Dedication

To MR. HENRY A. ROBINSON, for his untiring interest in all students, his high Christian ideals, and his devotion to Agnes Scott College, we dedicate THE 1949 SILHOUETTE

An aerial, black and white photograph of the Agnes Scott College campus. The image shows several large, multi-story buildings with gabled roofs, surrounded by lush trees and greenery. A road or path winds through the lower part of the campus. The overall scene is a dense, wooded campus.

Foreword

The year of 1949 has been especially important in the history of our college for it has brought another campaign for "A Greater Agnes Scott." The student body, faculty, and alumna groups have participated actively in this drive to raise a million and one half dollars. We all have shared an awareness of the needs of the college and have worked together in this opportunity to reward our faculty and to improve our campus. We have done so because we know that the real greatness of Agnes Scott is not determined by dollars and new buildings. Its true power lies already in the campus life, the character of the members of the faculty and the student body, and the intellectual and spiritual interests which abound here. This inherent greatness of Agnes Scott has inspired our desire to add to the strength of our college through material expansion.

An aerial, black and white photograph of a college campus. The image shows several large, multi-story buildings with gabled roofs and numerous windows, arranged around a central courtyard or open area. The buildings are surrounded by trees and a paved area. The overall scene is a typical college campus layout.

The 1949 SILHOUETTE has tried to convey the indescribable quality of our college life through many varied pictures of the students on and off campus. The staff has attempted to portray each phase of college activity naturally and to show scenes which are familiar and particularly relevant to the campus this year. The SILHOUETTE, as a pictorial presentation of 1949 campus life, is an acknowledgement of faith in the present power of the college and our hope for a truly greater Agnes Scott.

“ . . . Seek to delight, that they may mend mankind
And, while they captivate, inform the mind. . . .”

Faculty

President James R. McCain is admired by the entire Agnes Scott community for his friendliness, his quiet sense of humor, his dignity, and his simple, profound religious faith. This year has been a particularly busy and eventful one for Dr. McCain because of his untiring work in the Greater Agnes Scott Campaign. His deep interest and devoted leadership have indeed been an inspiration to all who love Agnes Scott.

JAMES ROSS McCAIN
President

WALLACE McPHERSON ALSTON
Vice-President

Taking up his duties this year as vice-president, Dr. Alston has quickly inspired the respect and friendship of the entire college. In conferences with students on campus and in lectures to alumnae groups throughout the South and East he has revealed to all his vibrant personality, his profound intellect, and his deep spiritual insight.

SAMUEL GUERRY STUKES
Dean of the Faculty and Registrar

One of the most popular figures on campus is Dean Stukes, who is known to all for his excellent sense of humor, his warm friendliness, and his sincere interest in each individual student. He always welcomes students seeking counsel about personal and academic problems and offers sound advice which proves extremely helpful.

CARRIE SCANDRETT
Dean of Students

Miss Carrie Scandrett, the beloved dean of students, has a personal interest in every girl and is untiring in her efforts to help each student solve her problems. Her warm smile and sincere nature inspire confidence and friendliness. With her poise and charm, Miss Scandrett is an exemplification of the Agnes Scott ideal.

Administrative Offices

J. C. TART
*Business Manager-
Treasurer*

P. J. ROGERS
*Assistant Business Manager-
Treasurer*

The administration offices perform the registration and record-keeping activities for the college.

The biggest job of the administration during this year was the management of the endowment campaign. This, with the construction of the new infirmary and the purchase of the South's largest telescope, has kept the administrative staff busy working toward a greater Agnes Scott.

Hub of the ever-moving campus wheel of activities is the Dean's office. Here students go to sign out on familiar pink and white slips for that all-important date or to put in their applications for seats on the concert bound busses; here they engage their taxis and send their telegrams; and here they bring their innumerable questions. With its air of graciousness and friendliness, the Dean's office is always inviting to students who wish to stop in for a relaxing chat.

Whether she is a homesick freshman, a worried sophomore, a discouraged junior, or an exhausted senior, each student is always sure of finding advice and encouragement here.

The Library

The Agnes Scott Library, one of the most beautiful buildings on the campus, is the scene of preparation for classes, intensive research, and reading for relaxation. The efficient and friendly librarians direct the use of books and periodicals of the library's large and varied collection. Distinctive features are the attractive news and current events bulletin boards and Miss Hanley's colorful African violets.

