—teacher, trainer, preceptor, instructor, director, master, coach, tutor, lecturer, reader, monitor, mentor, instructor, missionary, preacher, pioneer, guide, chalk talker, savant, governor, example—friends all.

JAMES ROSS McCAIN
President

Agnes Scott's president, Dr. James Ross McCain, is a true friend to the entire college community; for, in spite of the demands of his position as chief administrator of our college, he always seems to have time to take a personal interest in all occurrences and activities, great or small, which concern our campus. Dr. McCain's quiet dignity and friendly smile have endeared him to all who have had the opportunity and privilege of knowing him.

WALLACE McPHERSON ALSTON
Vice-President

Although this is only his second year on our campus, our popular vice-president, Dr. Alston, has gained the admiration and respect not only of those of us who are now at Agnes Scott, but also of those who have gone out from our college. The friendly interest which he shows in the individual student and her problems and his frequent visits with alumnae groups have made him well-known and liked by all.

SAMUEL GUERRY STUKES
Dean of the Faculty and Registrar

Dean Stukes is beloved by the entire campus because of his keen understanding of students' problems and his sincere desire to help each girl gain satisfaction and enjoyment in her life at Agnes Scott. Never too busy to discuss with us either academic or personal problems, Mr. Stukes always sends us away with a smile and a brighter outlook on life.

CARRIE SCANDRETT
Dean of Students

Agnes Scott's Dean of Students, Miss Carrie Scandrett, is a friend to every girl on campus. On our first day at college she impresses us with her poise and charm and with her desire to help each student make a place for herself in the life of the Agnes Scott Community. Throughout our college career she remains eager to give us aid and encouragement in all our undertakings.

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICES

J. C. TART
Business Manager-Treasurer

The administrative offices at Agnes Scott are characterized by a friendly efficiency which gets things done with a smile. In addition to the year in and year out job of managing the registration and record-keeping at the college, this year our administrators have had the task of bringing to completion Agnes Scott's eighth endowment campaign. The million dollar goal was not only reached; it was exceeded as the year 1949 drew to a close. We at Agnes Scott are proud of our very able administration and of the fine work which it is doing.

An inter-fraternity council dance, Dooley's Frolics, an opera, a weekend at home—these activities and many more keep the Dean's office in an exciting flurry of pink and white sign-out slips. The Dean's office is the center of campus social activities and the base-of-operations for all off-campus life, such as movie dates, all-star concerts, and the long-awaited vacation at home. In addition to being the center of social life, the Dean's staff performs such services as sending telegrams and ordering taxis. More intangible contributions to student life are the morale and encouragement given by the Dean's office and the help its staff provides in developing and smoothing out human relations on the campus.

The convenient location and the friendly atmosphere of the Dean's office easily make it the most popular place on campus, and its welcome to students and visitors alike is always a warm one.

THE LIBRARY STAFF

One of the beauty spots on the Agnes Scott campus is the library. This handsome building in the Collegiate Gothic style impresses us with its comfortable spaciousness and with its quiet and pleasant atmosphere. There are at present about fifty-four thousand volumes in the library, and the number is increasing every year. Under the direction of Miss Hanley and her very able staff, the library functions smoothly and fulfills admirably the need of the Agnes Scott community.

ENGLISH

The best in English literature from BEOWULF to modern poetry is offered by the English department, which seeks to instill in its students a deep appreciation of good literature. English is among the most popular subjects taught at Agnes Scott, for it is a source of inspiration which is not only rewarding during one's college days, but which provides for a fuller appreciation and enjoyment of life when college is over.

HISTORY

The history department, realizing the necessity of understanding the problems of our world today, offers a wide-spread survey of modern European history, more concentrated studies of specific countries, and analytical studies of political science. Not to be ignored are courses in the ancient histories of Greece and Rome, which have laid much of the foundation for our modern civilization.

LANGUAGES

"Now just one more potato chip won't hurt."

