

The
Agnes Scott
Alumnae Quarterly

MIDWINTER
NUMBER

January, 1925

Published by the
Agnes Scott Alumnae Association
Decatur, Ga.

Agnes Scott College

Decatur, Georgia

A College for Women

---

---

The Agnes Scott Alumnae Quarterly

PUBLISHED BY

THE AGNES SCOTT ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

DECATUR, GEORGIA

BOARD OF EDITORS

Editors .....	{ LOUISE JOHNSON, '20 NELL BUCHANAN, '22
Associate Editors .....	{ ELIZABETH WILSON, '22 POLLY STONE, '24
Student Editor .....	EDITH RICHARDS, '27
Advertising .....	{ MARY FREEMAN, '26 EDITH RICHARDS, '27

The Agnes Scott Alumnae Quarterly

VOL. III

JANUARY, 1925

No. 2

Agnes Scott Alumnae Bulletin. Entered as second class matter, under the Act of Congress, August, 1912

TABLE OF CONTENTS

ALUMNAE HOUSE MANTLED IN JANUARY SNOW ..... Frontispiece

DR. CHARLES R. THWING VISITS AGNES SCOTT

INVESTITURE ADDRESS ..... Lucile Alexander, '11

"TO RESCUE TODAY FROM OBLIVION," Poem ..... Janef Preston, '21

AGNES SCOTT'S BUILDING PLANS ..... Carol Stearns Wey, '12

THE VASSAR ALUMNAE HOUSE ..... Margaret Hay, ex '23

"THE PATH," Poem ..... Marjorie Lowe, '23

AGNES SCOTT'S GRANDCHILDREN

CONCERNING YOUR CLASS REUNION ..... Polly Stone, '24

BOOK REVIEWS ..... Margaret Bland, '20

ON THE CAMPUS ..... Edith Richards, '27

    The Alumnae-Varsity Hockey Game

    Day Students' Plans

    Blackfriars Enter Intercollegiate Contest

FROM OUR LOCAL CLUBS—

    Charlotte, N. C.

    Richmond, Va.

    Atlanta, Ga.

    Decatur, Ga.

CONCERNING OURSELVES

THE ALUMNAE OFFICE—

    Guests of the House

    Alumnae Letters

ANNOUNCEMENTS

OFFICERS AND STANDING COMMITTEES OF THE ASSOCIATION

ALUMNAE HOUSE MANTLED IN JANUARY SNOW

The Agnes Scott Alumnae Quarterly

JANUARY, 1925

---

---

DR. CHARLES W. THWING VISITS AGNES SCOTT

President of Phi Beta Kappa Addresses College Community

Among the distinguished visitors who have been at Agnes Scott this year, there has been none more distinguished than Dr. Charles W. Thwing, President Emeritus of Western Reserve University, and National President of Phi Beta Kappa, who with Mrs. Thwing was a guest at the Alumnae House last week. Dr. Thwing has for many years been prominent and influential especially in the educational world. As an author also, he is quite well known, among his books being "The College Woman", "The American College in American Life", "The Choice of a College", and "A Liberal Education and a Liberal Faith".

Dr. Thwing delivered three addresses to Agnes Scott audiences during his stay at the College. On Monday afternoon, he talked to the Faculty, emphasizing the responsibilities and opportunities of the college teacher, in training the students to think, and in helping them to get the most out of their lives. On Tuesday morning he addressed the College community on "Elements of Power in Our Lives". Tuesday afternoon, Dr. Thwing gave a talk before the Agnes Scott Classical Club on "The Value of the Classics".

During their stay at Agnes Scott, Dr. and Mrs. Thwing were the honor guests at many entertainments, among them a luncheon in the Agnes Scott Dining Hall, and a dinner at the Alumnae House, given by the faculty members of Phi Beta Kappa. They were entertained at luncheon at Emory University, and were the guests of honor at a dinner at the Georgian Terrace, given by the Georgia Society of Phi Beta Kappa. The Trustees of Agnes Scott also entertained Dr. and Mrs. Thwing at a luncheon at the Georgian Terrace Hotel.

Dr. Thwing said that he was favorably impressed with the educational system of the colleges and universities of the South, and spoke of their able faculties and splendid students. We take pleasure in printing excerpts from Dr. Thwing's lecture to the Agnes Scott community:

ELEMENTS THAT ARE OF POWER IN OUR LIVES

CHARLES W. THWING

"I am very happy to be here on this day. The service has been a preparation for what I want to say, for the psalm, hymn, and prayer have touched the heart and enlightened the mind. I want to talk of elements that are of power, force and value in our lives. This day and place lend emphasis and origin to what I have to say about first, the power of reverence for life. This is Armistice Day—a day that touches us closely. I have a son who shed his blood on the soil of France. It is a holy time—so holy that we can not speak of it nor think of it—we can just feel. It represents the power of Death, but also the giving of Life for the sake of Life—to make life fuller. Every day we read in the papers of the taking of life, but after all, these outlawries and horrors and catastrophes emphasize for us the value of the essential gift, the force of life. The very spot where we stand represents life given for the sake of life. We, the children and grandchildren of those who went on before, have a consuming love for life as life. The trees about us—the animals have life. We are children of life everlasting.

Another element of power—and your beloved President has used the phrase I would like to use in speaking of it—is the power of thinking. It belongs to us, as college people in an especial way—the power to think. Psychologists have discussed the question, “Do animals think?” However that may be, man is the chief, if not the only thinking animal. The glory of this college is that it teaches the girls to become thinkers—the best thinkers. True learning is the result of thinking—the ability to take one fact, then another, to relate them, and bring forth a new fact; from references to gather inferences; to reason, to judge; to assess facts at their true values. Here is one illustration. I have the privilege of knowing John D. Rockefeller. One day there came to his house a caller to see the master. The caller was denied. As he had come on important business, he persisted, and asked, “Why can I not see Mr. Rockefeller? What is he doing?” The answer was, “Oh, he is upstairs, and I presume that as usual, he is just thinking.” Now Mr. Rockefeller is recognized as a man of will. He even has the reputation of being ruthless. I don’t think he is, but above and beyond all else, he has the power of thinking. It may be that he has thought unjustly in commercial ways—but he thinks. One business man said that in his business, if he wanted to buy up crude oil in the open markets three weeks ahead, he found that John D. Rockefeller had been there before him. He has that pre-meditation, that “before four o’clock in the morning” thinking that makes men great. He has been a great benefactor of colleges. Now Mr. Carnegie has thought in a different way. His decisions were immediate, almost impulsive, but they came from an unconscious, long-continued process—the results of unconscious thought. Rockefeller was once asked for money for the Harvard Medical School. He investigated, through experts, the demands of the building, and the money which he advanced was given as the result of a thorough investigation. Mr. Morgan was also asked to give. He requested that the plans be given him. He took them to Europe, and probably never opened them, but he gave a million dollars. He thought unconsciously, but he reached his conclusions by a long-continued process of unconscious thinking.

Now girls—to you, the thinkers, now is your best chance, for some, almost the only chance, to make yourselves thinkers—to fill the orbit of your thinking full, to ascertain the Truth. I like to think of the motto of Harvard College—“Veritas”—written on the seal, not across one book only, but across three books. The truth of the Bible, of God, of yourself with Nature. The great people of the world are thinkers in Truth. Bishop Butler said he hoped to make Truth his field of influence. Truth is the conquering force of life.

I want to put in a word about seeing Truth in its proper perspective. There is the truth of the atom, of life about us, of flowers, of self, of the relations of men to each other, of history, of great literature. All of these things are important, but they are not equally important. It is for us to give the proper relationship and proportions to Truth—to put first things first, secondary things second, and, I may say, tertiary things third.

I want to talk of another great power which has been given to us, the power of a pure, enlightened conscience. An enlightened conscience belongs to us college people especially. Often as we see the stars at night, we stand in awe of the heavens, and of something else, of the moral law within. Whence came it? We know not. There is the voice of God in our own hearts—"I ought"—an imperative that must be obeyed, and that if disobeyed, costs all. In our own time, we sometimes seem to be losing it, indifferent to it, careless about it. With intellectual altruism, we go on with careless indifference, leading our simple lives. We are just through the national campaign which illustrates with force the evil of intolerance. Democracy, grace, and virtue for selves—ought they not to allow to others the same virtue and grace? It is just about seventy years since John Stuart Mills wrote his great book on Liberty—the mightiest principle in the world. It is a plea for tolerance of judgment and opinion.

You have, you ought to have, we want you to have, an increasing fullness of life as life increases. There is the power of a great ideal, of a consuming idealism for yourself and life. Saturday, I was in the Cleveland Art Museum, and as I always do, I went to see a picture of Carthage, by Turner. The picture is typical of that master of color and shows the glory of Carthage's free empire. Carthage, that once swept the seas, sent argosies to the East, North, and West, rivaled Rome for the supremacy of the world, and that Rome felt she must destroy, to save herself from destruction. It was a glorious Carthage. We have been reading lately of some excavations made there—a few walls, tiles, bricks. What else? Carthage was destroyed, not only physically, but as an influence in all civilization. We once took a ship in Alexandria, and approaching a promontory, we saw in the sky a singular square formation. Was it clouds? Presently we saw that it was the Acropolis—the Power. Beneath it, beneath the Parthenon, Demosthenes, Sophocles, Euripides, Aescuylus, and Sophocles reasoned out some of life's problems for us. Plato and Aristotle prove Carthage vanished, but Athens still moves. If you will go a ship's journey to the west, you come to another peninsula—the Seven Hill City. It is not the same Rome of Caesar, Cicero and Seneca, but it is still Rome for their influence still lives, and the government of Rome has gone all over the world. If you go to the east, you come to Palestine, sterile and poor. It is as small as Vermont, and like Vermont, it has mountains and rivers and lakes. Palestine lives, because there by the Sea of Galilee, in Capernium and Jerusalem, the city of great kings, Jesus walked and taught. In His soul was a great ideal. Palestine, Athens and Rome live, and will so long as civilization exists. Carthage alone belongs to the archeologists. Carthage was physical, tangible, immediate.

Girls, you have the power of a great ideal.

INVESTITURE.

CLASS OF '25 FORMALLY INVESTED NOV. 5

Miss Alexander Makes Address to Seniors

The Senior Class of 1925 was given its formal right to the hard-earned cap and gown on November 5th, when Investiture Service took place. This service is one unique to our College, and Investiture Day is second in importance only to Commencement Day, in the lives of our Seniors.

To the inspiring strains of "Ancient of Days", the academic line marched down the chapel aisle; first the faculty, followed by the Sophomore sisters dressed in white, and lastly the Senior Class. Miss Lucile Alexander, Professor of Romance Languages at the College, and one of our alumnae, made the address of the occasion, after which the Seniors marched singly to the stage, where Miss Hopkins placed upon their heads the caps significant of their satisfactory completion of three years of college work. The auditorium was packed with spectators—the parents and friends of the Seniors, and others of the college community.

Miss Alexander's address was as follows:

Mr. President, Fellow Members of Class of '25:

Today you are the heart of a ceremony that marks you as somehow different from your fellow students. The cap and gown is symbolic of a distinction. Now everything which sets you apart from the crowd must find its justification in what you bring of "sweetness and light" to the smaller social group of which you are now a part, and later the larger group without, of which, in no small sense, you are soon to become the leaders. Else this is a hollow distinction and you have failed to see back of the symbol the reality. Soon you are to join the ranks of those labelled "educated", the ranks of the thinking men and women who are shaping the future. This word "educated" will give you pause if you have read in the November Century an article by Nathaniel Peffer entitled, "The Treason of the Educated". He finds the only ray of hope in the night of the European situation just this: that higher education as it now exists may end, that the universities may have to close. The same reaction under different names is in progress everywhere in Europe—always hate is the basis, weapon, chief product; brutality the mode of expression; chauvinism and militarism the outward signs. The nurturing ground of this reaction, certainly in Central Europe, is the University whose influence reaches down through the secondary school to the little child, hardening his mind by the bigotries of his elders and making it impervious to a vision of the new and more merciful social order. The author raises the question: Why are institutions of learning sacred as such? Why tolerate such bitter fruit in institutions whose avowed function is to dispel ignorance and put the test of truth to prejudice?

Nor does he spare the American University in his arraignment. Here he finds an inertia more deplorable than bad ideas—for the reason that bad ideas raise their own opposition.

We should like to believe that the darkness of the picture is overdrawn. But if we open our eyes and see the truth we must realize that forces are at work, which, if they succeed, mean another catastrophe, the end of European and white civilization. The task of creating new ideas, conditions, atmosphere, in order to save the future of humanity, is one that challenges every thinking person. In this task the college women are aspiring to their full share. At the third Biennial Conference of the International Federation of University Women last summer in Sweden, the keynote of every speech was the formation of the international mind which will work for all nations and not for one only, the cultivation of the spirit of wide-mindedness, toleration, sympathy. These were discussions by thinking people of twenty different nationalities in an atmosphere of trust and mutual understanding. Surely it will inspire you to know that of the one hundred-and-twelve delegates, sixty-six were from the United States. If the large majority of our hundred-and-ten-million citizens persist in keeping in power a party more concerned with American rights than duties, whose leaders maintain a "backward look upon the new problems of the world", is it idle to say that to these organized college women may come the high privilege of making it certain that America is "to enter into the fullness of that peace and prosperity and reap the benefits of that enduring brotherhood which are the just inheritance of a nation exalted by righteousness"? (John W. Davis, November 3, 1924.)

Your four years at Agnes Scott have opened for you this door of opportunity. We alumnae of Agnes Scott, we who "have gone on before", are convinced that our Alma Mater has not given you as your weapon that doubt which never has since the world began, inspired the energy and courage required for the real crises of life. We fervently believe that our college is built on the principle of life for the life of others, the only sure basis on which a stable and decent world can be established. We believe that you have learned that education is not a gift to the able, but an investment for the future. The nation chosen of God for the greatest of world missions failed when she thought only of her privileges: a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people. We believe you have been inspired with the vision of loving service and that, remembering always that "Ye are that ye may", you will be obedient to the vision.

NEW GYMNASIUM-AUDITORIUM—FRONT VIEW.

WORK ON NEW GYMNASIUM BEGUN

Building to be Completed by June, 1925.

CAROL STEARNS WEY, '12

The first shovelful of earth for the new Gymnasium-Auditorium has been turned and the first unit in the half-million-dollar program of building for the Greater Agnes Scott is actually under way.

To go back a bit—those of you who have been receiving your ALUMNAE QUARTERLIES regularly will remember that in one issue of last year the plans of Messrs. Cram and Ferguson, Architects of Boston, for the comprehensive development of the college area were explained, and mention made of the buildings for which the need was greatest at the present time. Foremost on the list was a gymnasium to take the place of the present outgrown and inadequate structure, which might serve also as an auditorium until such time as it may be possible to erect a building for that purpose. At the May meeting of the Board of Trustees of the College it was decided to commence work on this first unit just as soon as sufficient funds were on hand to justify the undertaking. Apparently these were forthcoming, for during the summer the firm of Edwards and Sayward, of Atlanta, were commissioned to prepare detailed plans for the new gymnasium. Their experience covers a wide range of school and university work, among which may be mentioned the beautiful buildings of the University of Florida at Gainesville, the Florida State College for Women at Tallahassee.

Bids on the gymnasium were opened about three weeks ago, and in spite of the fact that the low bid of $168,000 left a deficit of $40,000, as only $128,000 is available at the present time, the trustees decided to commence work at once, and the contract with M. C. McCaulay Construction Co. is actually signed and the work of excavation has begun. Some cutting and trimming and changing will take care of part of this deficit and the rest, we hope, will be raised before the completion of the building. If not, some features in the proposed plan will have to be postponed until later.

As for details of the plans, we quote from the December second issue of the Agonistic:

"When completed, our new gymnasium will surpass all other buildings of its kind in this part of the country. It is planned to accommodate a thousand students. On the ground floor, the swimming pool, an up-to-date tile affair, 25x60 feet, covers one side. Midway in the room are individual basket lockers and box lockers arranged in rows, where all gym clothes are to be kept, and showers. On the other side of the ground floor, there is a special gymnasium for girls taking individual exercises. Besides this, there is on the ground floor, a laundry, where gym suits are to be laundered and put back into the basket lockers (they are never to be removed from the gym building), a hair-dryer established for the benefit of swimmers; and a kitchen, from which lunches can be served.

On the main floor are the offices of the physical directors and the college doctor, rest rooms and physical examination rooms; a main gymnasium floor, 70x90 feet, on which two games, of basketball, for instance, can be played at once; and, on one end of the story, a smaller gymnasium floor, raised three and a half feet. The raised floor can be converted into a stage by means of movable foot-lights, and the main floor into an auditorium, with the use of folding chairs which are stored under the raised floor.

The third floor will consist only of a balcony, seating two hundred and seventy people, and six rooms for college organizations, on one side; and, on the other side, of a room where lights can be shifted upon the stage below."

All this, and we haven't told you where you will find this newest thing on the campus when you next come back to Agnes Scott. The infirmary has been moved to a very convenient location just behind Dr. Sweet's house—and the gymnasium is to be built practically on its former location at the head of the athletic field. It is to be College Gothic type of architecture, in Harvard brick with Indiana Limestone trim. A telephone call to Dr. McCain this morning in order to have the very latest of news before the QUARTERLY goes to press, disclosed the fact that he was just starting to town to select the brick. Doesn't that sound as though it were going to be there for us all to see very soon? It is hoped that the building will be completed by June, 1925, and that Commencement exercises can be held in our new auditorium.

NEW GYMNASIUM—SIDE VIEW.

“TO RESCUE TODAY FROM OBLIVION—”

As trees print coolness on the heated grass,
 In clear, sharp images that lie outlined,
 So beauty lays cool fingers as I pass
 Upon the parched places of my mind:
 The honeysuckle hedges' breathing bloom
 That fills a little lane with fragrant May;
 The star that swings her taper through the gloom
 That gathers at the closing of the day;
 The sudden glowing of a gracious thought,
 Akin to wonder, on a lifted face;
 These cool imprints of beauty have been wrought
 Upon the dullness of the commonplace;
 And beautiful as bloom, or thought, or sky,
 A shining name today one called me by.

—JANEF PRESTON, '21.

THE VASSAR ALUMNAE HOUSE

Margaret Hay—Ex. '23 Agnes Scott, B.A. Vassar, '23

The Vassar Alumnae House is about as much a work of love as can be, in these days when things are so obviously made with money and with machines. The two alumnae who gave the house wanted to make their love for Vassar into a visible beauty, and since to them the college has always been a restful place to come back to, they decided to let that beauty take the form of a house fit to receive all who should come again to scenes of glory not yet entirely departed.

So they arranged to have built, on some of the college land, a big, rambling, comfortable house in the English style, with living-room, dining-rooms, flagged terrace-garden, bed-room suites, and a dormitory. Various classes have given the appointments and furnishings. There is an Elizabethan dining-room, and a living-room furnished with beautiful antique furniture—most of it brought from Europe by Miss Violet Oakley, the artist who painted the triptych of allegorical design, which is the chief glory of the living-room, and the very heart of the house. Such accessories as bridge-lamps and candlesticks were made to order by people in New York—things fit to live with venerable Spanish chests and Italian Renaissance tables. In fact, the whole house seems to have the dignity of an old one that people have enjoyed, because of the exquisite care that has been spent on the details as well as on the general plan.

Many of the bed-rooms have been furnished by families, in memory of daughters who went to Vassar, and so are as scrupulously beautiful as love could make them. This may sound too sentimental for any tolerance, but one does really get quite affected in the presence of what is obviously spiritual.

No one can say that this house does not exist spiritually, after the opening it has had. Last spring, all of the workmen who had had anything at all to do with the house, were given a special party in it. They and their wives were received by the donors, the president of Vassar, and several others, so that they might see what they had helped to make, and recognize it as their own. There had been such a spirit about the work, that these perfectly average workmen had responded with more than Union hours in return for Union wages, and had given what they could of interest and of good intention.

The formal opening of the house was at Commencement last June. There was quite an elaborate little ceremony arranged, with trumpeters in medieval costume, and bearers of the deed of gift (Miss Oakley's beautifully illuminated roll of parchment), of light to the house and of the key to the triptych. There was a notable poem done by the daughter of one of the donors, and some lovely music by the daughter of the other. Both girls were in college at the time, so the "old alums" were stirred at "two generations of such splendid Vassar women".

One of the chief attractions of Vassar has always been that there one is allowed to be one's best self as completely as possible. In other words, the college is avowedly for the girls who come to it. The older people advise, stimulate and—best of all—tolerate, each one of them as a potentially splendid individual. The effect is sometimes miraculous, sometimes only pleasant, but always fairly lasting, it seems. So it is no great wonder that tired mothers and harassed business-women come back to Vassar to regain self-control and correct perspectives. Now that there is such a place to stay, they expect to come and take courses which they aspire to (even though Vassar does not give graduate degrees), or listen in on them, and talk to interesting people again. Some want to do writing that has been knocking to get out of the cupboards of their minds, and some want to walk through the country, take a turn on the old bikes again and come home in time for tea.

At any rate, whatever one wants to do or say—that is, within the bounds of reason,—one can always do it or say it there and be sure of someone joining in or even agreeing, for a change, perhaps! If one is too poor to live in luxury (but actually at little cost) in one of the bed-rooms or suites, one gets a congenial room-mate, or takes a bed in the very attractive dormitory on the top floor. This last is a merry place, too, on account of the numberless young grads who are holding down bread-and-cheese jobs in New York!

But there is no use to go into the joys of coming back to college and of rehashing adventures of one's youth. Every alumna knows them, and Agnes Scott people more than others. I claim that college, too, and have my own tales to tell if ever I get down to Decatur again—to my other Alumnae House.

THE PATH

There is a little path that lies
Outside my window, where my eyes
Can travel at the break of day
Along the flower-bordered way;
And when I go to bed at night
I still can see it shining white.

I know not where the pathway ends—
I only know at length it bends,
And hides itself among the pines,
And leaves for me no outward signs
That there is any path at all
Beyond the pines' dark gleaming wall.

I've never bothered to explore
This path that lies so near my door,
For I am busy all the day
In town, which lies another way:
And evenings when I might go roam
I'd rather far stay here at home:
My rocking-chair, a book, a fire,
In winter fill my heart's desire,
And all I ask of May or June
Is just a bit of silver moon.

Should I grow tired of Every Day,
Or Trouble come to me to stay,
I might decide to follow out
The path, and settle any doubt
I may have had about the end—
But how I'd dread to round the bend
And view the tingling mysteries
That lie beyond the dark pine trees!

AGNES SCOTT'S GRANDCHILDREN

It is well known that grandmothers are inordinately proud of their grandchildren, and Agnes Scott is no exception to the rule. There are fifteen grandchildren here this year, and an attractive lot they are! Agnes Scott is fortunate to have attained the age where her daughters can send their daughters to Agnes Scott, for they are drawn closer to the college and to each other, through the love of a mutual alma mater. Many of our Alumnae make their plans to send their daughters to Agnes Scott in plenty of time to insure their having places in the dormitories. Allie (Candler) Guy (Mrs. J. S.), 1913, had her little girl registered at College when she was only one day old, and Ruth (Anderson) O'Neal (Mrs. Alan S.), 1918, writes that her small daughters, Nancy who is three years old, and Ruth, aged thirteen months, would like to correspond with other members of the classes of 1942 and 1944 at Agnes Scott!

This year we have fifteen grandchildren enrolled. They are:

MOTHERS	DAUGHTERS
Alice Coffin (Mrs. W. F. Smith)	Sara Smith (Junior)
Claude Candler (Mrs. Branch McKinney),	Caroline McKinney (Sophomore)
Melrose Franklin (Mrs. R. J. Kennedy)	Evelyn Kennedy (Junior)
Anais Cay (Mrs. Selden Jones)	Anais Jones (Freshman)
Ethel Alexander (Mrs. L. M. Gaines)	Eloise Gaines (Freshman)
Vera Reins (Mrs. I. E. Kamper)	Vera Kamper (Freshman)
Annie Wiley (Mrs. Fairman Preston)	Miriam Preston (Sophomore)
Estelle Webb (Mrs. D. W. Shadburn)	Susan Shadburn (Junior)
Belle Jones (Mrs. C. R. Horton)	Sallie Horton (Senior)
Rosa Harden (Mrs. Selden Jones)	Emily Jones (Junior)
May Goss (Mrs. M. I. Stone)	Della Stone (Freshman)
Lucy Green (Mrs. G. H. Gardner)	Frances Gardner (Senior)
Lillian King (Mrs. F. H. Williams)	Lillian King LeConte (Freshman)
Clara Fuller (Mrs. T. M. Zellars)	{ Emily Zellars (Senior) Mary Ella Zellars (Junior)

All Agnes Scott alumnae are urged to come back often to visit the College, and the Alumnae House, but those who have daughters in College always receive an especial welcome.

CONCERNING YOUR CLASS REUNION

POLLY STONE, '24

Wouldn't it be fine if we could all come back?

Can't you imagine little Decatur simply bursting at its seams because it was packed so full of the many A. S. C. girls who all came back the same May? and can't you see us pouring in from every state in the union, and catching boats at Boulogne and Kobe and Calcutta? Can't you hear the mighty roar that the united voices of our Fords would make if all of our alumnae who have "struck it rich" elected to drive down and parade the new twin two before the dear old faculty?

Can't you see the school teachers and business girls among us stride up the long walk to Main with their Cantilever shoes and brief cases and tortoise-shell specs? Can't you see our debs and idle rich tripping through Main for a peep at the phone pad, just for old time's sake; while the dear married souls ecstatically drag a husband (apiece) and babies (the number varies) across the campus to meet old room-mates, with the husbands (still only one apiece) and babies they have in tow?

Of course we can't all come back, for some of us live in India and China and the very utterest uttermost parts of the world, but most of us are within a day's journey of Agnes Scott, and wouldn't it be wonderful if when Commencement comes this year, hundreds of us could come back to the College we love most?

There are lots of us who haven't been back since the day we marched across the colonnade while the chapel rang with the "Alma Mater", and tears came into our eyes because we suddenly realized that we too had joined "those who have gone on before", and that College days were over.

Of course we love Agnes Scott! The recollection of our years there gives us a tender little tightness of the heart. And as to classes—well, we are each positive that the class we were graduated in, had the finest old girls in the world in it. And we are each right! Those girls will all be coming back this Commencement,—how can you keep from coming, too?

There will be special class tables in the dining-rooms, and we'll vie with each other in songs and stunts like we used to do. Then of course there is the big Alumnae Luncheon where we hear all the gossip about each other, the alumnae meetings and the grand parade with each class in special costumes. Several of the classes are planning to have reunion "cottages" on wings, so they can all stay together and have good old after-light talks the way we used to do. And anything else we may think of to do Nell Buchanan has promised that we may, if we only let her know about it far enough ahead of Commencement for her to make all arrangements.

Are you hungry for a sight of the tower of Main? and the little winding walk from the front gate up to Rebekah? Wouldn't you like to swing your feet from that mail-room shelf again? and could anything be jollier than to meet Miss McKinney coming down the walk in front of Science Hall, or to see Mr. Tart bolt around the corner to open the bookstore promptly at two?

There's really no argument about it: we simply must come back this year—indeed we must.

Classes holding reunions this year are:

1924—1st year	1910—15th year
1922—3rd year	1905—20th year
1920—5th year	1900—25th year
1915—10th year	1895—30th year

MAIN TOWER

BOOK REVIEWS

MARGARET BLAND, '20

France, Russia and England are familiar countries in the books we read, but, after an early interest in Hans Brinker, we seldom have or read books whose scenes lie in the picturesque country of Holland. It is delightful then, to discover Pallierter by Felix Timmerman and to find admirably portrayed the peasant life of that little country. The passing of seasons, the eating of food, the praying of monks, and the making of love are the only stirring events of the story. Pallierter is not a novel, it is a pastoral poem in prose.

Carl Van Doren is the first literary critic who announced a determination to specialize on the works of American authors. People who were then astounded at his temerity are now astonished at the results of his work. Many Minds, his recent book of criticism, shows that he has discovered writers of worth and that he can describe them with understanding, from a popular language realist, like George Ade to an imaginative realist like James Branch Cabell; from an ironical iconoclast, like H. L. Mencken to a whimsical dreamer like Edna St. Vincent Millay. But his understanding and keen analysis are not confined, as with most critics, to others, but he understands, analyzes and appreciates himself in a delightful, final chapter, entitled Carl Van Doren.

Historical works are frequent. But histories written in the fascinating style of a novel, histories that teem with dramatic incidents and high moments of pathos; histories that present personalities rather than politics, are rare. Such a one, however, is Phillip Guedalla's Second Empire. The little man with great ambitions, ridiculed and respected, honored and hated, is a strange figure in the brilliant pageantry of French History. And Guedalla's presentation of this Charles-Louis-Napoleon, is perhaps, as vivid and intimate as Lytton-Strachey's portrait of Queen Victoria.

In a little volume, The Ancient Beautiful Things, Fannie Stearns Davis appears at her best. Her dreams have been delicately woven into a rhythmic form of beauty. Most delightful are the poems of her home and of her little daughter, Rebecca, an echo of herself. Through all the poems is seen a deep contentment, yet an ever keen desire to live more and to dream more and more.

On The Campus

ALUMNAE TIE VARSITY IN HOCKEY GAME

The varsity hockey team played the Alumnae last Friday afternoon. Each team played well; in fact so well that the final score was 2 and 2. It is needless to mention the merits of the Varsity, each of us know them already; but oh, you should have seen those Alumnae play. The saying goes, "Practice makes perfect"; well, this game was the exception to the rule, for the Alumnae team came near perfection, and when have they had opportunity for practice?

It was some two weeks ago that the Varsity challenged the Alumnae. And those that "have gone on before" responded:

It may be we're thought passe
 Compared with those we are asked to play,
 Out of practice, we may lack
 Wind enough, but not the knack
 To give the Varsity a scare;
 Name the day and we'll be there.

This reply was extremely apt, for the graduates of "days gone by" certainly did have the "knack," and the Varsity without a doubt had its "scare."

Varsity vs. Alumnae:

J. Walker, c.f.	.....	Ethel Ware, '22, c.f.
Bull, r.i.	.....	Helen Wayt, '21, r.i.
B. Walker, l.i.	.....	D. F. Smith, '24, l.i.
Preston, r.w.	.....	Elizabeth Henry, '24, r.w.
D. Owen, l.w.	.....	Betty Floding, '21, l.w.
Spivey, c.h.	.....	Nonie Peck, '24, c.h.
E. Powell, r.h.	.....	Augusta Thomas, '24, r.h.
Fain, l.h.	.....	Jane Preston, '21, l.h.
M. A. McKinney, r.f.	.....	Ruth Hall, '22, r.f.
G. McKennon, l.f.	.....	Mary Goodrich, '23, l.f.
Bowers, g.g.	.....	Martha Eakes, g.g.

—Agonistic.

DAY STUDENT COTTAGE TO BE A REALITY

Day Students have long cherished a plan for building a cottage on the campus where they may spend the night, and which they may use for various purposes.

This plan is now about to be realized. The cottage will cost three thousand dollars. Fifteen hundred dollars of this has been accumulated by the day students of previous years, and the day students of this year are determined to raise the remaining fifteen hundred dollars. As a beginning for their "money-raising" campaign, the day students presented a play in the college chapel on November 8, entitled "The String 'Em Girl." This was a clever play in three acts written by one of the day students, Miss Mary Lynes, of Atlanta. About one hundred and fifteen dollars was realized on this play. On December 3, they repeated the play at Eggleston Hall in Atlanta, and cleared a considerable amount on this second performance.

During the following week the day students started a sale of "bricks." These were brick-colored tags bearing the words, "I am a brick." This sale is to continue as long as purchasers can be found. The day students are also acquiring money through the sale of old papers, tin-foil, candy, and by clipping hair.

Their capable president for this year is Miss Isabel Clark, of Atlanta.

BLACKFRIARS TO PLAY AT NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

Early this fall, Blackfriars received an invitation to participate in a dramatic contest to be held at the convention of the National Association of Teachers of Speech at Northwestern University on December 31, 1924, and January 1, 1925. Only nine colleges, all of which are standard institutions, may enter this contest. The winners will receive a loving cup and two hundred and fifty dollars.

After careful consideration, Blackfriars chose to present "The Conflict," a one-act play by Clarice Vallette McCallie.

This will be Blackfriars' first performance outside of Atlanta, and since this is the only intercollegiate activity Agnes Scott participates in aside from the intercollegiate debates, they are especially anxious to do their best at Northwestern. There is splendid material in Blackfriars, and under Miss Gooch's able supervision, they are making rapid progress in the dramatic world.

The cast which has been selected to play at Northwestern is as follows:

Mother	.....	Mary Ben Wright, '25
Emilie	.....	Isabel Ferguson, '25
Bess	.....	Mary Freeman, '26
Bob	.....	Louise Buchanan, '25

From Our Local Clubs

MISS MCKINNEY

Professor of English at Agnes Scott College.

CHARLOTTE ALUMNAE CLUB ORGANIZED

The Charlotte Agnes Scott Alumnae Club was organized Thursday, November 13th, at the home of Julia Hagood Cuthbertson (Mrs. W. R.), '20, with about eighteen present. Miss McKinney came up to help organize, and everyone was delighted to see her again. As each alumna came in, Miss McKinney guessed who she was, and didn't fail to recognize one.

Julia Hagood was appointed temporary chairman, and after explaining the objects of the Club, appointed a nominating committee in order that officers might be elected at the next meeting. It was found that Charlotte has a potential membership of thirty or more, and there is every reason to believe that the Charlotte Club will develop into one of our strongest.

After the business was over, Miss McKinney took charge and told the girls about the latest developments at the college, especially about the plans for new buildings. She had pictures and blue prints of how they would look and be placed on the campus and the girls became enthusiastic about the plans for a greater Agnes Scott. Miss McKinney enjoyed seeing Mrs. Arbuckle, the wife of Dr. Howard Arbuckle, whom many of us remember at Agnes Scott. Dr. Arbuckle is now a professor at Davidson.

