Dr. W. M. Anderson Speaks to Students On Vital Topics

Eminent Minister Delivers Inspirational Talks to College Community.

Dr. W. M. Anderson, of Dallas, Texas, speaks here this week-February third through the seventh-in the chapel from nine forty-five until ten thirty. He is speaking at the Druid Hills Presbyterian church at night. The college community welcomes him as his coming has been looked forward to for some time.

Dr. Anderson is not only one of the leading but one of the youngest church. He is pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Dallas, one of the largest in the South. Not only is he head of the men's work in this denomination but he is also a member of the principal committees. He is regarded as a "man's man"-a compliment worthy of any man-but he appeals to women equally as much. The Cabinet requested that he be invited because they felt he had a special appeal to college girls and we are indeed fortunate in having him with us this cause he discusses in a practical way the Presbyterian church. the everyday problems that college girls have to face. He spoke Tuesday Citizenship Institute on "How I Know the Bible is the Word of God"-a subject that is of vital interest to everyone today. His subjects for the rest of this week are: "Who is Jesus Christ?" "What is Faith and How Does it Work?" "How to Get Saved" and on Saturday he will end his Dr. Anderson speak and looks forward to having him with us again.

Students Hear Pianist's Program

Paderewski Includes Atlanta on Farewell Tour.

On Tuesday evening, February 3, the music-lovers of Atlanta and its vicinity were privileged to hear the worldrenowned pianist, Ignace Jan Paderew-America. He has been to the world not only one of the foremost musicians of all times, but also a statesman of note who gave unstintingly of himself to his homeland, Poland.

ness and solidity of content character- Civil Service. Other speakers will inistic of Paderewski and some modern, but not modernistic numbers from Debussy and Rachmaninoff. The pianist revealed the very soul of Poland in his rendering of Chapin's nationalistic Sonata in B Minor and his nocturne in E Flat, Mazurkas and Etude in A Minor. The Brahms and Beethoven numbers were the pieces de resistance of the evening.

Several parties of Agnes Scott girls attended the program and were greatly impressed and delighted by the remarkable technique and facility of expression of the world's leading pianist, Paderewski.

Many to Attend Missionary Conf.

Splendid Program Planned for World-Wide Congress.

All roads will lead to Chattanooga February 16, to the Congress of World Missions which will gather the whole study of foreign mission work. As the world. Each educational institution in the assembly is entitled to a certain number of delegates, and Agnes Scott, also, will be represented.

principles-research, conference, and a successful close. inspiration. As for research, there will be commissions headed by such prominent people as Dr. Walter L. Lingle, questionnaire brought out the follow- as judges. Dr. D. W. Richardson, Dr. W. M. Anderson (who is now speaking to us) and Dr. W. T. Thompson. There will be conferences and discussions on the reports of these commissions. Dr. Robert E. Speer will be the great in- voted for repeal, and 23 endorsed rigid spirational leader.

It is hoped, therefore, that both in

Held at Emory

Invitation Extended to A. S. Faculty and Students.

The fourth annual session of the Atseries of talks by speaking on "The lanta Institute of Citizenship will be lows: The Sixth Annual Congress Challenge of Christ." The college held at Emory University February deplores the subsidizing of college community will profit much by having 10-13. Problems of national, international, and local affairs will be discussed and a cordial invitation has been extended to the members of the Agnes Scott faculty and student body who are interested, to attend the lectures and participate in the round tables.

Hon. Thomas W. Gregory, formerly Attorney-General of the United States; Professor Francis Deak, of Columbia University, and Dr. Manley O. Hudson, lanta was most enjoyable—the stuof the Harvard Law School will be the ski, on his farewell tour throughout principal speakers on foreign affairs. Dr. John Landesco, of the University of Chicago, will speak on law enforcement; Dr. W. W. Alexander will speak on race relations; Miss Jessie Dell will The program combined the great- discuss phases of the United States clude: Mr. W. D. Anderson, Hon. Richard B. Russell, Jr., Hon. R. C. Norman, Judge A. O. Park, and Dr. H. J. Pearce,

New Schedule Feb. 3-7

Schedule of classes from February

3rd through February 7th: 7:55 8:55 7:55 8:50 8:50 9:45 8:55 9:55 9:55 10:30* 9:45 10:40* 10:30 11:30 10:40 11:35 11:30 12:30 11:35 12:30

*Chapel. Afternoon classes the same as usual. to hear Miss Neely.

N. S. F. A. Congress Meets at Ga. Tech And Agnes Scott Cup to Be Awarded for Best Delegates Discuss and Decide on National Student Problems.

Presbyterian church for an earnest National Student Federation was held in Atlanta, Ga., December 29 to Janustudents, we should be interested in ary 2, with Georgia Tech and Agnes discharging as speedily as possible our Scott as hosts. More than 250 stuobligations for the evangelization of dents leaders from approximately 175 which should be the organ of the eninstitutions, brought the registration tire student body. to the highest point ever at the Con-

Ed R. Morrow, president of N. S. F. The programme of the conference A., who was reelected to serve next preachers in the Southern Presbyterian will be built around three distinct year, skillfully carried the congress to > ing: 57 thought college drinking inmodification of the prohibition law, 38 enforcement.

To the question "Is there any fundasize and in significance it may be the mental difference between the so-called whose paper most nearly fulfills the His talks are very interesting be- greatest gathering in the history of platforms of the two major political standards. parties," 71 answered "no," 33 "yes." The questionnaire further brought Health Week out the student leaders' favor of the United States taking an active leader ship in world disarmament.

> The main campus problem discussed was collegiate athletics, the discussion being led by Earl Dunlap, captain of Tech's 1930 football team. The resolution after this discussion were as folathletes; That it go on record as favoring the award of scholarships, regardless of participation in extra-curricular activities; That the Congress empower its officials to make a thorough investigation of staging a nation-wide conference of college presidents, coaches, and student leaders on Commercialist and Professional in College Athletics.

> After many heated discussions the congress agreed to meet in 1931 at the University of Toledo. The stay in Atdents were delighted with Southern

Miss Neely Tells Of Jr. Year Abroad

Members of French Club Enjoy Talk and Slides.

Monday afternoon, February 2, Miss Rachel Neely, of Atlanta, gave a very interesting talk to the French Club Neely is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Smith College, and she spent her Junior year at Paris with the Smith group. Before her talk, Marjorie Beilfuss told the club about the new $400,-Usual Schedule Feb. 3rd through 7th 000 building for the use of American the faculty advisors entertained their inquire into their personal habits for

Agonistic Sponsors Class Contest

Issue of Paper.

Every spring the Agonistic sponsors a contest in which each class competes. The Sixth Annual Congress of the The purpose is three-fold: to raise the standards of journalism on the campus; to discover unrevealed talent in business as well as editorial lines; and to stimulate interest in the paper

Each class shall submit an issue, not more than six pages in length, which shall be judged on the basis of: (1) journalism and literary quality, (2) originality, (3) appearance and makeup, (4) accuracy. Prominent journal-Prohibition, tariff, disarmament, and ists in Atlanta and two members of campus problems were discussed. A our faculty have been asked to serve

It is hoped that the classes will cocreasing, 47 thought it remaining operate to the fullest extent with the stationary, 16 decreasing; 66 favored staffs which they have elected and that series of excellent speakers. Agnes in excellence those which have appeared in the past. After the Freshman issue has been printed on March 4, a silver cup will be awarded to the class

Begins Feb. 9

Interesting Events To Be Staged Then.

ticipation, the Annual Health Week is charge of two dollars is being made all but on us. Next Tuesday morning for single admission fees to those who in chapel the awarding of the cake to do not hold these tickets. The stuthe dormitory or cottage which has dents are being requested by the Lecmade the best percent in the health ture Association to advise their friends contest will officially start this year's in the vicinity of this unusual oppor-Health Week. The events scheduled tunity. for the four days promise to afford good entertainment for all. On Wednesday morning one of the sports writers of the Atlanta Journal is to talk in chapel. Thursday is set aside for the inter-dormitory basketball Healthiest Dormitory to Rebattle for the Brown Jug, won last year by the inmates of Rebekah. The preliminary games will be in the afternoon, as before, and the finals will be played at seven o'clock. On Friday evening comes the crowning event of the week-the selection of Miss Health. Candidates from all the classes and organizations will parade around the gym to the music of the A. P. D. C orchestra, and the judges will award the silver cup, won last year by Laura Spivey, to her who most nearly attains perfection in weight, posture, and general health. It is to be hoped that by the end of the cake contest and about the "Junior year abroad." Miss Health Week we will all indeed be "Healthy Hottentots."

Faculty Advisers Entertain

students, that was dedicated recently Freshman advisers at tea from five un- the day, and marks them accordingly in Paris, and slides showing views of til six o'clock. These pleasant social on her chart. But picture her woebethis new building illustrated her talk. hours, it has been found, have done gone countenance if, after all her ef-A number of people outside of the much to prove that faculty and stu- forts, your dormitory did not secure club membership attended the meeting dents have common ground other than the coveted cake. Have pity on her, the classroom.

Admiral Byrd To Give Lecture Here Feb. 26

Explorer to Show Exclusive Moving Pictures of the Polar Expedition.

Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd, world-renowned explorer and conqueror of the north and south poles, will lecture in the Bucher Scott Gymnasium Thursday afternoon, February 26, at 2:30 o'clock.

Genuine moving pictures of his flight over Antarctic wastes to the south pole will be used to illustrate Admiral Byrd's lecture. Of especial interest is the fact that these pictures are not those recently shown in theatres. They are presented exclusively at Byrd's lectures and have never before been seen in this section.

In bringing Admiral Byrd to Agnes Scott the Lecture Association will bring to a most successful close its the issues of the paper will surpass Scott and the many friends who will attend are being given one of the greatest opportunities to hear a very famous personnage relate and illustrate his enthralling experiences on the rim of the earth. To have so prominent an American at Agnes Scott is indeed a reflection of the untiring efforts of the Lecture Association Committee and of the excellent co-operation of the college administration

Season tickets, which have been used for the three preceding lectures, After lo! these many months of an- will be good for Admiral Byrd's. A

Athletic Ass'n. Offers Cake

ceive Prize.

On Saturday, January 17—back in the dim and blissful past before exams -the Cakespearean Players presented a drama with a moral; the moral, for the benefit of those-who-are-slow-tocatch-on, was that lots of sleep, regular meals, fruit and exercise line the path of roses to straight A's on all exams. The Athletic Association, desirous of raising the scholastic standing of our Alma Mater, went so far as to offer a cake to the cottage or dormitory which, during the ensuing three weeks, could attain the best average for all its occupants getting seven hours of sleep nightly and three meals, a piece of fruit and half an hour's brisk exercise daily. This explains the harassed expression of one girl on each On Tuesday afternoon, February 3, hall as she tracks down her charges to and "do your darndest."

The Agonistic

Subscription Price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single Copies, 5 cents.

Published weekly. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF

Editor	Julia Thompson
Assistant Editor	Betty Bonham
Feature Editor	Katherine Morrow
Society Editor	Lucile Woodbury
Exchange Editor	Elizabeth Lightcap
Athletic Editor	Sarah Bowman
Alumnae Editor	Julia Grimmett
Club Editor	Bessie Meade Friend
Joke Editor	Kitty Purdie
Giddy Gossip	Caroline Lingle

MANAGEMENT

Business Manager	Jeanette Shaw
Advertising Manager	Mildred Duncan
Circulation Manager	Christian Henderson
Assistant Circulation Manager	Marian Lee

REPORTERS FOR THIS ISSUE

Gilchrist Powell Lila Norfleet Martha Eskridge Marjorie Daniel Mary Miller Carolyn Heyman

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

Officially the new year arrived on January 1, but it is just dawning at Agnes Scott. Peace has descended upon the campus listened to his instruction, to impart after the hectic examination period which ended with a flourish the first semester The past mistakes have been washed from the slate teaching, and to reveal the marvels of which now lies unblemished for us to make of it what we will.

Almost all of us have formulated in our minds a few resolutions which we intend to keep. We will read our parallel in Bible beville county. His sincere passion for and Sociology long before the end of the semester. We are determined to be up-to-date in our American Literature assignments. The time will not slip up on us during this semester and find us quent assertion that the world knows sadly behind, frantically trying to scan through hundreds of pages and grasp the gist of the author's meaning. We will be prepared for any emergency. Such resolutions have become mere commonplace statements, so often have they been repeated and forgotten.

We may well resolve to improve in our search for knowledge, but let us also go farther afield and look towards other badly needed

It seems strange that we are willing to give liberally of our means for the erection of well-equipped buildings and the beautifying of the campus; yet we persist in our defacement of the very objects towards which we have been working. There appears to be an over-supply of intractable pens which write only when they are violently shaken. It is possible, however, to substitute as objects for the attack blotters instead of the walls and floors of Buttrick Hall. Other pens are prone to run out of ink. For emergencies of that variety the administration has furnished ink in the maid's office and in the various classrooms. Individual ink bottles, therefore, are considered quite out of place in the new building. Some people find it necessary to scratch violently at 18. some surface in order to concentrate. Theme paper serves the purpose just as well as the arms of the chairs. We are not purposely destructive, we are merely thoughtless. As intelligent college students, however, it is our duty to be thoughtful.

A problem on the campus, one which is giving the administration great concern is the matter of chapel attendance. The college rules call for compulsory attendance, but during the presidency of Dr. McCain the trustees have allowed us the freedom of attending when we desire. The results have been alarming, and the situation has become critical. When speakers of note are brought to the campus, the administration is embarrassed at the mere handful of students present. We as students definitely miss something when we fail to take advantage of the inspiration and the information derived from regular attendance at the chapel service. Unless we do something to remedy the situation, stringent are now living in Swansea, S. C. measures may be taken. Regular chapel attendance is a habit, and a very good one to form. Let us make it and keep it.

Resolutions are mere air unless they are backed by will power We can keep up with our academic work and derive real satisfaction from it; we can refrain from marring our new building and enjoy its beauty; we can attend chapel regularly and receive worth-while benefits from it. We will.

Tribute Paid to Dr. J. I. McCain

John I. McCain

(The following deserved tribute to Dr. J. I. McCain is from the pen of Hon. Luther Harrison and appeared in the Daily Oklahoman. Mr. Harrison was once a student of Dr. McCain in Erskine College and like hundreds of others entertains for him feelings of pert; and William T. Foster, chairman highest respect and deepest affection).

"Judged by the standards of swollen wealth and world reputation, just another failure ended this life when John I. McCain of South Carolina died on the morning following Christmas from Europe engaging in verbal comday. For this man, who for 49 years but with the orators of American coltaught English literature to the stu- leges and Universities during the fall hibition games for the unemployed, dents of Erskine college, died a poor of 1931. For the first time in the hisman, and in the national sense he died tory of international debating the Naobscure. Only his neighbors in the Piedmont section and a few thousand from Holland will also make its debut students of two generations knew his in American forensics. fame. Scholars sometimes pronounced south of Princeton,' but the verdict of English students. December 20th, 1930, opulence and fame.

almost half a century were of his own state in the Union. choosing. Offer after offer of more money and a wider sphere came to him, but they never tempted him. He chose to give his life to the little college of the Covenanters and to the few score students who annually sat in wonder at his feet. Long ago he saw in his humble position the opportunity to mould the character of those who the soul-glow which made his own soul so beautiful to those who heard his our mother tongue to the fortunate sons of perhaps 20 states who foregathered at the modest school in Abmaking men silenced the call to high position and large remuneration.

"We may refuse to accept the frenothing of its greatest men. But widey scattered through many states and several different nations are those who regarded this departed Erskine inknew. In Oklahoma there are fewer than a half dozen alumni of Erskine college, but each of these when asked to name the finest soul he ever met will name without any hesitation the English master of his college days. thinking of the stainless son of the Mary-mother will also think of John I. McCain." - The Associate Reformed

Alumnae News

Helen Ridley, '29; Martha Riley Selman, '29; Mary Ray Dobyns, '28, and Mary Nel Logan, '29, spent last weekend on the campus.

Marian (Hodges) Anthony, '29, of Decatur, has a daughter born January Marian Green, '29, was married to Mr. John D. Johnson, of Nashville, Tenn., the early part of January.

The engagement of Miriam Battle, ex-'29, to Mr. Henry George Palmer, of Atlanta, has been announced.

Hermenia (Weill) Hohenstein, ex-29, has a young son, Charles, Jr.

Miriam (Broach) Jordan, '29, risiting in Atlanta.

Joe Smith, '30, is spending a few days on the campus with Marguerite

A young son was born December 17 to Isabel (Wilson) Avery, ex-'29.

Catherine Kirkland, '29, was married to Mr. George Frederick Geiger, of Columbia, S. C., on December 5. They

Louise Brewer, '30, is secretary to the Professor of Aereonautics of Geor-

Polly Irvine, '30, is in New York visiting her sister, Mae Erskine Irvine Fowler, '27.

Helen Jackson, ex-'32, of Atlanta, was married to Mr. Charles J. Hoffman in Anderson, S. C.

N.S.F.A. News

To Advise American Students

Three new members have been added to the imposing list of prominent national and international figures who advise and sponsor the National Student Federation of America. Dr. Henry Noble McCracken, president of Vassar College; Ivy Lee, public relations exof the Pollak Foundation for Economic Research, are the new members chosen by the Federation.

The Turks Are Coming

There will be four debating teams tional Student Federation of America will present a Turkish team. A team

The Federation will again sponsor him 'the greatest English teacher and direct teams for two groups of tions is suggested by Ralph Dinger of concluded the series of international scholars went unnoted in that busy debates conducted under the auspices forum where harsher souls fight for of the National Student Federation. Teams from England, Germany and "The quiet village and the elm-shad- Scotland engaged in a total of 110 de- years, but by the slow gnawing effects ed campus where Doctor McCain spent bates with colleges located in every of unbalanced business, and unbal-

Business People Work More Than College Students

The Southern Methodist University paper shows that under-graduates spend about 201 out of 365 days, or 55 per cent of the year in the class-room, and a minimum of perhaps 45 hours a week in actual study, where the aver-springlike lately that pretty soon, we'll consumer's purchasing power during all be thinking of doing a bit of "spring cleaning"! When we're clearing our rooms of all the winter clutter (inday! I'll bring the book back bright active, a more vigorous student body." and early in the morning" or "when One of the most practical suggesput up this spring!

The Book Shelf

And by the way, when you take

(Continued on page 4)

Student Editors On Unemployment

Assuming that student interest in the current problem of unemployment is decidedly lacking, many student editors have prefaced their articles submitted to the N. S. F. A. Editorial Board this week with strong sentences of protest against the apathy of the American student.

"Unemployment to college students is dry, uninteresting economics," says William Kimes of the Pacific Weekly. "The topic of conversation just at this time is football." But, it is suggested in another editorial that "if enough college football teams would play exthe savings of the rich would be pleasantly extracted and distributed to meet the needs of the unemployed."

A general recognition of the fact that the present depression is the result of years of accumulating condithe Muhlenberg Weekly: "The unemployment situation was brought here because of certain specific causes; and it was brought about not by the workings of three months, nor even three anced production."

When the writers seek solutions, it seems a bit more difficult. Harry Fordam of the Lake Forest Stentor finds that "as we look for potential outlets for our surplus goods we are struck with the fact that a wider market is not only a geographical but an actual impossibility." Nine editors insist that there is no solution to the problem after it has once come upon us, and that it is necessary to let depression run its course, preparing meanwhile, to avert another by pro-The weather has been so mild and viding for a practical distribution of "good times."

In evaluating the problem, Fred Nichol of the Yankton College Stucluding class notes of the studies we so dent says: "America has a problem fortunately passed last semester!) let's on her hands which equals that of an remind ourselves to look for any armed conflict. There is a patriotism chance library books that we may have of peace as well as of war." We now taken out and forgotten to return. face a "call not only for the solution Sometimes, we do take them out, with- of a great business depression, which out leaving the green card at the desk; has swept the United States but also tructor as the greatest man they ever thinking: "Oh, well, I'm in a hurry to- a call for a more enlightened, a more the fourteen days are up!" Maybe we tions made comes from Robert Cullum remember to do this, but-maybe we of the Albion College Pleiad, who forget! So while the trees are getting says: "A very vital approach would be new leaves, let's turn over new leaves the gathering of adequate statistics And somehow each of them when ourselves, and when we dust out our concerning the situation by student wardrobes remember to look for those volunteers. The inadequacy of govbooks we may have forgotten to re- ernment statistics on unemployment is turn to the library. For the library generally recognized, and it is imneeds its books just as much as your possible to intelligently effect the window needs the bright, freshly laun- cure of any disease adequately withdered curtains that you are going to out a fundamental understanding of the nature of that disease

> Meanwhile, William Trufaunt Fosthose books back to the library, be sure ter writes in the McClure Newspaper and stop by the Book Shelf to the columns, "Our present leaders offer left of the main desk. It is just us a confusion of conflicting ideas. loaded with fascinating books of all They are consistent only in their intypes-books that will not only serve consistencies. The whole world cries as splendid parallels for some of out, trumpet tongued, for a new your courses, but will also prove inter- leadership."-N. S. F. A. News Service.

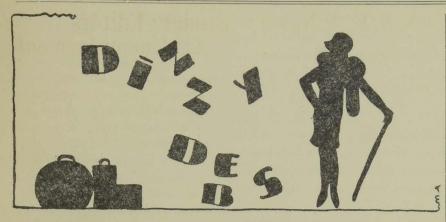

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

Decatur Ga.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities.

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

They may say "there's no rest for the weary," but the weary Hottentots certainly found something for diversion last week. With eyes dark-circled, several pounds thinner and a few streaks of "silver among the gold" (and these only the visible results of exams) they scattered like thistledown last week-end to the-well, I could hardly say the four corners of the globe-but at least to the four corners of Georgia and round about. It was like a war or something—as fast as each one got "struck out" she was carried away! So we certainly last week at her home in Fort Valley, have to hand it to exams for furnishing weary Agnes Scotters a little time for bigger and better social activities. And here's how they spent that muchtalked-of "leisure time":

Hickson spent the week-end in Mont- from an appendicitis operation, return- extreme ones with nonchalant cubes gomery, Ala.

Willa Upchurch and Markie Mowry at Willa's home.

Baby Watson spent the week-end at her home in Opelika, Ga.

and Natilu McKinney were guests at Auburn for the mid-term dances.

Jo Smith, '30, has been the guest of Marguerite Gerard during the past

Lib Moore spent last week at her home in Spartanburg, S. C.

Floyd Foster and Louise Wise were Betsy Thompson's guests in Madison, Ga., for several days last week.

Mary and Anne Hudmon spent the week-end at their home in Sylvania,

Anne McCallie and Margaret Bell spent the week-end in Chattanooga,

L. CHAJAGE Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

Bright Colors

are chosen for Spring Suits

the modest price of-

Second Floor

Shades of blue are among the preferred —particularly skipper and marine. The greens in light fresh shades, tans and black and white combinations. The suits are ensemble styles with skirt, coat and matching blouse—or jacket suits with finger tip or short coats. The materials are basket weave and tweed effects.

Allen's present a select group of suits at

J. P. Allen & Co.

Sara Strickland spent the week-end with her father in Concord, Ga.

Marie Whittle and Betty Cobb attended the dances at Mercer last week-end.

Helen Duke spent several days last week at her home in Fort Valley, Ga.

Betty Bonham and Martha Logan spent several days last week in Birmingham, Ala.

Louise Farley and Joe Clark, who will be remembered as former students here, have returned for the second

Lib Woolfolk spent several days of Johnnie Turner spent last week at her home in Jefferson, Ga.

Cecile Mayer spent the week-end in Chattanooga with her aunt.

Eve Hill, who has been at her home Margaret Malloy and Elizabeth in San Antonio, Texas, recovering ed to school last week.

spent the week-end in Columbus, Ga., spent last week-end in Alexander City, art of formalism, however, there are institute with a wide reputation. In Ala.

King Memorial Hospital in Selma, nosegay. Blanche Lindsey, Louella Dearing Ala., where she is convalescing very wood, Tenn.

Natilu McKinney and "Fuzzy"

Brownie Nash spent the week-end at her home in Winston-Salem, N. C.

Columbus, Ga.

n Atlanta with her aunt.

Mattie Lou Mason spent the week end at her home in Madison, Ga.

Greensboro, Ga. Fannie Willis Niles spent several days last week in Griffin, Ga.

Mary Upshaw Jones and Plant Ellis Upshaw's aunt.

with Hazel's family.

Latest Styles In Age-Old Valentines

"Roses are red, violets are blue," said the lacy Valentines in the days when you addressed one to yourself and slipped it in the box at school, in case nobody had remembered you. And today, gay cards, still tell the "old old story," but in an attractive new way, for the 1931 Valentines are truly irresistible. There are lovely Godey prints, precisely dated, as well as exquisite reproductions of Currier and Ives prints in new small sizes. Then there are those in keeping with the traditional spirit of the day: silhouettes with a line-drawn lace border, old-fashioned gardens. These designs, instead of being done in the long-popular red, are in a variety of pastels suggestive of Watteau, and the lettering is in gold. Other cards in the "oldtime manner" show ship motifs, which for the first time are appearing as appropriate Valentine decorations. Some of these cards, which picture old clipper ships and galleons, show still another variation of the lace-paper framing by surrounding the picture with grand!"

As for modernistic Valentines, the and bizarre colors have practically dis-

Colored and lined envelopes for the first time are appearing in consider-Anita Boswell spent the week-end in able numbers to enclose Valentine greetings. White envelopes, however, many of them now show tissue linings came back from the holidays alone in of pastel shades in solid colors. These the same car with Al and three bodyspent the week-end in Atlanta with are particularly in evidence for the sil- guards! Such nice manners as he had! Lucy Guerrant and Hazel Turner velope with the same color used for the And she had the temerity to refuse a spent the week-end in LaGrange, Ga., background of the silhouette. Solid game of bridge and some good old imcolor envelopes of bright yellow are new with black and white cards.

LAWRENCE'S PHARMACY

A Real Drug Store and the Nearest to Agnes Scott

Try our Toasted Sandwiches

Phones Dearborn 0762-0763

309 East College Ave., Opposite Depot, Decatur, Ga.

Dennis Lindsey Printing Co.

(Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING and STATIONERY

Phone Dearborn 0976 421 Church St. DECATUR, GA. Dear old thing, cluded—I should say, halted—for four travel is so interesting! more months!

say, when I so rudely interrupted myself, is that those were certainly the elemagorgeous Christmas holidays, ehwhat? A pleasant time seems to have been had by all, judging from the photographed lace printed on a tokens of undying affection, which shadow-like effect of soft gray on have appeared atop so many palpitating hearts. For reference, see among others, Marty Stigall, and Sturdy, and Saxon Pope—

And speaking of Saxon-the-Siren, Mary Lou Robinson and Iona Cator appeared. For the devotee of the new she's just another little girl from the flower designs which combine a va- fact, her fame is so far spread abroad Marybelle Stollenwerck is still at the riety of hues into a conventionalized that an admiring swain called her up Giddy, I'm constrained to admit that sight unseen, and asked for a date. But the most novel of all are those Saxon accepted, but when the momentslowly from an appendicitis operation. on which entrancing animals of all ous night arrived, she found herself Reba Hicks spent last week in Rock-kinds and descriptions bring you lov- with a superfluity (that means two, ing messages. One, for instance, Giddy) of men. Nothing daunted, which, on investigation, proved to be a shows a curvilinear whale spouting Saxon arrayed Emily Squires like a Phillips spent the week-end in Colum- from scalloped waves; "You're the big- lily of the field (i. e. Saxon), and touchy on biological subjects since, and gest fish in my pond"; while on an- Emily strode forth literally in Saxon's who wouldn't be, after sleeping all other two lavishly polka-dotted giraf- shoes. But alas! Her sin found her fes query, "Will you be my Valen- out, and all was lost when the ten-of-Nana Seeley and Charlotte Reed tine?" Most charming of all, though, ten bell rang and Saxon appeared on spent the week-end at Nana's home in are the cats, especially the one who the scene to tell her date goodbye. You waves his furry tail against a big red know the rest-and of course the youth Libba Lightcap spent the week-end heart and exclaims coyly, "Ain't love departed in high dudgeon, calling back at poor little Saxon!

I'm feeling so chatty, I guess I'll just have to break down and tell you about A. F. Howerton. My dear, she instead of a nickel into the slot! I are still widely popular, although and Al Capone are great buds! She must blow down! houette cards, which often line the en- He didn't aim at her a single time. ported hooch, just because Al was row? against her principles. Believe me, I'd have drunk myself cock-eved before declining to carry out his slightest | got tomorrow? wish. Just suppose he'd brought out one of his little playthings!

> And if Betty Bonham hasn't gone and impressed a railroad man! (Alas! Her eyes are crossed for Agnes Scott, He had other ties!) Betty was skip-Betty Co-ed's false hair is there for ping gaily down the tracks the other day without a thing on her mind, when She's just a girl that isn't very hot. down the track a bit she saw a most engaging-looking soul walking toward "Betty Co-ed's a wooden leg for Vas-

VALENTINES See Mrs. Cooper at WOMAN'S EXCHANGE $\begin{array}{c} -\text{for}-\\ \text{GIFTS}-\text{CARDS}-\text{HOSE} \end{array}$ De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg. ************

 ADAMSON & COSTER CO.

Cleaners and Dyers

Decatur Branch 104 S. Candler St. Phone De. 3087

20% Off Cash and Carry ***********************

her. Crash! All of a sudden, the Imagine my embarrassment at not tracks bent under her weight, and a having written sooner, but you see, pain shot up her leg. You're entirely I've-Heck! I feel myself lapsing into right, she had pulled that old one about some of that trite rot about being busy a sprained ankle. After she had lain or water-colored prints of picturesque with exams! I declare, Giddy, the best there awhile more dead than alive, sure couples against the gay background of way out would be to get a rubber enough, up trotted the tricky tramp stamp to the effect that I am now ap- that Betty had fallen flat for, and plying myself to correspondence, my hoisted her home. Now isn't that a arduous intellectual pursuits being con- nice train of thought? This railroad

> I declare, if it isn't one thing, it's Well, as I hope I was preparing to Margy Ellis. Her latest is talking—I should say singing, in her sleep. Not long ago, her poor roommate Marty awoke in the dead of night to the strains of "We're Tenting Tonight On the Old Camp Ground," issuing from Margy's lusty lungs. And as if that were not enough, Margy followed it up with a novel improvisation entitled, "I Stay on the Campus, because I'm a Campus Girl!" Don't you burn with pride and satisfaction to realize that somebody has the good old school spirit?

And to continue in a nocturnal vein, a good many people in Main were none too pleasant humored the other night, when they leaped into bed contentedly, only to encounter another occupant, dead crayfish. Everybody's been so night with swimmerets tickling their legs and maxillae pinching their toes!

But Main is also sore on another subject-you might say they have a bone to pull with Margy Ellis on the subject of skeleton parties. Just ask the meanest things over his shoulder Margy. She's dying to pour the whole sad tale into some ear-preferably a sympathetic one.

Heavens! Somebody put a quarter

Devotedly,

Aggie.

P. S.-Little campus scene: Jean Grey met an acquaintance the other day during exams.

Jean: Hi there, whatcha got tomor-

Old School Pal: Hygiene.

Jean: Hi yourself. I said, whatcha 'Betty Co-ed's teeth are false for Sophie Newcomb,

dear old Brenau.

Her Rheumatiz is Wellesley's pride and

That is what a co-ed's really like, men, So put no trust in Mrs. Vallee's little boy." -Rammer Jammer.

A skull two inches thick was discovered in a western state. Now we understand that the president of the state university is making a careful check to see which member of the faculty is missing.—The Hornet.

"At Temple university, Philadelphia, Pa., the greatest amount of potential pain has been concentrated into the smallest area possible. They boast one room in the dental school with 75 chairs."—Southern California Daily Trojan.

Atlanta, Ga. EXPERT REPAIRING

Muench and Elsner Jewelers

63 Peachtree Street, N. E.

Visit THE EMBLEM SHOP, INC. College and School Jewels Metropolitan Bldg. 81 Forsyth St.

Exchanges

Princeton Frosh Prefer Marks to Sports

Princeton University-That freshmen at Princeton University prefer a Phi Beta Kappa key to a varsity "P," consider beauty the most essential attribute to the ideal girl, favor participation in extra-curricular activities and come to Princeton primarily for an education are facts revealed in the annual questionnaire submitted to the new men by The Daily Princetonian, undergraduate newspaper.

In voting the Phi Beta Kappa key more desirable than a major athletic Psychology (revised edition)." Quel letter by a vote of 330 to 228, the dommage! classmen of '34 reversed the decision made by the 1933 group last year, though following Princeton senior classes, which for years have consistently voted the scholastic award more valuable than the athletic insignia.

A meagre 21 votes were cast negatively regarding participation in extracurricular activities, while 553 men voted "yes." The Princeton Triangle Club, dramatic organization, apparently is considered the most worthwhile activity, with 203 men signifying their intention of competing for it. Tennis came second with 161 votes, while The Daily Princetonian ranked Bank & Trust Company. A university third, with 138 votes.

In a class of 632 men, only 470 answered the question "Do you drink?" and 211 "no." Some 324 smoke, while Of this number 259 answered "yes" 250 do not.

The university's name attracted many, with 276 men stating that they came to Princeton primarily to receive an education, though 232 came because of "Princeton's name and reputation." One hundred and thirty-six listed "contacts and social advantages," and 105 "family tradition."

Eighty-nine different answers were received to the question "What qualities do you consider essential in the ideal girl?" Beauty led with 389 votes, followed by brains with 282, personality 172 and good figure 121.

Football was favored overwhelmingly as the sport to watch, receiving 379 votes, almost five times as many as hockey, which took second place. Baseball ranked fifth with only fifteen supporters. Football rated second as the most popular sport to play, tennis leading by a wide margin of 122 votes. Golf, hockey and baseball followed in the order named.

February 2 to 7 will be posture week at F. S. C. W. The Florida Flambeau makes this comment:

It is a strange thing that a woman will be careless of her posture; that she will powder and tint, marcel and galsomine, all with the worthy skill of a Rembrandt, and then being fully slicked up for the evening, step out with a carriage that would not do justice to a broken-down truck horse.

The Philosophy Club of Ohio Wesleyan recently brought forward an interesting theory in connection with required work. The members of the club, or rather, most of the members, maintain that every student should be required to take courses under the outstanding professor of his college or university. "If certain studies are required for graduation," they reasoned, "why not also require work under the most inspiring personalities." - The Hornet.

Juniors believe more untruths than Sophomores, according to statistics gathered at the New Jersey College for Women .- The Technique.

The Washington and Lee paper is named The Flat Hat. Many others could easily name theirs the flat purse. -The Hornet.

Movie Fan-Tasie From January seventh I've been a cloistered nun. I've counted all my pennies And saved them one by one. I'm living for the thirtieth In a state of apoplexy, When I can take my dollar And go into the Roxy. -Vassar Miscellany News. The State I Am In

I'd rather be depressed In Bucharest

Or in tears in Algiers

Or queer in Kashmir Than studying here.

I'd rather be blue In Peru

Or a wreck in Quebec

Or silly in Chile

Or in Siam than where I am.

-Vassar Miscellany News.

The Furman Hornet recently made the statement that "its use of reading matter is but of secondary importance, ranking even lower than Woodsworth's

Library Is Given $100,000-Try and Get It!

"I've always wanted to do something big for the library," said Vice-President T. H. Jack to Miss Margaret Jemison last Wednesday. "And now the time has come when I feel I can really help in a big way.'

He pulled out his check book, wrote a check, and handed it to the head librarian. She looked at it. The is the nearest Freshman to heaven, amount was $100,000.

She looked again, unable to believe her eyes. Yes, it was indeed a check for $100,000—on the defunct Decatur official, like anybody else, must have his little joke.—The Emory Wheel.

Pledge With Swords-What a Life!

Dallas, Texas.—Swordsmanship is the first consideration when a pledging gang goes after a prospect in a German university, according to a statement by Dr. Trexler of Southern Methodist University.

Duels are fought with great regularty in the German universities, and a ady reported was a disease contracted man's honor and popularity depends on by a quartet of Freshmen and which his willingness to engage in a contest when shorn of medical terminology with rapiers whenever called on to do means "wax in the ears." A punster so by some person who feels disgruntled with him.

Eligibility for membership in fra- ears."—Emory Wheel. ternities depends to a great extent on one's dexterity with the swords.—The Emory Wheel.

Freshman Class Weighs Total of Eighteen Tons

Although they may be worth their weight in gold to their families and sweethearts, the two hundred and four Freshmen who underwent the recent physical examinations would net exactly one hundred and ninety dollars and ninety-two cents, or ninety-eight cents apiece, were they sold in an aggregate lump to Abie the junk man or some enterprising and broad-minded fertilizer factory.

TRY

Hewey's

Dopes and Sandwiches

YOU'LL ENJOY THEM

De. 0640 315 E. Col. Ave.

> Bailey Bros. Shoe Shop

142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies' Work DE. 0172 WE DELIVER

Clover Leaf Bakery

Home Made

BREAD, ROLLS, CAKES, PIES AND PASTRIES

This estimate is based on the potential material in the human body for the manufacture of glue, wax, ivory, and bone-meal and the figures were obtained by adding the combined weight of the entire class which was about eighteen tons.

months, twenty days, nine hours and thrity-six minutes old.

Their combined ages total 3,705 years which is the equivalent of 37 centuries or three and a half Methuselahs. The average height is five feet eleven inches and if placed end to end the class would reach a quarter of a mile in any direction except towards the library.

G. P. Kanes, tipping the scales at 239 pounds, is the largest, while C. F Crane with 102 and a half has the least poundage. The oldest is L. M. Burrows, 37, and the youngest is Marvin Pierce, who is the class baby with 15 years of worldly experience. Ray Ohler with six feet three inches and C. F. Crane has the lowest chassis, being five feet three and a half inches.

Out of the total number examined, forty-nine were found to be without physical defects, while 195 were reeight were designated as being fit for limited activity.

Defective teeth led the list of physical defects, claiming 59. Twenty-eight four, and 123 with five pupils each. had diseased tonsils, and over seventy will eat anything but nails" by being underweight. The most unusual malis tempted to observe that these four have been "Dancing with wax in their

ፙ፟፟ጜ፞ጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜ*ጜ* Give More Books This Year

Margaret Waite Book Shop 119 Peachtree Arcade

The girls at Barnard College had quite a nice little joke played on them recently, or rather it was a nice joke on them. The college received a letter from a certain sports concern pointing out the advantages of using The average freshman weighs 130.56 rubbed line markers on the football pounds, and is seventeen years, seven field. Now Barnard is strictly a girls' school. This letter gave rise to quite a bit of mirth among the fair and unfair damsels. The college paper is now working upon a program for letting the world know that the college is one for women students.—The Citadel Bull

> Carl Sandburg will appear in the university auditorium on Wednesday night, with students admitted free.—Emory Wheel.

> "Intercollegiate football is three times as hazardous as class football. Twelve out of every hundred college football players received injuries during the season."—Hygeia.

Montana Lists Seven Single-Pupil Schools

There are seven schools in Montana which have only one pupil, according ported fit for athletics. The remaining to the biennial report of the Department of Education.

> There are 33 schools which have only two pupils; 40 with only three; 74 with

The total enrollment this year in belied the adage that "a growing boy Montana's public schools is 120,357, an increase of 2,365 over last year.

> Greater Values
> Pintchuck's 5 50 5 100 5 DIREGS SHOP

THE BOOK SHELF

(Continued from page 2) esting recreational reading. Here is a short list of books that you might like to examine. They are on the Book

"Anne Stuart, Queen of England"-Beatrice Curtis Brown.

"Up to Now"-Alfred E. Smith.

"Types of Poetry"-Edited by Ginn and Company (Boston).

"The Making of New Germany"-(Memoirs of Philip Scheidemann).

"English Girlhood at School"-Dorothy Gardiner.

"Redburn"—Herman Melville.

"New York in the American Revolution"—Wilbur C. Abbott.

"Malory"—Eugene Vinever.

age business man or woman labors 48 hours a week. Perhaps the perpetual college student has the right idea after all!

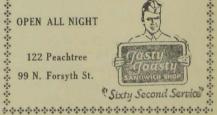

OUR SLOGAN CLEAN SHOP MODERATE PRICES EXPERT OPINION STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOPPE 153 Sycamore St. Dearborn 2671

JOS. SIEGEL

Dependable Jeweler DIAMONDS—WATCHES CLOCKS—JEWELRY Watch Repairing a Specialty 131 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga.

122 Peachtree 99 N. Forsyth St.

STARNES

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER

For "Spring Fever" Days!

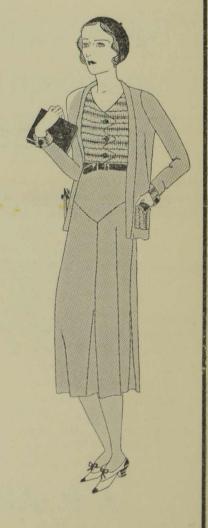

Sheer Woolen Jacket Suits

Lace-like Weaves! Net-like Knits! Pastel Shades!

-Exams over, one feels that the shades of winter are indeed gone! One thinks of Spring, and longs to "shed one's shell," like the cocoon. How one will rejoice to come forth, a veritable "butterfly," in the most delectable of Spring suits! Inordinately smart for campus and classroom. Of sheerest zephyrs, woven like lace and knit like net. One-piece affairs, or skirt-and-blouse, with Spring's inevitable jacket. Softest pastels, in sizes 12 to 20.

> SPORTS SHOP -RICH'S THIRD FLOOR.

No. 13

Vol. XVI

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE, DECATUR, GA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1931

STURGES COTTAGE WINS REWARD OFFERED BY ATHLETIC ASS'N

Health Week Inaugurated By Presentation of Cake to Healthy Dormitory.

"Four points a day keeps the doctor away"-this chant of the Hottentots through the past three weeks, and all the rigid practice of Good Health that has accompanied it has at last brought us up to the grand climax of this great annual epoch.

At last the curiosity of cake-hungry mobs has been satiated! For Tuesday morning chapel heralded the beginning of Agnes' Health Week sucked oceans and oceans of oranges, tramped miles and miles of exercise. checked off 3 or 4 square meals a day and slumbered (nay-even night-mared) over exams 7 out of every 24 hours, one small select, choice, diligent of their beauty and overwhelming and meticulous group, was faithful popularity on previous appearances unto the least of these four-point tasks and netted the prize cake with no less than one hundred (100) percent efficiency. Let me name over the members of this distinguished few-inmates of the far-famed Sturges Cottage: Floyd Foster, Andrewena Robin-Jane Clark, Reba Hicks.

The nature of the cake presented so attractively by Brown and her Healthy Hottentos was such (notice "was") as to delight the most fastidious of tastes. A pure, delicate, shade of music. white was the background—icing. Upon its shapely rectangular contour were arranged in delicate design exquisite figures in purple icing.

This comely creation was furnished with compliments by the Clover Leaf Bakery. We are grateful to the Clover Leaf.

This new innovation of the cake contest characterizes the originality with much pleasure. of the entire Health Week program the close of her skit attractively got- at 8:30 Wednesday night. ten-up mimeographed sheets were passed out by Misses Sturdevant and

The events for the week ran as fol-

Tuesday afternoon was featured by the all-American Faculty-Varsity volley ball game. This was attended with great excitement and interest by many lovers of the vollev.

dy in chapel. Mr. Mundy is the sports versity Wednesday evening, February nounces all games over the radio.

if anything so attractive as Rebekah first with his keen sense of humor.

takes place on Friday, February 13th were his virility and his utter sincer- ets were sent to the members of the (woe! Oh bitterness of woe-to the ity. His readings from the Phi Beta orchestras of all the junior and senior superstitious!)

Hottentot Hubbub, marks the temina- elemental America. His own reading versity, Oglethorpe University, and hauser"—Wagner. tion of this exciting week.

Denishawn Dancers Appear at Erlanger

Excellent Interpretation to Be Given Tonight.

years takes place Wednesday night, international affairs. February 11. Ted Shawn and his Denishawn Dancers appear at the Erlanger, for one performance only.

Of all the hundreds of girls who Munich, Germany. Mr. Shawn and his company bring many new and startling dance creations to Atlanta. dances is extraordinary in that, with proved the value of the institute. the exception of two, every dance is new. These two are retained because session is "Reorganization of State > tine Day, of North Carolina—is featured on the program this year. Miss Ruth St. Denis, who has heretofore danced opposite Mr. Shawn, has left Europe, the work of the League of Na-

Bavarian, East India American In- try's leading authorities. son, Olive Weeks, Elizabeth Thomp- dian, Spanish, and many othed groups son, Jean Shaw, Margaret Deaver, of dances, make up the program. Dances to the music of Brahms, Debussy, Reger, and Scriabine are in-The company, including technicians, musicians, directods, and performers, numbers sixty in all.

> Mr. Shawn will repeat his triumph give his Orpheus dance that was the sensation of last season in Europe. Both of these dances ade well known to hih audiences and are anticipated

The first announcement of the pro- the Denishawn Dancers. Tickets may gram—also at Tuesday morning be obtained at the Erlanger Theater chapel—was made by Miss Brown. At before the performance, which starts

Carl Sandburg Heard at Emory pany.

Lectures and Readings.

Carl Sandburg, the most thoroughly Wednesday morning we had the American of our American poets, gave privilege of hearing Mr. William Mun- a delightful lecture at Emory Uniwriter for the Atlanta Journal and an- 4. Having announced his subject as "Animals and Fools," he added that it Tomorrow afternoon, Thursday, will had no connection with what he was witness the beginning of the great an- going to say except that all of us were nual fight for the Brown Jug. Some animals, and, more gently, some of us say there's nothing in this; neverthe- were fools. His personality is very less it is a great fight! We wonder vivid and he captivated us from the Scott's Turkish Towel Parade or In addition to the multitudinous the music lovers of Atlanta were privand organ accompaniment: "Andante Lupton's Collegiates of last year, definitions of poetry we already pos- ileged to hear the Minneapolis Sym- Cantabile" from Tschaikowsky's can possibly evolve. It only remains sess, he swamped us with thirty-eight phony Orchestra in concert at the to be seen at 7:00 p. m. Thursday more—very charming ones. He enum- Auditorium-Armory. This concert was night at the opening of the tournament erated them for our convenience—if we a gift from the Atlanta Music Club finals. At its close will be awarded forget the definitions, we shall at least and the Civic Music Association, the Brown Jug to the winning sextet! have the numbers. His qualities especially to students interested in The crowning event of the week which most impressed us, however, orchestral work. Complimentary tick-Kappa poem, "Good Morning, Amer- high schools of Atlanta, and to music A huge fiesta, entitled the Healthy ica" represent his profound belief in students at Georgia Tech, Emory Uniof his verse is most illuminating!

Holds Institute Of Citizenship

Interesting Program Planned On Governmental, Racial, Industrial Topics.

The Institute of Citizenship, which is in session at Emory University this The most important event of its kind week is presenting a varied and interthat has occurred in Atlanta in three esting program on local, national and

This Institute was organized four years ago for the purpose of stimulat-These dancers have been in Europe ing a wider and more intelligent infor several months and triumphed at terest in problems of public character. the practical results that have been achieved by the three sessions that

> The chief topic for discussion at this Government in the South." The ques-United States, problems of Central

The discussions on state government reorganization and taxation are being on the United States Civil Service. The March 1. problems of Cenral Europe are being speaking on the work of the League Committee on Graduate Study. of Nations and general problems of

One feature of the program that has Everyone interested in either the been of particular interest was the de-11th. Dr. John C Ransom upheld agrarianism and Mr. ston, Ill. W. D. Anderson upheld industrialism. Dr. Crowe is a co-author of "I'll Take My Stand." Mr. Anderson is president of the Bibb Manufacturing Com-

Dr. John Landesco, of the Universi-Noted American Poet Gives ty of Chicago, by lecture and round table discussions, is giving an interesting account of the Chicago gangsters; Dr. W. W. Alexander is leading the discussions on race relations; Hon. Richard B. Russell, Jr., governor-elect of Georgia, and Hon. T. W. Gregory, formerly Attorney-General of the on the program.

Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra Gives Concert

On Tuesday evening, February 10, Agnes Scott College.

Emory University DR. WILLIAM ANDERSON SPEAKS ON VITAL CHRISTIAN PROBLEMS

Fellowships for Study Announced

Opportunities Offered Graduate Schools.

find announcements of interest to very inspiring messages delivered those who wish to do graduate work next year.

Bryn Mawr, for instance, offers one fellowship and one or more scholarships in the department of education.

Duke University gives fellowships, the third dance congress held at The interest that has been aroused and graduate scholarships, and graduate assistantships worth from $350 to that the Bible is God's word as He $1000. Applications for these may be gave it to the world. There are three sent before March 15 to William H. A program containing about two dozen have preceded this one have already Glasson, dean of the Graduate School.

The Graduate School of New York University offers fellowships worth of biology, chemistry, classical languages, economics, English, fine arts, tion of taxation is receiving consider- German, government, history, mathe-One of our southern girls—Ernes- able attention, but in addition to these matics, philosophy, physics, psycholtopics, the Civil Service System in the ogy, romance languages, and sociolhim and his company and retired from tions, and various other topics are fairs and belles letters. Apply to the being discussed by some of the coun- Dean of the Graduate School before March 14.

At the University of Pennsylvania five fellowships carrying a stipend of $500 each are offered. For these, a about the Bible which no other book lead by Judge O. A. Park, of Macon, reading knowledge of two modern lan- has, and it is the only book which cluded. There is a sensational ensem- and Mr. R. C. Norman, Georgia Tax guages is required. Announcement is ble of Nauch girl dances and an in- Commissioner. Miss Jessie Dell, mem- made at the same time of thirty uniteresting group to modern American ber of the United States Civil Service versity scholarships. For any of these Commission, is holding a round table applications must be made before to, and if you go into life with it no-

Oberlin College offers six graduate discussed by Professor Francis Deak, fellowships in any department of arts Jesus Christ?" The only authoritain "Invocation to the Thunderbird," an of Columbia University, a nephew of and sciences. These give a stipend of the Francis Deak of nineteenth cen- $500 as well as freedom from all term of John Philip Sousa, and he will also tury Austria-Hungary. Dr. Manley O. bills. Send applications before March Hudson, of the Harvard Law School, is 1 to C. G. Rogers, chairman of the Northwestern University announces existence with the Father since the scholarships in the Medill School of beginning. Second, He is the person dance or music should certainly see bate on: "Shall the South Follow the tuition, and applications should be through the ages. Isaiah, Jeremiah, East and Go Industrial?" which took sent before March 1 to H. F. Harring- Ezekiel—all the Old Testament proton, Northwestern University, Evan-

Prof. Dieckmann Presents Recital

Organ Concert to Be Given Sunday, February 15.

music at Agnes Scott College, will give satisfies the heart that trusts in Him. an organ recital in the college chapel Sunday, February 15, at four o'clock. United States, are other participants He will be assisted by Miss Florence Smith, violinist, who will be accompan- common thing in the everyday relaied by Miss Mary Catherine William- tions of life-a normal reaction-trust, son. Miss Smith will play Handel's 'Sonata in F Major" for violin and piano, and two numbers with piano String Quartet, Opus 11, and "Meditation" from the "Thais" of Massenet. Mr. Dieckmann will play the following numbers:

"Suite Gothique"—Boellmann.

"Bells of Aberclovey"—Stewart. "Gavotte"-Martini.

"Evening Star Paname"-"Tann-

"Fanfare d'Orgue"-Shelley.

College Community Enjoys Inspiring Addresses of Dallas Minister.

During the week of February 3-8, the college community enjoyed the privilege of hearing Dr. William An-Posted on the bulletin boards we derson, of Dallas, Texas, in a series of daily during the regular chapel hour. On Tuesday morning, Dr. Anderson spoke on "How I Know the Bible is the Word of God." "You notice," he said, "that I say 'How I know,' not 'Why I believe,' for I have no doubt reasons why I know-first, because it claims to be the word of God. No prophecy of the Scripture is of any from $500 to $1000 in the departments private interpretation. For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man; but holy men of God spoke as they were moved by the Holy Ghost. The second reason is its history. To-There are also four Penfield day it has a greater publication and scholarships of $1000 each for the circulation, and it has always been study of diplomacy, international af- worth more, than any other book. You can find no natural explanation for it. It changes everything it touches. The third reason is that I have seen it work. There is something supernatural satisfies the heart in time of sorrow. It gives you faith—something to hold thing can touch you."

The second talk was on "Who is tive answer is to be found in the Bible. Jesus is first-the only person on earth who has ever had a clear knowledge of an existence which was his be-For those interested in journalism, fore birth. Jesus spoke simply of His These cover the cost of to whom all prophecies pointed phets, living seven centuries before Christ, said "When He comes you will know Him by these things," and when He did come, over two hundred prophecies were fulfilled exactly in Him. He is bound to be the one. Third, He acclaims Himself to be the Son of God. Fourth, He is the only person or way by which man may have contact with God, now or ever. God can't meet man except at the cross. And lastly, He is Mr. C. W. Dieckmann, professor of the person who with absolute certainty

On both Thursday and Friday, Dr. Anderson talked on "Faith." Faith, he stated, is not a complicated process, or a "sublime deception." It is the most and this same thing binds us to God. What is it?-Faith is "the substance (title deed) of things hoped for, the evidence (absolutely positive conviction) of things not seen. Whence is faith? Faith does not come by any self-initiated process. It is the free gift of God. How does it come? "So then faith cometh by hearing (the thing heard) and hearing by the word of God (sentences spoken by God).

What does faith do? First—by faith we are saved. According to the Scripture, all men are lost and they are saved only through faith. Faith takes hold of all that God gives us. Until after you are saved, a moral life and

(Continued on page 6)

The Agonistic

Subscription Price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single Copies, 5 cents.

Published weekly. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF

Editor	Katherine Morrow
Assistant Editor
Feature Editor
Society Editor
Exchange Editor
Athletic Editor
Alumnae Editor
Club Editor
Joke Editor
Giddy Gossip
Art Editor

MANAGEMENT

Business Manager	Kitty Purdie
Advertising Manager	Ruth McAuliffe
Circulation Manager	Jane McLaughlin

REPORTERS FOR THIS ISSUE

Adele Arbuckle Marjorie Daniel Ellen Davis Sarah Hill Myra Jervey Louise Miller

Kitty Reid Elizabeth Simpson Agnes Skelton Harriet Smith Martha Tower Gertrude Willoughby

EDITORIAL

"You can always tell a college woman," a business executive once said, "but you can't tell her much." Perhaps that is true, but thing of that kind on the campus. it is not the attitude in which we, as Seniors, wish to approach the question of what we are to do next year—and, as for that matter, all the rest of our lives. We have been here four years. We have acquired in that time a bit of knowledge, a few assets, and a certain number of liabilities. Now, what are we to do? The first view, that, when the Science Departthing that suggests itself is the one occupation for which we are ment begged for its basement back tacking the new humanists proceeds to definitely trained, and in which we can make from the first a fairly good salary—teaching. This is indeed an interesting and satisfying profession for those who are fitted by nature for it. But for those of us who really cannot teach, and who contemplate doing so only vided where the Alumnae might come ancient woes without "the much toutbecause we can think of nothing else, it may become true drudgery. and feel at home on the campus, and ed beauty of nature," "the only less 000 and 5,000,000. If we are interested, in that case, in finding something for which which could at the same time house the we are better suited, we can look to many other professions and occupations now open to women.

As to our qualifications for other positions, we might be inter- 1921, the present Alumnae House. Its ested in these lists of our assets and liabilities, lists compiled by a value to the social life of the campus business man who was expressing his desire for college-trained has been untold and when we try to women in his office. As liabilities of a college graduate he names untidiness, sensitiveness, impracticality about money, and the students could drop in at almost any lack of any specific skill. As assets, however, he lists physical fit- hour of the day for a sandwich and ness and the knowledge of how to keep it, a mind that is "executive drink, or where they could plan for a material," poise, good sportsmanship, and a certain idealism that makes one enter a profession with an honest desire to serve as well as with the ambition to make money. The college graduate, then, has good qualities that far outweigh any bad ones; and with these she needs only the determination to persevere through the first College in the United States to own few trying months—or years—when college education seems to an Alumnae House. It is the one thing count for naught. She will have to start, perhaps, in the low- that our Alumnae Secretary is inest positions, but she will have the ability to rise far above people of mediocre intelligence and education.

The college graduate is, therefore, by her very education, picture of our house with those of fitted for many occupations. What are some of these? There is four others, Vassar, Wellesley, Mount the teaching profession, which is truly fascinating for those who Holyoke, and Goucher, the sum total love it and are willing to give to it; there is law; there is business; world, was published, with the story there is medicine, there are the fine arts—all fields to which women of each house and what it means to the are finding openings, and in which they can realize the fullest ex- campus and alumnae. Smith is enpression of their highest selves. To us as Seniors, the world has a deavoring to follow in our footsteps. great deal to offer-we ask much of life, but then we have much Visitors from other colleges to our to give. To accomplish this, however, we must search diligently campus always remark on the charm for that vocation for which we are negatively with a different search diligently of our Alumnae House. If outsiders for that vocation for which we are peculiarly suited, and finding can compliment it, we can too! it, we must be willing to be "stayers" as well as "starters."

Vox Populi

Agnes Scott is well known all over the United States for her high scholastic standing. The intellectual side of the curriculum has been stressed through the ages until an enviable recin the curriculum has been neglectedthe social phase. It is necessary to gain more emphasis on social life before Agnes Scott can advance further in the educational world. The foreneglect of the development of social life, Agnes Scott has the reputation in many places as a place only for studying. I know of many very attractive and capable girls who refused to come productions of the uncultured animal eral constitution shall be drafted for to Agnes Scott for this reason. Agnes to whom the European owes so much India modeled on the general lines of Scott is behind all the A-1 colleges and universities in her social development. We need more supervised entertainin Atlanta get their entertainment at college and club dances and other parties in Atlanta. A Senior confessed to me the other day that she had met only two young men the entire lives several hundred miles from here and does not know any one in Atlanta. If the college would sponsor inweek-ends out. The students would have a chance to know each other better, stronger college spirit would develop, and Agnes Scott would grow. Without more emphasis on social life, Agnes Scott will not develop as is de-

There has, in the past few weeks, been considerable criticism of the Tea House on the campus, and so we her." Mrs. Pinkham firmly believed thought that we would go over there in the efficacy of her potion and finaland try to get at the bottom of the ly conceived the hysterical idea that situation. We sometimes wonder if those of us, and really, there are none but the Faculty who remember those awful days, who have never known with the feminist movement and the of the maintenance of order, econwhat it was like here before the Tea controversies over slavery, bloomers, omy, and efficiency face the executives tunate we are.

About eleven or twelve years ago, the Alumnae Association was asked to undertake the operation of a Tea Room, so great was the need for some-Therefore, a place was made for it in the basement of Science Hall. This place, with its literally hand-painted furniture and decorations, was so successful and popular from all points of again, it was felt that some place on the campus should be set aside for the Tea Room. One of the Alumnae suggested that if a cottage could be pro-Tea Room, the situation would be ideal. So the Alumnae Association, with the Board of Trustees, built, in realize what it must have been like here when there was no place where small luncheon or dinner for friends and relatives on and off the campus we cannot even imagine the life of such pre-civilization times.

Agnes Scott College was the first variably asked to tell about at conferences. In a recent issue of the Smith College Alumnae Quarterly, the

(Continued on page 6)

Magazine Notes

"Europe Looks at Sinclair Lewis" the world. One-eyed natives with now. green hair have lost their appeal in the scientific twentieth century, but

ment on the campus. The girls who burn in the February American Mer- dyarchy seems doomed. Viscount Wilare fortunate enough to know people cury reads like an American Magazine lingdon has been appointed to succeed success story. It describes the pathetic Lord Irwin as Viceroy. struggles of the Pinkham family when they "sweated their life's blood and staked their all" for the promotion of of the Preparatory Commission on Disfour years she has been here. She the elixir which has brought millions armament which met recently was the to their descendants. There are inter- unanimous proposal for an internaesting letters from Dan Pinkham when tional committee to collect, collate, teresting entertainments on the cam- he went without food and warm cloth- and disseminate information on armpus, not so many girls would spend the ing to give out handbills all over the aments "with a view to insuring obeast. His only complaint was that his servance of the convention and of safeshabby appearance prevented him guarding peace." from hearing the sermons of Henry Ward Beecher. The essay contains a President Hoover has proclaimed the study of the personality of the woman naval pact to be in effect between the herself whose psychological advertising made so famous "the face that Japan. God, and the name her husband, gave she was the savior of her sex. Mr. Washburn brings out her connection House was built, appreciate how for- free love, free silver, homeopathy, of other South American governments suffrage, phrenology, and Christian as well as the revolutionary govern-Science. The quotations from her early manifestos on "the emergence of woman" and her caustic feminist as- XI "On Christian Marriage in Relasertions sound horribly like grotesque tion to Present Conditions, Needs, and doggerel translations of Euripides.

"Salvation by Intuition" (Winter Yale Review) is the unpromising title translations in of an excellent essay by Katherine French, German, and Spanish. Geroued, who after sarcastically atdiscuss most humanistically the atjumbo of outworn creeds.

Whistler, Daudet and Zola.

The World Today

The plan for a European Federation, (January Bookman) is an amusing strained Anglo-Indian and Francoarticle by H. L. Binsse and J. J. Troun- Italian relations, agitation for revision stine. Since the times of Marco Polo of the peace treaty, the question of ord in the academic circles has been and Mandeville, they inform us, peo- dis-armament, and general economic attained. But a most important phase ple have loved to believe tales of mon- and political unrest have characterized sters and goblins on the other side of European affairs for several months

Anglo-Indian Relations

In the present state of Anglo-Indian most colleges of America have found the modern European has joyfully affairs it has been agreed that India's that social activities are very neces- boiled Lewis' excellent automatons, his 43,000,000 Untouchables shall have clear-cut patterns-which never exist- political equality with other castes in ed any more than did such vital types India; that the Province of Burma as Bill Sikes or Pantagruel-and be- with 13,000,000 inhabitants shall be lieved them to be real photographic re- separated from India; and that a fedthe United States Constitution. In the "Lydia Pinkham," by R. C. Wash- new plan for Indian government

Disarmament

One of the most significant actions

Since the opening of the new year United States, Great Britain, and

South America

At present Peru, Bolivia, Argentina, and Brazil, are ruled by successful revolutionary groups. Bolivia took the first step toward the restoration of constitutional government in her recent national elections. The problems ments or their successors.

The Vatican

The recent encyclical of Pope Pius Disorders of Society" in the Latin text appeared (for the first time in papal history) side by side with official Unemployment in the U.S.

The January report of Colonel Arthur Woods to the Senate Appropriations Committee in response to a tempt of the modern individual to ex- resolution asking information on unplain and justify the world and its employment gave an estimate of the Soviet Russia

The political influence of Alexis Rykov was extinguished recently when "Talented Memories" in the Febru- the plenary session of party chiefs reary Atlantic is William Rothenstein's moved him from the presidency of the own account of his life in Paris as a Council of People's Commissars and young man. His memoirs are con- the chairmanship of the Council of cerned with many of his friends, in- Labor and Defense. Viacheslav Molotcluding Verlaine, Wilde, Beerbohm, off is his successor as President of the Council of Commissars.

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

Decatur Ga.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities.

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

Giddy

Dear "Bubbling-Over."

ing, heavy-laden, practice-teaching somebody like me with no more hefty that has happened to anybody I know nicest voice and smile and spats! One (counting even Margie, Douschka, and Luptonite was all for consulting him Martie) is that S. A. E. at Emory fall- about a love affair. "He's so underframed it, and looked at it 'till he she did I know she found out exactly couldn't stand it any longer. Then he the thing to do-for he looks expericalled her up, explained the situation, enced. and asked her for a dinner-date, and of course Jennie couldn't let that go by, and when he saw her, he fell flatter'n my pocketbook, and has been camping on White House steps ever since! Don't you think power like Emory at the same time. I saw her that ought to be banned by law? Or at least she ought to capitalize it and furnish the town with light, heat, and energy. And so should Penny. Not only are there the one and only N. and that good looking blonde whose going, but her Big Brunette Beta de- The club had dinner at the Tea House name I believe is Bob (no, not Jean's), but I hear that an entire fraternity caters to her every wish. And Giddy, she's honor roll and everything too. Wonder how she manages it? I'd like to know because that takes away my thrilling one like Marion Fielder's and girls. Ha!

did when he was a-wooing. Giddy, you well for here I go sending you

 Try a Bag -of-EDGAR'S POP CORN Singletary's Furniture Store

410 Church St.

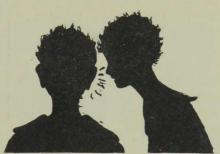

"Follow The Swallow"

to High's

And you'll find everything in the world you'll want to wear . . at prices that are consistently low for quality that is consistently fine!

The newest frocks for spring . . the newest coats and the smartest suits . . . are here at Special Prices brought by the Swallow for your selection. Call to see them today! We want your patronage, and urge you to come!

J. M. HIGH CO.

never could imagine what an over-I can tell from the outset that I'm whelming hit that man did make on tee, served coffee and cakes. going to succumb to that old-fash- the Agnes Scott campus. Why the designs for the future than a fourth not going to sing," every last girl was grade of tow-headed, snaggle-toothed made. And how they flocked for conboys, just feels like that, so all aboard. ferences with him. I couldn't even get lina. One of the most romantic things one, he was so popular. He had the Little Frances Duke says she doesn't page in the register book, I don't think so either. She's different in being able to manage rivals from Tech and up town the other day looking for a dress to wear in the figure at the Tech Pan-Hellenic this year. Sarah Lane went up to Davidson's Mid-Winter affair last week-end. Julia Rowan was cided to come down here. He's so after the meeting adjourned. goodlooking-and-oh what a peach affair, and I want one what ain't a studio. plain everyday one either, I want a excuse that boys never do like smart Jane Bailey Hall's, I want-I wantoh, well, at least I'm always found the Spring program. Except that I imagine Dr. Anderson wanting. But I insist that I mean

Aggie.

Cleaners and Dyers

Decatur Branch 104 S. Candler St. Phone De. 3087

20% Off Cash and Carry

Club News

The Chemistry Club held a most interesting meeting Monday night, February 2, in the lecture room. Three alumnae, Mrs. Carl Pirkle, Miss Elizabeth McIntyre, and Miss Elizabeth Hamilton, spoke to the club. After these talks, Etta and Hettie Mathis, chairmen of the refreshment commit-

Mildred Hooten and Ora Craig were ioned valentiney feeling and talk about whole school just sat up and took hostesses of the South Carolina Club love and hearts and things, and bore notice. From the first morning when, meeting, which was held in their ole worldly-wise you, but a hard-work- as the world's very best organ spoke room Tuesday night. After a short ing . . . athletic cake . . . Student Govout of turn, he reassuringly said "I'm business session, a "Valentine game" was followed by delicious refreshments -sent all the way from South Caro-

The Cotillion Club enjoyed a teadance Wednesday afternoon. The Duke, Kitty Woltz, and Mary Boyd, ing in love with Jennie Sweeny's pic- standing-like," she confided. I don't served heart-shaped candies and cakes ture in the paper. He did really, and know whether she went or not, but if and punch. A novel effect was added by the dainty corsages given each member.

> Blackfriars held an important busineed advice. And judging from her ness meeting in the club room Wednesday afternoon to discuss plans for the play, "Little Women," which is to be given February 28.

> > B. O. Z. met Monday night in the Alumnae House. Helen Friedman, Frances Murray, Willa Beckham and Vivian Martin, were on the program.

Eta Sigma Phi will meet Wednesof a pair! Oh, Giddy, I want a love day afternoon at 5:10 in Mr. Johnson's

> The Granddaughters' Club is also planning to meet Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock to discuss plans for

K. U. B. will meet Thursday afternoon at 4:30 in the Y. W. Cabinet Balloons of love with nary a pin in Room. A speaker-probably from the Journalism Department at Emorywill discuss some important phase of Journalism. The club is inviting all interested in this subject.

> In honor of Saint Valentine the Bible Club will give a "saints' party' Thursday evening at seven o'clock. Members of the club are planning to come dressed as saints and to tell the story of the characters they imperson-

> The Poetry Club will meet Thursday night at nine in Helen Friedman's room in Rebekah.

to O. O. McIntyre)-Thoughts while this past week Nancy Holcomb of walking to Big Dec . . . one more week Goucher. gone by and what a whirl . . . Paderewski . . . Carl Sandburg and his guitar . . . Ted Shawn and his dancers lor in Newnan for the week-end. . racing to town to practice teachernment meeting . . . dances in the Rountree have returned to school for gym . . . smoking rooms . . . grades this semester. going home . . . why do they have liver for breakfast, or why have liver at all . . . Red the evergreen man week-end with her cousin, Mrs. Otey, married . . . last semester at A. S. C. . better make the most of it . hostesses, "Cub" Sanford, Frances won't be long till next tests . . . and dates better than ever . . .

> Sarah Lane Smith attended the Davidson Pan-Hellenic Dances at Smith went home with Marjory Charlotte this past week-end. She was Daniels for the week-end. the guest of Mrs. Lewis Schenk of Davidson.

Knoxie Nunnally spent the week-end with Miss Sarah Meador of Peachtree

Mildred Duncan attended the Phi ton's (ex '31) wedding. Chi house dance on Saturday night.

Helen Duke attended the Delta Tau with her aunt, Mrs. H. H. Crane, in Delta house dance on Friday night. Atlanta last week-end.

Ellene Winn recently visited her brother and Colonel Caffey at Fort end with Olive Chapman. Benning for the week-end.

ing Nancy Crockett.

On last Saturday evening, Penny Brown entertained in honor of Lupton dance at the Marietta Country Club with a buffet supper. Mary and Martha Friday night. Sprinkle, Mart Tower and Ruth Pringle were also guests.

Nell Starr spent the week-end in At- | Saturday night.

Mallie White and Carolyn Russell day in Atlanta with Mrs. Clark. went to Winder, Ga., for the week-end.

Among those going to hear Paderewski were: Maude Anderson, Marty Friend, Lil Herrin, Elizabeth Winn, Florence Preston, Virginia Gray, Ruth Hall, Plant Ellis, chaperoned by Miss Helen Anderson.

An all-day trip to North Georgia, Helton Falls and Neel's Gap was enjoyed Sunday by Miss Scandrett, Miss Laney, Dr. Hayes, Dr. Robinson, Mr. Johnston, Weesa Candler, Chopin Hudson, Betty Cates, Myra Jersey and Ruth Pringle will attend the Tech Maude Armstrong.

Lila Ross Norfleet spent the weekend in Macon.

wiener roast at Stone Mountain Sat- week-end. urday night.

went to the S. A. E. house for din- Friday night; and the Sigma Chi 'posner Sunday night.

Agnes Scott Day by Day (Apologies | Betty Bonham had as her visitor

Harriet Brantley visited Velma Tay-

Lewellyn Parks and Mary Ruth in Atlanta. Plant Ellis visited her aunt, Mrs.

Alma Fraser Howerton spent the so off to town . . . shows, dances, and Bowden, in Atlanta, this past week-Margaret Weeks, Harriet and Ethel

Eloise Pollock from Atlanta visited

Margaret Rogers last week-end.

Hilda McCurdy and Elizabeth Heath spent the week-end in Thomson, Ga. They were attendants in Louise Bas-

Katherine Maness spent the week-

Nina Hammond spent the week-end

Eleanor Jones, of College Park,

Mary Quinlan, ex '30, has been visit- spent the week-end with Margaret Maness.

Sally Williams and Saxon Pope

Saxon Pope went to the Sigma Pi went on the Sigma Chi 'possum hunt Hettie and Ettie Mathis spent Sun-

Mary Dunbar spent the week-end in Atlanta.

Lovelyn Wilson attended open house at the Psi Omega house Sunday.

Dot Dickson spent Sunday in Atlanta. Ruth Pringle spent the week-end with Penny Brown in Atlanta. Knoxie Nunnally, Helen Duke, and Panhellenics Thursday night.

Winona Ewbank, Helen Bashinski, Imogene Hudson, Betty Hansen, Natilu McKenney, Louise Taylor, Alma Dot Grubb attended the Psi Omega Groves-each went home for the Julia Rowan attended the Pi Pi Club Jennie Sweeny and Shirley McPhaul dance at the Piedmont Driving Club sum hunt Saturday night.

A CALLARO A new conception of the finest stage and screen entertainment in America—comes to Atlanta! Big Time Celebrities World-Famed Stage Successes The Pick of Super-Special Features The Finest Music This Side of N. Y. All this and more, combined at popular prices PREMIERE FRIDAY 8:45 P. M. Typical Broadway and Hollywood Opening Bands, Movie Camera, Celebrities, Etc. SATURDAY

E has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much; who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of little children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has left the world better than he found it, whether by an improved poppy, a perfect poem or a rescued soul; who has never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty or failed to express it; who has looked for the best in others and given the best he had; whose life was an inspiration; whose memory is a benediction.

-Mrs. A. J. Stanley.

Bonta's Studio Drug Store

Openings in Physical Ed. for College Graduates.

Do you love to swim? Do you get a great thrill out of a non-stop flight down the hockey-field on a breathtaking afternoon in October? Do you ever lie awake nights (or on the street car!) thinking how you might outwit a hefty guard with a clever pass in the next basketball game? Or does JUNIORS DEFEAT SENIORS AT your heart give a jump of ecstacy when you hear some perfectly bewitching music that only needs an accompaniment of dance to make it complete!

If you feel any or all of these things, it may be possible that your future will be teaching other people to enjoy as you have known how to enjoy.

Education for getting across to people all sorts of values aside from handling one's body gracefully or achieving distinction in a sport. You may be one who will fit into that field in a very definite and important way.

are just contemplating your majorsyour graduate work will be!

There are two ways of getting a degree in Physical Education:

There is the undergraduate school where a major in P. C. is offering toward a B. S. degree.

There is the graduate school of

Briefly-of the first kind Winthrop, U. of Fla., Florida State, Peabody, offer very excellent work for those who Bowman, c. feel that they cannot possibly afford Peeples, s. c. the time and money to get more of an Dyer, r. g. educational background before special-schools that offer work for those who to know the fundamentals of what have completed a B. S. or B. A. de- you're teaching, and why you're teachgree are Wellesley, Wisconsin, Teach- ing them. So granted an opportunity ers' College, Columbia University.

P. E. after an A. B. the following courses are suggested as a background:

Biology.

Comparative Anatomy.

Physiology.

Chemistry.

Physics. Courses in Education.

In most colleges now, the Department of P. E. gives classes in which a girl can take the theory of the different sports and do assistant teaching while in college.

Camp positions, hockey, tennis, lifesaving are steps that help greatly along the way. For those more interested in dancing, music appreciation, history of music, and dramatics may help.

It is not always the person who is the best swimmer or tennis player

MIDDLETON'S BAKERY

154 East Ponce de Leon Ave. Between DeKalb Theater and Hotel Candler

$4444444444444444444444444

ዹዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿዿ

Compliments

-of-

WEIL'S TEN CENT STORE ****************

BASKETBALL

The basketball game between Juniors and Seniors Friday night was not so much of a circus, it was an even a regular circus. The little brown ball better game. Lucile Heath proved Loosers sad the Sophomores, hurdled in perfect form right down herself more graceful than ever as she the Seniors line to Chopin and into jumped high off the floor and picked the goal like Ponto himself. Then came the ball right out of the air. Nancy Jean, as the trained seal, bouncing the ball on her nose. Chopin was the jump-There is a great big field in Physical ing-jack. Kitty Purdie, Jean Grey and annoyed the Sophs by intercept- Added points more and more and Mary Schlich were the acrobats: ing their passes time after time. Left the audience all amazed Kitty doing a back somersault, Jean Sturdy and Maude were worthy of Lo, the line-up and the score. and May a double one in better form their names: the one sturdy and steady than Miss Sinclair's own prize pupils could have done. Both teams jumped, and caught, and threw (especially La-Think on these things, Sophs, who Myra Kane, who didn't miss a single to let nothing pass. Eleanor Hamil- Davis one of her foul shots), with the skill ton must have said "hocus pocus" Hill or Seniors who are wondering just and accuracy of professional trapeze where your best ability lies and what actors. But every circus ends with a wild west show-and this was no exception. All the players fought like the bravest of cowboys and though the Seniors fought hard, Susan Glenn was successful in biting out a piece of Kay stretch out that long arm of hers and ed along with academic courses work- Morrows' chin and mounting the final the ball would roll down into the goal. JUNIORS (27) score of the Juniors to 50-37.

> Line-up: JUNIORS Kane, r. f. Schlich, l. f. Glenn, l. g.

SENIORS Morrow, r. f. Hudson, l. f. Purdie, s. c. Grey, r. g. Sprinkle, l. g.

2. Outstanding among the graduate an asset and how much easier it isto perfect your ability—take advant-For those who expect to continue in age of that while you're in college!

If you're thinking seriously of continuing in Physical Education, now is the time to put in every effort to make your preparation the very best and most well-rounded study. Talk to those most interested and informed. They can help you to determine the best pletion of a riding ring down beyond course to take.

DECATUR SHOE SHOP First Class Shoe Repair A Trial Is All We Ask 325 E. College Ave.

*******************

OUR SLOGAN CLEAN SHOP MODERATE PRICES STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOPPE Dearborn 2671

TRY

Hewey's

Dopes and Sandwiches

YOU'LL ENJOY THEM

De. 0640 315 E. Col. Ave.

Dame Fashion Says

"Skipper Blue"

For Spring

Coats, Suits, Dresses show this distinct trend at

H. G. LEWIS & CO.

FROSH AND SOPHS TIE IN BASKETBALL

Though the Frosh-Soph game was On the sixth of February Rogers did some pretty jumping too, But the uppers never stopping the other with an arm strong enough Chandler every time she twirled herself around McCalip and every time she looked like she Watson was going to sit down but jumped up quickly and tossed the ball—for it al- Purdie ways went in. If Porter Cowles once McAuliffe got the ball all she had to do was to Spivey and Shuessler were as quick Dyer as lightning, and all the rest played as | Thompson they never played before—especially Bowman during that last minute, when the Green score was 26-26 and everybody was Glenn McAuliffe, c. breathless with excitement.

Line-up: FRESHMEN Friend, r. f. Hamilton, l. f. Rogers, c. Tindale, s. c. E. Kump, r. g. Shuessler, l. g.

SOPHOMORES Cowles, r. f. Shaw Spivey, l. f. Heath, c. Happoldt, s. c. Sturtevant, r. g. Armstrong, l. g.

Riding to be Featured During Spring Term

The spring season of sports is to be featured this year by special classes in horseback riding. This good news will be definitely heralded with the comthe May Day dell. In the riding ring will be held classes for beginners, in gaits, mounting, dismounting, and general good horsemanship. The advanced riders will still have the regular hour-trips aside from any class instruction.

Write home now for your money. You'll want to take riding! It's one of the oldest and greatest sports. And think of this! Spring coming on—a beautiful sunny afternoon! A deep woody bridle path—and a horse!

> Bailey Bros. Shoe Shop 142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies' Work DE. 0172 WE DELIVER

SENIORS BEAT SOPHS—JUNIORS BEAT FROSH

Lucky also were the Juniors, Even so the Freshman class Yelled for victory in vain.

enough to be always counted on, and SENIORS (35) SOPHOMORES (21) Stigall Ellis Cates Heath Alexander

> Miller Grimmet Peeples

Very happy were the Seniors

Seniors and Sophs Win at Water Polo

The Lupton Rooters were doing an excessive amount of yelling. Evidently the Juniors were up to something. Heard splashes, cries, choking gurgles, sharp piercing sounds interspersing these-oh-referee's whistle. Yeah, they were up against it. (Meaning the Juniors and then again the Seniors who tried to pass the entire Nor-Fleet)—Pardon puns please.

Anyhow, the first half yielded two for the Seniors. Then Smith did some unsurpassed guarding at the Junior goal. Hill and Thompson for Seniors used the utmost of Virginia wits to shove the ball between the Octopussian arms-to no avail!

The Juniors scored! Woe Seniors! No! Game closed-2 to 1 in favor of the Seen-to-be-Vacation-Seekers. May their ghastly experiences on the waterpolo field be of great use to them when they encounter the cruel Sea of Life!

The Fresh-Soph game was equally Preston exciting up to the last half. McMul-Sturtevant len, guarding for Freshmen, was an equal match for Lingle during the first half. White-enjoying her first experience as goal guard did some FRESHMEN (23) beautiful work at the post. Castle as Kaufman center was able to get the tip off at O'Brian once toss-up. Hurray for little Cassels! McMullen The second half marked an increased Gordon zeal on the part of the Sophs. With Winn their accustomed power they swiftly Kump overtook their lesser opponents and with masterful stroke Lingle rolled up Hippee the score for her compatriots and left the game 5-3.

MAISON ADOLPHE

BILTMORE HOTEL

Hemlock 6835

PERMANENT WAVING FINGER WAVING MARCELLING FACIAI HAIR CUTTING TREATMENTS PARKER TREATMENTS

> Compliments -of-

VERA BEAUTY SHOP 210 Masonic Bldg. Phone De. 1124

JOS. SIEGEL

Dependable Jeweler DIAMONDS—WATCHES CLOCKS—JEWELRY Watch Repairing a Specialty 131 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga.

SIGN UP FOR THE TENNIS COURTS

Then Visit

Parks-Chambers, Inc.

37 Peachtree

To Purchase

New Racquets and Balls

We Also Carry

Riding Breeches

Golf Clubs

BARGAIN MATINEE

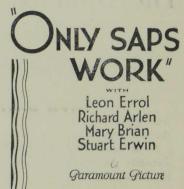

25c

11 A. M. to 1 P. M., Except Saturday

It's good for you. Love and laughs on health farm with the racketeers of roars. Even the honies are funny

STARTS THURSDAY

SHORT SUBJECTS-NEWS-CAR-TOON AND COMEDY

Hear Hal Scoggins, Jimmy Beers and Ann Howe entertaining on the Mezzanine-1 to 9:30 P. M.

Starts MONDAY, FEBRUARY 6

"THE BAT WHISPERS"

With Chester Morris

Their Yesterdays

Cheer up! Whether you're sending your friends postcard pictures of the walled city of Carcassonne next year, or riding around the country in a buggy selling lightning rods, you will probably wind up as a college professor. Our own dear instructors did not always pass their days in grading term papers and dodging bootlicks. Indeed, their turning to their own particular branch of pedagogy was in many cases only a matter of the merest chance.

Dr. Davidson began his colorful career as a banker. But as his wonderful sense of current events and his feeling for historical movements, caused him to foresee the unemployment of bank clerks in 1931, he retired from his money cage to enter the field of education.

Finally, her desire for social gaiety caused her to return to the campus where she had dissipated in her youth.

Miss Harn wanted to be a trained nurse, but started teaching in high school and decided that pill bottles teaching math at the Institute. and little white caps were not to be compared with German verbs and a ing the second grade "high, high, high up in the hills.'

Dr. Hayes taught at Robert College in Constantinople and spent his vacation roving around the Hellespont in an obsolete Turkish battleship.

Miss Haynes did social work in a mill town and was a great success, except for her one mistake in teaching the children to crochet backwards.

Miss Lillian Smith first taught Latin at the Mt. Hermon school for boys, was a banker. where her students were so inspired by the Latin Pastorals that they brought her apples and partridges.

Miss Jackson's earliest ambition was English and History. After she graduated from college, she taught Enged the war, she forsook pedagogy alto- tice at a girls' school.

STARNES

Plaids,

Stripes,

and Paisleys-- are equally Smart

with the new Suit--

Bright Scotch plaids with metal button trim in double-breasted styles—bows and colored buttons grace the blouse of Roman stripes.

Then the lovely paisley blouse, rich in color made in surplice style with a sash. These are just a few of the many attractive styles offered in blouses from $5.95 to $13.95.

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER

"BIG DEC"

gether to dole out coal to the Bostonians. To avoid comment as a feminine fueller, she used the name "E. Fuller

Dr. Robinson first taught at Texas tors for the Hopkins Jewel!

Miss Alexander began her career by Miss Florence Smith taught in a fishing village the year after she grad-Miss Sinclair's first job was teach- uated from college. It is rumored jobs, and everyone has ideas. that she began work on her Master's largely to escape the smell of spoiled salmon and limburger cheese.

> frivolity for five years after college, but one day while passing a library with a group of lilies of the field, she realized what was her true vocation.

Dr. Sweet's first case presented the problem of reporting to a German immigrant the arrival of his twin offto be a doctor, but her family side-spring. "Mein Gott!" he shouted at red-headed man in order to see if the tracked her by inducing her to major her, "I knew we'd get in trouble if we had a woman doctor!" It was this lish for two years; but when we enter- which made Dr. Sweet decide to prac-

DELICIOUS

SANDWICHES

Why did woman have to emerge Jackson" throughout the troublesome from the home? If she had just had the foresight to recognize what a cinch she had, and had stayed at home Miss Crowe worked in the book de- A. & M., the school described in chapel with her crocheting and fainting partment at Davison-Paxon's and was by Dr. Anderson as the roughest and spells, the class of '31 would not now later a personnel director at Rich's. most hard-boiled school in the country. be faced with the problem of earning Imagine the change for him now a living in an unemploying world. We among the sweet and simple competi- have our plans, though,—castles in Spain, and furnished rooms, cottages play it, and suggested to her such filled with love and cheese and trick parts as A Dog Howling on the Op- women at Duke University, while desks that turn into a kitchen stove if posite Shore or A Noise Without. But Ellen Palmer (Pratt) Rhodes, ex-'97, you press the button back of the collapsible bureau—and graduate schools. Some of the Seniors actually have > work in the Congressional library and have an apartment in Washington We need not remark that Mr. Tart where they will entertain Senators and the like. All the Senators we know gressional orgies.

> Our intellectual Miss Julia Thompat a finishing school in Richmond coaching dramatics taking phone calls, Miss Leatherman lived a life of chaperoning, riding horseback—and teaching on the side.

> > Mendelian law works the way it does

Poor Myra Jervey's life has been blighted by the dollar mark. All the vocations she has really craved—such as an ostrich farm in Africa and aviation-require capital. These disappointments have embittered her and made her absolutely mercenary. Unlike the rest of the Seniors, she is not entering a profession for service to mankind but solely for the money.

It was impossible to gain much inbers of the faculty who wanted her to Sewell, '20, is one of our playwriters.

000

we supposed she was planning to dis- Commission of North Carolina. acting, she has decided, would be too holds that position at the University strenuous, and she has therefore acson, is going to spend next winter what she is going to do, and as for Health Department at Nashville, what she wants—"my suppressed desires are suppressed," she said.

We found Chopin in the act of shear-Adele Arbuckle, Laura Brown and ing the locks of one of the Freshmen, Martha Lin Manly, '25, is one who has Kitty Purdie say they are going to but her aspirations were not at all been true to this profession since her tonsorial. "Unlike the rest of you," graduation; Farris Davis edits a magshe said, viciously clicking the scissors in the poor girl's ears, "I really want nah Press. are fat men with even fatter wives, to teach. I love to see the little things but we wish them luck in their con-|grow and develop." Just then the Myra (Scott) Eastman, '18, a part-Freshman set up a howl because a ner in the advertising firm of Eastsmall triangle had been cut out of man, Scott and Co., in Atlanta. The her neck, and we left, wondering corps of the advertising departments whether the "little things" were her pupils or the biological lab speci-

> All the other members of the Senior class gave us a glance of colossal scorn and said "Obviously, I want to get married, but I've got to teach. Do you take practice teaching? It takes up all my mornings and . . .

Our Tomorrows

Katherine Morrow wants to marry a

Greater Values Dintchuck's

 Give More Books This

> Margaret Waite Book Shop 119 Peachtree Arcade

$ L. CHAJAGE Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St.

Expert Remodeling

 VALENTINES See Mrs. Cooper at WOMAN'S EXCHANGE —for— GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE FLOWERS De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg.

^{*}*******************

Visit THE EMBLEM SHOP, INC. College and School Jewels Metropolitan Bldg. 81 Forsyth St.

* LAWRENCE'S PHARMACY

A Real Drug Store and the Nearest to Agnes Scott

Try our Toasted Sandwiches Phones Dearborn 0762-0763 309 East College Ave., Opposite

Depot, Decatur, Ga.

 *¹******************

Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

Sixtu Second Service

122 Peachtree **********************

Dennis Lindsey Printing Co.

(Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING and STATIONERY

Phone Dearborn 0976 421 Church St. DECATUR, GA.

Alumnae Today

"Doctor, lawyer, merchant," or school teacher? The versatile Agnes Scott Alumnae have chosen many different fields of work, as shown by an article in the recent Alumnae Quarterly.

Teaching is a field we almost all enter at some time in our lives. Mary Barker, '00, is a splendid representative of our hundreds of teachers, as she has been again elected as head of the American Federation of Teachers.

We find many authors. Rosa Belle Knox of the class of 1899, has just published "The Boys and Sally," which has won much favorable comment as a story of southern life for children; formation from Marjorie Daniels, as Janef Preston, '21, and Helen T. we accosted her in the library and Moore, ex-'18, have achieved awards in were constantly interrupted by mem- poetry field and Margaret (Bland) find books for them. Between searches, Barker, ex '10, has won prominence, Among our librarians, Tommie Dora however, we caught a few ecstatic having been recently appointed as phrases about the University of Chi- regional field secretary of the Americago and the "Southwest before 1800." can Library Association for the South; Knowing Weesa's histrionic ability while Lillian (Baker) Griggs, '97, is secretary and director of the Library

Ruth (Slack) Smith, '12, is dean of of Georgia.

Among those interested in medicine cepted a position as a mattress tester. and health are: Caroline Randolph, Marguerite Gerard does not know '18, technical assistant in the State Tenn.; Dorothy Moorehouse, ex-'18, superintendent of the Ophthalmic Hospital of Cincinnati, Ohio;

Among our newspaper women, azine, and Anna (Colquit) Hunter edits the book reviews for the Savan-

In the realm of advertisers, we find of Davison-Paxon's and Rich's in Atlanta read like a class roll of Agnes Scott of any recent year.

Many alumnae have entered the business world. Katherine Reid ranks high as a trainer of business people, being president of Crichton's Business College in Atlanta.

An unusual work is that being done by Bess McConnell, ex '19, as consulting decorator for eastern hotels of United Realties Co., including Grove Park Inn at Asheville, N. C., Wardman Park and Carlton, Washington, D. C.

VANITY FAIR

Luncheon—Teas—Dinners Bridge Parties

-in-

Atlanta's Favorite Tea-Room

(Next Door to the Erlanger)

* *****************

COMPLIMENTS _OF_ A FRIEND

 THE TAVERN
Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving
LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON
TEA—DINNER
11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M. Atlanta—65½ Broad St., N. W. Macon—151 Cotton Ave.

J.P. Allen & Co.

-SPORTS SHOP-STREET FLOOR.

"The Store all Women Know"

DR. WILLIAM ANDERSON SPEAKS ON VITAL CHRISTIAN PROBLEMS

(Continued from page 1) good works are of no avail; faith alone counts. Next, "we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith of Him." Faith gives us the boldness to come to God and talk to Him with something of the same love and reverent familiarity which we hold for our earthly father. Lastly, we are "kept of the student body. This concerns our by the power of God through faith habit of going to the Tea House at unto salvation." Faith keeps us safe ten o'clock in pajamas. When Mr. in God, and nothing is worthwhile until we get that settled. Have faith, for without it you can't live, you can't please God.

presented "The Challenge of Christ." men say that I am?" and it is neces- it is open to the guests of the House. sary for everyone to answer this question for himself. Jesus is the sep- feel that the best impression is not arating element of the world for made upon visitors when such embargroups are separated from one another on the basis of their relation to Christ.

Jesus' challenge to mankind is fourfold. He presents an inescapable challenge to the mind. Washington, Napoleon, Wilson-all these are great men-were gifted above men. We rejoice that they have lived-but always they are only men, human as we are. They impress but do not challenge us. Then we see this low Carpenter of Galilee and we know that we must explain this Man-recognize His challenge. We cannot be honest with life until we have explained Jesus Christ from the picture or bowed ourselves before Him.

Jesus' challenge is to the heart. His scarred hand is knocking at the door of every man's heart. By His death He purchased the right of entrance. Dr. Truett has said, "These hands are not my hands; they are Christ's: let me be careful what I handle with Christ's hands. These ears are not my ears; they are Christ's: let me be careful what I hear with Christ's ears. This mouth is not my mouth; it is Christ's let me be careful what I say with Christ's mouth. This heart is not my heart; it is Christ's: let me be careful whom I love with Christ's heart.

Jesus' challenge is to faith, and lastly, Jesus' challenge is to life. Life holds the most wonderful possibilities! It is the most wonderful thing ahead of you. What better could you do with it than to turn it over to God?

On Sunday night at the vesper service, Dr. Anderson brought the series to a close with a talk on "Prayer." Prayer is the most beautiful privilege man has. It is the only way to solve problems, and it opens to us all the * resources of God. Prayer is the thing in which God has commanded us to engage, whether we understand it or not. Moreover, it is the privilege of a saved man in relation to God, for only a saved man can pray.

We may have a problem. The question is-how can I pray about it? First, you can't pray about it until take your hands off you are willing to of it and leave it to God. Morever, of it and leave it to God. Morever, you come in Jesus' name. This is not a catch phrase which you must add to the end of your prayer so quickly that God has no time to think and refuse. It means that every saved perfuse. It means that every saved person has the same rights in the pres-

VOX POPULI (Continued from page 2)

As we mentioned before, there has, of late, been considerable criticism of the Tea House on the Campus. Very little of it has been constructive in nature. There has, however, been criticism off of the campus which we think should be brought to the notice Buttrick was here the students had to be met at the door at that hour and turned back because he wished to come Saturday morning, Dr. Anderson to the Tea Room and they were not presentably dressed. The Tea room is We, and a good many other people, rassing situations occur. It seems rather undignified for girls who have, supposedly, reached years of discretion when they come to college, to be running around the campus at night in

The spirit of the Tea House has always been one of co-operation and pleasantness. The maids are paid sufficiently so that we do not feel it necessary to tip. The meals are always carefully planned, well prepared Lupe Velez as Katusha. This is said and served. And now, for our further to be one of the best pictures these convenience, a committee is being two have eevr worked in, and the formed similar to the food commit-popularity of the two is bound to be tees in the dining rooms to which all enhanced by their work in these difficomplaints may be made. This com- cult parts. mittee will confer with the Alumnae Committee, and the House will enwishes of the students. Therefore, if a limited number of seats will be sold. they can be that accommodating, we can too! Hereafter, let us realize how fortunate we are in having an organization of this sort on the campus and until we can give constructive critieism, say nothing, or, if we must speak, let's boost!

ence of God that Jesus has. Third, you ask for whatever you want. There s not a thing in your life which you should not bring to God regularly. You are His child and should ask Him as a little child asks for something from his father. Lastly—Be content with what God decides, whether it satisfies you or not. It is hard and if He decides against your wish, it is a test of the reality of it.

DRIVERLESS AUTOMOBILE SERVICE

HERTZ DRIV-UR-SELF STATION, INC.

Wal. 8080 40 Auburn Ave.

