D E D I C

To one of a long line of torchbearers: who, as a student of Agnes Scott gave her best to the college; as assistant dean for many years merited the sincere admiration of faculty and students alike; and as "Dick" won the confidence and love of every girl, we dedicate this 1932 Silhouette to

CARRIE SCANDRETT

A T I O N

T H E

The traditions of Agnes Scott have become a real part of our lives in the years of college experience. The constant selections of thoughts, discoveries, feelings, and events, which have become so precious to us are a heritage from the past. Each successive generation, as torchbearers, has helped to make the flame of tradition brighter. Realizing the amount of love and care which has gone to the making of these traditions, we have endeavored to imprint them in a material way upon our memory, just as they have already been in our hearts through the years. The figures in the traditions may be unreal; their words may be misinterpreted; but the communion is a real fact.

It is fitting that Main Tower which embodies all our traditions should symbolize this section, the COLLEGE. With its arms reaching to the sky, the tower stands an impressive reminder of the past--of the traditions which we have learned to love and revere during our college years.

CLASSES

Investiture is a beautiful and impressive ceremony held in the fall, wherein the Seniors publicly receive their caps from the dean, and are officially recognized as candidates for the degree. It was begun in 1906 in a simple way, but has since become the goal to which every lower classman looks, and which every Senior cherishes long after it is gone. » » » »

S E N I O R S

Senior Opera, presented the night of May Day, is the crowning effort of each Senior Class. Nineteen hundred and twenty-two saw the first mock opera; and each succeeding year has witnessed similar ones, which have become more clever and more elaborate with each presentation.

The Freshman-Sophomore Stunt is one of the most enjoyed traditions of the campus. The first "Contest of Wits" in 1916 was won by the Sophomore Class. Frequently, however, the Freshmen belled the Black Cat; and this tradition has become the tie that unites the Freshmen—their first definite piece of co-operative work.

BEGINNING in 1891, the Decatur Female Seminary published the record of the school year together with the literary work of the students under the title of the AURORA. In 1902, this publication was discontinued and the present SILHOUETTE made its appearance. The annual each year has grown to keep pace with the college, but its purpose remains the same as that of the first editorial staff: "To cast upon these pages a silhouette of our life at Agnes Scott—an existence itself as transient and flitting as fire-light shadows."

In Recognition of

The splendid work of the editor and business manager in producing an All-American book in 1931 has indeed proved an incentive to the staff of the 1932 SILHOUETTE to carry on their good work; and in appreciation of their efforts, we offer this recognition.

SILHOUETTE-1932

The 1931 Silhouette

The past annual indeed deserves its All-American honor rating, given by the National Scholastic Press Association. In recognition of this honor, the SILHOUETTE received with Florida State College for Women the cup given by Southwestern Photo-Process Company, to that college in the Southeast maintaining such a standard.

THE AURORA has gone through many stages of development. In the early days, it was the year book, and included all phases of activities. When the SILHOUETTE came into being, the AURORA was changed to a publication by the literary societies with class issues. Gradually, it became the quarterly, containing only literary efforts, such as poetry, short stories, essays and book reviews. In 1928, an art department was instituted to provide illustrations for the literature. It has always been the policy of the staff to present the highest literary efforts of the students and to foster an appreciation of the best writing on the campus.

THE Agonistic was begun by the Junior class of 1916 and for several years was considered the especial interest and property of that class. So great was its popularity that it soon became the organ of campus opinions in general. The Agonistic has a two-fold purpose: To present campus news in as accurate and interesting a manner as possible, and to encourage the growth of true journalism among the students.

Each year a class contest is held, each class being responsible for its own issue, and a cup being awarded to the winner.

Won by Sophomore Class

THIS year, in addition to the presentation of the cup for the best class issue, a prize was offered for the best new name suggested for the paper. This contest was won by Rossie Ritchie, of the Sophomore Class, who suggested "The Tower." However, the students voted to retain the name, "Agonistic."