The departments of classical and modern languages offer a wide variety of courses designed to acquaint the student with the literature and life of peoples of other countries, both in times past and in times present. The members of these departments recognize the necessity of being familiar with the thought and customs in countries other than our own, if we would live wisely and well in a world which by virtue of scientific progress is ever decreasing in size.

Classroom instruction in these departments is supplemented by language clubs, which furnish an opportunity for more informal discussions on topics of interest; by record classes, which make for proficiency in speaking languages, and by the instructive and delightful language tables in the dining room.

MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE

The original "Agony Four" at the faculty Bacon Bat.

HENRY A. ROBINSON
Professor of Mathematics

Because of the ever increasing dependence of modern civilization on the discoveries and accomplishments of science, the mathematics and science departments at Agnes Scott have taken on added importance and popularity. The students find mathematics an aid to logical and orderly reasoning and an excellent companion subject to the study of the sciences. The science departments offer courses in astronomy, biology, chemistry, and physics. In these courses one finds emphasis on exactness of study. The laboratory experiments are both interesting and informative. The campus is eagerly awaiting the completion of the new observatory and the arrival of the telescope which is to be placed at Agnes Scott. We are also looking forward to the erection of the new science hall which will mark the expansion of the science departments.

The departments of philosophy, education and psychology are concerned particularly with the understanding and improvement of human life. The intense interest in philosophy, both ancient and modern, which the present age is experiencing makes this department one of the most important on campus. The psychology department opens many new vistas of human behaviour, enabling students better to understand themselves and others; and the department of education offers not only a substantial background in the development of education, but a splendid teacher training program so that its students may be equipped for passing on to others what they themselves have learned.

SOCIOLOGY AND ECONOMICS

MILDRED RUTHERFORD MELL
Professor of Economics and Sociology

ANNA GREENE SMITH
Associate Professor of Economics and Sociology

Courses offered by the department of sociology and economics give students a fuller and more comprehensive knowledge of how labor, management, and social conditions are affected by the financial and sociological conditions of the country. Both current theories and contemporary problems are discussed in sociology and economics classes in order that the student may have a better understanding of these theories and of their applications.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

MARGARET VANCE
Professor of Physical Education

Because of the belief that a sound body is as necessary to an Agnes Scott girl as is intellectual attainment, the physical education department carries the responsibility of helping to fulfill the third part of the Agnes Scott ideal—physical well-being.

There are carefully regulated classes in body mechanics, plus the swimming pool, badminton courts, and hockey field as splendid places for working off excess energy and clearing the cobwebs from tired minds.

Basketball, hockey, and volleyball offer opportunities for interclass competition and provide, besides excitement and friendly rivalry, a means for developing further class unity.

the 1950 SILHOUETTE

This year the members of the Silhouette staff have chosen to make the annual and all its features a tribute to our president, James Ross McCain. We want all the campus to be aware of the expansion and growth that have taken place at Agnes Scott during his long period of devoted leadership. Throughout this volume you will find evidence of the many changes and improvements which he has achieved as well as an impression of the enduring spirit which he has helped to preserve.

the AGNES SCOTT NEWS

How would we have ever known about all of those engaged seniors, which class won the game last Friday, and when the Webster players were coming for "The Taming of the Shrew" if it had not been for the NEWS? Wednesdays were red-letter days with the paper's thorough coverage of what had happened and what was going to happen on campus. Favorite features this year were Culture Corner, C. A. Halo, Play by Play, and a large number of excellent editorials. Those clever little cartoons, Aggie's Antics, had their share of campus approval, also. Agnes Scott has ample reason to be proud of the NEWS.

the AURORA

AURORA, a quarterly publication at Agnes Scott, is a literary magazine for student expression which seeks to integrate creative ability with the spirit of the college. In each of the three publications this year, students' creative expression has been related respectively to philosophy, to psychology, and to the literary genius of the ages.