> There is always a Welcome for Agnes Scott gidls —at— COLLEGE AVENUE PHARMACY

Theater News

The Capitol Theater inaugurates a new policy this week, starting Saturday, of a tremendously big, colorful ness and faculty intelligence are the and unusual stage presentation, called the "International Revue," presented college.—The Technique. by A. B. Marcus, who brings to Atpeople, including some of the highest envy and faculty dumbness, however.) class principals on the modern stage. It is said that the Marcus company will bring to the city one of the best dressed aggregations of show talent ever seen in the south, and the company will remain here four weeks, Jesus asked His disciples, "Whom do not open at night to the public, but presenting a new show each Saturday. Among the principals are Elmer Couty, a leading man with good looks and versatility; Faye Hammond, a comedian well known in Atlanta for having played here a couple of years ago in the company which appeared at the Capitol; Miss Bessie Singleterry the prima donna, a New Orleans girl. who will, after her engagement here, go to Universal City to make a pic ture for Universal, with Conrad Nagel

The feature picture that will start with the new policy Saturday is 'Resurrection," Tolstoy's great story, featuring John Boles as Dmitri and

The new policy at the Capitol will be inaugurated with a premiere showdeavor in every way to conform to the ing Friday evening at 8:45, at which

ŢŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖ

We are grateful for the patronage which has made it possible for the National Shirt Shops, Inc., to become the largest chain of Men's Wear Shops extending from "Coast to Coast."

National Shirt Shops, Inc.

75 Peachtree St. 38 Marietta St.

~

*****************

Informal Dance

EVERY SATURDAY

9 to 12

with

GEO. BERKEY'S BILTMORE ORCHESTRA

Music broadcast from Georgian Ball Room over WSB, so that the swirl of your footsteps will be heard in California!

Atlanta Biltmore

Atlanta's Host for Every Occasion

ૼૺૢૡઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌ

Exchanges

According to one of the deans at the University of Nebraska, love, dumbreasons for freshmen flunking out in (Editor's note:-The average freshlanta a company of seventy-five man would tell you that it is hatred,

> Perhaps, though, if we would turn on our radios and Victrolas, we would be more successful at term papers and

> In student tests made at the University of Minnesota it was proved that students study best under the influence of radio jazz .- The Hornet.

If only these students could have a speaker like Dr. Anderson!

The students at Amherst pool their money and bet on the number of hymns to be sung in chapel. All of which makes chapel a little less intolerable—that is if you win the pot.

A great scientist recently dscovered that the painful and obsolete practice of giving examinations originated in China around 1500 B. C. Let us hope that the Chinese refrain in the future 🕻 from inventing such methods of torture as giving exams and eating rice. -Blue Stocking.

"Companionate engagements" are the latest fad at Ohio State University. The plan is for boys and girls to become engaged, the boy pinning his frat pin on the co-ed. Then each is free to have dates with everyone else, just so he or she is available to the other for the important events on the campus, or for such other little events as one or the other may desire from time to time. All of which leads one to believe that the little events are the things that really count.

DEKALB THEATRE

Program Week of Feb. 16th MONNDAY-TUESDAY Feb. 16-17 AMOS and ANDY —in—

"CHECK AND DOUBLE CHECK"

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 18 "THE VIRTUOUS SIN"

THURS.-FRI. FEB. 19-20 WILLIAM HAINES

"REMOTE CONTROL"

SATURDAY, FEB. 21st "BILLY THE KID"

Erlich's Always with the New

We now present the best of the newest in Suits, Coats, and Dresses for all Spring-time occasions, moderately priced,

Erlich's

AFETERI

ATLANTA KNOXVILLE ASHEVILLE CHARLOTTE ROANOKE RALEIGH

"Nearly 4 Million Meals A Year"

Furs of Quality Deserve the Best of Care and That's What We Give Them storage. Mr. Samuel Baum will be pleased to serve you.

Fur Coats and Scarfs cleaned and glazed. Scientific cold

-Fur Salon, Second Floor.

Decatur Laundry & Dry Cleaning Co.

"The Dry Cleaner for Agnes Scott Girls"

"20% discount to the student sending dry cleaning"

DEARBORN 3162-3163

TRINITY PL. AND CANDLER ST.

DECATUR, GA.

NEW PHI BETA KAPPA MEMBERS ANNOUNCED

Robinson, Morrow, Thompson, Simpson Admitted Saturday

History of Local Chapter Described by Dr. McCain at Chapel Service.

Announcement was made of the admittance of four members of the Senior class to Phi Beta Kappa by Mr. Stukes in chpel Saturday morning, February 14.

After the processional and invocation, Dr. McCain mentioned the unique manner in which Agnes Scott obtained her chapter, for she was the first insttution under the new system of admittance ever invited to establish a chapter.

Following Dr. McCain, Mr. Stukes reviewed the essential qualifications for membership in Phi Beta Kappaloyalty. "There must be above all high and sound schoarship. It is more than crinoline. grades, for grades are a poor index of individual intelligence. Scholarship, as can best be defined, is the intangible ability to reach out for and to apply information. The realization of one's own limitations leads toward the zeal to learn, grasp, and understand more of the fundamental principles of life.

Fraternity is the second great ideal. It is that development of the individual which will lead him to be mindful of the social laws, and which will make him willing to abide by them by adjusting himself to live in a group.

Furthermore, there must be an acceptance of moral principles, sacred to society. Integrity of character is the ability to abide by the standards of honor, justice, and truth.

And, finally, there is loyalty—not only loyalty to truth, loyalty to one's fellowman, and loyalty to one's self, but also loyalty to one's institution.

The Phi Beta Kappa Society was established in 1776 at William and Mary College. It is the oldest scholaswnich are in women's colleges.

Mr. Stukes concluded his talk by announcing the names of the four new members, Katherine Morrow, Laura Robinson, Elizabeth Simpson and Julia Thompson.

Plans for Contest Made by Glee Club

Selections from "Pinafore" to Appear on Program.

There is a very interesting possibil-Scott Glee Club. Mrs. Johnson is seriously considering working up the choruses of the first act of "Pinafore" for the Spring Concert. Everyone is familiar with this charming Gilbert and Sullivan Opera, and we feel sure that no one could work it out more delightfully than Mrs. Johnson. And not only that, but the Glee Club, assisted by Mr. Johnson's students, may render the complete opera next fall Therefore, it is with the keenest andecides the other. Let us all turn out to hear the trials of Jack Rackstraw and the Tars so that they may be

Founders Day to Be | Admiral Byrd to Celebration Monday

Traditional Banquet and Minuet Will Mark Event.

Founder's Day is one of the really important celebrations at Agnes Scott. This year the twenty-second comes on Sunday and on that account the timehonored alumnae program will be given over the radio Saturday night, February 21. In this program Miss Hopkins will speak to the alumnae, the Glee Club will sing and Penelope Brown will talk on the differences which Agnes Scott in the past shows in comparison with Agnes Scott in the

A basketball game will be played the morning of the twenty-third between the Odds and the Evens.

At dinner Monday night, the Seniors will dress in period costumes as is customary and Rebekah and White scholarship, fratenity, integrity, and House dining rooms will be very festive with powdered wigs and flowered

> The following people will represent historical characters in the two dining rooms:

White House:

George Washington-Shirley Mc-

Martha Washington-Martha Tower. Betsy Ross-Marian Lee.

Patrick Henry-Mildred McCalip. Lafayette-Julia Rowan.

Daniel Boone-Martha North Wat-

Benjamin Franklin-Christian Henderson.

Thomas Jefferson-Martha Sprinkle. Rebekah:

George Washington-Ellen Davis.

Martha Washington - Adele Arbuckle.

Betsy Ross-Elise Jones. Patrick Henry-Nancy Crockett. Lafayette-Marguerite Gerard. Daniel Boone—Chopin Hudson. Benjamin Franklin-Jean Grey.

After dinner a group of Seniors will tic and collegiate fraternity in the dance the minuet in the gym. The world. There are at present 107 chap- day's celebration will close with a genral dance for everybody

Thomas Jefferson—Ruth McAuliffe.

Ga. Academy of Science Meets

Two Members of Agnes Scott Faculty Admitted.

Two of Agnes Scott's faculty, Miss Howson, and Dr. Robinson, were admitted to the Georgia Academy of Science at the recent meeting in Macon on Friday and Saturday, Februity being discussed by the Agnes ary 13 and 14. Miss MacDougall, the retiring president, spoke about "Some Higher Values of Science Study" at luncheon Friday and during the meeting presented a paper on "Inheritance in the Tailed Form of Chilodon Uncinatus," showing the application of the Mendelian law in this form of protozoa. Miss Howson spoke on "The Temperature Effect on the Reflecting ticipation that we look forward to the Power of Platinum," and Dr. Robin-Spring Concert, for the success of that son's paper was entitled "A Problem of Regions." Many from Agnes Scott attended the meetings of the Wesleyan College in Macon.

Lecture Here Feb. 26, 2:30

Exclusive Films of Antarctic Trip to Be Shown With Address.

Only one more week remains before residents of the college community, as well as several hundred visitors from Decatur, Emory, and Atlanta, will have the pleasure of listening to a first-hand account of Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd's epic airplane flight over Antarctic wastes to the South Pole.

The famous explorer will tell his own story of Little America and the Byrd Antarctic Expedition in the gymnasium next week, Thursday, February 26, at 2:30 p. m., showing in conjunction with his lecture 9,000 feet of motion pictures taken on the expedition. one whom you know loves you, wants and was awarded the Athletic Apple. These films, which have been assem- you to succeed. When Elizabeth Barbled under the personal direction of Admiral Byrd, tell a highly colorful story of the Antarctic, and are thor oughly different from the pictures recently exhibited in theaters throughout the country.

Coming as the final lecturer in the series presented this season by the Agnes Scott Lecture Association, of which Miss Catherine Torrance is chairman, the noted naval commander will arrive in Atlanta the morning of the 26th, stopping at the Robert Fulton hotel. He will immediately receive newspaper men for a short time, after which he will be the guest of the College for the remainder of the day.

In the afternoon, following the lecture, it is planned to have a reception or some social function at which the public may meet the renowned visitor. Definite plans for this affair will be announced early next week.

Admiral Byrd is now on a nationwide lecture tour, and is swinging toward the Southeast on his way to Atlanta. He is being presented here through the Pond Bureau, of New his personal manager on the tour. The undertaken the invitations. Admiral will also make an appearance (Continued on page 6)

Laura Brown Talks | Sarah Hill, As "Miss In Y. W. Vespers

Five Essential Elements of Friendship Discussed.

Laura Brown spoke in Y. W. C. A. Vespers Sunday evening on "Adventures in Friendship." Because of the numerous requests the talk is printed "College ties can ne'er be broken"these are the opening words of a song which many of us recognize. And when we go a little further into the subject we will be able to recognize the various kinds of ties that college may have.

But the ties that are nearest and dearest—the ones that we will keep the longest and love the most are the friendships made at college.

We have been thinking together at our Vesper services for the past few months about the full and creative life that Jesus lived, and how he made possible this life for all others. Anyone who has tried it, will know from experience that a person can't give for the wearers of the A. S. was folanything unless he has it himself and lowed by dancing during which parthat a quality cannot grow unless it ticipants in various sports were tagged develops by practice and usage.

The life that we live here on the particular sport. campus is one of closest intimacy and here is the opportunity for making friends such as an individual may same," certainly expressed what real friendship is. For this utter faith friendship. The realization that somelus to effort. You CAN'T fail if somerett Browning asked Charles Kingsley operative contest for the selection of for the explanation of some character- Miss Health. The various entrees repistics of his life, he answered simply "I resenting the organizations on the

(Continued on page 6)

Junior Banquet Is Set for Feb. 28

Committee in Charge of Entertainment Appointed.

Of especial interest to the Junior class is the formal banquet on February 28. Many a night has been sleepless for the Juniors, for who can decide which of the many she wants to invite? For the Junior class, this banquet is the one social event of the year-the long anticipated event. A banquet sponsored by Hoasc would be a banquet to which dates may be invited, holds an especial interest-perhaps the long-looked for "boy of your dreams" will be there.

The banquet will be given in White House dining room and, of course, there will be entertainment. Betty Bonham has the task of producing something new to amuse our guests. Mary Miller has charge of the tables. Susan Glenn will be responsible for project; later it is hoped the anthology York, with Captain H. H. Railey as the decorations, and Penny Brown has will be a bi-annual publication.

After the banquet Blackfriars will in Atlanta while here, but his engage- present "Little Women" in the gym, brought to a happy conclusion in the academy which were held this year at ment at Agnes Scott has no connec- and all the little women will be there, Sketch" was published in the Novem-

Y. W. C. A.," Wins Health Trophy

Health Week Brought to Close by Healthy Hottentot Hubbub.

The grand finale to the Health Week sponsored by the Athletic Association last week was the Healthy Hottentot Hubub on Friday night, which included the customary Miss Health contest.

Sarah Hill as "Miss Y. W. C. A." was presented the cup as Miss Health, representing the nearest approach to physical perfection. Martha Stigall as 'Miss Sophomore," placed second while Jean Grey "Miss Student Government," and Margaret Ridley, "Miss K. U. B.," tied for third place.

This interesting contest was preceeded by a program built upon those famous letters A. P. D. C.

A grand march led by Miss Hopkins and Mildred McCalip, president of the Association, started the athletic section of the program. A lead out with clever little implements of their Featuring Pretty Pansy and Pale Polly whose Punk Posture just wasn't the thing, one of the Fox' famous never have again. The person who once tongue twisters was sung heartily said, "A friend is one who knows all while many a posture was slyly imabout you and loves you just the proved in the darkness behind the pro-

A Day in Dandelion Dell, a laughthat one friend has in another brings able take off on the Miss Health Conthe real joy and responsibility of test, followed. Miss Healthy Hottentot, the dark horse of the contest, surone is back of you-someone wants passed all other contestants, such as you to succeed, is the greatest stimu- Miss Boz-o, Miss June Bug and Dracula in beauty of feature and figure

The program ended with the cocampus marched past to the music furnished by the A. P. D. C. orchestra, and were judged according to weight, posture, feet, and carriage. The curtains parted after the decision of the ujdges, to show Miss Health 1931 backed by the remaining contestants.

College Anthology Prints A. S. Verse

Poems by Gilchrist Powell. Kitty Reid Published.

"Dirge," by Kitty Reid, and "Swamp Sketch," by Gilchrist Powell, are to interesting and exciting any time, but appear in Harper's "The New Anthology of College Verse," to be published about the first of April. This anthology is a collection of verse from almost 300 colleges, and is edited by Miss Jessie Rehder, a graduate of Randolph Macon in 1929. Agnes Scott is well represented in this, the first venture of the sort in a purely college "Dirge" was first printed in the May, 1930, issue of the Aurora, and "Swamp ber issue of this year.

The Agonistic

Subscription Price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single Copies, 5 cents.

Published weekly. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF

Editor	Ruth Green
Assistant Editor	Kathleen Bowen
Feature Editor	Peggy Link
Society Editor	Harriotte Brantley
Athletic Editor	Elizabeth Cates
Alumnae Editor	Olive Weeks
Exchange Editor	Emily Squires
Joke Editor	Virginia Herrin
Art Editor	Mary Miller

MANAGEMENT

Business ManagerBetty	Peeples
Assistant Business ManagerImogene	Hudson

CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

Sarah Bowman Polly Cawthorne Diana Dyer May Schlich Susan Glenn Jean Shaw Julia Grimmet Sara Lane Smith Louise Hollingsworth Martha Williamson

Clyde Lovejoy

EDITORIAL

The true George Washington, no matter how many authors entitle their books thus, will probably never be discovered. One biography of Thomas Jefferson that biographer lauds his virtues; another exaggerates his shortcom- you've been dying to read ever since ings; he is a gentleman, and a ruffian. But one fact which no writer thus far has tried to disprove is his great influence in his quatre—something. For two weeks own time. He was, both because of his personality, and his you could read about anything that achievements, the outstanding man of the day. And just as there grew up a legend around Charlemagne, and Alfred, so the Wash- who are struggling to keep their noses ington tradition developed. His was a brave, commanding nature, reading—perhaps you are taking endowed with all the attributes of a man of character,-honor, American Literature or Bible 205. truth, justice, courtesy,—with loyalty in large letters superimpos- Would you like to go back and see if ous for the courts. If you have not now called in her honor, Sturges ed. It was natural, therefore that a good percentage of young pa- Emerson said? You could spend this them immediately so that you can be- then purchased the cottage. triots should be christened George Washington Doe in the hope of time catching up with work—or get- gin early and enjoy tennis the whole Sturges was always very loyal to upholding the tradition. But if Washington's birthday happened to ting more out of what you had had to season. We all want our courts in Agnes Scott, and made frequent visits correspond with that of the namesake, the chances were doubled been time profitably spent. that here was one to carry on the ideal. Such a one was George Washington Scott. An evidence of this was shown in his planting ature—wouldn't you like two weeks the seed of Agnes Scott in order to perpetuate the Washington in which you were really undisturbed? tradition. Even the college motto, "Add to your faith virtue; and It's a novel idea, but several of the to virtue knowledge," places the character above the intelligence. same idea. Perhaps, if the faculty felt For of what worth would calculus be, if the honor system would it wasted time, we could make some not work? Or why the finest of libraries, if no one would be courteous in its use?

It is our privilege to carry on the ideal which Washington inspired. The peculiarity of this privilege lies in the individuality of the task. Everyone must be loyal to Agnes Scott by herself. campaign is hardly a true test, for many may subscribe from self- could have so pleasant a view. The accusation of lack of loyalty. A college is best served by those of front lawn gives a first impression character who lead the college to the best of the new, while retaining the best of the old. Surely no one would wish to use candle only groomed as carefully as the inlight simply because George Washington did. But these who so ner yard, and coaxed into a similar eagerly accept electricity carry Agnes Scott past the pessimism lege would be far more pleasing. and other passing ills of the present. These followers of the Washington ideal truly add to their faith virtue; and to their virtue knowledge.

Declarations of Independence

Much has been said in praise and in blame of Agnes Scott but most of it We have inner wrongs. Our most pa- Alexander, '30, had her comedy, "Con- incidents, and places of our own generthetic and persistent inner wrong is the attitude of student toward student. We move in narrow cliques and exclude all others. Not only do we exclude others but we feel definitely hostile toward them. We are glad to pick a schoolmate to pieces. We even go so far as to gossip about our own close clique. Gossip sweeps the campus in a tidal wave and leaves us sodden in the backwash of small meanness. There must be a reason and nection with something big. there is one-we have nothing else to do. When we finish-and frequently before then—the long assignments which must be prepared, we amuse ourselves with long hours of gossip Is this unwholesome condition worthy of Agnes Scott and her ideals? It is not-nor is it a condition that should continue. The solution lies in social activities here on the campus. It is not so much the outside people we need as those who are here on the campus and whom we see daily. Can we let this opportunity pass?

What would you think of having two weeks of your very own to read what you really want to? The few who were at N. S. F. A. know what this would mean, but, for those of us who flu. don't know, it means that we be given two weeks, perhaps right before or after exams, with no assignmentsnothing whatever to do except read that book you've been wanting to all winter at home, has been very busy phe which shattered the German Emyear. It would make no difference whether it was modern fiction or Greek philosophy, but merely a little Europe this summer. time to read something besides assign-reviews of the Book Shelf, and longed her family. to know if the books were really as attractive as they are written up to be. This week it's Al Smith. Wouldn't in New York. you love to see for yourself how he managed his goat, and dogs, and monkeys, etc., in a boarding house? weeks wouldn't give you half time enough to read all you want to, but Jennings, ex '32, was married to at least you wouldn't feel so ignorant when some well-read person mentioned "the absolutely charming style of Ann Green in 'Reader, I Married at Columbia University where she is Him.'

Probaby, though, you want more seious matter. Well, there is that you saw it-or that intriguing account of the French court unde Louis the had interested you as you studied it.

But perhaps you are one of those there really was any sense to what procured a pair of tennis shoes, get Later, the college first rented, and skim over. At any rate it would have

Whether you would like to read large colleges are trying much the sort of report, but nothing that would make it seem a burden. At any ratewhat do you think?

The quadrangle at Agnes Scott is now very beautiful; we wish that people whose rooms face the front yard brilliant green, the aspect of the col-

The tennis courts have been rolled and swept and decorated with blazing new white lines. It seems a shame

Alumnae News

'29, in Atlanta.

Park Academy, Gulf Park, Mississippi. Olive Spencer, '29, is now Mrs. Nelson Jones and is living in Charlotte, Adah Knight, '29, was in town last Alfred E. Smith. week visiting Genevieve at Emory Uni-

Susanne Stone, '29, is teaching second grade in Oxford, Ga. Virginia Sevier, '27, spent February 12 in the Alumnae House.

We were sorry to learn that Charlotte Hunter, '29, has been sick with Therese Barksdale, now Mrs. George Vincent Haler, '29, is living in Little Violet Weeks, who is spending the organizing a group to go with the Agnes Scott Alumnae tours trhough Europe into ruin. In what was called Mirian Brooch, '29, now Mrs. Albert Fite Gordan, of Richmond, Va., has Have you ever read over the book recently been back in Atlanta visiting are already challenging the white

> Betty Gash, '29, has lately passed some competitive library examinations

Eliza Ramey, '29, who is Mrs. Richard Loren Gatewood, has a daughter, Jane, born sometime in January.

In the first part of January Kitty Randolf Taylor, of Decatur. They will make their home in Monticello, Ga. Martine Tuller, ex '32, is studying taking a course in journalism.

Charles Jules Hoffmann.

Mary Aiken Stull, ex '30, is now Mrs. G. H. Carson, of Bucannon, Va.

Sarah Townsend, '30, writes that West" with some of the Lupton Alumnae in the summer of 1931.

oxford may be all right for the wearjoy them as much as possible.

The Book Shelf

As usual our Alumnae are up and Wouldn't it be fun to see yourself doing things that make us proud of the in print! Well, that is just exactly very fact that we attend the school what you can do with some of the new has been concerned with externals, from which they have gone out. Jean books in the library. We find men. tagion," presented by the Atlanta ation written up in a most pleasing Woman's Club, February 17. Recent- manner. You can no longer use that ly she visited Helen Sisson Morrison, old worn-out excuse, "History is too old and dead to interest me," because Janet MacDonald, '28, is working history that has been made during our toward her Ph.D. at the University short life-time is now in print. Can of Chicago this winter. As all of you picture Alfred E. Smith keeping those who remember her will know. a West Indian goat, four dogs, a par-Janet will always be heard of in con- rot, and a monkey, and still able to live in peace and harmony? Or can Louise Brewer, '30, is secretary to a you see him playing the role of Jem professor of aeronautics at Georgia Dalton, the villian of the production, "The Ticket-of-Leave Man"? Why not Jo Barry, '30, is teaching in Gulf play with Al on Coney Island, laugh at him as an actor, argue with him as governor, hear him speak as presidential candidate, and finally spend the winter with him in Miami? Read 'Up to Now," an autobiography by

> If you don't care for a microscopic view of the life of Governor Smith, that is no excuse for neglecting our new books. An excellent summary of a period of immense and rapid changes all over the world, is given by Sir Valentine Chirol, in "Fifty Years in a Changing World." In Europe he witnessed the triumphant entry of the German armies into Paris in 1871, and for many years before the Great War he watched the Kaiser blindly steering his "Neuer Kurs" toward the catastopire and plunged the greater part of the "unchanging" East, he had great opportunities of observing the growth of new and incalculable forces which man's claims to the appointed overlordship of the colored races of the

> For those who are lovers of nature, and expect, or even hope, to spend a delightful summer in Glacier National Park, there is an adequate guide written by James Willard Schultz. "Signposts of Adventure" contains a description of all the points of interest in this old Indian reservation and relates the legends which endeared them to the red man.

Helen Jackson, also ex '32, married College Is Grieved by Loss of Miss Sturges.

Miss Philo W. Sturges, for a long time connected with the college, died she is planning a tour of the "Golden January 31. Miss Sturges first came to Agnes Scott in December, 1910, as the housekeeper for Rebekah Scott dormitory. She had been at Lucy that all of this careful work should be Cobb Institute, and because of her sucruined by people who appear on the cessful experience there, was selected courts in street shoes. A low-heeled to come here. In May, 1920, she resigned her position because of poor health and went to live in the cot excellent condition, let us all be as to the campus, the last of which was careful as possible so that we may en- on the Sunday before the college closed for the Christmas holidays.

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

Decatur Ga.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities.

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

making up those twelve hours of Bible 205, but what's the use, with a holiday and a whole week-end ahead? And besides, Conscience, there're things to be told! And Genius shouldn't be bridled-where would Gilchrist Powell and Kitty Reid be, if they'd crammed history of the Holy Land when they felt the urge for self-expression? Not in Harper's Anthology, you may lay to that. (Don't think Kitty has reached success overnight; her career began way back in the sixth grade with "'Tis the Day! 'Tis the Day!

The Birds and Bees and Flowers Say." so just keep at it—people used to laugh at Sinclair Lewis.) We really are getting on in the world, what with Jean Alexander's play, "Contagion" (some awful Morganton, N. C., epidemic, no doubt) being put on in town. Just another testimonial as to the value of a college education, Giddy; I've heard that you gave her her start.

I'm sure our unfortunate publicity has reached your willing ears; at present, we aren't "en bonne odeur," as the French so delicately put it. But it's a bad break that does nobody good, and it certainly saved Mildred Duncan a ticket the other day. She was parked outside the Fox waiting for Ruth Mctwo-fisted victim, when up stepped the Arm of the Law and pointed out that she had thoughtlessly stopped on one on. When she told him that she was

> Visit THE EMBLEM SHOP, INC. College and School Jewels Metropolitan Bldg. 81 Forsyth St.

> > STARNES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER

"BIG DEC"

Eat Junior Chocolates

The Campus Candy

"Shops" Located at

general, and all was well-which only goes to prove that over one-third of Atlanta reads the Georgian. And while we're on ads, let me mention that there is absolutely no stalling Kitty Purdie—whatever it happens to be, she (what is the name of that flea-powder?) Getz It. To-wit, she went all unsuspecting and unconscious into a men's clothing store, announced that she was from Agnes Scott, and came out with an ad, barehanded! She at tributes her success entirely to her knowledge of Applied Psychology.

You know, I'm sure, how we all feel about the rarity of dances and dates Julia Rowan really deserves the HOASC badge for doing the best work during the year toward improving social conditions at Agnes Scott-can you believe that Earl Dunlap actually ate dinner in White House the other night? In person. And afterwards Julia let him take her to a dance, and her shoe came all apart (she lost the heel, and the inside came out) and he put it all back together again with chewing-gum! Mmmmm - such a be-u-tiful couple!

One more choice morsel, and then I'll try to forsake this chatter-minded-Auliffe to extract an ad from some big ness-incidentally, this little Rumor has stalked about the campus till it's probably grown out of all proportion —but there's a Married Man who is of his favorite lines, and said he was all alone in the great city working, sorry, lady, but she'd have to move and he longs for female companionship, and even specifies the Fair Oneonly a poor Hottentot waiting for her none other than our own Mary Davis! friend, he beamed like the morning But Mary scorns him-she really doesn't know him anyway-and hangs up right in his ear whenever he calls her, on an average of five times a week. Right strong-minded of her; who knows, he might be splendid Junior Banquet material, and a man at hand is worth ten at home right

> It's dinner-time, and I must stopand I've written nothing but idle chat-

> > DELICIOUS

SANDWICHES

O, Say Can You See!

"Agnes Scott, she ain't what she used to be-ain't never gonna be no more!" That old song has been peculiarly applicable to our campus during the last year. Ever since the students put over that big campaign in the fall of '28, and members of the General Education Board visited us and expressed their rather favorable opinion of the students in dollars and cents, sun, and proceeded to set forth his the old campus has simply waked up I did mean to spend this half-hour views on smoking and family life in and blossomed forth. Of course the new steam plant and Buttrick Hall are the biggest improvements from point of view of actual size and cost and no one questions that it is a luxury not to have to wade out into the rain between history and math class, but the day students and some of those popular young persons who have callers six nights a week may question whether the new $6,000 parlors in Main are not even more important. Moving the electric wires underground and putting up forty-eight arc lights has added to the general beauty too, and has made it possible for us to admire the new shrubbery even at

We have, of course, smiled at those of the alumnae who have come back and peen so awed at the advancement made since they were here, but beware the advancement of time! The classes of the next two or three years are going to have the laugh on us, because the old song will be even more applicable then. Some time within the next twelve months they hope to start on the Auditorium and Music Building, to stand next to Buttrick. New gates will be put up at the College Avenue entrances and later, when the McDonough-Candler drive is paved through, at these two entrances. The annex to (Continued on page 6)

ter, and did mean to make this something you'd remember me by, fine and comprehensive — and now there's nothing vast about it except all the affection I'm sending you!

Yours anyway,

P. S.—You have no idea what a jar it gave my executive ears to hear a man's voice coming out of Gaines the other evening-I just knew something interesting was up; and it turned out to be nothing more sensational than Elmore's new radio—with Bill Munday broadcasting, no doubt!

W. Z. TURNER

Luggage Company 219 Peachtree St. Ladies' Purses

With exams fast fading into blessed | oblivion and Spring Holidays just vis- the Biltmore Saturday night. ible nea the end of a long road, Agnes Scotters have found themselves rather at a loss for something to do. But now come the Mid-Winter Dances at Tech and things have started off with a bang again. And we find that the charming belles of the Revolutionary Period, with their gorgeous white wigs, sweeping skirts, and dainty slippers have nothing on our Modern

Maidens. Here's proof:

The following girls attended the Mid-Winter dances at Tech: Knoxie Nunally, Helen Duke, Mart Tower, Pennie Brown, Julia Rowan, Shirley McPhaul, Jennie Sweeney, Nell Starr, Imogene Hudson, Carolyn Waterman, Natilu McKinney, Ruth Pringle, Ruth Hall, Virginia Gray, Sally Williams, Saxon Pope, Helen Scott, Upshaw Jones, Hazel Turner, Datha Wilson, Betty Cobb, Kitty Woltz, Frances

Knoxic Nunnally and Helen Duke attended Kentucky week-end at Geor-

Duke, Martha Stigall, Markie Mowry, and Blanche Lindsey.

Nina Hammond spent the week-end in Atlanta with her aunt.

A. F. Howerton attended the dance at the Candler Hotel Saturday night.

Burnett Maganos spent the weekend in Atlanta with Dot Seay.

Upshaw Jones spent the week-end with Mrs. J. B. Duncan.

Jane Claypool was in Birmingham for the week-end.

Dot Wyatt spent the week-end at home in Chicamauga.

Mallie White's father visited her this week.

Compliments of

ADDY & MILLEDGE

Corner of Ponce de Leon and Church

โดยสามารถสามารถสามารถสามารถสามารถสามารถสามารถสามารถสามารถสามารถสามารถสามารถสามารถสามารถสามารถสามารถสามารถสามาร

Mildred Epes attended the dance at Llewellyn parks spent the week-end in Decatur with Mildred Owens.

Elinor Williams stayed this week end with Mrs. Pierson.

ess, Olive Chapman, and Mary Ella Bedlinger spent Sunday in Atlanta with Mrs. Arthur Moore.

Margaret Maness, Katherine Man-

Louise Hollingsworth spent the week-end at home in Atlanta.

Betty Harbison's mother visited her

Ruth Barnett spent the week-end with Miss Lena Ottolingius in At-Florence Mangis' parents visited her last week.

Margaret Rogers visited her aunt, Mrs. A. V. Polak, in Atlanta. Ruth Pringle spent the week-end with Penny Brown. Anita Boswell has been to Greens-

Frances Farr spent last week-end boro for a visit.

at her home in Asheville.

Ann Pennington, "Fuzz" Phillips, Bella Wilson, Nancy Rogers, "Chub Hicon," and Margaret Malloy attended a tea at Elaine Heckles Sunday after-

Ruth Owen spent the week-end with Roslind Ware.

Margaret Lorenz and Gilchrist Powell visited in Birmingham.

Lucile Woodberry spent the weekend with Mrs. William Pearce.

 H. E. WILSON

> Expert Watch and Jewelry Repairing

127 E. Court Square ******

OUR SLOGAN CLEAN SHOP MODERATE PRICES EXPERT OPINION STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOPPE 153 Sycamore St. Dearborn 2671

DEKALB THEATRE

THURS.-FRIDAY, FEB. 19-20 William Haines "REMOTE CONTROL"

> SATURDAY, FEB. 21 "BILLY THE KID"

MON.-TUES., FEB. 23-24 Clara Bow -in-"HER WEDDING NIGHT"

Agnes Scott Students

Will always find a cordial welcome.

The best of food values at any

ROGERS

Pure Food Store

51 REBEKAH

ANSLEY

49 MAIN

6 REBEKAH

65 INMAN

Main Wins Brown Jug

Fun, frolic, wild shrieks, and a joyous victory for Main brought to a close the contest for the Little Brown Jug, on Thursday of Health Week. By a process of elimination, several teams with able players were forced to take their places on the side lines to watch the final game. Although the score was 29-4, and the fouling frequent on both sides, the amateur White House Patriots did honor to their red, white, and blue colors; and the Main Collegiates, appearing in racoon coats, played a fast game.

The preliminary games were very short, but hard fought. The snappy Rebekah team battled nobly against the final victors, losing, 6-16. The school spirited Day Students beat the Inman Inmates 13-7 in spite of the latter's ferocious pirate attire with skull and cross bones on their backs. Pretty playing on both sides characterized the White House-Gaines game The White House Gang won, 14-2, over Gaines, that noble domicile with its up-to-date, youthful team, its efficient water-boys, and a habit of hysteria which proved very contagious.

But shades of the past! Glum ghosts soon appeared, challenged the descendants of the Jail Birds of 1930, then came to life and showed red hearts on their backs spelling Luptonites. Ansley's Healthy Hottentots, with bobbing pig tails, burst forth with purple and white, abbreviated skirts, and emerged victorious by 18-6. Last but not least came Sturges! The Day Students and those dear, modest relics of Institute days (the recent cake-eaters) fought desperately, exhibited some nice plays, but the final score stood, 16-0 for the Day Students. The White House-Ansley game ended closely, 8-6, for White House, and Main beat the Day Students, 10-5, just before the dinner bell rang. The finals were played afterwards amidst ardent cheering, with a snake dance between halves.

All in all the contest was a success. In 1929 this type of interdormitory battle was substituted for short stunts. with the hope that wider interest and more enthusiasm would result, and this year, again, the contest for the Little Brown Jug confirmed the good slogan, "Play for Play's sake."

DIETZ STUDIO

(Formerly Temple Studio) Decatur, Georgia All Kinds of Pictures Why not try our penny pictures? 140 Sycamore.

 Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

122 Peachtree

School of Nursing of Yale University

A Profession for the College Woman interested in the modern, scientific agencies of social service.

The twenty-eight months course, providing an intensive and varied experience through the case study method, leads to the degree of BACHELOR OF NURSING.

Present student body includes graduates of leading colleges. Two or more years of approved college work required for admission. A few scholarships available for students with advanced qualifications.

The educational facilities of Yale University are open to qualified students. For cutalog and information address:

The Dean
The SCHOOL of NURSING of YALE UNIVERSITY
NEW HAVEN : CONNECTICUT

Aquatic Sophomores Defeat Juniors

A fast, well-fought game of water polo played by the Juniors and a victory for the Sophomores with the and the students. The game helped to developed into an excellent guard for students. The members of the gym the Junior team.

very good passwork on both teams. must be the proverbial school teacher Lnigle, stretching out on the water to with eyes in the back of her head, get the ball from the first whistle, judging from her ability to swat balls passed to Bethea or Ellis who, with a backwards. Brown, Watson and Bowfew more well timed passes tossed the man did good work for the students. ball between the goal posts. That is, when Smith at goal allowed them to pass by her. Final score 8-5.

Line-up: JUNIORS SOPHOMORES Ellis Bethea Green Fincher Lingle Smith Norfleet Bullard Thompson Bonham Sophomore substitution: Blundell.

They laughed when I said I could crack a joke but they stopped when I cracked it.

Gunman-Hands up or I'll blow your brains out.

Escaped Lunatic-Hahahaha-haha

 Shorthand, Typewriting, Bookkeeping, Filing, Mimeographing, Dictaphone, etc. CRICHTON'S BUSINESS COLLEGE Plaza Way and Pryor Telephone Wa. 7342

Students Down Faculty 45-11 in Volleyball

On Tuesday afternoon, February 10, the gym was the scene of the annual Sophomores last Thursday resulted in volley ball game between the faculty usher in Health Week. It was played During the first half the scoring amid the screams of the spectators and was close between the two teams. The the disgusted ejaculations of the play-Juniors made a goal at the start after ers. All was going well until a ball, a pretty bit of passwork. Lingle, up to which was meant to soar high above her usual excellent work, made several the net and the heads of the students, consecutive goals for the Sophomores. was accidentally misdirected and hit Thompson proved to be a menace to Miss Laney. At the end of the half the Junior forwards, and Fjorffeet has the score was 27-6 in favor of the department were the outstanding per-The second half was marked by some formers for the faculty. Miss Sinclair Dr. Davidson and Mr. Cunningham were the representatives for the men of the faculty. In the final score the students led the faculty 45-11.

Line-up: FACULTY STUDENTS Miss Laney Chandler Miss Havnes Watson Rockmore Miss Sinclair McAuliffe Bowman Miss Wilburn Dr. Davidson Brown Glenn Mr. Cunningham Miss B. Miller Dyer

 The Book Nook CAROLINE'S COMMUNITY SHOPPE Between 10th and 11th Sts.

All Popular Fiction No deposit or registration fee required-Rental per day 3c.

at water polo last Thursday with a

The Seniors defeated the Freshmen Bowman

In Water Polo

Frosh Lose to Seniors

The Freshmen exhibited some very good individual playing, but failed to make this count with good teamwork. Cassels played an excellent game, but once in possession of the ball, had few openings for a pass.

The Seniors played a good steady game working constantly toward their opponent's goal and usually ending the series of passes with a score. The Freshmen intercepted a good many passes but were unable to run their score up past the Seniors'.

Line-up: SENIORS FRESHMEN Thompson Kaufman Wormhaudt Friedman Cassels Willoughby Bradley Reid Brown Kethlev McMullein

* Walnut 4794 THE DAFFODIL TEA ROOM Mrs. McRee Charming and Delightful Place to Dine 81 Pryor St., N. E., Atlanta, Ga. ******

 BRYANT & THAXTON

Do you want a lamp for your Room? Why not invest one dollar and get one?

Hiking Squad Announced

Hiking, a year round sport, enjoyed by a great many Hottentots, has completed its first season. The Hiking Squad consists, of those hikers who have made 8 individual hikes, 5 organized hikes, and one ten-mile hike, thereby showing an interest in the sport and an ability to complete a definite amount of hiking.

Alexander Kump, E. Armstrong Kump, P. Lingle Massie Moore May, R. Cates Nash Dyer O'Brien Preston, B. Schlich Gordan Spivey Green Stigall Guerrant Sturtevant Happoldt Sweets Telford Woltz Hudmon, A. Wormhaudt Hudmon, M. Wright

MIDGET RADIOS

$49.50 up. Easy terms.

VICTOR and COLUMBIA RECORDS

BAME'S, Inc.