English

Through the freshman course of appreciation and composition, the sweeping survey course of English literature known as "211," and such advanced courses as "Chaucer," "Eighteenth Century Prose," and "Shakespeare," the English department provides for students a rich, valuable background for a liberal education in college and for a rewarding life beyond the college experience. The encouragement and inspiration which a study of English offers to the imagination, the intellect, and the soul makes this one of the college's most popular departments.

The department of history and political science includes in its program courses ranging from "Medieval Civilization" to "Current Problems." The department realizes that an understanding of the past is essential to the solution of present-day problems, and that modern problems and opportunities must be studied and understood rather than carelessly or ignorantly approached.

The history department brings to the campus each year a number of distinguished lecturers who contribute to the department's program through their forceful personalities and their grasp of current problems. This year's series included Dr. Wendell H. Stephenson, of Tulane University, Dr. William B. Hesseltine, of the University of Wisconsin, and Dr. Benjamin F. Wright of Harvard.

The language department offers excellent courses and instruction in modern and classical languages. The members of the department feel that language study is especially important now in this post-war period. Not only does language study stimulate an interest in other nations and an understanding of their culture, but also there are many opportunities open to language students in teaching and relief work in foreign countries.

Interesting methods of study include personal conference periods, enlightening record classes, and stimulating language tables in the dining room.

Study in these departments affords to students the facts and theories about the world they live in and opportunities to develop individual powers of analysis.

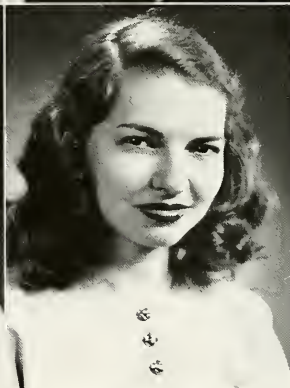

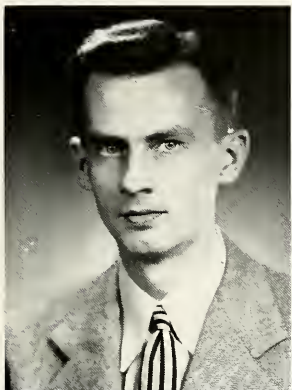

An exciting development in the science department this year was the purchase of a 30-inch telescope, the largest reflecting telescope in the Southeast, for the astronomy department.

Equally exciting are the prospects for the future of the science department, with plans already drawn up for a new science hall and a new observatory.

Art

Agnes Scott's art department offers courses of study in theory, practice, and history of art for those students with casual as well as professional interest.

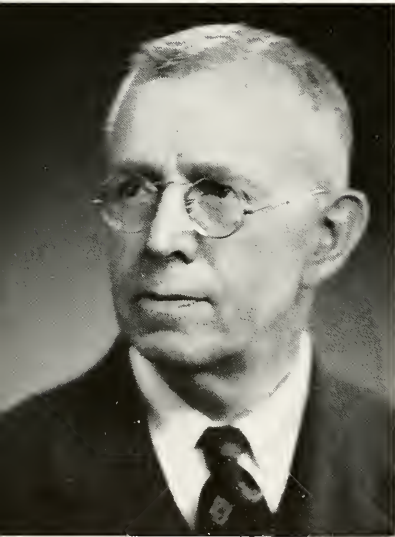

Courses in art provide an excellent background for enjoying the splendid exhibits of student work and the illustrated lectures which the department presents throughout the year.

The Bible department strives to aid every student in possessing the Bible both intellectually and spiritually. It is taught as a text, with attention to accuracy and scholarship. The Bible is also presented as a source of inspiration and help for spiritual life both now and in the future.

In addition to "Study of the Bible," other courses such as "Church History" and "Comparative Religions" are offered.

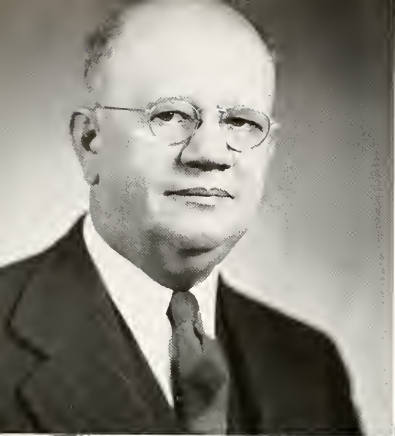

Speech

The Agnes Scott speech department is one of the best known on campus. It endeavors to give all students a foundation for developing a well-modulated voice and correct diction. In its reading and dramatic courses the speech department teaches play-production and dramatic expression. It also sponsors the college dramatic club, Blackfriars.