Students are encouraged by AURORA to attempt expression of their ideas and to present for publication poetry, essays, short stories, book reviews, and literary criticisms. It is the purpose of AURORA, by this publication, to stimulate further creative writing on the campus. Students of art also have opportunity for creative expression on the cover of AURORA and in the illustrations for short stories and poems. This year members of the faculty joined students in contributing to AURORA theme articles for the three issues.

Three successful and original issues of AURORA have appeared this year under Frankie Howerton's capable leadership.

Jo-Anne Christopher was AURORA'S efficient business manager this year.

Student Government Association continues to set high standards and to help the student live more fully on her campus and in the larger community. Freshman Orientation, followed by a formal reception for all the campus community, initiated the program for the year. Class enthusiasm soared as the students vied to win Student Government's class spirit cup. This year, under Student Government's guidance, Agnes Scott became a member of the National Student Association, an organization which enables the campus to see what other students are doing throughout the nation.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

"Be aware . . . Care . . . Share—for the love of Christ constraineth us," is the theme around which Christian Association has centered its activities this year. A sincere effort has been made to interest each girl on campus in the part she must play as a Christian citizen of her community, nation, and world. Off-campus activities of service such as the work at the Negro Mission, Scottish Rite Hospital, YWCA Industrial Girls' Club, and various church day camps have been especially emphasized. A new project, leadership of Girl Scout Troops in the surrounding community, was begun this year.

Christian Association sponsored chapel and vesper programs on a Christian's position in politics, in society, and in government, and also a series of lectures on Christian courtship and marriage.

Religious Emphasis Week discussions and talks led by Dr. John Rustin, pastor of Mount Vernon Methodist Church in Washington, D. C., also were designed to add emphasis to the Christian Association theme of the year.

In an effort to interest freshmen in local churches, Christian Association sponsored Agnes Scott day at many of the churches in Atlanta and Decatur. The newcomers were welcomed also at C. A.'s Davy Jones party.

MORTAR BOARD

One of the most active and influential societies at Agnes Scott is Mortar Board, national honor society for college women. Each spring juniors who are outstanding in scholarship, leadership, and service are chosen for membership. Mortar Board's service and activities add much to our campus. Among its activities for this year have been the day student-faculty tea, the Junior Banquet, and, to help students after graduation, a forward-looking program including marriage classes and vocational guidance.

In 1931, HOASC, the honor society founded at Agnes

Scott in 1916, believing its ideals to be in harmony with those of Mortar Board, became a chapter of the national organization. The members strive to achieve its noble aim: "To provide for the cooperation between senior honor societies for women, to promote college loyalty, to advance the spirit of service and fellowship among university women, to maintain a high standard of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to stimulate and develop a finer type of college woman."

Election to Phi Beta Kappa is one of the highest honors that can come to an Agnes Scott girl. The purpose of this organization is to "recognize and encourage scholarship, friendship, and cultural interest." The qualifications for membership are high scholarship, liberal culture, and good character. "Only those students, moreover, whose work has been definitely liberal in nature shall be eligible for membership."

Agnes Scott's chapter, the Beta of Georgia chapter, was established twenty-four years ago. Our college was the one hundred and second institution and the ninth woman's college to receive this high honor.

SOCIAL STANDARDS

The main purpose of Social Standards is to promote gracious living on campus. This organization has served refreshments for the Cotillion Club dances this year, has given coffees, and joined Mortar Board in giving a New Year's party for the purpose of emphasizing more social activities on the campus. It is composed of a representative from each dormitory and one from each of the classes. It meets every week to discuss various aspects of social living on campus from dining room conditions to campus-wide dance activities. Miss Brantley has been its faculty adviser and an inspiration to all who have worked with her.

Chairman Jessie puts on the finishing touches. . .

Harriot Ann talks with James P. Warburg.

