visited her ASC roommate, Catherine Bates, in Penney Farms, Fla., and they planned extensive travels together.

in Accokeek, Md. Helen flew with her daughter, Joan, from California. Helen and Jack had just returned from having spent three weeks in England, Scotland and Wales. Helen and Jack's children and grandchildren are engaged in a variety of interesting careers. Frances makes good use of her background and interest in Maryland history as she arranges real estate sales on a part-time basis.

Josephine McClure Anderson, retired from teaching high school, in St. Petersburg, Fla., likes living in a pleasant retirement community where her time is filled with bridge, concerts, visits from her three daughters and short trips with other guests.

Ori Sue Jordan had major surgery last winter and her husband had health problems as well. She says they "live vicariously" through their son and daughter and the "grands." Her son, a TV producer, took six weeks off and climbed Mt. Everest to the 19,000-foot allowed level.

Jane Thomas Tilson has recovered from throat surgery and has moved back east from California.

Castleberry's '38 Tour of Duty

AS AN ARMY LIEUTENANT COLONEL CASTLEBERRY WORKED ON CLASSIFIED NUCLEAR ASSIGNMENTS

In the '90s, the armed services is male dominated. In the '50s it was even more so. That fact didn't intimidate Frances Castleberry '38—she signed up for the Army in 1951 and didn't retire until she was a lieutenant colonel 20 years later.

The military was not Castleberry's first career choice. After receiving an English degree from Agnes Scott, the native Atlantan left to teach at a high school in McCormick, S.C. She later returned to Atlanta to accept a position at Grady Hospital as a payroll supervisor and then moved on to the YWCA to work as a recreational leader.

Bored with her "monotonous lifestyle" Castleberry says, "I felt I needed a change." The Army was a viable option because she said it would give her a chance to see different places. "So, at age 34, I went into the Army as a captain."

Basic training took place at Women's Army Corps (WAC) Center at Fort Lee, Va. Along with 30 other women she learned to be a soldier in six weeks.

Castleberry parlayed her civilian IBM equipment expertise into developing computer-oriented training courses for military logistic systems. She was often the lone woman among hundreds of men working on highly classified projects involving nuclear warfare simulations. She served tours of duty as chief of the Computer Simulation Division with the National Military Command Systems Support Center in the Pentagon; dean of the School of Management Information Systems at Fort Lee, Va.; and as an instructor in Nuclear Weapons Employment at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

A soft-spoken woman, Castleberry says her self-confidence to achieve these positions was nurtured at Agnes Scott—in particular by Elizabeth Jackson, a history professor. "I remember we had to take an exam and one of the essay questions asked us to describe the social, economic and political differences between England, Germany and France. I didn't think I did very well. The next day, Miss Jackson asked me to read my paper in front of the class. I thought it must be the worst answer, but it wasn't. What could have been an inconsequential incident to someone else was very important to me."

—Rolanda Daniel '98

The "Lunch Bunch," Julia Thing Stamberger, Isabel McCain Brown, and Mary King Critchell were together in July near Mary's home in Franklin, N.C. Mary was packing to return for an extended stay in New York City, so her five-year-old grandson could enter an international school while his parents complete career assignments in Beijing and Tokyo.

Isabel attended that ASC gathering at the Inn on July 17, and planned to host her family in Montreat, but not all at once.

Alice Hannah Brown is delighted with her new residence near the Quaker center in Pennsylvania. There are congenial co-residents, stimulating activities, and access to events in Philadelphia. She remembers being in Goma, Zaire briefly during her three-year term teaching children of missionaries in the Belgian Congo, and is dismayed at the crisis there.

Jean Chalmers Smith and Walter were seen at the Atlanta Opera's performance of Turandot in June. Jean and her husband share seats in the same row with Bill and Jane Guthrie Rhodes who are also opera fans. Jean and Walter attended the graduation of their grandson from Amherst College in June and also attended a medical convention in Washington, D.C.

Winnie Kellersberger Vass writes that she has had an interesting life, so far, after five babies, three automobile accidents, a broken sternum, a ruptured lumbar area disk, chronic spondylosis and six surgeries! Her latest operation has been on her feet and she says it will be wonderful to walk again without wearing "ponderous clodhoppers." Winnie and Lach were to spend September and October at Montreat, N.C., working on their next book, The Lapsley Saga.