Philosophy, Education and Psychology

Psychology, a subject of ever-widening interest, draws many majors each year. Students planning to go into any field of work find that a deeper understanding of human nature is of the utmost importance.

For those interested in the revelation of truth to others through teaching, the education courses are essential. Winter quarter always finds many students beginning duties as practice teachers.

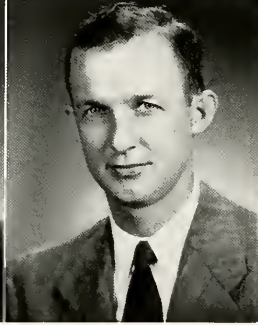

The philosophy department added a new course this year, "The Philosophy of the Christian Religion," taught by Dr. Alston. This department is always challenging to thoughtful students.

Sociology and Economics

The study of economics and sociology helps students to achieve understanding of the problems and workings of the world. Underlying principles in business, money, and finance are brought to light by the study of economics. A knowledge of sociology enables the student to understand the origins, functions, and motives of modern society. Interest in social problems is fostered by field trips and studies of conditions in and around Atlanta.

Agnes Scott's physical education department shoulders the responsibility for health and fun on the campus. The objectives of the department are to provide for the physical well-being of individual students through physical examinations and a carefully regulated program of exercise and to afford a means of recreation for every person on campus. Archery, tennis, badminton, swimming, dancing, and team sports are included in the varied physical education program.

The 1949 SILHOUETTE

Picturing campus life in such an eventful year as 1948-49 has made the work of the Silhouette staff interesting and at times somewhat frenzied. Working on the layout, following Mr. O'Kelley and his camera, and writing copy were only a few of the jobs that had to be done. Other than work there was the excitement of knowing who the beauties were and deciding on the cover design. The staff has sought to achieve a SILHOUETTE that represents through pictures the many-sided life we shared on campus in '48-'49. We hope the scenes and snaps will keep this year alive for you.

SCOTT NEWS

With the clickety-clank of the typewriters and the scratch of many a dull pencil the campus happenings are assembled into the AGNES SCOTT NEWS.

The paper, with its motto "all the news that's safe to print," acts as the campus critic, spokesman, and calendar. With such columns as "Campus Slips," "Gripe Right," "Gals-About," and a new feature this year, "Outside A. S. C.," a column on current events, the well-read student finds she just "must" read the AGNES SCOTT NEWS.

Assistant Business Managers, Virginia Skinner and Mary Ann Hachtel, are all smiles as they sit on the front steps of Rebekah.

The News is read by its Business manager Mary Aichel.

AURORA, a quarterly publication, is a literary magazine for student expression which seeks to integrate creative ability with the spirit of the college. Students are encouraged to present for publication poetry, essays, short stories, book reviews, and literary criticisms. AURORA not only stimulates and guides creative literary expression, but it also gives valuable criticism to its contributors. In addition the cover of the magazine and illustrations for stories provide opportunities for students of art to have their work recognized and enjoyed.

MENT ASSOCIATION

Student Government Association accepted its responsibility to help Agnes Scott students realize more fully their duty to live honorably and unselfishly in the college community. The Honor System was brought to the attention of each student through group discussions. The work of the newly formed house council in each dormitory brought students closer to the administration. By sponsoring the Class Spirit Cup competition, Student Government encouraged cooperation and unity within the separate classes and aided in producing a unified student body. Student Government and the campus became more aware of student problems and government through the visit of representatives of National Student Association, who focused our attention on other students throughout the nation.

Hunt Morris is Student Government's vice-president.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

The activities of Christian Association this year were planned to further the theme, "Love Christ, Live Christ," and to make the entire campus feel a part of the organization. It started its campus activities by acquainting the freshmen with the churches located in the Atlanta-Decatur vicinity and introducing them to the Association at a "Halo" party. Christian Association was responsible for some of the best chapel problems of the year in sponsoring discussions of Christianity's relationship to the fields of drama, literature, music, and mathematics. New activities of the Association were founding an inter-faith council composed of the presidents of denominational groups and beginning the "C. A. Halo," the column in the News which reported the activities of the Association.

Off campus activities of service were work at the Negro Mission, Scottish Rite Hospital, Y.W.C.A., and Church day camps.