LECTURE ASSOCIATION

The purpose of Lecture Association is to bring to the campus persons outstanding in such fields as economics, international relations, poetry, art, and drama. Lecture Association has had a very interesting and inspiring series this year including a lecture by James P. Warburg during the fall quarter, Margaret Webster's Shakespeare Company in THE TAMING OF THE SHREW, Robert Frost's annual visit during the winter quarter and, finally, to conclude its series, H. S. Ede, a British art critic during the spring quarter. These lectures are open to the public as well as to the campus.

ETA SIGMA PHI

Eta Sigma Phi, national honorary classical fraternity, is composed of students who not only excel in the study of Latin and Greek, but who also strive to create an active interest in the classics throughout the campus and in nearby high schools. As a part of their program for this year, members of the Alpha Delta chapter at Agnes Scott presented a delightful Roman banquet which provided an opportunity for students to be entertained in true Roman style. During the Thursday afternoon club meetings, members enjoy stimulating discussions of Greek and Latin drama. To encourage proficiency in the study of Latin in local high schools, the organization annually awards a medal for excellence.

CHI BETA PHI

The Alpha Sigma chapter of Chi Beta Phi, national honorary scientific fraternity, has the distinction of being the first women's chapter in the national society. Since its establishment at Agnes Scott in 1933, the organization has sought to promote interest in scientific achievement by means of lectures, movies, and discussions. Programs for this year have featured as speakers alumnae of Agnes Scott who were members of Chi Beta Phi and who have maintained their scientific interest through occupation or further study. Membership eligibility is based on scholastic achievement and interest in science, and a key is awarded annually to the chapter's most outstanding member.

GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club, which is composed primarily of voice students, contributes a great deal to activities on and off the campus. This past fall quarter it gave its annual Christmas Carol Concert with the help of other choral organizations on campus. Winter quarter the Glee Club jointly presented with the Tech Glee Club the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta H. M. S. PINAFORE. During the spring quarter the most outstanding contribution of the Glee Club was the Spring Concert. In addition to these major activities throughout the entire year, the Glee Club has participated in Chapel programs and other services. The club has as its able director Mrs. Rebekah Clarke, who gives generously of her time and effort to Glee Club activities.

Officers: Charity Bennett, Secretary; Jean Osborne, President; Jeanne Kline, Vice President.

BLACKFRIARS

Blackfriars is the dramatic association on campus. New members are admitted on the basis of tryout. These tryouts are held twice a year: in the fall and early spring. Blackfriars is composed of two separate divisions—the acting staff and the technical staff. The acting members give two major productions each year. This fall they presented EASTWARD IN EDEN, the love story of Emily Dickinson. Each class represented in the club presents a one-act play sometime during the year. Once a year the technical members present independently a one-act play. In addition to the instruction received in acting, students learn to work with scenery, properties, lighting, make-up, costumes, and other backstage necessities.

Our director, Miss Roberta Winter.

Officers: Martha Weakley, Treasurer; Margie Major, Vice President; Margaret Hopkins, President; Mary Stubbs, Secretary.

PI ALPHA PHI

To encourage clear thinking and to promote interest in current affairs, Pi Alpha Phi was organized as the debating society at Agnes Scott College in 1922. Members acquire skill in argumentation through inter-club debates and discussions and by participation in the All-Southern Debate Tournament. A high light of the activities this year was the Oxford Debate in which Pi Alpha Phi members matched wits with the team from Oxford University over the question of government control of industry. The society was also represented in a round-table discussion at a meeting held at the University of Alabama.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The League of Women Voters, one of the newer organizations on campus, was established for the purpose of educating individual citizens to vote wisely and to strive for better government. Although the League at Agnes Scott is affiliated with the Georgia League of Women Voters, membership is open to students from all states. The organization encourages all women to participate actively and intelligently in their government by using their privilege of franchise and by closely observing state, national, and international policies.