107 Peachtree St. Opposite Piedmont Hotel

 LAWRENCE'S PHARMACY

~~~~~~~~~

A Real Drug Store and the Nearest to Agnes Scott

Try our Toasted Sandwiches Phones Dearborn 0762-0763 309 East College Ave., Opposite Depot, Decatur, Ga.

The Suit, and The Coat, for Both employ the matching silk scarf—the materials are basket weaves and tweed effects—the colors in shades of green, blue, tan and yellow. Allen's features them both with equal importance in many new spring

Second Floor.

J.P. Allen & Co. "The Store all Women Know"

Certainly the Finest Achievement of Residue in the History of American Howard Architecture

The Luxuriously New Certainly the Finest Achievement of Reconstruction in the History of American Hotel

Piedmont Hotel ATLANTA

450 Rooms, Each With Bath and Shower, Radio, Circulating Ice Water, Ceiling Fan and Many Other Modern Conveniences.

RATES FROM $2.50

Ga. Student Volunteers Meet in Decatur

Outstanding college professors and other leaders of young people in the South were heard at the annual session of the Georgia Student Volunteer convened last week-end, February 13-15, at the Decatur Presbyterian Church. Agnes Scott students, church members, and friends of the movement entertained the 200 guests, representing virtually every outstanding college and university in the state.

Cornelia Wallace, the president, presided as chairman at the sessions of the conference. Among the speakers on the theme of the conference, "Our Decatur. message to the modern world," were Dr. Donald Richardson, Dr. W. T. Watkins, Dr. W. A. Smart, and Professor Garfield Evans. Besides the large Georgia representation, student leaders from Alabama, Tennessee, South Carolina, and North Carolina also attended the conference.

Cornelia Wallace was re-elected president.

> TRY Hewey's

Dopes and Sandwiches YOU'LL ENJOY THEM

315 E. Col. Ave.

Informal Dance

EVERY SATURDAY

9 to 12

with

GEO. BERKEY'S BILTMORE ORCHESTRA

Music broadcast from Georgian Ball Room over WSB, so that the swirl of your footsteps will be heard in California!

Atlanta Biltmore

Atlanta's Host for Every Occasion

A. S. C. Uses 16,000,- Hottentots Turning Cotton - Minde

dent-resident and day-in Agnes Scott there are more than five tons of coal consumed each year, or rather Union for Foreign Missions, when it each nine months, by the power and heating plant of the College?

ing to E. R. Rivers, chief engineer of ed. The Industrial Committee of Y. the College, who states that 2,800 tons are used each term.

And not only that. 16,000,000 gallons of water are used by the College and students for various purposesdrinking, laundering, swimming, etc.every twelve months, a total of a million and a quarter gallons per month, which runs up the largest water bill in

When questioned this week by a re-Agonistic, Mr. Rivers, who has been engineer on this campus for eighteen years, revealed many interesting things concerning the operation of the College's mechanical department.

The writer was taken on a tour of the steam plant and laundry, located on Ansley Street, in rear of the College. She was even invited to climb the 150-foot smokestack and get an excellent aerial view of the campus and surrounding country, but since there was considerable smoke and to be burned. flame pouring out of the mammoth chimney, the invitation was politely declined.

Inside the power plant, two enormous boilers are used to provide steam for the entire College. They are fed Only one boiler is used at a time, and school. each has a capacity of approximately 700 horsepower. There are 45,000 feet of radiation for the College steam system, and each 100 feet is served by

Once the fires are started at the beginning of school, they are not extinguished until the close of the term.

VERA BEAUTY PARLOR

Wet Finger Waves for the Busy Girl, only 50c
In the Masonic Bldg.

***** Phone Hem. 5738 THE FRENCH PASTRY SHOPPE

We specialize in Birthday and Wedding Cakes Fine Pastries for all Occasions Marcel Pahud, Proprietor 985 Peachtree St., N. E., Atlanta *****

******* DECATUR ELECTRIC CO.

Electrical Contractors Repair Work a Specialty Next Door to Post Office 109 Clairmont Ave. E. F. Atwood, Prop. Phone De. 0860. Res. De. 0701-W Decatur, Ga.

Cotton - Minded

Agnes Scott girls have been known to be scientifically-minded, or mathematically-minded, or even (sad to relate) absent-minded. But just about the most popular thing on the campus Well, that's what happens, accord- at present is being industrially-mind-W. C. A. is boosting southern industry by selling cotton hose for the mere sum of twenty-five cents in the coin of the realm. Ah! Mighty shouts from poor, slim pocketbook, and great sighs of relief from timid soul who nearly freezes every winter. All the best people on the campus-Hoasc 100 per cent-are wearing cotton hose, the porter for the Junior issue of the most appropriate and latest style. They are awfully warm on cold days, and do help the allowance famously, but most of all they are helping southern industry. No wonder "you just know she wears them.'

> They are banked each night, and on especially cold evenings are kept burning continuously. This winter has been more severe than last year's, Mr. Rivers says, and more coal has had

Mr. Rivers, who lives on College Place, has been doing engineering work with colleges for twenty-eight years. Before coming to Agnes Scott he was at Winthrop College, South Caroina, where he worked in associacoal by automatic contraptions, which tion with Mr. Cunningham, who was run in almost a shovelful each second. then connected with the Carolina

> The Agnes Scott power plant and laundry, Mr. Rivers proudly comments, is one of the best power and heating outfits of any Southern college.

> If you want an interesting introduction to the inner workings of our power plant and laundry, and if you want to know why the radiators in Buttrick, Main, etc., are warm and cold at times and rumble and bang once in a while, a half-hour visit to the plant will suf-

******** Gifts Greeting Cards Margaret Waite Book Shop

119-123 Peachtree Arcade Picture Framing Library

DECATUR TRANSFER CO.

Mrs. T. W. Tuggle
P. G. Harper, Mgr.

See us when you start to CAMP
Office phone De. 1086
Night Phone De. 2629

JOS. SIEGEL

*ૡ ૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡ*ૡૡૡૡૡૡૺ

Dependable Jeweler DIAMONDS—WATCHES CLOCKS—JEWELRY Watch Repairing a Specialty 131 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga.

Exchanges

Freedom for Seniors

That Juniors instead of Seniors should hold important offices is one of the topics discussed in the Goucher College Weekly. The Seniors should be left free from the burdens and eases of offices to pursue the-theoretical-aim of liberal education, the purely academic labor. The arguments put forward are that the prominent Juniors are capable of directing college activities, and that such authority is apt to make them more appreciative of a period for purely intellectual pur-

Actually, nothing is done about this because it takes every Senior class the best part of its fourth year to discuss the demands of time and energy made upon it by extra-curricular activities But the prospect is that some future Junior class will choose intellectual versus extracurricular activities.

New Ideas in Education

The University of Chicago will drop the present four-year undergraduate course, and in its place, a new type of college program is to be created in which the student will be able to graduate whenever he can pass a comprehensive examination. If it takes him six months or ten years it is all right with the college.

A professor at the University of Denver dreams of a "New University" which will be a reality in the near future. It will have no fraternities, sororities, or athletics, but an instiution in which a ten-year-old child can enter and demand an education. There will be no exams, quizzes, grades, and so forth, and a student may study only when he pleases.

The Ideal Exam

Many college "profs" dislike the idea of giving exams. However, there's one who actually did something about it. At Dartmouth, Robert Frost, the poet, was giving a course in poetry The authorities insisted that he give a final examination. Frost didn't care to, but, as he was under orders, he went to the blackboard, and wrote, "Do the thing that you think will please me most." Some students composed original poems; others wrote critical es-*********** says; some praised the professor. One student taking the professor at his word, simply got up and walked out.

> ****************** DECATUR SHOE SHOP

> > Work of the better kind By a skilled machanic Called for and delivered "Little Dec"

MRS. HAZELRIG'S

Have you been to Mrs. Hazelrig's place in Little Dec to eat Hot Dogs and Hamburgers? Try Them!

Magazine Notes

"The most outstanding feats of the past month (December) without question are Miss Ruth Nichols' transcontinental record-breaking flights," says the January issue of the Sportswoman. This record-smashing young woman has been flying for eight years, and has won national prominence during the past two years. She made her western flight in 16 hours 591/2 minutes, flying the last 250 miles at an average speed of 161 miles an hour, an especially remarkable feat since the weather was unfavorable for flying. Through her interest in and technical knowledge of flying and through her sportsmanship, Miss Nichols is contributing tremendously to aviation, and women's aviation particularly.

Women aviators and other sportswomen are welcoming the completion and opening of the new Curtiss Airport in New York City. The field is within easy reach of the metropolitan area and offers many facilities to flying New Yorkers, being already the base for two transport lines. It is on Bowery Bay and has ample landing room for sea planes and amphibians, as well as for land planes. Over $3,-500,000 was spent in building up this 128-acre field, 70 of which were reclaimed, by dredging and sluicing, from beneath the waters of the bay.

You can't help sympathizing with the professors, though, when you stop to think that they have to read what you write. Here are a few examples from a set of college blue-books.

make a person alive when they are only just dead. Bigamy is when a man tries to serve two masters.

Artificial perspiration is the way to Queen Elizabeth rode a white horse from Kenilworth through Coventry with nothing on, and Raleigh offered her his cloak.

When England was placed under an interdict, the Pope stopped all marriages, births and deaths for one year.

The pyramids are a range of mountains between France and Spain. Liberty of conscience means doing wrong and not worrying about it The Habeas Corpus act was that no one need stay in jail longer than he

A circle is a line that meets its other end without ending. Louis XVI was gelatined during the French Revolution. -Albion Pleiad.

L. CHAJAGE
Dixie's Leading Furrier
220 Peachtree St.
Expert Remodeling Expert Remodeling

$

FRANCES VIRGINIA TEA ROOM Luncheons—Dinners Bridge Parties Phone Walnut 4433 Atlanta, Ga. Opposite Post Office

Delectable for Lounging!

New One-Piece Pyjamas

-The most gloriously wearable pyjamas you can imagine! One-piece affairs with sashes that tie snugly at the waist . . . and voluminous trows, flowing like a skirt to the floor! So comfy . . . to study in after dinner . . . and to dance in, the last fifteen minutes before "lights"! Bizarre prints, and bright solid tones with contrasting trim. Also tuck-in styles.

-RICH'S THIRD FLOOR.

RICH'S

LAURA BROWN TALKS

(Continued from page 1) had a friend." A great physician once wrote "Your best friend strikes deeds and thoughts out of you, that you never knew were in you, and that truly were not fully formed in you till your friend woke them to life. The need of them, the whispering of their coming was there; but it took both of you to fully create them."

There are several things conducive to friendship of which-if our adventure is to be a success, I would remind you. One of these is Politeness. If you think that just because you know a person very well, you can say or do anything and she will understand because she knows you don't mean it, you are making a mistake. For a friend wants courtesy and appreciation from another. Another of these qualities is Thoughtfulness. If a friendship is to be lasting there must be an undercurrent of remembering little things, of doing the kind and thoughtful deed which will give an added joy to the day. There is the characteristic of Sympathy. There is nothing so comforting when you're blue or discouraged to have someone to whom you can spill over-someone who understands and who you know is interested in what you do and say and think. Truthfulness is an essential to Friendship which we would not overlook. If you have to "handle with care" or "manage" a friend it is not wothwhile. Hugh Black says "Trust is the first requisite for making a friend and faithfulness is the first requisite for keeping him. Respect is another essential quality—if you cannot admire to be enriched by contact with her? Just as respect for a person is necessary, so is respect for her possessions, her reticence, and her confidences an abiding law of friendship. If a person can feel that what she says in confiwill want to share further her inner unto me; thy love to me was wonderlife with the other. But there are some experiences and moments which come to all of us that we do not want to share—even with one who would understand. "We love best," Bertha Conde says, "those whose reserves are far greater than their self-revelations" we realize that this life is far fuller and more complete than it appears on the surface-there are undiscovered depths, which we know are there but may not explore.

DRIVERLESS AUTOMOBILE SERVICE HERTZ DRIV-UR-SELF

፞፠ዹ፞ጜዹጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜ<sub>ጞ</sub> ፞፠

Val. 8080 STATION, INC.

40 Auburn Ave. ***********

Bicycle Supplies and Repairs Victrola Work—Skates Keys Made

DECATUR CYCLE & KEY CO. 157 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga. N. D. Clayton, Mgr. Phone De. 4483 18 Years' Experience

*************

For Beautiful Photographs

THURSTON HATCHER

1101/2 Forsyth, N. W.

Many people say that two cannot be Blackfriars to Present IN Y. W. VESPERS friends unless they have a common outlook on life. This may be true and certainly congeniality is a quality most necessary, but I am inclined to think that when each brings his own en" in the gym Saturday night, Febindividuality into the relationship, then ruary 28. The play is a comedy in the other will love him for what he is and what he represents. Emerson says "The only joy I have in his being mine, is that the not mine is mine." And again he says "There must be very two, before there can be very

> Friendship is a miracle—the miracle of spring to the cold dull earth, and the beauty of it may be expressed in the words

> "The joy of friendship makes life so

No wealth on earth could buy that which I know;

Nor take the thing which I share with you."

I think the most beautiful friendship that I know anything about, is that which David and Jonathan shared. From the moment of meeting they felt that they belonged to each other. Out of all the chaos of the time and the disorder of their lives, there arose for these two souls a new and beautiful world, where there reigned peace and love and sweet content. It was the death of self. It was as the smile of God which changed the world to them. One of them it saved from the temptations of a squalid court and the other from the sourness of an exile's life. and revere the qualities which you see Jonathan's princely soul had no room in a girl how can you expect your life for envy or jealousy. David's frank nature rose to meet the magnanimity of his friend. During the troubulous times, they had, their love remained David's lament over Jonathan's death is fitting and beautiful. "I am distressed for thee. My brother Jonadence to another is held sacred—she than; very pleasant has thou been

> Prof. (during exams)-Young man, what do you have to say about that writing on your cuff?

> Young Man-Isn't it terrible the way the laundry treats one's shirts.

> See Mrs. Cooper at WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE

De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg.

*************** THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON TEA—DINNER 11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M. Atlanta—65½ Broad St., N. W. Macon—151 Cotton Ave. ********

> Bailey Bros. Shoe Shop

142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies' Work DE. 0172 WE DELIVER

******************** ADAMSON & COSTER CO.

Cleaners and Dyers

Decatur Branch 104 S. Candler St. Phone De. 3087

20% Off Cash and Carry Žavanananananananananananananan Žanananananananananananananananananana

"Little Women" Feb. 28

Blackfriars, under the direction of Miss Gooch, will present "Little Wom- lege and community last Wednesday four acts by Marian De Forest, adapted from Louisa May Alcott's wellknown story. "Little Women" is MacDougall, head of Agnes Scott neither a psychological analysis of Biology Department. character, nor a problem play—types so popular today-but it is a charming character study of a group of The sweep of a long flagellum or the lovable people. It promises many a rapid beat of cilia in the process of hearty laugh at Jo's antics, Amy's "airs," and Laurie's teasing. The visits to the dining oom, were fascifamiliar characters of the cast are as nating and this brief glimpse of

__Jule Bethea Mr. March_ Anna Louise Chandler Aunt March__ __Margaret Ellis _Julia Grimmet Mr. Lawrence____ Margaret Belote Laurie_____ Professor Frederick Bhaer

Marguerite Gerard John Brooke___Clara Knox Nunnally Hannah Mullett____Elizabeth Bolton

> O, SAY CAN YOU SEE! (Continued from page 3)

Inman will probably follow the Music Building, and about 1934 the alumnae expect to have the money for the new chapel to stand on the present site of Gaines. The basement and fifth floors of Buttrick have been left to be used for new rest rooms, class rooms, studios, etc., as we need them.

Under Mrs. Hastings the alumnae are working to beautify the stretch between the railroad and the street in front of the College. Plans have also been made for a formal garden between the Alumnae House and Inman.

To every student of Agnes Scott -We have the most complete Toiletries in DeKalb stock of County. Please come and see for yourself.

THREADGILL'S PHARMACY Prescriptions Filled 113 E. Court Square

ŢŢŢŢŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŖŶŶŶŶŶ Compliments

-of-

WEIL'S TEN CENT STORE

***********

Dennis Lindsey Printing Co.

(Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING and STATIONERY

Phone Dearborn 0976 421 Church St. DECATUR, GA.

Clover Leaf Bakery

Home Made

BREAD, ROLLS, CAKES, PIES AND PASTRIES

Miss MacDougall's Work Is Exhibited at DeKalb

An unusual treat offered to the colwere some moving pictures of unicellular life shown at the DeKalb Theater. The isolation of these protozoa and microscopic work of magnification was the work of Miss Mary Stuart

The pictures included various types of these minute animals in motion. food-getting, quite different from our microscopic life gave a promise of great enjoyment for those who wish Mrs. March_____Margaret Ridley to look further into the habits of this _Mary Torrance branch of the vast animal kingdom.

The reels are in the possession of -----Andrewena Robinson the Biology Department and will be Elizabeth Simpson shown on the campus when a proper projector is obtained.

> Further grading will add, too, to the beauty of the back campus. Along the line of these outdoor improvements, there is even talk of a lake! Just imagine our little sisters studying in canoes or boats! You'd really better get out the little kodak and take a snap shot to recall the Agnes Scott you know 'cause it's not "gonna be what it used to be."

ADMIRAL BYRD TO

LECTURE HERE (Continued from page 1)

tion with the one in the nearby city, and tickets of the Lecture Association will be good only for admission to the local presentation.

Dr. McCain will introduce Admiral Byrd, who will tell the complete story of the expedition, from the time it left New York in August, 1928, until the southernmost point on the earth was reached after two years of waiting, planning, and exploration.

Among the interesting features of the lecture will be thrilling details and scenes of the work at Little America, the expedition's base. At that snow-buried "city" the famed explorer passed twenty-four months preparing for the magnificent flight to the South Pole, from which he returned on November 29, 1921, the conqueror of both the South and North Poles.

> When You Are Having Coffee and Toast Try PIGGLY-WIGGLY'S Sunset Gold Bread and Velvo Coffee

"A Cheerful Little Earful"

To those who do not realize Leon has $16.75 and $29.75 Dresses

But they are not plucked out of the market by the handful or cut out by mowing machines. They are attractive enough to fill in or fit into any occasion. No matter how expensive or extensive your wardrobe is you need one, two or three of these clever little frocks that come from Leon's.

These inexpensive Dresses look more expensive because—

eon selected them as carefully as he chooses the more expensive models. They are dresses that lock right-that fit right and have the style and materials of higher-priced models. They are dresses you'd love to have, especially at the moderate price, $16.75.

Sports and Street Dresses in Prints or Plain Colors, $16.75 Up Coats for Street or Sports, $29.75 Up

225-27 PEACHTREE

Muench and Elsner

Jewelers 63 Peachtree Street, N. E. Atlanta, Ga. EXPERT REPAIRING

Decatur Laundry & Dry Cleaning Co.

"The Dry Cleaner for Agnes Scott Girls" "20% discount to the student sending dry cleaning" DEARBORN 3162-3163

TRINITY PL. AND CANDLER ST.

DECATUR, GA.

Vol. XVI

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE, DECATUR, GA., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1931

No. 15

WORLD MISSION CONFERENCE AT CHATTANOOGA

Agnes Scott Represented By Large Number of Students.

held at Chattanooga, Tenn., from February 16 to 19, Agnes Scott was well with Mrs. Harbison as chaperon, went in the Emory bus; the rest went in late for the opening meeting because of the difficulty of getting themselves were to be entertained.

Because of the importance and magby meetings from eight forty-five in the morning until ten in the evening. service at 8:45, a report of one of the six commissions, group conferences, and inspirational addresses; after lunch, a song service, a report of another commission, group conferences, and an address by some church M. Debele, Hugh Stubbins, J. S. Hall, ice with another address. Dr. J. P. McCallie was the chairman of the Congress Executive Committee, therefore presiding and making most of the anas co-chairman, he supervised the Bill Glenn, Derry Oliver, William Patwhole program.

Many of the well-known men of the church gave reports or delivered addresses, among whom were Mark A. Hasty, Joe Brown, William Drew, Matthews; James Endicott, of Canada; Steve Millet, J. T. Lowery, Walter Donald W. Richardson; Henry Wade Bowman, Jr., Dennis Cook, Bill Woods, just been here on the campus; Edward D. Grant; Albert Sidney Johnson; John and Bishop W. N. Ainsworth. All the Huff, Trawick Stubbs, John Taliaferro, were well worth attending.

The main purpose of the conferpared reports on these phases of the question: "The Missionary Message ing. and Obligation"; "The Foreign Field-Our Missionary Responsibility"; "The (Continued on page 6)

Poems of Alumna Recently Published

Mrs. Wilbur Currie Recognized as Poet.

Recently Mrs. Wilbur Hoke Currie, '25, formerly Miss Elizabeth Woltz, and sister of Katherine, was publicly recognized as a poet. Every year the International Writer's League sponsors the publication of a book of poems by each state. This year two poems by Mrs. Currie have been included in the North Carolina volume.

It is interesting to know how these poems came to be written. One, entitled "Lullaby," written in sonnet form, was composed while Mrs. Currie was rocking her little girl to sleep, while the other "Catherine's Eyes," has special bearing on Agnes Scott. It was inspired by her former college roommate, Catherine Randolph. Mrs. Currie had never before written poetry for publication. At the request of a friend, she entered her poems in the contest, and received a signal honor. ment.

JUNIOR PROM FEBRUARY 28

Preparation Complete for Annual Banquet.

The formal Junior Banquet, sponsored by Hoase, is to be held in the At the Congress on World Missions White House dining room on February 28. This is one of the most outrepresented by the largest delegation standing social events of the year, and from any college. Twelve of the girls, gives promise of great success. The color scheme, green and yellow, will automobiles with friends. They were be repeated time and again in the decorations, of which Susan Glenn has assigned to the homes where they charge. Betty Bonham, head of the entertainment committee, will provide nitude of the question of foreign mis- an interesting program, consisting of sions every minute available was taken a song and dance skit by the Thompson twins, songs by Shirley McPhaul, and The usual program for the day was a tap dance by Dot Cassel. Penny as follows: in the morning, devotional Brown is chairman of the invitation Following young men have accepted: Messrs. Bernard Anderson, Charles leader; in the evening, a regular serv- Worth Allen, William Brown, C. N. Ramsey, Adrian Newcomer, Bill Ansley, Warren Sledd, Red Ivey, Vernon Hungerford, George Dyer, Newnouncements. With Dr. Darby Fulton ton Thompson, Roy Gibson, Gus Rush, terson, Warner Hall, W. D. Cornwell, Jack Smith, John McCollum, James Wollard, Quintard Heath, Jimmy Grifaddresses brought true messages and W. B. Brown, Charles Pett, Warner Mizell, John McNair, Charles White, ence was to study the problem of for- Charles Lipborn, Francis Hill, Ed Ruseign missions and to impress all with sell, Albert Durie, Alwin Thompson, its importance and need of support. Gene Stevenson, Howard Bates, Johnny Six commissions had previously pre- Arnold, Paul Jennings, William Flem-

Agnes Scott Club To Debate Tenn.

New Double Debate System Scheduled.

Much interest is being taken in the plans of Pi Alpha Phi for the coming debates with the University of Tennessee. The debating club is reviving a plan which it used several years ago. Both colleges will have two teams, and there will be a debate between the two colleges on each campus the same night. The exact date has not yet been set, but the event will take place during the week of March 23. The subject of this debate is to be, Resolved: That legal censorship should be abol-

This system of debating was used when Randolph Macon, Sophie Newcomb, and Agnes Scott were opponents. They made of it a triangular debate, each college having three teams. It would be interesting to see the revival of this plan and to watch its develop-

ADMIRAL BYRD TO LECTURE TODAY

Present Films of Antarctic.

This afternoon at 2:30 o'cock, Rear-Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd will lecon his expedition to the South. Pole.

America was front page copy in every

The 9,000 feet of motion pictures which he brings with him to illustrate kins also read telegrams that had DuBose; Samuel M. Zwemer; Robert Frank Whitley, Earle Jones, George his lecture is not the same film that come in fom various alumnae. The has already been shown in the regufith, Richmond Chadwick, Hubert lar theatres, entitled "With Byrd at the favorites: "Home of Virtue, Faith, and "Oh hubby dear, though very bold you McSween; W. Taliaferro Thompson; Hitch, Carl Smith, George Cole, Woods South Pole," but are pictures used ex- Knowledge," and Mrs. S. Guerry clusively for Byrd's lectures. "It is a film assembled under the direct supervision of Admiral Byrd in order to show the most interesting moments in the two year exploration trip he and his crews made to Antarctica. Of course, the scene where Byrd actually flies over the South Pole is included, and could not be different from that already shown but, with this exception,

This lecture is the fourth presented by the Lecture Association, and brings to a successful close a most interesting program. The season tickets, which have been used for the past three lectures, are good for this one. Single admission fees will be two dollars for those not holding season tickets. Special attention is called to the fact that the lecture is at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and not at the customary evening hour.

"Little Women" to Be Presented Saturday

Mrs. Mary Ben Erwin to Direct Comedy.

Saturday evening at eight-thirty in the gym Blackfriars will present "Little Women," a comedy in four acts by Marian De Forest, adapted from the story by Louisa M. Alcott. The play is under the direction of Mrs. Mary Ben Erwin, '25, a former president of Blackfriars and now a teacher of expression in Decatur.

RADIO PROGRAM BROADCASTED FOUNDER'S DAY

Famous Polar Explorer to Alumnae Dinner Given at Historical Characters Imthe Biltmore.

The beautiful words of our Alma Mater ushered in the sixth annual Founders' Day program of Agnes Scott to broadcasted over the radio. The program was broadcasted Saturaround a banquet table at the Biltmore Hotel in Atlanta.

After the Alma Mater, another school song "Agnes Scott, My Agnes Scott," was sung by an octette from "I welcome you, good people true, the Glee Club. Following this, Miss To my birthday party, Llewellyn Wilburn, president of the But if you had brought a present or Alumnae Association, gave a greeting two,

The welcome would be more hardy." to all alumnae listening in. The theme of her talk was taken from the words inscribed over one of the entrances of in late, Washington, always the per-Buttrick Hall: "Having torches, they feet host, smoothed over the awkward will pass them on to each other." Then ture in the Bucher Scott Gymnasium President J. R. McCain gave a short "Why Daniel Boone, you old racoon, history of the development of Agnes You would have to be tardy, Admiral Byrd, as we all know, is Scott during the past thirty years. But come on in and get some gin a world-famous explorer, who has After this the Glee Club, under the And let us all be hearty." flown over both the North and South direction of Mrs. Gussie O'Neal John-Poles, and whose adventure in Little son of the Music Department, rendered a musical creation by Willoughby: newspaper in the country for two "Comin' Home." Miss Nanette Hopkins, Dean, followed this by an address to "her girls everywhere." Miss Hop-Glee Club sang one of Agnes Scott's Stukes sang "Love's Old Sweet Song." The closing address was made by Penelope Brown, a Junior at Agnes But remember—you married a widow!" Scott; hers was a message from the present students to the alumnae. The program was closed by the singing of the Alma Mater, in which all the alumnae were asked to join in.

Scenario for May

Mary C. Williamson Winner of Contest.

Mary Catherine Williamson, '31, has been selected as the winner of the May Day scenario contest, held recently among the students of Agnes Scott College. Presenting a diversity of characters, numerous possibilities for dances and colorful costumes, the winning scenario is an outline of an Old English May Day as presented in for its accurate historial details and its remarkable flexibility of structure as well as for its aesthetic and artistic qualities.

The May Day Committee expressed deal of interest. special appreciation for the cooperation received from the entire student body. The scenarios submitted excelled in quality as well as quantity, which indicated much thought and interest Delegates from all over the South are on the parts of the writers.

FOUNDER'S DAY CELEBRATION

personated by the Seniors.

The Annual Founder's Day celebration, to commemorate the birth of George Washington Scott, was held on the night of February 23. The dining rooms of White House and Reday evening, February 21, at six bekah were decorated with red, white o'clock, while members of the Alumnae and blue streamers, candles and a Association and of the Glee Club sat number of the famous cherry trees. George Washington presided over the banquet board, and his unique welcome made each guest feel immediately at

When bluff old Daniel Boone came situation with tactful words-

The Colonial Assembly, composed of Seniors, presented a colorful picture in their flounces and satin coats; and the ladies of that far-off day gave proof that their charm and wit was in no way surpassed by the girls of today. ovely Martha Washington archly warned George not to become too selfsatisfied. In her own words-may pretend Still you must consider

You may be first in the hearts of your countrymen

Patrick Henry was also among those present, and displayed his usual fiery

"Napoleon had his Josephine, Essex his Elizabeth-eloquence-

Day Is Chosen Dramatic Contest to Be Held at Brenau

(Continued on page 6)

Blackfriars' Skit Entitled "Men Folk."

The Georgia State Dramatic Contest, under the auspices of the Southern Association of Teachers of Speech, is to be held at Brenau on March 26, 27, and 28. During these three days, plays will be presented by the dramatic clubs of various Georgia colleges. The skit to be given by Blackfriars is entitled "Men Folk," with a Merry England during the reign of cast including Julia Thompson, Mary Charles II. The scenario was chosen Lillias Garretson and Elizabeth Simpson. Miss Gooch, who is Third Vice President of the Association, is chairman of activities. The contest promises to be very exciting. Its outcome is looked forward to with a great

> The Southern Association of Teachers of Speech will hold its convention in Atlanta on the 17th of April. At this time a program of poetry reading will be presented at Agnes Scott. expected to attend.

The Agonistic

Subscription Price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single Copies, 5 cents.

Published weekly. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF

| Editor           | Elizabeth Lightcap  |
|------------------|---------------------|
| Assistant Editor | Elisabeth Moore     |
|                  | Vivian Martin       |
| Society Editor   | Dorothy Morgenroth  |
| Exchange Editor  | Eulalia Napier      |
| Athletic Editor  | Katharine Woltz     |
| Alumnae Editor   | Bessie Meade Friend |
| Club Editor      | Porter Cowles       |
| Joke Editor      | Margaret Belote     |
| Plane Facts      | Lucile Woodbury     |
| Art Editor       | Julia Blundell      |
|                  |                     |

MANAGEMENT

| Business ManagerJul            | e Bethea |
|--------------------------------|----------|
| Assistant Business ManagerSara | h Cooper |

CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

| Nellie Brown        |
|---------------------|
| Mary Sturtevant     |
| Maude Armstrong     |
| Gilchrist Powell    |
| Florence Kleybecker |
| Barbara Hart        |
| Louella Dearing     |
| Rosalind Ware       |
| Letitia Rockmore    |
| Rosemary May        |

Margaret Glass Mildred Miller Joan Fish Margaret Ellis Virginia Heard Gail Nelson Margaret Ridley Margaret Willfong Caroline Lingle Douschka Sweets

Marie Whittle

EDITORIAL

The appearance on our campus of Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd brings us to the realization that the spirit of romance and adventure is not dead, but as strong today as it was "ages and ages ago." It is as strong now as in that supreme era of romance and adventure the Age of Elizabeth, when its most perfect embodi- idealism, our experiences in the abundment was another admiral, Sir Francis Drake, of Her Majesty's Navy.

We find that determination to answer the challenge of worlds to conquer is the pole-star in the lives of both Drake and Byrd. The challenge led Drake around the world. Sailing from England in his fleet of five small vessels, he crossed the stormy Atlantic, What can a group of students do to and attacked Porto Bello, capturing the Spanish mule trains, laden affect our country's policy in internawith treasure—gold, silver, and gems. Cut off from England by tional affairs? After a group discus- Moore, star of "New Moon," shown but with his three comrades he proved Philip's warships, the intrepid Devonshire sea-dog steered his one sion recently on 'The United States remaining ship, the Golden Hind, with its ballast and cargo of to me the Prevention of War' a girl said treasure, through the treacherous Straits of Magellan. On the I would put my interest in it and make western coast he committed such ravages as to win the title El it a life purpose, perhaps. But I Draque, the dragon of South American bed-time stories; the master know what I can do now. I'll of the gloomy Escurial flinched at these insults of the English find out what I can about this problem dragon, who was later to breathe fire upon Spain's Invincible and try to determine just what is Armada. Failing to discover the fabulous northwest passage, he my thoughts, on my heart, and in my sailed on across the Pacific and at last up the Thames to Deptford, prayers.' where he was knighted by the queen aboard the Golden Hind.

The story of Francis Drake has its counterpart today in that of Richard Byrd. Besides other adventures in his youth, he has to terests us, a place in our discussions his credit three achievements, any one of which would have made in our meditations, and prayers. him more than famous. In 1925 he was put in charge of the Navy Unit of the MacMillan Arctic Expedition, and on May 9, 1926, flew over the North Pole. In June, 1927, in a Fokker tri-motor plane he crossed the Atlantic to the coast of France; although not completely successful, the trans-oceanic flight established a record of sons flight under adverse conditions, and had great practical value. His loud. You have no oracle to utter, and latest and most spectacular achievement is, of course, his flight over the South Pole, the last great challenge of worlds to conquer. Although Byrd could by no means be knighted like Drake, he has been presented with numerous medals—ranging from the medal of want to share America's responsibility, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to the Congressional Medal of Honor.

We can imagine Drake's audience with Elizabeth and her latest offspring her noblest." councillors—their rapt and thoughtful expressions as he told of his experiences and displayed his glittering treasures. Today we are to hear, through the efforts of the Lecture Association, a similar story of romance and adventure, illustrated with pictures Sutton. Bessie Meade Friend acted as and presented by Admiral Richard Byrd.

Y. W. Vespers

The necessity for student participataining a more favorable position through studying her problems and

The speaker mentioned our policy of ary Guild for February. isolation, "a policy as old as the patriot whose birthday we have celebrated today," and our lack of co-operation as our two besetting sins in the eyes of critical Europe today. Then she went on to mention a few of the many philanthropic institutions which are being supported by Americans and which represent the true spirit of the nation, the spirit which must be emphasized and asserted and which the students of the country can advance. "But," she said "I would not have you think that the United States has been totally uncooperative in her international relations. In humanitarian work, in aid for economic recovery, in intellectual contacts, in her efforts for world peace, and in her spiritual relations, the United States has signified a willingness to break the old barriers, to acclaim the brotherhood universal, and to share full and creative living.'

Again, "We are not the isolationists, the selfish individuals we are pictured to be in the press of foreign countries. But on the other hand, aren't we forced to admit that as long as our relations with the world are as strained as they are, as long as our cooperation continues incomplete, as long as we hesitate to share less reservedly our friendship, our wealth, our ant life that is meant for all, America's responsibility will continue to be partially, imperfectly performed?

"What can we do about it all? It seems hopeless. We are bewildered and lost in the vastness of the whole situation. What can one student do needed. I'll keep the whole matter in This girl has all the essentials for a proper approach to any problem. Let us give the problem, or part of the problem that in-America's greatest poet philosopher. Emerson, in his essay on 'Spiritual Laws' has said: 'When you have given no opinion on the times, on the church on college, on parties and peryour silence answers very your fellow men have learned that you cannot help them; for oracles speak. "If we will to find a place in our country's task, we shall find it; if we we shall share it; if we believe in the future of our nation in her world relations, we must, we shall make 'time's

The special music for the service consisted of a violin duet, selections from Mendelssohn's "Elijah," played by Miss Florence Smith and Elizabeth leader.

New Books

It is said that a good book is the influence in Europe, and her growing sissippi to Colorado. The treasure off." dependence on foreign trade. The stu- hunters, to use Mr. Dobie's phrase, are > outstanding literary output of 1931. nothing on account of a series of accidents, and the thieves are left in the hands of Fate. The book is merely an adventure story.

of Russia's imperial family, her child- Halifax as a training officer. hood, her marriage to Prince William book I have recently read."

Other books of interest are "N. by E.," by Rockwell Kent, which is an exciting story of a voyage to Greenland and of adventure in that northern country; "Little America," by Byrd, which is in its 200,000; "A Jew in Love," by Ben Hecht; and "Cakes and Ale," by Somerset Maugham.

Alumnae News

The Local Alumnae had their dinner in the Pompeian Room of the Biltmore attractive after-dinner program, in- the air on the North Pole. cluding some of the minuet dances of at the Fox last week, is a cousin of the reliability of the tri-motored plane Lynn Moore, '30.

Harriet Williams, '30, is now attend- ing. the Atlantic Monthly.

Admiral Byrd

Whether or not we have never done tion in the affairs of our government best of friends. If this is true, there anything more adventurous than "camp was stressed by Marjorie Daniel, presi- are several recently published that out" overnight in our own back yards, dent of the Agnes Scott Citizenship promise to become our best friends yet we thrill when we hear the leader's Club, in her address, "The Student and among books. The first of these is challenge ring out: "Man cannot claim His Country," at vespers Sunday eve- "Coronado's Children," tales of lost mastery of the globe until he conning. The conclusion drawn from the mines and buried treasures of the quers the Antarctic continent. Down speech was that, although the United Southwest, by J. Frank Dobie. "When there lies the greatest adventure left States has done much for the world Francisco Vasquez Coronado in 1542 in exploration and aviation." That in a humanitarian way and that al- returned from his expedition in search same high courage and indominable though she possesses an idealism of the Seven Cities of Cibola, his will which carried Scott, Cook, Shackwhich is of infinite value to this world chronicler, Castanida, made this state- elton, and their valiant comrades over of growing materialism, she is occupy- ment: 'Granted they did not find the the snow-whipped peaks flamed in the ing at present a most undesirable and riches of which they had been told, heart of Byrd when he said, "It is disadvantageous position in the world they found a place in which to search with the inspiration of these great because of three things: her predom- for them.' The search has been going men that my shipmates and myself will inance in the western hemisphere, her on ever since all the way from Mistackle the problem where they left

Adventurer—Yes! A slender twelvedents of the colleges and universities Coronado's children. The children fol- year-old Virginia lad astonished his of the country can assist her in ob- low Spanish Trails, buffalo trails, cow aristocratic family by announcing that trail, and dig where there are no he was going on a trip around the taking an active interest in her afratives has been chosen by the Liter- traveled to colorful 'Frisco, across the typhoon breeding Pacific, through pic-"Two Thieves," by Manuel Komroff, turesque Suez and India. Alone, he the author of "Coronet," is another came back—to the Battery, where The two thieves were those crucified twenty reporters met him-some of together with Christ. The narrative the same reporters who met Admiral tells of their conspiracy to overthrow Byrd on his return from Antarctica. Roman rule in Judea, which comes to At the outbreak of the World War, Lieutenant Byrd of the U.S. Navy was retired as unfit for active service because of an injured leg. Undaunted "The Education of a Princess," by by this, he entered the flying service, Marie, Grand Duchess of Russia, is a and won his wings. But because of dramatic memoir of a courageous his injury he was not allowed to go woman, who tells of the intimate life overseas; instead, he was stationed at

> Here began the realization of what of Sweden, her experiences as a Red had long been his dream; he was able Cross nurse, and her escape from the to work on the possibilities of a transrevolutionists. Erskine says: "It is Atlantic flight; later he hoped to conthe most interesting and illuminating quer the North Pole. While he was not allowed to carry out his plans immediately, he did accompany the NC-4 on part of its famous flight to the Azores. In 1924 the Navy sent him to England to fly home on the R-32, and it was only by accident that he missed being on the ill-fated ship. Still nursing his dream of a polar flight, in 1925 Byrd obtained permission from the Government to take three Navy planes with the MacMillan expedition in Greenland. From the experience obtained here he was convinced of the feasibility of a flight over the North Pole; in 1926 Richard Evelyn Byrd on the night of the 21st with a most was the first man to look down from

> Hardly was he back from this con-Agnes Scott and a very clever little quest when preparations were begun skit by Mary Ben (Wright) Erwin, '25. for the flight from New York to Paris. Agnes Scott students will perhaps Thwarted by accident and weather, he be interested to learn that Grace was unable to make the first flight; and its possibilities in hazardous fly With energy and enthusiasm that ing the Richmond Normal School. She would have worn out a lesser man recently finished a course in short Byrd now threw himself into the story writing at the William and Mary preparations for the South Polar ex-Extension School, Richmond, making pedition—a much more magnificent the highest mark in the class. Her and complex undertaking than either professor has advised her to send in of his pevious adventures. He raised her stories to Harper's, Scribner's, and funds, selected the personnel, secured (Continued on page 6)

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

Decatur Ga.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities.

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

a feeling we're falling! Why, we've Sturtevant, Diana Dyer and Miss been rushing through so many head- Curlee Sinclair went to the golf exhispins, tailspins, etc. this week that old bition at the East Lake Country Club Aggie's inmates feel as free as a last Wednesday afternoon. Byrd! It takes the Hottentots to send things sky-high—just watch 'em sometime. They always cut a figure, you valescing in the hospital at Selma, can bank on that. (No, not bank, Ala., from an appendicitis operation, 'cause there ain't no future in banks). will be unable to return to school this Just the same, the way we've been semester. soaring this week is positively 'airraising. Just look!

Kitty Woltz, Martha Stigall, Helen Scott, Jennie Sweeney, and Shirley McPhaul attended the S. P. E. formal dance at the Druid Hills Golf Club Friday night.

Martha Tower was one of the sponsors of the Military Ball at Tech Monday night.

Martha Eskridge returned to school Thursday after spending several days at her home in Shelby, N. C.

Mary Miller and Louise Wise attended the Military Ball at Athens Friday night.

Jennie Sweeny and Shirley McPhaul were guests at a buffet supper at the S. A. E. House Saturday night.

Louella Dearing and Margaret Smith spent the week-end with Johnnie Turner at her home in Jefferson, Ga.

TRY

Hewey's

Dopes and Sandwiches

YOU'LL ENJOY THEM

315 E. Col. Ave. De. 0640

Aristocrat Shoes

We're flying high, but we don't have | Kitty Woltz, Bee Miller, Mary with Natalie de Golian.

Dorothy Dixon had as her guests for Dorothy Adams from Brenau.

Hall.

day night.

Louise Lake, Margaret Malloy, Lucy the week-end at Wesleyan.

spent the week-end in Atlanta with leather jacket? Mrs. M. J. Herbolsheimer.

Friday evening.

************************** THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving
LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON
TEA—DINNER
11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M.

Atlanta-651/2 Broad St., N. W.

Macon—151 Cotton Ave.

*************

******************

DECATUR ELECTRIC CO. Electrical Contractors

Repair Work a Specialty Next Door to Post Office 109 Clairmont Ave. E. F. Atwood, Prop. Phone De. 0860. Res. De. 0701-W Decatur, Ga.

********************

Agnes Scott Specials!

6 5x7 Lamoyne Style and 1 8x10 Lamoyne Photographs-$10.00 Also 20% reduction on Miniatures

Elliotts' Peachtree Studio

"Better Photographs"

Paramount Theatre Bldg. Atlanta

Air Apparel

"To whom it may concern" here's the last and latest in what the feminine flyers are wearing, according to Dorothy Long of Franklin Simon & Company. If anyone is smitten with the desire, hope, or ambition to mount higher than the birds, here's some advice you'll want, be ye pilot or be ye

Most of us as yet can only aspire to be a passenger, but even travelling by plane requires a special type of wardribe. Knitted things either in silk boucle or in woolen are indispensible. They are light in weight, yet warm when made of wool, and do not muss easily. For a Northern climate Miss Long suggests a practical three-piece knitted suit worn under a tweed coat with a fur collar. In the tropics one may travel in a silk boucle knitted costume, and a top coat in natural Marybelle Stollenwerck, who is con- camel's hair would be smart and serviceable. Smart lacey tweeds might also be used.

If one is fortunate enough to go on a long journey and there are stops over night, it is refreshing and restful for the passenger to carry in light Mrs. E. L. Duke visited Frances and luggage, made especially for plane Helen Duke in Atlanta last week-end. travel, a change of daytime costume. When evening dress is required, a lace Blanche Lindsey spent the week-end evening gown in black or in white is wrinkle and is fresh and crisp looking even though packed all day. Extra the week-end Evelyn McBrayer and blouses and scarfs would, of course, be tucked into one's bag.

For those with such colossal ambi-Mary Louise Robinson spent the tions to pilot one of those fascinatweek-end at G. S. C. W. with Betty ing mechanical birds, Miss Nichols, who crossed the continent by plane, stresses the absurdity of the show suit Nell Starr had as her guests in in white for a pilot. She points out Newnan, Ga., for the week-end: Har- the different things a pilot is called and Louise Wise. Velma Taylor en- white suit, unless of a wash fabric, a big boot! tertained them with a dance Satur- would be useless. Imagine tinkering with an automobile engine in a nice white frock!

Miss Long believes a leather jerkin Guerrant and "Chub" Hickson spent or jacket a necessity since it is windproof. In warmer climates a sweater may do, worn under the suit, but why Louise Brant and Marie Whittle give up that chance for that chic now is a plane, and if you're really Markie Mowry and Frances Duke bright, you'll see what Jean Gray can attended a dance at Margaret Bryan's do about it. Then if you're even simply can't decide because one will any "little things in life" left. So brighter, you'll meet (in some way or impress us more, but the other will be other) a Beta Theta Pi at Tech who nothing of a car. Don't crowd! I don't her man down. She must think he's know his name. Does it matter?

AGNES SCOTT GIRLS

--use--

BLACK AND WHITE CABS

-or-

Five Passengers 2 MILES 30c CALL WALNUT 0200

man. But I warn you, it may be on a rather low plane. Anyway there's plenty of high altitude stuff in this literary agony, so I think we're entitled to a little dirt, don't you? So Davidson and Mary Miller's from Birwith your permission, commission, contrition, and superstition (pardon me just speak "planely."

All of which doesn't remind meweren't you fearfully impressed by Eve Hill's father? I thought it was that's Elizabeth Simpson's policy. Did quite breath-taking when he walked you hear about her unusual behavior in the dining room last week with all on a certain day last week? After the habiliments and swagger of a big bad man from Texas, and instead of that folks talk about so much, she perfect for this wardrobe. It does not shooting out the lights and galloping cancelled all her afternoon engageaway with all the food (or at least ments, went to town and got a marcel, one or two of our fair sex) calmly led us in a word of prayer. Oh well, life Sunday best. She's one little Phi Bete at Helen Duke and Elmore Bellingrath. While Helen was getting there go that little Frances Duke and that ritzy Phi Delt fraternity pin, what Markie Mowry, dressed to kill, or do-de-o, but lumbago! And there's the lanta firms. They volunteered to get to a military ball at a Y. W. con- big success. It seems Helen not only riotte Brantley, Annie Laurie Smith, upon to do, and shows how an all ference. Let's all give the little girl got the ad, but the next week received

But, Dizzy dear, if you want some from her big advertising man. really unclean soil you should just get Penny Brown to tell you all about the cated. Other people's affairs positivecogitations and agitations over this Junior banquet date-getting proposi- Woltz actually talking to Bobby Jones tion. Why, there're going to be so and regularly dating the Tech Band many blind dates there that I'm afraid Master; with Blanche Lindsey com-There's your costume. All you need do let me tell you about Virginia Petway's problem. She is torn between two young men, declaring that she more impressed by us. Betty Bonham has been blessed with a plane, to say has also been having a time tracking pretty important to send his invitation "care Tech"! But that's nothing to Nell Starr, who handed in her man, absolutely minus an address. The committee wanted to know who was this person and did he go to Emory or the

> AGNES ADAMS Violin-Piano-Harmony Atlanta Conservatory of Music

************** DECATUR SHOE SHOP

> Work of the better kind By a skilled machanic Called for and delivered "Little Dec"

Erlich's Always with the New

We now present the best of the newest in Suits, Coats, and Dresses for all Spring-time occasions, moderately priced, $14.75 to $49.75