Dr. Donald Miller emphasized the theme "Christian Living" as he led us during Religious Emphasis Week for the third consecutive year.

The high ideals of Christian Association are manifested in its president, Mary Price.

MORTAR BOARD

The members of Mortar Board, a national honorary society for senior women, are chosen for their leadership, service, and scholarship. This year the group has sponsored a reading room, marriage classes, and teas for day students and boarders. Mortar Board was of great service in the campaign; it directed all student participation and, in order to raise money to meet its own campaign pledge, conducted a personal services organization which offered everything from shoe shines to taxi service. Mortar Board, established at Agnes Scott in 1931, is an outgrowth of the former H.O.A.S.C. which had been founded in 1916. Their purpose is to "maintain a high standard of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to stimulate and develop a finer type college woman."

Mortar Board members Marie, Butch, and Sully do their part in making our campaign go over the goal.

The guiding light of Mortar Board, President Doris Sullivan.

Dr. Grace Sloan Overton, nationally famous lecturer on marriage and good family living, relaxes after a busy week on the campus.

The Beta of Georgia chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic organization, was established at Agnes Scott on March 22, 1926. Agnes Scott was the one hundred and second institution and the ninth college for women to receive this recognition of scholastic excellence. Phi Beta Kappa has as its purpose "to recognize and encourage scholarship, friendship, and cultural interests."

Social Standards Committee was organized to promote the social ideal of gracious living. The group is composed of members chosen from each dormitory and representing all classes. The organization has helped to develop social life on the campus this year through etiquette classes, fashion shows, teas, posters, motion pictures, and other planned activities.

SOCIAL STANDARDS

LECTURE ASSOCIATION

This year Lecture Association's program has been exceptionally interesting and varied. The noted author and world commentator, Vincent Sheean, began the series with his lecture on the problems of India today. Margaret Webster's excellent production of Shakespeare's "Hamlet" was presented to the campus winter quarter. Robert Frost concluded the series in March with his comments and reading from his New England poetry.

"Agnes Scott's poet," Robert Frost, is kept busy during his visit on campus.

ETA SIGMA PHI

Eta Sigma Phi is active on campus in the encouragement of interest in the study of Greek and Latin cultures. High scholastic attainment and an interest in the classics are the requirements for membership. Activities of the club included a monthly meeting for discussion of some classical writer or topic, a Roman-style banquet in the spring to raise money for the campaign, and an informal social gathering for all classics students.

CHI BETA PHI

The Alpha Sigma chapter of Chi Beta Phi, a national undergraduate science fraternity, encourages further scientific activities on campus. Members are selected on the basis of their interest in science and high scholastic attainment. The organization sponsors lectures by prominent scientists and encourages special projects. This year, Chi Beta Phi has made a special effort to help establish the Jodele Tanner Memorial Scholarship Fund. If the goal is reached the scholarship will be awarded annually to a deserving science major.

Giving freely and generously of its time and talent to the college and community, the Agnes Scott Glee Club is a vital organization on campus. Outstanding performances of the club included the Christmas Carol Program, the Spring Concert, and the presentation of the "Messiah" with the glee clubs of Emory, Tech, and Columbia Seminary. In addition, the Glee Club participated in chapel services, Founder's Day radio and television broadcasts, church services, and civic club programs in Atlanta and Decatur.

Blackfriars, the college dramatic club, and incidentally the oldest club on campus, offers a wide variety of experience to Agnes Scott students. During play production girls may work with scenery, properties, lighting, make-up, costumes, and other back-stage necessities in addition to the all-important acting. The two major productions this year were, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" by Cornelia Otis Skinner, and "No Way Out" by Owen Davis. In addition to the full-length plays, several work-shop dramas were given. Nancy Parks contributed one of her plays which was produced fall quarter.

Pi Alpha Phi debating society was organized in 1922, in order to develop and train intercollegiate debaters, and to promote an interest in current events.

Under the excellent leadership of Dr. George P. Hayes, Agnes Scott's society initiated the All-Southern Debate Tournament which was won this year by the Florida team. This is the only intercollegiate activity in which Agnes Scott participates. In addition to the All-Southern Tournament, Pi Alpha Phi annually conducts a tournament within the club. All participants gain valuable experience and speakers are trained to represent the school in the more important tournaments.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The League of Women Voters in this election year encouraged the registration and voting in state and general elections of all girls eligible. Transportation was provided to and from the polls, and unbiased facts about all candidates were made available to the whole campus. League members also kept well-informed on current legislative and political problems by listening to speakers and visiting the Georgia legislature's sessions.