Among our Charlotte Alumnae are: Sarah Brockenbrough Payne (Mrs. E. G.), Augusta Cannon, Anne Gilleylen Quarles

(Mrs. J. P.), Katherine Graves Clarke (Mrs. A. B.), Aline Harbey Moore (Mrs. Leland), Augusta Laxton, Marion MacPhail, Midge McAden Cothran (Mrs. J. C.), Janie McClintock Cole (Mrs. E. A.), Rosa Milledge Pattillo (Mrs. E. L.), Sarah Lillie Wolfe Keerans (Mrs. J. L.), Annie Dow Wurm Moore (Mrs. W. W.), Mary Brockenbrough White (Mrs. G. D.), Lida Caldwell Wilson (Mrs. G. E., Jr.), Ivylyn Girardau, Lucy Naive, Mildred Shepherd, Elizabeth Fore, Mary Spier, Lula Groves Campbell Ivey (Mrs. G. M.), Sarah Dunlap Bobbitt (Mrs. William), Cama Burgess Clarkston (Mrs. Francis), Julia Hagood Cuthbertson (Mrs. W. R.), Ruth Crowell, Selene Hutcheson Dalton (Mrs. C. I.), May (McDonald) Mills, Eddie Hunters Pease (Mrs. Norman), Louise Wadsworth Patton (Mrs. J. C.), Julia Christian Preston (Mrs. E. R.)

Helen Wayt, '21, of the Atlanta Club, was a visitor in Charlotte and attended the first meeting of the Charlotte Club.

On December the 4th, the second meeting of the Charlotte Club was held at Queen's College, Lucy Naive being hostess. The constitution was adopted and the following officers elected:

President—Lula Groves (Campbell) Ivey (Mrs. G. M.).

Vice-President—Ethel Rea.

Secretary—Midge (McAden) Cothran (Mrs. J. S.)

Treasurer—Lucy Naive.

Executive Committee—Julia (Hagood) Cuthbertson (Mrs. W. R.), Sarah (Wolfe) Keerans (Mrs. J. L.) and Louise (Wadsworth) Patton (Mrs. J. C.).

Miss Alice Springs, who was formerly head of the art department of the College, and Mrs. Howard Arbuckle, were elected honorary members of the Charlotte Club.

The Charlotte Club is bending its efforts, along with the other clubs, toward lifting the debt off of the Alumnae House, and plans are being made for a silver tea, on February the 22nd, for that purpose. It will be a combination of George Washington and Founders Day celebration.

RICHMOND CLUB

On Saturday afternoon, November 15th, the Richmond chapter of the Agnes Scott Alumnae Association was organized. Miss Louise McKinney was sent to Richmond by the Alumnae Association for the first meeting of the Chapter. While in the city Miss McKinney was entertained by Kate (Richardson) Wicker (Mrs. J. J. Jr.), 1915, Mrs. R. C. Wight, Mrs. Dick Johnson, Miss Maggie Watkins and Miss Nannie Campbell, 1923. At the meeting Saturday afternoon, the Alumnae were told of plans for several new buildings and shown pictures of proposed improvements and enlargements at Agnes Scott College. A second meeting was held on December 4th at the Richmond Training School, and at that time the following officers were elected: President, Elizabeth McClure; Secretary, Josephine Logan; Treasurer, Mrs. H. J. Williams; Chairman of Publicity, Mrs. J. J. Wicker.

Among our Richmond Alumnae are:

Josephine Logan, 1923, of Japan; Beth McClure, 1923; Margaret McDow, 1924; and Elizabeth Doggett, ex 1926; all of whom are at the Richmond Training School.

Kate (Richardson) Wicker (Mrs. J. J., Jr.), 1915, is the mother of two little girls, and is active in Y. W. C. A. and American Legion work.

Miriam Reynolds Towers (Mrs. A. R.), ex 1918, is kept busy with her home and such activities as the Community Fund Drive.

Louise Payne, ex 1911, is with the Richmond Art Company.

Mary White Caldwell, ex 1923, is a Senior at St. Luke's Hospital, and is now head nurse on one floor.

Hattie Blackford Williams (Mrs. H. J.), 1903, has just moved with her family of four to Forest Hill, and is very active in church work of all kinds.

Bessie Sentell Martin (Mrs. Mott), ex 1908, is studying at the Training School, enjoying Greek especially. Much of her time is taken up making talks at all kinds of missionary meetings.

Louise Sanders, ex 1925, is having a good time, as usual, at home.

Bessie Winston Williams (Mrs. W. A.), ex 1925, is enjoying her home and keeping busy filling her social engagements.

Nannie Campbell (1923), is bookkeeper at the Richmond Exchange for Women's Work. She writes that it was wonderful to have had Miss McKinney there for the first meeting of the Club, and such a help in getting the girls together.

ATLANTA CLUB

The November meeting of the Atlanta Agnes Scott Club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. Lewis Gaines at her home on Park Lane.

Mrs. George Griffin accepted the responsibility of chairman of a bazaar the club is giving to help meet the yearly pledge of $500 to the Anna Young Alumnae Fund. The bazaar was held at Tenth and Peachtree streets on Friday afternoon and all day Saturday, December 5th and 6th.

Miss Hopkins and Miss McKinney were honor guests and gave the club most interesting news of the college and of new Alumnae chapters that are being organized.

Another enjoyable feature of the meeting was a solo by Mrs. W. M. Dume.

Among those present were, Mrs. Wm. Anderson, Miss Bell Cooper, Mrs. Asa W. Candler, Mrs. Frank Beall, Mrs. J. L. Campbell, Mrs. P. W. Hammond, Mrs. George Griffin, Mrs. Sam Guy, Mrs. W. Quillian, Mrs. Paul Potter, Mrs. H. B. Wey, Mrs. F. Kamper, Mrs. Stewart McGinty, Mrs. Homer McAfee, Mrs. C. J. Lewis, Mrs. Ghesling, Mrs. Lewis Hoppe, Jr., Miss Clair L. Scott, Miss Alice Green and Mrs. D. B. Donaldson.

The officers of the Atlanta Club are: President, Clair Louise Scott.

Vice-President, Mrs. Harold Wey.

Secretary, Mrs. Lewis Hoppe.

Treasurer, Mrs. Frank Beall.

DECATUR CLUB

The new officers for the Decatur Agnes Scott Club for this year are: President, Mrs. F. H. Robarts (Louise Maness).

Vice-President, Mrs. Walter Miller (Georgiana White).

Secretary-Treasurer, Frances Amis.

The Decatur Club has started the year well. They are planning this year to contribute $100 to the Alumnae Fund, over and above the pledges of individual members. To this end, the members are planning rummage sales, and an Alumnae play.

The Decatur Club was delightfully entertained at its last meeting, by Mrs. Robarts and the outgoing officers.

Concerning Ourselves

Please send all news for this column to your Class Secretary, or to the Alumnae Office

NEWS OF FORMER FACULTY MEMBERS

Professor and Mrs. Agnemon Coleman, of the University of Chicago, and their daughter, Polly, age 9 years, have just returned from a delightful stay of sixteen months in Paris. Mrs. Coleman is remembered as Miss Mary Gude, at Agnes Scott, where she taught for several years. Mrs. Coleman is always eager to hear Agnes Scott news. Every once in a while Martha B. Shryock goes from the extreme north of Chicago to the extreme south of Chicago to have a good Agnes Scott talk with Mrs. Coleman.

Miss Alice Springs, former head of the Art Department, recently visited the college as Miss Hopkins' guest. Miss Alice spends her winters in Charlotte, N. C., and her summers in her delightful home at Blowing Rock. She has a great niece at Agnes Scott this year, Mary Keesler, of Charlotte.

All of us who remember Mr. McClain will be sorry to hear of his continued illness at the home of his cousin, Mrs. D. F. Finlay, in York, S. C. Mr. McClain is confined to his bed most of the time, and while he himself is not able to write, Mrs. Finlay writes that he has so enjoyed the letters of his Agnes Scott friends.

Miss Susanne Colton, former head of the French Department, who for several years has been a missionary to Korea, recently paid a visit to the College. She gave an interesting talk to the students and faculty on her experiences in Korea, and on the field for mission work there. Miss Colton will leave for Korea next July, stopping by the Philippines on the way to visit relatives.

The following engagements are announced:

Dorothy Elyea, ex '24, to Mr. Calhoun Enmet Minchener, the marriage to be solemnized at the home of her parents on Peachtree Road, on January 6th.

Elizabeth Enloe, '21, to Mr. Gerald Raleigh MacCarthy.

ALUMNAE MARRIAGES

Laura I. Cooper, '16, to Mr. Claude Christopher, of Barnesville, Ga.

Lutie N. Powell, ex '10, to Mr. J. L. Burckhardt, Jr., of Atlanta

Katharine Glasgow, ex '19, to Mr. Dean Owens, of Rome, Ga.

Helen Lockhart, ex '25, to Mr. Thomas Watkins, of Decatur, Ga.

Elizabeth Lockhart, '23, to Mr. Victor Manget Davis, of Atlanta.

(Helen and Elizabeth Lockhart had a double wedding).

Vivian Gregory, ex '21, to Mr. D. C. Duucan, of Salisbury, N. C.

NEWS BY CLASSES

1893—Secretary, Mary (Barnett) Martin, (Mrs. A. V.), Clinton, S. C.

Mrs. W. B. Ardrey's (Mary Mack) oldest son, William, was married on June 26th, to Miss Madaline Kelly, of Easley, S. C. He is living at Fort Mill, S. C., and is in the lumber business. Her only daughter, Elizabeth, is a sophomore at Winthrop College.

Mrs. A. V. Martin's (Mary Barnett) oldest son, Edward, is at McCallie's School in Chattanooga this session.

1894—Secretary, Mary Neel Kendrick (Mrs. W. J.), Fort McPherson, Ga.

1895—Secretary, Winifred Quartermann, Waycross, Ga.

1896—Secretary, Mary Ethel Davis, Decatur, Georgia.

1897—Secretary, Cora Strong, N. C. C. W., Greensboro, N. C.

1899—Secretary, Nellie Mandeville Henderson (Mrs. C. K.), Carrollton, Ga. Emma Wesley is the principal of a school in Atlanta.

1900—Secretary, Ethel Alexander Gaines (Mrs. Lewis M.), 18 Park Lane, Atlanta, Ga.

Jean Ramspeck Harper (Mrs. W. R.) is living at 626 W. Horrtter Street, Germantown, Pa.

Rusha Wesley is assistant principal of the O'Keefe Jr. High in Atlanta.

1901—Secretary, Adeline (Arnold) Loridans (Mrs. Charles), 16 E. 15th Street, Atlanta, Ga.

1902—Secretary, Laura Caldwell Edmonds (Mrs. A. S.), 240 King Street, Portland, Ore.

1903—Secretary, Eilleen Gober, Marietta, Ga.

Hattie Blackford Williams (Mrs. H. J.) has changed her address to 4017 Dunston Ave., Richmond, Va.

Emily Winn, who is a missionary to Japan, expects to return to this country in June, 1925.

Eilleen Gober is a stenographer in Marietta.

1904—Secretary, Lois Johnson Aycock (Mrs. C. G.), 170 Penn Ave., Atlanta.

Virginia Butler Stone (Mrs. Chas. F. B.) is living in Atlanta. She has two lovely children, Lucile and Charles, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Stone have recently completed a very attractive new home on Oakdale Road, Druid Hills.

Kathleen Kirkpatrick Daniel (Mrs. J. L.) lives in her childhood home, Decatur. Her husband is Professor of Industrial Chemistry at the Georgia Tech. They have three fine children, Kathleen Laura, John L., Jr., and Elizabeth Kirkpatrick.

1905—Secretary, Mabel McKowen, Lindsay, La.

Lulie Morrow Croft (Mrs. R. C.) is teaching in West Point, Ga. She and her five bright, attractive daughters go to school together every morning. They range from second grade to High School and are all headed for Agnes Scott. In addition to her home and school work Lulie teaches their Woman's Bible Class on Sunday. She hasn't lost any of her girlhood energy.

1906—Secretary, Ethel (McDonald) Castellow, Cuthbert, Ga.

It has been said that "a country without a history is a country without dissension and strife." Such must be the record of the class of 1906, since a plea from the Secretary for news from the members met with such few responses from the various members of the little graduating class of 1906. I must explain that by "little" I mean few, for otherwise I am sure our latest bride, Mary Kelly "that was" would rise up in all the dignity of her height, learning and general loveliness (except as a correspondent) and give poor little me a real "calling down." Well, those good old days are gone when we had our ups and our downs, our big members and our little members, our perfect marks and alas! our flunks. But I am sure that each member of the class of 1906 still loves her Alma Mater and recalls with pleasure the good times we used to have together. I am sure we are all doing our patriotic duty and voting, even if some of us don't care much for suffrage. Some of us are teaching and some of us are housekeepers and mothers. I do hope that all of us are happy and that we still remember our p's and q's which the dear and patient teachers of those olden times tried so hard to teach us.

Ida Lee Hill Irvin (Mrs. L. T.), of Washington, Ga., spent the summer with her three children at Montreat, and later had a visit to Hot Springs, Ark., where I know we shall all be glad to learn her husband's ill health was much improved.

Mary Kelly and her new husband, so I hear (I'm telling on you, Mary), are now living in Charleston, S. C. We all know Mary makes him a grand wife and is a great help in his profession as a minister, but we do think she might write and tell us so. Don't you, girls?

I am now reduced to talking about myself, which I know Miss Hopkins would consider ill taste, so I must refrain.

And now, Girls of 1906, I feel just like I used to when I flunked in Physics for I know there are so many things I ought to know about you—and don't. Do please send me news of all the interesting things which I know you must be doing or which must be happening to you and yours. How can I be your class secretary if I have no news to send in? My love to each of you and a cheer for dear old Agnes Scott.

1907—Secretary—

1908—Secretary, Louise Shipp Chick, 306 C. Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

1909—Secretary, Margaret McCallie, 611 Palmetto Street, Chattanooga, Tenn.

1910—Secretary, Agnes (Nicolassen) Wharton (Mrs. G. L.), Central City, Ky.

1911—Secretary, Theodosia (Willingham) Anderson (Mrs. W. W.), 63 Avery Drive, Atlanta, Ga.

1912—Secretary, Marie (MacIntyre) Scott (Mrs. J. T.), Scottdale, Ga.

1913—Allie Candler Guy, Secretary.

Eleanor Pinkston Stokes is now at Camp Crook, Omaha, Neb., where her husband, Captain Stokes, is stationed.

Mary Enzor is teaching in Troy, Ala.

Janie McGaughey is director of Young People's Work in the First Presbyterian Church of Knoxville, Tenn.

We have a class letter, and treasure box which is on the road. Please pass this along as quickly as possible, so that all news will be in by the next Quarterly. When it returns it will be placed on file at the Alumnae House and read at the next reunion when another will be started. In this box we have asked that each class member have a letter which tells all about herself, her family, or her career, and also pictures of herself and her family. Twelve out of the sixteen of 1913 class are married, and we are anxious to have a Husbands Gallery. We have 14 sons and daughters, and loyally to Agnes Scott a majority are daughters. At one time we were 100 per cent members of the Alumnae Association, but I do not know whether or not any of us have "fallen from grace," in these later days.

1914—Secretary, Lottie Mae Blair Lawton (Mrs. S. C.), Greenville, S. C.

Florence Brinkley is an instructor in English at Goucher College. She received her Doctor's Degree in English at Yale in June, 1924. She has been chosen Second Vice President of the Administrative Council of Sigma Tau Delta, the professional English Fraternity.

Annie Tait Jenkins writes that after two years at home with no regular work all the time, she is again teaching. This time she is teaching English in the high school of her home. Last year she was associated with the National Girl Reserve Secretary in Mississippi, half of the time in Jackson, Miss. She says that living at home, keeping up with her many duties of church and civic clubs and teaching, fill her days to overflowing.

Mary Brown Florence (Mrs. W. P.), of Stamps, Ark., writes that she reads the Alumnae Quarterly from cover to cover, and enjoys hearing all about her old friends.

Bertha Adams is writing insurance and is taking an active part in club work. She lives at home.

Lottie May Blair Lawton is living in Greenville, S. C., where her husband is a cotton broker. She is having a fine time this winter, being advisor to a club of girl reserves under the Y. W. C. A.

Mildred Holmes Rickett is living on a farm with a "husband, 600 chickens, little turkeys, butter" and a sturdy boy, all of which kept her from our wonderful reunion.

Kathleen Kennedy—with Louise Ash's assistance—is doing wonderful work with mountain boys and girls at Grundy, Virginia, where they take them from seven years up and have criminals, former bootleggers, all sorts of violent tempers and not often enough dishes to go around. Being miles from a railroad and often twenty-four hours by communication with the outside world, they nurse, doctor and what not. Kathleen puts it all down to experience and loves it.

Sarah Hansell Cousar is in the states for another year. We are so delighted. Her husband's health is not at its best so he is having two churches and they are settled in Waterford, Virginia, where they aren't too far from Johns Hopkins. Sarah has a new "Agnes Scotter" in her family now—Mary Nancy, who was born last July.

Mary Pittard is teaching in Winterville this winter to be near her father, but she finds time for occasional week ends in Atlanta.

Charlotte Jackson spent the day in Greenville not long ago where "Lott" had her for lunch (canabalistic idea) and they nearly choked to death trying to talk and eat at the same time—the reunion, of course, being the real topic of conversation.

Theodosia Cobbs Hogan is still in Columbia, Missouri, where her husband is chairman of the Department of Agricultural Chemistry. She's had her hair bobbed, of course, like her small Catherine's, whose head hasn't Ted's curls—can you believe that?

Ethel McConnell Cameron has recently moved to Opelika, Ala., though before that Lott says she bought her butter from Ethel's husband's creamery. Ethel has a precious year-old son—who doesn't look now as though he had been an incubator baby. Ethel and her husband both do most interesting work with young people both in church and other welfare work.

Martha Rogers Noble and her two small daughters had a lovely trip to Maine this summer and missed seeing Marguerite only by a few miles and hours. One daughter is in school this year and says "Mother, it's funner than kindergarten."

Marguerite Wells Bishop has moved to 9037 144th Place, Jamaica, N. Y., where she is a little nearer her mother. Her husband is in business in New York.

1915—Secretary, Martha Brenner Shryock (Mrs. Jas. N.), 1018 Main Street, Evanston, Ill.

sent return postals to every member of the class.

She received the following replies:

Margaret (Anderson) Scott (Mrs. Leigh R.), Valdosta, Ga., writes: "I hope to be at our reunion, but of course this far ahead it is impossible to know definitely. I'll certainly be disappointed if it can't be done. There is nothing exciting to tell about the Scott family. We enjoyed our trip to North Carolina, and was particularly glad to be at an A. S. C. supper at Montreat with Ruth Slack Smith, Charlotte Jackson and about twenty others."

Elizabeth (Bulgin) Hamilton (Mrs. G. A.), Fort Myers, Fla., writes: "Affraid you can't count on me for reñion, but will come if possible. Dreamed last night that we were back at A. S. C. and 1915 had a splendid representation. Dr. Gaines was there, too. It will seem strange with so many familiar faces gone. You see where my heart lies—with dear A. S. C. Come to see us in our little bungalow among the pines. Weather glorious now. Sunday school class, Ladies' Aid work, flower garden, housekeeping, etc., etc., keep me busy. Oh, yes; forgot to say Gilbert has a good appetite three times a day."

Mary (Hyer) Vick (Mrs. Earl), Orlando, Fla., writes: "How can a fellow tell this far in advance whether she can go to reñion? I am going if I can, but am not planning to for something may happen. Was in Atlanta, but didn't get out to college. Had a husband along with me. Have just gotten back from a two months' stay in South Georgia, where I gained ten pounds. Saw Mary (Kelly) Coleman on the way up to Atlanta; went through in the car. Saw Mildred (Holmes) Dickert in Poulan. Had dinner with her. Think she'll move to Florida like everybody else in Georgia."

Frances (Kell) Mnsson (Mrs. E. O.), Pascagoula, Miss., writes: "Am not sure whether I will be at the reñion. How I would love to see everybody! As for news about myself, there's none. It takes all my time to watch after my three babies. Wish you could see them. Edward is nearly six, Bettie Del three, and Dick Kell is ten months."

Mary (Kelly) Coleman (Mrs. Emmett), Barnesville, Ga., writes: "Am in a mess, having our drive fixed, also some work on porch. There is always something to do to a house. I have been working too hard outside with all my church and club work, one meeting after the other. Think 1925 I will resolve to stay at home more. Expect to be at reñion. Will meet you at Alumnae House when you come south. Mary Hyer Vick with her family drove up to my house this fall in a grand car. All are fine. So glad to have seen them."

Henrietta (Lambdin) Turner (Mrs. H. J.), of McDonough, Ga., writes: "I am planning to come to our reñion and will surely be there unless some contagious disease strikes my family. Am enjoying the Alumnae Quarterly so much. Wish all the girls would send in items. I am busy all the time. My son is in the second grade. I am acting as superintendent of the Primary Department of our Sunday school, and that with the Woman's Club work, the U. D. C. and Parent-Teacher Association, keeps me hurrying."

Mildred (McGuire) Bulgin (Mrs. L. J.), 920 Mills Street, Salem, Oregon, writes: "Owing to the distance between here and Atlanta it will be quite impossible for me to be there for reñion. Would like to go and then have a visit at home later. It would be grand to see everybody as well as help win that prize for our class. I live rather a quiet life, although a busy one so have no news of particular interest for the Alumnae Quarterly."

Grace Reed, Decatur, Ga., writes: "I am sorry I neglected to answer your last postal. I have no interesting news about myself. I am not teaching this year, but simply enjoying a winter at home. All that I am doing that even looks like work, is a little coaching in Latin. As far as I know I will be here in Decatur at the time of reñion in May."

Frances West, Saint Petersburg, Fla., writes: "I was so sorry you were out of town when I passed through last summer. I would have liked to say, 'Hello,' at least. I trust we can have a large number at reñion. It would be grand to win that prize. I am hoping, but am quite doubtful as school will not be out here."

Martha (Brenner) Shryock says: "Please answer communications promptly. Send in correct address. We are interested in every detail of your life. The Quarterly comes out October 1st, January 1st and March 1st, so keep in mind these facts and send in news without waiting for notices. I am all excited for I shall see some of you soon. We leave on December 20th for a glorious holiday with our families. We stop in Philadelphia for three days with Jimmie's people and then get to dear old Georgia and home on Christmas Eve. I will stop by at the Alumnae House the last week in January, and any member of 1915 who can meet me there, please do."

Committee for Reñion "1925"—

Mrs. Samuel Eugene Thatcher, Chairman; Mrs. Ben Head, Mrs. M. C. Scott, Miss Grace Reid, Miss Catherine Parker.

Kate (Richardson) Wicker, Mrs. John J., of Richmond, Va., writes: "I am 'crazy' to be at the reñion, and am going to try to come. Frances West even offers to nurse both babies for me if I'll come. She doesn't know what she's getting into! Saw Mary Hamilton and Lois Eve in Italy summer before this last one. It was great. Saw Miss McKinney not long ago in Richmond. It was so good to see her again and hear Agnes Scott news."

Sallie May King, of Elton, Tenn., writes: "Your card finally reached me here. Since you designated that I must tell you something "thrilling" I wonder whether it is worth while writing. I am studying at Columbia this winter and it goes without saying that I find both Columbia and New York very interesting. I fear I shall not be able to attend the reñion in 1925, but sincerely hope that we will win the prize and that, as many members as possible will be present."

Sallie May's address for the present is 417 W. 120th Street, New York City.

Mary (West) Thatcher (Mrs. Eugene), writes: "You probably know we are spending the winter in Miami, Fla. We have rented a little bungalow and I have a good servant so that I am getting along beautifully, but miss being at home more than anything. It nearly kills me to be away from Atlanta while Agnes Scott is open, and there is so much to be done in the Atlanta Club and the Alumnae Association. We will return to Atlanta in April, so I'll be there for reñion. Frances Dukes Wynne lives here now, and I see a lot of her." Mary's Miami address is 2912 N. E. 4th Ave.

Gertrude (Briesenick) Ross, Mrs. Joseph H., of Jacksonville, Fla., writes: "Only a short note for I am dead tired. Little Robert has been teething and I have been having a struggle with this dreadful servant problem. I used to brag that I did not know what it meant, but "those days are gone." There isn't much to tell about "us." Little Robert B. Ross is our big item. He is really going to make a handsome sweetheart for some A. S. C. daughter some day."

1916—Secretary, Louise Hutcheson, McDonough Street, Decatur, Ga.

Magara Waldron Crosby (Mrs. L. S.) says that Magara, Jr., called Baby Gay, is almost a year old. She has big dancing brown eyes and brown curls—a heart smasher though yet so young.

Charis Hood Barwick, Mrs. Arthur, was in Chicago recently attending a congregational convention. She spent one day with Martha Brenner Shryock, and they talked, and talked of Agnes Scott. Charis' husband is pastor of a church in Sterling, Ill. She has one son, five and a half. Charis is a busy woman, looking after her family and responding to all the calls put upon a minister's wife.

1917—Secretary, Laurie (Caldwell) Tucker (Mrs. J. H.), 1223 S. Howard Ave., Tampa, Fla.

Janet Newton has changed her address to 14 Stoneland Road, Worcester, Mass. She is a private secretary.

May Smith is spending her fourth year in Chicago. For the first two years she lived in a dormitory on the campus of the University of Chicago, studying medicine, enjoying the novelty of a co-educational school, and seeing Chicago. Beginning in the summer of 1923, she studied half-time, "worked evenings at the information desk of a big hospital where one sees life in the raw, and lived with a charming western girl in a Bohemian, cozy, basement apartment near the campus."

Later she was appointed to a place in Lind-blow High School, "a perfectly beautiful school with four thousand students and a bobbed-haired faculty." This winter she and Sarah Branham, of Oxford, Georgia, are sharing an apartment; next summer they are planning to go to Europe "on a freighter, as guests of the captain."

Rita Schwartz Aroustam writes most interestingly of her family. The son, Charles, is five years old, and her daughter, Jean, is almost two. The entire family spent a great part of last summer in Atlantic City; at present they are enjoying the prospects of building a lovely new home on Lullwater Road (near Atlanta). Rita says that she finds the Atlanta Agnes Scott Club most enjoyable.

Mildred Hall Pearce has a daughter (Mary Ann, for her two grandmothers), who was born last July; she demands by far the greater part of her mother's time, the remainder of it being devoted to keeping house as an occupation and working cross-word puzzles as a recreation.

Ellen Ramsey Phillips has lived for two years in the city of Jalapa, Mexico, where she and her husband are Presbyterian missionaries. Previously they resided at Merida, Yucatan, but were forced to leave the low altitude because of Mr. Phillips's health. Last winter, when the Mexican Revolution occurred, she was on a visit to the States; for a while all communication was severed and it was more than six months before she could return to Jalapa. At present, she writes, there have been frequent rumors of expected fighting; cannon and machine guns have been planted in different places, homes seized and trains attached, but her family has been unmolested. Her daughter, Jean Sue, is nearly six; her son, Andrew Ramsay, is three; besides caring for them, she teaches a class in English, teaches in the Sunday school and assists in the medical work attached to the mission.

Elizabeth Gammon Davis is located at Oliveira, Brazil. She has three children, two daughters and a wee baby boy, and her family is one of the two American families in the town. The four adults are responsible for a very large mission field, part of which has known no previous protestant work. "The two men are away a great deal on evangelistic trips," she writes, "but we have Sunday school and preaching service here every Sunday. . . . I do what visiting I can and am teaching a young girl to play hymns. . . . We are trying to organize charity work among the poor in a systematic way, for there is so much suffering here."

Vallie Young White Archibald has a little daughter, Edward, who was two years old last July; she is named for her father, who was killed in an automobile accident. "V. Y." is editor of the Birmingham District of the Alabama Federation of Woman's Clubs and a member of the Educational Committee of the Birmingham branch of the A. A. U. W. Her closing thought is one which will undoubtedly reach the heart of every member of the class of 1917: "Start now urging our class to hold its reunion in 1927. Wouldn't it be wonderful if many of us could come back and bring our children?"

1918—Secretary, Margaret Leyburn, 683 Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Ga.

Dorothy Moore is teaching in Gastonia, N. C.

Caroline Randolph is a bacteriologist. Her address is care of the Child Health Demonstration, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Katherine Seay is a Y. W. C. A. Secretary, at the Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Oregon.

Ruth Anderson O'Neal (Mrs. Alan) reports that she has two small daughters, Nancy aged three, and Ruth aged thirteen months. She says they would be delighted to correspond with other members of the classes of 1942 and 1944 of Agnes Scott College. Her address has been changed to 423 Brookstown Ave., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Rose E. Harwood Taylor (Mrs. L. B.) is living in Brownsville, Tenn.

Oliver Hardwick Cross (Mrs. Eason) is living at 635 Tombstone Canyon, Bisbee, Ariz., where her husband is Rector of St. John's Church. Rev. Cross is a graduate of Emory University.

1919—Secretary, Almeda Hutcheson, McDonough St., Decatur, Ga.

Claire Elliott McKay (Mrs. R. W.) says that she went on a wonderful trip in her car this summer up through the Adirondacks to Quebec and back through the New England States. They stopped to see all the big colleges and universities along the way, but found none that could touch Agnes Scott.

Jane Bernhardt is an instructor at the University of California.

Llewellyn Wilburn is Physical Director at the Y. W. C. A., 211 Seventh Ave., Nashville, Tenn. Last year she taught at the University of Michigan.

Minnie Claire Boyd is studying American History in New York at Columbia.

Lois Eve is teaching at Tubman High School, Augusta.

Frances Glasgow and her husband are civilizing China.

Goldie Ham, who got her M.D. at Tulane, is now at St. Joseph's Infirmary, Houston, Texas, but hopes soon to have her own office.

Almeda Hutcheson is with Allyn & Bacon, Atlanta—sort of sedentary book agent.

Mary Brock Mallard is doing secretarial work with an insurance company in Atlanta. She and her mother and Margaret Leyburn (1918) have a charming apartment at 683 Peachtree.

Truheart Nicholassen is the College correspondent with D. C. Henth and Company. Publishers, and lives at 176 Westminster Drive.

Mary Katherine Parks, who studied at Columbia last year, is doing corrective physical training with a doctor in Dallas, Texas.

Elizabeth Pruden (Mrs. Joe P. Fagan) lives in the Lombardy Apartments, at 57 West Fifteenth Street, Atlanta.

Ethel Rea is teaching English in the Central High School, Charlotte, North Carolina and imbuing the maidens of the Old North State with the idea that Agnes Scott is the very college for them.

Margaret Rowe, our own "Peanut," this summer traveled through Europe, from Scotland to Southern Italy with her mother and Mildred Goodrich, stopping in Paris to buy modish frocks and harmonizing rouge. She is now in England visiting friends and relatives, making Felixstowe her headquarters, but will spend the rest of the winter with her uncle at Tenerife, Canary Islands. Afterwards she will tour Spain and Portugal. Incidentally, she has gained five pounds.

Dorothy Thigpen (Mrs. Edmund B. Shea) lives at 295 Orden Avenue, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and says that she is engaged in the fascinating, difficult, and wholly absorbing business of child-raising, her young hopeful now being almost three years old.

Mary Ford (Mrs. W. J. Kennerly) is still breathing the college atmosphere, her husband being the head of the Alabama State College for Women, Montevallo. Her days are well filled—household duties, club and church work.

Lulie Smith Westcott, Dalton, Georgia, has just completed her new home and says that life is just as much of a rush now as it was in the good old days at A. S. C., before she marched up the chapel aisle on graduation day and took the degree of M. R. S.

1920—Secretary, Mary Burnett Thornton (Mrs. W. L.), Taft, Tex.

Margaret McConnell is a kindergarten teacher in the city schools of Asheville, N. C. She is planning to take a course at Columbia, next year.

Marian MacPhail is teaching at G. W. C. C., Greenville, S. C.

Alice Cooper is stenographer for Harris-Forbes & Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Margaret Sanders is teaching French and Spanish at Arkansas College, Batesville, Ark.

Laura Stockton Molloy is teaching in Columbia, Tenn.

Julia (Reasoner) Hastings (Mrs. H. H.) is living in Bradentown, Fla. Her husband is an electrical contractor.

Nell Aycock is staying at home this year, recovering from an operation.

Emilie Keyes is a reporter on the Palm Beach Post. Her address is 705 S. Poinsettia Street, West Palm Beach, Fla.

1921—Secretary, Frances Charlotte Markley, Miss Fines School, Princeton, New Jersey.

Mary Ann Justice is teaching French and Psychology at Greenbrier College, Lewisburg, W. Va.

Thelma Brown is teaching in Atlanta this year. She had a lovely trip abroad this summer. She spent two months in Paris, studying piano with Cortot's first assistant, Madame Bacourret de Garaldi. The rest of the time was spent in travel.

Marguerite Cousins is teaching English and French in Due West, S. C. She taught reading at North Texas State Teacher's College, Denton, Tex., the summer session of 1924.

Jean McAllister is doing Young People's Work in the church, and Girl Scout Work at her home in Greensboro.

Eula (Russell) Kelly was married November 14, 1923, to Mr. J. O. Kelly, an orchardist and planter in Jeff, Ala. They are keeping house in their new bungalow.

Nell Frances (Daye) Clarke (Mrs. Jas.) is teaching in Huntsville, Ala. She attended Columbia University the summer session of 1924.

1922 — Secretary, Julia Jameson, Franklin, Tenn.

Helen Barton Claytor (Mrs. E. McC.) is living in Edgefield, S. C. Her husband is a minister, and has the churches of Edgefield, Trenton and Ridge Spring.

Ruth Virden writes that she is still at her old job. She says "Please don't send me any more of those personal blanks asking for my husband's name. As soon as I know I'll wire you."

Ruth Hall is teaching in Lexington, Miss. She spent the Thanksgiving holidays at Agnes Scott.