Nell Allison Sheldon spent part of her summer taking care of her daughter, Allison, in Oklahoma City, after a major operation. While there, Nell attended the Red Earth Festival which was celebrated by Native Americans from 50 states and included dances in full costume, as well as contests of all kinds. Nell also attended a wedding of the daughter of an alum, Ellen Verner Scoville, in Columbia, S.C. Nell reports that 56 percent of the class is now giving to the College. This increase of six percent from last year is probably due to the great reunion in '93.

Bee Merrill, North Carolina legislator, says the year ended well with a convention visit to New Orleans after a strenuous session on crime. She and Clary went to Toronto, Canada, for vacation where she took a course in Wine Education of America, which is a hobby.

Jane Guthrie Rhodes and her husband, Bill, celebrated their annual family reunion at Lakemont, Ga., in July, with only two of their family members missing: a granddaughter, Lynn, who was in Africa on a Worldwide Discipleship mission, and son Pete, who was in Russia working on several joint-venture business partnerships which he established with friends made during his "ham" radio years, in Central Siberia, Moscow and Budapest.

Penny Simonton Boothe's husband, Henry, had a corneal transplant in the late spring. The class wishes him the best results.

Also among the travelers in the class of '39 were Julia Porter Scurry and Jack who visited Russia in April.

During the flood of summer 1994, Ann Henry's home was not damaged, but she did not have running water for weeks. It was difficult waiting so long for suitable drinking water.

Louise Musser Kell and Tom had a wonderful trip to Africa in 1993, but 1994 was not as kind to them. Tom had a heart attack in Florida in January and surgery in March. True trooper that Louise is, when Pattie Patterson Johnson talked with her in May, she said daffodils were blooming in New Hampshire after a long, hard winter.

Mary Stuart Osteen's husband, Carl, had his first stroke in 1991, and is now in a health care center near their home in Cape Carol, Fla. Mary Stuart says she gets to see him every day and she is doing well.

Gene Slack Morse and Chet had a delightful three-week trip to Sicily and Italy in May. However, Gene says they both have had surgeries this year. Gene has had one cataract operation and Chet has had two. Of much more concern though has been quadruple by-pass heart surgery for Chet in June. He is recuperating very well and they planned a trip to New England in September.

Margaret Nix Ponder's husband, Paul, has been serving as governor of his district of Rotary in Florida this year. This has kept them busy visiting the chapters in their area. In June, they attended the Rotary international meeting in Taiwan and extended the trip into Hong Kong.

They are proud of their grandson, Ben Pappas, who has been elected president of the student government association representing high schools in Tennessee.

Margaret Hartsbrook Emmons and Arnold, returning from his NACA reunion at Port Canaveral, Fla., stopped for a visit with Ila Belle Levie Bagwell and her daughter, Fran, in Spartanburg, S.C. Margaret was recruited by her church to be a member of a volunteer tutorial program in the local elementary school, which she enjoys and keeps her busy.

Elise Nance Bridges and Fred have moved to a retirement home.

Neva Jackson Redfern and Clarence spent two wonderful weeks in San Francisco with the usual side trip to Mendocino. They attended a Kiwanis convention in New Orleans where they had "an hour of solid laughs" from a talk given by Art Linkletter. Neva spent the summer working with her trio in preparation for Interlochen in August.

Olivia White Cave joined the Atlanta Spoleto Society for a trip to Charleston, S.C. to attend the Spoleto Music Festival in May. In addition to enjoying a weekend of great music, the group was entertained at Middleton Place and several historic homes on the Battery and East Bay Street. In July, Olivia went to Scotland for a week of golf and attended the British Open.

With about 47 class members attending, the class of 1944 enjoyed a delightful 50th reunion during Alumnae Weekend. The College entertained the class with an enjoyable dinner on Friday night and a luncheon on Saturday. A special class dinner was held Saturday night at the Holiday Inn in Decatur.

Sixty-four percent of the class gave a total of $26,940, and the class received the silver bowl for the highest percentage of class giving.

Mary Frances Stovall, class president, and June Lanier Wagner, 50th reunion chairperson, planned well the very successful 50th reunion of the class of 1944. The newly elected officers of the class are Katherine Phillips Long, president, and Betty Pope Scott Noble, secretary.

Nelda Brantley Burke is back in Georgia, after years of living in New York City. Widowed in 1980 and remarried in 1987, Nelda has three children and two grandchildren, all living in Atlanta.