Erlich's

4 Peachtree St.

|Seminary. The "person" was Warner If you want the plane facts, I'm your Mizell. But don't get the idea this Junior Banquet isn't going to be the berries! Don't you think Lane Smith's swain isn't coming all the way from mingham, just for this swell blow-out. Gee, it would be a shame, wouldn't it, while I give the needle a push). I'll if their trains were late and they didn't arrive until time for the seventh course?

From the sublime to the ridiculous, being admitted to that little society came home and dressed all up in her is full of little contrasts like that. Look who's determined not to look the part. And speaking of being dressed up, was Elmore getting? No, not vo- rather only to bleed those poor Atcase of one Mary Miller, who got a bid ads, after hearing about Helen Duke's four complimentary theatre tickets

Well, Dizzy, life is just too complily leave me all agog. What with Kitty they'll have to have the menus printed plaining that something ought to be in raised type. Pardon the pun, and done about the week-ends being so short and, incidentally, trying to decide which of three dances to go to in one night, I've decided there aren't guess I'll just get on my tricycle and go home. You come to see me sometime!

Aggie.

Loew's GRAND

Week of March 2nd

MON_TUES_WED -with-

"MEN ON CALL"

Edmund Lowe Mae Clarke Warre Hymer A Fox Picture

Incomparable Prices

All Day Any Day

THURS-FRI-SAT SUCH A PICTURE

"UNDER SUSPICION"

Should Not Be Missed!! with

> Lois Moran J. Harrold Murray

Main Challenged By Day Students

Main dormitory, winner of the prized Brown Jug in the inter-dormitory basketball tournament held during Health Week, received a challenge from the Day Students to a game to be arranged later. Main accepted the challenge "with pleasure," and is eager to prove her skill to maintain her title as "dormitory champion." The challenge, which was posted on the bulletin board in the gym, reads as follows:

"In the interest of bigger and better sports, we, the day student basketball team, challenge the Main dormitory team to a game, the date to be decided on so as to suit their earliest convenience. (Signed) M. Tindale, V Petway, F. Riley, M. Belote, C. Happoldt, and Austin.'

The reply follows: "We accept with pleasure. (Signed) M. Sturtevant, M. Armstrong, N. Rogers, L. Heath, and E. Moore, Porter Cowles."

The game promises to be one of the most interesting and spirited of the play its best. But after the first quarbasketball season.

"Thought your wife's name was Susan."

"So it is."

time?"

see Peggy is short for Pegasus; Pegasus was an immortal steed; and an immortal steed is an everlasting in!"-Mountain Goat.

FRANCES VIRGINIA TEA ROOM

Luncheons—Dinners Bridge Parties Phone Walnut 4433 Atlanta, Ga. Opposite Post Office

$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$

"Gifts That Last" NAT KAISER AND CO. (Incorporated) 3 Peachtree St. Atlanta, Georgia ·***********

Visit THE EMBLEM SHOP, INC. College and School Jewels

Metropolitan Bldg.

81 Forsyth St.

**********

Informal Dance

EVERY SATURDAY

9 to 12

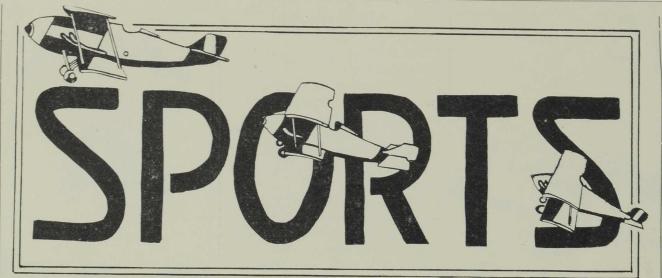

with

GEO. BERKEY'S BILTMORE ORCHESTRA

Music broadcast from Georgian Ball Room over WSB, so that the swirl of your footsteps will be heard in California!

Atlanta Biltmore

Atlanta's Host for Every Occasion

Sophomores Lose Heavily to | Evens Take Fast Game from | Seniors Beat Freshmen In Juniors.

After the Senior-Freshman game the ancient rivals—the Juniors and Sophomores—clashed in a poor but hard-fought game. Both teams wanted so much to win that neither could ter the Juniors seemed to collect their wits, and from then on played basketball superior to that of the Sophomores. Annie Laurie Whitehead hurt "Why do you call her Peggy all the her knee in the first quarter. Bessie Meade Friend played a fine game for "Step into the garage a minute. You the Sophomores, and Penny Brown shot some beauties for the Juniors. Because of many rest periods due to nag. Yes, Peggy dear, coming right minor casualties and frequent time outs, the game was long drawn out, and when the end finally came, the score stood 23-42 for the Juniors.

> JUNIORS M. Schlich, r. f.

P. Brown, l. f. B. Peeples, s. c. S. Bowman, c. D. Dyer, r. g.

S. Glenn, l. g.

SOPHOMORES P. Cowles, r. f. E. Moore, l. f. the Evens leading 12 to 5. B. M. Friend, s. c.

L. Heath, c.

M. Armstrong, r. g. M. Sturtevant, l. g. "Darling, would you like to marry a ne-eyed man?" "Certainly not!" "Then let me have the umbrella."-

Mountain Goat.

*******************

Walnut 4794 THE DAFFODIL TEA ROOM Mrs. McRee Delightful Place Charming and to Dine 81 Pryor St., N. E., Atlanta, Ga. * *********************************

 H. E. WILSON

> Expert Watch and Jewelry Repairing

> > to the the the treatment of the treatment of the treatment

127 E. Court Square

******************* ANDERSON and MEGRE BEAUTY PARLOR

> 62 Ponce de Leon Fox Theatre Building

********************** HERTZ DRIV-UR-SELF STATION, INC.

Pay By The Mile Wal. 8080 40 Auburn Ave.

$29.75

Odds.

A small crowd watched the Odd-Even game on Founder's Day, which was one of the best and fastest games of the season. The Evens took the lead in the first quarter and kept it throughout the game, with Brown and Kane constantly piling up the score to give the Evens a final score of 23 to the Odd's 18. From the beginning when the Evens came out in red. white, and blue, singing, "Three Cheers for the Red, White, and Blue!" and the Odds followed, cheering for the Yellow, Black, and White, the enthusiasm and pep was at its height. The first quarter ended 4-6 with Brown scoring most for the Evens and Cowles making the two goals of the Odds. Schuessler was right there, guarding closely and playing a great game during the second quarter. The half ended with

During the last half the Odds came back stronger. Heath could not be downed, and seemed to be all over the court at once. All the forwards began making more goals, and during the last quarter tossed some nice long shots. Cowles shot a beautiful one from the side during the last few minutes of play. The game ended 23 to 18 in favor of the Evens. The lineup was as follows:

ODDS Cowles, r. f. Sprinkle, l. f. Heath, c. Bell, s. c. Sturtevant, r. g. Grey, l. g.

EVENS Kane, r. f. Brown, l. f Bowman, c. O'Brien, s. c. Schuessle, r. g. Dyer, l. g. rey, l. g. Dyer, l. g. Substitutions: Kump for Dyer, Dyer for Schuessler, Schuessler for Kump.

Dennis Lindsey Printing Co.

(Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING and STATIONERY

Phone Dearborn 0976 421 Church St. DECATUR, GA.

******** Greeting Cards

Margaret Waite Book Shop 119-123 Peachtree Arcade

૽૽ૼઌ૽ઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌ૽૽ૼૺ૾ૺ૽૽ૼઌઌઌઌઌઌ૽૽ૼૺ

Picture Framing

SUITS Dame Fashion Says $15 "Skipper Blue" to $15

COATS

$59.50

For Spring

Coats, Suits, Dresses show this distinct trend at

H. G. LEWIS & CO.

Basketball.

Friday night at 7:30 o'clock the Senior and Freshman classes met in one of the closest, although not the most exciting, games of the season. Both teams played fairly steadily with comparatively little fouling. Although the game was slow, there were some brilliant moments. Chopin shot especially well, her balls not even touching the backboard as they went in. The Freshmen missed Nancy Rogers, but in spite of their crippled state they did remarkably well. The score at the end of the game was 27-24 in favor of the Seniors. The line-

SENIORS C. Hudson, r. f. M. Sprinkle, l. f. M. Duncan, s. c. R. McAuliffe, c. T. Grey, r. g. M. Sprinkle, l. g.

FRESHMEN M. Friend, r. f. M. Massie, l. f. Austin, s. c. F. O'Brien, c. L. Schuessler, r. g. M. Kump, l. g.

********* Mrs. Ella Buchanan Gunn Millinery 297 Oxford Pl., N. E.

Atlanta, Georgia

$

NAZIL WOOD

Piano-Harmony Atlanta Conservatory of Music

L. CHAJAGE

> Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

, $*$*$*$*$*$*$

Spring Archery Days Almost Here

The bow and arrow is making a strong bid for popularity this spring season! The Archery Club has made plans for a spectacular tournament, at which time the archery cup, a gift of Sally Sutherland, Agnes Scott alumna, will be awarded. This is the second year that the cup has been offered, last year's winner being Sallie Peake. The tournament will be the climax of an active season of archery. Shooting practice every week will be in charge of the Archery Club. The bows, arrows, and targets are in prime condition; and the beginning of the spring season will see many would-be Robin Hoods shooting on the green beside Rebekah.

Englishman (on the telephone): Yes, this is Mr. Arrison. What, you can't 'ear? This is Mr. 'Arrison-Haitch, hay, two hars, a hi, a hess, a ho, and a

"Oh, pshaw! I left my watch up-

"Never mind, it'll run down."

"No, it won't-there's a winding staircase."-College Humor.

MRS. HAZELRIG'S

***********************

Hot dogs and hamburgers are best at Mrs. Hazelrig's in "Little Dec."

TRY THEM HOTTENTOTS!

$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$

REGENSTEIN'S

Peachtree Store

Most exclusive Fur Salon in the South, where you can buy Furs ing, remodeling and cold storage.

SAMUEL BAUM, Mgr.

Muse's Ladies Shop

the Henry Grady Hotel

offers:

THE CLEVEREST OF SPRING DRESSES FOR ALL OCCASIONS

-at-

$16.75 to $39.50

and the daily passenger service between Atlanta and New York. Even ten years ago there were hardly any navigation instruments but the familiar NSWE compass, and the aviator had to fly in sight of land to know where he was. Then were developed intricate instruments to guide planes through fog and night; and Lindbergh flew to Paris. Now they've installed radio equipment in the mail planes, and the pilots can while away the dreary nights, swapping stories through the clouds. When they put in folding beds and Frigidaires, I'm

But what was I saying when I flew

You know, the funny off on that tangent? Oh, yes, vicious thing about the Wrights and their these years of airplane development, gliders are coming into style again, together with long dresses. The Germans especially (they aren't allowed many planes, so just for spite they're teaching German youth to glide) are interested in these contraptions. I shan't be the least bit surprised one day to hear that they've built an Eiffel tower, given some opa big shove and that he's expected at any moment to coast into Newfound-

Where the Crowd Meets

After the Dance

off the garage roof.

going to ask Santa for one.

Fire at Emory

The Emory Auditorium was burned main floor, which is used by the dramatic club, glee club, orchestra, and building is used as a cafeteria. It was damaged somewhat, but may possibly be used until repaired. The out the window. damages were estimated at between built in 1926 at a cost of $150,000, was partially covered by insurance.

10:50 Sunday night by Frank Andre, a mail pilot flying from Richmond, Va., to Atlanta. He swooped down over less literally speaking. They started Emory and aroused the students by off in primitive gliders, and they'd get the roaring of his engines. They immediately turned in an alarm. The they untangled themselves at the bot-Atlanta and Decatur fire engines were tom, they'd be sure theyfd been flying, able to keep the fire from the sur- just as Mother thought she was when rounding dormitories.

Coming

SATURDAY, FEB. 28

To the

FOX

"THE EASIEST WAY"

-with-

Constance Bennett Robert Montgomery Adolphe Menjou Anita Page Marjorie Rambeau

On the Stage Fanchon & Marco

"GOBS OF JOY" Idea

Al Evans and Vocal Chorus of 5,000

Enrico Leide and His Concert Orchestra

Flight-Then and Now transition between Curtis and Orville

Life's such a vicious circle I'm sure late Sunday night, February 22. The it's a wonder we aren't dizzy all the building, of Georgia marble and re-time. Let me just tell you what I puted to be fire-proof, was gutted by heard the other day. To be sure, my the flames. The fire started on the only experience with the upper atmosphere has been flying kites, and all other organizations. Many valuable I know is what I hear round about; pianos and other musical instruments but you've got to believe some things were destroyed, besides folio music and you hear, and I know it's not a June stage properties. The basement of the bug that's buzzing every time my roommate nearly precipitates herself

You remember those historic char-$50,000 and $80,000. The auditorium, acters, the Wright bothers, don't you? (I rather imagine they hid their chins in shrubbery like the Smith boys, The fire was first noticed about though, of course, one can't be sure.) Well, they were among the first to hitch their wagons to a star, more or a running start off a hilltop, and when in vouthful exuberance she jumped off the chicken-house roof, arms aflap, and bent her nose. But, best beloved, all things arise from humble beginnings, like Edward Bok and his shoestring; and now we think nothing of sending all our letters air mail. (If we have the nickel!)

To be sure, there was a period of ******* ST. PATRICK See Mrs. Cooper at WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE FLOWERS

De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg. ********

(********************** Bicycle Supplies and Repairs Victrola Work—Skates Keys Made

DECATUR CYCLE & KEY CO. 157 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga. N. D. Clayton, Mgr. Phone De. 4483 18 Years' Experience

*****

DELICIOUS

SANDWICHES

~

********************* ADAMSON & COSTER CO.

Sixty Second Service

122 Peachtree

Cleaners and Dyers

Decatur Branch 104 S. Candler St.

Phone De. 3087 20% Off Cash and Carry

******************

****************** When outings and sport oc-> feminine, frills give way to boyish attire . . . NATIONAL SHIRT SHOP, casions demand that flimsy,

Coast to Coast

75 Peachtree 38 Marietta । **************

To Dunk or Crumble

"To dunk or to crumble"—that is Jimmy Walker or crumble with Andy and Governor Carlton of Florida? For question is whether it is proper to of the worship. dip your cornpone in your potlikker and crunch on it ravenously or to Southern dish. Governor Long unin- beautiful organ. The vestments of he made a casual remark about dunkwinged velocipedes is that after all ing cornbread.

The lowly cornpone and potlikker has assumed a prominent place on the menu of the fashionable Atlanta tea room, where guests were asked to vote for their preference. An overwhelming majority favored crumbling. Governor Miller of Alabama has recommended the crumble dish as a hot consomme for the tired business men's lunch. Surely Dr. Sweet would aptimistic soul in a weatherproof glider prove of its vitamin content?

There are champions of each cause on our campus. Spivey, our last year's land; and I fully expect my children to Miss Health, says, "Crumble by all Ruby Taylor in taking potlikker and scorn roller skating in favor of gliding means." Sarah Hill, who captured this cornpone anyway you can get it. At year's title, says she doesn't eat it and was frankly puzzled when questioned. We'll have to present her with a thermos bottle of potlikker and some "good ol' southern cornpone," as the Atlanta paper sent Mayor Jimmy Walker, who made the same plea.

Although it has generally been acclaimed that Southerners crumble and Northerners dunk, this does not always prove true, for here on our own campus Douschka dunks, and Margy crumbles!

Ellen Davis says that along with the New York Times she "has no time for such trivialities, and since she's

> Shorthand, Typewriting, Bookkeeping, Filing, Mimeographing, Dictaphone, etc. CRICHTON'S BUSINESS Plaza Way and Pryor Telephone Wa. 7342

'Come in and Browse" Second-Hand Books

LONGWORTH'S BOOK SHOP

106 Forsyth St., N. W. Atlanta

Compliments -of-

A FRIEND

J. P. Stevens Engraving Company Atlanta

Wedding, Reception, Visiting Cards Monogrammed Stationery Artistic Creations with Fine Material Samples and prices upon request

103 Peachtree Street

Established 1874

Westminster Choir

The famous Westminster Choir of the question. Do you dunk with Gov- sixty voices, under the leadership of ernor Long of Louisiana and Mayor Dr. John Finley Williamson, gave a concert in Atlanta last Friday night. The choir was organized seven years the benefit of those who have not ago in the Westminster Church of eagerly followed the accounts of the Dayton, Ohio, by Dr. Williamson, who controversy which threatens to split believes that music permeated with the Solid South, in the morning paper, sincerity and truth can do more than we hasten to explain that this vital any other agency to promote the spirit

The singers, unaccompanied by any instrument, hummed with marvelous crumble your cornpone in the famous blend of tone, giving the effect of a tentionally began the agitation when wine-colored velvet trimmed with cream satin surplices fitted in beautifully with the almost celestial music.

> Walter Damrosch says, "This choir shows fine musicianship and work of understanding character second to none heard in this country."

the president of Student Government, that's to be expected.

Bessie Meade says she dunks it gracefully (with emphasis on the gracelly), as the Spaniards do their wafers in their chocolate.

Perhaps you are like Amos and any rate, as usual, you follow Emily Post, who says, "When in Rome, do as the Romans do."

Colorado claims the latest campus "racket," insurance against being called on in class. Rates vary with the questioning habits of each professor. Should a student thus insured be called upon to recite, the "company" pays him double his premium. That's nice. -Furman Hornet.

Colored Exam Pads Greet Colgate Students

Hamilton, N. Y.—Examination books with brilliantly colored covers greeted students at Colgate University during $$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$ the second week of the examination period, starting today. The innovation was fostered by H. M. Lake, professor of applied psychology, after a series of experiments had proved that the startling colors took the students mind off the impending test and thus assured better results. Some of the books bore covers of deep blue, red, *** and orange.-Emory Wheel.

> ****** DEKALB MOTOR COMPANY

> > Chrysler and Plymouth Automobiles Decatur, Georgia

MON-TUES-WED

*****************

OTIS SKINNER

—in— KISMET

ALL NEXT WEEK ON THE STAGE

Greater Atlanta FASHION EXTRAVAGANZA 40—Beautiful—40 Models Tom Brannon's Stage Band

New Spring

STARNES

COATS

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER

"BIG DEC"

Featured in two groups--

$25 and $39.75

Now that the days are warmer you must have a lighter weight coat. Allen's offers smart styles in fur-trimmed and self-trimmed coats in Skipper Blue, Marina Blue, Avocado Green, Beige, Gray and Black.

Second Floor.

J. P. ALLEN & CO.

ADMIRAL BYRD

(Continued from page 8) supplies, and made preparations for a small city. He spent two years in Ant-

We see that this man is more than an adventurer. He is explorer, executive, and also scientist. Few people know that he is a skilful navigator and an inventor. Many have thrilled at the record of his daring exploits, but there are few who know that much of his success is due to the use of aeronauti- Alma Mater. cal instruments which he himself originated. Bubble sextant, sun compass, drift indicator—terms they are to most of us, and that only. But to the Arctic flier, thanks to Admiral Byrd, they are gifts of life; they take his work out of the gray mist of chance and hazard into the clear luminence of scientific knowledge.

great expeditions, and while he thrills | Commander Byrd. at the daring exploits of the fliers, he is apt to wonder, "What's the use of it all?" Well, what is the use of it all? Let us hear what the Commander him- Byrd, conqueror of the Atlantic and He says he likes cold boiled potaters, self said before he went: "There is the two Poles. What a tale those four- He tells good jokes and tips the waitmeteorological data to be gained from teen years tell! A tale of courage, of the South Polar regions, the gaining of which alone justifies the hazards ever skyward in quest of the unknown, And he can pay for anything. encountered. These regions can teach of a "Mercury of modern civilization His line is perfect—never fails, us much about the geological ages into armed with all the precise equipment He looks the nuts in swallow-tails. which the past of the world is divided. The more we can unfold of the past and the unknown present, the better we shall know what to do for the future." Nor does Mr. Average Man know that this prophecy was fulfilled; that a whole continent was added to man's known territory; that a whole range of mountains was discovered; that specimens of animals, birds, and fish are now in our great museums which would not be there but for this

******************* DIETZ STUDIO

(Formerly Temple Studio) Decatur, Georgia All Kinds of Pictures Why not try our penny pictures? 140 Sycamore. De. 0305 140 Sycamore.

. $&$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$

RECTOR'S CAFE "Good Things to Eat" Phone He. 9115 620 Peachtree St.

-All Silk -Cradle Sole

-Picot Tops -French Heels

-Silk Foot -Full Fashioned

Every Pair Perfect

Glorifying the American ankle with Mystyle's New Style $1.00; beautiful high twist chiffons, quality never before dreamed of at so low a price!

Mystyle Hosiery Shops

136 Peachtree 57 Whitehall

116 Alabama 10 Peachtree

FOUNDER'S DAY CELEBRATION GREAT SUCCESS

(Continued from page 1) Andy had his Madame Queen, But give me liberty or death!"

After each guest of honor made a contribution to history. The banquet closed with a song to the Seniors, by their sister class, and the Preceeding this, George Washington guests to attend the dance in the gym, where there were dances ranging from stately minuet to the most modern of the modern exhibitions. A four-piece orchestra furnished the music, and did much to make the evening a success.

Mr. Average Man reads of these expedition under the leadership of Sea Island Beach, Ga.

In 1917, Lieutenant Byrd, a retired officer of the United States Navy, un- He's very tall and he can dance; fit for active service; in 1931 Admiral He has a very killing glance. dreams come true, of a spirit soaring He can talk and he can sing of research." Small wonder that the He's never known the bleak long lean world unlocks its word hoard to do homage to him!

N. C. C. W. lays claim to being the largest woman's college in the South and the third largest in the United States. The present enrollment of 1,704 is surpassed only by Hunter College, which has 4,614 students, and Smith, where the student body is 1,986. These figures are based on the report of a study made by Raymond Walker, dean of Swarthmore College.

OUR SLOGAN CLEAN SHOP MODERATE PRICES STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOPPE 153 Sycamore St. Dearborn 2671

Compliments

*********************

-of-

WEIL'S 10c STORE

Former Editor Hurt

Alice Jernigan, '30, was seriously in- Meet This Responsibility"; "The Pasjured in an automobile accident recently. Mr. and Mrs. Dowling and Mrs. characteristic speech, the Sophomore Jernigan were driving home to Sea class replied with a song which most Island Beach from Jessup, Ga., where aptly acknowledged each individual's they had been visting in Mr. Dowling's home. Mr. Dowling, who was driving at the time of the accident, was injured very slightly, but Mrs. Jernigan suffered three broken ribs and internal issued a cordial invitation to all the injuries. Mrs. Dowling had her knee cap fractured. She was taken immediately to the Middle Georgia Sanitarium in Macon, and is there now, recuperating from an operation performed on her knee. Mrs. Dowling will be in the sanitarium three weeks longer, and then will go to her home in years. He knows that most girls love gar-

He's very good-and a little bad-The ideal Prom man I've never had. -Vassar Miscellany News.

Thunderous roar from grandstand: 'We want a touchdown!'

Small Voice: "I want a sack of peanuts."-College Humor.

Bailey Bros. Shoe Shop

142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies' Work DE. 0172 WE DELIVER

RENT A NEW CAR DRIVE IT YOURSELF

Dixie Drive It Yourself System Atlanta, Georgia 6 Houston St., N. E. 14-16 Houston St., N. Phone Walnut 1870

****************** DECATUR TRANSFER CO. Mrs. T. W. Tuggle P. G. Harper, Mgr. See us when you start to CAMP Office phone De. 1086 Night Phone De. 2629

WORLD MISSION CONFERENCE AT CHATTANOOGA

(Continued from page 1) Mrs. Walter Cecil Dowling, nee Church at Home-How Can It tor and Missions-His Place of Leadership"; "The Offering of Possessions -Adequately Financing the Enterprise"; and "The Offering of Life-The Missionary Recruits, Past, Present, and Future."

The entire congress of about twenty-two hundred people was divided into thirty discussion groups, and after each presentation of a committee the groups met to discuss the question. It was generally agreed that these meetings were the most beneficial part of the entire congress.

From all the talks and discussions the conclusion reached was that the need of foreign missions is now as great as ever, that the financial and spiritual support of all church people in America is needed, and that people who feel it their duty and privilege should still offer themselves as volunteers for the foreign mission field.

Students at the University of Michigan now have to carry identification cards in order to be permitted to enter class. It was found that many outsiders were attending class and receiving a free education.

NOTICE

Cut your coupon, and play a game of golf free at the Oasis on Peachtree.

OASIS

$$$$$$$$$$$$$$

Critics acclaim it the most beautiful miniature golf courses in America. This clipping entitles you to a free round.

Peachtree Medical Place

Phone Ja. 8558

JOS. SIEGEL

\*****************

Dependable Jeweler DIAMONDS—WATCHES CLOCKS—JEWELRY Watch Repairing a Specialty 131 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga.

Los Angeles, Cal.—The board of education has discovered that 25 per cent of Los Angeles school children have never seen a cow and 50 per cent have not glimpsed a calf. But there's nothing to worry about, for the board

Each day a big truck snorts away from adjacent meadowland bearing one cow and two calves bound for public schools. Wide-eyed pupils stare at the strange horned creatures and learn all about milk and steaks and things.—(AP)

******************** LAWRENCE'S PHARMACY

A Real Drug Store

and the Nearest to Agnes Scott

Try our Toasted Sandwiches Phones Dearborn 0762-0763

309 East College Ave., Opposite Depot, Decatur, Ga.

HENRY GRADY HOTEL

PEACHTREE AT CAIN Atlanta, Ga.

550 rooms of comfort and convenience. Each room has ceiling fan, circulating ice water, radio and either shower or tub bath; corner rooms have both. Open Dining Terrace and Coffee Shop.

Rooms from $2.50.

J. F. de Jarnette Vice-Pres. & Mgr.

Compliments

-of-

TRIPOD PAINT COMPANY

The problem of being the smartest, swankiest dressed girl in school, is always solved at Leons (Q. E. D., "which has been proven") often before, for X=That unknown something called style.

Y=The price for the school girl purse, and X+Y=Leon Froshin's.

Eat Junior Chocolates

The Campus Candy

"Shops" Located at

49 MAIN

51 REBEKAH

ANSLEY

6 REBEKAH

65 INMAN

Vol. XVI

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE, DECATUR, GA., THURSDAY, MARCH 5, 1931

No. 16

Blackfriars' Play "Little Women" Is A Great Success

Large Audience Views the Popular Presentation from Miss Alcott's Novel.

Jo, Meg, Laurie, Hannah Mullet! What a host of memories the mere mention of their names brings, for who has not thrilled over the pages of Louisa M. Alcott's "Little Women"? And fully as delightful as the book, was the play "Little Women" adapted by Marion De Forest and presented Saturday night, February 28, at the Bucher Scott Gymnasium by the Blackfriars Club of Agnes Scott College. The production was directed by Mrs. Mary Ben Erwin, of Decatur, Ga., and she had done her work well, for never had the girls been more proficient in their lines and gestures. As the play progressed and the lines of the drama, the greater part of which were taken directly from the novel, "Little Women," were ably presented, sighs of satisfaction arose from the appreciative audience which filled the gymnasium.

Each of the girls was especially well suited to the role she portrayed, and the interpretations of these various Foreign Relations; Dr. J. F. Rippy, of parts were excellent. The cast of characters was as follows:

___Jule Bethea Mr. March_____ Mrs. March_____Margaret Ridley Meg_____Mary Frances Torrance Beth_____Andrewena Robinson America, and American Tariff. Amy____Elizabeth Simpson Aunt March_____Margaret Ellis Mr. Lawrence____Julia Grimmet Professor Frederick Bhaer,

John Brooke___Clara Knox Nunnally Fla. Hannah Mullet____Elizabeth Bolton room of the March House in Concord, Mass., December, 1863. The girls were seated about the fire busily discussing "Cents and Nonsence" to Be their Christmas plans. Jo, with her boyish ways; Meg, with her sweet, womanly manners, golden-haired Amy, ed by these scenes. However, hoitytoity old Aunt Mach, and Hannah Mullet, with her funny, absurd characterright touch of humor. And so well were the scenes depicted that every ery used in the various acts added Dyer is in charge of the dancing and tling for ten days, the City of New other great success for the Black- The publicty committee is Mary Miller half year of sailing, the Byrd expedi- Several times the Glee Club has been

Delegates Attend Duke Conference

International Co-operation Emphasized in Meeting.

The eighth annual Southern Students' Conference on International Relations was held this past week at Duke University in Durham, N. C., from February 26-28. Agnes Scott's representatives were Marjorie Daniel, Anita Boswell, Mry Hinck, and Dr. Davidson; there were representatives from twenty-nine southern colleges and universities present. These delegates were most pleasantly entertained during their stay; they were given a reception Thursday night a luncheon Friday noon, and a banquet Friday night. All this added much to the leisure of ther stay.

The purpose of the organization is to foster a spirit of international cooperation, and its final aim is to secure international peace. Among the prominent speakers at this conference were M. Pierre de la Nux of Paris, the League of Nations information section, who spoke in a public lecture on disarmament; Dr. George G. Wilson, of Harvard, who spoke on the effectiveness of Treaties; Dr. Edward Corwin of Princeton, who spoke on Chinese Duke; and Dr. Calvin Hoover, also of The conference consisted of round table discussions, lectures, busiclubs. Some of the topics under discussion in the round table groups were clubs for the past year has been very successful and the outlook for the accomplishment of their purpose is optimistic. The conference next year will Marguerite Gerard be held at Rollins College, Orlando, tain plants and even people in the

The curtain rose upon the sitting Juniors to Give Musical Comedy silent, dead."

in the Gym Sat., March 1.

and Genie Hudson.

Full Auditorium Sees Byrd's Film Of South Pole

Last Lecturer of Season Has As Subject Explorer's Life in Little America.

The spirit of adventure, in the person of Admiral Richard E. Byrd, came to Agnes Scott Thursday, February 26. Admiral Byrd's lecture on his experiences in Little America was not only interesting, but very enlightening. Most people know that Byrd was the first man to fly over the South Pole, but until they have heard him lecture and have seen the motion pictures taken of his expedition, they cannot realize the great importance of the work accomplished by this expedition. From his stay in the Antarctic region, Byrd brought back important geological knowledge, and by his exploration of that region was able to claim onehalf a million square miles of territory for the United States.

Admiral Byrd, after being introduced by Mr. J. K. Orr, chairman of the Agnes Scott Board of Trustees, began hs talk by contrasting the North and South Pole. The two are very different, he said. While at times part of the North Polar region is free from snow and ice, the Antarctic, which is in the clutches of an ice age, is always covered with snow. The region of ness sessions, and reports of local the South Pole is colder and windier than the Arctic region-in fact, the Jo_____Anna Louise Chandler the League of Nations, Russia, Latin average temperature which the Byrd expedition recorded for their year in The conference reports were very Little America is the coldest average stimulating; the work of the local temperature ever recorded. Though some animals sojourn during the summer around the South Pole, there is no real Antarctic life, as there are cer-Arctic region. At the South Pole, there is no life beyond the continent; in Byrd's words, "everything is cold,

After this introduction, the motion first picture was a map showing the Everyone has heard about "Cents course of the two ships of the expedito delight the audience with their in- Junior class and we know that every- down the Atlantic seaboard, through teresting chatter. Then, in rapid suc- one will be at the gym March 2, at the Panama canal, across to New cession, came scenes portraying the 8:30 to see the Juniors explain "Cents Zealand, and then down to the Antarcsweet, simple lives of the girls. And and Nonsense" in a dramatic way, tic. The two ships were the City of just as readers of the novel for years Friend Junior doesn't choose to tell New York and the Eleanor Boling, have cried over Laurie's proposal to very much about this stunt of hers, the latter being the supply ship. The Jo, and Beth's death, likewise was the but we have heard that the story is City of New York is a regular old-time audience Saturday night deeply touch- about an artist, Penn Ington Brush, sailing vessel built in 1882; Byrd exwho wants to marry a girl and can't. plained that this ship was chosen for Friend Junior will not tell us whether the expedition because of its sturdy istics, delighting the audience with he finally marries her or not and all build which would enable it to battle their idiosyncrasies, added just the we can do is to hope for the best, but its way through the ice packs. The listener felt himself back in the days Junior tells us that "Cents and Non- sign of the Antarctic, Byrd said, was of bonnets and long dresses, living sense" is a Big Depression. Neverthe- an iceberg 250 feet high. Then they over again with the March girls their less we can't be depressed for very came to a great ice pack, through long with a real honest-to-goodness which they had to fight their way. actresses were delightful and the scen- which is a Depression Chorus. Diana returned to New Zealand. After batmuch to the effectiveness of the pro- the writing committee is composed of York made her way through the ice duction. Indeed every detail of the Pufty Herrin, chairman; Peggy Link, into the open sea. On Christmas day, play had been so admirably attended Betty Bonham, Betty Peeples, and three days after they had broken to that each act was put on as smooth- Anne Hopkins. Louise Stokely and through the ice pack, they sighted the ly as a profesisonal presentation and Marjorie Woodward are in charge of sheet of ice, or barrier, which is 1000 everyone was able to say enthusiastic- costume and Ruth Greene and Cather- miles long and 500 miles wide and floats ally, at the end of the production, "an- ine Wright are managing the scenery. on the surface of the sea. After one-

(Continued on page 6)

White House Scene Of Junior Banquet

Hoase Sponsors This Social Event Saturday, Feb. 28.

The annual Junior Banquet held last Saturday night, February 28th, in White House dining room was a brilliant success. Never before has there been seen at Agnes Scott such a gay

The guests were received in the Day Student room in Main by Sara Lane Smith, the chairman of the reception of yellow and green was artistically carried out. Crepe paper streamers of those shades decorated the columns and the long tables were beautiful with bowls of yellow daffodils, tall green candles, and dainty silhouette place cards. A four-course dinner was served, fruit cocktail, chicken dinner, pineapple and carrot salad, charlotte and cake, and after-dinner mints.

During the dinner tthe Agnes Scott A. P. D. C. orchestra played many and Tech. The guests were entertained also by Dot Cassels, who did a tap dance in an attractive bell-boy costume, and the Thompson twins who sang "Sweet Jennie Lee," "I Miss a Little Miss," and "A Man Without a

At Miss Hopkins' table were the two sponsors of the Junior class, Miss Haines and Miss Hale.

After the banquet they returned to Main where after dinner coffee was served by the members of Hoasc and only three feminine characters, the other Seniors. The room was decorated with bouquets of daffodils and bridal wreath. After coffee the party attended the Blackfriars' play "Little Women" in the gym.

A. S. Girls Appear In Atlanta Papers pictures of the expedition were shown, Radio Publicity Given to Dramatic and Glee Clubs.

and timid little Beth-all were there and Nonsense," miscalculated by the tion, which was from New York city, three Atlanta papers have been carry-ticular interest in the coming contest, ing numerous pictures of the Agnes Scott girls. Sports, studiousness, and society alike are bringing the Hottentots to the public eye. In the past few weeks the papers have been full of pictures of Sarah Hill, the winner of the health contest. From almost every paper we have opened lately Sarah has smiled up at us. Quite a few of the Hottentots have been breaking into society too. Every set be prepared for anything—Friend Eleanor Boling is of metal. The first of photographs taken at the big dances contains at least two or three Scotters. Pictures of the new members of Phi Beta Kappa have appeared in almost every paper. And even Buttrick Hall, The old costumes of the actors and theme song and some choruses one of The supply ship, unequal to this task, building of our pride and joy, added to this publicity by getting its picture in the Journal.

> Not only has Agnes Scott gained also over the radio. About two weeks ago Miss Gooch presented over WSB a playlet that we may be truly proud of.

"Op O' My Thumb" Interesting Event Saturday, March 14

Dramatic Club Will Enter "Men Folk" in State Contest at Brenau.

The play, "Op O' My Thumb," by Frederick Fenn and Richard Pryce, will be given on March 14th, by Blackfriars. The story deals with a little waif, who works in a laundry, but dreams of romance. All the other girls In the dining room the color scheme have many friends and look forward eagerly to holidays, but poor little Amanda always has to make up stories so that she will not appear an orphan. Finally, romance does come to Amanda in the form of Mr. 'Orace Smith, who leaves a shirt at the laundry to be washed. And then-but come to the play and see what happens! The members of Blackfriars in the cast are Julia Thompson, Mary Frances Torpopular songs besides those of Emory rence, Mary Esther Wallace, Elizabeth Simpson, Ruth Dunwody, and Weesa

"Men Folk," a one-act play, is the one entered by Blackfriars in the state dramatic tournament to be held March 27th at Brenau under the auspices of the Southern Association of Teachers of Speech. This play reminds one of Synge's "Riders To the Sea." It is very strong for a play of its type, having grandmother, her daughter and granddaughter. It depicts the struggle for existence of sea-faring folk and deals with a dramatic incident in the lives of these three women, waiting for the only remaining man of the family to come home from a sea voyage. Julia Thompson plays the role of the grandmother; Mary Lilias Garretson, the daughter; and Elizabeth Simpson, the All year and especially lately the granddaughter. Agnes Scott has a parsince Miss Gooch, as third vice president of the Association, has the important position of chairman of all the southern states' tournaments. The Georgia Tournament has Miss LaFleur of Brenau as its chairman. The play will be given here at Agnes Scott before it is given at Brenau.

Those interested in Blackfriars will be glad to learn of several compliments that have recently been paid the club. The Commercial High School has asked the club to give "Men Folk" for them. After hearing the recent play, "Love Is Like That," by Colan Kents, given by members of Blackfriars over the radio, the Uncle Remus Associapublic notice through the papers but tion of Atlanta has asked the club to produce a one-act play for them. It is possible that either "Men Folks" or "Love Is Like That" may be given for them.

The Agonistic

Subscription Price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single Copies, 5 cents.

Published weekly. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF

| Editor           | Virginia Prettyman |
|------------------|--------------------|
| Assistant Editor | Eleanore Holferty  |
| Feature Editor   | Mary Hamilton      |
| Society Editor   | Amelia O'Neal      |
| Athletic Editor  | Nancy Rogers       |
| Alumnae Editor   | Esther Coxe        |
| Exchange Editor  | Marian Mathews     |
| Joke Editor      | Laura Ross         |
| Art Editor       | Martha Elliot      |
|                  |                    |

MANAGEMENT

| Business Manager    | Polly Gordon   |
|---------------------|----------------|
| Advertising Manager | _Louise McCain |
| Circulation Manager | Helen Boyd     |

CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

| Peggy Hippee        |
|---------------------|
| Mary Wormhoudt      |
| Rossie Ritchie      |
| Mary Dexter         |
| Frances Alexander   |
| Carrie Helen Eidson |
| Margaret Rogers     |
| Elizabeth Kump      |

Mary MacDonald Juliet Kaufman Ann Pennington Elizabeth Hickson Peggy White Martha England Elinor Hamilton Maude Anderson

EDITORIAL

Not quite six months ago girls were brought from many parts attending to business in our own deof the country to Agnes Scott, and were suddenly plunged into a partments. life as new and as strange to them as Alice's Wonderland. They were bewildered by the number of unfamiliar faces. They could not get used to the maddening regularity. They were overwhelmed by problems to be solved without the help of their parents The responsibility that had looked so good from a distance became a surprisingly heavy load on inexperienced shoulders, and the first few weeks were hard ones for those very green Freshmen. Then, little by little, things began to assume their true proportions. College life was found not to be such a terribly hard existence after all, and during the months that followed, the crowd of girls, brought together by studies and various activities, became a united class. Now, with our first student elections at hand and, after those, three years of work and play as an organized group, it may be well to think seriously of how we can solve two problems that a welcome sound, but then again we them. face all large groups of people and that sometimes play havoc in hear them with exasperation. Perthe class organizations of colleges.

The first of these is the much discussed question of cliques. At the beginning of the school year it is natural that roommates those new dresses which have just and girls who live near each other should be together as much as of all this, a bell rings. Someone jumps possible but if these small groups become self-sufficient, careless up shouting, "Oh, gee! There's that of whether or not they meet their fellow students or contribute to | bell. Must go dress for gym. Bye.' the work of the class, there is a division harmful to the spirit of And in a flash the party is broken up. that class. Agnes Scott is fortunate in that it has no sororities to Or maybe one has an unusual amount complicate this problem, but a lesser complication is found in the mechanical division of the student body into two parts: those who the noise begins. From the room next dine in White House and those who dine in Rebekah Scott. Par- door the strains of "I'm Crying Myticipation in student activities seems to be the best solution of this self to Sleep"—from across the hall difficulty, and it offers an opportunity for combatting the division comes "Hurt"—and downstairs somewhich we surely cannot afford to miss, for the achievements of a class are in direct proportion to the loyalty and cooperation of its members, and clanishness is the age-old enemy of cooperation.

The second problem, class politics, which is sometimes an exaggerated form of the first, may be found to a small extent in These are the times that will try any almost every college community, but having gained a foothold it girl's patience. But, in a long tireis a dangerous thing—capable of ruining the reputation of a school. Sometimes it is easy to "follow the leader" in voting rather than to stand up for one's own convictions against popular opinion; it is easy to vote for one's friends rather than to think of the good of realize that these bells are really most the class. But clear thinking and loyalty to convictions are neces- helpful. I dare say they have taught sary if we would be free from petty politics, which have under- us all many things which we never mined the principles of student organizations in many colleges.

These, then, are the chief problems which confront the Fresh- we can concentrate; we value each men on their class' "coming of age." If the class of '34 can avoid minute. At home we never think of division by cliques and can remain free from political wrangles, it will stand an excellent chance of doing fine work and of being a which countless things may be accredit to Agnes Scott.

Alumnae News

Saturday evening, February 21, found many Agnes Scott alumnae at money. This seems to be one of the their radios, listening to the Founder's necessary evils in every college, but Day Program. Groups of alumnae in generally everything possible is done all parts of the country gathered for to gratify this need. However, at dinner, and enjoyed the program to- Agnes Scott one method of obtaining gether. Many telegrams to Miss Hop- money, though it is an indirect one, has kins and Dr. McCain told of their ap- been left untried. Everyone knows that preciation of it. Helen Brown Wil- a great deal of money is spent on Sunliams, president of the class of '29, days at the various drugstores. Someenjoyed the splendid program as she how, not going to classes seems to give listened in from Little Rock Ark. one time to think of the stomach, and trations, however, are even more allur-Martha Stackhouse sent best wishes there is a steady stream of orders for the program from Stanton, Va., and from Hewey's and Lawrence's all day Sara Townsend, '30, was listening in long. Now we think that the Tea with a "bunch of old squatters" in House would be the "answer to the Lenore Gardner, '29, was married on February 21 to Clarence McMillan, of Camilla, Ga.

written by Jean Alexander, '30.

Jane Bailey Hall Hefner, '30, is visiting in Shelbyville, Ky.

in Farmville, Va.

Leslie Gaylord.

Exchanges

Baldwin has had experience in Getting Out a Paper Getting out a paper is no picnic.

silly.

serious.

say we lack variety. If we publish things from other papers, we are too lazy to write.

be out rustling news. If we are rustling news, we are not

If we don't print contributions, we don't show proper appreciation. If we print them the paper is filled with junk.

Like as not some fellow will say we swiped this from an exchange.

So we did.—K. G. U. Log Book.

This comment on bells comes from fact we live by bells.

haps a crowd is gathered in a room habit of waiting until the hostess has having a wonderful time—telling jokes served everyone before we begin eat- Coulter, managing editor of the Quarbell rings-study hour is over, and one is enjoying (?) "Mule-Face Blues." Study on? Gee whiz!

Perhaps the climax of an exciting story has been reached—the most recent novel. The toll of a bell! Down goes the book and out the lights! some lesson! Eyes fastened on a watch -and every single girl counting the

When we stop to think though, we learned before we came to Converse. Now we are prompt; we are accurate; fifteen minutes as any length of time; but here fifteen minutes is an age, in complished.

We Hatters Think

Agnes Scott, so we hear, needs maiden's prayer" as it were. Why couldn't it be kept open on Sundays and, although Dr. Hewey and Dr. "Contagion," a comedy in three acts, Lawrence probably wouldn't particuwhich was presented by the Atlanta larly appreciate this advice, keep on Woman's Club on February 17, was the campus some of the money that goes into their cash registers.

Quiet is something that one reads Ruth Worth, '29, was secretary of about but never experiences. Although the Student Volunteer Convention held there are prescribed hours for it, they never seem to be observed. All dur-Georgia Watson, '28, is visiting Miss ing study hours the continual buzz of talking reaches the ears and occasionally the jazzy notes of "Ding Dong Daddy" or "Betty Co-ed" may be heard from nearby portables. Even during the blessing before meals there The Campus Comments of Mary is always an undercurrent of giggles and whispers. Evening prayers also receive their share of the loquacity of the campus. Do people never feel the at the court theater. The scenery is If we print jokes, folks say we are need of quiet?—or are those who do feel it freaks? No one seems to be If we don't, they say we are too able to carry on an evening of study without a steady accompaniment of If we publish original matter, they shouts and laughter from the lucky ones who have nothing else to do. But it seems to me that the girl who has a theme to write or calculus to do de-If we stay on the job we ought to serves some consideration, and it's up to all the rest of us to give it to her.

Some of our fond parents had the idea that at Agnes Scott their daughters would become even more polished and refined. And strange to say, we thought so too for the first week or so-but after that! In the dining room especially, we seemed to lose all trace China. of daintiness. The lack of manners there, seems deplorable. I wonder if all mothers groaned in spirit when their daughters came to meals during the Parley Voo of Converse College: the Christmas holidays. I know one Bells! Bells! Bells! The first thing girl whose father told her that he in the morning. We get up by bells; thought her table manners when she we eat by bells; we read by bells; we left were atrocious, but that he had study by bells; we sleep by bells—in now concluded that they were perfect then! It's pitiful, isn't it? And there Sometimes the ringing of the bells is are so many ways we could improve For instance, we could stress the

ing. Of course everyone knows such easily the habit of doing them. Then, too, I think we should be more careful points of politeness and daintiness, our about regarding the silent period for manners would be greatly improved, irreverent even an occasional giggle less annoyance to our parents when sounds then? There are lots of other we finally return to their sheltering of studying to do. And in no time a things that could be discussed, but if arms. we could just observe the common

The Book Shelf

What do you suppose I discovered on the Book Shelf in the library the other day? An absorbing volume written by Pincess Der Ling, who lectured here at Agnes Scott in December. It has a yellow binding, yellow being the imperial color of the Chinese Manchu count. Its title is "Two Years in the Forbidden City." Even these external features are arresting.

The printed pages and rich illusing. They contain the most interesting descriptions of the Manchu court. The Princess calls a certain structure 'a magnificent building just one mass of exquisite carving." She tells of the costumes with their peacock feathers, jade, pearls, and embroidered peonies (and on the first day of summer the ladies must begin to wear jade hairpns in pace of the gold)! She describes the pork prepared in ten different ways and the bread made into flowers and butterflies! What pretty court legends she introduces, such as that of the rabbit in the moon and the cock in the sun! She tells of ceremonies: placing a candy offering before the Kitchen God, decorating each tree and flower of the garden with a piece of red silk on the birthday of the flowers and trees. One of the most interesting descriptions is that of a play particularly clever: a cotton cloud, a pink satin lotus flower whose petals open revealing a lady buddha in white

But even these fascinating details would become tiresome if they were not woven into a story. This story is of the first year that Princess Der Ling served the late Empress Dowager as lady-in-waiting. In her lecture she recounted some of the incidents, but the book contains many more which are sure to interest any reader. Try it, Hottentots, and take a free trip to

Student Article Published

A paper written by Marjorie Daniels on the subject of "Religious sects in Georgia Before the Revolution," which was entered in a contest sponsored by the Georgia Historical Quarterly, has been held by that magazine for publication.

Miss Daniels was notified about the publication of her article by E. M.

Have you ever noticed how and I'm sure we would cause much

T. T. and F. Y.

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

Decatur Ga.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities.

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

Despite the fact that the Junior Banquet and Blackfriars play occupy the central interests of our beauteous belles this week-end, there is much agitating off-campus among the Seniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen. Unwearied by the recent mid-term dances at Tech, we find our dazzling debutantes anxiously wondering, "Oh, where on earth shall I stay?" and "What the heck can I wear?" as much

The Knaves who wear Sigma Nu pins seem to hold first place in popularity with our Queen of Hearts this week-end through the Phi Sigs are not far behind. Who said that Agnes Scott didn't go out for society? They've started off the mad march season with even more "tea parties" than usual.

Nana Seeley and Margaret Rogers attended a dinner bridge party Wednesday night at Mrs. A. V. Pollock's home in Atlanta.

Sally Williams and Mart Tower went to the Phi Sig pig-roast Friday night.

Mary MacDonald spent the week-end with Mrs. F. A. Fraser in Atlanta.

The Sigma Nu formal dance Saturday night drew many attendants from Agnes Scott, among them being Saxon Pope, Mary Davis, and Mattie Lou Mason.

Phone Hem. 5738 THE FRENCH PASTRY SHOPPE

We specialize in Birthday and Wedding Cakes Fine Pastries for all Occasions Marcel Pahud, Proprietor 985 Peachtree St., N. E., Atlanta

* *********

Mrs. M. A. Hughes entertained Frances Arnold at her home in Atlanta Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Watson from Opelika, Ala., visited their daughter, Martha North, last week-end.

Winona Eubanks and Betty Preston spent Saturday night with Grace and Marjorie Woodward.

Emily Norton from Wesleyan visited Helen Duke and Lib Woolfolk.

The Phi Sigma Kappa dance Saturday night was attended by Mary Dunbar and Sally Williams.

Mildred Miller's father spent Tuesday with her.