Carolyn Moore is teaching in Eufaula, Ala.

Annie May Strickland is teaching at Springfield, Ga., right near her home.

Laurie Bell Stubbs is teaching French in Dalton, Ga.

Mary Barton is Assistant Librarian at the University of the South, in Sewanee, Tenn.

Martha Lee Taliaferro is staying at home this year. She spent some time at the Alumnae House recently.

1923—Secretary, Emily Guille, Athens, Tenn.

Maude Foster Jackson (Mrs. E. L.) is keeping house at 9701 Lamont Ave., North East, Cleveland, Ohio. She finds time to do some cataloguing of private libraries on the side. Her husband, Dr. Jackson, is connected with the Chemistry Department of Western Reserve.

Eleanor Hyde is teaching French at St. Mary's College in Dallas, Tex.

Catherine Dennington Jervey (Mrs. C. P.) is living at 149 Lee Street, Apt. 7, Atlanta, Ga.

Clara Mae and Imogene Allen are both teaching school this winter: Clara Mae at Elberton and Imogene at McDonough, Ga. Imogene is teaching Math and Latin and says she has learned a lot about both!

Ruth Almond is teaching Math in the High School of Leesburg, Florida, and is having quite a gay time as well as a busy one.

Dot Bowron's wedding is to be in January. The Agnes Scotters who will be in it are Lib Ransom, Lois McClain and Margaret Colville.

Brooks Grimes visited Jane Knight this fall and was most popular in Albany. Jane is at home for the winter.

Queenelle Harrold returned in October from a wonderful European tour, and will be at home for the winter.

Anna Meade is also at home from a European trip. Her mother has been quite ill for some time, and Anna has been in quarantine for a month.

Ruth Sanders is teaching at the School of the Ozarks, Hollister, Mo.

Frances Stuart, ex '23, is in Knoxville again after a year of study in New York. She is teaching this winter.

Lucy Timmerman is another of our teachers who likes her work. She is in Conway, S. C., for the winter.

Mary Harris and Jessie Dean Cooper are teaching at Holley Springs, Miss.

1924 — Secretary, Carrie Scandrett, 747 N. Blvd., Atlanta, Ga.

Evelyn King is supply teacher in Cape Charles, Va. She spent Thanksgiving at Agnes Scott.

Dell Bernhardt is having an interesting winter, teaching at Newland, N. C. Newland is the highest county seat east of the Rockies.

Attie Alford and Gwynn Cannon are teaching at Thomaston, Georgia.

The Latin Department is well represented by '24. Helen Wright is teaching Latin at St. George, S. C. She is also taking a very active part in the athletics of the High School, quite to the surprise of those who know her best. Emily Arnold is teaching Latin at Burnsville, N. C. Victoria Howie is teaching Latin at Union, S. C.

Josephine Havis is taking a kindergarten course at Atlanta Normal School. Jo admits that the hardest thing she has to do there is to call Hilda, Miss McConnell.

Margaret McDow is in Richmond, Virginia attending the Assembly Training School. As far as we know, this was rather a sudden decision.

Mary Mann has had a lovely trip to New York. She expects to go to Florida after Christmas. She certainly is making good use of her first year out of school.

Margaret Griffin is working at the Retail Credit Company. She is in the Reviewing Department.

Polly Stone spent her Thanksgiving holidays at Blairsville, Ga. She spent her time riding the family horse and gathering new material for her next play or novel.

Margaret Powell is playing the society lady this winter. Although she isn't making her debut, she is going to all the parties and having a good time. She is expecting to go to Texas after Christmas.

Thanksgiving plus Agnes Scott proved quite a drawing card for '24. Clara Waldrop, Grace Bargeron, Nonie Peck, Speedy King, Augusta Thomas, Beulah Davidson, Elizabeth Henry, Janice Brown, and Jinks Burt were here for the holidays. Those who are teaching give varying reports of their profession. The others give reports of a good winter at home and elsewhere.

CLASS AT LARGE

Clyde White, ex 1899, is a pastor's assistant of the Presbyterian Church in Blowing Rock, N. C.

Mildred McFall, ex 1924, is teaching in Marietta, Ga., this year.

Minnie Liebheit and Olivia Liebheit, ex 1923, have been at Columbia since leaving Agnes Scott, completing work for their degree. They were married with a double ceremony on September 2, to Mr. J. Bartlett Segur, a Chemist, and Mr. Roland Ure, a theologian, respectively. Both have apartments in New York.

Dorothy Dyrenforth, ex 1908, is a designer of knitted sport clothing in New York. Her address is St. Andrew Hotel, 72nd St. and Broadway.

Florence Stokes Henry (Mrs. M. E.), ex 1910, is living in Ridgefield, N. J., where her husband is a professor of English.

Sarah B. Gober, ex 1911, is in publicity work for the Children's Welfare Federation in New York. Her address is 144 Waverly Place, New York City.

Effie (Doe) Huber (Mrs. W. M.), ex 1917, is living at Coral Gables, Miami, Fla. She is an organist and professional accompanist.

Julia Walker Rogers (Mrs. W. H.), 1921, of Dendron, Va., announces the arrival of Walter, Jr., last August.

Eliza Bennett Young, ex 1921, was married on August 9th to Mr. Wade Hampton Heavey, of Louisville.

Pauline Smathers, ex 1919, is living at 48 Macon Ave., Asheville, N. C. She is supervisor of Physical Education in the Asheville city schools.

Marian Conklin, ex 1920, was graduated from the American School of Osteopathy in June, 1923. She is now practicing in Miami, Fla.

Julia McCullough, ex 1921, is now a librarian in Atlanta.

Frances Stuart, ex 1921, is teaching in Knoxville, Tenn. Her address is 2117 Lake Ave.

Rebekah Harmon Lindsey (Mrs. Jno. C.) is living in Moultrie, Ga. She pays frequent visits to Atlanta and Agnes Scott.

Allie Felker (Mrs. J. R. Nunnally), ex 1911, has a daughter who is almost ready for college. She says that perhaps they can get their B. A. degrees together.

Vivian Gregory, ex 1921, was married on December 1st to Mr. D. C. Dungan. Her address is Carolina Apartments, Salisbury, N. C.

Katherine Glasgow, ex 1919, of Lexington, Va., was married to Mr. Dean Owens, of Rome, Ga., on November 8th.

Fannie Rhea Bachman was married in October to Mr. Thos. P. Summers, of Rogersville, Tennessee.

Louisa Faucette, ex 1917, was graduated from the Biblical Seminary in New York in 1923, and for the past two years has been head of the Department of Religious Pedagogy in the National Bible Institute.

Elizabeth Dickson Steele (Mrs. W. T.) is a missionary in Shanghai, China.

Elizabeth Dunwoody Hall (Mrs. W. D.), ex 1913, writes that her daughters have been three precious boys, but she is still loyal to Agnes Scott.

Margaret McLean, ex 1922, is getting her degree at the University of Mississippi this year, after having been out of school two years.

Sarah Mildred Ham, ex 1921, is Secretary of the Georgia Department of Archives and History.

Florence Light Roberts (Mrs. A. H.), ex 1908, is living at Accotink, Fairfax County, Virginia. Accotink is near Mount Vernon, and any Agnes Scotters and especially those belonging to the Class of 1908, are invited to get in touch with Mrs. Roberts if they happen to be near Mount Vernon.

Katharine Logan Good (Mrs. Jno. E.), ex 1893, is teaching in Cedartown, Ga.

Marie Edgerton Grubb (Mrs. Jno. H.), ex 1921, is living at High Point, N. C. Augusta Brewer, her room-mate in college, is teaching at High Point.

Lida Caldwell Wilson (Mrs. G. E., Jr.), ex 1912, is very busily engaged watching over a two months' old son, Geo. E. Wilson, the third. With her little girl, 7 years old and in the second grade at school, and her infant son her time promises to be well taken up this winter.

Margaret Houser Woodruff (Mrs. L. H.), ex 1910, announces the arrival of Margaret Houser Woodruff, Jr., born February 29th, 1924.

Sarah Dunlap Bobbitt (Mrs. W. H.), ex 1925, is keeping house at 304 Kingston Ave., Charlotte, N. C.

Beulah Adamson, ex 1910, has changed her address to 119 Peachtree St., Atlanta, Ga. She is a teacher in the Atlanta public schools.

ALUMNAE LETTER BOX

So many nice alumnae letters find their way into the Alumnae Office, and it is such a shame to hide their light under a bushel, that we are starting in this issue of the QUARTERLY an Alumnae Letter Box.

We are glad to get letters, not only from our graduates, but from any who have ever attended Agnes Scott. Many of us will remember with pleasure "Mart" Hay who, after spending two years at Agnes Scott, took her degree at Vassar in 1923.

815 South University.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 29, 1924.

Dear Nell:

How perfectly grand to see what sort of job you have! It seems almost as good as talking to you to be able to write you at this address! How is the old A. S. C. and can I be doing anything besides giving you dues at the Alumnae Association?

I have never had any notice before, and have always let slip any plans for getting in touch with the Alumnae Association, but am duly thrilled to be sending you a check now.

One of these slips asks for "Personal items," so I suppose that you would like to know my adventures since leaving Agnes.

Well, Vassar gave me hour-for-hour credit for all my work for the two years that I was at Agnes Scott—which, by the way, does not speak so badly for our standards of scholarship, does it? I spent two very gay and stimulating years at Vassar, and graduated with the class of 1923, then spent a winter at home, in Easton, Pa., where I did the regular college girl stunts of being secretary to the new Symphony Orchestra, heading an educational Committee in the Woman's Club, belonging to a class on Contemporary Printing, teaching Sunday School, running a Mission Band with the help of Curv Farquhar, and doing the family marketing! Now I am out here at the University of Michigan, where Llewellyn Wilburn was last year, and am holding down a job as social secretary to the wife of the President, Dr. Burton, and taking some graduate work in the Economic History of Europe and in the International Aspects of Contemporary Drama—those titles all sound so very high-brow!

Last winter I did enjoy so much seeing Frances Stuart, ex '23, in New York and at home, and I even prevailed on that slipper, but very nice Emily Guille, '23, to stay with me for a while on her way home from a Camp in New Hampshire.

We had a great time swapping gossip, but I should love to hear more at first hand from you, if you ever have a spare moment.

With best wishes to the Alumnae Association.

MARGARET V. HAY, Ex '23.

ALUMNAE HOUSE GUESTS

The Alumnae House is our Agnes Scott home, and we are free to come there whenever we wish and to stay as long as we like. The House is being used more and more every year, and yet there are many girls who have never taken advantage of their privileges in regard to the Alumnae House. Not only can we ourselves come, but we may have three guests a year, each of whom may stay as long as two weeks, and longer if the room they occupy is not needed. As many of us as can should make an effort to visit Agnes Scott from time to time, and stay in the Alumnae House and entertain our friends there.

Among the guests who have been there this year are:

Mrs. C. H. Newton, Athens, Ga.
 Mrs. Charles H. Newton, Athens, Ga.
 Mrs. L. R. Scott, '15, Valdosta, Ga.
 Mrs. Marguerite Watkins Goodman, '21, Biloxi, Miss.
 Mrs. H. F. Smith, Montgomery, Ala.
 Mary Mann, '24, Newnan, Ga.
 Margaret Griffin, '24, Atlanta, Ga.
 Gail Harrison, New York City.
 Mrs. R. L. Rives, Augusta, Ga.
 Mrs. Ruth Slack Smith, '12, LaGrange, Georgia.
 Miss Isabel Norwood, Montgomery, Ala.
 Mr. C. H. Howe, Montgomery, Ala.
 Miss Maryellen Newton, Jr.
 Miss Margaret K. Leyburn, New York City.
 Mrs. Ida Lee Hill Irwin, Washington, Ga.
 Mrs. W. H. Keith, Greenville, S. C.
 Miss Alice V. Springs, Charlotte, N. C.

Dr. Charles F. Thwing, Cleveland, Ohio.
 Mrs. E. L. Keesler, Charlotte, N. C.
 Miss Grace H. Loucks, New York City.
 Mrs. D. Clay Lilly, Winston-Salem, N. C.
 Rev. D. Clay Lilly, D.D., Winston-Salem, North Carolina.
 Dr. Iva Lowther Peters, Goucher College, Baltimore, Md.
 Ruth Hall, Laurel, Miss.
 Elizabeth Brown, '22, Fort Valley, Ga.
 Ruth Evans, '22, Fort Valley, Ga.
 Alice Whipple, '22, Cordele, Ga.
 Quenelle Harrold, '23, Americus, Ga.
 Mary Evelyn King, '24, Cape Charles, Va.
 Ruth Hall, '22, Lexington, Miss.
 Weenona Peck, '24, Montgomery, Ala.
 Augusta Thomas, '24, Montgomery, Ala.
 Laura Oliver, '22, Montgomery, Ala.
 Helen Wayt, '21, Atlanta, Ga.
 Aimee D. (Glover) Little, '21, Marietta, Georgia.
 Nita Patterson, Montgomery, Ala.

Whether you're hungry and needing to dine
Or whether you're merely socially inclined;
Whether you're happy, or whether you're blue,

The Silhouette Tea Room's
the place for you.

SILHOUETTE TEA ROOM

ALUMNAE HOUSE

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

---

---

OFFICERS AND STANDING COMMITTEES OF THE ASSOCIATION

President—FANNIE G. (MAYSON) DONALDSON, '12.

First Vice-President—MARY (WEST) THATCHER, '15.

Second Vice-President—HELEN (BROWN) WEBB, '14.

Secretary—MARGARET BLAND, '20.

Treasurer—MARGARET PHYTHIAN, '16.

General Secretary—NELL BUCHANAN, '22.

Publicity Committee—Chairman, Louise Johnson, '20; Nell Buchanan, '22; Elizabeth (Denman) Hammond, '18; Frances Charlotte Markley, '21; Elizabeth Wilson, '22.

Preparatory Schools Committee—Chairman, Julia (Hagood) Cuthbertson, '20; (Committee not yet selected.)

Curriculum Committee—Chairman, Jane (Harwell) Rutland, '17; Julia Ingram Hazard, '19; Charis (Hood) Barwick, '16.

House and Tea Room Committee—Chairman, Annie Pope (Bryan) Scott, '15; Treasurer, Cora Morton, '24; Ex-officio, Martha Bishop, ex '18; Nell Buchanan, '22. Florine Brown, ex '12; Emma Pope (Moss) Dieckmann, '13; Georgiana (White) Miller, '17; Eileen (Dodd) Sams, '23.

Louise McKinney Play Contest Committee—Chairman: Mary Wallace Kirk, '11.

Local Clubs Committee—Chairman, Aimee D. (Glover) Little, '21; Cama (Burgess) Clarkston, '22; Emma (Jones) Smith, '18; Margaret Leyburn, '18; Helen Wayt, '21.

Vocational Guidance Committee—Chairman, Ruth Scandrett, '22; Elizabeth Brown, '22; Polly Stone, '24.

Committee on Beautifying Grounds and Buildings—Chairman, Allie (Candler) Guy, '13; Martha (Rogers) Noble (Mrs. Geo.), '14; Mary Helen (Schneider) Head (Mrs. Ben), '15; Louise (Maness) Roberts (Mrs. Faye), '13.

Entertainment Committee—Chairman Eugenia (Johnston) Griffin, '21; Martha (Rogers) Noble, '14.

Scholarship Committee—Chairman, Ethel (Alexander) Gaines, '00; Emma Pope (Moss) Dieckmann, '13; Mary (Kelly) Van de Erve, '07.

Class Organization and Records—Chairman, Ruth (Black) Smith, '12; Louise Slack, '20; Eleanor Frierson, '10.

Alumnae Aid League—Treasurer, Belle Cooper, '18.

The
Agnes Scott
Alumnae Quarterly

REUNION
NUMBER

April, 1925

Published by the
Agnes Scott Alumnae Association
Decatur, Ga.

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

DECATUR, GEORGIA

A College for Women

---

THE AGNES SCOTT ALUMNAE QUARTERLY

PUBLISHED FOUR TIMES A YEAR

BY

The Agnes Scott Alumnae Association
DECATUR, GA.

Subscription Price of Fifty Cents (.50) Is Included in Annual Dues of $1.50

BOARD OF EDITORS

Editors .....	{ LOUISE JOHNSON, '20 NELL BUCHANAN, '22
Associate Editors .....	{ ELIZABETH WILSON, '22 POLLY STONE, '24
Student Editor .....	EDITH RICHARDS, '27

---

---

The Agnes Scott Alumnae Quarterly

---

---

VOL. III.

APRIL, 1925

No. 3

---

---

Entered as second class matter under the Act of Congress, August 1912.

---

---

TABLE OF CONTENTS

J. R. McCAIN .....	Frontispiece
A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT .....	J. R. McCain
THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY WOMEN
DuBOSE HEYWARD—Picture
MR. AND MRS. DuBOSE HEYWARD AT AGNES SCOTT .....	Emma May Lancy
COURT HOUSE WINDOW—Poem .....	Elizabeth Cheatham, '25
MISS HOPKINS RECEIVES NEW HONOR
WILL YOU BE HERE FOR REUNIONS? .....	Nell Buchanan, '22
MEDITATIONS OF A PSEUDO-EDITOR .....	Elizabeth Wilson, '22
TO THE REUNION CLASSES .....	Ruth (Slack) Smith, '12
THE POETRY CONTEST .....	Nan B. Stephens
BOOK REVIEWS
ON THE CAMPUS .....	Edith Richards, '27
Founders Day Celebrated
"Poets of the Future"
May Day
NINE O'CLOCK—Poem .....	Pocahontas Wight, '25
WITH OUR LOCAL CLUBS
CONCERNING OURSELVES
PORTRAIT OF A GIRL—Poem .....	Marjorie Lowe, '23
ALUMNAE LETTER BOX
SWIMMING POOL FUND
FROM THE ALUMNAE OFFICE—
CLASS SONG—1924
ANNOUNCEMENTS AND COMMITTEES

---

---

J. R. MCCAIN, Ph.D
President of Agnes Scott College

The Agnes Scott Alumnae Quarterly

APRIL, 1925

---

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

J. R. MCCAIN

Dear Agnes Scott Alumnae:

We cannot remind ourselves too often that you are our chief joy and pride. The product of the College must be its great object. If we did not have you Alumnae as our "hire," Agnes Scott would have lived for nearly 36 years largely in vain. We can all get pleasure out of the yearly operation of the institution, but it would be expensive as mere entertainment. We render some constructive service to the community from week to week; but if the round of college activities were the "be-all and end-all" of our labors, we really could not justify our existence. We live, therefore, because you are living and serving and because we hope each year to add to your numbers and power and influence.

Since you have this relation to us, we like to report our progress and plans to you and claim in return your suggestions as to how we may make Agnes Scott all that it ought to be. The two outstanding things that have engaged our interest this year are the attentions of Phi Beta Kappa to us and the building of the first unit in our development plans.

Agnes Scott has never applied for membership in Phi Beta Kappa largely because Dr. Armistead, so long the president of the faculty group, felt strongly that it was an honor that should seek the college. As if in response to his feeling, the Society adopted in 1922 the policy of inviting such institutions as they wished to file applications. Last fall was the first time that invitations were issued, and Agnes Scott was immediately voted an invitation by the chapters in the South Atlantic District, extending from Delaware to Florida—the only institution, we have been told, so honored in this section. The Senate of Phi Beta Kappa has unanimously endorsed our application, and we believe that the granting of the charter will be ratified at the Council meeting in September. This is the last academic recognition that we need, and of course we will be gratified to have it. There will still need to be improvement in every way in our work, but the educational world will have classed us as A-1 in quality.

The building of our new Gymnasium-Auditorium is going along very satisfactorily. The contract calls for it to be complete by September 1st. We have been hoping that we might have the Trustees' Luncheon for the Alumnae in it at Commencement, but the builder cannot as yet give a promise regarding that. We were greatly surprised to find the lowest bid on it $165,000; and we may not just now finish every detail, but the students of the College are waging a spirited campaign for $7,500 to complete at least the swimming pool and stage for the giving of plays, and when that is successful we will certainly see that they are not disappointed in these items.

The new building will add immeasurably to our efficiency and comfort, and it will besides be a source of pride as a really beautiful addition to the plant. There are other buildings which must come as soon as we can possibly get the means for them. A new heating plant, with power house and laundry, is the next essential. It will be located at the extreme south end of our holdings. The next most urgent is an administration and recitation hall. It should be the finest in the South, for it will be our workshop to no small degree and should represent the finish and perfection of our scholastic efforts. And the erection of a chapel—a real place of worship—in memory of our beloved Dr. Gaines must certainly be provided soon. We have a big and important program, and I have mentioned only major enterprises, at the same time not forgetting a day student cottage, a Y. W. C. A. hut, and other smaller matters.

All these things must come before we can grow. In the meantime we can improve each year in the quality of our admissions and in the achievements both of our students and of our alumnae. The public needs to be more aware of us. They do not yet realize either our growth or our opportunities. We need you to help us by your contacts with others to truly make the College live in the hearts of those who should become our friends; and we know we can count on you for this and any other service for which your Alma Mater calls.

Cordially,

J. R. McCAIN.

---

THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY WOMEN

Its Achievements and Its Purpose

The annual convention of the American Association of University Women, which is to be held in Indianapolis from April 8-11, is near at hand, and Agnes Scott is planning to be represented as usual. The purpose of the A. A. U. W., as outlined in the charter, is that it "Hereby constitutes a body corporate, for the purpose of uniting the alumnae of different institutions for practical educational work, for the collection and publication of statistical and other information concerning education, and in general, for the maintenance of high standards of education." Founded in 1882 by 66 alumnae of eight of the colleges then open to women, the Association now boasts nearly 18,000 members, and is a branch of an international organization. It has 290 branches, 145 colleges and universities on its approved list, and 31 alumnae associations pay dues and send delegates to its convention.

The activities of the Association are many, and of great importance to every one who is interested in education. To quote from their report, they are as follows:

(1) Recognition of Colleges—Passing upon credentials, and gradually increasing the list of colleges whose alumnae are eligible to membership.

(2) Standards—Looking into standards of colleges, with a view to raising them, especially in relation to conditions provided for women students and the status, promotion, and tenure of women members of faculties.

(3) Fellowships—11 graduate fellowships supported or administered.

(4) Educational Projects—The Laura Spelman Rockefeller Foundation grant of $12,000 for each of two years for work in pre-school and elementary education through 109 round tables in Branches.

(5) Information and Assistance—Given in many forms to university women from all parts of this country and from other countries.

(6) Legislative Policies—Co-operation with other organizations in furthering the success of legislative measures endorsed by the Association.

(7) The National Club—Operating a National Club in the Headquarters building, and extending the Association's hospitality to national and international guests. The Club has paid $1,000 rent to the Association.

(8) Publications—Journal of the American Association of University Women, reports, surveys, pamphlets of information, and other special articles.

(9) International Relations—To this Committee Oxford and Cambridge Universities have delegated the selection of American women students whom they will accept. Sixty-three international relations round tables in the Branches.

(10) Educational Co-operation—With the American Council on Education (A. A. U. W. representatives on the Executive Committee and the Committee of Standards); Association of American Colleges; Co-operative Bureau for Women Teachers; Association to Aid Scientific Research by Women; Bureau of Vocational Information; Women's Joint Congressional Committee; National Association of Deans of Women; National Education Association; Progressive Educational Society; International Kindergarten Union; National Conference on Educational Methods.

Many of our graduates are taking an active part in A. A. U. W. work, among them Emma (Jones) Smith, who is President of the Montgomery Branch; Lucy Durr, Laura Oliver, in Montgomery; Mary Spottswood Payne, in Lynchburg; Lois Eve, in Augusta; Julia (Hagood) Cuthbertson and Ruth Crowell, in Charlotte; Ruth (Blue) Barnes, in Savannah; Lucile Alexander and Daisy Frances Smith in Atlanta, and practically all of the graduate members in our Atlanta Agnes Scott Club.

It is through the A. A. U. W. that we have the opportunity to keep in touch with the educated women of our country, and to keep abreast of the times in the educational world. Even if there is no branch near our home, it is well worth while to become a member-at-large in the Association and receive the A. A. U. W. Journal, thus linking yourself with other graduates of our finest educational institutions.

DUBOSE HEYWARD

MR. AND MRS. DuBOSE HEYWARD SPEND WEEK AT AGNES SCOTT

POET AND DRAMATIST INSPIRE COLLEGE COMMUNITY

EMMA MAY LANEY

For more than a decade American Colleges have placed increasing emphasis on the creative side of English composition. Courses in short story writing, play writing, and verse writing have become an important part of the curriculum, and the University of Michigan has gone so far as to establish a Professorship for a poet, giving him no more definite duties than living on the campus and consulting with students interested in writing poetry. Agnes Scott has kept pace with this development in English work not only through such formal courses as English 4 and English 18, but also through poet lecturers such as Harriet Monroe and Vachel Lindsay, through the Louise McKinney drama and poetry prizes, and through the student organizations BOZ and the Poetry Club.

In recognition of this enthusiasm for writing, the Administration arranged to bring to the College for the entire first week in February two distinguished artists, Mr. and Mrs. DuBose Heyward, of Charleston, South Carolina. Mr. Heyward, first known in literary circles by a book of verse, "Carolina Chansons", in which he collaborated with Hervey Allen to preserve some of Carolina's "haunting memories and rich atmosphere", has also published a volume, "Skylines and Horizons", which the editor of the Bookman characterizes as carefully written and beautifully visioned verse. Mr. Heyward has, in addition, attained fame as an interpreter of the poetry of others through his lectures and criticisms, and has written a novel Porgi, which Doran will publish in the fall. Mrs. Heyward is known for her Harvard prize play, Nancy Anne, which was produced on Broadway last April; her second play, Cinderelative, is scheduled for production at the Punch and Judy Theatre, New York, in the spring.

It goes without saying that the week which brought two such artists to Agnes Scott was most significant. Through Mr. Heyward's lectures, we came to know that the MacDowell Colony is a place of green-hills and rustic studios where poets, novelists, musicians, painters "invite their souls" and that the best in Southern life is finding adequate expression by groups of poets at Charleston, Norfolk, Nashville, and Dallas; we became acquainted with Edwin Arlington Robinson of "pregnant silences" and stoic endurance of poverty, and with Amy Lowell of the long retinue and the need of an entire Pullman car when she travels; we heard that the way of the poet or short story writer into print is a devious one and none too rewarding financially. Mrs. Heyward, on the other hand, took us behind the scenes of a Broadway theatre and held us breathless as we listened to the mishaps at the hands of manager and star which threatened Nancy Anne's appearance on the boards and made it almost unrecognizable by the author when it finally did appear.

And so for a week the miles that separate Decatur, Georgia, from the literary center of America were obliterated. Yet the finest results of the visit of this poet and dramatist came not from these formal lecturers but from hours "when from the circling faces Veils pass and laughing fellowship glows warm". Chatting around the tea table, criticizing a poem for this student and reading a play for that one, walking down Candler street or motoring to Stone Mountain, they shared our daily life. As they did this or as Mr. Heyward read his own "shining words" to the Poetry Club and Mrs. Heyward talked of plays to Blackfriars, they were

". . . . spendthrifts who believed
That only those who spend may keep;
Who scattered seeds, yet never grieved
Because a stranger came to reap."

Thus they gave us a new understanding of the place of art and the artist in the community, a quickened faith in spiritual verities, an enhanced sensitiveness to beauty.

The Administration, in its experiment of having a resident poet and dramatist at Agnes Scott for a week, has not only brought fresh inspiration to those who write, but has enriched life for us all.

---

COURT-HOUSE WINDOW

ELIZABETH CHEATHAM, '25

I watched the rain come—gray and silver-white
Advancing very voicelessly and still,
And saw it spread abroad enchanted light,
And let my thirsty spirit take its fill.

It hung in thin unearthly mystic veils,
On city buildings, brick and drab concrete,
And made long quivering white paths and trails
Down far below me on the asphalt street.

How fairy-like the spires rise from the rain!
And that blue looming dome—how near it seems!
My spirit tiptoes up, all glad again,
And I am lost in wonder and in dreams.

"More rain," Miss Button says: "just look at it!
You reckon it ain't never goin' to quit?"

DEAN HOPKINS

MISS HOPKINS RECEIVES NEW HONOR

It is only fitting in any book lauding the prominent women of Georgia, that Miss Hopkins should have an important place, for those of us who have been fortunate enough to come under her influence realize that it has been lasting, and one of the biggest things of our college life. We are therefore pleased but not surprised then that Miss Hopkins' picture is to appear in a new book that is being published, called "The Representative Women of Georgia."

Miss Hopkins has been at Agnes Scott ever since the founding of the institution, and has seen it grow from a small preparatory school, to the equal of any college in the land. With a great vision for the possibilities of our College, she and Dr. Gaines played the major parts in its development, and laid the foundation for its present structure. In 1922, the degree of Doctor of Pedagogy was conferred upon her, and her honors have been many, but her chief claim to fame, and the one that Miss Hopkins cherishes most, is that she ever lives in the hearts of Agnes Scott girls.

The book "Representative Women of Georgia" can be found at all the libraries and press offices in the country. We will have a copy in the Agnes Scott Library as soon as the publication is complete.

Among other Agnes Scott people whose pictures may be found in "Representative Women of Georgia" are Nan Stephens, noted playwright, and Mrs. Samuel Inman, leader of many Georgia activities. Georgia has many prominent women, and Agnes Scott has every right to be proud of her contribution to the new book.

ALUMNAE HOUSE HOSTESS AND GUESTS.

WILL YOU BE HERE FOR REUNIONS?

NELL BUCHANAN, '22

General Secretary Alumnae Association

Already the plans for the reunions have assumed proportions unheard of before. Committees from the various reunion classes have met here at the Alumnae House to discuss class books and class luncheons, stunts and parades. The Alumnae House and cottages are being chartered, alumnae tables are being planned. There has never been so much excitement over a Commencement, and it seems to be the purpose of each reunion class to show that the "alums" have lost none of their enthusiasm and vivacity, but are just as much a part of the College as ever, and a very real part of Commencement. We will have our annual alumnae Baby Show as usual, and we hope to make even a bigger feature of it than it has ever been before.

Ruth Slack Smith is reunion hostess this year, and she and Martha Bishop, the House hostess, as well as your General Secretary, are at your service whenever you need them.

Reunion classes are '85, '90, '95, '00, '05, '10, '15, '20, '22, and '24. This year and every year hereafter, the Class At Large will hold a reunion. The Class At Large is made up of all those who attended Agnes Scott and are interested in her welfare, but who were not graduated. Some of our most loyal and enthusiastic alumnae belong to the Class At Large, and we are glad to have them organized so that they can be of greater service to their College, and can keep in closer touch with her. There will be a dinner for the Class At Large, and if you would like to attend, please send in your reservation to the alumnae office at your earliest convenience.

The Commencement Program for this year is as follows:

FRIDAY, MAY 22

- 10:00 A. M. Annual Meeting of Board of Trustees.
- 3:00 P. M. Alumnae Baby Show.

SATURDAY, MAY 23

- 1:30 P. M. Trustees' Luncheon to Alumnae and Senior Class.
- 3:00 P. M. Annual Meeting of Alumnae Association.
- 8:30 P. M. Glee Club.

SUNDAY, MAY 24

- 11:30 A. M. Baccalaureate Address, by Dr. George Stuart, D.D., Pastor of the First Methodist Church in Birmingham, Ala.

MONDAY, MAY 25

- 1:00 P. M. Luncheons for Reunion Classes.
- 2:30 P. M. Parade and Stunts by Reunion Classes.
- 4:00 P. M. Class Day Exercises.
- 8:30 P. M. Blackfriars.

TUESDAY, MAY 27

- 10:00 A. M. Address to Senior Class, by Professor Edwin Mims, Ph.D., Head of the English Department of Vanderbilt University.
Conferring of Degrees.

MEDITATIONS OF A PSEUDO-EDITOR

ELIZABETH WILSON. '22

You can recognize one any place: embedded in the subway, perched aloft on a bus, or strolling innocently on the Avenue. You have but to note the sardonic curve of the lips, the cold, unsympathizing eyes, and the nervous twitching of the red-stained fingers, and you know at once that you are face to face with an Alexander of the publishing world—a pseudo-editor. If you are an author, a young and timid would-be author with no past and little future, you will quiver and possibly stop long enough to admire; but if you are a real author, one who has "arrived", so to speak, or in technical terms, one who can demand a "stet" on each page of her copy, you will glare viciously and click your teeth in an audible snap. But whether you quiver or glare is of no concern to the pseudo-editor. Both come in a day's work. Despised by the authors, blamed by the printers, ignored by the phlegmatic editors, she is forced to appreciate and admire herself as she heartlessly pursues her course through endless manuscripts, leaving behind as much devastation and gory ink as possible. That is the pseudo-editor's only revenge. I know, for I am one.

Now, I am not destructive by nature. On the contrary, I love peace and quiet, and I asked only to be allowed to learn the editing game so that I might be able to place colons and commas with meticulous as well as artistic care, and then in that cultured and literary atmosphere that is supposed to hover over an editorial office, I could write The Great American Novel. After months in a publishing house and constant association with contemporary pseudo-editors, I have changed my mind. I shall never write anything. I cannot bear the thought of having the "silent places of my soul", or the "warm blush of tears around my heart" (quotes from two of our latest books) bandied about in mirthful revelry and chortled over by a group of callous college girls. And the joy that they would derive from reading aloud with sneers and giggles my heroine's self-analysis or my hero's disclosure of his passionate love, would cause me anguish of soul and body. No, I shall never write—for that reason and several others.