All members of the student body are invited to join the International Relations Club. However, history majors are especially urged to join since one of the foremost purposes of this organization is to bring to the campus outside speakers informed on international affairs. As a member of the collegiate council of the United Nations, it sponsored the UN celebration held this year on the Agnes Scott campus. Another valuable service rendered by the club is the posting of headlines on the Current History bulletin board in the library.

The Bible Club is open to all students who are interested in Bible study. At its bi-monthly meetings the members, and anyone else who is interested, are afforded an opportunity for serious Bible study and discussion. The aim of this organization is to encourage deeper knowledge and consideration of the Bible and to develop more responsive Christian leadership. Outside speakers invited to the meetings aid in stimulating this interest.

POETRY CLUB

The purpose of this organization is to develop skill and interest in the writing of poetry. At the monthly meetings in the home of Miss Emma May Laney, the club sponsor, the members learn form of writing and how to give and take good criticism. Since the club encourages creative poetic writing, each member reads some of her own poetry at these meetings.

B. O. Z.

The purpose of the B.O.Z. is to encourage creative writing among the students. At its monthly meetings, held at the home of Miss Preston, the writer-members exchange well-guided criticism of their short stories, plays, essays, and sketches. Bi-annual try-outs determine membership.

FOLIO

To freshmen with creative ability and the desire to write, Folio Club offers membership. At informal meetings the aspiring young writers read and criticize each other's essays, short stories, poems, and plays. Every spring Folio Club publishes an anthology including each member's best work.

FRENCH CLUB

French Club was created to stimulate interest in and further the students' knowledge of the French language, literature, and life. At monthly meetings the girls gather to hear outside speakers, to see movies, and to participate in programs. Likewise, there is a club-sponsored table in the dining room at which only French is spoken, giving the students an opportunity to put their knowledge to practical use. Membership in the French Club is limited by tryout.

SPANISH CLUB

Spanish Club gives its members an opportunity to acquaint themselves with the everyday use of the Spanish language and with the ways of Spanish-speaking peoples. Membership in the club is open by tryout to girls who are interested in Spanish and who have studied it. At meetings which are held every month, outside speakers, discussions, and lectures are presented. By meeting socially with a group of girls who are interested in speaking this language, each member has an opportunity to improve her knowledge of Spanish.

GRANDDAUGHTERS

The Granddaughters' Club is an exclusive but informal organization composed only of the daughters of Agnes Scott Alumnae. The purpose of the club is to create and promote interest in the college among the students. A purely social organization, the club designs its meetings to provide entertainment for its members. Each year during fall quarter, the freshmen members are welcomed to the Granddaughters' Club at the annual weiner roast given at the Harrison Hut. In the past the group has had as an interesting project "baby sitting" during Alumnae meetings.

COTILLION CLUB

The Cotillion Club is an organization which promotes social life at Agnes Scott by its campus-wide dances, parties, and other smaller social gatherings for its members. One of the high-lights of fall quarter this year was the dance given by Cotillion Club for the freshmen and their dates. During the early part of January, Cotillion Club gave its annual dance for the entire campus. This year its Bubble Ball theme was effectively carried out with multi-color balloons suspended from the ceiling of the gym with spotlights from the balcony catching the rainbow hues.

Athletic association has always been an integral part of campus life. On the day of registration, the weary, impatient freshmen and their parents found a welcome open-house in Murphey Candler, with friendly members of A. A. board to make them feel at home. Soon after their arrival, freshmen found an opportunity to see Atlanta on the sight-seeing tour sponsored by A. A.

Early in the quarter the freshmen enjoyed an exciting scavenger hunt given by the association. The club was hostess this year to the Georgia Athletic Federation of College Women of which Barby Lawson was president. Students from colleges all over the state were entertained on campus.

The point system of athletic recognition was revised this year, and for the first time, letters were awarded for a given number of points accumulated during the years. White and purple sweaters with the Agnes Scott seal on them were sold by A. A.

This organization not only helps in developing interest in sports and physical well-being here on campus, but this year has gone to the Methodist Orphanage to help direct a sports program there.