Catching up on current political developments are Janet Quinn, vice-president; Mabel Burchfield, treasurer; Mary Frances Jones, president; and Joyce Rives, secretary.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The International Relations Club stimulates interest on campus in world affairs by varied programs featuring guest speakers, open forums, and movies. During October, attention was focused on the work of the United Nations through posters, exhibits, and chapel programs. IRC is a member of the Georgia International Relations Club and the Collegiate Council for the United Nations.

BIBLE CLUB

The Bible Club encourages deeper and more meaningful study of the Bible and helps produce Christian leadership among the students. This year the club, in its bi-monthly meetings, studied the book of Philippians under the guidance of members of the Bible department. Projects for this year included sending clothing to Europe and selling "hot dogs" in the dormitories to raise the club pledge for the campaign.

Bible Club president, B. J. Combs, looks pleased over the club's many successful projects.

POETRY CLUB

Poetry Club, open to all students through try-outs, is the organization which gives hopeful Agnes Scott poets an opportunity to read and criticize their work. A number of poems by the members are published in Aurora each quarter.

BOZ was organized to satisfy creative desires of students in the field of writing. Members read and criticize original compositions at instructive and delightful meetings which are held at the home of Miss Preston, the faculty sponsor.

FOLIO

Folio Club membership is open to freshmen with talent and interest in creative writing. Informal meetings provide opportunities for members to read and criticize their poems, short stories, plays, and essays. Folio Club uncovers new talent for campus publications and encourages its members to continue self-expression through creative writing.

STRING ENSEMBLE

The tuning of instruments in Mr. Dieckmann's studio indicates that the String Ensemble members are beginning one of their pleasant evenings of practice and study. Interested students and faculty members bring violin, cello, harp, or flute to share their common love and knowledge of instrumental music.

Stimulation of knowledge and appreciation of the French language, literature, and life is the purpose of the French Club. Its aims are furthered by monthly meetings which feature talks on current French affairs, outside speakers, and movies. A new project of this year was a language table in the dining room.

SPANISH CLUB

Second row: Carmen Shaver, Pat Overton, Helen Crawford, and Margaret Brewer.

The monthly meetings of Agnes Scott's "senoritas" acquaint Spanish students with the customs and everyday vocabulary of Spanish-speaking people. In the fall a play was presented to interest prospective members in the club. Later foreign students from Agnes Scott and other local schools were honored at a tea. Throughout the year, speakers from Latin America were brought to the campus so that members could hear Spanish spoken correctly.

GRANDDAUGHTERS

The Granddaughters Club, a purely social organization, is composed of daughters of Agnes Scott Alumnae. The informal meetings provide an entertaining hour of fun when the members can relax and catch up on all the news. In the fall freshmen members were welcomed to Agnes Scott at the annual weiner roast given at Harrison Hut. This year an interesting project of the club was "baby-sitting" during Alumnae meetings which proved helpful to the club as well as to the alumnae.

COTILLION CLUB

Cotillion Club promotes social life at Agnes Scott by its campus-wide dances, parties, and small social gatherings for its members. This year, Cotillion took a part in orientation by sponsoring a Freshman Halloween formal. In the winter the club sponsored the annual Agnes Scott formal in the gym. Proceeds from this gala event went toward the campaign fund.

Athletics

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Because of the ability, skill, and friendliness shown by Marie Cuthbertson, president of the Athletic Association, and Bunny Brannan, vice-president, athletics have had a very important role on campus.

The Athletic Association had a very active year entertaining the freshmen, opening Paradise, selling food at basketball games, and starting a scrapbook of pictures and activities of the board. A faculty-varsity hockey game and a benefit bridge were sponsored to raise money for the association's campaign pledge.

Barbara Lawson and Gretta Moll were the delegates from Agnes Scott to the GAF CW conference at which Barbara was elected state president for 1949.

Taking a moment of leisure from their athletic responsibilities are Barbara Lawson, treasurer, and Jane Sharkey, secretary.

Either in the library carrels or on the spectator benches, everyone has "class spirit" during the hockey season. The seniors finished on top with an undefeated season after some keen competition from the other classes.