At first I felt very sorry for the poor author when I saw the "child of her brain" (academically speaking) slashed to pieces, and I felt faint when I looked upon the bleeding remains. But all sentimentality soon vanishes in a publishing house. In one week I edited five best sellers, crudely described by a few trite phrases: (a) "the great open spaces where a man's a man" and virile besides (Harold Bell Wright we have always with us.); (b) the love affairs of an English actress, age fifteen (of course, she married the Earl.); (c) what happens when mother and daughter both love the same man? (Edith Wharton allows mother to suffer through fifteen chapters with a complex called "sterile pain".); (d) a tale of artificial mystery full of impossibilities, wily detectives, and bloody murders (Who committed them?—Why, of course, the person you least suspected.); (d) and the psycho-analytical dissertation of a woman who loved too well (Not wisely, but too well!). After that week I lost all respect for authors, acquired the sardonic curve, and started the career of a pseudo-editor.

* * * * *

And now a word to the young college girl who would like to work in a publishing house, any publishing house, but simply doesn't know how to get in one.

"Would you tell me, please, which way I ought to walk from here?" Alice began, rather timidly.

"That depends a good deal on where you want to go", said the Cat.

"I don't much care where—" said Alice.

"Then it doesn't matter which way you walk", said the Cat.

"— so long as I get somewhere", Alice explained.

"Oh, you're bound to get somewhere", said the Cat, "if you only walk long enough."

It's mostly a matter of physical endurance.

---

TO THE REUNION CLASSES

Members of Reunion Classes:

You don't have to be a Confederate Veteran to go to a reunion, for one of the happiest events of our after-college life is an alumnae reunion when we come back to the old campus, meet with friends of former years and recount the experiences of college days.

Agnes Scott always gives a cordial welcome to her daughters at any time and especially during Commencement Week when Monday is designated for Class Day Exercises and Alumnae Reunions. This is reunion year for the classes of '85, '90, '95, '00, '05, '10, '15, '20, '22, and '24. If your class is one of them, I'm hoping each of you will do all you can to get a large representation and have a live reunion. We need to begin work early so that busy women can plan to come, not only for Reunion Day, but for the whole of Commencement, May 22-26. A cup is to be given by the General Alumnae Association to the class having the largest percentage back. Why not win it?

I'm going to be there for Commencement and I hope I'll see you and all the "old guard" there.

Sincerely yours,

RUTH SLACK SMITH, '12 (Mrs. Hazen Smith),
Chairman Class Organization Committee.

---

POETRY CONTEST

NAN BAGBY STEPHENS

The great interest in and success of the Poetry Contest, last year, made it a cause for rejoicing that a prize of fifty dollars will again be offered to alumnae and undergraduates for the best poem submitted before April 15th, 1925.

Each contestant may submit only one poem, and this poem must be in triplicate. The judges are Charles Hanson Towne, DuBose Heyward, and Hervey Allen, distinguished authorities, who have consented to give their services because of their great interest in the talent of Agnes Scott. The award will be announced at Commencement.

Poems should be sent to Miss Nell Buchanan, General Secretary, Agnes Scott Alumnae Association, Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga., before April 15th.

BOOK REVIEWS

John Keats, by Amy Lowell. Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

The event of the year 1925 in the book world is the final arrival of Amy Lowell's John Keats. This notable biography, the result of years of study, not only throws light on the life and work of Keats, but it shows a poet's understanding of another poet's psychology. Bliss Perry, in a review of the book, says: "Part of the extraordinary interest of her book is due, no doubt, to the inherent fascination of the subject. Part is due to her endeavor to explain Keats in the light of what she calls 'mental impulse' of the present century. Miss Lowell believes that students of modern psychology can understand Keats better than the nineteenth century could understand him. Included in this volume are nine hitherto unpublished letters of Keats and five unpublished poems." To quote from another review, "The book is written with the insight of a poet, the verve of a novelist, and the clear acumen of a scholar." Evidently the book has no drawback but its price—$12.50!

Orphan Island, by Rose Macaulay. Boni & Liveright.

To those who have read Dangerous Ages by this author, the above is a welcome announcement. Such people will remember her fine satiric touch, but they will not have known it at its brightest and best until they have read this satire on Victorian England. Miss Isabel Paterson, in a review for the March Bookman, says: "It is excellent satire, and if to youthful readers it seems inapposite, that is because they cannot visualize the object. Their elders will enjoy it."

Wild Cherry, by Lizette Woodworth Reese. The Norman, Remington Co., Baltimore.

Christopher Morley says:

"In poetry there is one test of art,—
With whispering stealth and keeping delicate time,
It creeps into your mind: you find it there."

This delicate, memorable quality is found in most of the poems in Lizette Woodworth Reese's slender volume of verse, Wild Cherry. The book has an outside of lovely soft colors, and an inside of "King's wares, and dreams, and April dusks." Spring ecstasy, "when the weather has gone mad with white", blows through its pages; there is an almost mystic quality in the shy and exquisite beauty of some of the briefer poems; and through many of them runs the intangible, haunting theme of something old and gone, "lost springtimes".

"Spent loveliness that hurts me like a cry,
The step lost on the stair, the face gone out."

To the bookshelves of poetry lovers, Wild Cherry will be a welcome addition. Better still, it will fit their coat pockets, and perhaps match their moods when they go April-rambling.

On The Campus

EDITH RICHARDS, '27

THE MINUET DANCERS

FOUNDERS' DAY AGAIN CELEBRATED

The exciting February 22 has once more come and gone, the celebration this year having taken place on the twenty-first, since the twenty-second fell on Sunday. As usual, there was a tenseness in the atmosphere all day of "something afoot", which reached its climax at 6:20, when, after everyone else was seated in the softly lighted, patriotically decorated dining rooms, the Seniors walked in dressed in the picturesque colonial costumes. The traditional characters were present: George and Martha Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Patrick Henry, Benjamin Franklin, Betsy Ross, La-Fayette, Francis Scott Key, and Daniel Boone, each of whom made appropriate and entertaining speeches. After dinner, everyone went to the gymnasium, where some of the handsomest of the colonial gentlemen and the daintiest and most graceful of the hoop-skirted ladies danced a beautiful minuet. Then general dancing was enjoyed until the late hour of 9:45.

Tradition and sentiment, both school and patriotic, combined with enthusiasm and the picturesque beauty of the gay-colored costumes and powdered wigs, brought back fond memories to alumnae present, and gave the students another day to star in their college calendar.

AGNES SCOTT REPRESENTED IN "THE POETS OF THE FUTURE"

When the 1922-1924 volume of "The Poets of the Future" came out last fall, Agnes Scott was delighted to find that five of her girls had received the honor of having one of their poems printed in this book, and that six others had attained "honorable mention", listed in the book under the title,

"Other Poems of Distinction". "The Poets of the Future" is a college anthology containing all the best poems of American college students selected by a group of judges from the college magazines. Over two hundred colleges and universities have one or more poems printed or mentioned in this volume, it being the largest of the seven volumes of the College Anthology which have been printed.

Agnes Scott is very proud to have so many girls represented in this book, there being only four colleges having a larger number of poems printed, and only seven having a larger number of "other poems of distinction", and most of these are large universities.

Those Agnes Scott girls who have poems printed in "The Poets of the Future", and the names of the poems are:

"Confidants" .....Janice Stewart Brown, '24
 "The Deserted House"..... Marjorie Lowe, '23
 "Court-House Window",

Elizabeth Cheatham, '25

"Wishes" ..... Margaret Bull, '26

"Sonnet" ..... Nancy Evans, '24

Those who have poems mentioned under "Other Poems of Distinction" are:

"Stream—Edge—Autumn",

Dell Bernhardt, '24

"Adolescence" ..... Helen Faw, '23

"Georgia Hills" ..... Maud Foster, '23

"Aelfric" ..... Margery Speake, '25

"Haven" ..... Margaret Tufts, '26

"Riding by the Sea"..... Ellen Walker, '25

MAY QUEEN CHOSEN

Mary Breedlove, '25

May Day will soon be here—a day full of sweet memories for all alumnae. Each of us has taken part in it—some of us as dancing nymphs—others, less endowed—as mere mortals. The May Queen, Mary Breedlove, has recently been elected and she is as pretty as a May Queen could be. All alumnae will like to come back and reminisce, and talk about how it was done in their day. Last year it was interesting to stand by and hear groups of them talk. The conversation ran something like this:

Lulie (Harris) Henderson: "Isn't that a lovely dance! Adelaide, do you feed your baby orange juice?"

Anne (Hart) Equen: "Just think, I used to dance like that. And now I get all the exercise I can stand running after Anne, Jr."

Sarah (Hall): "Oh girls, all of you are ladies of leisure. I have twins to look after."

But May Day is May Day, and in the spring the hearts of all Agnes Scott girls turn to the wisteria and the dogwood on the old campus, and the flowers in the boxes in front of the library. May Day is the time to come back.

NINE O'CLOCK

Yellow wood with edge of black—
 Laughter, yawning, sliding, crack
 Scratched with jiggling, slipping feet—
 Slick old yellow chapel seat!

With Our Local Clubs

The January meeting of the ATLANTA Atlanta Agnes Scott Club met with the President, Miss Claire Louise Scott, at her home on West Peachtree. We were all very delighted to hear from Miss Gooch about the splendid trip the Blackfriars had to Chicago.

Our December bazaar was quite a success, since we cleared a little over $99.

In February, our club met at Mrs. William Anderson's, with Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Paul Potter joint hostesses. Mrs. Donaldson was made chairman of our rummage sale which was held on February 28. Miss Alexander and Miss Phythian, of the French department at Agnes Scott, made interesting talks on the progress of their department during the past few years. Miss Bates, of Agnes Scott, gave several delightful vocal numbers, accompanied at the piano by Miss Annette Carter.

The Atlanta club has paid to the General Association the five hundred dollars which we pledged to the Alumnae House Fund. We are now planning for our children's carnival, which is held every spring.

MARIE S. HOPPE, Secretary.

NEW AGNES SCOTT CLUBS

We are glad to announce the organization of four new Agnes Scott Clubs. The first of these is in New York, where, under the leadership of Elizabeth Wilson, we have excellent material for an enthusiastic club.

Lynchburg, Virginia, has started a new club, which is being organized by Spott Payne. Anniston, Alabama, under the leadership of Fan McCaa and Virginia Ordway, is planning a club, and in Birmingham, with Elizabeth Ransom and Anna Meade and Vallie Young (White) Archibald, a club is well under way. We hope to have several others organized before the year is out.

The Richmond Alumnae have had four lively meetings, and have discussed various plans of serving their Alma Mater.

The members of the club have secured pamphlets and pictures of the college from Dr. McCain and Hoasc. We are planning to use this material on posters which we will make and place in the various High Schools of Richmond. In this way we hope to arouse even greater interest in Agnes Scott College among the High School girls of Richmond.

The last meeting of the club was more of a social meeting, to which we invited a number of High School girls who are thinking of going to Agnes Scott. There were seven of these girls present, and each one was given a cross word puzzle to work out. These proved to consist of interesting facts about Agnes Scott.

Nannie Campbell made a short talk about Student Government and its privileges. Then Margaret McDow talked on the good times had at Agnes Scott.

The girls showed a great deal of interest in the college, and we hope that we succeeded in giving them a glimpse of the Agnes Scott Spirit.

JOSEPHINE LOGAN, Secretary.

The March meeting of the CHARLOTTE Charlotte Club was held at the home of Mrs. J. S. Cothran, the Secretary. Mrs. Ivey, the President, had just returned from a visit to her mother in Atlanta, during which time she had been at the Agnes Scott Alumnae Office. The Charlotte Club is doing good work, and the March meeting was an enthusiastic one.

DECATUR Mrs. F. H. Roberts, President of the Decatur Club, has been forced to resign, and Daisy Frances Smith has been elected to take her place. At the February meeting the club pledged one hundred dollars above individual pledges to the Alumnae House Fund, and one hundred toward the maintenance of an instructor in the technique of the drama. Our hundred to the House Fund was promptly paid on the first of March.

Plans are being made for an alumnae play to be given soon, and Frances Amis was made chairman of the play committee.

The club is also planning to entertain the Decatur High School Seniors, and also to sponsor the Annual Baby Show at Commencement time.

The rummage sale, held on February 28, under the chairmanship of Margaret Phythian, cleared $85.00.

FRANCES AMIS, Secretary.

IN NEW YORK On Thursday evening, March 26, the Agnes Scott alumnae in New York met at an informal dinner at the Peg Woffington and unanimously voted the organization of a New York chapter of the Agnes Scott Alumnae Association. Miss Nan Stephens, of Atlanta, was the honor guest and told of the course in playwriting that is to be given at Agnes Scott. Immediately a motion was made and seconded that the club for its maiden venture pledge $100.00 toward the Chair of Playwriting. Several plans for raising this sum were suggested and are to be considered by a committee.

The second meeting of the club will be held in April at Mary Kirkpatrick's apartment on 57th street. Elizabeth Wilson was elected president; the other officers will be elected at the second meeting.

The dinner party was very informal and each person had to tell her special joy and sorrow at Agnes Scott as well as her activities in New York. Reminiscences came thick and fast. Mary Kilpatrick recalled the time that lamps were in vogue and the "midnight oil" was burned for the purpose of cooking fudge. Dorothy Dyrenforth told of the opening of the swimming pool (which was not a thing to be laughed at in those days), and of her athletic prowess at the track meet where she won a blue ribbon. The anguish suffered at the hands of the "math" department was recalled by Sarah Gober and Jeannette Archer. If there had been more time a "favorite teacher" vote would probably have been taken.

The New York members and their occupations are:

Mary Kirkpatrick, play producing.

Sarah Cragwell, taking her masters degree in costume designing at Columbia University.

Julia Ingram Hazzard (Mrs. L. B.), keeping house and studying chemistry.

Jeannette Archer, training at the Presbyterian Hospital.

Dorothy Dyrenforth, designing.

Gertrude Ammudsen, Y. W. C. A. secretary.

Sarah Gober, publicity.

Minnie Claire Boyd, taking masters degree in history at Columbia University.

Florence Stokes Henry (Mrs. M. E.), keeping house in Jersey.

Cornelia Archer, studying piano.

Rebecca Dick, publicity.

Alma Rowe, studying at Columbia and assisting in secretarial work Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick.

Corene Berman, studying at Barnard College.

Norma Burke Hearn (Mrs. Murray), keeping house in Brooklyn.

Nelle Esslinger, concert singing.

Ruth Nesbit Morehouse (Mrs. Ward), publicity.

Elizabeth Wilson, editorial.

IN MACON One of the most outstanding of the Agnes Scott meetings that have been held this year will take place in Macon, Georgia, on the seventeenth of April, during the convention of the Georgia Education Association. About thirty Agnes Scott teachers will meet for a lovely dinner at the Dempsey Hotel. Dr. McCain and Miss Hopkins both will grace the occasion with their presence, and Miss Thyrza Askew of the North Avenue Presbyterian School will act as toastmistress.

Eva Wassum, '23, of Macon, is making all arrangements.

Concerning Ourselves

ALUMNAE MARRIAGES

Lewis Murchison, ex '24, to Mr. Rivers Thomas Jenkins, Saturday, February 21.

Georgia Weaver, ex '22, to Mr. M. S. Wiggington. Her address is 120 S. Decatur St., Montgomery, Ala.

Dorothy Bowron, '23, to Mr. John Belgrave Collins, on Jan. 14.

Ruth Hall, '22 to Reverend Virgil L. Bryant, December 23, 1924.

Elizabeth Enloe, '21 to Mr. Gerald MacCarthy, an instructor of geology at Chapel Hill, N. C.

Dorothy Elyea, ex '24, to Mr. Cathoun Emmet Minchener, Jan. 6, 1925.

Sidney Morton, ex '24, to Mr. Hugh Nelson Montgomery, on Dec. 26, 1924.

Susie Stokes, ex '25, to Mr. Rosser Howard Taylor, on Dec. 24, 1924. They are at home in Chapel Hill, N. C.

Caroline Hutter, ex '22, to Mr. Cranston Williams, in January. Her home is in Chattanooga.

Vivian Dowe, ex '21, to Lieutenant Frederick A. Irvin, of West Point, N. Y.

Jean Douglas, ex '21 to Dr. William Randolph Smith on March 11.

Frances Gilliland, '24, to Mr. Samuel Guerry Stukes, of Agnes Scott College on March 28. They are temporarily living with Mr. and Mrs. Dieckmann, on Erie Avenue.

Lucile Boyd, '16, to Mr. Edward Okel, Jr., in December. Mr. Okel is an architect in Montgomery. Their address is Oak Crest, Elmore, Ala.

The following engagements are announced:

Elizabeth Moss, '20, to Mr. Henry Harris of Asheville, N. C., the marriage to take place in April.

Annette Carter, '25, to Mr. E. C. Caldwell, Jr., of Emory University.

Laura Oliver, '22 to Mr. Justin Fuller, of Birmingham, Ala.

Born To:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Cordle (Minnie Lee Clark, 1923) a son, Charles Clark, February 18, 1925.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Marty (Elizabeth Nisbet, ex '22), a daughter, Mary Elizabeth, Nov. 3rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry N. Barker (Mary Catherine McKinney, '22) a son, Henry Howe, Jan. 7th.

Mr. and Mrs. John Walter Rutland (Jane Harwell, '17) a daughter, Ruth Lovejoy, Feb. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ernest Summer, (Linda Miller, '14), a daughter, Jan. 20, 1925.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bachman (Margaret Brown, ex '14) a daughter, Sept. 20, 1924, Catherine Clara.

Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Hogan (Theodosia Cobbs, '14) a daughter, Amelia Burr, Dec. 27, 1924.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Summer (Linda Miller, '14), a daughter, Marion McIntosh, in January.

Mr. and Mrs. David G. Henderson (Lulie Harris, '20), a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. C. Mizell (Louise Felker, '19), a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Parsons (Louise Wells, '12), a daughter, in February, Jean Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Burns (Montie Sewell) a daughter, Betty Emmeline, February 6, 1925.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newton, of Decatur, (Maryellen Harvey, '16), a daughter, in March.

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Miller (Georgiana White), a son, in March.

NEWS BY CLASSES:

1893—Association members, 0; non-members, 2. Secretary, Mary Barnett Martin (Mrs. A. V.). Clinton, S. C.

1894—Association members, 0; non-members, 1. Secretary, Mary Neel Kendrick (Mrs. W. J.), Fort McPherson, Ga.

1895—Association members, 4; non-members, 1. Secretary, Winifred Quarterman, Waycross, Ga.

1896—Association members, 1; non-members, 4. Secretary, Mary Ethel Davis, Decatur, Ga.

1897—Association members, 2; non-members, 1. Secretary, Cora Strong, N. C. C. W., Greensboro, N. C.

1899—Association members, 3; non-members, 6. Secretary, Nellie (Mandeville) Henderson (Mrs. C. K.), Carrollton, Ga.

1900—Association members, 4; non-members, 3. Secretary, Ethel (Alexander) Gaines (Mrs. L. M.), 18 Park Lane, Atlanta, Ga.

1901—Association members, 1; non-members, 1. Secretary, Adeline (Arnold) Loridans (Mrs. Charles), 16 E. 15th Street, Atlanta, Ga.

1902—Association members, 3; non-members, 2. Secretary, Laura Caldwell Edmonds (Mrs. A. S.), 240 King Street, Portland, Ore.

1903—Association members, 5; non-members, 2. Secretary, Eileen Gober, Marietta, Ga.

1904—Association members, 6; non-members, 3. Secretary, Lois Johnson Aycock (Mrs. C. G.), 170 Penn Ave., Atlanta, Ga.

Mattie Duncan Johnson (Mrs. Thad B.) lives in Atlanta, at 46 Avery Drive. Mr. Johnson is in the manufacturing business, being connected with the Alco Feed Mills. They have two handsome sons, Thad, Jr., nine years old, and Duncan, 14 months old. Besides her duties as a mother, Mattie finds time for other activities, being a member of the Woman's Club and the Modern Topics Club.

As my letters to our girls are still unanswered the secretary is a little embarrassed at having so few items to contribute to the Alumnae Quarterly. I suppose I will have to tell you of myself. My husband is in the realty and insurance business in Atlanta. I am very proud of our three children—Helen, eight years old; C. G., Jr., six, and Caroline, four. I can frankly say they are pretty children as people often look at me and say, "They don't favor you at all. Whom do they look like?"

1905—Association members, 3; non-members, 2. Secretary, Mabel McKowen, Lindsay, La.

Sallie Stribling has been Primary Supervisor for the City School of Greenville, S. C., for the past two years.

1906—Association members, 4; non-members, 2. Secretary, Ethel McDonald Castellow (Mrs. B. T.), Cuthbert, Ga.

1907—Association members, 3; non-members, 3. Secretary,

1908—Association members, 4; non-members, 5. Secretary, Louise Shipp Chick, 306 C. Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Elva Drake is president of City Y. W. C. A. of Raleigh, N. C. Her young daughter is nine years old, not quite old enough for A. S. C.

Jane H. Brown's official title just now is "In Charge of Traveling Libraries," but her real job is the rural work of Pennsylvania under the Extension Division of the State Library, and the development of the County Library idea. She has all the places of less than a thousand population. Her "home town" is East Waterford, where she has an apartment. The latch-string is on the outside.

Lizzabel is not the only one with bobbed hair. It is the most sensible thing for busy people. Louise Chick's will be short just as long as anyone wears it that way. She was at home for the Christmas holidays.

1909—Association members, 3; non-members, 9. Secretary, Margaret McCallie, 611 Palmetto Street, Chattanooga, Tenn.

1910—Association members, 6; non-members, 7. Secretary, Agnes (Nicolassen) Wharton (Mrs. T. J.), Central City, Ky.

Flora (Crowe) Whitmire writes that she is planning to visit her father and mother this spring, and is very much tempted to stay over for commencement. She spends most of her time with her three year old daughter, Mary, and keeping house, for she is a stranger in East Orange, N. J. Her new address is 77 Prospect street, and she would like very much to hear from members of the class.

Eleanor Frierson says she hopes to be at the reunion, if they will allow her to enter with bobbed hair.

Mildred Thomson (238 Nelson Ave., Apt. 18, St. Paul, Minn.) has a wonderful title, "Supervisor of the Department for the Feeble Minded," under the State Board of Control. Her vacation comes the last of May, so she will be with the class at some of the festivities at least.

The other members of the class have not responded to the secretary's letters, but we hope that many of them will attend the reunion.

1911—Association members, 7; non-members, 6. Secretary, Theodosia (Willingham) Anderson, 63 Avery Drive, Atlanta, Ga.

Mary Wallace Kirk recently visited Emma (Jones) Smith in Montgomery, and on her return stopped by the Alumnae House during the Heywards' visit.

1912—Association members, 9; non-members, 3. Secretary, Marie (MacIntyre) Scott, Scottdale, Ga.

Antoinette Blackburn Rust (Mrs. Ernst) has gone to Columbus, Ga., to live.

1913—Association members, 13; non-members, 3. Secretary, Allie (Candler) Guy (Mrs. J. Sam), North Decatur Road, Atlanta, Ga.

Lily Joiner Williams writes that she has enjoyed the Quarterly so much. She has two children, a girl and a boy, and her husband is a Methodist preacher, now stationed at Summerville, S. C. She invites all the girls to come to see her in wisteria and azalea time, as Summerville is a fairyland then. Numbers won't bother her, she says, for she keeps open house the year round!

Frances Dukes Wynne lives in Miami. Her little girl, Pauline, is in the third grade in public school, and "Fritzie" is taking a very active part in Parent-Teacher work there. She had charge of a big pageant by all the schools in Miami in February, and is very enthusiastic over her work. She also has a little boy in kindergarten.

Laura Mel Towers Yager has been in Daytona Beach instead of Rockledge. Her husband is still in bad health. She also speaks of how much the Quarterly means to her. She says she reads every word from cover to cover and finds every one interesting.

What has become of our class treasure box? Please send it on as quickly as you can, for we are anxious for it to get back to headquarters as soon as possible.

1914—Association members, 17; non-members, 6. Secretary, Martha (Rogers) Noble (Mrs. Geo. H.), West Andrews Drive, Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Hogan announce the birth of a daughter, Amelia Burr, Dec. 27, 1924. (Ted Cobbs.)

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Summer announce the birth of a daughter, Marian McIntosh, in January. (Linda Miller.) We claim Linda as our most loyal "Agnes Scotter" for this is her fourth daughter for our Alma Mater.

Essie Roberts has been staying in Atlanta for the last few weeks while her mother has been in the hospital. We are glad to know that she is very much improved.

Martha Rogers Noble is thrilled over a week-end visit which her family is planning to make to Mary Pittard.

Mary is teaching in the High school in Winterville and has been lately holding down the principal's job as well. The rest of her spare time she is visiting sick relatives.

We are sympathizing with Marguerite Wells Bishop on the death of her father in January. Her mother plans to come to Atlanta to keep house for her son who is working here.

We hear that Ruth Blue Barnes, after the terrible ordeal of having her hair bobbed last May is letting it out again.

Louise McNulty was a visitor at the Alumnae House in February on her way home from Chattanooga, where she and her small nephew have been visiting his grandparents.

1915—Association members, 14; non-members, 11. Secretary, Martha (Brenner) Shryock (Mrs. Jas. N.), 1018 Main Street, Evanston, Ill.

Mary Kelly Coleman and Martha Brenner Shryock have recently visited the Alumnae House. On Wednesday afternoon, February 25th, they had the pleasure of having in for tea several members of 1915. Every one was enthusiastic over plans for reunion in May. The following committees were appointed:

General chairman for Reunion, Annie Pope Bryan Scott (Mrs. Milton C.), 306 Avery St., Decatur, Ga.

Parade and Stunt Committee, Mary Helen Schneider Head (Mrs. Ben) and Catherine Parker. Class Biography Committee, Henrietta Lambdin Turner (Mrs. Hugh J.) and Martha Brenner Shryock (Mrs. J. N.).

Class Luncheon Committee, Mary Kelly Coleman (Mrs. Emmett) and Grace Reid.

It was decided to engage the use of the Alumnae House for members of "1915" coming back for reunion. This is a special privilege, and we know the girls will appreciate this opportunity of being together in the lovely Alumnae House.

Those present for tea were Annie Pope Bryan Scott, Mary Helen Schneider Head, Catherine Parker and Martha Bishop.

Tea was served in the attractive dining room. The tea cloth and napkins, Mary had brought from Venice, and the handsome silver-service, a recent gift from Mrs. John Eagan and her mother, made the tea table most charming. If the Alumnae could only realize how pleasant it is to entertain in the Alumnae House, Martha Bishop would be kept busy.

Martha Bishop and Nell Buchanan do everything in their power to make it home-like for the old girls.

This is our tenth reunion. Let us make it the best reunion possible. There have been lots of changes and improvements, but we shall find the same old A. S. C. dearer to our hearts than ever. Have your pictures taken, of yourself, your husband, your children or "your school children," because we want them for the class biography. If you have any suggestions or plans, please notify the chairman of the different committees. In order to make this a successful reunion everybody must come. Talk about the reunion to your family so they will be ready to have you absent from home—from Saturday, May 23 to Tuesday, May 26.

1916—Association members, 18; non-members, 15. Secretary, Louise Hutcheson, McDonough Street, Decatur, Ga.

Josie (Jones) Paine (Mrs. Leon A.), is kept busy at her home in Valdosta, with her baby and house.

Clara (Whips) Dunn (Mrs. W. M.) is living at 1047 Peachtree St., Apt. 4-B, Atlanta, Ga.

1917—Association members, 18; non-members, 22. Secretary, Laurie (Caldwell) Tucker (Mrs. J. H.), 1310 South Howard Avenue, Tampa, Fla.

Augusta Sheen had a wonderful time in Europe last summer, after having won her M. A. at Emory University the year before. She is now at Agnes Scott, teaching chemistry.

India Hunt has again changed her address, this time to Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.

1918—Association members, 19; non-members, 12. Secretary, Margaret Leyburn, 683 Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Ga.

Hallie Alexander Turner writes: "Have just been reading the Alumnae Quarterly and enjoyed it thoroughly. My time is taken up with raising my two year old daughter, Nell, keeping two school teachers as boarders, and coaching a few tourist pupils. Would certainly love to see all the old girls of '18. Will you ever forget our Senior camp?" Hallie's married name is Mrs. Francis Turner, Thomasville, Georgia.

1919—Association members, 23; non-members, 15. Secretary, Almada Hutcheson, McDonough Street, Decatur, Ga.

Margaret Leech, who is teaching in the Miami High School, writes that Agnes Scott is well represented on the faculty there, with Marion (Lindsay) Noble (Mrs. Leon L.), '21, Elizabeth Marsh, '20, Sarah Coston, ex '20, Willie Belle Jackson, '18, and Margaret Leech, '19. She says there are a number of other Agnes Scott girls in the city, and they hope to have an Agnes Scott party soon.

Shirley (Fairley) Hendrick (Mrs. L. F.) is planning another trip to Georgia this spring to visit Louise (Felker) Mizell and her baby. She will stop by Agnes Scott to see her friends there.

Elizabeth (Pruden) Fagen's husband has been very ill recently, but has now completely recovered his health.

1920—Association members, 30; non-members, 11. Secretary, Mary (Burnett) Thorington (Mrs. W. L.), Taft, Texas.

Margaret Sanders, who is teaching at Arkansas College, writes that she would love to come back for her reunion this year, but can't as Agnes Scott is out before Arkansas College. Otherwise she would be here with bells!

Crip Slack and Marion McCamy are teaching in LaGrange, Ga. They recently spent a week-end at the Alumnae House. Crip has been managing the Junior Red Cross for the LaGrange District and now has all the schools 100 per cent membership in it.

Delia Gardner, '20, has been in Johns Hopkins Hospital for several months taking treatment. She is improving.

1921—Association members, 45; non-members, 15. Secretary, Frances Charlotte Markley, Miss Fine's School, Princeton, N. J.

To all members of 1921, Greeting: If any of you are planning to go to summer school at Columbia University this year, you must plan to meet the rest of us who will be there. The present prospects seem to be Caroline Agee, St. Katherine's School, Bolivar, Tenn.; Eleanor Carpenter, 1310 Second St., Louisville, Ky.; Frances Markley, Princeton, N. J. We want to get together in New York, but our addresses there are mere conjecture at this time, so write to the secretary with your address, and we'll see that 1921 can spree even in New York.

C. Agee is teaching modern languages, history, and coaching athletics at St. Katherine's School, Bolivar, Tenn. This summer she embarks on work for her M. A. Her sister, Ellen, plans to enter A. S. C. next fall.

H. Hall, according to her own words is "in on the newly organized dramatic club" at Salem College, Winston-Salem, N. C. What that means is left to the imagination—and H. H.!

E. Enlee, since Christmas, 1924, has been a "faculty wife" at Chapel Hill, N. C. Her husband, Gerald MacCarthy, is an instructor in geology, but Elizabeth is keeping her position as assistant cataloguer in the University Library until the end of the year.

F. Whitfield is teaching Latin at Osceola H. S., Kissimmee, Fla.

Peg Bell tells me that I forgot to announce to you that she had married C. Morton Hanna last June! But, honestly, I thought you all knew it. Mr. Hanna is from Shelbyville, Ky., and graduated last June from the Louisville Seminary. They are doing Home Mission Work in Hitchens, Ky., a firebrick manufacturing settlement of two thousand people.

M. Wade is teaching Physics and French in Lexington, Va.

M. Blackmon keeps house for her family during the winter, but makes up for all annui then by trips through the Canadian Rockies, Florida and Cuba.

Genie Johnston Griffin (Mrs. George C.) has been very active in alumnae work and has been doing volunteer work at Atlanta Y. W. C. A. Address: The Tremont, 18 E. 11th St.

Charlotte Bell Linton (Mrs. William) writes of her two sons, Billy and Eugene, who keep life active. Address Kunsan, Korea.

Eleanor Gordon Elliott (Mrs. Harry B.) is living in Davidson, N. C.

Tilly Spence is teaching history in Kinston, N. C., sponsoring the senior class and dramatic instructor. For the coming summer she is planning a trip to California and the Canadian Rockies.

S. Fulton is teaching English at Bass Junior High, Atlanta.

E. Carpenter, who cast the first woman's vote in the state of Georgia (though it was an absentee vote), is following her Republican tendencies by serving on the Kentucky State Republican Committee. One of her bon mots is "You may say ambition is gone—it has, completely, and I'm glad of it, because I get so much pleasure out of things which would have been trivial to Napoleon."

S. Stansell is teaching English in Chattanooga Girls' Preparatory School. One incentive to her writing is membership in the Chattanooga Writers' Club.

Isabel Carr Battles (Mrs. Benjamin) has a daughter, Betty Ashmore.

M. Hanes is teaching English in Griffin, Ga.

C. Newton is studying at the Library School of the University of Illinois. Address 1107 W. Oregon St., Urbana, Ill.

If one is to judge from a picture, Nelle Brown Hogshead is going to have the jolly temperament of her mother, who is none other than Margaret McLaughlin Hogshead (Mrs. Fulton), Moffat's Creek, Va.

E. Wilson, after a year at the Biblical Seminary in N. Y. C., and a summer of Home Mission work in Blackey, Ky., is teaching Bible in Peace Institute, Raleigh, N. C.

Julia Watkins Huber (Mrs. Harry) is certainly fulfilling the class prophecy "darning socks by a soft light," though she says it isn't really as soothing as it sounds!

P. L. Hamner is teaching Science in Columbus, Ga.

E. Floding is teaching French and Latin at the North Avenue Pres. School.

Of the sixty-odd members of our class only about half have answered the secretary's card which asked for information and history since June 1921. The card index of the class needs a little fattening, and if the following girls will send their data, it will gain in size: D. Allen, A. Brewer, M. Cawthon, E. Clarke, Lois Compton Jennings (Mrs. Forrest A.) Cora Connett Ozenberger (Mrs. Ralph L.), M. Cousins, M. R. Finney, L. Fluker, M. L. Green, S. Harrison, Anne Hart Equen (Mrs. Murdock S.), D. Havis, M. Hedrick, Emily Hutter Stewart (Mrs. Arthur P.) A. Jones, M. Laing, M. Lindsay, F. McCaa, S. McCurdy, V. M. Murphy, T. Newton, L. Parry, R. Rushton, J. Saunders, L. Smith, A. Twitty, Marguerite Watkins Goodman (Mrs. Wm. F.), H. Wayt.