Basketball, Agnes Scott's major winter quarter sport, is a game for friendly rivalry and incentive for raising class spirit. Every Friday afternoon the class teams compete, each team meeting every other one twice during the quarter. Everyone is invited to come and cheer her team

The Seniors captured first place in the swimming meet fall quarter with 48 points; the Freshmen and Sophomores were second and third respectively. The events were the back tandem, free-style relay, breast stroke-form, back crawl, front crawl, medley relay, and diving.

At regular Dolphin Club meetings members try to improve their form and efficiency in swimming and diving. They also originate and practice new routines. This year Dolphin Club participated in the swimming meet fall quarter; spring quarter they presented a water ballet in which they took the spectators on a "trip around the world." They presented a Viennese waltz, an American dance, a rhumba, a Parisian dance, and an oriental dance.

Each spring the number of enthusiastic golfers increases. The excursions to various clubs in Atlanta become more numerous. The Avondale and East Lake courses are the most popular. At other times beginners and advanced students alike practice teeing off on the campus hockey field. Each year tournaments are held in golf classes or among individual students.

The Outing Club encourages hikes and cook-outs. Not only does it sponsor these activities for its members, but it also encourages hiking as an individual activity.

This year its members enjoyed a hike and steak-fry. During fall quarter they prepared and served a picnic supper to the Georgia Athletic Federation of College Women convention held at Agnes Scott.

Outing club is rapidly growing in the scope of its activities. It hopes to include an annual overnight hike in its projects.

This year badminton seemed to interest more people than ever before. Membership of the club has doubled, and many players signed up for both the singles and the doubles tournaments during winter quarter.

Activities of the club are increasing. Every Wednesday night the entire campus is invited to come and bring guests to play badminton in the gymnasium. Joint games with Tech and Emory students were the closing event of the year.

Archery club, or as it is more formally known—the William Tell club, consists of nineteen accomplished archers who enjoy one of the favorite spring quarter sports. Freddie Hachtel heads the group as manager this year.

Each fall the club conducts a local tournament which was won this year by Camille Watson. Risse Rowe was the winner in the Junior Columbia Round. In the spring the club participates in a national tournament at which the highest scorer wins the Agnes Scott Archery Cup.

The group has added interest in modern interpretive dancing to its former concentration on the classical ballet. This club has grown considerably in size since its origin five years ago, and its annual production has now become a tradition on the campus.

PUSHIN'

The traditional high spot of fall quarter is Black Cat, which has a special charm for us all. In 1915 Dr. Sweet, a former physician of Agnes Scott, suggested this unique way to replace hazing of the freshmen. Good will, free-hearted competition, enthusiastic teamwork are the distinguishing marks Dreams come true for Helen, Mif, and June.

Lady of the moment, Sweet Sue.

BOOTS MEETS ATOMIE CAT

in this contest of wits and talent. On October 15, 1949, the Sophomores and Freshmen, supported by their sister classes, met for this annual duel. The Sophomores took the black cat to reign over Rebekah Scott Hall for 1950 only after a hard battle with the class of '53. Both sides, much to the enjoyment of the audience, showed originality in their skits, sang lively songs, and displayed enthusiasm and class spirit. The Sophomores chose a fairy tale, "Pushin' Boots", to enact, and the Freshmen did a take-off on the comic side of current events in their play, "Atomie Cat". For a whole quarter after the occasion, part of the celestial decorations remained in the gym as a starry reminder of the big event.

A party at the Dickinsons'—poised, proper, and poetic.

Eastward In Eden

The oldest organized club on the campus is our dramatic group, the Blackfriars. Under the direction of Miss Roberta Winter they present a variety of plays and dramas each year. In addition to acting, the students belonging to Blackfriars work with scenery, properties, lighting, make-up, costumes, and other stage necessities. The admirable results are productions such as the one portrayed here.

Behind the scenes . . .