Dorothy Morganroth attended the Southern Conference basketball games.

Mary Louise Robinson spent the week-end with Margaret Wilder in Miss Sara Strickland had dinner Sunday at the Delta Sigma Phi House of Georgia Tech.

Cecile Mayer and Judy Blundell had dinner with Mrs. Greenblatt in Atlanta Wednesday evening.

Tish Rockmore spent the week-end at her home in Atlanta.

Blanche Lindsey attended the Xi Psi Phi formal dance Saturday night.

Eleanor Williams and Upshaw Jones spent last week-end in Atlanta with Upshaw's aunt, Mrs. John B. Duncan.

Mrs. Dunwoody spent the past weekend with her daughter, Ruth.

Muench and Elsner

Jewelers 63 Peachtree Street, N. E. Atlanta, Ga. EXPERT REPAIRING

MUSE'S LADIES SHOP in the HENRY GRADY HOTEL

You must have one of the new, mannish

MISSIE TYPE SUITS

beautifully tailored with deep revers—and often with smart shoulder scarfs and with blouses to match the lining of the coat. Smart—in skipper blue, tans and the new greens.

MUSE'S LADIES SHOP in the HENRY GRADY HOTEL

Club News

Pi Alpha Phi

At its meeting last week the members of Pi Alpha Phi had a debate on the subject, "Resolved: legal censorship should be abolished." The affirmative side was upheld by Catherine Wright and Porter Cowles and their opponents were Bobby Hart and Margaret Smith. There was no decision. The club will meet again this Thursday.

French Club

At this time they had a program of modern French music.

Chemistry Club

Chemistry Club met at seven o'clock Monday night in the Chemistry Lecture room. At this meeting the club enjoyed talks by Gail Nelson, Mary Wormhaudt, and Jo Clark. Sandwiches and coffee were served.

S. C. Club

The South Carolina Club had its egular meeting Tuesday night.

Eta Sigma Phi

On account of the banquet, Eta Sigma Phi will not have its regular meeting this week. The banquet will be held on March 24, when the following new members will be initiated:

Louise Brant Winona Eubanks Evelyn Gilbreath Louise Hollingsworth Eugenia Napier Ruth Owen Rosalind Ware Marie Whittle Olive Weeks Betty Bolton

Classical Department, University of Chicago, will attend this banquet.

Helen Bashinski, Marje Kennedy, Alma Brohord, Pauline Cureton, Esther Cox, and Miss Fried will drive down to Dublin Sunday to have dinner with Helen's family.

Nell Chamlee spent Sunday at her home in Canton, Ga.

Marjorie Daniel went to Duke Uni-Saturday. She was attending the International Relationship Conference.

********

THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving
Serving
LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON
TEA—DINNER
11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M. Atlanta-651/2 Broad St., N. W. Macon-151 Cotton Ave.

Greetings and Gumdrops, Sis, Old Gal: | group tripped a mighty light fantastic the White Rabbit!

lived up to the greatest of expectations! Didn't you adore his cute little penguins?!—and I'll never rest peace- grinds. fully until I know how to do the seal wiggle! But honestly now, did you ever see as inspiring a picture?—and with a gentleman like Mr. Byrd to explain it to us as it went along! I feel just like walking out and discovering a new world!

Speaking of the lecture—I want to know something. Who was the tall, wild, bushy-haired youth with the eight month's (the Hatter says it looked more like eight year's!) growth on his chin? That certainly wasn't downy fuzz he sported! Rumor hath it that he is a Cuban who attends Emorybut my own personal opinion is that he is a Bolshevik in disguise! I only hope his little idiosyncrasy isn't catching. Personally I can't quite feature the parlors full of bluebeards or what have you, on Saturday nights!

By the way—did you hear about the great abscondment (excuse me, Professor Gertrude Smith of the Miss Laney, I know that is a coinage!)? Our poor dear handsome Professor hath at last been ensnared—and led off to nothing more or less than far-famed Duke! Well, my dear, if you'll believe me-it took three to do it and they were no more than the illustrious Marjorie Daniels, Mary Hiner and Anita Boswell!!!

Oh Sis-did you ever hear anything like Founder's Day? Never have I seen such a charming array of ladies and gentlemen. My old friend, the Queen of Hearts' croquet game versity, Durham, N. C., and returned just isn't in it in comparison. Didn't you just love the way that little Martha Tower Washington looked into the eyes of tall, handsome Shirley George? Personally, I think the whole

******

Elite Girls Like the ELITE TEA ROOM

Home Made Candies and Cakes

Omie! Omy! and such a lot as has in a mighty pretty way. And didn't French Club had its meeting Monday been going on and on lately. the rest of us look grand? I saw so Founder's Day - The Lecture-The many pretty, striking, dashing, Junior Banquet—"Little Women"—it's swanky, smart, new evening gowns endless! I feel as dizzy and rushed as that I finally got dizzy and discouaged and slunk away home in my two-year-But wasn't the lecture grand? and old rag! But, seriously, don't you wish "Admirable" Admiral Byrd certainly that the public could see us when we are dressed up? Then they wouldn't say that we're perpetual athletes or

> You asked "Was the Junior Banquet successfu?" With such a program, feast, play and men-how could it be otherwise? Didn't Jennie and Steve look happy in spite of the tourney that little frat "needle" (as Ilse says) took not long ago? And while we're on "needles"—have you noticed Caroline Waterman's? From all I hear that swanky femme isn't so slow!

Oh, say-had you wondered at Peggy White's wan looks and frequent journeys to the special board lately? Why, even I noticed it. However, the shadows have all disappeared nowand why? The telephone, my dear, is the blessing to all humanity at times and Morris just made Time with his blessing all the way from Helena, Ark.

Did you hear about Dot Cassel's man? She met him at Penny's-he's a Senior at Tech and a Beta Kappa!and did he fall for that cute little carrot top? Well, I should say so-or maybe you can explain that severe expression on his face while Dot did her adorable little Bell Hop dance at the Junior Banquet?

And while I'm on the subject of severe expressions, can anyone explain Adele Arbuckle's hour of joy after the volley-ball game the other night? I declare, the dear girl sat for a solid hour oblivious to all shouts and demands for books from us poor pursuers of knowledge with the most blissful expression on her face. I can't decide whether she had at last attained her life ambition and succeeded

(Continued on page 6)

RECTOR'S CAFE "Good Things to Eat" Phone He. 9115 620 Peachtree St.

***

Popular Priced Hats

$1.95 to $4.95

Burch Millinery

130—Peachtree Arcade—132

*******************************

CHAS. A. GREEN

OPTOMETRIST AND OPTICIAN

Phone Wal. 8383 128 Peachtree Arcade Atlanta, Ga.

"THE HOME OF GOOD GLASSES"

MON.—TUES.—WED.

"LOTTERY BRIDE"

-with-

JOE E. BROWN JEANETTE McDONALD

THURS.—FRI.—SAT.

"CONQUERING HOARD"

-with-

FAY WRAY RICHARD ARLEN On the Mezzanine HAL SCOGGINS JIMMY BEERS ANN HOWE

Come, all ye who would speed as the wind and win laurels for your crown. The ancient Greeks did it and so do healthy Hottentots. While Agnes Scotters do not run the Marathon, sprints and hurdles for form and speed are more interesting and exciting. Discus and javein throw are also ancient Greek customs very much in vogue now. Other attractions offered are basketball throw and hop skip and jump. Everybody turn out! It's a grand old custom!

They met on the bridge at midnight. Never to meet again; For she was only a jersey cow And he the eastbound train.

An examination prepared by Thomas Beer was flunked by twenty-five college students. The Spectator, student paper of Columbia, gave the same examination to ten faculty members and the highest grade made was 55.1. Some of the hardest questions were, "Who was Tillman Riemenschneider?" "Who were the Piccalimini?" and "For what is Abu Simbel noted?" The Spectator used this questionnaire in its campaign against examinations.

OUR SLOGAN CLEAN SHOP MODERATE PRICES EXPERT OPINION STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOPPE 153 Sycamore St. Dearborn 2671

the street THREADGILL PHARMACY

Most Complete Line of Toiletries in Decatur. Call on us Telephone Derborn 2181

Decatur 113 E. Court Square

********************* DEKALB MOTOR COMPANY

Chrysler and Plymouth

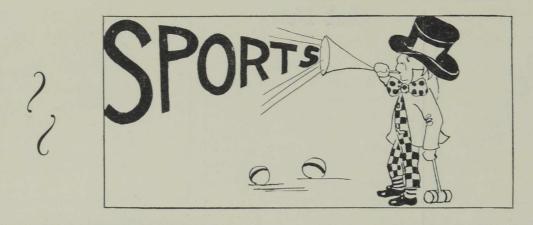

Automobiles Decatur, Georgia

******************** DECATUR TRANSFER CO. Mrs. T. W. Tuggle P. G. Harper, Mgr.

See us when you start to CAMP Office phone De. 1086 Night Phone De. 2629 *****

Simple Food--Carefully Prepared Lunch today at EUGENIA WILLIAMSON'S GARDEN TEA ROOM Luncheon 11-3 101/2 Edgewood Ave.

By Sophomores.

The Sophomores met the Seniors Wednesday night in a well-fought, interesting game. The Sophs had some game against the Juniors with a deout the last few games back with them, and the entire team played excellent basketball. The throughout the game was splendid. Although some of the Senior stars were not present, the upperclassmen put up a good fight. The Sprinkle twins and Jean Grey were outstanding. The final score was 36 to 14 in favor of the Sophomores.

Line-up: SOPHOMORES SENIORS P. Rowan, r. f. P. Cowles, r. f. L. Spivey, l. f. K. Happoldt, s. c. L. Heath, j. c. M. Duncan, j. c. M. Armstrong, r. g. M. Sprinkle, r. g. M. Sturtevant, l. g. J. Grey, l. g. Substitutes-Moore, Bell.

Inmates of first floor of an asylum: Everybody is crazy over me."

Maude Anderson: Were you ever up

Bunny Bashinski: I dunno. What time does it get up?

Professor Davidson: An anonymous person is one who does not wish to be known-Who is laughing?

Voice from rear: An anonymous person.

 A NEW AND BETTER LOCATION

BENJ. MOSLEY Room 205 Phelps Building 544 N. McDonough St. Decatur

Basketball Game.

Last Wednesday night the Freshtheir side. Two goals were made before the Juniors realized what had happened, and when the upper-classmen succeeded in rallying their forces the Freshmen were well in the lead, playing their best game of the year. In the second half the Juniors, handicapped by losing some of their regular players, made a good fight and, under the leadership of Bowman at center, staged a come-back. They didn't come quite far enough back, however, for M. Sprinkle, l. f. at the whistle the score was 44 to 30 R. McAuliffe, s. c. in favor of the "Freshies." It was their first victory over the Juniors and one of the most exciting games of the Line-up: FRESHMEN M. Friend, r. f. M. Massie, l. f. M. Tindall, s. c. N. Rogers, j. c. M. Kump, l. g. L. Schuessler, r. g.

S. Bowman, j. c. S. Glenn, l. g. D. Dyer, r. g. O'Brien; Junior, Petway, Kane.

JUNIORS

P. Brown, r. f.

Douschka—I know a man that swallows swords.

that inhales camels.

******************* Greeting Cards Margaret Waite Book Shop

119-123 Peachtree Arcade Picture Framing

Seniors Are Badly Defeated Freshmen Defeat Juniors in Spring Sports Announced by Gym Department.

The old order changeth Monday, man team went into its semi-final March 1st, when the spring outdoor sports take the place of the winter inof their best players who have been termination to "do or die," and from door ones. Now Hottentots will go the first tip-off pluck and luck were on native in the balmy spring weather and there will be track, swimming, baseball, tennis, archery, and golf, as Miss Haynes will have charge of track, a major sport. The managers have not yet been appointed.

Swimming will also be under Miss Haynes and there is talk of its becoming a minor sport, but this has not been definitely decided upon. In that case there would be swimming meets but no points would be given. This shouldn't take away from the joy of swimming, though—we Hottentots go in for fun, not for points.

Baseball, which remains a major sport, will be popular in the coming season. It is under the direction of the students, advised by Miss Sinclair, and class managers are being chosen by Kitty Woltz.

Miss Sinclair also has charge of rid-M. Schlich, l. f. ing, tennis, and archery. The Archery Club will be organized again as in the M. Williamson, s. c. Fall season. Bessie Meade Friend is manager with Diana Dyer as her assistant.

Golf this season will be instructed Substitutes - Freshmen, Hamilton, by Miss Wilburn, and many are planning to participate in this sport, in hopes of getting their pictures in the paper or of actually learning to hit the little white ball.

While some of us bat tennis balls, Margy-That's nothing. I know one some gallop gleefully over the coun-

Baseball Season Is Here

Spring! At once our thoughts turn toward baseball, America's national sport. Everyone follows the newspapers for news of the big leaguers, and many are the conjectures about probable heavy-hitters. Here in Agnes Scott baseball is eagerly followed. Games have record attendances and those unfortunates who miss one eagerly peruse the Aggie for news of their favorites. Let's everybody turn out and make this a bumper year for A. S. C. baseball.

tryside, some hunt in the rough for golf balls, some hit the bull's eye, some become Babe Ruths, some splash and dive in the gorgeous pool, and some exert might and main on the track field, May Day will be in the making. Miss Wilburn, faculty chairman of the May Day committee, and Sarah Lane Smith, student chairman, have charge of the work and arrangements.

A very promising gym season is in store, and a change will seem good to us. Happy spring season to you!

> Visit THE EMBLEM SHOP, INC. College and School Jewels Metropolitan Bldg. 81 Forsyth St.

***************** DECATUR DRUG CO., Inc.

> Phones Dearborn 1636-1637 South West Court Square Decatur, Ga.

**********************

Greater Values Dintchuck's

STARNES

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER

"BIG DEC"

To be sure of your Fashions and considerate of your Budget, choose your 1931 Wardrobe at

ERLICH'S

Styles that are new and smart, at attractive savings. FROCKS _____$ 9.75 to $29.75 14.75 to 49.75 SUITS 14.75 to 44.75

Cafeterias

ATLANTA KNOXVILLE CHARLOTTE ASHEVILLE RALEIGH ROANOKE

"NEARLY 4 MILLION MEALS A YEAR"

Walk-Overs

. for active sports

"CAMPUS"

A cleverly designed model that expresses individuality. Putty calf with tongue, apron wing-tip and heel-stay of Brown Calf. Natural Gristle Soles with wedge heels.

PRICE $9.00

Walk-Over

SHOE STORE 203 Peachtree St.

Opposite the Georgia Theater

Columbus Girls Visit Agnes Scott

A group of prospective Freshmen, Jean Dexter, Louisa Cargill, Claire Johnson, Emily McGahee, Ella Kirven, and Susan Colquitt from Columbus Hi, spent the past week-end here as guests of the Alumnae Association. The program of entertainemnt for them has been most enjoyable. Friday night, the swimming pool was opened for them at ten o'clock. They spent Saturday morning in seeing the sights of Agnes Scott; Saturday afternoon, they went to the Fox, and completed the day by seeing "Little Women," given by the Blackfriars. Sunday they had dinner on the campus, and left for Columbus at three o'clock, declaring that they were from now on true Hottentots.

Hewey's

Buy Your

Toilet Articles—Sundries Remedies-Stationery Sodas, Sandwiches

PROMPT DELIVERY

Call us Phone Dea. 0640-9110

Starting Saturday at the

FOX

"EAST LYNNE"

-with-

ANN HARDING in her greatest role Conrad Nagel Clive Brook Cissie Loftus On the stage

Fanchon & Marco

"SOUTHERN IDEA"

With a cast of 45 Enrico Leide and his Grand Concert Orchestra Al Evans and his Vocal Chorus of 5,000 25c TILL 5:30 35c TILL 1 ON HOLIDAYS

Hottentots Show Mechanical Skill

Lately the Hottentots have been showing their mechanical ability by installing radios in their rooms. We admit that they are only crystal sets, but the process of putting them up in one small room with entirely too many corners is so complicated that tacking and adjusting, has finally completed the work we firmly believe that she is worthy of a degree from Tech. Only those who have struggled long hours to untangle the stubborn knots of the copper wire and have fastened and "fell in love" with Agnes Scott, it securely to the baseboard with insulated tacks, exhibiting the skill of a contortionist as they stretched it around the corners, and who have finally found the sensitive spot on the crystal, and have at last heard the welcome voice of Red Cross-"This is WSB, the Atalnta Journal, Atlanta, Ga. The Journal covers Dixie like the dew-," can appreciate the true difficulty of the work. But they feel that their toil is not in vain as they lie luxuriously in their beds listening to Rudy Vallee or Amos 'n' Andy. Though sometimes extemporaneous noise from a passing train or street car drown out croons and jokes alike, making them wonder for a moment if it was all worth while, they have spent many lazy study hours annexed to the ear-

In fact, the Hottentots have developed such skill in handling these contraptions that even now they are fast becoming engineeresses and may some day be better wreckers than the Ramblin' Wrecks themselves.

School of Nursing of Yale University

A Profession for the College Woman interested in the modern, scientific agencies of social service.

The thirty months course, providing

The thirty months course, providing an intensive and varied experience through the case study method, leads to the degree of BACHELOR OF NURSING.

Present student body includes graduates of leading colleges. Two or more years of approved college work required for admission. A few scholarships available for students with advanced qualifications.

fications.

The educational facilities of Yale University are open to qualified students.

For catalog and information address:

The Dean

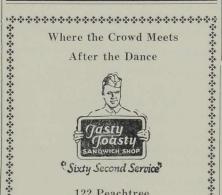

The SCHOOL of NURSING of YALE UNIVERSITY
NEW HAVEN : CONNECTICUT

Ye Olde Time Luxuries at A. S.

Perhaps you did not know that once upon a time there was some luxury at Agnes Scott, but an interview with Mary Cox would quickly convince you that there was. Mary said that she A. S. C. and she told us a true tale of when one, after long weary hours of some real luxury which was here when had thrills. Mrs. Campbell, who was she herself was young.

his wife visited a friend in Decatur uated here. they decided that it was just the place Campbell and the other day students for their two daughters, Marguerite rode from Atlanta to Decatur in a and Theodore, who had never been to Georgia Railway train. Not only that, a school before, but had travelled ex- but they were chaperoned! "I suppose tensively and had governesses. Mary we needed it," Mrs. Campbell smiled. Cox was hired to be their private "You see, we were all between the this school, Marguerite was thirteen ages of thirteen and fifteen." The and Theodore nine. They were both next year, however, they rode in style says "They were tol'rable good-look- capitol at Washington and Hunter ing, but I prefer brunettes). In order Streets to Decatur-and they were unto "match their complexions" their chaperoned. The dummy was pulled floor Inman, was furnished and painted in white, with window seats and Mrs. Campbell. curtains of blue. Of course their parents fitted it out. Later, one room These two rooms, one a bedroom and in white and blue.

The girls' parents were very indulgent. On Theodore's tenth birthday fixed them anything they wished to thing like an hour! have all during the day and nice little said, "Oh, don't talk! Each of 'em mediately miss one if she were absent (Continued on page 6)

122 Peachtree

Former Student

"Oh, you don't have nearly as many thrills as we had when I was a day student at Agnes Scott," declared Mrs. J. L. Campbell of 1315 Fairview, Atlanta. I don't think we can admit the was the oldest "work-servant" at old entire truth of that statement but we'll have to admit that they certainly Mary Jones, attended the Institute After Mr. Shonts, who was a rich from 1892 to 1893 and she still thinks "street car magnate of Chicago," and her class the best that was ever grad-

> The first year of her attendance Mrs. one coach. and oh, the cinders!" said

The girls who were to go to Agnes Scott had to walk from their home to "got too small because they had got- the dummy's starting place. If the day ten big girls," and then they had a student now turns the corner of Pryor suit" of rooms at the end of the hall. and Edgewood in time to see the tail end of the Decatur car receding in the another the living room, were also done distance, does she sit down and bemoan her fate? She does not. She consoles herself with the knowledge that another will be along in a few minutes. an elaborate party was given, with Quite different would your feelings Miss Nanny Massie for chaperon. have been if you had missed the They had a private delicatessen who dummy, for another came by in some-

The conductor made up for everylunches when they had company. When thing though, it seems. He knew all asked about their clothes, Mary Cox the girls by name and would imhad two big trunks apiece of the best- Mrs. Campbell said that once Miss looking clothes you ever did see." Their Hopkins called a meeting of the day mother came to see them about once students to beg them to refrain from every two weeks, but their father, flirting with the conductor. And this since he was such a busy man, could was in 1895! All school was out at two o'clock, and when the students were ready to leave there was the conductor waiting patiently for them. Nor would he leave until all the girls had been accounted for.

The route lay almost entirely through the woods, and there were

> See Mrs. Cooper at WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

—for— GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE FLOWERS

De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg. ************

only three stations along it: Fair Crossing, Edgewood, and Kirkwood. Tells of Old Days Somewhere along the way the sturdy little engine would have to stop to fill its tank with water from a reservoir beside the track. While the dummy was stopped, the girls would get off to search for wild flowers. When the dummy had drunk its fill, the conductor called the girls by ringing his bell and blowing his whistle, and conscientiously counted heads. Not only was the little dummy a faithful means of transportation. It was the setting for romance. Mrs. Campbell actually met her future husband there among the cinders! He was a young surveyor going daily to his work of surveying around East Lake.

"But the greatest thrill of all my years at Agnes Scott," said Mrs. Campbell, "was when Main building was erected." All the students were allowed to lay a brick in the bay window of Main building. Mrs. Campbell blonds "like their mother" (Mary Cox on a dummy train that ran from the laid two. Her best friend was sick at the time and Mrs. Campbell placed her own and her friends. "So I was doubly room, which was number 55 on second by a dinky little engine and had but with deep interest the other buildings thrilled," she said. "I have watched being added, but I feel that none embodies the feeling with which the first 'girls' helped to build Agnes Scott," she added.

It was not all play and no work however. The girls of 1891 worked plenty, according to Mrs. Campbell Miss Hopkins and Miss McKinney saw to that, and one day Dr. Gaines, who taught them Bible on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, gave them the whole book of Deuteronomy for the next assignment. "We took that as a compliment to our ability-later," she added slyly.

"I feel very grateful for all that our school has meant in my life, and those days, long ago, were very happy ones,"

We agree that they must have been.

Bailey Bros. Shoe Shop

142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies' DE. 0172 WE DELIVER

******************* C. W. AUSTIN'S BEAUTY PARLOR

119 E. Court Square Decatur Phone De. 9242

Mrs. Daisy Holbrook in Charge 4 Years' Experience Entrance Through Hallway

******

****************

Is a Redingote?

A Redingote is a dress within a coat. The dress may be a print or solid color-but it must be light and bright. The coat is buttoned or loose—three-quarter or long sleeves —belted or not but it must be of a darker material and full length. And-what could be smarter, more serviceable and more economical than a dress and a contrasting coat all for the price of a dress. Allen's offers an individual selection of Redingotes. Come to the Second Floor and make your selections for Spring wear.

J. P. ALLEN & CO.

Dennis Lindsey Printing Co.

(Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING and STATIONERY

Phone Dearborn 0976 421 Church St. DECATUR, GA.

Clover Leaf Bakery

BREAD, ROLLS, CAKES, PIES AND PASTRIES

Home Made

OCULISTS' PRESCRIPTIONS

When your oculist gives your prescription for glasses, ask him about our reliability, accuracy and high-class optical service.

Walter Ballard Optical Co.

TWO STORES

105 Peachtree St. Clock Sign

Medical Arts Bldg. 382 Peachtree St.

Atlanta, Ga.

Informal Dance

EVERY SATURDAY

9 to 12

with

GEO. BERKEY'S BILTMORE ORCHESTRA

Music broadcast from Georgian Ball Room over WSB, so that the swirl of your footsteps will be heard in California!

Atlanta Biltmore

Atlanta's Host for Every Occasion

AUDITORIUM SEES BYRD'S FILM ing the winter night was to "keep all they had finally to dump a month's (Continued from page 1)

tion had reached its destination, the barrier under whose snows the men By this time, the Eleanor Boling, carrying the heavy material, such as airplanes, had made her way through the ice and was drawn up on the barrier to be unloaded. Unloading was very dangerous as the ship was on an ice foot which might have broken at any time without warning. The task was successfully accomplished, however, and no men were hurt. Transporting the

One of the first pieces of exploration was done by Dean Smith in an airplane in which he flew to the foot of the polar mountain, a ridge surrounding the plateau that has the South Pole as its center. He put up a base at the foot of the mountain, which was to be of use later in Byrd's flight over the South Pole. According to Byrd, this was the first time aviation months' food, two tents, a cooker, and in Little America. Byrd decided to has discovered new territory. After fuel were put into the all-metal plane, leave the airplanes and bring the this, the plane was put away in a snow hangar, which the men built around it to protect it from the storms of the such a time the weatherman's predic- City of New York, having broken her long winter night.

All this was done while it was still light, but now the sun disappeared and the long winter night of four months set in. During this time everything was under snow except the radio towers. The men lived under the snow in their portable house most of the winter. During the four months, the men took turns as nightwatchman to note the Antarctic temperature for the United States Weather Bureau. Byrd said that a very important thing dur-

L. CHAJAGE

Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

~ ~

***************** Bicycle Supplies and Repairs Victrola Work—Skates Keys Made

DECATUR CYCLE & KEY CO. 157 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga.

N. D. Clayton, Mgr. Phone De. 4483 18 Years' Experience

the hands working" for the monotonous existence would have unbalanced their minds. They busied themselves making sleds, tents, cookers, and putwere to live for fourteen months. On ting food in rations, all to be used on New Year's eve, they were searching the trail in the spring. They, of course, for a base, which they finally located had to provide their own amusement; at a place eight miles from the ship. a picture of a burlesque wrestling match put on by two of the mer was > Before going to the Pole, one of the airplanes was used for a flight to the eastward in which areas never before seen by the human eve were covered. By means of a mapping camera hundreds of miles of this area were maped The aviators saw many ice-covered islands, open lakes not frozen over, and a tremendous mountain range, one of peaks of which was 4000 feet high.

of the expendition, that magnificent flight to the South Pole toward which Boling, were to return for the men and Byrd and crew had worked, and planned, and dreamed during the long Antarctic night. The supplies, two but right at this time they had much Eskimo dogs, whose faithful work he bad weather and heavy storms. At praised throughout his lecture. tion, Byrd said, was a matter of life way through the ice, received the supor death. After the storms abated, plies and the seventy men-"all hands Byrd and three other men of his crew answering roll call, by the help of started on their memorable flight with Providence." This worthy ship brought from the Dormouse 'n me, a load of 1500 pounds. They had with back to civilization that brave band of them their mapping camera which made a "record for science to study at give the world a knowledge of the unleisure." After eight hours of flight, known Antarctic region, and to bring they sighted the foothills of the polar the bottom of the world under the folds mountain. They had difficulties in finding a pass through which they could get the plane, and to save the ship

Mrs. Ella Buchanan Gunn Millinery 297 Oxford Pl., N. E. Atlanta, Georgia

*******

ŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶŶ

******************* ADAMSON & COSTER CO.

Cleaners and Dyers

Decatur Branch 104 S. Candler St. Phone De. 3087

20% Off Cash and Carry ፟፟፟ዹ፞ዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹ

food supply. After crossing the mountains, they were over a plateau, the center of which is the South Pole. Byrd described it as a place "where the sun hangs low, where there is no time, and no direction except north." When the plane was directly over the Pole, Byrd dropped the American flag with a stone tied to it which had been taken from the grave of Floyd Bennett. In doing this he carried the American flag 1500 miles further south than it had ever been before. Byrd and his three companions returned to the base.

teen hours of flight. After the flight over the South Pole, the Byrd expedition was ready Now came the culminating triumph to return to civilization. The two ships, the City of New York and the Eleanor supplies, but the supply ship, the Boling, could not get through the ice, so some of the material had to be left heroies who had hazarded their lives to of the Stars and Stripes.

JOS. SIEGEL

Dependable Jeweler DIAMONDS-WATCHES CLOCKS—JEWELRY Watch Repairing a Specialty 131 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga.

****** MRS. HAZELRIG'S

Hot dogs and hamburgers are best at Mrs. Hazelrig's in "Little

TRY THEM HOTTENTOTS!

******************** DECATUR SHOE SHOP

> Work of the better kind By a skilled machanic Called for and delivered "Little Dec"

*********

HERTZ DRIV-UR-SELF STATION, INC. Pay By The Mile 40 Auburn Ave. Wal. 8080

 OASIS

Critics acclaim it the most beautiful miniature golf courses in America.

Peachtree Medical Place Phone Ja. 8558

Shorthand, Typewriting, Book-keeping, Filing, Mimeographing, Dictaphone, etc.

********************************

Corner Plaza Way and Pryor St. "A Few Steps From Whitehall Viaduct" CRICHTON'S BUSINESS COLLEGE, Inc. 45 Years in Atlanta Catalog on Request

GIDDY GOSSIP

(Continued from page 3) in putting one over the net, or if she he's something worth thinking of!) Why it's rumored that she and Jean even cleaned their room and changed the sheets' strange—the power some

The general health certainly isn't so hot around this campus-about half the school seems to be in the infirmary. Some people seem to have all the bad breaks, what with Carrie's measles and Nell Starr's mumps. (That spend a week-end at home.)

Tsk! Tsk! As my old friend, Penelope G. Thorkleson used to say—so things go and heap up on one. If you are as busy as I am, Sis, old thing, you'll understand when I say "enough of such rot"-and on to history, and as the old Gryphon would say "I still have to learn my Reeling, Writhing, Uglification and Distraction! Awa! Besides the Mad Hatter is getting madder because he thinks it is time for

So heaps of love and such things

Alice.

For Beautiful Photographs

Thurston Hatcher

1101/2 Forsyth, N. W. Call on us

FORMER STUDENT TELLS OF OLD DAYS

(Continued from page 5) was thinking of Harry (We'll admit come from Chicago only once a month. Mary Cox says, "He being a streetcar magnate riding wasn't hard."

These girls stayed here four years, during which time they made many friends. "Of course, they were obedient," says Mary Cox, "like everybody here." After leaving, they went to a fashionable school and then entered society. Their mother took them to Europe, where they were presented to the "royal head," and while there Little America, in safety after eigh- must have been a pleasant way to Theodore met a handsome French duke, whom she ultimately married. Marguerite married an eminent jurist of New York and lives there now, but her sister lives "among the nobility of Europe."

> If you wish to know the details of their wardrobe and the furnishings of their room, just see Mary Cox and we wager that she will again wax eloquent upon the subject.

> **************** LAWRENCE'S PHARMACY

> > A Real Drug Store and the Nearest to Agnes Scott

Try our Toasted Sandwiches Phones Dearborn 0762-0763 309 East College Ave., Opposite Depot, Decatur, Ga.

**********

FRANCES VIRGINIA TEA ROOM

Luncheons-Dinners Bridge Parties Phone Walnut 4433 Atlanta, Ga. Opposite Post Office

Agnes Scott Specials!

6 5x7 Lamoyne Style and 1 8x10 Lamoyne Photographs—$10.00 Also 20% reduction on Miniatures

Good 'till March 31st

Elliotts' Peachtree Studio

"Better Photographs"

Paramount Theatre Bldg. Atlanta

Loew's Grano

ADMISSION PRICES THAT ARE INCOMPARABLE All Day Every Day CHILDREN 10c 15c - 25c

WEEK OF MARCH 9th

MON .- TUES .- WED.

"ONCE A SINNER" -With-DOROTHY MACKAILL

A Fox Picture

THURS.—FRI.—SAT.

GEORGE O'BRIEN

---in---"FAIR WARNING"

TRINITY PL. AND CANDLER ST. A Fox Picture

Hottentots, make up your minds about

Spring Coats

$18 to $49.75

Shall It Be a Scarf Coat, a Cape Coat, or a Reefer Coat?

These three are winning sub-deb hearts fast and furiously! And perhaps the nattiest of them is the doublebreasted Cape Coat with its plaid taf-feta scarf, sketched at left, $29.75. And there are dozens of others, just as clever, and at the lowest prices in years! Sizes 11 to 17.

> THE SUB-DEB SHOP -RICH'S THIRD FLOOR.

RICHS

Decatur Laundry & Dry Cleaning Co.

"The Dry Cleaner for Agnes Scott Girls" "20% discount to the student sending dry cleaning" DEARBORN 3162-3163

DECATUR, GA.

No. 17

Students Attend Conference On Int. Relations

Delegates from Southern Institutions Discuss Problems of Peace.

The eighth annual meeting of the Southern Students' Conference on International Relations was held at Duke University February 26-28. There were sixty-five delegates present representing twenty-one southern colleges and universities. Agnes Scott was represented by Anita Boswell, Marjorie Scott International Relations Club.

The social features of the conference included a reception given by the Duke Polity Club; a luncheon for delegates, speakers, and advisers; and a banquet on the last evening of the conference. The special feature of the banquet was a message by a representative of the University of Porto Rica.

The outstanding speakers for the lectures and round tables were: Edward S. Corwin, Princeton, who spoke on "The Foriegn Relations of China"; J. Fred Rippy, Duke, who led a round added grace and charm to the scene. table on "Latin America"; Robert S. Rankin, Duke, who led a round table on "The International Significance of the American Tariff"; M. Pierre de Lanux, Director of the Paris Information Office of the League of Nations, who spoke on "The Outlook for Disarmament" and led a round table on "The League of Nations"; C. B. Hoover, Duke, who led a round table on "Russia," and George G. Wilson, Harvard, who spoke on "Limitations in the Effectiveness of Treaty Provisions."

The business sessions were in charge of J. I. Morgan, Jr., Duke, President of the Conference, and Miss Amy Hemingway Jones, representative of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. At the last business session on February 28, Walter Reid, Rollins College, was elected president for 1931-1932 and the next conference will be held at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla.

optimism for the outlook of the conference in its task of promoting international cooperation and the outlawry of war. Reports of local clubs revealed that an active interest is being taken by students in world affairs and the problems of peace.

Glee Club To Sing 'Pinafore'

Spring Concert to Be Held on April 18.

that the spring concert will be on April 18th. Intensive rehearsing has already started and a very lovely program is expected. The second part of the performance will consist of the chorusses from "Pinafore." It is hoped that this operetta may be presented by the Glee Club next year, if this introduction is successful.

The club is especially glad to welcome back some former members, who have returned to school this semester-Mary Ruth Rountree, Mary Fleming and Louise Farley.

Juniors Present Clever Playlet

"Cents and Non-sense" Delights Large Audience.

Saturday evening, March 7, the Junior class presented its annual stunt, play this year was entitled "Cents and Non-Sense." The story was that of a struggling artist, who was too proud to marry the girl he loved because she was wealthy. However along came de-"lived happy ever after." Floyd Foster, as Pennington Brush, the artist, and Julia Grimmet, "Ping Pong Perry from the cast. The choruses, under the di-Fulk were most attractive.

The tap dancers, especially delighted the audience with their difficult steps and attractive costumes. The costumes

The writing committee deserves the eredit for the clever dialogue and plot, both of which were original.

Downcast:

Pennington Brush-Floyd Foster. Agie Tation-Virginia Petway.

Perry Shoot-Julia Grimmet.

Ophelia Pulse-Clyde Lovejoy. Miss Taken Oppie Tunity—Lila Nor-

Miss Rep Re Sented-Jean Shaw. Miss Modelle T. Ford-Louise Wise. Tip Tappers:

Artists-Evelyn Gilbreath, Lovelyn Wilson, Sarah Bowman, Emily Squries, Louise Stakely, Dee Robinson.

Link, Elizabeth Skeen, Mary Miller,

Trippers of the Light Fantastic-Sara Berry, Martha Williamson, infancy, and Frances Arnold, Betty Cates, Louise stronger each year. We are fortunate

The conference revived a spirit of Miss Frances Lee Visits the Campus

Fashion Editor of College issues." One's material success is in Humor Includes A. S.

last semester of college, the campus is becoming distinctly job-conscious. Well, we've met a charming young person with an idea of a delightful job. She's the fashion editor of College The Glee Club wishes to announce Humor, Frances Lee, who's been visiting on the campus for a few days. She graduated from Vassar-where she was on the staff of the annual and played on the basketball team—last year, and after spending the summer in Paris, took up this position in New York last September. Her visit to Agnes Scott is on a trip to various southern colleges—Sweetbriar, Duke, Virginia, Goucher and others—to get a more intimate view of them, their students and other of their eccentricities.

Miss Hale Speaks in Athletic Awards Y. W. Vespers On Vocations

Knowledge of Self and Faith Stressed as Elements in Choice of Life Work.

At the Y. W. C. A. vesper service on in the Bucher Scott Gymnasium. The March 8, Miss Hale, of our French department, was the speaker. Her sub- made the awards for the winter seaject was "Vocations." The average son. Several letters and stars and two college student, she said, is faced with a rather wide choice in selecting her vocation, and should have definite principles to guide that choice. Knowl-Daniel, Mary Hiner, and Dr. Philip pression; the girl became poor, the edge of one's inner self is most im-Davidson, faculty adviser of the Agnes artist won an art prize and everyone portant. This brings us into the realm of the spiritual and divine. The fact that we are made in the image of God, though a challenge and inspiration, makes complete comprehension Peoria," were outstanding members of of ourselves impossible. But where out knowledge stops, faith begins, bringrection of Diana Dyer and Marion ing us untold strength. "A conception of every human being as a recepticle of a divine soul, a life which Christ died to save, puts a new value on life and forces us to a dignified conception of ourselves, a conception which forof the trippers of the light fantastic bids belittling oneself. We cannot ley. honestly draw back and say, 'But I can't do that. It's all right for someone else to try.' The power within us increases as it is called upon. It knows no limits in itself. Only our lack of faith halts it."

We should choose, then, those vocations which quicken the divine spark Master. This does not limit our choice, for our conception of service for the ing to establish equality, brotherhood, credit. The varsity is as follows: the Kingdom of Heaven on Earth. She who strives her utmost in this, though the results be small, has not been un-

It is perhaps fortunate that many people have little choice, from financial or other reasons, in their choice Depression — LaMyra Kane, Peggy of a vocation. They are thus given a chance to adjust to life and aims, "to become tempered steel before the blade is called actively into play."

The training for vocation began in gradually to live in a period when women have a greater opportunity of service. "But this increased opportunity, the wealth of every-increasing luxury though is makes our physical lives more comfortable, makes our spiritual lives more difficult. The ease of our physical lives dulls our perceptions to moral proportion to one's service, to spiritual attainments. Believing this, there is no profit in discussing the material makes for spiritual development makes for physical development, for the body important, and we cannot fail to care for it that it may serve till the soul words of the Master, 'Daughter, be of good comfort, thy faith hath made thee whole. Go in peace."

REMEMBER THE PLAY

The student body is reminded of the three one-act plays which will be given in chapel on Saturday evening. Among them is the play which will represent Agnes Scott in the contest at Brenau. Come and support the actors.

Are Announced

Banners, Letters, Varsities Made Known in Chapel.

At the chapel exercises on Tuesday morning, March 10, Mildred McCalip, president of the Athletic Association, sweaters were given to those who had striven and won them. The following varsities were also announced.

BASKETBALL

L. F.—P. Brown.

R. F.—C. Hudson.

C.—Rogers, Bowman.

L. G.-M. Sturtevant. R. G.-L. Schuessler.

WATER POLO

Forwards-Sara Hill, Julia Thompson, Grace Fincher, Caroline Lingle. Guards-Betty Bonham, Dot Keth-

Goal Guard-Sara Lane Smith.

It has been a grand season—let's make next season even better.

VOLLEY BALL

within us, which mean service for the ball with an undefeated record. The other three classes tied for second Master is growing. Now we are try- place, with one game each to their

McAuliffe, R.

McCalip, M.

Bowman, S.

Watson, M. N.

Brown, P.

Glenn, S.

Thompson, M.

Dyer, D. Hill, S.

Chandler, L.

Program on French Music Enjoyed

Violin, Piano, and Vocal Selections Featured.

The French Club held its monthly With our Seniors well along in their side of vocations. "The field that meeting in Mr. Johnson's studio in Miss Wilburn Gives Rebekah Scott Hall Monday, March 2. harbors the soul. In just so far it is After an informal tea, a program on modern French music was given, which needs it no more. May we hear the was one of the most interesting and successful of the year. Virginia Heard gave a talk on Claude De Bussy after which Willa Beckham and Louise Wesley played several piano selections by De Bussy. Miss Florence Smith and ing, leaping, tap and folk dances lent Elizabeth Sutton rendered a group of violin selections, accompanied by Virginia Gray at the piano. Mollie Childress gave a talk on Maurice Ravel after which Louise Wesley played his "Sonatine." Two vocal selections were given by Cara Hinman, a former student of Agnes Scott. A talk was then given on Chaminade which was followed by piano selections from him.

'The Auburn Dell' Selected as May Day Scenario

Mary Catherine Williamson Writes Delightful Early English Pageant.

Definite work has been begun in the selection of the May Day cast for this year. The elections for Queen are to be held this week and the results and the cast will be published in next week's issue. The following is a resume of the scenarios by Mary Catherine Williamson, entitled "Auburn Dell."

1. It is the May morning. Joy reigns throughout all the land. Youth and age alike are reveling in this festive day when their hearts are gladdened by the official return of spring.

They are singing and dancing and their arms are filled with May boughs and garlands. The peasant maids and boys are the first to arise, then the older folk; then come the milkmaids over the stile, and the happy chimney sweeps, whose faces have been blackened by the May Eve fires. They all dance and sing until the woodsmen beckon them to go to the woods to cut down a tree worthy of being a May Pole.

2. The frolic on the green. The May Queen comes in accompanied by many villagers. She mounts her throne proudly and the folk sing honors to her. Ah, here comes Robin Hood with his merry men, and Maid Marian, who, The Seniors won first place in volley with her fair maids does a dance that betrays her noble lineage, the Gavotte.

> 3. The contest on the green. The spirit of rivalry and competiton always makes anything more interesting, so the queen motions for the festivities to begin. First, the jesters demonstrate their loose joints with an acrobatic dance. The hobby horse interferes with them considerably, much to their disgust and the spectators' amusement. Now Robin Hood displays his ability with a dance. But we must have more of this hero, so Will Scarlett sings a ballad of Robin's deeds and glory. Now comes the archery tournament. "Come all ye men, and show your skill in England's grandest sport." Next are two characteristic English dances-the sword dance, and the morris dance. shall be the master of this happy day? Robin Hood, of course. So he wins the prize.

> The climax of the whole day comes when the May Pole is raisedand the company dance around it.

> 5. The Recessional. The Queen leads the group of people, who are tired out, but happy with the joy of this most pleasant of days.

Dance Recital

Real Ability Shown in Artistic Interpretation.

The college community had the privilege of attending Thursday evening a dance recital presented by the Department of Physical Education under Miss Wilburn's direction. Waltzvariety and enjoyment to the program.

The program was as follows: Child Rhythms - Mildred McCain, Ellen Hayes, Ann Robinson. Leaping, Schubert; Waltz Study, Schubert—Duke, Ridley, Haynes, Garretson, Hudson, Shaw. Jota Aragonesa, Cramer—Skeen, Kilpatrick, Dearing, Turner, Hall,

York. The Chase, Schubert—Chopin Hud-

Trees, Rosbach-Knoxie Nunnally and Frances Murray.

The Agonistic

Subscription Price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single Copies, 5 cents.

Published weekly. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

| STAFF            |                     |
|------------------|---------------------|
| Editor           | Julia Thompson      |
| Assistant Editor | Betty Bonham        |
| Feature Editor   | Katherine Morrow    |
| Society Editor   | Lucile Woodbury     |
| Exchange Editor  | Elizabeth Lightcap  |
| Athletic Editor  |                     |
| Alumnae Editor   |                     |
| Club Editor      | Bessie Meade Friend |
| Joke Editor      | Kitty Purdie        |
| Giddy Gossip     | Caroline Lingle     |
|                  |                     |

MANAGEMENT

| Business Manager              | Jeanette Shaw       |
|-------------------------------|---------------------|
| Advertising Manager           | Mildred Duncan      |
| Circulation Manager           | Christian Henderson |
| Assistant Circulation Manager | Marian Lee          |

CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

Lucile Heath Mary Catherine Williamson Bessie Meade Friend Katharine Woltz Margaret Ellis Dorothy Cassel Betty Bonham

Sarah Bowman Ruth Green Ruth McAuliffe Diana Dyer Kitty Purdie Laura Spivey Polly Gordon Margaret Telford

EDITORIAL

The Athletic Association has striven during the past two seasons to make its alive, progressive, democratic, co-operative slogan felt throughout the campus. It has provided an excellent orchestra which sponsors social life on the campus. Health week was a feature which commanded the interest of every member of the student body. Hockey and basketball, swimming and water polo, tennis and volleyball have been offered for the fun and physical development which they afford.

Another season has arrived, and new opportunities are offered came, however, with the "dropped bar" in which each person may choose the field of her interest. The girl bicycle so that a bishop's wife could with the brawny arms may become a feminine Babe Ruth at base- pedal sedately down the main street ball; the fleet of foot finds her place in track; the bow and arrow calls for a steady arm and an accurate aim; and swimming brings into play the utmost in co-ordination. Tennis, of course, is offered fitting bodice, high collar and sailor to those with perseverance. Camp lures lovers of solitude and hat did "look sweet upon the seat of nature during the coming spring week-ends. Horseback riding and a bicycle built for two." golf each has its crowd of devotees.

These opportunities for play, for exercise in the fresh air, for striving for perfection in one or more sports are offered to each living rooms to participate in out of and every person. We are the losers if we prefer to study or to door exercise with men. How fortunstay in stuffy theaters to the enjoyment of wholesome fun in the great out-of-doors.

THE STUDENT BUDGET

Again the blacklist for the student budget has been posted, hitting strength, and almost perfect and the length of it is most discouraging to those who are in charge of the finances of the student organizations. We fully realize that many of the members of the student body have been affected by the economic depression. The budgets of the student organizations, however, have been drawn up and must be subscribed. No one would want to dispense with the Silhouette; no one would willingly see the Athletic Association hampered in its efforts; surely no one would force Student Government to cut down on the number of phones. The benefits are for us; it is up to us to pay our budget. Marjorie Daniel will be more than glad to accept any payments in No. 22 Inman.

AN APPRECIATION

The staff of the Agonistic wishes to express its appreciation of the work done by each and every person who co-operated in making the publication of the class issues a success. We feel that our aims were fully realized, for the members of each class took a vital interest in their paper, and the results in all cases were most interesting and original. The judges are expected to render their decision so that the silver cup may be awarded at the chapel exercises on March 14.

Sports Then and Now

O yes, today "we are crazy 'bout the gym, the hockey, and the swim," but my glorified tomboy, did you ever stop to think that the only exercise the girls of 1800 had was dusting horsehair furniture and ancestral portraits? We owe a great deal to Guyard, a French physician, who invented the game of croquet through which American women made their bow to athletic society-English visitors to French watering places found it a di- is working in the advertising departverting amusement and introduced it ment of Rich's, spoke on that phase into England as a fashionble game for country houses and garden parties. Then it came to the U.S., heralded as croquet swept the country like an epidemic. Such a game! Political issues paled into insignificance. Newspapers discontinued heated controversies over reconstruction to furnish readers a lengthy description of this "most infectious" amusement. In all the towns from the Atlantic to the Mississippi the open air. As a courting game croquet has had few superiors. Young women readily abandoned their crocheting to share the new game with the young men of their set. It afforded, within the limits of the prim proprieties of the period, just enough opportunity for innocent flirtation to add zest to the pastime. Between plays there was time for whispered asides and acquaintance ripened quickly as partners strove to attain the common goal. On many a shady lawn croquet offered to bright-eyed girls and demure young women a mild transition between the restrictions that had hemmed in their mothers and the greater freedom their daughters were destined to enjoy. Godey's Lady's Book of of these sportive females. Attired in voluminous skirts, extremely tight waists, countless petticoats, and tiny, but ornamented hats, perched nonchalantly on the top of their heads, these damsels were ready for the contest. Having exhibited their prowess in croquet the ladies' next progressed to a new era—the heydey of the bicycle. There a great moral problem confronted them: how could anybody ride a bicycle when her legs were objects to be known only to herself and her mother. Women's athletic ventures seemed to be doomed. A timely rescue and preserve her name untarnished by the village gossip. The stylish miss clothed in ample trouserettes, tightcelerated by tennis, archery, and bicycling, of bringing women out of stuffy ate we are that the old indifferent tennis with the underhand serves and baseline line plays has developed into the energetic game of Helen Wills, whose marvelous speed, tremendous technique has won for her the greatest successes in tennis circles. Today women golfers like Glenna Collett rank only a few places behind the best male professionals. Hooray for sunback bathing suits and anklets, three cheers for attractive gym suits, girls teams trained by efficient coaches, and woman's place in the athletic world. for it is through sport that the women and girls have learned the things we learned long ago in business: the advantages of co-operation, of fair play, and self-reliance.

"In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," but where does a young maiden's fancy rove? All wise young ladies at this time are thinking of camp and the opportunities it offers for recreation. Be athletic, climb Stone Mountain; be lazy, sleep; be nonchalant, eat pork and beans. Maybe your mind needs the inspriation that comes outside of library walls. Spend a week-end at camp.

Alumnae News

Eugenia McDonald, ex '30, has been visiting for the past week Ella May Hollingsworth, ex '29, of Decatur, and Dorothy Hutton, '29.

Huda Dement, '28, was married Deember 26 to Mr. George R. Schaffner in Wartrace, Tenn. They are now living at 921 Eastwood Avenue, Donmoore Apartment Hotel, Chicago, Ill.

Frances Hargis McCrory, '28, who of work at a recent K. U. B. meet-

Mary Jane McCoy Gardner, '28, has the approved pastime of Victorian so- a son, James, Jr., born June 1, 1930. ciety. With credentials of such merit Mary Jane is living on the Isle of Pines, Neuva Gerona, Havana, Cuba, which is said to be the scene of Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island."