1922—Association members, 47; non-members, 11. Secretary, Julia Jameson, Franklin, Tenn.

Twenty-Two-ers! This is our reunion year. Plans are being made to get us all back here to swap experiences and tell yarns. Who would miss seeing our class stunt, written by Laura Oliver and Elizabeth Wilson as of yore, and acted by the incomparable Sarah K. and Mary Knight? Who wouldn't like to hear Ruth Hall (now married, but not forgotten) lead sings again? Who dares to miss the opportunity to all get together and reiterate what we all know—that '22 is the best and most enthusiastic class any college ever had. Nell Buchanan is there in the Alumnae Office to give each of us the glad hand. Let's charter a cottage for '22's big third-year reunion. Please let her know immediately how many we can expect.

Ruth Evans has been elected Queen of the Georgia Peach Festival, which is held in Fort Valley every year. Among her maids were Christine Evans, '23, Pearl Lowe Hamner, '21, Marion Park, ex '21, Elizabeth Brown, '22, Dolly Hart, ex '22 and Nell Buchanan, '22.

Ruth Scandrett recently paid a visit to Amy Twitty, '21, in Pelham, Ga.

Nell Buchanan is planning another trip to Europe this summer—a Mediterranean and North Sea cruise. About fifteen or twenty Agnes Scott people will be in the party.

Susan Malone is opening a beauty parlor in Greenwood, Mississippi. She expects to make a fortune in a few days.

Helen Barton Claytor (Mrs. Edward M.) now lives at Edgfield, S. C.

Cama Burgess (Mrs. Francis Clarkston) is living at Clement Ave., Charlotte, N. C.

Gena Calloway (Mrs. Kenneth Merry) is still at Augusta, Ga.

Margaret Colville had enough of teaching in one year. She has returned from Birmingham where she visited Lib Ransom, and was a bride's maid in Dorothy Bowron's wedding.

Sue Cureton is still teaching at Conyers, Ga. Catherine Dennington is now Mrs. Charles Jersey.

Jeannette Archer is planning to attend our reunion. She is making quite a name for herself in New York and we have every right to be quite proud of her.

Otto Gilbert is Mrs. Charles Frederick Williams. Ivylyn Giraudeau is at Queen's College, Charlotte, N. C.

Ruth Hall (Mrs. Virgil Bryant) is now living at Lexington, Miss. She has made Ruth Virden several visits.

Frances Harper's address now is Box 23, Covington, La.

Roberta Love (Mrs. Eugene Bost Brower) is at 510 Brookstown Ave., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Mary Catherine McKinney (Mrs. H. N. Barker) is quite proud of her seven-weeks-old son, Harry Nase, Jr. She lives at Johnson City, Tenn.

Elizabeth Nichols (Mrs. Richard Lyons) lives at Blue Ridge Ave., Atlanta, Ga.

Frances Oliver's address is 124 E. Park Ave., Greenville, S. C.

Laura Oliver has made two visits to A. S. C. this year. Now she is busy with plans for her wedding which will be the last of April.

Ruth Scandrett is delighted with her work as student Y. W. C. A. secretary at Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee, Florida.

Margaret Smith (Mrs. J. E. Lyon), with her husband and son, lives at 233 N. Belleme, Memphis, Tenn.

Althea Stephens is at Logan College, Russellville, Ky.

Sarah K. Till has received an M. A. degree from Columbia University. She is now at Hood College, Frederick, Md.

Ruth Virden, as Associate Secretary of the Y. W. C. A. at Jackson, Miss., is doing Girl Reserve and Physical Education work. She has as an adviser in one of her Girl Reserve Clubs Marguerite Watkins Goodman, whose husband holds a position in a bank at Jackson. Ruth, Marguerite and Alice Virden are the only A. S. C. representatives there in the A. A. U. W.

Alice Whipple is in Greenville, N. C.

Elizabeth Wilson is with D. Appleton & Co., New York City. She lives at 43 Riverside Drive.

Lucy Wooten (Mrs. Carl Wiegund) is now at Chapel Hill, N. C.

Eunice (Dean) Major (Mrs. Harold) was married last June and is greatly interested in her housekeeping in a little new bungalow in Anderson, S. C.

Anna Meade is spending a month in Daytona Beach, Fla., and plans to stop by Agnes Scott on her way back. She and Elizabeth Ransom are much interested in the Agnes Scott Club in Birmingham.

Charlotte (Keesler) Everett spent the month of March with her parents in Greenwood. She will stop by Agnes Scott on her way back to her home in North Carolina.

1923—Association members, 44; non-members, 17. Secretary, Emily Guille, Athens, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Cordle (Minnie Lee Clarke) announce the birth of a son, Charles Clarke, Feb. 18, 1925.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grady Harris (Eugenia Pou, ex '23), announce the birth of Albert Grady, Jr., Jan. 18.

Quenelle Harrod continues traveling around at her usual gait, and spent February in Florida.

Lois McClain writes that she has been very busy working for her father in his bank. She often sees Beulah Davidson, Elizabeth Henry and Elizabeth Askew, who teach at Tate, Ga., near her home.

Nancy Tripp is having an interesting year in Orlando, Florida. She teaches French and Spanish in the Cathedral school.

Alice Virden says her occupation (and it is one!) is teaching the third grade of one of Jackson's (Miss.) schools.

Further news of '23 is most ardently desired by the secretary.

1924—Association members, 4; non-members, 5. Secretary, Carrie Scandrett, 747 North Boulevard, Atlanta, Ga.

Frances Amis is making quite a success at A. S. C. this year as assistant to Miss Gooch. She is planning to study this summer at the Little Theater School, Gloucester, Mass. We shall hear great things of Frances yet.

Emily Arnold, Barron Hyatt and Lillian McAlpine visited Agnes Scott during their Christmas vacation.

Katie Frank Gilchrist has been visiting Philippa and Edith. She has a handy "position" which allows for months as winter vacation. She says that she works when she works and so is allowed time for visiting. Father is the boss.

Mary Mann postponed her trip to Florida and accepted a place in the Newnan High School to teach Latin and arithmetic. What do you think of her taste!

Frances Myers is having a most interesting time this winter. When she isn't teaching Latin she is going to dances and parties and getting a taste of English life in Japan. She likes it and it may prove fatal.

Virginia Ordway has been visiting in Atlanta. She has added a number of unusual experiences to her list since she left the watchful care of her Alma Mater.

Margaret Powell and her mother spent January in San Antonio. She was initiated into army life and found it most interesting. Margaret and Dell are planning a trip abroad this summer.

Polly Stone spent a week with Frances Arant. Frances is instructor in English at Birmingham Southern. Birmingham is all that Polly could wish for and she plans to go back every week-end.

Pauline Wheeler is planning to go to Columbia to study this summer.

Mary Greene and Janice Brown are planning to go to the University of California to study this summer.

Vic Howie came to Atlanta in January to play the wedding march for Coyle Goodrich. Her next person to "play off" is our own Frances Gilliland.

Don't forget class reunion!

CLASS AT LARGE

Ruth Brown, ex '23, is a librarian at Chattanooga.

Ella Louise Landress, ex '24, is teaching expression at Baylor School.

Agnes White Sanford (Mrs. Edgar L.), ex '21, will be home in August with her husband and young son, Teddy. Her address will be in care of Rev. D. L. Sanford, Ward, Pennsylvania. Letters from her are full of interesting tales of the Chinese Revolution, Bolshevism in the schools and other lurid bits.

L. Parrish Little, ex '23 is an assistant in the Psychology Dept. at Princeton University.

Ethel Brown, ex 1900, is doing Mountain Mission work.

Romana Calloway, ex '25, is attending the U. of N. C.

Edith West, ex 1901, is busy with kindergarten work in Savannah.

Anna (Colquitt) Hunter (Mrs. G. S. C.), is social editor of the Savannah morning paper. Her address is 114 W. 38th street.

Lilla Sims, ex '25 is studying in New York.

Olive Hall, ex '26, is working in Atlanta this year. She was one of last year's intercollegiate debaters and says while she would love to be in it this year, it is something of a relief not to have that responsibility and to do all that work.

Edna Anderson, ex '27, is attending National Park Seminary, Forest Glen, Md.

Louise Falligant, ex '07 is a teacher of English in the 35th Street Junior High School in Savannah, Ga.

Mary Kelly, ex '24, is now Mrs. J. D. Luten, Jr., of Waverley, Tenn., where her husband is in the wholesale grocery business. She met her husband while visiting his sister, Dorothy Luten, ex '24.

Elizabeth Nisbet Marty (Mrs. Samuel M.), 644 E. 46th St., Kansas City, Mo., writes: "You probably wouldn't recognize me, I've become matronly. I have two fine daughters, Susan Jane, who will be nineteen months old on the third of February, and Mary Elizabeth, who will be three months old on the same date. Please enroll them as probable Agnes Scotters in the dim distant future."

Josephine Gardner, ex '22 is holding down a responsible position with the largest cotton firm in Mississippi.

PORTRAIT OF A GIRL

MARJORIE LOWE, '23

She had come at last to the end of the way
Where the road divides, as the night and day;
Tired she was and sore of feet,
For the way is long and the torturing heat
In visible waves crawled lazily down
On the road and the girl in her tattered gown.
Her limbs were drained of their youthful strength,
Her bare feet wavered and faltered at length;
Dead were her dreams, her hope, her power—
She dropped to the earth like a crumpled flower,
With never a sigh from her soft red lips—
And the heat lashed her limbs like stinging whips.
(Ah God, to rest for an hour in shade,
Deep in the depths of some woodland glade,
Ah God, to sleep in the blessed shade!)

Slowly her slender fingers stirred
In the sterile dust of the hateful road.
Slowly and with a sweet caress
Her moving fingers seemed to press
The earth, as if the dust had been
Flowers in some woodland glen.
And a stray breeze came, from God knows where,
Troubling the dark of her dusky hair;
Two tears slipped down from her soft-shut eyes,
And her white lips trembled in two soft sighs:
"Ah God, to sleep for an hour in shade,
Deep in the depths of some woodland glade—
Ah God, to die in the blessed shade!"

ALUMNAE LETTER BOX

So many of our girls are doing interesting things. If only more letters like the following found their way into the Alumnae Office!

705 South Poinsettia Street,
West Palm Beach, Fla.,
Feb. 27, 1925.

Dear Nell:

Here is the last installment on my Alumnae House pledge. Ten dollars of it is not due until next year, but I made a little extra on some special work lately and I am attempting to pay all my obligations while I can.

The ALUMNAE QUARTERLY was quite a joy and I read it from cover to cover. I think, especially the alumnae notes of the different classes. As nearly as I can determine I seem to be one of the few in my class who is living up to the prophecy as I outlined it, though I am glad to say the "cub reporter at ten a week" is not literally true.

I have been reporting now I judge long enough not to have to be termed a "cub", though I do not lay claim to being the "star". We have a very precocious youngster on the staff of the Palm Beach Post who eats up all the sensations and is far more of a "sob sister" than I, and I would not lay claim to his laurels, though I did have a thrilling suicide the other night! I was on the Post for fifteen months, then went to New York to try my fortune for the winter of 1923-24. Had a wonderful time in many ways but not much fame. I ended up on a dude ranch in Montana last summer and had the most wonderful time of my life. Then, back to Florida and the Post in October and work, work, work. But it is work I like.

Do you keep up with your writing. I wonder? I am still interested in it, but find little time for fiction after chasing facts half the day and night.

I surely wish we could have an Agnes Scott club here, but I think Helen Williamson, '20, who teaches in the high school and I are the only ones here.

My best to the college, always.

Most sincerely,

EMILIE C. KEYES, '20.

From Dan to Beersheba we are scattered. It's good to have this note from Korea and Anna Marie Landress:

Seoul, Korea, Jan. 18, 1925.

Dear Nell:

The letter from you as General Secretary of the A. S. C. Alumnae Association has been misplaced. Between my Korean servants and my inquisitive son, Billy, I have a hard time keeping anything. But please accept the enclosed order as my dues to the Alumnae Association for this year.

You don't know how much I enjoy all the news I am able to receive from Agnes Scott. I am looking forward to being there in the spring of 1926, or if not then, sometime during the year 1926-27. We are hoping to sail early enough, however, to reach Emory and Agnes Scott by Commencement time.

It has been four years since our debating days together, hasn't it? They have certainly been full years for me, and I know they have been for you. It makes me feel quite old to think of returning home on furlough next spring with a son nearly four and a daughter who will already be two years old.

With best wishes to all the alumnae.

ANNA MARIE LANDRESS CATE.

SWIMMING POOL FUND

The campaign for the completion of the new swimming pool and auditorium in 1925 is progressing nicely. Those alumnae who look back to asking during Freshman year, "Will they build a swimming pool before I'm a Senior?" will be glad to know that to Freshmen in 1925 asking this the campaign committee hopes surely to answer, "Yes", and in the next few months.

The committee wishes to express here appreciation of the Alumnae Association's pledge and the individual gifts and pledges that have come in from the alumnae.

So far, 235 students have pledged or raised $5,380.00 of the desired $7,500.00. It is a gratification, too to remember that Mr. Hermance will give us the last $500.00—which brings that far-away goal ever so much nearer.

Any "alum" who would like to put a "drop" in the swimming pool or a plank in the stage, can do so by sending a check to A. S. C., made out to the Swimming Pool--Auditorium Fund. Or I shall be glad to send pledge slips on request.

ISABEL F. RANDOLPH,

Chairman Committee.

From The Alumnae Office

MORE ABOUT COLLEGE AFTER COLLEGE

Some time ago an article appeared in the Quarterly explaining the College After College Movement that is taking place among the colleges and universities of the country, and asking Agnes Scott alumnae for their opinions concerning it. We have received so many enthusiastic replies that the Alumnae Association has decided to try the experiment next year, and to offer certain courses to all alumnae who pay dues. Miss Alexander, the head of the French department, has consented to be in charge of the program, and she asks that you fill out your questionnaires and return them to the alumnae office as soon as possible.

Alumnae are now, through their organization, so closely connected with their college that it is only fitting that they should have the opportunity to continue to be essentially a part of the college through continuing the studies they began there. The professors assure us of their co-operation, and if enough alumnae take advantage of the opportunity to justify it, the plan is assured.

Of course, these courses are given entirely by correspondence.

LIFE MEMBERS

We are quite proud of the following life members in the Alumnae Association.

Ethel Alexander (Mrs. Lewis M. Gaines), Lucile Alexander, Edna Anderson, Jennie Eleanor Anderson, Nelle Bryant Aycock, Margaret Bell (Mrs. C. M. Hanna), Ruth C. Brown (Mrs. Alvin Moore), Louise Shipp Chick, Margaret Belle Dunnington (Mrs. T. W. Sloan), Eleanor Frierson, Grace Hardie, Lulie Speer Harris (Mrs. David George Henderson), Alice Hocker (Mrs. T. P. Drake), Orra Hopkins, Mary Wallace Kirk, Mary Kirkpatrick, Frances Charlotte Markley, Margery Stuart Moore, Margaret E. McCallie, Ethel McDonald (Mrs. B. T. Castellow), Lena Orr (Mrs. E. E. McCarthy), Margaret Phythian, Helen Ramspeck (Mrs. E. P. Thomas), Sue Ethel Rea, Margaret Rowe, Florence N. Smith, Laura Mell Towers (Mrs. Geo. Leslie Yager), Juliet Webb (Mrs. Marion Hutton), Annie S. Wiley (Mrs. J. F. Preston), Susan B. Young (Mrs. J. J. Eagan).

THE VOCATIONAL QUESTIONNAIRE

RUTH SCANDRETT, '22

A few days ago I received a letter from a friend who has been out of college five or six years, stating her indecision about what she shall do next year and saying, "I am as bad as a college Senior!" We have only to look back to our own college days to remember how concerned we were as to what we would do after college, and the acuteness of that concern during our Senior year.

I know from my own experience and from those of my friends that this puzzle often is not solved our first few years after college. It may be, though, that if we, as alumnae, share some of our after-college ideas and experiences along the line of choosing a vocation, we can be of service to each other and to undergraduates.

You have received a questionnaire asking you to give certain information about what you are doing. Will you not fill this out and send it to your Vocational Committee? The general secretary is going to list the vocation of each alumna in the Alumnae Directory, so send the questionnaire in, even though you do not care to fill it out completely.

Please notice that by the term "vocation", we do not mean only salaried positions. We want to know what you are doing.

1924 CLASS SONG

Hail, Agnes Scott! We sing to thee!
 We'll forget thee never!
 We'll remember ever!
 Aye will we hold thee, Agnes Scott,
 Of all the world the dearest spot
 Hail!

Class of old '24
 Lift we our voice in song,
 Sing to our Alma Mater,
 Sing of our deep love for her,
 Soon we shall scattered be,
 Parted by land and sea,
 The years we spent with thee a memory.

The musical score consists of four systems of piano accompaniment. Each system is written for a grand piano with a treble and bass clef. The key signature is one flat (F major), and the time signature is 4/4. The music is characterized by a steady, rhythmic accompaniment in the bass line and a more melodic line in the treble. The first system begins with a treble clef, a key signature of one flat, and a 4/4 time signature. The second system includes a fermata over the final note of the treble line. The third and fourth systems continue the accompaniment with similar rhythmic patterns.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MAILING LIST

Those alumnae who have paid dues for the current year will receive the Quarterly and be on the Alumnae Mailing List. Other names will be dropped within a short time after dues have expired.

NEW ALUMNAE HOUSE REGULATIONS

For this year it has been found necessary to charge fifty cents a night to alumnae occupying the Alumnae House. This charge is to cover the expense of buying new linen and towels, and of securing the services of an additional maid.

OFFICERS AND STANDING COMMITTEES OF THE ASSOCIATION

President—FANNIE G. (MAYSON) DONALDSON, '12.

First Vice-President—MARY (WEST) THATCHER, '15.

Second Vice-President—HELEN (BROWN) WEBB, '14.

Secretary—MARGARET BLAND, '20.

Treasurer—MARGARET PHYTHIAN, '16.

General Secretary—NELL BUCHANAN, '22.

Publicity Committee—Chairman, Louise Johnson, '20; Nell Buchanan, '22; Elizabeth (Denman) Hammond, '18; Frances Charlotte Markley, '21; Elizabeth Wilson, '22.

Preparatory Schools Committee—Chairman, Julia (Hagood) Cuthbertson (Mrs. W. R.), '20, 2002 E. Ninth St., Charlotte, N. C.

(Committee not yet selected.)

Curriculum Committee—Chairman, Jane (Harwell) Rutland, '17; Julia Ingram Hazard, '19; Chris (Hood) Barwick, '16.

House and Tea Room Committee—Chairman, Annie Pope (Bryan) Scott, '15; Treasurer, Cora Morton, '24; Ex-officio, Martha Bishop, ex '18; Nell Buchanan, '22; Florine Brown, ex '12; Emma Pope (Moss) Dieckmann, '13; Georgiana (White) Miller, '17; Eileen (Dodd) Sams, '23.

Louise McKinney Play Contest Committee—Chairman: Mary Wallace Kirk, '11.

Local Clubs Committee—Chairman, Aimee D. (Glover) Little, '21; Cama (Burgess) Clarkston, '22; Emma (Jones) Smith, '18; Margaret Leyburn, '18; Helen Wayt, '21.

Vocational Guidance Committee—Chairman, Ruth Scandrett, '22; Elizabeth Brown, '22; Polly Stone, '24.

Committee on Beautifying Grounds and Buildings—Chairman, Allie (Candler) Guy, '13; Martha (Rogers) Noble (Mrs. Geo.), '14; Mary Helen (Schneider) Head (Mrs. Ben), '15; Louise (Maness) Robarts (Mrs. Faye), '13.

Entertainment Committee—Chairman Eugenia (Johnston) Griffin, '21; Martha (Rogers) Noble, '14.

Scholarship Committee—Chairman, Ethel (Alexander) Gaines, '00; Emma Pope (Moss) Dieckmann, '13; Mary (Kelly) Van de Erve, '07.

Class Organization and Records—Chairman, Ruth (Slack) Smith, '12; Louise Slack, '20; Eleanor Frierson, '10.

Alumnae Aid League—Treasurer, Belle Cooper, '18.

Whether you're hungry and needing to dine
Or whether you're merely socially inclined;
Whether you're happy, or whether you're
blue,

The Silhouette Tea Room's

the place for you.

SILHOUETTE TEA ROOM

ALUMNAE HOUSE

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

---

---

Five Reasons Why
You Should Attend
Your Class Reunion

1. To keep you in touch with your college.
2. To let your college keep in touch with you.
3. To see your college friends.
4. To help your class win the cup.
5. To have the best time you've had since you left Agnes Scott.

COMMENCEMENT DATES

May 23 (Saturday)—May 26 (Tuesday)

---

---

OFFICE COPY

The Agnes Scott Alumnae Quarterly

NOT TAKE FROM OFFICE

AGNES SCOTT
COLLEGE LIBRARY

ANNUAL BUSINESS
NUMBER

November
1925

Published by the
Agnes Scott Alumnae Association
Decatur, Ga.

P<sup>d</sup>

---

---

The Agnes Scott Alumnae Quarterly

---

---

VOL. IV

NOVEMBER, 1925

No. 1

---

---

Entered as second class matter under the Act of Congress, August, 1912

---

---

TABLE OF CONTENTS

MAIN DOORWAYS .....	Frontispiece
THE BETA OF GEORGIA CHAPTER OF PHI BETA KAPPA .....	Dr. Cleo Hearon
A LOYAL RESPONSE .....	Lucile Alexander, '11
BOOK REVIEWS .....	Margaret Bland, '20
RIVER THOUGHT .....	Elizabeth Cheatham, '25
IRONY .....	Margaret Bland, '20
THE REUNION CLASSES CELEBRATE .....
FROM THE ALUMNAE OFFICE
Fall Opening of the Anna Young Alumnae House
Changes in the Alumnae House Management
To the Class of '25
Are You a Good Alumna?
ON THE CAMPUS
Honor Roll for 1924-25
Student Organizations Plans for the Year
New Faculty Members
New Gymnasium in Use
Speakers at Agnes Scott
Agnes Scott Student Body
CONCERNING OURSELVES
The Alumnae Association
Report of the Annual Meeting of the Alumnae Association
Executive Committee Minutes
Report of the Richmond Agnes Scott Club
Report of the Charlotte Agnes Scott Club
OFFICERS AND STANDING COMMITTEES OF THE ASSOCIATION

---

---

THE BETA OF GEORGIA CHAPTER OF PHI BETA KAPPA

BY CLEO HEARON

The opening of Agnes Scott was made especially notable this year by the announcement that a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa had been granted to the college by the council of the United Chapters assembled in New York. The announcement was received with enthusiasm as a formal recognition of the high academic standards of Agnes Scott by the honor society of scholars in America.

A chapter of Phi Beta Kappa is coveted by colleges and universities because of the honorable history of the society and the high place it holds in the academic world today.

The society, at first an undergraduate secret society differing little from other early college societies, was organized at William and Mary College, December 5, 1776. In its origin it is contemporary with our independence and many of its early members played an active part in the Revolution. But the ideals of friendship and scholarship formulated by the little band of students in a small college in the youth of the country were worthy of perpetuation not only in William and Mary, but in other higher institutions of learning throughout America. In 1778 a charter was granted for a chapter at Harvard and in 1780 for one at Yale. At the end of the first hundred years there were twenty-five chapters; secrecy had been abolished, and the fraternity had become the national academic honor society. In 1881 the chapters were formed into a national organization known as the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa. Women were first admitted in 1875, in a co-educational institution, the University of Vermont; and Vassar in 1898, was the first woman's college, not a co-educational college, to which a chapter was granted. In 1924 there were ninety-nine chapters, and eight charters were granted for new chapters in September, 1925.

From the time that Agnes Scott was recognized as a college, the Phi Beta Kappa members of the faculty, under the leadership of Professor Armistead, were interested in obtaining a chapter of the honor society for the college, but conforming to the well established policy of Agnes Scott they resolved not to petition for a charter until they were fully assured that the college measured up to every requirement for recognition. In the meantime, they organized Gamma Tau Alpha on the principles of Phi Beta Kappa to honor the members of the senior class who attained the standards of the national society.

Just as the Phi Beta Kappa group in the faculty were ready to petition the United Chapters for a charter for a chapter at Agnes Scott, the method of granting charters was changed, and they were informed that henceforth a college must wait for an invitation to petition for a charter. Under the regulations that went into effect in 1922, two-thirds of the chapters of the South Atlantic section in the fall of 1924 recommended Agnes Scott to the Senate as worthy of a chapter, and the Phi Beta Kappa members of the faculty were invited by Dr. Voorhees, Secretary of the United Chapters, to apply for a charter.

After personal investigation by Dr. Voorhees, and the president, Dr. Thwing, and the careful examination of reports and questionnaires by the Senate, the conferring of a charter was recommended by that body, and granted September 9th, by the Council of delegates from the chapters assembled in New York.

The proceedings in the session of the National Council in which the charter was granted are gratifying to every graduate of the college. When Agnes Scott was taken up for consideration, delegates from five chapters rose for recognition. The chair recognized only two. Washington and Lee University urged the granting of a charter to Agnes Scott not only in recognition of the high standards of the college but also in recognition of the services that it had rendered to the cause of academic standards in its section. Miss Wooley, of Mount Holyoke, was permitted to say a word. She declared that three years ago she had visited Agnes Scott and was convinced then that the college was worthy of a chapter. No delegate wishing to speak in the negative, the vote was taken and Agnes Scott was granted a charter by the highest vote received by any of the colleges before the council for consideration.

On September 24, the Phi Beta Kappa members of the faculty were formally notified by Dr. Voorhees that a charter had been granted on their petition and requested to arrange for the installation of the Beta of Georgia chapter in Agnes Scott College.

The charter members of the Beta of Georgia chapter are as follows:
Professor Lillian S. Smith, Ph.D. Syracuse, 1904.

Professor Samuel Guerry Stukes, A.B., A.M., B.D. Davidson, 1923.

Professor Cleo Hearon, Ph.D., Chicago, 1914.

Professor Robert B. Holt, B.A., M.S. Wisconsin, 1901.

Associate Professor Muriel Harn, Ph.D. Goucher, 1915.

Miss Coma Cole, A.M. Duke, 1922.

In a meeting of the charter members, September 30, Dr. McCain was elected a Foundation member of the chapter and will take part in the work of organization. The members counted themselves fortunate in being able under the rules of the society to elect Dr. McCain to membership before the installation of the chapter, for much of the success of the movement for a charter for Agnes Scott is due to him. From the beginning he was keenly interested, and he helped in the forming of plans and was untiring in answering questionnaires and preparing statements concerning the academic standards and financial affairs of the college.

The installation of the chapter will probably take place in February. Both President Thwing and Dr. Voorhees have accepted invitations to be present. The alumnae members will be chosen in the meantime and all new members will be presented for initiation at the installation.

MAIN DOORWAY

A LOYAL RESPONSE

If you were one of the two hundred odd Agnes Scott alumnae who gathered at East Lake Country Club two years ago in May for the annual luncheon of the General Association, you cannot have forgotten the occasion, for it was unique in the long succession of alumnae luncheons. Our leader of thirty years service was gone, and we paused to give expression to our sorrow. Our new leader was with us, and we paused again to pledge him the loyal support of the Agnes Scott Alumnae as he took up the work. You remember as well as I the thrill of that pledge as Essie Roberts DePre, with charming naivete and sincerity, in true ex-service style pledged our loyalty "to a man." I believe that the alumnae have been taking up that pledge during these two years of President McCain's leadership, and I am writing this today because it seems to me we have a fresh evidence of loyalty which is certain to interest all readers of the Quarterly.

Just about a year ago, Miss McKinney's great desire to increase the effectiveness and enrich the appeal of the English collection in our college library inspired in her resourceful brain the bright idea of sending out a personal appeal to a number of our privileged alumnae who were in a position to answer the call. Of the number of personal letters written by Miss McKinney, only two failed to elicit a response. All the replies were full of enthusiasm and expressions of interest; a very large per cent contained contributions to the book fund. In the space of a few months the fund has reached $650.00. The names of these loyal alumnae will be of general interest and it is only their due that public mention be made of their generosity. A cursory glance at the list will assure us that their interest in Agnes Scott has stood the test of time and distance. The contributors are:

Lena (Orr) McCarthy, ex '97, Chicago.
 Margaret (Cannon) Howell, ex '98, Atlanta.
 Jean (Ramspeck) Harper, '00, Philadelphia.
 Susan (Young) Eagan, ex '99, Atlanta.
 Lucy (Candler) Heinz, ex '03, Atlanta.
 Ada (Hooper) Keith, ex '95, Selma, Ala.
 Olive (Carothers) Burke, ex '06, Lakeland, Fla.
 Laura (Caldwell) Edmonds, '02, Portland, Oregon.
 Bell (Jones) Horton, ex '95, Tuscaloosa, Ala.
 Annie Graham King, '06, Selma, Ala.
 Mabel McKowen, '05, Lindsay, La.

To these contributions another was added by the Executive Committee of the General Association, the committee expressing in this form its appreciation of Miss McKinney's unselfish services in organizing last year for the Association three branches in widely separate cities.

The largest single contribution to the fund came from an old time friend of Miss McKinney's—a friend who is not an alumna, but who has earned the lasting gratitude of us all. This gift came from Mr. Walter Robertson of Norfolk, Va., who started the fund with a two hundred dollar check, and such an inspiring letter that faintheartedness would have been cowardice. And best of all, he assured us that his interest will continue to follow our efforts. We take this occasion of making acknowledgment to Mr. Robertson (believing that he will be interested enough to read our Quarterly), and of presenting him to the Agnes Scott Alumnae as a friend indeed.

Miss McKinney has shared with the other members of the English faculty the joy of selecting the books and with their thoughtful co-operation several well-considered book-lists have been made. Already one hundred and twenty volumes have been purchased, among them the nineteen volumes of Variorum Shakespere, many good books on Shakespere, on 19th century English poetry, on American Literature, a number of notable biographies, and some books of general interest, such as a book on costumes.

One half of the money in hand has already been spent and another list is now ready to be sent to the publishers. These books are to be cataloged at once and placed on the shelves where they will be accessible to the entire college community.

We believe that Miss McKinney has "started something"; that this is the auspicious beginning of larger things; that she has pointed out to the alumnae who are eager to bring intelligent aid, a definite way to meet one of the needs (perhaps a more intangible need that may not appeal to the public at large) of our rapidly growing college.

LUCILE ALEXANDER.

Ashville, August, 1925.

RIVER THOUGHT

ELIZABETH CHEATHAM, '25

I came into this lovely place to sing,
 All for my own delight, the beaten gold
 Of this wide river, and the manifold
 Bright crimson beauty that the maples fling.
 Whispers of waving grasses I would bring
 For my small song, and sunlight, and the bold
 Rush of the river's sound. I would have sold
 High heaven's beauty and that bird's blue wing!

Then, then, I heard the deep voice of the river
 Rising up in tones most vast and clear
 In song of untold beauty, thrilling high.
 Bowed I inarticulate, aquiver
 With glad humility that I might hear,
 Amazed that I had thought of singing—I!

(This poem was first printed in "The Aurora", May, 1924. To be printed in "Poets of the Future, a College Anthology," compiled by Henry T. Schnittkind.)

THE WALK TO REBECCA SCOTT HALL.

BOOK REVIEWS

PORGY

DUBOSE HEYWARD

"Porgy, Maria, and Bess,
Robbins, and Peter, and Crown;
Life was a three-stringed harp
Brought from the woods to town.

Marvelous tunes you rang
From Passion, and death, and birth.
You who have laughed and wept,
On the warm, brown lap of the earth.

Now in your untried hands
An instrument, terrible, new,
Is thrust by a master who frowns
Demanding strange songs of you.

God of the white and black,
Grant us great hearts on the way
That we may understand
Until you have learned to play."

With this poem of dedication begins "Porgy", a negro novel by DuBose Heyward. It is an adventure into new territory—new for the poet-author, as this is his first novel, new for the readers, as he has here captured the little-known lives and the strange mercurial moods of an uncivilized race in the heart of a civilized community. It could have been written only by a southerner, one who has lived among negroes, who has known them—their shiftlessness, their deep, religious emotions, their sufferings, and their loyalties—and knowing, has understood and loved them.

Porgy, a lame beggar about whom the story centers, was something of a dreamer. He was happy to move along in his goatcart on the busy streets where many bright coins would fall, jingling, into his cup, but he found a deeper contentment when he could settle himself and his goat on a quiet doorstep where he could sit for hours, uninterrupted, lost in wistful meditation. Life, for him, was tense only in times of religious emotion when he could sway his body back and forth, singing out "O my Jedus" and "Yes, my Lord" in answer to prayers; or in the great moments of crap games when he crooned fond medleys to his beloved dice, witching them, as the other negroes complained, with soft words like, "O, little stars, roll me some light! Roll me a sun an' moon." From one of these games sprang the tragedy which wound its meshes around the life of Porgy, bringing love and suffering, success and loneliness.

Laughter and life, tears and death, move human hearts whether the participants in the enacting drama are black or white of skin. The fact that they are black in this story of "Porgy" and that they are drawn with exquisiteness of detail and understanding makes this novel one of the most significant of negro novels since Rene Maran's "Batouala." It has all the wildness of the moods of the savages in "Batouala," with the added eccentricities of a religion which has not overcome superstition and a civilization that has not civilized. The great parade of "The Sons and Daughters of Repent Ye Saith the Lord" is in its clashing discords of music and its garish colors, not unlike the wild celebrations of Batouala and his people in African woods. After reading it, one has much the same impression of the negro as after reading Vachel Lindsay's "Congo"—in both there is the wild, exotic rhythm, superstitions, and beliefs.

