GREETINGS

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE is beautifully situated on one side of the Georgia Railroad (see Genesis 1:25), whose trains have a remarkably regular schedule, never in all the glorious history of the institution having once failed to pass during prayers, chapel, or song recital. The campus is quite unique among campuses. It is adorned with green trees, grass which one must not tread upon in the spring and twelve imposing buildings.

The first building to meet one's eye after one has undergone the terrors of the underpass is a large structure made of red brick topped by the famous tower which one may not ascend in body, but which has nevertheless made many a Freshman's spirit soar into the realms of poetry. The effect of the whole is sufficiently impressive to render this building worthy to contain the "powers that be," the telephone and several of the torture chambers. Above these, for two stories, people live and still higher up they sing and paint. When Miss Hopkins makes an announcement she calls the place "Agnes Scott Hall," but we ourselves can never picture it by any other name than "Main Building."

Hung to one side of this construction by means of the far-famed colonnade is that superficial adjunct of Higher Learning—a place to eat and sleep—Rebekah Scott Hall. It is piously constructed in the form of a cross, with dainty little Juliet balconies really meant to be fire-escapes, hung to the sides. On the ground floor is the great assembly hall of the multitude when they sing songs and pray prayers—the chapel. There are the Society halls, where you have to sing for twelve days in two weeks and then one night you listen to debates.

SIR GAWAYN AND ÞE GRENE KNYȒT

"a year passes full swiftly,
and never yields similar events,
the beginning to the end full seldom follows course."
"sir gawain and the green knight" love is not love, which alters when it alteration finds... --shakespeare as a part of nature mankind is cyclical, but each individual life is not. perhaps the nightingale can achieve genetic eternity, but each man is too differentiated from his fellows to do so. thus we can see a man as an arrow, moving forward in the temporal dimension within the cyclical gyres of nature.

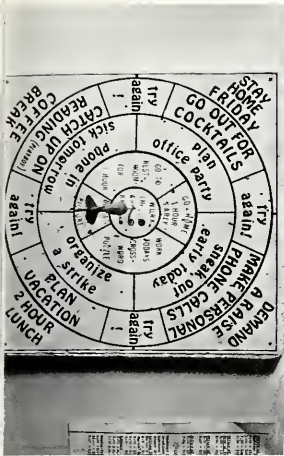

it was but yesterday i thought myself a fragment quivering without rhythm in the sphere of life.

now i know that i am the sphere, and all life in rhythmic fragments moves within me.--gibran

little fly,
thy summer's play
my thoughtless hand
has brush'd away.

am not i
a fly like thee?
or art not thou
a man like me?

for i dance,
and drink, & sing,
till some blind hand
shall brush my wing.

if thought is life
and strength & breath,
and the want
of thought is death;

then am i
a happy fly,
if i live
or if i die. --william blake and a woman protested saying, "of course it righteous war, my son fell in it." -gibran

a human intimacy--free from the earth, but blessing the earth.--hammarskjöld there is a space between man's imagination and man's attainment that may only be traversed by his longing. --gibran solitude is a silent storm that breaks down all our dead branches;

...yet it sends our living roots deeper into the living heart of the living earth.--gibran and the people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play.--exodus 32:6

auliflower is nothing but cabbage with a college education--twain man's uniqueness lies in the faculty of his reason-- this is the differentiating factor.

and gladly wolde he lerne, and gladly/teche. --chaucer

at such is the irresistible nature of truth at all it asks and wants, is the liberty of appearing.--paine across the morning sky all the birds are leaving oh, how can they know it's time for them to go?

before the winter fire, we'll still be dreaming, i do not count the time, who knows where the time goes? --judy collins in alternating bells have you not heard all hours clapped dense into a single stride?

forgive me for an echo of these things and let us walk through time with equal pride.--hart crane

why is it that everyone loves farewell songs, but hates farewells?

tom paxton

who hasn't written about time and change? maybe that's why we chose that theme-- of time passing, for this book. we've tried to capture the little things that make up a changing year...any year...this year in particular. perhaps your busy days did not allow you time to see them yourself, or maybe these pictures will help you to remember. the flowers, the seasons, will alter only slightly in their recurring pattern, but the people, the time will never be the same. this book is a record of the people of agnes scott as they are now... or were then. we would like to thank all of you whose help and enthusiasm made the book, especially the senior section, possible.

very special thanks to eric lewis of morgan studios for his countless hours of assistance, and his unfailing patience.

-and thanks forever to ruthie, jamie, and lucy for their help and encouragement.

... and as the day ends , it begins .