> Mary Reviere, '28, is living at 6162 Hollywood Boulevard, Holly Station, Los Angeles, Calif.

Margaret Andrea Hamric, '29, has croquet the ladies next progressed to moved to 741 Fredericka Street, N. E., Apt. 8, Atlanta.

> Sally Cothran, '29, recently visited Josephine Barry, '30, in Biloxi, Miss., and Louise Robertson, '28, in Uniontown, Ala. Sally also visited in Selma. Tuscaloosa, and Mobile, Ala., and New Orleans, La.

> on for appendicitis at the Wesley Hospital of Emory on March 2.

Theresa Barksdale Vinsonhaler, '29, has moved to 500 East Ninth Avenue, Little Rock, Ark.

Ada Knight, '29, spent the week-end in Atlanta recently. Ada is traveling April, 1866, shows interesting pictures for the Thornwell Orphanage, of Clin- holes, and to pass them out whenever ton, S. C.

> Mabel Marshal, '29, is teaching in the Normal School of Montreat, N. C.

Georgia Sanitarium, Macon, Ga., recuperating after an automobile acci-spending the past two weeks with Myra Jervey.

House on returning from the Congress ing, biting and kicking were entered of Missions held at Chattanooga, Tenn.

Write that letter to "Him" or plan your spring wardrobe. Have you had a good long bull session lately? No? us rise up in arms for later time-limit: Then get your friends and go to camp. No interruptions, no bells, no house committee. Choose your favorite weekend and sign up before your neighbor in their dormitories by 11 o'clock indoes. It pays to rejuvenate before stead of 2:30. launching on a term paper. Our Stone Mountain establishment is available recite. This certainly puts a premium for almost any week-end before spring on either modesty or lazyness.—N. S. holidays. Decide on your date today. F. A.

Exchanges

Strange to say, colleges all over the United States have been thinking of grades and exminations, so that all in line with our "cake-race" during exam week are some of the lines in this clipping from "The Campus Quill":

How to Fail

Complain. Exaggerate. Be sarcastic Be a glutton. Be conceited. Scorn advice. Procrastinate. Be indifferent. Praise no one. Be a pessimist. Repeat rumors. Ridicule others. Break promises. Refuse to learn. Travel the ruts. Keep late hours. Neglect your health. Evade responsibility. Be a chronic grouch. Work without a plan. Do as little as possible. Always have an excuse. Be a chronic borrower. -The Campus Quill.

And then we find these on the origin and outcome of semi-annual tests.

It seems that other colleges are interested in those same questions that are now troubling Exec and College Berdie Fergerson, '29, was operated Council: hazing, dormitory regulations, social life, and such like. Here are two clippings about freshmansophomore activities:

At the University of Hawaii, the frosh are subjected to unusual rules. The men, for instance, are required to carry at least two popular brands of cigarettes in a clean sock, with no asked. The co-eds are required to wear grass skirts and goggles, and instead of carrying cigarettes must carry candy to be dispensed on invita-Alice Jernigan, '30, is at the Middle tion (demand).-Red and Black.

Ohio Wesleyan University

Delaware police were called upon recently to disperse a class fight between Mary Waller Shepherd, '28, has been 400 Freshmen and Sophomore women on the campus of Ohio Wesleyan University. The Freshmen had refused to appear in the Freshmen berets and Miss Lillie Lathrop of the Institute the Sophomores wished to enforce the spent a few days at the Alumnae initiation rules. Hair pulling, scratchinto by all. One was seriously hurt pefore the police could quiet the combatants.

> And here is one that almost makes Believe it or Not

Students of Montana State College went on strike for five days because of the regulation that girls had to be

Students of Colorado University are

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

Decatur Ga.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities.

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

Giddy, my dear:

It's Second Semester with a vengeance! The Higher-Ups have decided all of a sudden to question that which is surely above question, and the future is rosy with tests and term papers. It's beginning to tell, Giddy; Jean Grey and Penny Brown can't even get a good night's rest. The other night Dell heard a gentle flapping, and discovered Jean trying to take off and muttering "I'm a Byrd! I'm a Byrd!" The next morning the sad story came out; Jean dreamed that Bob had also planned an expedition to the South Pole; that Byrd beat him there by one week; but that he was getting due recognition as an also-flew, and the Lecture Association had asked him to speak here. Now here is the tragedy; he wanted Jean please not to let anyone know that she knew him-after three years of Sunday Specials! Just her in, a sort of Public Humiliation. Made Good-without an effort! And Penny dreamed not long afterwards that she had pass minused a Chaucer Test—I think it's symbolical!

Along with nightmares and general depression comes Kitty Purdie's Problem—there just aren't any Chapel Reports to figure up! If all the regular chapel attendants were placed end to

******* Try a Box of EDGAR'S POP CORN

410 Church St.

******

Bailey Bros. Shoe Shop 142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies' Work DE. 0172 WE DELIVER

The 20th Day Before April 1st. | end, they wouldn't fill the first row! Susan Glenn (pardon the local color) says that what chapel needs is variety, and she suggests singing the Recessional first. Betty Peeples is all for the Amherst plan (See Senior Aggie, p. 6, column 4).

Speaking of gambling (we were Smith. You see, the Beta Kappas after the talk, with Miss Messer as (Tech's Gift to Homesick Hottentots) who were coming out to the Junior Banquet as Blind Dates each put a dollar in the pot, and the man who drew the best looking date got the pot. It went unanimously to Carl—J. P. just fifty cents on the deal; they gave him fifty cents' consolation!

There always are bright spots, though; and this time White House scores again-Shirley and Mart Tower and Jennie Sweeny are all in the Blue imagine what a false position it put Print Beauty Section! Local Girls

Philosophically yours,

Aggie.

"Well, well, well, evanescent my old the Spring concert in April. friend Charlie!"-Judge.

THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving
Serving
LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON
TEA—DINNER
11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M. Atlanta-651/2 Broad St., N. W. Macon-151 Cotton Ave.

***********

\***

Spring Frocks--

The very timeliness of these charming frocks entitles them to a price tag whose magnitude would accurately indicate their worth—to say nothing of their fresh, flower-like charm! And yet, although it may tax your credulity, although you may doubt your eyes, the facts are these . . . new, exquisite, delicately tinted crepes and clear, fascinating prints are arrived at Allen's, and priced $15.

Second Floor

J. P. ALLEN & CO.

Club News

Poetry Club

Poetry Club met Thursday night, March 5th. Markie Mowry, Judy Blundell and Willa Upchurch were hostesses this time. A number of interesting poems by various members were read and criticised. Plans were made for sending verse to a New York anthology of college verse to be edited by Henry Harrison.

K. U. B.

K. U. B. met Thursday afternoon in the club room in the basement of Main Building. Frances Messer, '30, was the speaker. Her subject concerned the writing of feature articles. An too), J. P. Reed has just made Carl informal discussion was conducted

Pi Alpha Phi

Pi Alpha Phi had a most interesting debate Thursday evening in Miss looked beautiful-so mysterious, sort Gooch's studio. The subject was the of-but I heard George Dyer just lost one to be used for the debate with Tennessee the last part of the month, Resolved, that legal censorship should be abolished. Diana Dyer and Margaret Glass upheld the affirmative side and Anita Boswell and Mary Sturtevant the negative. Both sides showed the results of thorough and careful work.

Glee Club

Glee Club met Wednesday night, March 4, at 7:00, in Mr. Johnson's stu-"Make a sentence using the word dio. The club continued its practice on the music which they will sing at

Archery Club

The Archery Club met with Miss Sinclair in Ansley Thursday afternoon, March 5, to discuss plans for the coming season. The time for the Archery Club's practice was decided upon and Mary McDonald was elected treasurer. After tea and cakes the club adjourned to meet on the greens in front of Rebecca Scott the following Monday afternoon.

Citizenship Club

The Citizenship Club held its March since it's gone." meeting with Miss Florence Smith, faculty adviser, in Boyd Cottage, Thursday afternoon, while tea was served, the members of the club discussed "Women in Politics" giving brief summaries of the life and work of outstanding women in politics and making suggestions for careers for women in the field of government.

> FRANCES VIRGINIA TEA ROOM Luncheons—Dinners arti Phone Walnut 4433 Atlanta, Ga.

***********

**********************

******* LAWRENCE'S PHARMACY

A Real Drug Store and the Nearest to Agnes Scott

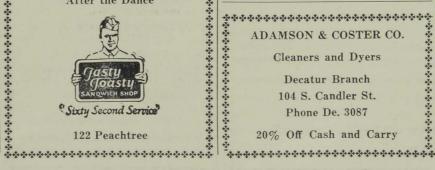

Try our Toasted Sandwiches Phones Dearborn 0762-0763

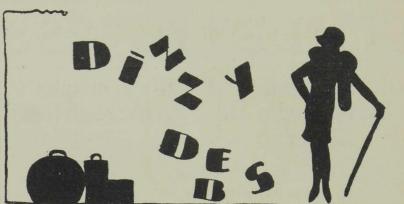

309 East College Ave., Opposite Depot, Decatur, Ga.

. .

*********

Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

"The pay must go on "-despite the fact that all the excitement of the Natilu McKinney were guests at the contest is over and the old editors slip Chi Psi dance Saturday night at Tech. into their accustomed places with a nip of "why bother-who's going to read what we have to say now." But the playing is going on-in a big wayso it's up to us to tell you about it. And as long as Agnes Scott girls are her home in Loganville, Ga. seen at all those places where one should be seen we little stay-at-homes certainly should have the golden opportunity of getting "the low-down" about them.

Cub Sanford spent the week-end at Gainesville, Ga. her home in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Among the Agnes Scott girls at the A. E. House of Emory Sunday and Pi K. A. dance of Tech, given at the also attended their formal dance Mon-Piedmont Driving Club last Friday day night at the Piedmont Driving night, were Luella Dearing, Shirley Club. McPhaul, Margaret Martin and Katharine Woltz.

Mallie White spent the week-end in Atlanta with Mrs. J. C. Lynch.

Jennie Sweeney had as her visitor last week-end Dorothy White.

Mickey Wilfong, Lou Parks, Jenny Sweeney and Jane McMillan attended the formal opening of the Palais- her home in Albany, Ga. Peachtree last Wednesday night.

Markie Mowry and Lucile Woodbury went on the Sigma Chi picnic last Sunday evening.

Hubby-"I miss the old cuspidor

Wifey-"You missed it before, that's why it's gone."-The Goive.

"Who are you working for?" "Same concern, wife and six kids."-Yale Record.

We set the clock for 6, but only five of us woke up.-Old Maid.

*****************

See Mrs. Cooper at WOMAN'S EXCHANGE —for— GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE

FLOWERS De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg. *******

OASIS

Critics acclaim it the most beautiful miniature golf course in America.

Peachtree Medical Place
Phone Ja. 8558

~

JOS. SIEGEL Dependable Jeweler

DIAMONDS—WATCHES CLOCKS—JEWELRY Watch Repairing a Specialty 131 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga.

Helen Duke, Knoxie Nunnally and Tish Rockmore attended the A. T. O. dance given at the home of Mrs. Preston Arkwright last Wednesday night.

Mary Dunbar spent the week-end at Claire Ivy and Peggy White had dinner Sunday at the Delta Sigma Phi House.

Melba Hollis spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. C. B. Davis, in Amelia Wolfe had dinner at the S.

Jane Claypool spent the week-end with Dot Cassel.

Louise Wesley had as her dinner guests last week-end Misses Catherine Parker, Virginia Petway, Sara Cooper, Virginia Ogletree and Virginia Heard.

Mary Davis spent the week-end at

Martha Tower, Lib Woolfolk, Martha Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Farr visited North Watson and Mildred McCalip their daughter, Frances, last week-end. spent Sunday in Fort Valley, Ga., with > Margaret Rogers spent the weekend in Atlanta with Mrs. A. V. Polak.

> We know a Senior who fell asleep during the commencement exercises because he counted the sheepskins .-Notre Dame Juggler.

$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$ L. CHAJAGE

> Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

*****************************

***************** Greeting Cards

Margaret Waite Book Shop

119-123 Peachtree Arcade Picture Framing .. *************

Simple Food--Carefully Prepared Lunch today at EUGENIA WILLIAMSON'S GARDEN TEA ROOM Luncheon 11-3 101/2 Edgewood Ave. Atlanta

OUR SLOGAN CLEAN SHOP MODERATE PRICES EXPERT OPINION STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOPPE 153 Sycamore St. Dearborn 2671

Visit THE EMBLEM SHOP, INC. College and School Jewels Metropolitan Bldg. 81 Forsyth St.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION ACTIVITIES

Games Excite All

Spirit ran high in the gym last make a triumphant exit from its last basketball game.

fore the Seniors quite realized what rousing cheer for the umpire! it was all about. Quick passing through center and over to Hudson and Morrow resulted in a goal for the Seniors, and from that moment till the end of the game, there was a keen fight. Hayes' hurling a wicked curve and Dr. The scoring was so close that the first Davidson's signals from the catcher's Martin. half ended with the Juniors 23 and the Seniors 21.

fumbling the ball snapped from one Duncan snapped the ball to Morrow; left! she shot the goal just before the the Black and Gold of '31.

Line-up: SENIORS JUNIORS Hudson, r. f. Davidson, c. Brown, r. f. Kane, l. f. Bowman, c. Peeples, s. c. Petway, r. g.

Last Wednesday night in the last Haynes, r. f. basketball game of the season, the Sophomores met the Freshmen in a Belote for Happoldt; Bell for Dyer. fast, interesting game. Both teams went on the floor determined to win, and some of the best playing of the year was exhibited.

In the beginning the Freshmen took the lead, and kept it throughout the the Freshmen allow the Sophomores' the Freshmen.

Lineup: FRESHMEN SOPHOMORES Heath, j. c. Rogers, j. c. Tindall, c. c. Friend, M., r. g. Cowles, l. f. Massie, l. f. Sturtevant, r. g. O'Brien, r. g. Armstrong, l. g. Kump, l. g. Substitutes - Freshmen, Harbison, Hamilton; Sophmores, Moore, Bell, B. M. Friend.

Just another example of inductive reasoning:

The more you study, the more you The more you learn, the more you

The more you forget the less you

What's the use?-Watchtower.

Final Basketball | Faculty Triumphs | Water Polo Teams | Jrs. Win Banner | Many Make In Baseball Game

Wednesday night when the Juniors a score of 10 to 3 in the first base- 1931 is over. After a most successful Wednesday night in a blaze of glory. sport, a greater interest than usual met the Seniors for the last time, in ball game of the season. The grand- season we are sorry to see those ex- The championship goes to the Juniors, was shown this year. The players the most exciting game of the season. stand got many a thrill and many a citing games end. All of the teams second place to the Seniors, and third were marked during the game for Quite a large crowd of spectators was laugh as the "all-stars" performed on have played excellently, and it is im- place to the Sophomores and Freshgathered to see the game and add to the diamond. The Faculty team possible to say which is the best. But, men. The class teams and the varsity its excitement by cheering from the showed their skill in batting and according to the scores of the games, are: sidelines. The two teams were in won- knocking home runs, much to the sor- first place easily goes to the Sophoderful condition and both were de- row of the fielders, who were kept mores, second place to the Seniors, and termined to win, the one to uphold its chasing balls up and down the field third place to the Juniors. Those Sophs championship title and the other to every time the faculty got in bat. Mr. just can't be beat! Those who made Johnson realized the sad state of the the class teams are: Varsity and stepped out in front of a would-be home run, successfully The game started off with a bang, stoping it. This greatly relieved the and the Juniors made two goals be- situation for the students, who gave a

Dr. Hayes stepped up, however, and knocked a home run!

Miss Sinclair and Dr. McCain were on the job to catch all the flies the Varsity managed to make. With Dr. box, the Varsity found it a hard job to even get a hit! But Dr. Wright The second half was twice as ex- and Mr. Cunningham helped out the citing as the first. In spite of some students just at the crucial moment when it seemed that the score would end of the court to the other so quick- go on up into the teens for the Facully that it was hard for the eye to ty. Mr. Cunningham debated whether follow. Bowman and Dunean were so to help out the students and run to equally matched that it was always a first and be put out, or try to pile up question as to which would get the the faculty's score and go on to sectip-off. The last quarter was a whirl-ond. Finally his sympathy for the wind of excitement. Everyone in the students won over; while Dr. Wright audience was on her feet shouting and quite gallantly struck out. The Varcheering, as the ball went from the sity did some good playing, however. hands of the Gold to those of the Blue Mildred McCalip was back in the or vice versa. The score was 36-36 pitcher's box in her usual good form with just 40 seconds to play, when and fanned out the Faculty right and

Ruth McAuliffe and Sarah Bowman whistle blew and made the score 38-36 did good work on bases. During the in favor of the Seniors. Truly this five innings the interest of those in was a fitting climax to a successful the grandstand never waned, and basketball season, and a royal exit for cheers and yells greeted almost every play. The line-up was as follows:

VARSITY FACULTY McCalip, p. Hayes, p. Glenn, c. Morrow, l. f. Cunningham, 1 b. Bowman, 1 b. McAuliff, c. Sinclair, 2 b. Armstrong, 2 b. McAuliffe, 3 b. Duncan, s. c. McCain, 3 b. Grey, r. g. Wright, s. s. Watson, s. s. Miller, l. g. Wilburn, l. f. Dver, l. f. Miller, c. f. Happoldt, c. f. P. Brown, r. f.

Substitutions: Sweets for Brown, Umpire-Johnson.

Tennis Offered

the Freshmen, did excellent pass work ing, etc., just come out and play tennis. score to equal theirs. At the final sports, so no matter which other one but the guarding and interception of whistle the score was 37-24 in favor of you are signed up for, tennis will develop your skill. The tournament play as this is your last chance of the year to become famous overnight in the ten-Happoldt, c. c. nis realm-don't neglect to sign up on mores defeated the Freshmen with a Spivey, r. g. the bulletin board in Main.

> C. W. AUSTIN'S BEAUTY PARLOR

*********

119 E. Court Square Decatur Phone De. 9242 Mrs. Daisy Holbrook in Charge

4 Years' Experience Entrance Through Hallway

4444444444444444444444444

STARNES

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER

"BIG DEC"

Are Announced

The Faculty defeated the Varsity by Water polo's glorious career for

FRESHMAN Dot Cassel Amelia O'Neal Mary Wormhoudt C'Lena McMullen Plant Ellis Mallie White Dot Bradley Squad-Juliette Kaufman, Margaret

SOPHOMORE Caroline Lingle Jule Bethea Douschka Sweets Marty Stigall Margie Ellis Betty Bolton Betsy Thompson Alice Bullard

Tish Rockmore Squad - Catherine deHart, Judy

JUNIOR Betty Cates Grace Fincher Ruth Green Lila Ross Norfleet Betty Bonham Katherine Wright Sarah Lane Smith

Marjorie Gamble Squad — Lovelyn Wilson, Peggy

SENIOR Sara Hill Helen Friedman Julia Thompson Gertrude Willoughby Jeanette Shaw Dot Kethly Martha North Watson Squad-Laura Brown, Elise Jones.

Sophs Defeat Frosh

The water polo game between Sophomores and Freshmen, which was scheduled for Monday, March 2, was played instead on the following Thurs- Juniors, they dribbled it neatly down If you want to wear off stiffness in day night, by courtesy of the Sopho- toward the goal and whammed it in. game. The Sophomores, as well as your joints from track, baseball, rid-more team, who declined the forfeiture The Seniors did some excellent passing n favor of a postponement. The initial and goal shooting; but at no time did This season there will be a Doubles race for the ball went in nearly every Tennis Tournament as an aid for other case to the Freshman center forward, the Sophomores prevented their making this advantage good. An unusual will start the week of March 16 and amount of substitution and swapping of positions in the Freshman team handicapped their playing. The Sophoscore of 7-4.

Line-up: SOPHOMORES FRESHMEN McMullen, r. g. Bolton, r. g. Martin, l. g. Thompson, l. g. Bradley, g. g. Rockmore, g. g. Ellis, M., r. f. Ellis, r. f. White, l. f. Stigall, l. f. Cassel, c. f Sweets, c. f. Substitution—Rreshmen, Kaufman.

Dennis Lindsey Printing Co.

(Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING and STATIONERY

Phone Dearborn 0976 421 Church St. DECATUR, GA.

In Basketball

The basketball season ended last SENIOR

Chopin Hudson Katherine Morrow Mary Sprinkle Mildred Duncan Ruth McCaliffe Katherine Purdie Jeane Grey Louise Miller Weesa Chandler Martha Sprinkle Squad-Agnes Skelton, Julia Rowan. JUNIOR Penelope Brown LaMyra Kane May Schlich Betty Peeples Sarah Bowman Diana Dyer Susan Glenn Virginia Petway Squad-Virginia Gray, Martha Williamson, Hettie Mathis, Etta Mathis SOPHOMORE

Porter Cowles Elizabeth Moore Laura Spivey Lucile Heath Katherine Happoldt Margaret Bell Maude Armstrong Mary Sturtevant

Bessie Meade Friend Squad-Anne Hudmon, Bobby Hart, Annie Laurie Whitehead.

FRESHMEN Margaret Friend Margaret Massie Marjorie Tindall Nancy Rogers Frances O'Brien Betty Harbison Margaret Kump Louise Schuessler

Squad—Eleanor Hamilton, Frances Austin, Peggy White.

Srs. Lose to Jrs.

The last of the season's water polo games ended in a victory for the Juniors over the Seniors with the score

Fincher and Hill battled for the ball from the first, just one winning by a stroke and then the other. Once the ball was in the possession of the but did not seem able to follow through with goals.

Fincher for the Juniors made four of their six goals, showing a sure aim as well as a quick stroke.

SENIORS JUNIORS Shaw, r. g. Bonham, r. g. Kethley, l. g. Lovejoy, l. g. Wright, g. g. Watson, g. g. Thompson, r. f. Green, r. f. Cates, l. f. Friedman, l. f. Fincher, c. f. Hill, c. f.

For Beautiful Photographs

Thurston Hatcher

1101/2 Forsyth, N. W. Call on us

Volley Ball Teams

With more contestants out for the their serves, good plays, and errors, and from these records the class teams were chosen:

SENIOR Arbuckle Davis Duke McAuliffe Purdie McCalip Hill Chandler Watson Gerard JUNIOR

Miller, M. Bowman Brown Green Thompson

Dver Glenn SOPHOMORES

Cowles Eskridge Ellis Heard Nash Hudmon, A. Hudmon, M. Preston, B. Alexander Shackelford Stigall Lingle Spivey Sturtevant

Professor (taking up examination paper)-"Why the quotation marks all over this paper?"

Student-"Courtesy to the man on my right, professor.'

Hewey's

Buy Your

Toilet Articles—Sundries Remedies-Stationery Sodas, Sandwiches PROMPT DELIVERY

Call us Phone Dea. 0640-9110

DEKALB THEATRE WEDNESDAY Vilma Banky

—in— "A LADY TO LOVE"

THURSDAY-FRIDAY Buddy Rogers "ALONG CAME YOUTH"

SATURDAY Bert Lytel —in– "LAST OF THE LONE WOLF"

AGNES SCOTT GIRLS

**************************

-use-

BLACK AND WHITE CABS

1-2-3-4 -or-Five Passengers

2 MILES 30c CALL WALNUT 0200

STUDENTS NOMINATED TO HEAD ORGANIZATIONS

Election of Officers to Take Place on Tues., March 24.

After weeks of discussion the members of the student body and nominating committee have come to some decision as to the candidates for student offices during 1931-32. On Tuesday afternoon, March 24, the elections will take place and the officers selected istic, presented the silver cup to Kath- Tech, will appear in Atlanta on aturfrom the following names:

Committee Nominations

Student Government:

President-Andrewena Robinson. Vice-President-Peggy Link.

House Presidents-Rebekah Scott Hall, May Schlich; Main Hall, Anne Hopkins; Inman Hall, Harriotte Brantley.

Secretary-Mary Sturtevant.

Treasurer—Maude Armstrong Student Treasurer—Susan Glenn Student Recorder-Louise Hollingsworth.

Y. W. C. A.:

President-Diana Dyer.

First Vice-President-Martha Logan Second Vice-President-Mary Miller

Secretary—Douschka Sweets. Treasurer-Margaret Bell.

Agonistic:

Editor-in-Chief-Betty Bonham. Assistant Editor-Elizabeth Light-

Business Manager—Grace Fincher. Advertising Manager-Clyde Love-

Aurora:

Editor-Sara Lane Smith.

Assistant Editor-Elizabeth Moore. Business Manager-Virginia Herrin.

Assistant Business Manager-

Frances Duke.

Silhouette:

Editor Ruth Green. PBrown Assistant Editor-Caroline Lingle.

Business Manager—Betty Peeples. Assistant Business Manager-Jule

Bethea.

Athletic Association: S.Bown President-Penclope Brown Vice-President Sara Bowman.

Secretary—Laura Spivey.

Treasurer—Lucile Heath. Song Leader—Plant Ellis Fire Chief-Marjorie Gamble.

Popular Nominations

Student Government:

President—A. Robinson, P. Link, M Schlich, P. Brown.

Vice President-P. Link, A. Robinson, V. Herrin.

House Presidents:

Rebekah-M. Schlich, A. Hopkins, V.

Main-V. Herrin, A. Hopkins, M. Sehlich, A. Robinson.

Inman-M. Schlich, H. Brantley, V.

Herrin, K. Wright. Secretary - M. Armstrong, M.

Sturtevant, C. Mayer.

Mayer, P. Cowles.

Student Treasurer S. Glenn, V. Gray, L. Norfleet.

Student Recorder L. Norfleet, Hollingsworth, M. Williamson.

Y. W. C. A.:

President-D. Dyer, M. Logan, A. Hopkins, M. Miller.

First Vice-President-M. Logan, M.

Miller, D. Dyer.

M. Logan, A. Hopkins.

Secretary-D. Sweets, M. Sturte int, V. Martin

(Continued on page 2)

Treasurer B. M. Friend, D. Sweets, V. Heard, M. Sturtevant, M. Bell.

Agonistic:

Seniors Win

Agonistic Cup

Class of 1931 Claims Honor for Four Years.

in the class contest and to make their nent English stars and Sir Philip Ben decisions on the basis of journalistic Greet himself, who was knighted requality, originality, accuracy, and appearance and make-up. They expressed a real interest in all of the papers and college newspapers of the South.

Mr. J. S. Pope of the Journal made some interesting comments on the renowned tragic actors and actresess." papers. The Seniors were commended for their front page make-up, choice of material, and comprehensive scope; the Juniors, for their art work and features; the Sophomores, for their Byrd silhouette; and the Freshmen for their "appealing affectation of naivette" and reviews of Byrd's lecture and "Little Women."

Again the class contest appears to have been most successful for it produced a high grade of journalism, revealed undiscovered talent, and brought many students into contact with the process of publishing the Agonistic.

Y. W. Sponsors

Foreign Countries Represented at Tables.

Tuesday, March 10, another world fellowship dinner was held at Agnes Scott. Such dinners are bi-annual afaffiliated with the World Y. W. C. A.

The menu was not the usual type chicken dinner; the difference saved than the last time he visted Atlanta. is to be used to help pay our pledge, students in Europe.

represented. It was a very amusing if at times trying experiment.

White House Marguerite Gerard and May 1st. Ann McCallie presided at the French Second Vice-President-M. Miller, tables, while Ilse Cusow served at the of the golden anniversary of Sir German table. Martha North Watson Philip's first production of Shake- cluded dances, jokes, etc., Lovelyn Wilserved at the table representing Spain. speare and is the last American tour In Rebekah Miss Harn sat at the head which he plans to make. Students are of the German table, while Miss Alex- urged to take advantage of this unander and Miss Phythian served the rivaled opportunity to hear the artist. two French tables. At the Spanish table Miss Cilly presided.

Ben Greet Players To Appear In Great Dramas

"Hamlet" and "Twelfth Night" Are on Program to Be Presented Here.

Sir Philip Ben Greet and his Shakespearean players, under the In the chapel exercises on March 14, auspices of a company of Atlanta's Julia Thompson, editor of the Agon-schools and colleges headed by Georgia erine Morrow, editor of the Senior is- day, March 21, in the City Auditorium, sue. For the fourth time the class of at which time they will present two 1931 has been accorded such an honor. Shakespearean dramas, The city editors of the three Atlanta Night" and "Hamlet." The Ben Greet papers were asked to serve as judges company is composed of eighteen emicently by the King of England for services "to the English drama and the English language." Sir Philip has said that theirs was a difficult position been acclaimed the greatest Shaketo judge between four excellent publi- spearean actor in the world-if not the Agonistic would stand high among the composed only of stars, all selected and trained by Sir Philip himself, and "they include some of England's most The above statement is endorsed by leading English and American authorities, two of whom are Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia, and Dr. William Lyon Phelps, of Yale University.

"Twelfth Night," Shakespeare's rollicking comedy, will be given at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. It will be played according to the 1601 edition. Imnortal "Hamlet," the evening entation, will be played according to the first quarto of the 1603 edition, which came to the press during Shakespeare's lifetime and which he himself used. There are but two original copies of this edition, one of which is in the British Museum, and the other in the Huntington Collection in California. Both plays will follow the original text as closely as possible and will be given on an Elizabethan stage World Dinner with the simplicity of setting of the original Shakespearean drama. Stress and emphasis will be laid upon the acting, diction, and use of the English language.

The role of Hamlet will be played by Thorndyke of literary fame. Aston Stevens, former dramatic critic for the fairs and are sponsored by the World New York Evening Journal and him- unusually large number of girls try-Ben Greet will take the roles of found on our campus. It consisted of Polonius, called Porambus in the first vegetable soup, baked potatoes, and edition, and of one of the grave digbrown bread with tea. The desert was gers in "Hamlet," and of Malovio in son, Amelia Wolf. cherry pie. This simple, inexpensive "Twelfth Night." Sir Philip is sevenmeal was substituted for the usual ty-four years old and no less active

Sir Philip played in Atlanta on his which is $100 a year, to the World last tour of the United States in 1912-Student Christian Federation. This 14, and on another tour several years money pays for scholarship for worthy earlier he played on Agnes Scott's campus, on the terrace beside Gaines Flags of the different nations were cottage. The present tour started from hung on the walls of the two dining Columbia University in the fall of 1929 Treasurer — M. Armstrong, æ. rooms and the tables were prettily dec- and included trips to colleges and uniorated in the colors of the various coun- versities in the East and Middle West tries there represented. These included that fall and winter. The company France, Germany and Spain. The girls then vacationed and rested in England who sat at these tables spoke the lan- They returned to continue their tour in guage of that nation which their table the Southwest, in the East-againwhere they had return invitations, in the Middle West, and in the Southeast. A hostess presided at each table. In The tour will be completed about

This tour was planned in celebration Tickets may be obtained from Dr. Hayes.

MILDRED DUNCAN ELECTED MAY QUEEN FOR 1931

Vachel Lindsey to Lecture March 23

Poet-Evangelist to Read and Sing Poetry.

On March 23 at 8:30, Vachel Lindsey, well known American poet, will be presented by the Lecture Association of Emory University, in a lecture recital of his own poetry. Due to a recent fire at Emory, the lecture will be in the auditorium of the Woman's Club of Atlanta.

Mr. Lindsey is a unique and romantic figure in the literary world of today. Artist and poet, he is above all a worshipper of beauty, and he has spent years in tramping over the country, cations. All of them felt that the greatest of all times. His casts are the "poet evangelist," chanting his gospel of beauty and organizing village improvement campaigns. He has been described as a "chanting, roaring, soft-breathing, syncopated cyclone," and those who know his poetry, and have heard him sing his verses, know J. Blundell, M. Miller, M. Belote, S. how aptly this applies.

> Several prose works on his vagabond career have proved popular, but Lindsey became famous from such well known volumes of verse as "General william booth Enters into neaven, 'The Congo," and "The Chinese Nightingale. The coming of this poet promises to be one of the outstanding events on the Emory lecture program for this season.

Cotillion Club Holds Try-Outs

Clever Skits Given at Initiations.

The annual spring try-outs of Cotil-Russell Thorndyke, brother of Sybil lion Club were held Thursday, March 12, in the club room. There was an in his opinion Mr. Thorndyke is the as members: Amelia O'Neil, Mary greatest Hamlet ever seen. Sir Philip Hamilton, Stuart Weatherspoon, Dorothy Wyatt, Lewellyn Parks, Madge York, Louise Crawford, Lovelyn Wil-

> The skits as presented by the in- M. England. itiates were most amusing and entertaining for all of those present.

The initiations were held in the club room Monday night, March 16. The new members showed interesting personalities in their presentations. Amelia O'Neil was the spirit of spring in which she expressed her soul. A one-act play was given in which Mary Hamilton was the monkey, Stuart Dot Wyatt the organ. Lewellyn Parks recited "Face on the Ballroom Floor." Madge York impersonated Claudette Colbert singing "You Brought a New Kind of Love to Me." Louise Crawford gave a vaudeville act which inson and Amelia Wolf presented a take-off on the Junior banquet.

The new members were outstanding in their grace, posture, and ability to to follow.

Large Cast for Old English Pagans Is Announced.

Miss Mildred Duncan will be the Queen of the May at Agnes Scott's celebration of this occasion in 1931. After a close race, necessitating a second vote, because of a tie, the honor of being the most beautiful goes to her.

The following are to be maids of her

Julia Rowan

Shirley McPhaul

Molly Childress

Sara Lane Smith Nell Starr

Mary Boyd

Martha Stigall

Marjorie Beilfuss Martha Skeen

Robin Hood_____Lucile Heath Maid Marian_Mary Lillias Garretson Will Scarlet_____Kathleen Bowen Hobby Horse____Juliette Kaufman Robin Hood's Merry Men-V. Heard, Robin Hood Singers-M. C. Williamson, B. Thompson, P. Link, M. Oliver, M. Logan.

Bowman, V. Allen.

Archers-B. M. Friend, L. Rockmore, D. Dyer.

Village Maidens - M. Ridley, L. Stakely, M. Sturtevant, J. Thompson, A. F. Howerton, L. Parks, M. York, E. Kelley, A. O'Neil, C. Baker.

Peasant Boys and Girls-L. Dearing, E. Jones, M. Wormhoudt, J. Shaw, M. Duke, L. Woodbury, E. Skeen, A. Robinson, L. Wesley, M. Mowry, M. Martin, E. Cates, E. Heckle, J. Raht, V. Petway, E. Doak.

Jesters-C. Hudson, D. Cassel, Mildred Thompson.

Milk Maids-L. McCain, E. Simp-Student Christian Federation which is self a playwright of note, stated that ing out. The following were admitted son, M. Hooten, L. Crawford, M. Faust, M. E. Wallace, S. Shadburn, D. Grubb, M. Glass, V. Smoak, P. Ellis, L. Ware.

> Chimney Sweeps-B. Hart, S. Hollis, R. Kilpatrick, E. Lightcap, P. Hippee, > Garland Dancers-M. Hamilton, E. Hamilton, N. McKenny, E. Squires, V. Martin, C. Russell.

> Sward Dancers - M. Tindall, L. Brown, L. Hoke, M. Askew, P. Cawthorn, M. MacDonald, M. Kennedy, C. Happoldt.

Morris Dancers-J. Grimmet, R. Weatherspoon the organ grinder and Hall, F. Murray, R. May, F. Foster, Woodsmen-O. Weeks, S. Strickland, C. Alexander, M. Tate, M. Ames, A. Rainey, M. Hiner, F. W. Niles, V. Gray, B. Lindsay.

Peasant Group: Men - W. Upchurch, J. Wilson, R. Barnett. Women -A. Boswell, E. Johnson, M. L. Mason. Girl-E. Holferty. Child-R. Dun-

The Agonistic

Subscription Price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single Copies, 5 cents.

Published weekly. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF

| Editor           | Julia Thompson      |
|------------------|---------------------|
| Assistant Editor | Betty Bonham        |
| Feature Editor   | Katherine Morrow    |
| Society Editor   | Lucile Woodbury     |
| Exchange Editor  | Elizabeth Lightcap  |
| Athletic Editor  | Sarah Bowman        |
| Alumnae Editor   | Julia Grimmett      |
| Club Editor      | Bessie Meade Friend |
| Joke Editor      | Kitty Purdie        |
|                  | Caroline Lingle     |
|                  |                     |

MANAGEMENT

| Business Manager              | Jeanette Shaw       |
|-------------------------------|---------------------|
| Advertising Manager           | Mildred Duncan      |
| Circulation Manager           | Christian Henderson |
| Assistant Circulation Manager | Marian Lee          |

CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

| מיו. חי             |
|---------------------|
| Mary Wormhaudt      |
| Nell Brown          |
| Bessie Meade Friend |
| Margaret Ellis      |

Sara Lane Smith Letitia Rockmore Rosemary May Katharine Woltz Betty Bonham

MR. DENNIS LINDSEY

It is with very heart-felt regret that the students of Agnes Scott view the passing of one of the most loyal friends that the college has ever known. Mr. Dennis Lindsey has not only contributed most generously in a financial way to Agnes Scott, but he has ever been one of her firmest supporters. The relations which the students have had with him in a business way have always been most pleasant, and he has surely served the student body in untold ways. We wish, therefore, to express our sympathies and appreciation of him to his family.

EDITORIAL

"The old order changeth," and the student officers for 1930-31 have practically reached the time at which they will hand their torches to new hands. Student elections are on the horizon.

Agnes Scott prides itself on its democratic spirit and ruling. There is little or no "politicking" during the election period, and Brown students vote honestly for the candidate whom they deem best. In a true democracy, however, the officials are elected by a majority of fall of those who are entitled to a vote. It seems strange and also unfortunate that people take so little interest in the election of the students who will head their organizations for the coming year. Now is the time to vote for your candidate. It will be too late to criticize and rebel after the elections are over.

We want as officers during the coming year those who not only are most capable of leading the student organizations to expand and accomplish their respective purposes, but also have the payments to the student budget and hearty cooperation of the entire student body. Such a condition will not be attained without a full attendance of the students at the soon as possible. The regular collecelections on Tuesday.

We are eager for the continued success and growth of Agnes Scott. Since the student body is the largest and most vital part ever any student finds it convenient of the institution, it is the duty and pleasure of each one of us to to pay. The black list is unusually long see that it has the most effective leadership for the coming year. izations need your support.

Library Rules

It is excusable in a student to say students in this very college on March organization. 5, 1930—certainly not a date so very places in the library.

for library rules. Ignorance is no ex-

II. Breaking of library rules shall these groups. incur a penalty of exclusion from the library, the length of time to be dethose excluded shall be posted.

III. Books shall not be taken from overnight before five o'clock.

IV. When there are only a few copies of reserve books to be used by a large class, day students shall not take the books out for overnight before nine o'clock.

V. The green cards of books on reserve in special rooms shall be left at the main desk when the books are taken out overnight or over the week-

VI. Books taken out of their regular places must be returned and not left on the tables.

VII. Reserve books must be used in the library except overnight and week-

This column is to be continued next week. Please note carefully the comments that will be made on these regulations. This is something of vital importance to the welfare of our college librarry. This is not ancient history!

STUDENTS NOMINATED TO HEAD ORGANIZATIONS

(Continued from page 1) Editor-B. Bonham, R. Green, P.

Assistant Editor-E. Lightcap, C.

Lingle, E. Moore. Business Manager-G. Fincher, B.

Peeples, C. Lovejoy. Advertising Manager-C. Lovejoy,

F. Foster, M. Miller.

Aurora:

Editor-S. L. Smith, M. Miller, B. Bonham, R. Green

Assistant Editor-E. Moore, G. Powell, J. Blundell.

Business Manager-M. Miller, V

Assistant Business Manager-G. Nelson, K. Woltz, F. Duke.

Silhouette:

Editor-P. Brown, R. Green, V

Assistant Editor-C. Lingle, M. Rid

Business Manager-B. Peeples, &.

Lovejoy, M. Miller. Assistant Business Manager - J

Bethea, B. M. Friend, I. Hudson.

Athletic Association: President—S. Bowman, S. Glenn, P.

Vice-President-S. Glenn, S. Bow

Secretary—L. Spivey, C. Lingle, M

Treasurer-L. Heath, L. Spivey, K.

Song Leader-B. Lindsey, P. Ellis,

Fire Chief-M. Gamble, M. Eskridge, L. Wise.

PAY YOUR BUDGET!

Students who have not made their who intend to do so before the semester ends are urged to pay this fee as tions for the semester have been completed, but the student treasurer will receive payments in her room whenthis semester and our campus organ-

Mr. Stukes Speaks

Sunday night, March 15, Professor that she doesn't know the date of S. G. Stukes spoke on the subject, Caesar's Conquest of Gaul, for that "Our Obligations to the Social Order." happened a long time ago, and we are He began by saying that his subject little concerned with it, now. But the was in line with others of recent meetfollowing rules were passed by the ings, carrying out the purpose of the

"The social order," he said, "is made far back in the dark ages! And yet up of Institutions, Involuntary Groups, very few students observe these rules and Voluntary Groups. The first inin their entirety, which fact tends to cludes the family and government. The imply that they are not carefully ac- second consists of groups into which quainted with them. And THAT is one falls by virtue of birth, such as inexcusable, since these regulations the home, play companions and reare posted in several conspicuous ligious organizations. The voluntary are such that we enter of our own I. All students shall be responsible choice. This social order is bound together by three things: Law, tradition and the beliefs of the members of

This subject has an especial meaning for us, for we receive it in two catermined by the librarian. A list of pacities, that is, as college trained people and as Christians.

"Our first obligation toward the so- this year. the library by any day student for cial order is the right attitude toward that it is natural that institutions during her Senior year here. should lag behind present day thinking. Our duty is to give of our best service to them, by taking an active part and making our criticism always constructive.

> "It is the especial obligation of the educated group to have the right attitude toward the law, for it is only with this that it can function effective-

> "Then we must have a sympathetic attitude toward tradition. Discard superstition but realize that real tradition has an important place and is very sacred to some people. Our attitude toward it should be one of constructive thought.

> of citizen possible, to carry the spirit of Christ into the social order, into our relationships with all people, even though they be of different classes or

"And above all it is our responsibility, as Christians, to make the social order a Christian one. A great obligation on our college men and women is to use the spirit of Christ as a great plans to take up teaching for a profeslationships impersonally but as individual to individual, with the touch of personal contact. And so may God help us to so live that we can take something of his touch into the lives business world and later she is going of those with whom we come in con- to Paris to study French and music.

"In Christ's commission to the postles just before his A to go to the uttermost parts of the world. That is we, as dsciples of Jesus, must first witness at home. The kingwill be ready to take it to others."

Alumnae News

Harriet Alexander, '28, is still takng a business course in Augusta and nas become so business-like that she vrites all of her correspondence on he typewriter these days.

Elizabeth (Ruff) Sanatt, '28, is enjoying life in Honolulu, where, incidentally, she saw Douglas Fairbanks passing through on his way to hunt lions for his latest picture.

Nancy Crowther, '28, has become juite a newspaper woman, working with the society department of the Savannah consolidated papers.

Eloise Gaines, '28, is interesting peoole in going to Europe with the Wicker Fours, which the Alumnae Association is sponsoring for the first time this Virginia Sevier, '28, has announced her engagement to Mr. John Howland Snow of Honolulu.

Jo Walker, '28, is athletic director at North Avenue Presbyterian School

Pernette (Adams) Carter, '29, visitexisting institutions. We must re- ed Louise Garibaldi in Richmond, Va., member that they are the results of the sometime in January. Some girls will best thinking of the past and realize remember that Louise visited Pernette

> LaRue Berry, '29, is working at the Southern Bell Company with all the other alumnae which the company finds

Day Student News

As the end of the year draws near the most interesting question to Seniors is "What shall I do?" The Day Student Seniors are planning to be very industrious in the next few years. Most of them expect to teach a few years and then study for for some "It is our duty to be the best type definite work. Some of these plans are quite interesting. Lora Lee De-Loach, for instance, plans to go either to Columbia and take a course in library science or to the Chicago Art Institute and study art, while Margaret Askew wants to go in training for a nurse. Since Margaret Marshall source of power in our clubs and so-sion, she will go in a few years to cial groups. Do not consider these re- the University of Chicago to continue her study. Julia Wilson will study at Columbia for her M. A. next year. Eunice Laurence is first going into the Cornelia Wallace plans to go as a social evangelistic worker to China in given in the first chapter of Acts, he six years, continuing her study, in the says first "Ye shall be witnesses unto meantime, at Tulane and Yale. Dorme in Jerusalem" before he told them othy Kethley will start next year in her study to be a doctor. Louise Ware is the exception which proves the rule; dom must come within us and then we instead of working next year she is going to Europe.

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities.

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

Dear old pal, chum, comrade, etc.,

Holidays are coming nearer and nearer! Why, we're already singing "Two moe weeks till vacation!" Soon we'll have those umpteen term papers off our chests, and can trot home; well, if not that, the roommate always has one handy. Hasten, day of portent, ere I perish of Spring fever-to say nothing of hay fever! Meanwhile, we'll settle down and watch the spring flowers and suits blossom out at the rate of ten per second. Sniff! The Dec Bank scene which followed! and Trust-big slob that it is-tauntingly rears its grim gray head in one long "Ba-ah!" every time I so much amazing after lights the other night, all things don't come to those who per cent of a dress?

Well, I guess we're sufficiently asovercome when it comes to penning a wicked Aggie. It was enough to make the New York Times turn read with shame! It's just as well they're getting out of the way, so the rest of us can have a chance. The idea of their hogging the cup like that for four years straight!

> L. CHAJAGE Dixie's Leading Furrier

********

220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

The Freshmen are up to their old Day by day, in every way, Spring tricks again, Giddy. The other day Ruth Barnett went to the infirmary for the first time, with flu. In response to Miss Daughtery's command to "go back and get in bed," Ruth had to go and cop the prize! The other went without a murmur. Imagine Miss Daughtery's surprise, nay, chagrin, on going back to her room for a nap, at finding Ruth lying quietly, if flueyly in her bed! Curtain on the painful

That's all right, the Sophs still have their weaker moments. It was indeed as consider a spring rag. Oh, well, if to find Maude Armstrong leaping around in a frenzy outside her door, wait, at least 371/2 per cent does—but and yelping excitedly in her after-ten-I ask you-how would I look in 371/2 thirty voice for apparently no good reason. Maude, it appears, had settled herself contentedly for a delightful allsured that the Seniors just can't be night snooze, when her sawing was interrupted by a loud rustling, which usually denotes the presence of a mouse in the waste-basket. Investigation showed said waste-basket to be vacant of vermin, so she returned to her slumbers. Again the noise. She repeated the search. No soap; I mean no mouse. Three times she went through the performance, after which, convinced that the room was haunted, Miss Armstrong hurled herself out into the hall with shrieks of anything but delight. Having calmed her ruffled nerves by a series of vocal outbursts, she went back to bed-only to discover that the noise was neither rats, burglars, nor spooks, but her own

Clubs

The Student Volunteer Group had as their visitors at the regular meeting Tuesday afternoon Dr. and Mrs. Nute, who have been missionaries in Turkey for some time. They are now in America on furlough, but expect to return to their station next fall. Mrs. Nute made a very interesting talk on "The Attitude on Foreign People in Turkey." Tuesday night Dr. Nute (Continued on page 4) eye-lashes brushing against the pillow! We were all delighted to find that she had some! (The most unkind cut of all!) And then, Bernice Beatty day, Miss Westall was carrying some coffee from the tea room to Miss Preston. "Make it hot!" she requested, "You know, Miss Preston is lined with asbestos!" "Oh," quoth Bernice sympathetically, "I'm so sorry."

Giddy, I'd advise you never to miss a baseball game after this—you might lose out on another charming family scene such as was enacted by the Robinsons, pater et fille, last Friday. While Dr. Robinson was umpiring at a great rate, a dashing whirlwind in the form of Ann(alyt) surged up to him, and flinging her arms around his waist, and her egs around his knees, proceeded to break up the game. She'll miss her calling if she doesn't go in the circus as the human leech. It requred fully five minutes of persuasion and force to extract her! Papa love baby?

Well, guess I'd better trot alonggotta see a man about a dog. Always,

Aggie.

****** Earth Gods

Kahlil Gibran

Margaret Waite Book Shop

119-123 Peachtree Arcade **********

> Greater Values Dintchuck's ) & T(1) $ DIRIESS SIHOIP

"And it's always fine weather when I good fellows get together."

And maybe that's how they get that way! You can't deny that this glorious spring atmosphere of morning glories and daisies simply makes folks go out and do things: Gay spring ensembles strutting out for the weekend; nonchalant dates strolling about the blossoming campus, Seniors and their few favored friends stepping into ritzy little cars and giving all the poor underclassmen the high hat. Oh well, we can't all be social whirlwinds but a lot of us can kick our share of dust. Just look how we do it!

Clyde Lovejoy attended the Delta Sigma Phi Tea Dance last Saturday afternoon.

Lillian Herring spent the week-end

Winona Eubank spent the week-end with Grace and Marjorie Woodward.

Lila Norfleet attended Sophomore week-end at Davidson College this past

The following girls were guests at the Theta Chi formal dance at East Lake Country Club last Friday night: Frances Duke, Tish Rockmore, Penny Brown, Ruth Pringle, Mart Tower, Jane Clark and Elsie Lee.

Bo Wannamaker and Roberta Cason spent the week-end with Chub Hickson and Peg Malloy.

Simple Food--Carefully Prepared Lunch today at EUGENIA WILLIAMSON'S GARDEN TEA ROOM Luncheon 11-3

Atlanta

101/2 Edgewood Ave.

Markie Mowry and Lucile Woodbury attended the dance at the Palais-Peachtree Saturday night.

Nell Starr spent last week-end with Tish Rockmore in Atlanta.

Ruth Green's mother visited her this past week-end.

Mrs. D. P. McGeachy, Jr., gave a party Saturday afternoon for last year's "Sturges." Those attending were: Sarah Hill, Ellen Davis, Kay Morrow, Julia Thompson, Weesa Chandler, Kitty Purdie, Chopin Hudson, Carie Lingle, Dell Arbuckle, Jean Grey, Laura Brown and Ruth McAu-

Billy Rountree spent the week-end with her sister, Mary.

Shirley McPhaul, Mart Tower, Julia Rowan, Jeannette Shaw, Betty Peeples, and Marjorie Beilfuss attended the dance at the Palais-Peachtree last Tuesday night.

Myra Jervey's mother spent the week-end with her.

Reba Hicks attended a medical dance at Forrest Hills Country Club on Friday night.

Claire and Alma Earle Ivy's grandmother, Mrs. J. R. Dinsmore, spent the week-end here.

Kathleen Bowen spent the week-end with Elizabeth Simpson in Decatur.

****** LAWRENCE'S PHARMACY

A Real Drug Store and the

Nearest to Agnes Scott

Try our Toasted Sandwiches

Phones Dearborn 0762-0763

309 East College Ave., Opposite Depot, Decatur, Ga.

************

********************** ADAMSON & COSTER CO.

Cleaners and Dyers

Decatur Branch 104 S. Candler St. Phone De. 3087

20% Off Cash and Carry ፟፞ቝ፟ቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቚቝቝቝቝቝቜቝ

> Bailey Bros. Shoe Shop 142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies' Work DE. 0172 WE DELIVER

Clover Leaf Bakery

Home Made

BREAD, ROLLS, CAKES, PIES AND PASTRIES

A SELECT SCHOO

A Business School with University Atmosphere, requiring high school graduation and character references from every student. Owned by educators of national prominence. Located in the City of Washington with its cultural and social advantages. Offering secretarial training of college grade. Extraordinary placement service 544 PRESS BUILDING WASHINGTON, D.C.

You must have a new

Spring Coat

Why? Because the styles are entirely differentand incidentally much more charming — than the last Spring Coatsand you can afford one because they are only-

DOWNSTAIRS STORE

From Morning Till Night There Are Frocks "Just Right"

in High's Smart