It was good hearing (via the 1994 questionnaire) from Mildred Broyles Carver, who lives in Atlanta. In addition to rearing her own two children, Mildred raised three nephews and a niece, orphaned by an Air France crash many years ago.

Another classmate from whom we've heard from is Lucy Lee Mohr Gunn and her husband, an engineer and an Episcopal priest, who continue to live and work in Hendersonville, N.C. They have five children and eight grandchildren.

Julia Blake Jones, wife of a Methodist minister, has moved many times, and is now living in Gainesville, Fla. They have four children and two grandchildren and stay busy with a shelter program for the homeless and Habitat for Humanity.

Zora Hodges Manley lives in Goldsboro, N.C. She and her husband have two sons and one grandchild. Zora is active in the arts council, the local library board and other volunteer activities.

Betty Jo Sauer Mansur was sorry to miss the reunion because of prior travel plans. She and her husband remain busy with music, books, bridge, gardening and enjoying his two children and the grandchildren.

Mary Frances Perry Johnson, who lives in Ahoskie, N.C., relates that she is a widow with three children and three grandsons. A retired school teacher, she enjoys travel, reading and volunteer activities.

Last spring, Kate Elmore was honored by the Alabama Shakespeare Festival for service as a longtime board member and supporter. Attending the special occasion were friends and relatives from as far away as California.

Jeanette Willcoxon Peterson lives in Metter, Ga., not far from her three sons and their families. Jeanette stays busy with reading, travel, church and volunteer activities.

Marjorie Marks Martin of DeLand, Fla., was sorry to miss the class reunion. She and her husband have two children and five grandchildren. Marjorie enjoys garden club, church work and the local historical society.

Phyllis Ann Simms Hendley has moved from Virginia to Gainesville, Ga.

Pat Russell Coleman, retired from high school guidance counseling, attended the D-Day celebration in France last summer. Her husband, Bill, was in the Normandy invasion.

Mary Frances Jones Woolsey was in Alaska in July, where she and her husband visited a daughter and son-in-law who operate a bed and breakfast there during summer months. The couple's other children live in Illinois, Arizona and California.

Though she missed the ASC reunion, Rebecca "Becky" Lever Brown recently wrote a play (her second for TV) about a class reunion, L'Auberge de L'Etoile. The murder mystery aired weekly during the month of July.

Another author in the class is Dorothy "Dolly" Cave Aldrich, whose book Beyond Courage published in 1992, recently won the New Mexico Presswomen's Zia award. It was while researching this book (about a regiment of New Mexicans on Bataan and in Japanese POW camps) that Dolly interviewed and later married her husband Jack Aldrich. The couple has been married two years.

Virginia "Gin" Vining Skelton is now in Atlanta, after living in cities all over the United States. She and her husband have a son and daughter, both attorneys, in Texas and Georgia.

Page Steve Reid writes from Vermont that she and her husband (now retired from his dental practice) have recently taken trips to New Zealand and Australia. In addition to spending time with children and grandchildren, Steve stays busy with sailing and literacy work at the state and community levels.

The 45th class reunion for the class of 1950 will be held the last weekend of April 1995.

Bab Young Hall and her friend, Carl, hosted a great reunion in Eleuthra, Bahamas in May. "Beejit" Crowther Beall, Joann Plastre Britt, Jo Ann McCall Cobb and John, Faye Tynes Dick and Marion, Mary C. S. Drake, Joann Peterson Floyd and Waldo, Ann Gebhardt Fullerton, Frances Carpenter Holton, Frances Howerton Lucas, Alline Marshall, and Annelle Ward Moore were all in attendance. Prior to the island get-away, Beryl Crews Thomson had a gathering in Miami.

In July, Joann Peterson Floyd, Betty Cole Van Hooten, Mary Drakes, Louise A. Rice, Mary Ann Hartman, and Claire Foster Moore met for lunch at the Emory Inn to plan for the 45th reunion.

Martha Stowell Rhodes is still in Greenwich, teaching, researching, and involving herself in the New York City American Bible Society.

Isabel Fine Truslow and Allen enjoy spending time with their grandchildren at their river house in Richmond.

After 7 weeks in Britain, Jessie Hodges Kryder and Bill recently returned to Anniston.

Anna Williamson Young, living in Little Rock, leads retreats in places like Banner Elk and Missouri Ranch.

Pat Asbury Moore and Scott now live in Salem, S.C.