PSYCHOLOGICAL YEAR 1932

ORGANIZATIONS

The birthday of George Washington Scott, the founder of the College, has become a traditional holiday. Since 1918, each February the twenty-second has been a gala day, climaxing in a colonial banquet. Founder's Day is indeed a happy occasion for all.

THE Student Government Association was begun in 1906, in the first year of the college's existence, but with very limited influence. From four officers, headed by the President, it has grown to a large executive committee. It has increased in importance each year until now it is closely associated with every phase of campus activity.

IN the same year that the college was founded, the Y. W. C. A. was organized on the campus, and received a charter as a member of the National Y. W. C. A. Since that time, the association has grown in proportion to the growth of the college. Its purpose has been to promote ideals of Christian living in the students which will remain with them in later years.

THE Lecture Association of Agnes Scott was founded in 1921, with the purpose of bringing to Agnes Scott the noted men of the time. Incidentally, the procuring of important speakers from various places has been a means of publicity for the college. This year the series has included Senor Macerata, Dr. Robert West, Will Durant and the Abbey Theatre Irish Players.

BEAUTIES

May Day, a time when grace and beauty are recognized, is one of Agnes Scott's loveliest traditions. Since the election of the first Queen in 1918, and the establishing of a May Day committee in 1921, the plans have been carefully drawn and executed. 1932 has indeed brought an elaborate and impressive May Day program. »

ATHLETICS

Health Week is sponsored each February by the Athletic Association. It is a time when the whole campus becomes "health-minded" and climaxes in the choosing of "Miss Health" from representatives of all the campus organizations. » »

The Athletic Association

THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION was organized with the idea of creating on the campus a spirit of "Play for Play's Sake." The officers of the Association, together with the heads of sports and the faculty advisers, Miss Wilburn, Miss Sinclair and Miss Haynes, comprise the Athletic Board which conducts the affairs of the Association.

The program for the year has been enlarged to include golf and horseback riding. The annual Health week program was carried on, including the health contests, the faculty-varsity volley-ball game, the inter-dormitory basket-ball games and the choosing of "Miss Health."

The Athletic Association feels that in the widespread interest in sports on the campus this year, it has accomplished its purpose in sponsoring "Sports for Fun for Everyone."

HUMOR

Little Girl Day is a time of childish fun and frolic for the Seniors. For that day they return to their childhood. But even in the most serious and plodding of us, there is a younger side to our natures which must have its fling. So come play in our yard, Little Girl, and we'll all be kids again, just for an hour.

FORWARD

. . . enough you'll think when . . . or if . . . you've read these pages. For herein is the gentle pursuance of the gentle art of making fun at your expense . . . laugh if you care to . . . remember that it hurts us more than it does you . . . but not in the same place . . . anyway there is no hard feeling . . . well hardly any.

DEDICATION

. . . the poor downtrodden individuals who bask in the tail-light of insignificance, whose dreams are dreams of "big-batting" famous celebrities, of putting lux in the student president's cornflakes or sand in the assistant dean's shoes, we cheerfully aye gleefully, dedicate this section.

As King Tut said while standing on the Bridge of Sighs, "Sic Belgae omnes hic postum regnum alumni," which being translated into our own language, means, "A cat may look at a king—and laugh."

FRESH-WOMEN BORE-IENTA-TION CLASSES HELD.

Too Much Spare Time Chief Difficulty for New Students.

The faculty, after overlooking, as long as possible, the antics of the "verdant arrivals" who more than lived up to their name, decided to conduct Fresh-woman Bore-ientation Classes the first week of school in order to bore the new students into submission for the onslaught of rules and regulations.