GOD'S STEPCHILDREN

SARAH GERTRUDE MILLIN. BONI AND LIVERIGHT

Another novel dealing with people of black skin is "God's Stepchildren." In contrast to the setting of "Porgy", we have here a milieu in the south of Africa. It is more of a problem novel than "Porgy", dealing with the sad question of those who are cursed with white blood, but having even so much as a drop of negro blood, are considered negroes. In the fashion of many authors of today, the story is carried through three generations and we see men and women striving against the curse of their birth, having some of the refined instincts of their white ancestry and some of the physical characteristics of their black forefathers. The story could only be one of pathos. A young Hottentot, listening to a missionary explain that all human beings are God's children, replied, "Then we must be God's stepchildren". In spite of the pathos, the ending of the story is satisfying, though the problems are not all solved, for the development of fineness of character and unselfish, sacrificial devotion cannot be all tragedy.

IRONY

(Note: This poem won the prize offered by the Poetry Society of South Carolina. It was published in the Society's Year Book.)

The fairy quite forgotten entered late,
 Uninvited to his christening and birth.
 She came to bring him gifts in angry mirth,
 Announced officiously that she was Fate,
 And laughed aloud and fawned to hide her hate.
 She gave to him an ugly body first,
 And then, because she wished him doubly cursed,
 She gave a love of beauty far too great.
 And now a careless, mocking word or jeer
 Can stab him quick and cleanly like a blade,
 And leave him trembling with a wound more deep
 Than friends can know, who only see his queer
 Dull face and awkward form, and not the shade
 Of beauty's holiness his heart can keep.

—MARGARET BLAND, '20.

THE REUNION CLASSES CELEBRATE

THE CLASSES OF '95, '00, '05, '10, '15,
'20, '22, '24 ATTEND REUNION

THE NAUGHTY-NAUGHT'S REUNION

It is really thrilling to be a quarter of a century Agnes Scott alumna. This was the feeling of all those who gathered at commencement time for the class reunion of 1900. There were five class members present out of eight, and we came perilously near winning the silver cup for the largest percentage of class attendance. If the class of 1910 had not filed out at midnight the night before reunion day and brought in a neighboring member, we would have won.

Three of our members were unable to attend. Mrs. George Howe, of Yonkers, N. Y., was present after an absence of twenty-five years from the campus. She brought us greetings on Class Reunion Day, and is going to further prove her love and loyalty to Agnes Scott by sending her daughters to us in the near future.

The reunion luncheon was held at the home of Mrs. Lewis Gaines in Atlanta, where we spent a pleasant hour or two together talking of old days at Agnes Scott.

Since our reunion a distinct honor has come to a member of the class. Miss Mary Barker, of Atlanta, was elected president of the American Federation of Teachers at the annual meeting in Chicago. Miss Barker has made her mark in educational work in Atlanta and we are glad of this recent recognition of her ability.

But all things have an end, even twenty-fifth reunions. We only hope that all the young alumnae will be as happy in their Alma Mater as the class of 1900.

E. A. G.

WE WON THAT CUP!

The class of 1910 has been earnestly besought to send in an account of their reunion to this quarterly, but their heads are so high in the air over winning the silver loving-cup offered for the largest per cent attendance, that they cannot be prevailed upon to do so. Another reason they have no reunion write-up is that they say it is utterly impossible for mere words pounded out on a mere typewriter (or written with pen and ink—which is even mere-er) to express the glorious good time they had at commencement. Suffice it to say that their radio class stunt was quite the cleverest imaginable, and the abundance of pep they displayed (led by Annie Smith, the author of "the Purple and the White") proved conclusively that although 1910 has been out of college fifteen long years, "there's life in the old girl yet!"

'20 REUNES WITH SMALL NUMBERS BUT MUCH ENTHUSIASM

When the class of '20 returned last commencement for its first five-year reunion, it was prouder of Alma Mater and of the progress in the Alumnae Association than ever before. The Trustees showed us their appreciation of what we have done by their lovely luncheon, having as guests the faculty, Seniors, Reunion Classes, and alumnae in general. That affair on Saturday of Commencement was a gala occasion for Rebekah Scott dining-hall. The walls rang with merriment and echoed the gay chatter of all of us who had come back. Our hearts were thrilled to hear about the new gymnasium and to see where a beginning had been made, and then to hear Gertrude Manly McFarland's sister, (Martha Lin, the president of the Senior class), tell about the "greatness" of the graduating class. Just think of eighty girls going out from Agnes Scott at one time, and remember how big we thought we were with our forty-two!

Not all of our forty-two came back for reunion, of course. More would have made the effort, if they could have realized what joys were in store. We who were there consoled ourselves by believing that we could do as well as the class of '10, the prize winner, and some other far-back classes, after our babies had gotten old enough to leave and the teacher members were experienced enough to manage to get off for Alumnae Reunions.

Alice Cooper and Lois (McIntyre) Beall represented the Atlanta contingent. Margery

Moore, since then Mrs. McAulay, took time from her trousseau shopping to enjoy the meetings. "Crip" Slack came for one day—the only day she could get off from her duties at LaGrange. Doesn't that show the real Agnes Scott spirit? And all of us had such a good time that we felt sorry for those who had to miss it.

At the business meeting of the Alumnae Association all the officers and committees gave very encouraging reports that showed how much we have grown in the last five years.

Monday afternoon, just after the class reunion luncheons, we all adjourned to the lawn behind the Alumnae House for our class stunts, and they were all so original and clever that I know it was hard for the committee to decide which was best. 1910 won, and had the best representation, too. Will '20 have to wait fifteen years for this honor? We ought to come back with flying colors after ten years, so let's all plan now for our reunion in 1930.

Girls of 1920, ask yourselves these questions: Have you ever seen our Anna Young Alumnae House? Have you ever spent a night there? Or examined the lovely room our class has furnished? Have you ever seen the recently completed gymnasium and auditorium? They say Miss Randolph and Dr. Sweet fairly beam with pride over their new workshop, and I know Miss Gooch and the Blackfriars will when those purple velvet curtains swing back on their first performance. Changes may make you sad, but don't they make you happy too when they are progressive? Come back and see what else we have to boast of on the campus.

M. M. McA.

THIRTEEN REUNITE WITH '22

(Written by One Suffering with Acute Arlenitis.)

There was a Reunion. There have been many reunions; and as long as the middle class continues to function academically there will probably be many more reunions. But to us as we met there, twittering about first one thing and another, there was only A Reunion. From the walks of life we had come, thus and so, possessed with the ideal idea. The ideal idea, according to present-day customs, must be concealed by blatant mirth and raucus enthusiasm; it is so expressed that it is never mentioned by one Nordic to another Nordic for then it would become tangible, and everyone knows that a perfect ideal idea must be intangible.

And while we thought deeply we spoke lightly of this and of that, and many ears of our missing contemporaries must have burned alarmingly. Perhaps they would like to know who started all those rumors. It must have been and doubtless was any or all of the thirteen: Jeannette Archer, Nell Buchanan, Catherine (Dennington) Jervey, Mary Floding, Marion Hull, Mary Knight, Ruth (Laughon) Dyer, Ruth Pirkle, Harriet (Scott) Bowen, Martha Lee Taliaferro, Ivelyn Giradeau, Ethel Ware, and Elizabeth Wilson.

We discussed, we cheered, we sang, we put our best foot forward, we became utterly and ungracefully entangled in that exhausting thing called "college spirit". And the ideal idea fluttered in a vague sort of way. (You may not entirely comprehend this, but if you do, it will probably mean something.)

—E. W.

THE THRILLS OF THAT FIRST REUNION

Since practically all of the members of '24 who returned to our first hilarious reunion are hard-handed daughters of toil, working for hard-hearted bosses, commencement had progressed as far as noon on Saturday before most of '24 showed up. But we managed to arrive in time for the Trustee's luncheon to the faculty, senior class, and alumnae in Rebeccah Scott dining-room, at two o'clock. When, at three minutes after two the dining-room doors still remained closed, Mr. Tart was the only person in the lobby to bewail the fact that we weren't beginning on time, for all of the old grads, among whom we proudly count ourselves, were having a glorious time meeting old friends and shrieking with joy over each new arrival.

Some angel from heaven must have taken a social secretary's course, and then sat up all night a couple of times to have arranged the placecards so beautifully, for after winding around in that labyrinth of tables for fifteen minutes and reading hundreds of placecards, while all the time the horrible sensation that you had been overlooked sank into your heart, could anything be sweeter than to find yourself between two members of your own class, with your sister class just across the table? The menu began with grapefruit, and before the first shot could be fired, '24, to a man, lifted their napkins from their laps and tucked them securely in their necks. Should these brand-new dresses that we had bought with our own first salary checks be spotted by grapefruit? Never! We are still wondering what the older grads and the seniors whose bills are paid by husbands and poppers (respectively), thought of us. But at the time we were too happy over being together again to care. The luncheon was perfect, from the angle of the company, the speakers, the menu, and any other angles which may have escaped us. Then the roll was called and the different classes were asked to rise. '24 found that we had returned twenty-three strong,—we might say twenty-four strong, for the one of our number who had annexed a husband, had him in tow.

After luncheon, we streamed into "that Prophylactic Hall" for the annual alumnae association meeting, and when that was over, the afternoon was also. There was just time to rush over to the Alumnae House—the sewing-room had been lined with cots and was our headquarters—and dress for supper, and the recital afterwards. We attended the recital en masse, and in the intermissions discovered dozens of other old alumnae that we had not seen at lunch. After the recital, we wandered around the campus in little groups of threes and fours, visited all our favorite spots and professors, and made pop-calls on "students we have known".

Sunday, we marched in the academic procession over to the Decatur Presbyterian Church for the Baccalaureate sermon; is it only one short year since we sat there in cap and gown?

Monday is Alumnae Day, as well as Class Day. Our class luncheon was held in the Silhouette Tea-room and verily, verily, it was an occasion when one might truly say, "a good time was had by all". The class roll was called and the following girls answered "present": Amis, Arnold, Bivings, Brown, Davidson, Dobbs, Ficklen, (Gilliland) Stukes, Greene, Howie, King, McDow, McMurry, Morton, Ordway, Peck, Powell, Scandrett, Smith, D. F., Smith, M., Stone.

We may as well admit it: such gossiping was done at that table as was never heard before, and probably will not be again until our next reunion in 1927. Every member present was made to tell the story of her life since last we met, mentally, morally, spiritually, physically, financially, and matrimonially. And the things we didn't surmise about the absent members! Of course we sang. Our own song, "Hail, Agnes Scott, we sing to thee," and all the rest, with more vim than tune, we fear.

And Reader, we would probably still be sitting around that table singing, if Mrs. Hazen Smith, chairman of reunions, hadn't summoned us to the lawn back of the Tea House, where the class stunts were to be given. We rushed frantically around putting the finishing touches to our stunt, trying on our blue and white jockey-caps, and practicing a jaunty gallop on the prancing steeds (neigh brooms) loaned by the Alumnae House. Speedy King and Margaret Powell received the news that they were to be tea-hounds very nicely, and submitted to being decorated with long flapping hound ears of blue and white, but when someone approached from the rear and attempted to pin on long blue crepe paper tails, they flatly refused to wear them, and had to be talked to rather sternly before they consented. We still think our class stunt was the cleverest, although 1910 persists in having that same view about theirs.

That night the glee club gave their annual public warble; we trouped over and occupied all the seats we could. Tuesday morning commencement exercises were held in the chapel, and our hearts thrilled again at "Ancient of Days" and the "Alma Mater"—all three verses! Only too soon the seniors were marching out of the chapel—eighty-one of them!—to join our ranks as alumnae; only too soon our first reunion was a thing of the past, and we were hurrying back to our husband and jobs. Yes, "we'll remember ever," Agnes Scott, and we'll be back for our third reunion in 1927.

P. S.

FROM THE ALUMNAE OFFICE

FALL OPENING OF THE ANNA YOUNG ALUMNAE HOUSE

On Wednesday afternoon, November 25, the Alumnae Association will be "At Home" from three o'clock to five o'clock at the Alumnae House. November 25 will be Miss Anna Young's birthday, and we hope to make this date an annual home-coming for all alumnae.

If you are planning to come to Atlanta, and of course to Agnes Scott, this fall, make your visit in time for Wednesday, the day before Thanksgiving, and come to the Alumnae House. We are expecting to see a large number of Alumnae.

ANNIE (BRYAN) SCOTT,

Chairman of the House and Tea Room Committee.

CHANGES IN THE ALUMNAE HOUSE MANAGEMENT

We regret that Miss Martha Bishop and Miss Nell Buchanan are no longer on the "staff" of the Alumnae House. While we miss them indeed, the work is being efficiently carried on by Miss Florinne Brown, ex '11, manager of the Tea Room, and Miss Polly Stone, '24, General Alumnae Secretary. Miss Brown is a graduate of the Lewis Tea Room Training School, and is proving her capabilities by the success she has already attained in the two months the Tea Room has been under her management. Miss Stone has had two years experience in the business world, with the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, and with the Atlanta Y. W. C. A., and is fitted for her duties in connection with the publication of the Alumnae Quarterly by journalistic work on the "Agonistic" and the editorship of the annual—the "Silhouette"—while a student at Agnes Scott. The three mainstays of the kitchen, Bartow, Ola, and Laurie, are still with us. All communications regarding reservations in the Alumnae House should be addressed to General Secretary, Alumnae Association, Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga. Thanksgiving reservations should be made immediately.

TO THE CLASS OF '25

With this issue of the Quarterly we welcome into the Agnes Scott Alumnae family our newest sister, the class of '25. As their president, Martha Lin Manly, said in speaking of this class at the Trustee's luncheon last commencement, "this is the largest and" (one of) "the best that has been graduated from Agnes Scott." Since ye editor and the many gentle readers of the Quarterly represent various and sundry classes other than '25, it seems best to qualify somewhat her sweeping statement that it is the best. But no one will take issue with the fact that when eighty-one seniors marched into the chapel last June to receive their diplomas, all other class records were broken.

"Where, oh where are the grave old seniors?"

They are scattered far and wide now over the face of the earth. Forty-seven of their number are teaching, three are already married and settled in homes of their own, six are continuing their studies in other institutions, the business world has claimed seven, the theatre, one, social service work, three, while fourteen are at home this winter resting from their four years of labor.

If the older sisters may be permitted to give this youngest little sister one word of advice it would be—keep in touch. For four years you have had every interest common; now that college days are over make it a point not to drift apart. Remember that even one year out of college is a long time unless you keep in touch. Do this through membership in the Alumnae Association, through your class secretary, Belle Walker, (who, by the way, although the youngest, is the very best secretatry in the whole association!), through the Alumnae Quarterly, and best of all, by coming back frequently to Agnes Scott.

Class of '25, Agnes Scott misses you. The college halls and campus echo the words:

"Where oh where are the grave old seniors?
Safe now in the wide, wide world."

ARE YOU A GOOD ALUMNA?

No college is stronger than its ability to hold its alumnae. Do all the alumnae realize the responsibility that rests on them? The strength of a college is often impaired because its alumnae confine their interest to memories of their undergraduate days. There is no reason why a woman should receive the benefits of a college for four years and thereafter take no interest in the advancement of the institution. Are the Agnes Scott alumnae keeping up with the growth of the college? Are they interested in the educational movements on foot in America today? Here are some ways to be a good alumna:

1. Join the Alumnae Association. Membership in the association is far from being a mere form, but carries with it many privileges, such as the Alumnae Quarterly with news of the college and of classmates; the use of the beautiful Anna Young Alumnae House; the Alumnae Banquet at commencement time, etc. If you can show your interest in no more personal way, membership in the association alone will help.
2. Join the local Agnes Scott Club, if there is one in your city.

3. Join the local branch of the American Association of University Women if there is one in your city. This will keep you abreast of all educational movements of the day.
4. Visit the college as often as you can. Be SURE to come back to your class reunions.
5. Keep the college advised of all High School students in your locality who are good "Agnes Scott material." More and more the alumnae are giving substantial help in the selecting of students. You know the type girl you would want to come to Agnes Scott.

HELP WANTED

You are earnestly requested to communicate promptly any change of name or residence, together with correction of errors and omissions in the Alumnae Register to the Alumnae Secretary, Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Georgia. Sincere thanks are due to the many alumnae who have already sent in corrections; these will be shown in the new correction list to be published in the spring.

ON THE CAMPUS*HONOR ROLL FOR 1924-25

For the past two years it has been the custom at Agnes Scott to recognize those students who have shown the highest degree of scholarship not only among the members of the senior class (which has been done by election to Gamma Tau Alpha) but in the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior classes as well. At the opening of the session in September, Dr. McCain announced the following names as comprising the honor roll for the terms 1924-25:

Freshman Class:

Leila Anderson, Macon, Ga.
 Myrtle Bledsoe, Atlanta, Ga.
 Frances Brown, Staunton, Va.
 Elizabeth Grier, Suchowfu, China.
 Evangeline Papageorge, Atlanta, Ga.

Sophomore Class:

Frances Buchanan, Macon, Ga.
 Susan Clayton, Atlanta, Ga.
 Mary Loyd Davis, LaGrange, Ga.
 Kenneth Maner, Atlanta, Ga.
 Miriam Preston, Soonchun, Korea, Asia.
 Mamie Shaw, Gainesville, Fla.

Junior Class:

Isabelle Clarke, Atlanta, Ga.
 Louisa Duls, Charlotte, N. C.
 Catherine Graeber, Yazoo City, Miss.
 Juanita Greer, Atlanta, Ga.
 Nan Lingle, Richmond, Va.
 Josephine North, Yazoo City, Miss.
 Grace Augusta Ogden, Mobile, Ala.
 Margaret Whittington, Atlanta, Ga.

STUDENT ORGANIZATION PLANS FOR THE YEAR

1. Student Government

To learn to live honorably and unselfishly in a community, and to share in the responsibility of the government is a part of the broader education for which we come to college. With this in view as the purpose for which our Association was founded, Student Government has chosen as its "watchwords" for 1925-26, "Co-operation" and "Progress."

In addition to Lower House, we have a Proctor Board, consisting of the proctors from every dormitory, which shall hold weekly meetings at a definite time and place.

This year the president of Y. W. C. A. meets regularly with the Executive Committee, and we feel in this way, Y. W. C. A. is actively co-operating with Student Government. One of the most progressive steps so far is the requirement of a Day Student Representative on the Executive Board.

We are looking forward to the Northern Inter-collegiate Conference to be held at Wellesley this fall as an opportunity to compare our Student Government Association with that of other colleges and to receive the help necessary to keep our Association progressive that it may ever be ready to serve the Greater Agnes Scott.

VIRGINIA BROWNING, President.

2. Dramatic Club

With the incentive of the magnificently adequate stage and lighting facilities in the new gymnasium auditorium, the Blackfriars are planning for a year of real achievement. Any money made by the club this year will go towards the purchase of scenery, as we are woefully wanting in that respect.

We have enlarged the scope of our club this year to include not only those girls who are good actresses but also those girls who are interested in any phase of dramatic work—producing, costuming, playwriting, etc. Miss Nan Stephens' class in the writing of drama has generously offered to work with us and we are planning to put on several programs of the one-act plays—and probably in the Spring, a three-act play—written by this class.

Our first offering for the year was on the evening of October 24. The three one-act plays presented that night were:

"Followers" by Brighthouse.

"Nevertheless" by Stuart Walker.

"Will o' the Wisp" by Halman.

The Thanksgiving play will be "Daddy Long Legs."

ELLEN DOUGLAS LEYBURN, President.

3. Young Women's Christian Association

The plans for the work of the Y. W. C. A. for the coming year were made out at Pine Lodge Camp in September. The Cabinet members returned early to do this, and each committee planned a special project for the year. A definite theme was chosen to form a basis for the Sunday vesper services, and every effort is being made to have full attendance and real interest in these meetings.

The Vocational Information Committee has many good ideas, and it intends to make good use of the new Vocational Library which Mr. Cator Woolford so generously gave us.

An entirely new project is being sponsored this year, primarily by Y. W. C. A. with the backing of Student Government. This takes the form of a Circulating Library of good modern fiction on a two cent a day basis. All books and financial aid are asked for and gratefully received by the committee working on this Library.

In the spring, a special program for interesting students in Blue Ridge will be given, and we hope to have a big delegation at next year's conference.

VIRGINIA PEELER, President.

4. Athletic Association

The new gym has given the Athletic Association such an impetus that we hope by the end of the year to have accomplished great things. With the new pool, more of the girls are going in for swimming; the athletic field will be in fine condition by the time we are ready for field day in the spring, and the three indoor basket-ball courts are being used every day and evening. We expect to have our annual tennis tournament again, but regret exceedingly that on account of the condition of the athletic field, hockey will have to be foregone this fall. Pine Lodge, the college camp at Stone Mountain, is signed up for every week-end, as is also the Venable guest house, which they have kindly turned over to us again for the winter. Agnes Scott has indeed traveled far since the days when the young ladies of the Decatur Female Seminary obtained their exercise by walking on the verandas and around the buildings, or by gently propelling a croquet-ball through a wicket.

SARAH SLAUGHTER, President.

5. LECTURE ASSOCIATION

The Lecture Association at Agnes Scott endeavors to bring to the college each year four or five men or women who are outstanding in some one line of work. In past years, it has been fortunate enough to secure such lecturers as Hamilton, Holt, Stephen Leacock, Justice Florence E. Allen, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, DuBose Heyward, Frank Swinnerton, Dr. Joseph E. Ames, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, and others. This year John Drinkwater has been scheduled for November 4th and Count Byron de Proroc for February 10th. Two or three more lectures are to be arranged.

CATHERINE GRAEBER,
Student Chairman.

6. PI ALPHA PHI DEBATING CLUB

The purpose of this organization is to stimulate interest in debating, to train the individual members along that line, and to prepare two teams for the yearly tri-angular debate with Sophie Newcomb and Randolph Macon. The inter-collegiate debaters are chosen by the faculty committee from the twelve girls who have previously been selected to do intensive work on debating. Out of the fourteen debates in which Agnes Scott has taken part, she has won nine. This year, her hope is for a double victory.

CATHERINE GRAEBER,
President.

NEW FACULTY MEMBERS

Helen Eagleson—Instructor in Psychology—M. A. University of Washington; Ph. D. Johns Hopkins University.

Annie Mae Christie—Assistant Professor of English—M. A. Columbia University.

Annie Ruth Lineberry—Acting Instructor in Mathematics—B.A. Meredith College; M. A. Columbia University.

Mrs. W. C. Goodpasture—substitute Instructor in Physical Education—Graduate Boston Normal School of Gymnastics; Special Certificate from Wellesley.

Nan Bagby Stephens—Instructor in Playwriting—Agnes Scott Institute; advanced work in drama in New York. Miss Stephens is well known as the vice-president of the National Music Association, and as the author of "Rose Anne," which won fame on Broadway.

NEW GYMNASIUM BUILDING IN USE

The new gymnasium looms large upon the campus horizon this year, both figuratively and actually. It is an enormous building, covering half of the old athletic field, while a much larger new athletic field has been graded and extends down by the side of the new gym from the back of West Lawn Cottage, past the new amphitheatre (where May Day exercises were held last spring) down to Ansley Street, the boundary line of the college property. Classes have been held in the new gym from the beginning of the session in September, but the swimming-pool was not open until several weeks later, due to the lack of water in Decatur. This pool is sixty by twenty-five feet, lined with glistening white tiles, and is a perfect joy after the "enlarged bath-tub" of the old gym.

On the evening of October 8, the building was formally opened and a dedicatory service held. A beautiful bronze tablet in the entrance hall was unveiled. It bears the inscription:

In Memory of George Bucher Scott
1855-1920

A Member of the Board of Trustees
For Twenty-four Years
Chairman of the Committee on Buildings and Grounds
For Seventeen Years
This Building

Has Been Named for Him in Recognition of His Devotion to
Agnes Scott College
and of His Labors for its Development.

Two nights later, on October 10, the first performance was given on the stage—the contest of wits between the sophomores and freshmen, in which the sophomores came off victorious. Footlights, and an elaborate lighting system make possible varied and very beautiful effects on the stage which were utterly out of the question in the days—now forever past—when the Blackfriars gave their performances in the chapel in Rebecca Scott Hall. The acoustics of the building are splendid; even those sitting on the back row in the gallery are able to hear perfectly, and there are no roof-supporting pillars to obstruct the view of the stage. Heavy velvet curtains in purple and silver are the joy of Blackfriar hearts.

The only regret that anyone can find in connection with the new gym is that the best tennis-court on the campus—the one behind the library—had to be sacrificed, but in view of all we have gained by the change, we consider the loss worth while.

Agnes Scott Alumnae, this magnificent building which belongs to you is just one more reason why you should pay your college a visit in the near future. A sight of it is worth a trip back. The cost of the completed building is around $175,000.00—it is one of the finest in the south.

SPEAKERS AT AGNES SCOTT

Dr. Ben R. Lacy, September 9, on Planning Four Years at College.

Dr. Alma Sydenstricker, October 12, on Jerusalem and the Recent Noted Archeological Excavations There.

Miss Minna Kerr, former executive secretary of the A. A. U. W., October 14, on The American Association of University Women.

John Drinkwater, November 4, on his play "Abraham Lincoln."

Count de Prorok, explorer and archaeologist, February 10. The count is at present conducting extensive explorations in the Sahara Desert for the French government, Beloit and Michigan Universities.

OTHER EVENTS

October 27—Pageant celebrating the Centennial of the Decatur Presbyterian Church. The founding of Agnes Scott is one of the events shown in this.

October 24—The Blackfriars presented their first group of plays in the new auditorium in the gym.

AGNES SCOTT STUDENT BODY

The Alumnae should be interested in the Student Body statistics each year, since they represent "embryo alumnae." The enrollment for 1925-26 is larger than ever. The actual figures follow:

By Classes:

Seniors .....	63
Juniors .....	115
Sophomores .....	148
Freshmen .....	212
Total .....	538

Geographically:

Alabama .....	34
Arkansas .....	5
Florida .....	26
Georgia .....	297
Kentucky .....	7
Louisiana .....	6
Maine .....	1
Massachusetts .....	2
Michigan .....	1
Mississippi .....	13
Missouri .....	1
New Jersey .....	1
New York .....	1
North Carolina .....	46
Ohio .....	2
Pennsylvania .....	1
South Carolina .....	21
Tennessee .....	22
Texas .....	2
Virginia .....	28
West Virginia .....	10
Washington, D. C. ....	1
Canada .....	2
China .....	3
Cuba .....	1
Japan .....	1
Korea .....	3

FOR SALE

"The Story of Agnes Scott" by Dr. Gaines. The story of the growth of our college. A book that every alumnae should own. Order from the General Secretary. Thirty-five cents a copy.

THE ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

REPORT OF ANNUAL MEETING MAY, 1925

The Alumnae Association held its annual meeting in the Propylean Hall immediately after the trustees' luncheon, on May 23, 1925. A large number of Alumnae were in attendance. The following reports were given:

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

The annual meeting of the Agnes Scott Alumnae Association of May 23, 1925, brings to a close the first year of service of this administration, and, without infringing on the reports of the committees which are to be given, this report will attempt to touch upon some of the outstanding marks of development in our association.

Three lines of work were recommended to us last year at this time as the pressing needs for this year, and, with these as our aims, we began in September to lay stress on the formation of more local clubs, the greater and more closely knit organization of classes and the perfecting, if possible, of our card index files. Just briefly, the report on these lines at the close of the year is this: the number of clubs has grown from two to eight; the classes have each a definitely accepted secretary, reporting regularly to the office following her letters to her classmates and the splendid reunion classes of this year are the real flowerings of this constant nurture; the work on the files, under the supervision of Miss Nell Buchanan, has been brought well on its way toward completion, so much so that our first Alumnae Register is soon to be published.

Another object of pride and interest to every alumna has been the Alumnae Quarterly, three numbers of which have been issued this year up to this time and each issue has brought a flood of enthusiastic letters from girls, far and near, to cheer the hearts of the Publicity Committee and Miss Buchanan. Surely, to this publication, linking us with memories of our college days and friends and with happenings on the campus now, is due in large measure the increasing number of paid members of the Alumnae Association and also the genuine revival of love and interest among our alumnae, as evidenced by their letters.

A great asset, of course, is our Alumnae House, whose committee's report will be so full that I need not go into a detailed report, only mentioning the prompt payment of the thousand dollars on March 15th, with a tidy balance on hand and enough pledges from clubs and individuals to provide for our final payment next year. It is with regret that we accept Miss Bishop's resignation, recognizing her ability and loyalty and thanking her for the years of successful management, but we are extremely fortunate in having secured the services of another alumna and are looking forward to a very prosperous year.

The Alumnae Council has held two meetings this year, one in January and one in May, meetings filled with interesting contacts with joint problems of the college community and the alumnae.

Our new endeavor, just beginning to feel its way, yet growing stronger and more tangible each day, is what is called the "College after College" plan, sponsored by Miss Lucile Alexander, who has won the active support of leading members of the faculty to the extent of giving their services to accomplish this plan. Her report is so definite that I shall only mention this and take this opportunity on behalf of the Alumnae Association to thank Miss Alexander, Miss McKinney, Miss Lewis, Miss Hearon, Miss Laney, Miss Davis, who have consented to form the faculty of this movement. Surely, the Alumnae Association has a very real responsibility and obligation when it has such generous support given its plans by the college community.

This report would not be complete without mention of the wonderful work done in the alumnae office under Miss Buchanan. We have, indeed, been fortunate in having had in closest touch with our alumnae a person of Miss Buchanan's charm and ability, and the results of her ideas and her personality have been far reaching in the welding of the alumnae members into a united body. A great deal of correspondence, very necessary and very welcome, is carried on in the office with individual members, clubs, secretaries of classes, chairmen of committees, etc.; the quarterly, also, is very largely compiled in the office, and the sending out of notices and questionnaires on various lines are necessary; of course, the files are a continual work, as addresses and names also change rapidly. Next year the association will enjoy the services of a full time secretary, a step long recommended to us.

Nor would we fail to make grateful acknowledgement of the support of Dr. McCain, of the college and of Miss McKinney's wonderful service to the association in her visits to Charlotte, Richmond, and Birmingham at the formation of these three clubs and we feel that the inspiration of her presence at their initial meetings is the secret of the successful organization of these active clubs.

I wish to express my deepest gratitude to the general officers and the chairmen of committees for their cooperation, the generous giving of their time and efforts and their encouraging support and wish for each of them even greater results in their work next year.

The Alumnae Association has become, through years of earnest endeavor in the past, an organized body of which we are justly proud and yet, back of the organization, back of the office, of the Quarterly, of the Alumnae House and of the reports of chairmen stands each of you, the unit of the organization, the very fibre of its being, and every good endeavour, every step forward is made by each of you working together for the good of our college and the furtherance of the cause of education. What a joy to us to know that in the reports of the year each of us has had a part and may the next year bring the association greater achievements and increased development through the added sense of responsibility and joy in service of each alumna.

Respectfully submitted,

FANNIE G. (MAYSON) DONALDSON,

President.

REPORT OF GENERAL SECRETARY

It is through the Alumnae office that the Association committees have done their work, and it is gratifying to know that each of these committees has been active and working throughout the year. Of course, in order to do our best service, we must be able to locate our girls, and to this end we have spent much of our time this year. We have sent out letters and follow-up letters and postal cards to the girls, and if we have gotten no response, we have written to their relatives and friends. We are publishing our first alumnae directory this year, and while it will not be complete, it is a start, and we ask your co-operation in making corrections. Of the 2,625 names on our college list, the addresses of 1,950 have been verified, 570 have not been heard from, and 105 are definitely lost. We have so far done but little work on the institute and academy files, and I suppose will concentrate on them next year.

The office has concentrated its work on the following committees:

Publicity Committee—In helping with the Alumnae Quarterly.

Local Clubs Committee—We have no dead wood in our local clubs either. Their officers have been most efficient, and have kept in close touch with the central office.

Class Organization Committees—In helping to work up reunions, and in keeping the classes together. This commencement we are definitely organizing the class at large, for many of our most loyal alumnae are non-graduates. The work of the class secretaries speaks for itself in the news they have sent for the Alumnae Quarterly. They have been almost 100 per cent active.

Curriculum Committee—That is, the College after College phase of it. You have heard their report, and lastly

The Vocational Guidance Committee—In sending out the vocational questionnaires. We hope next year to have a vocational file in the office.

We have on our mailing list 750 names. There are about 200 new members in the association this year. This number includes comparatively few of last year's class, as most of them joined before leaving last year.

The alumnae are using the alumnae office more and more. Many write to get addresses and to ask for information and small services. The office is always eager to do anything that will serve to strengthen the tie between the alumnae and the college. Many letters have come to the office during the year, showing marked increase in the interest the alumnae are taking in the work of the association. The alumnae are doing a great work now, and in a few years, as our organization becomes more complete, I am sure we will be in a position to be of much greater service.

Respectfully submitted,

NELL BUCHANAN, General Secretary.

REPORT OF THE PUBLICITY COMMITTEE *

The Alumnae Quarterly, cherished offspring of the Publicity Committee, has thrived and developed until its lusty cries have aroused the wonder and admiration not only of the Agnes Scott Alumnae Association collectively and individually—but also of other associations and men and women of prominence throughout the country.

The eminent Dr. Thwing on his recent visit to Agnes Scott paid it an unusual tribute in saying it is one of the very few outstanding publications of its kind in the United States, and that both in subject matter and typography it has a finish that is seldom seen in magazines of this type.

We, of the committee, feel that we can never express our deep appreciation to Nell Buchanan who has edited the Quarterly for the year and to whom all the credit for its success is due.

While the Quarterly has been the chief source of publicity for the year we have also succeeded in getting some local recognition through the Atlanta press.

Respectfully submitted,

LOUISE MCA. JOHNSON, Chairman.

REPORT OF PREPARATORY SCHOOLS COMMITTEE

Following the suggestion of Mrs. Donaldson, acting in advisory capacity to the committee, and Dr. McCain, the Preparatory Schools Committee has endeavored during the past year to concentrate its efforts in certain localities which heretofore have not been especially stressed. A letter was written to an alumna in each of these cities asking that she try to do three things, or, at least one of three things: first, to send to Dr. McCain a list of especially recommended students in the Senior and Junior classes of the high school or other standard preparatory school in that city; second, to cooperate with local A. A. U. W. branches in the celebration of College Day and to secure representation of Agnes Scott at such events; third, to have Agnes Scott parties, along with other alumnae of that city, to which High School Seniors are invited and Agnes Scott posters, pictures, etc., shown to them.