Dot Medlock Irvine and Bob are living in Aiken, S.C., but recently celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary in Ankara, Turkey.

In May 1994 Kay attended graduation exercises at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, where her god-daughter, Martha "Miff" Sayles, received her doctorate in psychology. Miff is the daughter of Joann Wood Sayles, who died a number of years ago.

Kay enjoys playing golf and is a member of the board of the Peachtree Ladies Investment Club and of a credit union in Atlanta. Her 16-year-old granddaughter in Virginia will be ready for college in a year, and Kay hopes that she will choose Georgia Tech.

Barbara Quattlebaum Parr, who played tournament tennis in years past, still plays two or three times a week in Atlanta, Ga. She especially enjoyed her three grandchildren, who all live nearby in the Atlanta area. Her husband, Bill, has fully recovered from multiple bypass heart surgery performed in early 1994.

Betty Ziegler Dunn and her husband, Clyde, returned home to Jacksonville, N.C., in late July, after an extended trip, which began in December 1993. They traveled through the western United States and into Alaska.

Mary Caroline Lindsay took an early retirement from the Atlanta Public Schools and now has time for travel and her four grandchildren in Atlanta. In February "M.C." ventured to Israel and Egypt. In September she scheduled a trip with the Friendship Force to the Netherlands, where she stayed in two private homes over a two-week period.

Betty McClain Ivy received an award for outstanding accomplishment in teaching Spanish in the Duluth, Ga., community schools. Her husband, Kelly, is doing well after having a bout with cancer for several years.

Marjorie Stukes Smith made a quick and unanticipated trip from England to Decatur in July to help her mother move into a retirement condominium.

Friends and memories of Agnes Scott grow sweeter with the years. Ann Herman Dunwody, Ann Parker Lee, Patricia Cortelyou Winship, Shirley Heath Roberts, Catherine Crowe Dickman and Adelaide Ryall Beall, stayed up until the wee hours of the morning reminiscing while they were visiting Margaretta Lumpkin Shaw and Bud at their summer home, in Blowing Rock, N.C. In addition to sightseeing and shopping, one of the highlights was a picnic with Mary Beth Robinson Stuart '53 and several of their classmates who also lived in Boyd Cottage during their junior year. June Carpenter Sloan and Rudy, her husband, were at their summer home and added to the festivities of the get-together. On Sunday, the entire group, about 25 including husbands, went to church to hear Mary Beth's husband, Jim, preach. It was a loving and happy weekend for all.

Phyllis Galphin Buchanan wrote to say she and Jim thoroughly enjoyed their cruise of the Mediterranean. In fact they had so much fun they stayed for two additional weeks, going to Spain and Portugal, and arriving in France in time for the D-Day commemorations.

Caroline, daughter of Florence Worthy Griner and Howard, was married April 2 in the home of her sister, Anne Griner Watkins '79. Afterward, they flew to Switzerland for a church wedding with the family of the groom. The family of the bride spent the week traveling. They continued celebrating with a huge party in Tallahassee, Fla., in May. Florence is "recovering" nicely.

Also in May, Adelaide Ryall Beall and granddaughter, Natalie Beall, 12, went to Italy and Israel together. Adelaide said she is "creating memories" for her grandchildren.

Ann Herman Dunwody and Ken survived the "Great Flood" in Georgia but lost their house on the river and were without water at their Macon home for weeks.

Good news! Winnie Strozier Hoover and Charles have retired and are moving back to Atlanta.

Betty Cheney Watkins says her life, which revolves around church and family, is wonderful, full and content with four grandchildren who she says are the "light of my life!" Charles, Betty's husband, has retired and written a book set in a small southern town, A Man from PoBiddy.

Allena Dogget Dyes' husband, John, has published a book of photographs entitled Nesting Birds of the Coastal Islands. Allena retired this year and says she is looking forward to more reading and trips to Colorado.

Still living in Clearwater, Fla., and working as a chemist, Camille Watson Hospadaruk has two children and two grandchildren. She enjoys folk music and has learned to play the guitar, the lap dulcimer and many other folk instruments.

The Class thanks Jane King Allen for serving as class president and Melba Ann Cronenberg Bassett for serving as class secretary for the past five years. Newly elected class president is Mary Clayton Bryant Dubard.