The first lecture, "on Budgeting Your Time," was very helpful to the students who were having much difficulty in using all their twenty-four hours a day. A typical schedule of three morning classes and three hours of lab was used as a model. It was pointed out that the free hour in the morning might be used for practice on getting to and from one's mail box. The first twenty-five minutes of the hour should be spent in determinedly wedging one's way through an imaginary mob, the next ten minutes in pressing one's face hard against various mail box doors, and the last thirty minutes to be spent in practicing crawling out through innumerable imaginary legs with pieces of paper clutched tightly in one's teeth. Time for another accomplishment, Fresh-women should have in their repertoire, was included in the budget. The two hours after lab can be put to much practical value in learning the eccentric Atlanta streets. The first hour should be spent in vague wanderings; the next half hour amusing policemen with strict inquiries as to where the Decatur street car stops, and the last half hour in hailing a taxi (in desperation) and riding to the car line.

If, however, a student was resourceful enough to have taken along a package of choakers, she might extend her wanderings to an hour and a half, as it would take only about thirty minutes to find her way back by the crumb trail. The faculty member conducting the lecture advises that the last two hours of the budget be spent in practicing coming in after 10:30. It was also pointed out that the budget should include recreational activities, and it was thought advisable to spend the time between breakfast and eight o'clock, and lunch and one-ten classes in such restful activity as studying the three lessons for the next day.

Another very helpful lecture was on the library. The main point of this talk was to plead with the students to use our library. There is such a tendency to entirely ignore this seat of knowledge that some of the books are wasting away from neglect. However, as was pointed out, after the students do learn the supreme joy and overwhelming happiness found in the SENIOR GUESS I GOTTA LECTURES HERE.

"How to Become the Dumbbells of the Ball Room"—Subject.

The Agnes Scott College community was completely flabbergasted last night by the first lecture of the college series. Senior Guess - I - Gotta, of Spitalia, spoke on How to Become the Dumb-Belle of the Bawroom, or Nubs, and How to Be One in Six Lessons. Because of a wide experience in this field, Senior Guess - I - Gotta was particularly repelling. During the lecture he spoke of the advantages of curves over straight lines, and touched on the school-girl complexion, and the perfect figure.

Senior Guess - I - Gotta was looking most charming in pale pink, with a cluster of cauliflower gathered on his left ear.

As champion crapshooter of Spitalia, Senior Guess - I - Gotta has gained wide acclaim. In fact, after his screech, he insisted upon shooting two poor craps quite dead. Immediately following this gory performance, there was a general deception for the college, and incidentally for Senior Guess - I - Gotta.

The Senior checked out this morning in the possession of ninety-eight cents ($98) of Junior Chocolates Money, the little Cut - Up!

library, they're apt to give vent to their unparalleled gladness in such a way as is annoying to the librarians who are earnestly trying to read the Gumps in the latest paper. The lecturer said he wished that all Agnes Scott girls would adopt the slogan, "Keep our books clean—if the authors didn't do it, someone else should."

Fresh-woman Bore-ientation week is expected to be very helpful since it gave new students time for much-needed extra sleep as a result of which they will probably attack their problems with freshened vigor.

MERE OPTIMISM.

We have heard so much recently about optimism and its part in the life of a college man that we have drawn up a few abstracts that should put new heart into those who are discouraged.

We figure this way:

A man is born into the world without his own consent; and he leaves it against his will. If he cries when he is a baby, he is a nuisance; if he doesn't cry, he is sickly. If he gets into mischief when a youngster, he's an irrepressible brat; if he doesn't, he's a sissy. If he makes good grades in school, he's the teacher's pet; if he doesn't, he's plain dumb. If he goes to college, he's wasting his time; if he takes a job after finishing high school, he's throwing down life's golden opportunity. If he sticks at college, he's having more fun than he's worth;
if he goes home, he's a quitter. If he makes a fraternity, it's poor; if he doesn't, I told you so. If he settles down to a quiet life after college, he's abnormal; if he continues to raise the deuce, he'll never come to any good.
If he dies young, he had a great future;
if he lives to a ripe old age, he has missed his calling.

So cheer up—what's the use?