Dolphin Club has been a busy organization on the campus this year. The members have tried to encourage more interest in swimming among the students. The pool is open every day for all energetic swimmers. At their regular meetings the members try to improve the form and proficiency in diving which entitled them to membership in the Dolphin Club. Club members participated in the fall swimming meet, the A.A.U. meet at Emory, winter quarter, and the spring water ballet.

The expressions on the faces of these swimmers show the excitement that was aroused at the swimming meet.

Frances Hale prepares to exhibit her proficiency in diving.

The Juniors captured the winning title in the swimming meet Fall quarter with 32 points, the Seniors coming in second with 31 points, and the Sophomores and Freshmen coming in third and fourth place. The events were: the medley race, breast stroke-form, front crawl, back tandem, back crawl, front crawl free style relay, diving.

DOLPHIN CLUB

Martha Williamson, tennis manager, rests after a hard tennis match.

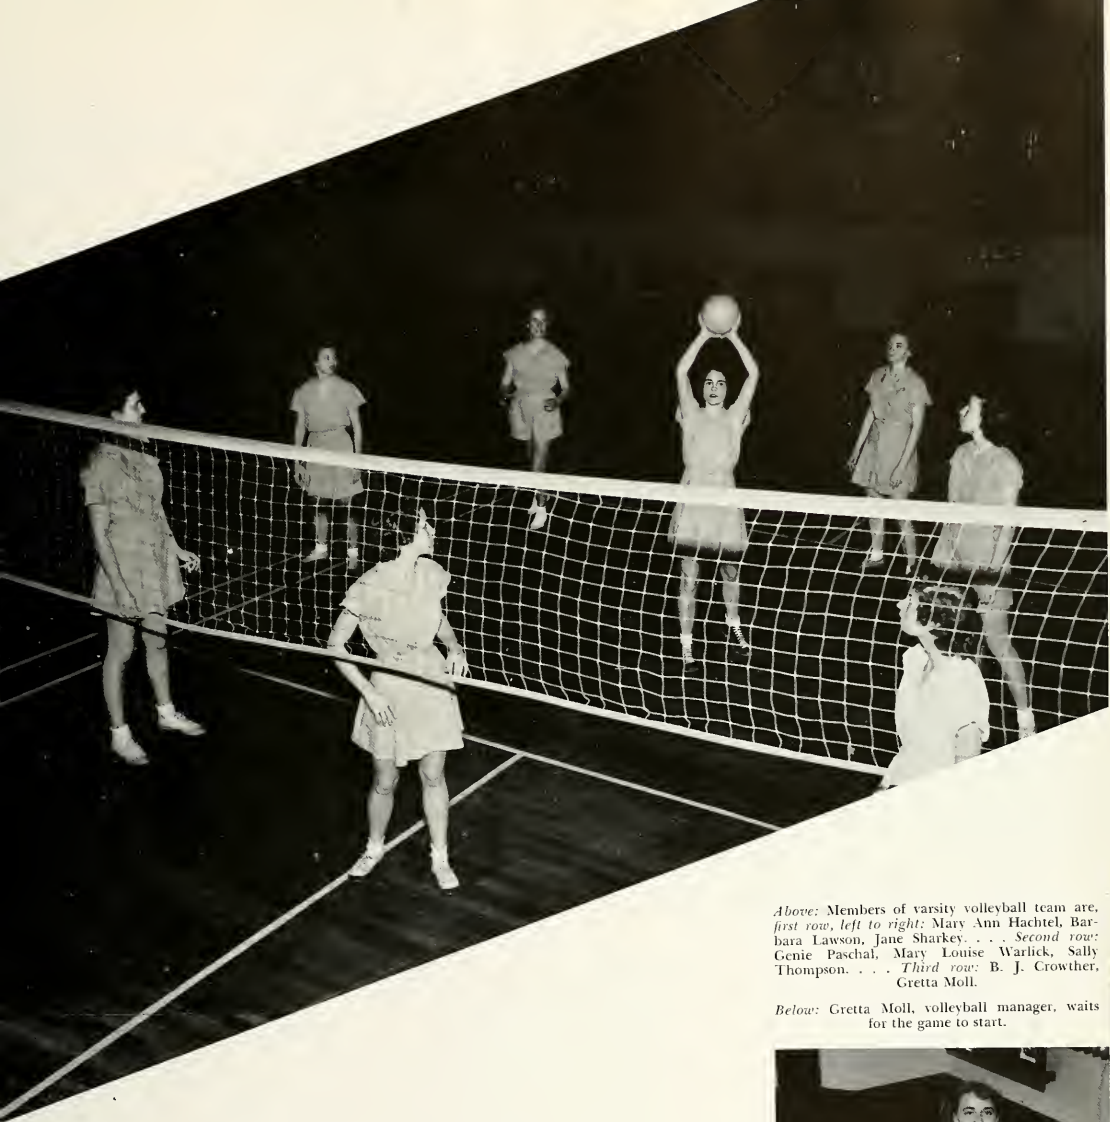

TENNIS CLUB

Tennis Club had to give way to progress during fall quarter, for the new infirmary was being built on the tennis courts. However, spring quarter found the old courts in good condition and the tournaments in full swing.