The 35th reunion was a great time of sharing, visting and eating. Many thanks go to the reunion co-chairs Nora Ann Simpson Davis and Margaret Fortney Sibley. Fifty classmates, spouses, and dates gathered for

Friday evening and Saturday evening meals and sharing. Thanks for the responsiveness to a thoughtful questionnaire, news from classmates will be shared in several installments. "Grandchildren" was the most common response to the question of "what is most gratifying about this time in our lives."

As for those who were not able to be in Decatur for the reunion, Charlotte Caston Barber writes that she still lives in Jackson, Ga. Her husband, Charles, died in 1969 after heart surgery. She has two sons, George, 35, and David, 31, two wonderful grandchildren, a boy and a girl, both four, living near her. She finished six months of chemotherapy at Piedmont Hospital in Atlanta, in December, and the prognosis appears good.

Patti Forrest Davis has been appointed to the President's Council for the Arts at University of Virginia. Patti also serves on the boards of the Charlottesville Symphony, Music Teacher's Association and Ash Lawn Opera Festival. She is also serving on the Session at First Presbyterian Church. Professionally, she is busy with 18 adult piano students and regular local performances. Their younger son was married in April.

Leah "Bugs" Matthews Fontaine, Helen "Scotty" Maddox Gaillard, Nancy Brown Geiling and Ann Peagler Gallagher '61 gathered at Nancy's home in San Marino, Calif., in November. "Bugs's" son, Joe, is a sophomore at Bowden College in Brunswick, Maine. Frances Elliott Kempen's children are at the University of Washington in Seattle; Laurie is in a doctorate program in romance languages and John is a medical doctor completing his residency.

Anne Selph Mackay lives in Tallahassee, Fla. Her husband, Buddy, is Lt. Governor and running for re-election. They have three children who are married, one high school graduate this year and two grandchildren! Her interests are gardening, pottery and children and family issues. HIPPY (Home Institute for Pre-school Youngsters) is an organization she is working to see incorporated. She is also on the Health Maintenance Board.

Annette Teague Powell is director of development at a community college, organist and choir director at First Presbyterian in Whiteville, N.C., and host mother for a Swiss student. Her daughter, Caroline, who is a certified financial planner in Charlotte has bought a home and is president of her professional organization. Her son, Monteith, bought a house at Lake Waccamaw, is engaged and in business locally (pawn shop & used car dealer); daughter, Elizabeth, completed her master's at the University of South Carolina, teaches kindergarten in Cary, N.C., and is a certified aerobics instructor.

Paula Pilkenton Vail and Chip are very much involved in the life and ministry of First Baptist Church in Roanoke, Va. Chip has been the administrator for eight years. Paula served two years as president of the Roanoke Rescue Mission board of directors. She stopped playing the violin 10 years ago. Daughter, Elizabeth, is area director of Southern Virginia for American Heart Association in Raonoke. Son, Charles, married Laura Allen ASC class of '88. Lelia Jones Graham and Al have recently returned from a wonderful hiking and touring holiday in Bavaria and Austria. Their "shopping and dining guidance" was provided by the class secretary!

Elizabeth Thomas Freyer and Fred have sold their home in Sandy Springs, Ga., which they so graciously made available for the class reunions. Elizabeth said they are bidding their time in temporary quarters for the next year or so before making any firm decisions. In the meantime, they are looking forward to a new neighborhood with lots to offer, especially in the way of restaurants.

Libba Lee Neal and Heidt are in Midland, Ga., near Columbus. Libba graduated from the University of Alabama in 1963 with a degree in teaching and still does some substitute work at a local high school. She gives priority to her granddaughter, however! Libba wrote Agnes Scott made a "wonderful difference in her life" and that she remembers her classmates fondly. Libba confessed that she is glad to be able to shop in Atlanta without the requirement of "hat, heels and gloves." (Doesn't that phrase bring back memories?)

A few notes from Cornelia "Corny" Bryant. . . Retirement in Virginia is wonderful! She is involved in three needlework groups: Woodlawn Plantation, Kenmore in Fredericksburg and the local chapter of the American Needlework Guild. She also finds the time to volunteer in the Virginian Room of the Central Rappahannock Regional Library and Historic Fredericksburg's Building Marker Program. She has just installed a very large mailbox to accommodate the large volume of contributions from the class of '63 for future issues of Main Events!