Letters were written to this purpose to alumnae in the following cities: Memphis, Tenn.; Nashville, Tenn.; Little Rock, Ark.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Pensacola, Fla.; Mobile, Ala.; Miami, Fla.; Macon, Ga.; Louisville, Ky.; New Orleans, La.; and Charleston, S. C.

Almost all of those to whom letters were written agreed to send in the lists of students. In many of the places there were no A. A. U. W. organizations and hence no college day celebration. In two of the places Agnes Scott parties were being planned. Two of the letters were returned for incorrect address.

Besides these places where we tried to concentrate our efforts, the committee arranged for Agnes Scott to be represented (by Miss Nell Buchanan, Alumnae Secretary) at College day celebrations in Charlotte, N. C., Monroe, N. C., Concord, N. C., and Gastonia, N. C.

I feel that the work of this committee has been handicapped this year by the fact that its chairman has had to give much of her time to other alumnae work—the establishment of the Charlotte Agnes Scott Club, by reason of the illness of the local representative on that committee.

The names of the members of this committee have not been sent in up to this time and I am going to consider those to whom the letters were sent as composing this committee. These are Margaret Rowe, Mrs. Harlin Tucker, Mrs. Wm. O. Lyon, Alice Jones, Annie Chapin McLane, Grace Harris, Mrs. L. L. Noble, Eva Wassum, Eleanor Carpenter, Mrs. D. F. Dickson, Mrs. John Van de Erve and Beth McClure.

Respectfully submitted,

JULIA (HAGOOD) CUTHBERTSON,

Chairman.

REPORT OF ALUMNAE HOUSE AND TEA ROOM COMMITTEE

In beginning its report the committee desires to acknowledge with gratitude three lovely gifts presented to the house this year. On Miss Anna Young's birthday, Mrs. Young and Anna Young Eagin beautified our dining-room by adding to its appointments a silver coffee pot, silver tea-pot, and three silver bon bon dishes. Miss Alexander's gift of a complete set of flat silver makes the dining room further attractive. The house guests during the year have enjoyed the gift of the Decatur club—the Atlanta Constitution, a morning paper.

We are deeply grateful to Miss Morton for her efficient bookkeeping for the Tea Room, and to Miss Martha Bishop, our charming hostess and Tea Room manager, for all she has done in making our home and Tea Room so attractive. Her absence will be felt next year. A cordial welcome, however, is given both to Miss Florine Brown, her successor as manager of the House and Tea Room and to Miss Polly Stone, our new general secretary of the Association, who will also act as hostess for our home.

Purchases for the House and Tea Room:
Tea Room funds equal five per cent per month of Tea Room profit:

One dozen soup plates.
Two dozen cups and saucers.
Three dozen ice tea glasses.
Three dozen ice tea spoons.
Three dozen sherbet glasses.

Fund from Alumnae Budget:

Mahogany desk.
Kitchen walls cleaned.
Three cots and pads.

Financial statement:

Total receipts .....	$6,977.33
Total profits .....	217.89
75% of profits to Alumnae Association .....	163.41
20% of profits to Miss Bishop .....	43.57
5% of profits to Tea Room fund (including $17.05, 5% profits of May, 1924) .....	27.96

Although not very many purchases have been made during the year for house furnishings, we are proud of our Alumnae House as it is, and the numbers of returning alumnae are delighted with their home on the campus. Distinguished guests, whom it has been our pleasure to entertain from time to time, have been charmed with our house. We were pleased to know that DuBose Heyward, spoke of its lovely appointments. In addition to that of DuBose Heyward, our Guest Book contains the names of Mrs. DuBose Heyward, Dr. D. Clay Lilly, Mrs. D. Clay Lilly, Dr. Ira Lowther Peters, of Goucher College, Charles A. Thwing and Mrs. Charles A. Thwing. We believe that as a result of their visit in our Alumnae House they* will have a very friendly feeling for Agnes Scott.

The following recommendations, made by the committee, to the Executive Committee of the Association at a recent meeting were accepted.

1. That as a slight mark of appreciation of her work, the Tea Room Treasurer be given two dinners a month in the Tea Room.

2. That Miss Martha Bishop, our retiring hostess and Tea Room manager, be given the privilege of returning at any time to the Alumnae House as to her own home,—that is, without the usual charge of fifty cents a night.

3. That resolutions be drawn up by the Secretary relative to Miss Bishop and Miss Buchanan and their work.

Respectfully submitted,

ANNIE (BRYAN) SCOTT, Chairman.

RESOLUTION

It has been with deep regret that the Alumnae Association has accepted the resignation of two of its most valuable officers, that of Miss Martha Bishop, manager of the Tea Room and Hostess of the Alumnae House, and that of Miss Nell Buchanan, General Alumnae Secretary. We feel that formal resolutions are quite inadequate to express our sincere sorrow in losing them. So we shall only say good-by and good luck to them always.

REPORT OF LOCAL CLUBS COMMITTEE

The Local Clubs Committee feels very fortunate in being able to report that four new clubs,—Charlotte, N. C., Richmond, Va., New York City, and Birmingham, Ala.,—have been organized, and that two others—Lynchburg, Va., and Anniston, Ala., are ready for their first meetings.

It has been the purpose of each club to keep its members in touch with the work, plans, and latest developments of the College, to promote closer fellowship between the alumnae and the students of the college, to create greater interest in Agnes Scott among the high school girls, and to give every alumna an opportunity to serve her Alma Mater.

Charlotte and Richmond are still working under the enthusiasm given them by Miss McKinney, whom Dr. McCain so kindly sent to be present at their first meetings in order that both clubs might have a touch of the spirit and atmosphere of Agnes Scott. Charlotte has thirty members, practically all of whom are active workers. Special emphasis has been put on the plans for a "greater Agnes Scott." Pictures and blue prints have been used to show where the new buildings are to be placed and how they will look on the campus. At present, the club is in the midst of a campaign to raise $100.00 which will be given to help raise the debt on the Alumnae House.

Although small in numbers, the Richmond Club is strong in spirit. In February the club gave a tea to some of the high school girls. Pictures, blue prints, annuals, and catalogues were shown, and talks were given so that the girls might have a glimpse of all sides of life at Agnes Scott. In March, the club made three posters which the A. A. U. W. used in the high schools and two large girls' schools in connection with their college day program.

In March, the Peg Woffington was the scene of a very enthusiastic meeting of seventeen Agnes Scott girls who unanimously voted the organization of a New York chapter of the Alumnae Association. Miss Nan Stephens, who was honor guest, gave such a glowing account of a course in playwriting, which is to be given at the College next year under the auspices of the Alumnae Association, that the club immediately pledged $100.00 toward its support.

The Birmingham Club is only about a month old, but already it has the distinction of being the largest Agnes Scott Club in existence.

The Atlanta and Decatur Clubs have, as always, accomplished a maximum amount of work: the Atlanta Club having contributed $500.00 to the Alumnae Fund, and the Decatur Club $250.00.

The Committee has had very encouraging reports from Valdosta, Ga., Montgomery, Ala., Chattanooga, Tenn., and Marietta, Ga. Due to local conditions, they have not been able to form definite organizations, but we feel confident that the Association can count on their support and co-operation in next year's work.

Several other cities are eligible for membership, so we are "hitching our wagon to a star", and hoping that by the end of next year the Committee will be able to report outstanding clubs in all the southern States as well as in several of the northern ones.

Respectfully submitted,

AIMEE D. (GLOVER) LITTLE,

Chairman.

REPORT OF THE VOCATIONAL COMMITTEE

The Vocational Committee of the Alumnae Association of Agnes Scott College has worked along the following lines:

1. Study of vocational counselling being done in colleges and universities.
2. Vocational census of our own alumnae.
3. Compiling of types of service given by vocational bureaus.
4. Compiling of information regarding placement work for college women.

Since we are filing full reports of the last three divisions of work in the Alumnae Office, I shall not attempt a detailed report.

Through the alumnae questionnaire we have been able to ascertain the vocations of one hundred and thirty-six (136) Agnes Scott Alumnae. We also obtained information in regard to the need for vocational counselling. Of the one hundred and thirty-six (136) questionnaires, seventy (70) left the question relative to undergraduate counselling unanswered, seven (7) thought it unnecessary, and fifty-nine (59) would have found it useful. In answer to the question concerning counsel now, eighty-six (86) left the question unanswered, ten (10) desired none, while thirty-nine (39) wished it. From these things desired, we are making certain recommendations to the committees which handle them.

We have placed on file in the alumnae office the addresses of twelve Vocational Bureaus with the service given by each, the salary at which a college woman may expect to begin work, and statements as to the difficulty or ease of placing college graduates who have had no professional training or experience.

There is also on file a list of Employment Agencies for college women, arranged according to vocations where certain lines of work are especially handled.

The first phase of the work has only been begun. We find many colleges and universities experimenting along the line of vocational counsel and personnel work. Most undergraduates now are planning to go into some work and many of them desire to enter professions. We consider the choice of one's life work most important and are eager that students choose intelligently with as many facts as possible before them about vocations and their own abilities. We would, therefore, recommend that the principal work of the committee for next year consist of a comparative study of the vocational counsel and personnel work for women done in colleges and universities.

We also suggest that the committee offer through President McCain their services to the college in any way he might think advisable and possible for undergraduates.

We are indebted to the Bureau of Vocational Information of New York City for most of the information we have collected, and would express our appreciation for the cordial help they have given us.

Respectfully submitted,

RUTH SCANDRETT.

Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON BEAUTIFYING GROUNDS AND BUILDINGS

The Committee has kept in touch with the college during the past year and has met with the usual cordial response.

The foundation planting of shrubbery outlined by Wachendorff Brothers, Florists of Atlanta, last year, has been made about Rebecca Scott Hall, and also at their suggestion the fountain has been removed from the front of Main Building. This change has not only improved the entrance to this building but has given the much needed parking space that has greatly facilitated traffic in and out of the campus.

The only definite work done by the Committee was the very pleasant task of choosing three plants as a gift from the Alumnae Association to the college at Christmas. These were two Dracenas for the chapel and one for the parlor of Main Building, which we feel so interested in, since we had a share in refurnishing it last year. These plants were very much appreciated and we hope are being enjoyed by the college community.

Respectfully submitted,

ALLIE (CANDLER) GUY.

Chairman.

REPORT OF ENTERTAINMENT COMMITTEE

The work of the Entertainment Committee of Agnes Scott Alumnae Association for 1924-25 has consisted chiefly in a Valentine Tea for the Senior class on Thursday, February 12th, at the Alumnae House. A program consisting of brief talks of the history of the Alumnae Association was given by Miss Alexander, Mrs. Donaldson and Miss Nell Buchanan, following which refreshments were served to about ninety guests.

The Committee has helped to plan with Miss Hopkins and Mrs. Thatcher the Alumnae Luncheon to be given by the Trustees on May 23rd. It will take charge of the table decorations, etc.

Respectfully submitted,

EUGENIA (JOHNSTON) GRIFFIN.

Chairman.

REPORT OF LOUISE McKINNEY PLAY CONTEST COMMITTEE

The Committee expended considerable effort during the year in bringing the Play Contest to the attention of the Alumnae. Many personal letters were written urging the entrance of contestants.

One member of the Committee compiled a "play dummy", giving full instructions as to the form, appearance, and general make-up of the manuscript of a play, together with a list of helpful books on the subject of play-writing. This material was sent to all "prospects", together with the conditions governing the contest.

In consultation with the donor of the Louise McKinney Play Prize the conditions were slightly changed. They are as follows:

"Each play submitted must be full length (approximately one hundred typewritten pages).

"Plays must be sent by January 1, 1925, to General Secretary, Alumnae Association, Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga. The plays will then be numbered and sent to judges.

"The Agnes Scott Alumnae Association has no option on the rights to the plays submitted. Contestants are urged to have manuscripts copyrighted and to hold in their possession the original manuscript, sending in the first carbon copy for the contest. Participation in the contest does not preclude marketing of plays by the author before or after the decision of the judges.

"There will be no award unless at least one of the three judges considers that there is some degree of craftsmanship or inherent sense of the theatre, or real inspiration in the play submitted.

"Announcement of the award will be made at Commencement, May, 1925."

One play was received and forwarded to the judges.

If criticism or suggestions regarding outline or draft of play is desired by any contestant she is asked to write for further information to any member of the Play Contest Committee.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY WALLACE KIRK,

Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CLASS REUNIONS

The work of this Committee has consisted chiefly in letter-writing and verbal propaganda. During the past year letters have been written to all reunion classes seeking to arouse interest and urging them to return for commencement. With the help of our efficient Alumnae Secretary plans have been formulated for class organizations and much space given to reunions in the Alumnae Quarterly, and the present prospects are that there will be more girls back this year than ever before.

Respectfully submitted,

RUTH (SLACK) SMITH,

Chairman.

REPORT OF TREASURER OF ALUMNAE AID LEAGUE

April 28, 1925:

Received from former Treasurer,
M. W. Kirk .....	$113.98
Received from loans returned .....	250.00
Paid on exchange .....	.99
	<hr/>
Balance on hand .....	$362.99
Donation .....	15.00
	<hr/>
Total .....	$377.99

A record of the accounts of the Aid League has been placed in the files of the Alumnae Office.

The Chairman has prepared printed blanks, so that in future a girl may sign a note for the amount borrowed. This has not been done in the past.

A large number of applications for loans have been made to date, and we hope to be of service to as many of these girls as possible.

The Aid League is maintained only by subscription and returned loans. Please remember it, therefore, when in a subscribing mood.

Respectfully submitted,

BELLE B. COOPER,

Treasurer.

REPORT OF SCHOLARSHIP COMMITTEE

The Agnes Scott Alumnae Scholarship for the session 1925-26 has been awarded to Miss Virginia Wing, of 266 Ponce de Leon Avenue, Atlanta.

ETHEL (ALEXANDER) GAINES,

Chairman.

CURRICULUM COMMITTEE

My Dear Alumnae:

You will all be too proud, I am sure, when you learn that not nearly all of us have let our poor feeble brains and mental ambitions be entirely stagnated and submerged in the daily grind of keeping Johnny's ears clean, or struggling to keep down the gas bills.

(We know, of course, that those of us who are pursuing noble careers in the line of education, medicine, dramatics, music, business, religious work, etc., etc., are never letting their mental alertness be dulled in the slightest. But it is also interesting and very gratifying to know that lots of us who have chosen the humble career of matrimony and housekeeping are still interested in a few outside things.)

For please listen to this: Lots of our alumnae are planning to take one or more of our alumnae reading courses this year with their husbands! Our office has really been flooded with letters from interested alumnae from everywhere who want these courses, some for fireside study this winter, some for group or club study in different organizations. Already there have been about two hundred applications for courses. If you have not sent for yours they are all ready for you at the Alumnae Office, and will be sent you on receipt of one dollar (to cover expenses of printing, postage, etc.)

You remember that the subjects for the courses offered this winter are

- Modern European History,
- Modern Drama,
- Contemporary American Poetry,
- Art History,
- Sociology.

There have been requests from our alumnae for courses on anything from the teaching of French, to General Social Psychology. Some of the topics mentioned for courses are: the Bible, Mental Tests and Measurements, French Poetry, Modern Science, General Economics, etc. And so we hope by another year to include some of these different requests in a somewhat more varied program. In the meanwhile our program for this year has met with a most enthusiastic response. One alumna says, "I am so glad to see that all of the courses offered are on contemporary problems—and joys, too,—or their immediate background, and surely hope the plan materializes. It does sound promising."

The study outlines look most interesting and make one very eager to take them all. They have all been carefully and thoughtfully studied out by the professors, and we are assuredly deeply grateful to them for the many hours of work which they have put into the assembling of such a thorough and well-organized study of each subject.

In the poetry course Miss Laney has selected works and criticisms of our most noted contemporary poets. Miss McKinney's modern drama course you know is interesting, and will teach us many things we need to know about modern-day dramatists and plays. The history course is a painstaking and exhaustive study of the subject, and will be a real effort and a real joy to those who do it well. Miss Hearon has worked it out in detail so carefully that it will be very easy to follow, and should give to those who conscientiously do so, a thorough knowledge of the subject. The course in Art History is fascinating, with all its line of painters, sculptors, and other artists to read about. Miss Lewis, with her comprehension of the subject, has been able to make this one particularly so. Then there is the Sociology course by Miss Davis. She is thoroughly interested in the subject and so can give us an inspirational view of it.

Good luck and best wishes to all of you in your winter's study, wherever or whatever it maybe. Write what you would be interested to study. We want to know the things that appeal to the most of our alumnae.

Very sincerely yours,

JANE (HARWELL) RUTLAND,

Chairman of the Curriculum Committee.

REPORT OF TREASURER

Receipts

Balance on hand, Sept., 1924.....	$ 493.85
Rent from Tea Room .....	400.00
Rent from Rooms .....	286.10
Net income, Tea Room .....	344.65
Dues .....	866.37
Miscellaneous .....	77.03
College after College Courses .....	11.00
Gifts and Pledges .....	1,146.50
Life Memberships .....	112.50
Total .....	$3,738.00

Disbursements

Secretary's Salary .....	$ 450.00
Office Help .....	215.75
Stationery, Printing, Postage .....	701.81
Office Supplies .....	72.00
Furnishing and Upkeep of House .....	393.71
Maid .....	222.50
Miscellaneous .....	69.78
Entertainment .....	21.00
Dues .....	5.00
Pledge on Gymnasium .....	50.00

Prizes .....	71.00
Payment on Alumnae House.....	1,000.00
Transfer to Savings Account:
Life Memberships .....	112.50
House Fund .....	146.50
On Hand .....	206.45
	<hr/>
Total .....	$3,738.00

Respectfully submitted,

MARGARET PHYTHIAN,

Treasurer.

The Finance Committee recommends the following budget for the year 1925-26:

Receipts

On Hand (estimated) .....	$ 200.00
Tea Room Rent .....	400.00
Tea Room Income .....	700.00
Rooms .....	200.00
Dues .....	800.00
Miscellaneous .....	28.00
Pledges on Alumnae House .....	1,000.00
	<hr/>
Total .....	$3,328.00

Disbursements

Secretary .....	$ 695.00
Office Supplies, Printing, Postage, etc. ....	725.00
House Furnishings, and Upkeep...	205.00
Maid .....	200.00
Entertainment .....	25.00
Dues .....	28.00
Travelling Expenses .....	125.00
Miscellaneous .....	75.00
Payment on House Pledge .....	1,000.00
Pledge to Dramatic Professor.....	250.00
	<hr/>
Total .....	$3,328.00

Respectfully submitted,

MARGARET PHYTHIAN,

Treasurer.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MINUTES

The Alumnae Council held its spring meeting on Thursday, May 21, with seven members present.

Miss Hopkins reported that she had noticed a marked increase in the interest shown by alumnae, especially in remarks made about the Trustees' Luncheon and the Alumnae Quarterly.

It was reported that an instructor in drama composition, Miss Nan Stephens, had been secured for next year.

The Alumnae Council discussed placing a trellis covered with honey-suckle over the garbage cans by the Tea Room side door. Plans for renovating Mr. Dieckman's studio were also brought forward.

It was reported that dinner will be held at night next year. Each student is to turn in six napkins at the beginning of the year, and the laundering of these is to be cared for by the college. Smaller tables were advocated.

Suggestions for cutting down college expenses were advanced, and also suggestions for helping college girls make money by such methods as tea room work, etc.

As there was no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

MARGARET BLAND, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE RICHMOND, VIRGINIA CLUB

The Richmond Club was organized in December, 1924. The first meeting was held during Miss McKinney's visit to us, when she told us about the plans for the enlargement of Agnes Scott and the new alumnae clubs. It was a great pleasure to find fourteen Agnes Scott girls in Richmond. They are:

Josephine Logan, Beth McClure, Margaret McDow, Elizabeth Doggett, Mrs. Motte Martin, Dr. India Hunt, Mary White Caldwell, Mrs. W. A. Williams, Mrs. John J. Wicker, Jr., Mrs. H. J. Williams, Mrs. Robert A. Towers, Louise Sanders, Louise Payne, Nannie Campbell.

At the second meeting officers were elected, the report of the nominating committee being accepted. Beth McClure was elected president, Jo Logan secretary, and Mrs. H. J. Williams, treasurer. One meeting was given to making three beautiful posters which were used in connection with College Day in the high school and two girls' private schools.

In February the Club gave a tea to which some high school girls were invited. Every phase of Agnes Scott life was presented to them through pictures, pamphlets, annuals, cross word puzzles, and conversation. (The last being the most effective). The thing that we are very proud of is that we feel we can claim one of this year's freshmen as our very own. Her home is in Richmond, and she never would have considered going to Agnes Scott except for our Richmond Club.

We are young yet, but we hope to serve our Alma Mater this year and show that our love for her is stronger than ever. Our power to serve has been increased by the splendid new members the Training School has brought us and we are hoping for a successful year.

CONCERNING OURSELVES

ALUMNAE MARRIAGES

Mary Evelyn Arnold, ex '23, to Forrest Allen Barker, Wednesday, October 14, at the First Presbyterian Church in Anniston, Ala.

Mary Robb Finney, '21, to William Alva Bass, of Birmingham, Ala., Thursday, August 6, at the Wesley Memorial Church in Atlanta. They are at home in Birmingham, Ala.

Valeria Posey, '23, to Louis L. Brown, Jr., on Thursday, August 20, in Central, S. C. They are at home on Church St., Fort Valley, Ga.

Margery Stuart Moore, '20, to Rev. William Allan McAulay on Wednesday, June 3, at Due West, S. C. They are at home in the Cunningham Apts., Greenville, S. C.

Esther Joy Trump, '22, to Lucian Edward Hamlet, Thursday, May '21, in Tusculumbia, Ala. Clio Mable, ex '00, Henry Roy Cates on Tuesday, August 18th, in the First Presbyterian Church, Decatur, Ga. They are at home in Los Angeles, Calif.

Erskine Richmond Jarnagin, ex '23, to Samuel Walton Forgy, Jr., on Saturday, October 10, at the First Methodist Church in Atlanta.

Mary Lynes, ex '26, to William Henry Martin, Jr., at the home of the bride on Elizabeth St., Atlanta. They are at home in Sheffield, Alabama.

Mrs. Caroline Caldwell Jordan, ex '10, to Mr. Louis Palmer Orr. They are at home at 1821 Wellesley St., East Cleveland, Ohio.

Marguerite Burnley, ex '27, to George William Crawford of Pittsburgh, Penna., on Tuesday, May 19.

Geraldine Hager Menshouse, ex '28, to Poleman Leonidas Weekes, Jr., on Saturday, August 1, at the home of the bride in Ashland, Ky. They will be at home at Sarasota, Fla.

Marjorie Glover Lowe, '23, to Walton A. Haley on June 11. Their address is Elberton, Ga.

Virginia Pottle, '22, to Ralph Lawson Riley on September 25. They are at home at 909 Jefferson St., Albany, Ga.

Grace Esther Harris, '15, to Willie Louis Durant on June 10.

Virginia Watts, ex '25, to Millard Fillmore Beals, Jr., at the first Methodist Church in Decatur, Ga.

Eliza Bennett Young to Wade Heavy. Their address is 1628 3rd St., Louisville, Ky.

Thelma Cook, '23, to Maitland Turtin, of Washington, D. C.

Marianne Strauss, '25, to Judson McConnell, of Tampa, Fla.

Alice Greenlee, '25, to J. H. Grollman, of Jacksonville, Fla.

Viola Hollis, '23, to Marion Lamar Oakley, of Columbia, Alabama.

Elizabeth Dennis, ex '27, to Newton Nowell, of Jacksonville, Fla.

Essie Roberts, '14, to Walter E. DuPre. They are at home at 414 E. North Ave., Atlanta.

Mary Breedlove, ex '25, to Charles G. Fleetwood, Jr.

Lucile Conant, ex '22, to E. Francis Leland, Jr. Their address is 118 Main St., Andover, Mass.

The following engagements are announced:

Mary Parrish Little, ex '23, Agnes Scott, '23 Barnard, to Dr. Eric Randolph Jette, of New York City.

Elizabeth Lyle McClure, '23, to Daniel Patrick McGeachy, of Decatur, Ga.

Ruth Crowell, '20, to Joseph Choate, of Charlotte, N. C., the marriage to be solemnized on the 17th of November.

Esther Byers, ex '26, to Henderson Pitts, of Clinton, S. C., the marriage to be solemnized November 7 at Esther's home in Spartanburg, S. C.

Matting Moring Mitchell, ex '23, to William Henry Flanders.

Mary McLellan, '22, to Wm. Judson Manly, of Dalton, Ga. The marriage will take place on November 24.

Born To

Mr. and Mrs. C. Frederick Williams (Otto Gilbert, '22), a son, Glenn Gilbert, on October 1.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mull (Helen Faw, '23), a son, James William, Jr., in July.

Mr. and Mrs. George Maier (Elise Bohannan, ex '21), a daughter, Julia Anne.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Manget Davis (Elizabeth Lockhart, '23), a son, Victor Manget, Jr., on September 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bryant (Ruth Hall, '22), a son, Virgil, Jr., on September 13.

NEWS BY CLASSES

1893—Secretary, Mary Barnett Martin (Mrs. A. V.), Clinton, S. C. 1713. 3 road 34

Mary (Mack) Ardrey (Mrs. W. B.), has a young granddaughter, Mary Dona Ardrey, born September 1, at Fort Mill, S. C.

1894—Secretary, Mary Neel Kendrick (Mrs. W. J.), Fort McPherson, Ga.

1895—Secretary—Winifred Quarterman, Waycross, Ga.

1896—Secretary, Mary Ethel Davis, Decatur, Ga.

1897—Secretary, Cora Strong, N. C. C. W., Greensboro, N. C.

1899—Secretary, Nellie Mandeville Henderson (Mrs. C. K.), Carrollton, Ga.

1900—Secretary, Ethel (Alexander) Gaines (Mrs. L. M.), 18 Park Lane, Atlanta.

Mary C. Barker, prominent educator of Atlanta, was elected president of the American Federation of Teachers at the ninth annual convention of that organization in Chicago in July. Miss Barker is among the prominent educators in the public school system of Atlanta, where she is principal of the John B. Gordon school. She served for two years as president of the Teachers' Association and has worked earnestly for professional advancement of Atlanta Teachers. She has taught for twenty years, and is one of the most capable and brilliant women educators in Georgia.

New Address: Mrs. Andrew A. Woods (Jeanette Craip), 2942 Observatory Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio.

1901—Secretary, Adeline (Arnold) Loridans, (Mrs. Charles), 16 E. 15th St., Atlanta.

1902—Secretary, Laura Caldwell Edmonds (Mrs. A. S.), 240 King St., Portland, Oregon.

1903—Secretary, Eileen Gober, 515 Cherokee St., Marietta, Ga.

Emily Winn, with her father and brother, landed in this country in July for a year's leave from their mission work in Korea. After spending a few weeks with relatives in Decatur and Greenville, they went to Montreat in August for the Foreign Mission Conference.

Grace Hardie and her mother were in New York City for the early spring and summer, going later to the White Mountains for the remainder of the summer. They will be in Greenville, S. C. for the winter.

Hattie Blackford Williams spent a pleasant summer at Massanetta Spring, Va., where she and her daughter, Harriett, had charge of the book room. Harriett expects to enter Agnes Scott next year.

Eileen Gober visited Laura Candler Wilds during July in Hendersonville, N. C., where Dr. Wilds is the pastor of the Presbyterian Church. There are three little Wilds—Mary Scott, age five; Annie, age three and Murphey Candler, age one and a half.

Marian Bucher went to Montreat for the Leadership Training Conference in August.

Juliet Cox Coleman has recently moved to Durham, N. C. Her husband, Dr. Cornelius Coleman, has been pastor of the Citadel Church in Charleston, S. C. for some years but has resigned this pastorate to accept the charge of a church in Durham. Her address is 418 Cleveland St., Durham, N. C.

Audrey Turner Bennet lives at 818 Piedmont Avenue, Atlanta. Her husband, Mr. M. C. Bennet, is Governor Walker's private secretary.

1904—Secretary, Lois (Johnson) Aycock, (Mrs. C. G.), 170 Penn Ave., Atlanta.

We sympathize deeply with Janie Curry in the loss of her mother during the early part of the year. Janie is at 1730 Glenwood Place, Memphis. She lives a very busy life, helping her father in his pastorate.

Clifford Hunter is principal of the Primary department of one hundred and eighty boarding pupils in the Southern Baptist College, Hwang Hsien, Shantung Province, China.

1905—Secretary, Mabel McKowen, Lindsay, La.

1906—Secretary, Ethel (McDonald) Castellow, Cuthbert, Ga.

1907—Secretary, Sarah (Boals) Spinks, 501 Gloria Ave., Winston-Salem, N. C.

1908—Secretary, Louise Shipp Chick, 306 C. St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

1909—Secretary, Margaret McCallie, 611 Palmetto St., Chattanooga, Tenn.

1910—Secretary, Agnes (Nicolassen) Wharton, (Mrs. T. J.), Central City, Ky. Deceased

Mildred Thompson is the superintendent of the department for the Feeble Minded, State Board of Control, Minnesota. Her address is 369 Laurel Ave., Apt. 204, St. Paul, Minn.

New Address: Mrs. Overdown Whitmire (Flora Crowe), 77 Prospect St., East Orange, New Jersey.

1911—Secretary, Theodosia (Willingham) Anderson, (Mrs. W.), 63 Avery Drive, Atlanta.

Adelaide Cunningham is teaching at the Commercial High School in Atlanta. She is also running a paper, the "Co-ed Leader," which, by the way, was entered in a contest at Columbia University last spring and won a silver loving cup.

Louise (Wells) Parsons has two little girls, the youngest, Jean, being eight months old. She is living in Massachusetts.

I wonder how many of us know that Mary Leech graduated from Johns Hopkins Training School for Nurses several years ago?

Eleanor (Coleman) Burchard has a little son, Preston, two years old. Her husband is with the U. S. Geological Survey in Washington, D. C. Miss Colton, our ex-French teacher, visited her for a few days last February and spoke before one of the circles of the Central Presbyterian Church in Washington.

Lucile Alexander, as you know, is head of the French Department at Agnes Scott, and is quite an important member of the faculty.

Mary Wallace Kirk toured Europe this summer. Her father was sent to Wales as a delegate to the Presbyterian convention.

Theodosia (Willingham) Anderson has two children, a little girl four, and a boy twenty months. The little boy weighed only two and a half pounds when he was born, but now is a fine specimen—so much for having a baby specialist for a Daddy.

(Secretary's note: Girls, of 1911, if I have made any mistakes about you in this very limited edition, please let me know and I will correct them. Those of you who know anything interesting about yourselves please communicate with me before the next quarterly. T. W. A.)

1912—Secretary, Marie (MacIntyre) Scott, (Mrs. J. T.), Scottdale, Ga.

1913—Secretary, Allie Candler Guy, (Mrs. J. S.), North Decatur Road, Atlanta.

Emma Pope (Moss) Dieckman has resigned from her position on the English department at the college, and is spending this winter at home. New Address: Mrs. L. D. Bynum (Mary Lois Enzor), Troy, Ala.

1914—Secretary, Lottie May (Blair) Lawton, (Mrs. S. C.), Greenville, S. C.

Annie Tai Jenkins visited the college during October.

New Address: Mrs. Robt. Bishop (Marguerite Wells), 109 Vreeland Ave., Rutherford, New Jersey.

1915—Secretary, Martha (Brenner) Shryock, (Mrs. J. N.), 1018 N. Main St., Evanston, Ill.

New address: Mrs. Ben Head (Mary Helen Schneider), 627 Piedmont Ave., Atlanta, (Temporary).

1916—Secretary, Louise Hutcheson, McDonough St., Decatur, Ga.

Eloise (Gay) Brawley, (Mrs. Foote), was a guest at the Hoace banquet in the Alumnae House on the evening of October 8th. Eloise, you will remember, was one of the charter members of Hoace.

Margaret Phythian spent the summer studying in Paris and in Lausanne.

1917—Secretary, Laurie (Caldwell) Tucker, (Mrs. J. H.), 1310 S. Howard Ave., Tampa, Fla.

Mary Alice Eakes (Mrs. Lester Rumble), is living at 20 Vermont Terrace, Southington, Conn. this winter, while her husband is studying at Yale.

May Smith is at Chicago University again this winter. Her sister Louise has gone up to be with her and to get her degree at Chicago.

Spott Payne visited Mary Brock Mallard, '19, and Maggie Leyburn, '18, at their apartment in Atlanta during the first week of October. Spott is one of the Deans at Lucy Cobb Institute in Athens, Ga.

Vallie Young White (Mrs. E. S. Archibald), has been elected president of the recently formed Agnes Scott club in Birmingham, Alabama.

Augusta Skeen was at Columbia University this summer.

1918—Secretary, Margaret Leyburn, 683 Peachtree St., Atlanta.

Rose Harwood (Mrs. Lee B. Taylor, of Brownsville, Tenn.), announces the arrival of a daughter, Melissa Jane, of September twenty-third. Melissa Jane is already registered as a member of the class of '47.

Annie White Marshall studied at Columbia University this summer.

1919—Secretary, Alameda Hutcheson, McDonough St., Decatur, Ga.

Jane Bernhardt is touring Europe. Mary Brock Mallard has a new position with Hancock-Hubbard Printing Co., Atlanta.

Lenora Gray, ex-'19 writes that she has just completed her sixth year of housekeeping. She has two children, George L., Jr., aged 4, and Jean Gray, aged 3 months. Jean is destined for the class of '47 too. Lenora has moved to Sumner, Mississippi.

Julia Lake Skinner visited the college during the first week in October.

1920—Secretary, Mary (Burnett) Thorington (Mrs. W. L.), Taft, Texas.