Even though volleyball gave way this year to softball as the team sport for spring quarter, it is still popular on campus. Each of the four classes competed in an extra-curricular tournament just for the enjoyment of the game.

Golf is fast becoming one of the most popular spring sports. This year in addition to the individual tournament there were also class and faculty-student tournaments.

OUTING CLUB

The activities of Outing Club are enjoyed by those students who like hiking. A hike to the Majestic for breakfast and back to the campus one Sunday morning in time for Church was the longest one ventured upon this year.

Below, right: Julianne Cook, badminton manager, is all set to serve the bird to her opponent.

Badminton Club activities, this year, included bi-monthly meetings for practice and study of rules. The members were very fortunate in having Don Vaughn, a professional player, give instruction at one of the meetings. Winners of the tournaments played during winter quarter were: Marguerite Jackson, singles, and Marie Cuthbertson, doubles.

ARCHERY CLUB

One of the most popular spring sports on campus is archery. Every afternoon, weather permitting, aspiring archers troop to the hockey field for an hour's practice and relaxation. The most expert archers are members of the Archery Club headed this year by Julie Cuthbertson.

DANCE GROUP

The dance group, under the direction of Miss Eugenia Dozier, presented the ballet "Coppelia" to the campus winter quarter. Bess Lundeen took the leading role and was ably assisted by the rest of the cast. Dance group is composed of girls interested in ballet, and admission is by tryout.

The special days and events pictured here are the source of spice and color in our college life; they are anticipated by all students and become cherished memories of days at Agnes Scott. The reception on the quadrangle in the fall is a welcome to newcomers into a varied round of extra-curricular activities and a signal to old students that the featured traditions of our campus life are again under way. From Orientation Week to May Day, climax of the year's activities, there are innumerable opportunities for association with friends, support of worthy causes, and individual expression of talents and interests.

The eighth great campaign for an ever-advancing Agnes Scott transformed the campus into a mock football contest, as the mighty Agnes Scott team battled against the Greenbacks toward the ultimate $1,500,000 goal. The entire college family lunched together at a spirited pep meeting in the colorfully decorated gym. The kick-off, signifying the beginning of the pledging, took place on the quadrangle, with representatives of the classes and the faculty in full gridiron regalia. Four days of intense competition followed in the effort to reach the mark set for the school and win the promised holiday. When the dust of battle had cleared, results proved the senior team in possession of the four anonymous $1000 prizes, the $20,000 goal met and doubled, and the college awarded a two-day vacation.

FREEMAN'S

DIAMONDS and...
Brides of the Southland...
Both famous for their beauty

Long ago brides made Freeman's famous for fine diamonds. This reputation multiplied by the years makes Freeman's diamonds traditional with brides of the Southland.

Today, as in long generations ago, we are ready to help you with comprehensive and leisured selection of a half-carat stone or a fifty-carat gem... or any ring, bracelet, watch or other diamond-adoraed jewelry.

For over sixty years Freeman's has sold only the finest in diamonds.

Have a Coca-Cola = Let's be friendly

... a way to win a welcome wherever you go

There's friendliness in the simple phrase Have a "Coke". It turns strangers into friends. In both hemispheres, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become the high-sign of the good-hearted.

Wedding Memories

THERE is no event in life quite so important as the wedding. As such it is deserving of all the dignified atmosphere with which it is surrounded, and every detail in its celebration is worthy of meticulous attention. Of these, none reflects more distinction than the quality and character of the wedding stationery. Stevens' genuine engraving and Crane's fine papers confer this distinction with that grace and assurance that comes from more than 60 years of producing fine engraved stationery.

LONG in the memory of the bride will be the happy recollection that her wedding cards were perfect in every detail, reflecting her own taste and personality. May we help you in this important feature of your wedding?