Julie Huffaker '86

GRADUATE NAMED DEPUTY DIRECTOR OF AMERICORPS

Like the Nike ad, Julie Huffaker '86 tells students to, "Just do it," when considering a career in community service. Huffaker followed her own advice and recently became deputy director of AmeriCorps, a division of the Corporation for National and Community Service established by President Bill Clinton's administration in 1993. AmeriCorps' mission: to help disadvantaged youth gain job skills needed to enter the mainstream work force and at the same time accomplish determined and positive results in their local communities.

Huffaker decided on a career in community service following a Peace Corps recruitment session at Agnes Scott. Her initial assignment was in Botswana where she taught science and later coordinated preschool health and education projects. "I loved it," Huffaker says of her sojourn in Africa. However, she adds, "I had no idea what I was getting into; it is nothing like TV."

Upon returning to the United States two and a half years later, Huffaker accepted a new assignment to develop training handbooks for early childhood education programs. She remained with the Peace Corps for three more years, before being assigned to AmeriCorps. After six months, her current position opened. As deputy director she coordinates the Leader's Program, which recruits and trains VISTA, Peace Corps and AmeriCorps members for leadership projects funded by AmeriCorps.

A biology major at ASC, Huffaker's future plans include attending medical school and becoming a family practitioner, but it may be a while before she makes her hospital rounds. "Medicine is just on the back burner right now," she says. "I love my job with AmeriCorps," she is quick to add. "It has broadened my perspective and is strengthening my moral sense."

Victoria Justice, of Mill Valley, Calif., has lived in the San Francisco Bay Area for 25 years. She is a single mother of a 13-year-old daughter. Vicki has a jewelry design business, loves gardening and the arts. Also, she pursues interests in personal/spiritual growth, body awareness and environmental issues.

Life as a wife, homemaker, school and church volunteer continues to keep Cynthia Pharr Brackett very busy. Her husband, Joe, is a claims analyst with the law firm of Gurney and Hanley in Orlando. Their eldest son, Chase, is a senior in high school while daughter, Holly, 14, and is in the eighth grade. Carter, their youngest son, is 10 and a fourth grader. Nothing like spreading oneself thin in three different PTAs! Cynthia still lives in her hometown and is working on her 30th high school reunion this year. This will include ASC classmates Anne Gilbert Brooks and Elaine Harper Horton. Cynthia has also worked part time for Junior Achievement and is discovering a new interest in floral arranging.

Susan Foy Spratling lives in Birmingham, Ala., where she started a lay ministry called "Hope Chest." Dressers are placed in churches where members then fill them with baby items. The chests are given to pregnant women in need.

Sally Bainebridge Akridge went quail hunting in Thomasville, Ga., with Rebecca Lanier Allen last winter. Sally reports she rode in the wagon pulled by mules while Rebecca rode on a horse like the men. Sally included a wonderful photo of Rebecca on her thoroughbred, Bonnie, from the Thomasville paper.

Willa Dale Meeks Smid lives in Ridgetown, Ontario, where her husband teaches at the local college. Their oldest son is a second year college graphic design student. Their three other sons are in the 12th, 9th and 6th grades. Willa Dale is an elementary school principal and teaches fifth and sixth grades. She loves Canada but misses the warm temperatures of the South.

Her daughter Beth is a sophomore in high school and beginning to look at colleges.

Sherry Huebsch Drury reports that husband Dick's ministry in the inner city of Montgomery, Ala., is "astounding." Daughters Holly and Betsy are very involved in gymnastics, piano and ballet. Sherry spends her time "helping keep all the balls in the air," plus doing some interior designing, retail work at Southern Homes and Gardens, gourmet cooking and maintaining their 83-year-old house and flower, vegetable and herb gardens.

Alice Lightle Holcomb writes of a mini-reunion and "grand celebration" in Little Rock, Ark., last April. In honor or "horror" of their 40th birthdays, she and husband Stuart gathered for a weekend with Ann Baxley Carpenter and Richard, Kathryn Bireley Plouff, and Jody Melton Mincey and Greg. Kids were not invited. The group spent one evening with Cindy Hodges Burnes '77, and Kevin. The highlight of the weekend was a day at the horse races in Hot Springs at Oaklawn Park, with "red carpet" treatment from Jody's dad, a member of the racing commission. Alice reports that Ann and Richard, both physicians, have two girls and live in Richmond, Va. Kathryn recently returned to Dallas, where she works for Heller. Jody and Greg, also a physician, live in Pinehurst, N.C., and have two boys. Alice and Stuart have three children, Edward, 6, Foster, 4, and Katie, 2. Stuart is in building and Alice is assistant legal counsel to Governor Jim Guy Tucker. The general consensus of all who attended was, "for the most part, we all look pretty good!"