Laura Stockton Molloy spent the summer in New York, studying at Columbia. She and Mary Colley, ex-'24, shared an apartment on Riverside Drive.

Margaret Bland had a lovely summer studying with Margaret Phythian, '16, in Paris. They spent the last few weeks of their stay traveling in the Alps.

841 Pendleton Ave - Kanan City - Mo

R. 7, R. 5
1204 1055

Alice Cooper has gone to New York for the winter. She is living with Elizabeth Wilson at 431 Riverside Drive, Apt. 1. We have come to the conclusion that this apartment is made of India rubber, since it never seems to reach capacity, but is always hospitably open to any A. S. C. girls in New York.

Anne Houston has moved permanently to Lewisburg, Tenn.

Our sympathy is extended to Eugenia Peed, who lost her father during the summer. Prof. Peed was for thirty-six years the head of the mathematics department of Emory University. Eugenia is at the Carnegie Library in Atlanta this winter.

Margaret Winslett visited the college during September.

Margaret (Shive) Bellingrath studied at Columbia University last summer.

1921—Secretary, Frances Charlotte Markley, Miss Fine's School, Princeton, N. J.

Lina Parry is working with the American Red Cross in Atlanta.

Mary Louise Green, Caroline Agee, Marguerite Cousins, Eleanor Carpenter, and Frances Markley studied at Columbia this summer. In addition to Columbia, Eleanor studied ballet and musical comedy dancing at the Ned Weyburn Studios. Caroline is spending the winter in New York, and will get her M. A. in English. In the intermission between the summer and fall session she has been having gay adventures with a job.

Mary Anne (Justice) Miracle writes a most interesting account of her honeymoon at an engineering camp in Kentucky, twenty-two miles from a railroad. "You can well imagine how far we are from civilization. The roads are unspeakable—rough and narrow with huge mud-holes like those Christian had to struggle through to reach the little wicket gate. The natives are the most pathetic, abandoned creatures I have ever seen, and we rarely see any "furriners" as they call us. The arrival of the tri-weekly mail and the occasional visits of the engineers from the office are the main events in our round of days. It really is a wonderful existence though, camping in the heart of the Kentucky mountains. This Red Bird country is lovely with its rugged ridges, virgin forests and rocky creeks. We fish, ride, tramp, swim, and enjoy life generally. Civilization with its luxuries and hectic rush seems very remote, for we have turned the corner, and are in the midst of the 'great adventure.'"

Isabel (Carr) Battle has moved to Harriman, Tenn.

Eugenia (Johnston) Griffin has moved to Tifton, Ga.

Fanny McCaa is studying at the Seminary in Richmond, Virginia.

Charlotte Newton is teaching at the University of Florida.

Janef Preston is working for her master's degree at Columbia University this winter. Janef bids fair to be the most famous member of '21. Not only has she had a poem—"The Aristocrat"—accepted by "The Bookman" recently, but she is included in Mr. Braithwaite's anthology of the best magazine verse printed last year. The poem "To Rescue Today From Oblivion" is the one which was selected for this volume. It was first published in the pages of the Alumnae Quarterly. Her address is 411 W. 116th Street.

Martha Stansfield was awarded her master's degree in Latin at Chicago University this summer. She attained this degree in the shortest time allowed for the work, and handed in such an excellent thesis that she was told that with a few changes and additions, it will do to present for her doctor's degree.

Helen Wayt and Aimee D. (Glover) Little were visitors at the Alumnae House for the opening of college.

Frances Whitfield is staying at home this winter. Her address is Hawkinsville, Ga.

1922—Secretary, Julia Jameson, Franklin, Tenn. Ruth Virden and Ethel Ware studied at Columbia University this summer. Ruth is doing

Y. W. C. A. work at Wilmington, N. C. this winter. Ethel is teaching again at the North Avenue Presbyterian School in Atlanta. She is secretary of the Atlanta branch of the A. A. U. W.

Jeannette Archer is looking forward to the New York State Board Examinations in January. She writes that learning to be a nurse is the most fascinating work imaginable, but also the most work. Her address is 37 E. 71st St., New York.

Gena (Callaway) Merry has moved to 1150 Glenn Ave., Augusta, Ga.

Lucia Murchison will do graduate work in Social Economics at Johns-Hopkins University this winter.

Frances Oliver is working in the bank at Plains, Ga.

Phyllis Strickland, infant daughter of Helen (LeGate) Strickland, was the recipient of much flattering attention at a tea given by her mother last July. For her mother's sake she sweetly endured with a dignified aloofness much cuddling and handling by the guests, and bore up well under the heavy strain. Invited to meet Phyllis were Misses Mary Markley, Frances Markley, Eleanor Carpenter, Ethel Ware, Caroline Agee, Ruth Virden and Elizabeth Wilson.

Nell Buchanan conducted a party of A. S. C. girls to Europe this summer. She is doing quite a variety of things this fall. She has a class in English at the college in Marion, Va., is studying music and taking a business course. After Christmas, she and Ruth Evans are planning to go to New York to study.

Ruth Evans was a guest at the Alumnae House in October. She is on her way to Florida to make a fortune selling real estate with Liz Brown.

Carolyn Moore visited Susye (Mims) Lazenby '23 in October.

Ruth Scandrett spent the summer in Europe, going over with the Student Pilgrimage under the management of the Y. W. C. A. to study student problems in Europe. Dick Scandrett '24, was also in the party. They visited the university towns of England, France, Germany, Holland, Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, and Switzerland. Ruth is back at Florida State College for Women this year.

Althea Stephens was a guest at the Alumnae House in September. She and her mother drove up from Jacksonville, Fla. to Russellville, Ky., where Althea is head of the music department at Logan College.

Elizabeth Wilson has turned from editing to advertising. She is now connected with the Erickson Company in New York.

Alice Whipple is in Cordele this winter.

1923—Secretary, Emily Guille, 3400 Brook Road, Richmond, Va.

Clara Mae Allen is at Columbia this winter studying for her M. A.

Imogene is staying at home and plans to have several months in Florida with her family this winter.

Ruth Almond is teaching again in the High School at Leesburg, Fla. Algebra and Plane Geometry don't keep her very busy and she is having time to be a social butterfly.

A nice long letter from Dot (Bowron) Collins tells of her beginning housekeeping. When she was first married, her mother was not well, so she stayed at home, but now she is to have an apartment all her own, and she is busy collecting linen and tin ware and practicing her culinary arts. She and Lib Ransom and Margaret Colville are to be in Mary Evelyn Arnold's wedding.

Nannie Campbell is working at the Woman's Exchange in Richmond.

Helen (Faw) Mull has moved to Woodlawn Apt. B-2, Iowa City, Iowa. Her husband is connected with the University there.

Maud (Foster) Jackson says that her wee son Ernest L., Jr., whose birthday is August 2, composes all the news for her just now. She says she has her hands full keeping house and keeping him.

Jessie Dean Cooper is teaching at home (Centreville, Ala.), this year.

Mary Harris is teaching Latin at DeFuniak Springs, Fla.

Quenelle Harrold is in charge of the Georgia College Placement Bureau in Atlanta this winter. She had a lovely summer as counselor at a camp in Wisconsin, and is now enjoying life in her own apartment on Piedmont Ave., which she shares with Geraldine Dietz, a Cleveland, (Ohio) girl who is teaching music in Atlanta.

Edith McCallie has accepted a position as teacher in the Fulton High School in Atlanta.

Lois McClain breezed into the Alumnae House one week-end in October. She is still working with the bank in Jasper, Ga.

Hilda McConnell is back at the Atlanta Normal School this winter. She is the head of the Psychology department, and faculty councillor for the student government association. Hilda was bridesmaid in two weddings this summer, took a motor trip to North Carolina, and held down a three weeks job with the Southern Woman's Educational Alliance.

Susye (Mims) Lazenby has been working in the Monroe County Bank of Alabama, of which her husband is cashier.

Pearl Smith is teaching in Rome, Ga. again this winter. She says she is so fat we would never recognize the P. Smith of Agnes Scott days.

Mary Hewlett is teaching in Decatur.

Margaret Ransom (Mrs. I. M. Sheffield, has bought a lovely new cream brick bungalow at number 43 E. Wesley Road, Atlanta, and is keeping house.

Christine Evans motored to Atlanta in October and visited her cousin, Ann Heyes, at the college.

Hall McDougall is teaching just 15 miles from Russellville, Ky., so she and Walkie and Elizabeth Perry see each other often.

Lucie Howard is at home this winter in Lynchburg. She made a visit to Atlanta this summer to be a bridesmaid in a wedding. Lucie brings joy to the secretary's heart with her promptness in answering petitions.

Minnie Lee (Clarke) Cordle's son is seven months old. She says he will make a fine football player at the rate he goes now.

Eleanor Hyde's "glorified title," as she calls it, is head of the French department of St. Mary's College, Dallas, Texas. She hopes to start an A. S. club in Dallas this winter.

Jane Knight is at home this winter.

Eloise Knight is teaching at her home town (Safety Harbour, Fla.) this winter. She has four little sisters attending Agnes Scott this year. Who but a Florida family could afford such a thing?

Elizabeth (Lockhart) Davis is busy getting acquainted with Manganet Davis, Jr., who arrived Sept. 8th.

Josephine Logan is in Richmond, Va. for her second year at the Training School. There are rumors as to her kind of work hereafter. She came by the Alumnae House in September to see her young sister properly enrolled as a member of the class of '29.

Martha (McIntosh) Nall is moving to Miami—to live there, she says, just long enough to make their fortune, then come home again. She said she made an attempt at teaching last winter, but will only keep the apartment this winter.

Mary Stewart McLeod taught last winter, but she is in North Carolina now helping the family farm. She says when she goes home to Florida she intends to study Psychology and china painting.

Anna Meade is the same Anna, staying at home, but flying around at a great rate. She is one of the leading spirits in the Agnes Scott Club in Birmingham.

Myrtle Murphy is teaching the sixth grade at Conway, S. C.

Lib Ransom says she is tired of teaching, and will be a lady of leisure this winter.

Catherine Shields is teaching Latin in the Newnan High School, Newnan, Ga.

Lucy Timmerman is taking the Pastor's Assistant Course at the Baptist Bible Institute in New Orleans.

Nancy Tripp is working for Allyn and Bacon, a publishing concern in Atlanta. She says their office is quite an Agnes Scott settlement. Pete Hutcheson, Georgia May Little, Clyde Passmore, Margaret Neal and Rosalie Robison are all working there. Nancy's address is changed to 52 Drewry St., Atlanta.

Eva Wassum moved to Charlotte, N. C. her address being 502 Central Ave. She taught nature study during the summer at a Girl Scout Camp—Camp Juliette Low. Betty Floding was one of her pupils. This winter she is teaching in the Piedmont High School in Charlotte.

Emily Quille was counsellor at Miss Randolph's camp in New England during the summer. She is studying at the Training School at Richmond, Va. this winter. Other A. S. C. girls there are Beth McClure, Fan McCaa and Claudia Sentelle.

Beth (Flake) Cole has moved to 50 W. 15th St., Atlanta.

Philipa Gilchrist is back at Agnes Scott as an instructor in Chemistry.

Lucile (Little) Morgan was a guest at the Alumnae House during October.

Margaret Brenner spent the summer visiting her relatives in Germany.

1924—Secretary, Dick Scandrett, Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga.

Francis Anis is working in the bank at her hometown, Fordyce, Arkansas, "on the cotton belt."

Dell Bernhardt and Margaret Powell traveled in Europe together last summer. They are both at home this winter.

Rebecca Bivings is teaching in the Emory University grammar school, Atlanta. Her pupils are all children of Emory professors.

Janice Brown and Mary Green are teaching in Honea Path, S. C. again this winter. They spent the summer traveling throughout the west, stopping for a six weeks course at the University of California at Berkeley, and dipping down into Mexico long enough to witness a genuine bull fight.

Helen Lane Comfort is studying at the New York Library School this winter. Her address is 431 Riverside Drive, Apt. 1.

Beulah Davidson is back at Tate during the week, and back at the Alumnae House for the week-ends. She sees Lois McClain frequently, and Sine Caldwell and she have established the Alumnae House as a half-way station. Why don't more Agnes Scott girls do this?

Marguerite Dobbs is teaching in East Point, Ga.

Martha Eakes has found the perfect job. She teaches spelling at the Wm. A. Bass Junior High School in Atlanta, and lives at home, where she enjoys the use of her own automobile and the proximity to Emory.

Nancy Evans is teaching at Arkansas College, Batesville, Ark. Her younger sister, Lynn, is living with her, and studying at the college.

'24 is well represented on the campus this winter. Daisy Frances Smith is a member of the English department, Cora Fraser Morton of the Physics department, Dick Scandrett is Secretary to the registrar and Dean, Polly Stone is taking Nell Buchanan's place as Alumnae Secretary, and Frances (Gilliland) Stukes may be said to belong to the Psychology department.

Margaret Griffin is working in Atlanta.

Vivian Little has returned to Atlanta after her year of study in Paris.

Lil McAlpine was a guest at the college in September. She is teaching again at Salem College, Winston-Salem, N. C. Lil, Frances Stukes, Dick Scandrett and Polly Stone had lunch together one day in Frances's lovely new home on College Place.

Margaret McDow is teaching Bible and coaching athletics at the Synodical college in Holly Springs, Miss. Margaret came by the Alumnae House on her way over, and spent a night with Margaret Bland, '20. The two Margarets happen to be cousins.

Frances Myers is having a very gay good time in Kobe, Japan. Elma Swaney came by the Alumnae House in October on her way to visit in Richmond, Va. She says she is half-way planning to visit Fran in the spring.

Virginia Ordway spent several weeks of the early fall with Anne Gambrell, ex-'23 in Anderson, S. C. On her way home she stopped by Atlanta to get her bridesmaid's dress for Mary Evelyn Arnold's wedding.

Melissa Smith is studying at Columbia University this winter. She and Brownie are there together, and they say they are having quite as much fun as they used to here.

Pauline Wheeler visited Hilda McConnell and body in Cordele is getting married and that she and Alice Whipple '22 have about decided that the fever is contagious.

Augusta Thomas is teaching in Marion, Ala-Dick Scandrett in October. She says every-bama.

Elizabeth Askew is back at Tate, Ga. this year.

Elizabeth Henry is at home in Augusta, Ga. She and Emmie Ficklen both have little sisters in the class of '29.

Virginia Burt spent the summer traveling in Europe.

1925—Secretary, Belle Walker, Stillmore, Ga. Margery Speake is teaching French, English and Bible at Palmer College, DeFuniak Springs, Florida.

Martha Jackson taught French and Latin in the summer school at Fulton High in Atlanta. This winter she is teaching five classes of Latin a day at Reynolds High School in Winston-Salem, N. C. She says, "this place reminds me of Agnes Scott, for you surely do have to work."

Lucille Phippen spent the summer learning to use the typewriter, "just four years too late," as she puts it. Lucille was probably thinking of all those Bible notes she took. This winter she is teaching Mathematics at Woodbury Hall, a girls finishing school in Atlanta.

Elizabeth Woltz visited the two Catherines in Asheville, N. C. this summer. She is teaching in Belmont, holding down the chair of English in the Senior High School. She says that the beauty of her position is that she is near enough to run home every week-end.

Floy Sadler traveled through New England this summer, spending most of the time in Maine, but stopping at New York City, Lake George, and Boston, and going over into Canada. She is enrolled at the Carnegie Library School in Atlanta this winter. Her address is 53 E. 14th St.

Julia Pope writes joyously and shamelessly that she loafed all summer and never enjoyed anything more. She also paid a short visit to Louisa Duls in Little Switzerland, N. C. Now she is teaching Latin in Lanett, Alabama. Julia is another member of '25 who sent a little sister to swell the numbers of the freshman class at A. S. C. this year.

Pocahontas Wight went to Europe in June, and after touring a while settled in Paris where she is studying violin and expression.

Charlotte Smith was operated on during the summer for appendicitis. She spent August getting over that, and then in September started teaching French and English in the High School in Shellman, Ga.

Catherine Carrier stayed most of the summer at the family camp near Chimney Rock, N. C., where Catherine Randolph and Elizabeth Woltz visited her. After November, she will journey down to her family's summer home in Fort Myers, Florida, and spend the winter resting up from four strenuous years at Agnes Scott.

Anne McKay is living at home and teaching in the public schools of Macon. She spent the week-end of October 10 at the college.

Frances Moore is teaching at Tonnille, Ga.

Eugenia Thompson is directing recreation at the Avondale Cotton Mills in Birmingham, Ala.

Elizabeth Griffin is teaching in Dublin, Ga. Her address is 505 Bellevue Ave.

Ruth Johnston is at Clinton, La., teaching Latin in Silliman College. She has a young sister in the freshman class at Agnes Scott this year.

Agatha Deaver is spending the winter in Florida with her family.

Emily Spivey is teaching in Sulligent, Ala. She writes that she is very hard-boiled with her physical ed. classes, but that under a crusty exterior she often carries a quaking heart.

Tootsie Janes is in Orlando, Florida, selling real estate for the Hollywood Company.

Louise Buchanan and Carolyn Smith are working with the Retail Credit Company in Atlanta.

Isabel Ferguson is with the Community Employment Service in Atlanta. She is Polly Stone's successor, and Polly succeeded Lucile (Little) Morgan '23, and Lucile succeeded Elizabeth Wilson '22. They can't run that office without an Agnes Scott graduate, it seems.

Martha Lin Manly is giving two little girls private lessons at her home in Dalton. She spent the week-end of October 10th at the college.

Emily Zellars is teaching in North Carolina. Belle Walker is teaching in the High School at Stillmore, Ga. She has charge of the History and English departments. Belle visited Elizabeth Blalock at Jonesboro, Ga., and Eunice Kell at Pascagoula, Miss., this summer.

Eugenia Perkins is teaching in Midville, Ga. Owing to her father's death in June, Genie spent her vacation at her home in Augusta.

Frances Tennent is remaining in Augusta at her home on Hickman Road this winter. She has made no definite plans for the winter.

Elizabeth Blalock is teaching in the High School at Salem, West Virginia, having charge of the Science department.

Eunice Kell will remain at her home in Pascagoula, Miss., where she has a position as teacher of the sixth grade in the Grammar school. Eunice was hostess at an A. S. C. house party this summer down on the Gulf.

Frances Lincoln spent the summer in Europe with Nell Buchanan's party. This winter she is industrial secretary of the Y. W. C. A. in Roanoke, Va. Her address is 599 Woods Ave.

Clyde Passmore is working for Allyn Bacon Publishing Co. in Atlanta.

Lillian Middlebrooks is teaching History at East Point, Ga.

Larsen Maddox is teaching English in the High School at Moultrie, Ga. This summer she coached a play for the local Kiwanis club.

Josephine Marbut is working in the Actuarial Department of the Southern States Life Insurance Co. in Atlanta.

Margaret Rogers toured Europe last summer. Lucile Caldwell spent the week-end of October 10th at the College.

Mary Palmer Caldwell is the head of the French department at Lucy Cobb Institute in Athens, Ga. She spent the summer traveling in Europe with Nell Buchanan's party.

Araminta Edwards is back at her home in Atlanta after a summer of study abroad with her mother.

Ruth Guffin is teaching in Kissimmee, Florida.

Mary Ben Wright is connected with the Wayne P. Sewell Producing Co. She is sent out by them to direct and produce amateur theatrical performances through the south.

Ruth Harrison visited Carrie Graham and Mildred Morrow at the college during October.

Sallie Horton had a most interesting summer studying Bible in Jerusalem. She was chaperoned by Mrs. Sydenstricker, and after leaving the Holy Land, spent several delightful weeks in Europe.

Mary Anne McKinney has returned to a position in the college in Nacadoches, Texas, after spending the summer traveling in Europe with Elizabeth Norfleet. She stayed several days at the college on her way home.

Mildred Pitner is teaching in Cordele, Ga. Maria Rose is spending the winter at her home in Charlotte, N. C.

Ellen Walker is at home in Charleston, S. C. this winter.

Peg Hyatt is teaching school at home in Norton, Virginia.

Mary Keesler spent the summer touring Europe with her Mother. She is at home in Charlotte this winter.

Sara Fullbright is teaching in Pensacola, Fla. Brownie Smith visited Elizabeth Lynn in Clinton, S. C. this summer. In September she met her family at the Alumnae House, and they motored to New York, where she and Melissa are studying at Columbia. Brownie is enrolled in the Graduate School of Political Science. Her address is Box 336, Johnson Hall, Columbia University, New York City.

Martha Pennington is teaching Mathematics in the High School at Greensboro, Ga.

Idelle Bryant is teaching in Mulberry, Fla.

Frances Bitzer is teaching English and French in the High School at Leland, Miss. Her address is Box 126. She visited Jack Rolston last summer and she and Jack tried their hands at the kindergarten of the Daily Vacation Bible School. After the school closed, Frances visited Nannie Campbell and Kitty Houston in Virginia, Montie (Sewell) Burns in Atlanta, and Eugenia Thompson in Birmingham.

Mary Bess Bowdoin is visiting in St. Louis, Mo.

Lucile Caldwell is teaching Algebra and Biology in the high school at LaGrange.

Walker Fletcher is at home in Jackson, Tenn. Louise Hannah visited the college during October. She is going to take Mellie Zellars's place in the Grantville school after Christmas, as Mellie is coming back to Agnes Scott for the second semester.

Lucile Gause is working in her uncle's office in Stockton, Ala.

Dorothy Keith was counsellor at a girls' camp in Little Switzerland, N. C. last summer. This winter Dot is taking in all the football games.

Margaret Ladd is teaching at Morven, N. C. She is only about sixteen miles from home, and her mailing address is still Cheraw, S. C.

Mary Walker Perry is teaching Latin in the High School at Russellville, Ky.

Jack Rolston is teaching one high school class and one grammar grade. Her address is 320 N. New St., Staunton, Va.

Ella Smith is working for her father in Atlanta. She spent the summer visiting in Nashville.

Sarah Tate is teaching Science and English in the High School at Fairmount.

Ellen Walker says she had the most glorious summer in her life. She spent two months at a house party on Sullivans Island, and rode and swam and sailed and canoed and danced and house-partied in general.

Martha Lin Manly is experiencing thrills of the wedding variety. She is to be one of the bridesmaids in Mary McLellan's wedding on November 24th (incidentally, Mary is marrying Theta's brother), and maid of honor in another wedding that same afternoon. Two weddings on one day is rather a record.

CLASS AT LARGE

Frances Arant, ex '23 Agnes Scott, '24 Kansas University, is working for her master's degree in English at Columbia University. Her address is 419 W. 118th St., two blocks from Janef Preston.

Cornelia Archer, ex '24, is in Atlanta this winter, teaching music. Cornelia has spent the past few years studying music in New York.

Kathleen Belcher, ex '22, is working at Allyn and Bacon Publishing Co., 249 Peachtree St., Atlanta.

Mary Bradshaw, ex '15, (Mrs. Ed Normant), new address: 3411 Willow Ave., Birmingham, Ala.

Eunice Briesenick, ex '12, (Mrs. Wm. L. Sloan), is living in Shelton, Conn. She has two daughters she is planning to send to Agnes Scott.

Hazel Brand, ex '11, (Mrs. Thos. F. Taylor), new address: 8 Wilson St., Natick, Mass.

Dorothy Bullock, (Mrs. Luther Fuller), new address: Jamestown, N. Y.

Sarah Bryan, ex '23, Agnes Scott, '23 Shorter, is teaching French at home in Rome, Ga.

Betty Brown, ex '24, (Mrs. Charles Sydnor), is studying at the University of Mississippi this winter. Her husband is a professor there, and Betty will get her B.A. in June.

Martha Bishop, ex '17, is at home in Sheffield, Ala. this winter.

Fannie Brown, ex '27, is taking a kindergarten course in Cincinnati. Her address is 3027 Clivenview Ave.

Mary Colley, ex '24, spent the summer at Columbia University.

Augusta Cannon, ex '24, toured Europe this summer.

Lucile Conant, ex '21, new address: 168 Winthrop Road, Brookline, Mass.

Mary Cooper, ex '23, (Mrs. Harry Gilbert), new address: Thomasville, Ga.

Helen Crocker, ex '24, (Mrs. Henry S. McElwain) has moved to Tampa, Fla. She has an eighteen months old daughter, Dorothy.

Mary Nell Fitts, ex '27, is teaching kindergarten at the English Ave school in Atlanta.

Sadie Gober, ex '11, is at home in Marietta, Ga. this winter.

Florinne Brown, ex '11, is manager of the Silhouette Tea Room in the Alumnae House.

Robina Gallacher, ex '14, is Room Registry Secretary with the Y. W. C. A. in Atlanta. Her address is 21 West Baker St.

Margaret Hay, '23 Agnes Scott, '23 Vassar, is spending the winter in Europe.

Olive Hall, ex '26, is working for the Community Employment Service in Atlanta.

Rebecca Harmon, ex '25, (Mrs. John Clifton Lindsey), has moved from Moultrie, Ga. Her present address is 1055 Ponce de Leon Ave., Atlanta.

Love Hagood, ex '00, (Mrs. Will Donaldson), is the resident nurse at the University of Arizona, at Tucson.

Mary George Kincaannon, ex '23, (Mrs. Marion Beckett Howorth), is moving to New York City, where her husband will serve his internship in the Presbyterian Hospital. They have a three year old son.

Martha A. Kight, ex '22, (Mrs. Wm. Edward Cardinal), new address: 97 Lake Hunter Drive, Montgomery, Ala.

Mildred McFall, ex '24 Agnes Scott, '24 University of Texas, is teaching in Marietta, Ga. She is making quite a name for herself among the women tennis players of the south.

Hazel Pettingell, ex '15, (Mrs. Dennis Whittle), is at Luray, Va. She is the wife of an episcopal minister working in the Virginia mountains.

Louise Pappenheimer, ex '24, Agnes Scott, '24 Vassar, is treasurer of the Atlanta Branch of the A. A. U. W.

Fannie Swann, ex '24, has returned to college this fall, and will be graduated with the class of '26.

Mildred Shelton, ex '23, (Mrs. Lane Stokes), new address: Baton Rouge, La.

Elizabeth Snow, ex '26, is assistant librarian at the college. She was graduated in June from the Atlanta Library School.

Evelyn Tate (Mrs. I. Powell Morton), new address: 3401 Morganford Road, St. Louis, Mo.

Allie Louise Travis, ex '22, was a guest at the Alumnae House during October.

Nell Esslinger, ex '22, has been singing at the Capitol Theatre in New York.

Nan Bagby Stephens, ex '03, is giving a play-writing course at the college this winter, sponsored by the alumnae association.

Edith Roark, ex '21, is teaching Latin in Franklin High School, Franklin, Ky. After leaving Agnes Scott, Edith was graduated from George Peabody College in Nashville, but she is a loyal Agnes Scott alumna.

Agnes White, ex '21, (Mrs. E. L. Sanford), during her year in America, is living in Ward, Penn.

Margery Warden, ex '23, played in Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra" in New York, during its run there.

Faustelle Williams, ex '22, (Mrs. M. D. Kennedy), temporary address: Cordele, Ga.

Georgia Weaver, ex '22, (Mrs. M. Wigginton), has moved from Montgomery, Ala. to 1839 Peachtree St., Atlanta.

Annie S. Wiley, ex '95, (Mrs. John Fairman Preston), is living in Decatur this winter while her daughter, Miriam, attends Agnes Scott. Miriam has been on the honor roll during every one of her three years at the college. Annie's address is 114 Clairmont Ave.

Eliza Bennett Young, ex '21, (Mrs. Heavy), is living at 1628 3rd St., Louisville, Ky.

Died: Margaret Pott, ex '27, of Summit New Jersey.

Margaret McLean, ex '23, is teaching at Laurel, Miss.

Ellen McLean, ex '22, (Mrs. Albert Buffington) is living in Miami, Fla. She has a young son.

Elizabeth Riviere, ex '27, (Mrs. Chas. Franklin Hudson), is living at Fort Benning Columbus, Ga. She visited Agnes Scott in September.

New Addresses:

Mrs. A. E. Hill (Olivia Bogacki), '13, care Travellers Ins. Co., Hartford, Conn.

Mrs. Foote Brawley (Eloise Gay '16), Candler St., Decatur, Ga.

Mrs. Henry Newton. (Maryellen Harvey '16), 228 Winona Drive, Decatur, Ga.

Dorothy Keith, '25, 503 E. Washington St., Greenville, S. C.

LOST ALUMNAE

Please help us locate these lost alumnae. Send addresses, married names, or any information you may have about these to the General Secretary, Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Georgia.

Alderman, Ethel
Anderson, O'Dora
(Mrs. John Gelzer, Jr.)
Banks, Annie Sue
Bookhammer, Ethel
Boyd, Dorothy
Branan, Mary, (Mrs. Robson Dunwoody)
Caldwell, Nell Gene
Cockrell, Ethel
Collier, Eleanor (Mrs. Julian Harris?)
Carnes, Maybeth (Mrs. Stilwell Robinson)
Doe, Effie W. (Mrs. Wm. M. Huber)
Engel, Rosalie, (Married)
Feagin, Nettie
Gabbett, Sydney
Gunn, Jane
Ham, Ethel C.
Harvey, Helen
Johnson, Leila (Mrs. L. P. Moore)
~~Knex, Rosa Bell~~
Legg, Nellie
Lewis, Lenoir
Lewis, Walter
Lowenheim, Claudia
Ludlow, Annie
Little, Lillie Wade (Mrs. Robt. L. Ryals)
~~Murphy, Mae~~
McDonald, Maye (Mrs. H. M. Mills)
~~McKowen, May~~ (Mrs. H. B. Taylor)
~~McKowen, Sarah~~ (Mrs. Daniel Blackshear)

McMurry, Maud
Moore, Floy ✓
Martin, Nellie Kate
Moore, Annette
Minter, Anita
Nisbet, Ruth, (Mrs. Ward Moremouse)
Preston, Julia
Powell, Ella
Plunkett, Anna
Ryan, Blanche
Ryan, Mildred
Reynolds, Miriam
Satterthwait, Lilly
Stratford, Louise
Thomas, Frances
Timmons, Erma
Rebecca
Treadwell, May
Wade, Edna
Watkins, Mattie
Weathers, Alice
Williams, Beatrice

Williams, Louise
Wisdom, Dina
Wise, Louise
Wood, Bertha
Wood, Marian
Woodbridge, Charlotte
Worthington, Amelia (Mrs. Walker, Eugenia) (1874)
West, Elizabeth C. (Mrs. Thomas N. Jordan)
Wright, Marie
Young, Euphemia
~~Young, Lavinia~~
~~Zachry, Roberta~~ ~~Somerville, Eleanor~~ ~~Patton, Joy~~
~~Lassater, Elizabeth~~
Young, Martha Grace
Dickson, Mildred
Shaw, Mrs. J. B. (Elizabeth Miller)
Walker, Elizabeth

COME BACK COMMENCEMENT!

Classes Holding Reunions

'96—'01
'06—'11—'16
'21—'23
'25

Class At Large

Begin Planning Now to Come Back

OFFICERS AND STANDING COMMITTEES OF THE ASSOCIATION, 1925-26

President—Fannie G. (Mayson) Donaldson, '12.

First Vice-President—Mary (West) Thatcher, '15.

Second Vice-President—Helen (Brown) Webb, '14.

Secretary—Margaret Bland, '20.

Treasurer—Margaret Phythian, '16.

General Secretary—Polly Stone, '24.

Publicity Committee—Chairman, Carolyn Smith, '25; Polly Stone, '24; Olive Hall, ex '25; Elizabeth (Denman) Hammond, '18; Frances Charlotte Markley, '21; Elizabeth Wilson, '22.

Preparatory Schools Committee—Chairman, Julia (Hagood) Cuthbertson, '20; Margaret Rowe, '19; Hazel (Bordeaux) Lyon, '23; Alice Jones, '21; Annie Chapin McLane, '12; Grace (Harris) Durant, '20; Marian (Lindsay) Noble, '21; Eva Wassum, '23; Eleanor Carpenter, '21; Stuart (Sanderson) Dickson, ex '18; Mary (Kelly) Van de Erve, '06.

Curriculum Committee—Chairman, Jane (Harwell) Rutland, '17; Julia (Ingram) Hazzard, '19; Chris (Hood) Barwick, '16.

House and Tea Room Committee—Chairman, Annie Pope (Bryan) Scott, '16; Treasurer, Dick Scandrett, '24; Ex-officio, Florine Brown, ex '11; Emma Pope (Moss) Dieckmann, '13; Georgiana (White) Miller, '17; Bileen (Dodd) Sams, '23.

Louise McKinney Play Contest Committee—Chairman, Mary Wallace Kirk, '11.

Local Clubs Committee—Chairman, Aimee D. (Glover) Little, '21; Cama (Burgess) Clarkson, '22; Emma (Jones) Smith, '18; Margaret Leyburn, '18; Helen Wayt, '21.

Vocational Guidance Committee—Chairman, Ruth Scandrett, '22; Quenelle Harrold, '23; Katherine Seay, '18; Gjertrud Amundsen, '17.

Committee on Beautifying Grounds and Buildings—Chairman, Allie (Candler) Guy, '13; Martha (Rogers) Noble, '14; Mary Helen (Schneider) Head, '15; Louise (Maness) Robarts, '13.

Entertainment Committee—Chairman, Mec (MacIntyre) McAfee, '09; Martha (Rogers) Noble, '14.

Scholarship Committee—Chairman, Ethel (Alexander) Gaines, '00; Emma Pope (Moss) Dieckmann, '13; Mary (Kelly) Van de Erve, '07.

Class Organization and Records—Chairman, Ruth (Slack) Smith, '12; Mary Ethel Davis, '96; Ida Lee (Hill) Irvin, '06; Theodosia (Willingham) Anderson, '11; Eloise (Gay) Brawley, '16; Anne (Hart) Eguen, '21; Nannie Campbell, '23; Margery Speake, '25.

Alumnae Aid League—Treasurer, Ethel (Alexander) Gaines, '00.