The Blackfriars' production, "Eastward in Eden", was an important event of November 23 and 24. It was primarily a character study of the poet, Emily Dickinson, and of her life. The dialogue was unusual, for it was poetic rather than dramatic, and the costumes were of mid-nineteenth century fashion. Sally Jackson and Margaret Hopkins played the role of Miss Dickinson on alternate nights, and they had an interesting and talented supporting cast. The group is known for its ability to please and the production was thoroughly enjoyed by the campus community and many visitors.

BONNIE

Aye! The Bonnie Briar Tavern was a very gay place. All the lads and lassies came for the crowning of the queen. Sure the bagpipes played and all the hearts were light. Soon 'twas Bonnie Annie Laurie" who made her appearance, and 'twas Mary Beth Robinson of the Freshman Class.

Junior Joint of 1950 at Agnes Scott was a great success. It upholds tradition here. Junior Joint was, in years gone by, "Mardi Gras", sponsored by the Junior Class with colorful floats for participation. Now, times have changed and each class contributes as its participation a stunt or skit. All other entertainment is taken care of by the Junior Class.

"It's a grand night for swinging upon the stars above . . ." when Heidi, the pretty Senioropolitan star, thinks George A. Tech is in love with her. Complications arise when Countess Barbarossa comes to the Wunda Bar Inn, but all's well when Heidi decides she loves Hans, her Swiss sweetheart, after all. Many comic characters appear before the happy ending. From the "dish rag" song of the waitresses to the antics of "a couple of swells", all is hilarious variety. The bright costumes and realistic scenery add much to the total effect. Music from many well known operas as well as from popular nonsense songs is arranged especially for the Heidi orchestra, and all the words are original. Yes! With all the marriage day revelry—the foaming goat's milk and the jubilant wedding guests—"it's really a glorious day".

The idea for the first mock opera on campus originated with a stunt given by the dramatic group in 1913. At that time the production was a "free-for-all" and not exclusively a senior performance as it is now. The first opera was "Madame Buttermilk", and some others of early years were "Do, He Grins", "Car Men", and "The Frying Dutchman". Gradually, it has become a tradition that this activity be the last contribution by the seniors. There is a touch of sadness as the final curtain closes, for the bonds of friendship in the class, close as they have been during work and play together for four years, have become even closer during the weeks of practice, cooperation, and fun involved in putting on Senior Opera.

THE NET

A SEA LEGEND BY ELIZA POLLARD

May Day! And to entertain the 1950 queen and her court is a sea legend, complete with waves and sea creatures. As usual, the out-of-door finery gives the spectators the full import of spring. The scene is Ammett-By-The-Sea. Carla, a pretty village lass, intrigued by the strange beauty of the sea, is caught in it. Paul, her sweetheart, attempts to rescue her and is also trapped. They would have been prisoners of the waves and the spirit of the sea forever had not the villagers come out to fish. The two are rescued in Paul's fishing net, and the scenario comes to a happy conclusion.

The first May Day performance at Agnes Scott was a simple affair in 1903, but the tradition actually began in 1913 and was sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. Students have always done the planning and costuming in cooperation with the physical education department. At first, spoken lines and choruses were the dominant interest. In 1930 more pageantry and dancing were added, and this, now, has completely replaced the lines and songs. We emerge this year with a legend that even excludes the May Pole Dance in favor of the undersea mysteries.

WEDDING MEMORIES

There is no event in life quite so important as the wedding. As such it deserves the dignified atmosphere with which it is surrounded, and every detail in its celebration is worthy of meticulous attention. Of these, none reflects more distinction than the quality and character of the wedding stationery. STEVENS' genuine engraving and CRANE'S fine papers confer this distinction with that grace and assurance that comes from that 75 years of producing fine engraved stationery.

Long in the memory of the bride will be the happy recollection that her wedding cards were perfect in every detail, reflecting her own taste and personality. May we help you in this important feature of your wedding?