The Class had a grand time at its 15th reunion in April. Many thanks to Peggy Pfeiffer Elder, Lisa Morthey Kelly, Anne Jones, Elizabeth Wells Lang and Linda McColl Montreuil, who served on the reunion committee. For those who couldn't make it, the new class officers include Nancy Rogers, president; Emily Sheffield Hollingsworth, vice-president; and fund chairs Mopsy Widener Mullins and Andrea Groover Nagelson. (Since Mopsy and Andrea both live in the San Francisco area, the class gave them a reason to get together more often.

In addition to all of the above, class members seen having a good time at various reunion activities included: Susi Gomez Boutier, Debby Daniel-Bryant, Dian Sanders Baker, Claire Hall, Mari Perez Hobgood (who received the award for having the most children, four), Gloria Jones Howard (married the longest), Melanie Meadows Jordan, Shannon Ruddell Loftis, Kathy Boone Elliot, Donna Sanson, Julie Johnston Wiggins, Karol Hammer Stephens, Carolyn Pervis Whatley, Helen Hill Waters (working on her M.A. in history), Rebecca Ozburn (still flying for Delta) and Barbara Propst Spell.

Linda McColl Montreuil perhaps should have received the hospitality award during the reunion. Her houseguests included Mopsy Widener Mullins, Andrea Groover Nagelson, Nan Atkins Bilek, Catherine Crook Hagood, Leslie Doyle Breneger and Angela Fleming Rogers. Angela played an important role in helping to locate a classmate on the "missing persons" list, Katherine Harris. While on vacation in Fla., Angela happened to see an article about Katherine in a local magazine. Katherine is working in real estate and running for a seat in the Florida Senate. At the Saturday evening reunion party, members of the class took up a modest donation (in pennies) for Katherine's campaign, which Mopsy Widener Mullins promised to forward.

Peggy Pfeiffer Elder and Susi Gomez Boutier discovered that they live near each other in Peachtree City, Ga. Susi and her husband Patrick own and operate a restaurant in nearby Fayetteville called The Village Cafe. Peggy has eaten there a number of times and gives it rave reviews.

At the reunion, Barbara Propst Spell and Ginny Lee McMurray talked about life in New Orleans. Barbara and her family recently moved there, while Ginny and her family recently moved to Little Rock, Ark., after 11 years in New Orleans. Ginny and her daughters, Kathleen, 7, and Margaret, 4, took a vacation to New Orleans in June. While standing on a street corner eating snowballs, they ran into Barbara and her daughters, Helen and Celia, who were on their way to visit the Aquarium. While in New Orleans, Ginny also visited with Eleanor Graham, who recently left her job as a deputy city attorney to work with the law firm of Phelps, Dunbar. In addition to her law practice, Eleanor stays busy with her children, Caroline, 7, and Benjamin, 4.

Melanie Best, now living in Hoboken, N.J., is fundraising in New York City with the American Civil Liberties Union. Earlier this year, she and Sandy Fowler traveled to London, England, to visit Virginia Rockwell, a Coca-Cola consultant of Britain and Ireland. Virginia has also been taking classes at the Garden Design School of the Royal British Gardens, and visited Linda McInnis this past spring in Pueblo, Colo. Linda recently married Dean Miller atop a Pueblo mountain. The couple became acquainted and engaged via E-mail, fax and phone before actually meeting face-to-face in May! Linda is working for the Pueblo Symphony and enjoys life in Colorado.

Notes:

The name of Ruby Rosser Davis '43 was inadvertently omitted from the list of founding donors to the Catherine Sims Fund which appeared in the August edition of Main Events. The College regrets the error and any embarrassment or inconvenience it may have caused.

The name of the scholarship fund established by John and Martha Boone Shaver '41 appeared incorrectly. The correct name of the scholarship fund is the Dr. and Mrs. B.E. Boone Jr. Scholarship Fund.

MEMORIALIZING LOVED ONES

A gift to Agnes Scott is an appropriate way to honor or to memorialize a friend or member of your family. On receiving your donation, Agnes Scott will send an acknowledgement to the family or individual. Unless otherwise instructed, your gift will be used where it is most needed.

Between June 20, 1994 and Oct. 13, 1994, Agnes Scott received gifts in honor or in memory of each person listed.