Collegiate

For Daytime:

Campus, travel and spectator sports find satisfying aids here! Every frock rates an "A-plus" with your budget, too at these low prices! Newest styles and colors, sizes 11 to 17.

For Playtime:

Diaphanous chiffons and demure laces. Some with trim Jackets to wear in the afternoon . . . to leave off at night for "formals"! Printed taffetas and crepes . . . at these same low prices!

COLLEGIATE SHOP—HIGH'S SECOND FLOOR

J. M. HIGH CO. Atlanta, Georgia

Prof. Dieckmann Presents Recital

Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in the chapel, the college community enjoyed an hour of music presented by Mr. Dieckmann and two students, Kathleen Bowen and Amelia Wolf. The program was as follows:

Organ-Sonata, Op. 154, 1st movement, Rheinberger-Mr. Dieckmann.

Voice-Air-"O Rest in the Lord," from "Elijah," Mendelssohn-Kathleen Bowen.

Organ-(a) "The Curfew," Horsman; (b) Loure, Bach; (c) "A Song of Sunshine,"-Dieckmann; (d) "Intermezzo," Kramer.

Piano-Concerto, Op. 16, 1st movement, Grieg.—Amelia Wolf.

Voice—(a) "To the Sun," Curran; (b) "Sunny Boy," Curran; (c) "Harmony," del Riego; Organ Toccata,

The selections were excellently rendered and the entire program was much enjoyed.

After August 15, 1931, co-eds in the state of Ohio will have to return fraternity pins to their original owners or spend a month or so in jail, for a law on the Ohio statute books declares that "Whoever, not being entitled so to do under the rules and regulations thereof, wears the badge or button of a society or organization of ten years' standing in this state, shall be fined not more than $20, or imprisoned not more than 30 days, or both."-The Florida Flambeau.

And another glutton for punishment is the stammerer who started raising chrysanthemums.—College Humor.

******************

Critics acclaim it the most beautiful miniature golf course America.

Peachtree Medical Place Phone Ja. 8558 ~

OUR SLOGAN CLEAN SHOP MODERATE PRICES EXPERT OPINION STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOPPE 153 Sycamore St. Dearborn 2671

Dennis Lindsey Printing Co.

(Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING and STATIONERY

Phone Dearborn 0976 421 Church St. DECATUR, GA. CLUBS

(Continued from page 3) talked to the Student Volunteers at Emory about his medical work in

Glee Club

The Glee Club held its regular meeting in Mr. Johnson's studio Wednesday night, March 11. The members continued their practice of selections from the Operetta Pinafore. They will give these selections in the spring concert. Grimmet, Laura Brown and Elise ords. Jones, the officers, received invitations from the Emory Glee Club to attend the reception given in honor of the Glee Club of the Alabama Woman's College who sang here in Atlanta Fri- ported to: day night, March 13.

Florida Club

The Florida Club met Friday night at 10 o'clock on second floor Main. The meeting was entirely social. Those entertaining were Gertrude Willoughby, Mary Louise Robinson, Ruth Taylor, Caroline Waterman and Bobby

With a cluster of coolred petals swaving in the breeze, one may at times bridge centuries or span the earth.-William Beebe.

If the world is ugly, let the critics remodel it so that they may get novels as pretty as their tastes.—Liam O'Flaherty.—Davidsonian.

"What was the cause of the collision at that corner today?'

"Two motorists after the same pedestrian."—College Humor.

> See Mrs. Cooper at WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

—for— GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE FLOWERS

De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg. $

CHEERIO DINING ROOM

1701/2 Peachtree

Across from the Paramount

Try our Sunday Dinners

~

Compliments

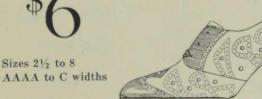

-of-

WEIL'S TEN CENT STORE

****

Sports Footwear For Spring

Outstanding shoes for sports and dress in every new style and material for spring. See these remarkable new shoes.

MIRROR

QUALITY FOOTWEAR 76 Whitehall St.

Athletic News

This wonderful spring weather is all that is necessary to persuade us hikers to get out and enjoy a nice brisk walk in the great open spaces. If you didn't make the hiking squad last semester, cheer up, there's another whole season ahead of us. Thirty-six worked hard and made the first squad but no doubt that number will be far surpassed this time. All of the hikes that were not counted last semester golf-when do you start? Come on Myra Jervey, Kathleen Bowen, Julia are carried over on this season's rec-

> Watch the bulletin boards in Main and in the mail room, and listen in chapel for the announcements of the hikes every week

This semester's hikes are to be re-

Betty Cates—Rebekah. Maude Armstrong-Main. Frances O'Brien-Inman.

JOS. SIEGEL

Dependable Jeweler DIAMONDS—WATCHES CLOCKS—JEWELRY Watch Repairing a Specialty 131 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga.

Hewey's

Buy Your

Toilet Articles—Sundries Remedies-Stationery Sodas, Sandwiches PROMPT DELIVERY

Call us Phone Dea. 0640-9110

****** THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving
LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON
TEA—DINNER
11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M.

Atlanta—65½ Broad St., N. W. Macon—151 Cotton Ave.

*************************

Don't you dare miss the thrill that comes from knowing just how to swing that club to make the little ball shoot away over yonder just where you want it. Golf is good for your body, mind, and spirit. Somehow you feel all made over again when you come in from a refreshing afternoon on the links. It never leaves you with that flat feeling that makes you want to cry-but always you are just full of the joy of living. Besides all the best people play down to the gym and talk it over with the instructors and don't you let anyone talk you out of taking golf.

Customer: Waiter.

Waiter: Sir?

Customer: Please bring me some mistakes in spelling.

Waiter: But, sir, we haven't any. Customer: You haven't any? Then why do you put them on the menu?-Le Petit Journal.

Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

122 Peachtree

"Is this a jewelry shop?"

"Good. See if you can see what's the matter with my Austin."-Moun-

> Visit THE EMBLEM SHOP, INC. College and School Jewels Metropolitan Bldg. 81 Forsyth St.

FRANCES VIRGINIA TEA ROOM Luncheons-Dinners Bridge Parties Phone Walnut 4433 Atlanta, Ga.

~ ************************

***************

*****

C. W. AUSTIN'S BEAUTY PARLOR

119 E. Court Square Decatur Phone De. 9242 Mrs. Daisy Holbrook in Charge 4 Years' Experience Entrance Through Hallway

STARNES

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER "BIG DEC"

* $$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$

Muench and Elsner

Jewelers 63 Peachtree Street, N. E. Atlanta, Ga. EXPERT REPAIRING

Coming Ashore To Rich's Every Day!

Skipper Frocks

Skipper Redingotes With Print

Frocks! Skipper Crepes With

White Lingerie Accents! Skipper

Striped Frocks! Skipper Georgettes!

—Down the gangplank to Rich's Thriftstyle Shop are coming daily the freshest young crews of Skipper frocks that ever charter a course through Spring! Already they are over-running the campus . . . are taking schoolgirl hearts by storm! All sizes, all types! Take your pick while the choice is

> THE THRIFTSTYLE SHOP RICH'S THIRD FLOOR

RICHS

Seniors to Present Mardi Gras Carnival On Saturday Uight

Mother Goose Motif Prevails in Floats Decorated By Clubs.

Rejoice, ye pure in heart—Rejoice, also, ye who are not so pure! Mr. White has banished all the dogs, so they cannot bark but the carnival's coming to town. There'll be some in rags, some in tags, some in velvet gowns: Pirates wearing the boots the class of '31 used in their Freshman stunt, Senoritas in lace mantillas, sailors, Turks, Apaches, Bo-Peeps and Pierrots, and of course a sprinkling of Mandarins from the missionary boxes. With rings on their fingers and bells on their toes, the A. P. D. C. orchestra, reinforced by King Cole's three fiddlers, will make music for the dance. Mother Goose has lent her pony to a lady to ride a mile away, and has therefore pressed her children into service to draw the floats, the best one of which will be awarded a prize of five dollars by the King of Mardi Gras. The monarch will be chosen from the class candidates, who are: Ruth Mc-Auliffe, Floyd Foster, Jule Bethea, with the idea of realism, realism that is Rossie Ritchie. The votes which are a penny each can be cast until Thurs-to save many of her famius tarts from that light fingered knave, and her minions will serve the festival. There will be curds and whey a la mode and a plum for eevry Jack Horner. If Simple Simon remembers to bring his penny, he will find pies galore.

Blackfriars To

To Compete With Other Georgia Colleges and Univ.

In the state dramatic contest, to be held at Brenau College in Gainesville, Ga., March 27, Blackfriars will enter the one-act play, "Men Folk."

Georgia colleges and universities on ble to forget Ethel Barrymonre sitting Thursday, Friday, and Saturday on a pale pink velour sofa, and wearnights.

The contest is being held under the auspices of the Southern Association of Teachers of Speech, of which organization Miss Gooch is third vicepresident and chairman of all the Southern States' contests.

The play has only three feminine characters: the grandmother, the daughter and the granddaughter. The story depicts the struggle of sea-faring people for existence, and deals with one dramatic incident in the lives of these three women who are waiting and hoping for the one remaining man in the family to return home. Julia Thompson will play the part of the grandmother; Mary Lillias Garretson will take the mother's part; and the granddaughter will be portrayed by Elizabeth Simpson.

working on the play for the last two months and have presented it in public on a number of occasions. The members of the student body at Girls' High School were most enthusiastic in the production. Among the minor mon, a former teacher in Agnes Scott. their praise of "Men Folk."

Blackfriars has long held a high place in amateur dramatics, having won a place several years ago in the New York contest. Much is expected of the presentation of "Men Folk."

Ethel Barrymore Delights Audience

Great Actress Exhibits Powers in Modern Play.

Some one has said that anticipation of a thing makes its fulfillment twice as enjoyable. This statement may seem almost too conservative to the admiring audiences who filled the Erlanger last week to see the indescribable Ethel Barrymonre in "The Love Duel", for their appreciation betokened a high measure of enjoyment. It has been many years since Miss Barrymore has been in Atlanta in public performance and she found many old, as well as many new friends awaiting

The play, "The Love Duel", is itself the extremely subtle work of Lili Hatvany. For perhaps the first time, we have the successful combination of the ever fascinating man and woman of the world. Surfeited with trivialities, and vaguely resentful of their common tacties, Carlos and Lydia are possessed real because it hurts. They deliberately conceive a fantastic plot-a love duel-The Queen of Hearts has managed and become antagonists who fight to wound each other and cause suffering.

> Miss Barrymore gave a most vivid and lifelike interpretation of this exceedingly difficult role. Every enunciation, every gesture (particularly that out-throw of the hand so peculiarly her own) was natural and per-Enter Contest feetly poised. From height to depth, subtlety to frankness, hardness to generosity, she portrayed each range of the scale with the greatest ease. It is impossible to seize a fragment of worn words and combine them into a matchless pattern of praise.

The costuming and stage arrange-Plays will be presented by nine ment were unique. It would be impossiing a cream colored chiffon, protected by a mauve wrap. It would be impossible to forget her seated, in the same gown, at her piano, and playing, in an attitude of utmost weariness, some composition of DeBussey's, while the mauve of her wrap called to the blue and violet shadows of the paneled room .Nor will the image ever fade of Barrymore, magnificently clad in a brilliant, white satin gown and scarf tipped with the royal red, green, and blue of imperial Rome, watching her triumph turn to white ashes and crying, "Oh, I am afraid. I am afraid!"

Walter Gilbert, as Carlos, was also magnificent and deserves especial commendation for his splendid performance opposite Ethel Barrymore. Jane Bramley, as "Baby", is to be congrat-The members of the cast have been plot. Harry Plimmer, the doctor, William Kershaw, the ambassador, and Anita Rothe, the maid, also contributcomed the work of Ethel Barrymore Colt and John Drew Colt, who made Sister Mary" with their mother.

Student Officers for Many Attend Coming Year Are Elected

Much Enthusiasm Shown in Selection of Heads of Organizations.

The student elections for the year 1931-32 were held in the chapel on Tuesday afternoon, March 24. Although a comparatively small number of students were present, a great deal of enthusiasm was manifest. The following students are to head the campus organizations for the next year:

Student Government President-Andrewena Robinson. Vice-President—Peggy Link. House Presidents: Rebekah Scott Hall-May Schlich. Main Hall-Anne Hopkins. Inman Hall-Harriotte Brantley. Secretary-Mary Sturtevant. Treasurer-Maude Armstrong. Student Treasurer-Virginia Gray. Student Recorder-Louise Hollings-

Y. W. C. A. President-Diana Dyer. First Vice-President-Martha Logan. Second Vice-President-Mary Miller. Secretary—Douschka Sweets. Treasurer—Margaret Bell.

Silhouette Editor-in-Chief-Penelope Brown. Assistant Editor-Caroline Lingle. Business Manager-Betty Peeples. Assistant Business Manager-Jule

Aurora Editor-Sara Lane Smith. Assistant Editor-Elizabeth Moore. Business Manager-Virginia Herrin. Assistant Business Manager -

Agonistic Editor-Betty Bonham. Assistant Editor-Elizabeth Light-

Business Manager-Grace Fincher. Advertising Manager—Clyde Love-

Athletic Association President-Sara Bowman. Vice-President-Susan Genn. Secretary—Laura Spivey. Treasurer—Lucille Heath. Song Leader-Plant Ellis. Fire Chief-Marjorie Gamble.

Freshman Council Gives Tea

Sophomores and Y. W. Cabinet Are Honor Guests.

On March the 17th the members of the Freshman Council entertained the Sophomore Class and the members of the Y. W. cabinet in the Gym, which was appropriately decorated with shamrocks.

After each guest had been greeted by the members of the council, who duction. Sir Phillip appeared this time stood in a receiving line, they were entertained by a short program, in which Polly Gordon, Charlotte Reid, Mardy Friend, Johnny Mae York, C'lena Mc-Mullen, Margaret Massie and Amelia O'Neal participated. Then refreshments, consistings of excellent punch and cookies, were served. When everyone had eaten and drunk her fill, the ulated for the humor with which A. P. D. C. orchestra played and the she relieved an otherwise too heavy afternoon was completed with dancing.

PROFESSORS ENTERTAIN

tertained a group of friends on Thursed in great measure to the success of day afternoon in honor of Miss Alroles, audiences enthusiastically wel- Miss Almon taught here when the colege was still an Academy and she remained here until 1917. At present she is visiting at the home of Mrs.

Ben Greet Plays

Excellent Performances Are Rendered by Cast.

Unanimous acclaim was the reward of the Ben Greet Shakespearean Players following their Saturday presentations of "Twelfth Night" and "Hamlet". One hundred and thirty-seven boarding students were registered in Miss Hopkin's office for the evening performance of "Hamlet" alone, and in spite of the bad weather, the City Auditorium was packed at both hours.

"Twelfth Night", played in the af-Supported by a well-balanced cast, against the simplicity of the Elizabethan setting, Muriel Hutchinson as Viola, Tristan Bernard, in which the situa-Russell Thorndike as Sir Toby Belch, Malvolio gave perhaps the most distinguished performances of the afternoon. It is interesting to note ber issue of "La Petite Illustration." that "Twelfth Night" was written before 1601 and played in the early part quotation on the program of an entry in the diary of John Manningham, February, 1601:- "February 2-At our feast we had a play called "Twelfth Night, or What You Will", much Fulk like the Comedy of Errors, or Menechin Platus, but most like and near to in the chapel. A cordial invitation is that Italian called Iganni. A good practice in it to make the steward believe his Lady widow was in Members of Gym love with him, by counterfeiting a letter, as from his Lady in general terms, telling him what she liked best in him and prescribing his gesture smiling, his apparel, etc., and then when he came to practise, making him believe they took him to be mad."

Quarto of "Hamlet" was the embodiment of art itself. Again the intelligent interpretation and clear enunciashould stimulate and inspire rather than relieve the imagination, the unusually artistic lighting effects, and the elaborate period costumes went together to give an unprecedented proin the roles of Corambis (Polonius) and the first Grave Digger. Muriel Hutchinson, as Gertrude the queen, repeated her excellent work of the afternoon, reaching new heights in the dramatic scene between Hamlet and his Enid Clark, as Ofelia, won the hearts of her audience and exhibited a voice of exquisite sweetness in the Dr. Sweet and Miss McKinney en- mad scene. Russell Thorndike, reputed to be the greatest Hamlet of the present day, explained his reputation King, father -- " will never forget it.

French Faculty Is Hostess to the Alliance Française

Agnes Scott Talent to Be Featured in Songs, Music, Sketches.

The members of the French Faculty of Agnes Scott are to be hostess to the Alliance Francaise, Thursday evening, March 26. The Atlanta branch of the Alliance has among its members many men and women prominent in social and cultural circles of the city.

The program is to be furnished entirely by Agnes Scott talent. Mrs. S G. Stukes will sing a group of French songs; Willa Beckham and Louise Wesley will play a group of DeBussy. ternoon, met with unparalled success. For the sake of contrast, three scenes of Rostrand's Masterpiece, "Cyrano de Bergerac", will be presented. These will be followed by a modern sketch by tions are practically the same as those furnishing the action in and Sir Philip Ben Greet himself as Rostrand's romatic drama Bernard's sketch was written for radio production and was broadcast from Paris ast June and published in the Novem-As an entr'acte there will be two dances: one in harmony with the romatic of Cyrano, the other entirely modof that year, if we may judge from the ern in spirit. The following members of the Agnes Scott French Club will appear in the plays and dances: Marguerite Gerard, Billie Belote, Miriam Thompson, Ernestine Mitchell, Mary Sprinkle, Hilda McCurdy, Virginia Gray, Marjorie Beilfuss and Marian

> The program will be given at 8:30 extended to the college community to be present at this time.

Dept. Entertain

Provide Fun and Frolic for Other Professors.

If it seems impossibe to you that our faculty could play for no good reason The evening performance of the 1st at all you should have peeped into the Gym Department invited our professor down to play with them-for play's sake They ran the gamut of games in their fun, indulging in everything from golf, tion of a selected cast, backed by the basketball, baseball to ping pong and simple stage setting which is based on horse shoes. For general achievement Sir Phillip's theory that the stage in these sports Miss Preston won first prize-a checker board with which she may grow efficient is still another line.

> Then in a whisk the playful guests thought themselves transported to the Fox where they saw the baby faces of the faculty smilling from the screen. How little some of them have changed was shown by the ease with which they were recognized. In the mode a la Fox Mr. Johnson led the group in singing peppy up-to-date songs, including "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton."

> After the movie the grown-up babies rushed headlong into a lively folkdance, something akin to the old game, "Going to Jerusalem" except that instead of scrambling for chairs, one scrambles for partners. As it turned the finale was a fight for Mr. Howson by Mrs. Hayes and Miss Laney with hopes that the best woman won.

They even played with the alphabet, through his acting of that role. Ham- those professors, and made a game of let in his hands, was more mature than spelling but when the ice cream and the Hamlet generally portrayed. Those cake came in view everybody forgot their stage debut recently in "Scarlet Maud Parry, a former Gym teacher at who heard his "I'll call thee Hamlet, to play in the enthusiasm of "eating for eating's sake."

Subscription Price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single Copies, 5 cents.

Published weekly. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF

| Editor           | Julia Thompson      |
|------------------|---------------------|
| Assistant Editor | Betty Bonham        |
| Feature Editor   | Katherine Morrow    |
| Society Editor   | Lucile Woodbury     |
| Exchange Editor  | Elizabeth Lightcap  |
| Athletic Editor  | Sarah Bowman        |
| Alumnae Editor   | Julia Grimmett      |
| Club Editor      | Bessie Meade Friend |
| Joke Editor      | Kitty Purdie        |
| Giddy Gossip     | Caroline Lingle     |

MANAGEMENT

| Business Manager              | Jeanette Shaw       |
|-------------------------------|---------------------|
| Advertising Manager           | Mildred Duncan      |
| Circulation Manager           | Christian Henderson |
| Assistant Circulation Manager | Marian Lee          |

CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

Mary Wormhaudt Rosemary May Katharine Woltz Letitia Rockmore

Weesa Chandler Ellen Davis Porter Cowles Betty Bolton

Laura Spivey

EDITORIAL

Is the spirit of Agnes Scott lagging and diminishing in strength? Do people no longer care about campus activities? The number of students at elections was appallingly small, only a small portion of whom stayed to the end of the list. The attendance at student government meetings and "sings" has noticeably fallen off; a mere handful of students are present at the inspiring vespers sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. The administration is alarmed over the chapel and prayers situation. The members of the classes are ing in each line, strong bodies, resolute unwilling wholeheartedly to support thier entertainments. we allow condition to go from bad to worse?

Stunts are just as attractive, meetings are just as interesting, chapel exercises are just as inspiring and informing as they ever have been. Mardi Gras will equal any others in gayety and fun and entertainment.

The trouble lies with us. We have become apathetic and disinterested for no apparent reason. It is unfair to the old officers who are trying to bring the year to a triumphant close, and to the new ones who will be taking over their tasks during the next few months. They are our leaders, elected by us, and deserve our cooperation and interest. Can we continue to give them less?

SWAN SONG

It is with a feeling somewhat akin to regret that we, the Agonistic staff of 1931-32, pass on our positions to other hands. We have cherished aspirations which have remained unfulfilled, we have dreamed dreams which have been obscured by the routine and trivialities connected with the mere machinery of publishing a paper. We are aware of our shortcomings and our failures, yet we hope that our labor has not been entirely in vain; that we have served in our capacity the student body and our alma mater for whose sake the publication exists. If we have expressed or molded student opinion, if we have promoted the interests of Agnes Scott, we have not striven for naught. To another willing, capable staff we entrust the traditions and the ambitions which have been ours, that they may be preserved.

Orphanages Offer Opportunities

The amazing number of vocations that have a special appeal to women is astounding. The fields of science, law, education, medicine, religion, and philanthropy continue to draw women to them to hold important places that men are unable to fill adethe most extensive and most intensive ministers. possibilities for women is that of philanthropy.

The most hopeful branch of charitable endeavor is work in the institutions for dependent children. In this field there are more opportunities for constructive work than along any other line. Young lives expanding developing, and growing need the love and tender treatment that the woman alone is able to give. The responsibility involved in possessing the power to mold a number of children is great and must be undertaken seriously. A minimum of the responsibility may be partially realized when we read that our orphanages in the United States hold approximately 200,000 children between the ages of 5 and 18, and that four-fifths of the workers are

The history of orphanages is very interesting. What was originally done by broken-down clergymen is done today by scientifically trained leaders much more capable of doing what should be done for the dependent or otherwise unfortunate child. While the untrained worker held the field he made little progress but with the advent of the expert came a widespread opportunity for effective work. This opportunity oppened at the time that the woman's college was graduating large numbers of women animated by a desire to play some effective part in social advance. The demand and supply were contemporaneous and for a decade college women have been pouring into social work. The advent of the college girl has had two effects. It speedily raised the standard of social work far above its old level, and at the same time it practically closed the door to any but college women.

It is easy to see why trained workers are necessary. Any phase of work requires a thorough knowledge and understanding of people. Schools of specialization are being established to aid in the preparation of leaders. Other different phases of leadership in orphanages and other institutions such as making preliminary investigation of family and conditions of applicants, making physical examinations for disease and bodily defects, making detailed records for each child, arranging the diet for the institution, providing adequate recreational facilitiesall these require, besides specific trainminds, joyous determination to do good work if the results are to be the best.

The limitations in funds and donations hinder the work to a very great degree. Nevertheless orphanage based on the cottage plan, which fosters individual attention and treatment, and promotes personality, are appearing to take the place of the old monotonous institutions that suppress personality and individualism. The cottage system requires more workers and also better trained ones. A good example of how the cottage system works is shown in the recent development in the Hillside Cottages in Atlanta. Ample space for building and recreation is provided; clean, airy buildings sufficiently heated and lighted make a good enviornment. Individual care and attention is given to each child. A personal interest of the child is arroused by having a part in the performance of daily duties. For those interested in positions of superintendent, directors, matrons, or nurses in orphanages, it would be very worth while to visit the Hillside Cottages and here see an effective example of the cottage system of taking care of dependent children.

The demand for trained workers in this field is increasing steadily. A woman could not invest her life in any work more unselfish and more constructive than in some of the various phases of orphanage work.

N. S. F. A. News

By William Trufant Foster and Waddill Catchings (By special permission to NSFA News Service.)

Is high scholarship worth the strug gle? Opinions differ on this subject; but statistics do not. Almost invariably promise become performance. A hundred scienetific studies prove it. This is notably true, as we have alquately. The field that holds perhaps ready shown, of doctors, lawyers, and

> But is it true of business men? It certainly is true of the men employed by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company .President Gifford has shown that men who graduate in the first tenth of their class, have four times as many chances of getting into the highest salaried groups, as those who graduate in the lowest third of their class.

The Telephone Company does not hand out large salaries for sentimental reasons. It demands and gets performance. It did not even know, until recently, that it was paying much larger salaries to high scholarship men that it was paying to other men.

Another study shows that the graduates of Bowdoin who receive the highest marks in college, as a rule, the highest incomes after graduation

Dean Potter, of Purdue University has shown that superior scholarship among engineering students leads, as a rule, to success in engineering, as indicated by salaries. Similar results appear in a study of the graduates of the Yale School of Forestry, and of West Point.

Some of our most successful corporations evidently have these facts in mind. They have made standing offers to various colleges to give positions to the highest scholars in every class Similar standing offers have been made to the Harvard Business Schoo.

Yes, Business wants Scholars. It wants them more than ever before.

And more than ever before, it knows what to do with them.

Many Universities Reopened in Spain Madrid, Spain-(NSFA)-Most of the important universities in Spain reopened this week without trouble after a month's closure following student disorders, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Authorities expressed themselves as hopeful that the students, now that a new government has been formed and conditions have become more stabilized would go quietly about their work and would resume political demonstrations.

The Fascist government has founded school of journalism in Rome—the first of its kind to be established in "Going to college is a current fad, { like Backgammon," said Bruce Barton, a prominent author, contributor to va- ferred to the N. A. M. Hospital, Nasrious widely-read magazines, and sawadox, Va. chairman of Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn, well-known advertising of the Dance" in Asheville and recently agency, in an interview recently grant- presented her pupils in a recital which ed the Princetonian.

Washington State College is said to are bringing about a definte lowering of girls' voices.

Y. W. C. A.

Rabindranoth Tagore, the great Hindu poet and philosopher, on his recent trip to America, was prevented by illness from greeting individually from public platforms all the people whom he wished to reach with his message of world peace. Therefore the Women's Press has given him an opportunity to convey his message through its pages.

Tagore's means of speaking to the world are not limited to words, of which he is such a master; he is an

Two hundred of his paintings are on exhibit. They have been hailed in Europe as the beginning of a new era in art. The Art Gallery of Toronto says: "These are genuinely naive and original expressions; extraordinary evidence of eternal youth persistent in a hoary and venerable personage."

Tagore's message to us is as fol-

"The opening of the Suez Canal has freed the path of commerce between the two great geographical divisions of the world. My appeal is to open up the channel for the commerce of culture between the western continents and my own country, India, which represents the East, for through such freedom of communication will be fulfilled a most important mission of Education. Mountains and seas can not obstruct the fact that deep in our beings we need you and you need us, for we are kin."

Alumnae News

Helen Respess, '30, is having an interesting time teaching calisthenics and directing activities at Clark Uni-

Virginia Sears, '30, has a position in the Mobile Library and is fascinated with her work.

Ruth McLean, '30, has moved to 384 Merrimon Avenue, Asheville.

Lynn Moore, '30, has a new horse over which she is most enthusiastic.

Evelyn Joseph, ex-'29, is now Mrs. William Everett Phifer, Jr., of 95 Mercer Street, Princeton, New Jersey. Her husband is a theological student at the Seminary there.

Elsie McNair, ex-'29, is working as substitute teacher in Lumberton, Miss.

Martha Shanklin, '30, is coaching basket ball at Chilhowie High School, where she teachers, and she also is playing on an outside team.

Zou Woolford, '30, has been trans-received most complimentary criticism from the Asheville newspaper.

Mrs. Richard McCrary, nee Miss report that college yells and cigarettes | Genevieve White, our former librarian, is the proud mother of a brand-new baby boy

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities.

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

expressions of salutation,

To gab, or not to gab,-that is the question! Whether 'tis nobler in the dred McCalip, and in a big way. Now mind to suffer the tortues of a Bible that it's Spring, her thoughts have term-paper, or --- Heck! There's no use in going further; I've already decided to gab. I can't help it. Why, so many things have been happening this week it's given your poor old Aunt Aggie to discontinue all amorous overtures! earache just listening. Wasn't it ex- What an unhappy state! But we'd citing when old Shakespeare came? I was making my exit from "Hamlet' Saturday night, in an inspired and glorified mood, when Stuart Weatherspoon, in a disappointed and dispara- anybody can say peep-turkey. That ging manner remarked, "Shucks, I don't think "Hamlet" is such a hot Mag Glass is running her a close secplay-it's nothing but a lot of quotations strung together!" It took a big strong man to carry me out.

And in relative importance to Shakespeare comes the latest news bulletin on "Our Pets". The only thing called up and asked her to go to a to be said is that if Bobby Hart doesn't dance! I've been searching diligently keep her wandering boy (meaning the alligator) closer in the family circle, there's going to be a first-class reptile four out of five. . . . And besides that murder on the second floor Main. The Lila Ross Norfleet trotted up to Davidcreature got loose the other day, and son for Sophomore week-end on the was with great difficulty lured back class president's bid and led out the to his happy home. I insist that disges- dances. On top of all that, Sturdy tive disorders must be the cause. The went to North Georgia not long poor beast received his first meal in ago, and met her fate in the six months not long ago, and didn't form of a big bronze Indian, who even know how to eat! He has all the sends her Indian war-songs written for symptoms of acute indigestion, so I B-flat trumpets, to say nothing of arguess symptom's the mater with him. rowheads, tomahawks, scalps, etc.

Hewey's

Buy Your

Toilet Articles—Sundries Remedies-Stationery Sodas, Sandwiches PROMPT DELIVERY

Call us Phone Dea. 0640-9110

What ho! What, what! and other (Oh yes, I dropped in at the Fox last week myself.)

Something is the matter with Millightly turned to love, indeed; but alas, feel twice as miserable about it if we didn't know darn well that he'll probably be trotting up to see her before lass has a way with the men! ond, by crackie; and I'm not teething. Last week that damsel went to the dentist to have her pearls rejuvenated. The very next day that gentleman, apparently quite smitten, for signs of phyorr--pyhhor--aw, I'm all gummed up. Anyway, you know-Wouldn't she make a swell squaw? Mabye so. At any rate, she's been looking around for bargains in blankets ever since!

Well, as my mother always told me, it's never too late to stop. I'll just give you a great big surprise, and do it!

Devotedly, Aggie.

A large, well-built barn will be remodeled as a semi-permanent educational building for a new women's college to be opened in September at North Bennington, Vermont. - The Florida Flambeau.

Let's Fly Home!

The modern air liner soaring daily a 5,000 feet above the earth carries a new signifinance this year for the undergraduate. It bears a very definite relationship to the Spring Holidays.

This year the big transport plane speeds aloft with passengers aboard as well as hurry-up letters between college and home.

At a rate of more than 100 miles an hour the great multimotor air liner skims across the sky, scheduled to land at its regular ports in two hours, four hours or six hours, according to distance to be traversed. Anyhow, it speeds its regular ports in two hours, all too lightly, it seems; for from all four hours or six hours, according to reports, she and Vernon have decided distance to be traversed. Anyhow, it speeds its passengers to their destination over marked air lanes three times as fast as its nearest transport competitor would travel.

The swift air liner, then signifies to the undergraduate many more hours at home this year in the holiday season, hours formerly consumed in slow, tedious travel on earth-bound transports but happy hours now for the student and home folks alike. The plane has clipped this period of time from the homeward journey and from the return trip to college as a gift from aviation. If the undergraduate lives a considerable distance from college, say across a State or two, travel by plane this year may add a day or even days to the holiday period at home. Study of schedules will reveal the actual time added through the medium of the beneficent teer Union last week-end.

The homebound student knows already at what hour Atlanta airport the college station. At this airport passenger planes of American Airways take off daily at 8:20 A.M. for Jackson, Miss., Shreveport, La., Dallas and Fort Worth, Texas and points West as far as Los Angeles, Calif.

Planes of Eastern Air Transport take off daily at Candler Field for Macon, Jacksonville, Tampa and Miami Florida at 10:15 A. M., and for Greenville, Spartanburg, Charlotte, Greensboro, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York at 7:45 A.M. (Central Time).

In addition to the swift passage through the air planes, travel by this modern method is clean, comfortable and exhilarating. The cost of travel by the air liner is only slightly more than that by train plus Pullman fare. These regularly scheduled ships have a higher safety record in transporting passengers than any other method of travel except the steamboat.

The planes are operated on a system similar to the "Block System" of the railroads and they are guarded against house at Dr. and Mrs. Grady Clay's adverse conditions in weather and air- Sunday afternoon. port landings by two-way radio.

***** L. CHAJAGE

Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

. &&

CLEAN SHOP MODERATE PRICES EXPERT OPINION STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOPPE 153 Sycamore St. Dearborn 2671

Dennis Lindsey Printing Co.

(Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING and STATIONERY

Phone Dearborn 0976 421 Church St. DECATUR, GA.

Just around the corner are springtime and holiday---and Easter, when Miss Society, all bedecked in a gay new bonnet and winsome frock, will hold the center of the stage. Society is a gay, mischievous little temptress who creeps into our lives almost before we spent several days with Mrs. Duncan, realize that she has even been flirting of Atlanta. with us. And strangely enough, we welcome her, although our stern better judgment may protest ceaselessly that "all that glitters is not gold." But we won't be young but once, they tell us, so let's take her hand and tread the primrose path a little.

The following girls attend the Phi Kappa Sigma formal dance at the of one of her friends in Birmingham Biltmore Friday night: Frances Duke, last week. Katherine Woltz, Penny Brown, Ruth Owen, Betty Cobb, Datha Wilson and Blanche Lindsey.

Mallie White spent the week-end with Ruth Shippey.

Florence Preston attended the Spring Council of the Student Volun-

The following girls attended the Delta Sigma Phi tea-dance Saturday (Candler Field) can be reached from afternoon: Stuart Weatherspoon, Peggy White, Betty Cobb, Datha Wilson Mart Tower, Clyde Lovejoy and Nell

> Shirley McPhaul attended a bridge party Friday afternoon at Elizabeth

Johnnie Turner spent the week-end at home.

Floyd Foster went to Fort Valley for the Peach Festival last week-end.

Madge York attended the Shriners Mosque Ball at the Mosque Friday

Marion Fielder's mother and father spent Sunday with her.

Tot Smith spent the week-end with Louise Stakely.

Knoxie Nunally, Eleanor Williams daughter, Micky Wilfong, last weekand Upshaw Jones attended open end.

Marlyn Tate and Virginia Wilson spent the week-end with Mrs. E. M. Malcolm.

****** Earth Gods —by— Kahlil Gibran

Margaret Waite Book Shop 119-123 Peachtree Arcade ลืออออออออออออออออออออออออออ

Greater Values Dintchuck's ARCADE BUILDING

> C. W. AUSTIN'S BEAUTY PARLOR

119 E. Court Square Decatur Phone De. 9242 Mrs. Daisy Holbrook in Charge 4 Years' Experience Entrance Through Hallway

Mildred Epes and Blanche Lindsey attended a dance at the Palais-Peachtree Saturday night.

Eleanor Williams and Upshaw Jones to Carrollton Sunday.

Betty Cobb and Datha Wilson went

Ditty Winter has been visiting Elnore Bellingraph and Kitty Reid. Betty Bonham attended the wedding

Betty Hudson, of "Ole Miss," visited Shirley McPhaul and Julia Rowan last

Dot Grubb attended Psi Omega open house Sunday afternoon week-end.

Elinor Houghton, from Goucher, spent last wee-end with Elmore Bel-

Jule Bethea spent the week-end at Ruth and Helen Etheridge's family

Sunday. Aldredge Graves visited Plant Ellis

this week-end. Markie Mowry and Martha Skeen attended a dinner-dance at the Rathskellar on Friday night. Ruth Hall and Virginia Gray spent the week-end in Atlanta with Mrs. R. M. Matson. Sara Bowman and Jay Doak spent the week-end with Mrs. Dashiells in Atlanta. Upshaw Jones and Eleanor Williams spent the week-end with Mrs. John B. Duncan. Mr. C. C. Rose visited his grand-

Mrs. G. W. Johnson spent the weekend with her daughter, Eleanor.

The intercollegiate prohibition association has announced a prize essay contest open to all college students in the United States, for which a first prize of $500 or a trip to Europe is offered .- The Florida Flambeau.

\*** Phone Hem. 5738

THE PRENCH PASTRY

SHOPPE

We specialize in Birthday and Wedding Cakes Fine Pastries for all Occasions Marcel Pahud, Proprietor 985 Peachtree St., N. E., Atlanta and the state of t

> Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

**********************

122 Peachtree

J. P. ALLEN & CO.

Second Floor

and you would know that Allen's $16.75

dresses were made for the warm refreshing days of Spring. You will find in this collection dresses both light and dark—prints and solid shades—dresses that you will enjoy wearing right now!

Riding Is New Sport

Admiral Byrd, cute, adorable, goror two hunting new continents on within. For those who feel this desire let me offer a solution to your problem. (No, best beloved, this is not Beatrice Fairfax speaking!) There truly is something new to try under the sun, and it's a new sport; an adventurous one, too-horseback riding!

(Now, now, don't tear up this page; there are other things on here you'll ridden all fall and winter, but just hold your horses ) This season the gym department is having classes, beginners and advanced, in the equesthink they came from Davison's basement-an hour and a half twice a stand, anyway, after your first ride.) It offers countless opportunities, such as affording job-seeking Seniors a agers have been chosen: chance to replace Madame Dido on Barnum and Bailey's next tour. And picture the grand figure you'll cut in your roommate's britches to boot. So investigate this new sport; and won't you be able to scoff at those nasty folk, doubtless the same who had misgivings as to the piano playing ability of the man in the advertisement, who "laughed when you sat down on a ." I'm certain an exploration of the gym department's latest release will lead to a discovery of the secret-of-social-poise-in-spite-of - bowlegs, of how to make friends on the farm, and numerous other details essential to happiness.

The faculty of the University of Rochester recently voted to do away with all 8 a. m. classes, having decided it was better for the students to sleep in their own rooms instead of the classrooms.-The Florida Flambeau.

***** LAWRENCE'S PHARMACY

A Real Drug Store and the Nearest to Agnes Scott

Try our Toasted Sandwiches Phones Dearborn 0762-0763

309 East College Ave., Opposite Depot, Decatur, Ga.

$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$

Bailey Bros. Shoe Shop 142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies' Work DE. WE DELIVER

Baseball Reigns

Spring has come and with it the geous, or what-have-you-in-the-way- king of sports—baseball! Out-of-doors of-collegiate epithets man that he was, on the baseball diamond is the place spoke for two hours one afternoon on for every "healthy Hottentot" to spend our campus on the joys of exploring. that surplus energy and enjoy a fast All very well, this exploring, you say; and thrilling game. Watch the pitcher but who are we to go poking our fing- as she winds up and sends a straight, ers about in rubbish heaps seeking for fast ball whizzing across the plate; kitchen mounds of lost generations, see the heavy swing of the batter as much less to pick up and spend a year she "swats" the ball; and then watch 'er run-on-on-first, second, third snowobund ice packs? Still, our sailor base—a home run! Really you can't friend spoke convincingly, and what afford to miss baseball! There is a with this and that and the spring place on the teams for many a Hottenbreezes whistling down our necks, the tot; and there is a place for you to try urge to conquer new fields surges for, while you are enjoying "America's most popular sport"! It's a fascinating game, built on natural and fundamental skills, and one that offers to every girl a rich opportunity for sportsmanship, fellowship, and leadership. Do come out!

The commissioner of baseball, Hon. Kennesaw M. Landis, says: "Millions want to read. I know you may have have played baseball, and have found the spirit of sportsmanship as well as physical and mental alertness in it. It is, indeed, a wonderful thing that these benefits may now be enjoyed by girls. trian art. And from the price you'd It is easy to learn, and enjoyment and practical benefits may be derived from it regardless of the player's skill. I week for two months for ten dollars! hope to see baseball played as widely Can you stand it? (You may have to by young women in the years to come as it is by young men today."

For this sport, the following man-

Senior-Mildred Duncan. Junior-Susan Glenn. Sophomore-Margaret Belote Freshman-Virginia Tillotson.

A college degree has been estimated to be worth $72,000 by Dean Everett Lord of Boston University. He claims that increased earning power resulting from high education is responsible for the high figure.—The Florida Flam-

There is an almanac in the British museum which was issued during the reign of Rameses the Great, and is about 3,000 years old.—The Florida Flambeau.

JOS. SIEGEL

Dependable Jeweler DIAMONDS-WATCHES CLOCKS—JEWELRY Watch Repairing a Specialty 131 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga.

******************* ADAMSON & COSTER CO.

Cleaners and Dyers

Decatur Branch 104 S. Candler St. Phone De. 3087

20% Off Cash and Carry

Visit THE EMBLEM SHOP, INC. College and School Jewels Metropolitan Bldg. 81 Forsyth St.

Select your New Easter Frock, Suit or Coat, at a substantial saving on every garment.

Frocks _____$ 9.75 to $29.75 Suits _____$14.75 to $44.75 Coats _____$14.75 to $39.75

By a score of 5 to 0 the Sophomores school baseball champions for three years, in a fast and exciting game Friday, March 20. The first inning, Armstrong knocked a three-bagger to bring in Belote, thus scoring the first run of the game. The Sophomores held the Seniors with two men on base and left the score 1 and 0 for the first period. The second inning was a battle between pitchers. McCalip and Happoldt fanned out two each and allowed only two hits on either side. The fielders and basemen were right on the job, catching and throwing with accuracy and making no errors. It was a close and tense inning. During the third and last inning the Sophomores came back stronger than ever, making four spectacular runs, and then holding the Seniors scoreless. Spivey knocked the only home run of the game. Happoldt, Belote, and Sweets also scored in the third. The game was one of the best ever played on the school diamond from the point of view of excitement and good baseball. It furnished one of the surprises of the year when the Sophomores came back with a team strong enough to defeat and hold scoreless the Senior team, which up to this time had never lost

The line-up was as follows: Seniors Sophomores Belote, c. Grev. c

McCalip, p. Happoldt, p. Armstrong, 1st b. Purdie, 1st b. McAuliffe, 2nd b. Spivey, 2nd b. Bell, 3rd b. Duncan, 3rd b Watson, s. s. Woltz, s. s. Boswell, r. f. Sturtevant, r. f. Cowles, c. f.

Sweets, l. f.

"The jig is up," sighed the doctor as he patient with St. Vitus dance died. -College Humor.

Davis, c. f.

Daniel, l. f.

Daschshund racing has been tried in Germany. The trouble is that on a circular track a very speedy animal very often overtakes itself.—Boy's Life.

See Mrs. Cooper at WOMAN'S EXCHANGE GIFTS-CARDS-HOSE FLOWERS De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg.

********* Serving 11:30-8

CHEERIO DINING ROOM

1701/2 Peachtree

Across from the Paramount Try our Sunday Dinners

and

Afternoon Tea

EUROPE SWITZERLAND-FRANCE-GERMANY BELGIUM-HUNGARY-AUSTRIA

PORTUGAL-ITALY

Sailing May 21, 1931, from New York Returning, July 28, 1931. $995.00

First Class Travel, Excellent Hotels

Sixty-Eight Days Small Party

Write for descriptive booklet No. 7

Hoxsey Travel Service

91 Forsyth Street, N. W. (Piedmont Hotel Bldg.)

Atlanta, Ga.

JAckson 0791

Sophs Down Seniors | Frosh Defeat Juniors | Archery Is Popular

The Freshmen staged a comeback vious week and defeated the Juniors, with their comparative ease in handling the ball, showed up the Junior's weak points in throwing and catching.

The Juniors were unable to score in the first inning, while the Freshmen crossed home plate a good many times to pile up their score. The upperclassmen succeeded in bringing in a few runs but could not stop the Freshmen. Line-up: Juniors. Freshmen. Tillotson, c. Glenn, c. Schlisch, p. Massey, p. O'Brien, s. Kane, s. Skeen, 1 Bowman, 1 Austin, 2 Dver. 2 Brown, 3 Talmadge, 3 Wright, l. f. White, l. f Boyd, c. f Williamson, c. f. Robinson, r. f. Ames, r. f. Substitutions: Juniors, Green, Fos-

Young, Friend. At Deleware City, Ohio, the ctiy police were called out recently to disperse a class fight between 400 Freshmen and Sophomore women on the campus of Ohio Wesleyan University

-The Florida Flambeau.

Kaufman, Pratt,

ter; Freshmen,

Dr. Davidson-"Where was the Decaration of Independence signed?" Freshman—"At the bottom."

CANDLER BEAUTY SHOPPE

> Finger Wave-50c Dried Finger Wave—25c Wet Mrs. Terry

. $444444444

Simple Food--Carefully Prepared Lunch today at EUGENIA WILLIAMSON'S
GARDEN TEA ROOM Luncheon 11-3 Atlanta

101/2 Edgewood Ave.

Archery, the ancient sport of fair completely snowed under the Seniors, from their decided defeat of the pre- peoples, is becoming more and more popular on the Agnes Scott campus each year. Last fall the grounds were The batting of the Frosh, coupled constantly dotted with archers, armed with bow and arrows, arm guards and finger tips going to or coming from the practices on Rebekah Greens. But on rainy days when the bowmen were not able to shoot outside, they met in the archery room of the gymnasium to point an old arrow or replace a lost feather. The Tournament at the end of the season, though, was perhaps the most thrilling event of all, Diana Dyer winning first place; Bessie Meade Friend, second, and Mardie Stigall,

> Archery, however, promises to be even more popular during the spring season, and already more interest is being shown. Each one is working enthusiastically for the silver cup, which will be presented to the winner of the Spring Tournament.

"Machado Leaves Havana to Fish." -New York Tribune.

Giving it up as a bad job.—College Humor.

******************* AGNES SCOTT GIRLS

-use-

BLACK AND WHITE CABS

1-2-3-4 -or-

Five Passengers 2 MILES 30c CALL WALNUT 0200

******

****** THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving
LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON
TEA—DINNER
11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M. Atlanta-651/2 Broad St., N. W. Macon—151 Cotton Ave.

STARNES

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER

MANGEL'S

201 Peachtree St., N. E.

Atlanta, Ga.

100 NEW DRESSES

Festive Frocks Suitable for

The College Miss

Colors, Powder Blue, Flower Blue, Navy, Maize, Rose-Tan, Apple Green and other Spring shades too numerous to mention, including prints.

Sizes: Misses, 12 to 17; Ladies, 14 to 38

No. 20

Saturday

Vol. XVI

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE, DECATUR, GA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 22, 1931

MEMBERS OF CLASS OF '32 HONORED BY ELECTION TO HOASC

Organizations Ideal of Service Presented by Beth Mc-Geachy, '23.

The announcement of the election to Hoasc of ten members from the class of '32 was made in chapel Saturday morning. Weesa Chandler, president of Hoase, introduced the speaker of the occasion, Beth McGeachy, '23, who gave an inspiring and beautiful talk on Hoase's ideal of service.

day afternoon at five o'clock, and informal initiations at a banquet Tuesday night at the Candler Hotel. A number of faculty members and cluded the following numbers: alumnae members of Hoasc were pres-

The new members, "chosen after hours of thoughtful interest," are:

> Betty Bonham Sarah Bowman Penelope Brown Diana Dyer Marguerite Link Martha Logan Mary Miller Betty Peeples Andrewena Robinson Sara Lane Smith

New Y. W. Cabinet Installed April 12

White Candle Service Impressive Event.

The installation of the new Y. W. C. A. Cabinet for the year 1931-32 took place Sunday evening in the form of a white candle service. White candles were arranged in the windows of the chapel and were carried by the choir and the two Cabinets. Chopin Hudson, Visitors Entertained at Tea retiring president of Y. W., spoke on the purpose of the organization and, following this, the members of the old Cabinet lighted the candles of the nets, old and new, are as follows:

President-Chopin Hudson, Diana

First Vice President-Laura Brown, Martha Logan.

Second Vice President-Sarah Hill, Mary Miller.

Sweets.

Treasurer—Diana Dyer, Margaret Bell.

Chairmen of committees:

Program—Katherine Morrow, Mary

World Fellowship-Vivian Martin, Elinor Hamilton.

Social-Anne Hopkins, Bessie Meade

Social Service - Virginia Heard, Louise McCain. Industrial-Mary Sturtevant, Field

Shackleford. Publicity-Mary Miller, C'Lena Mc-

Day Student Representative-Mary

Duke, Virginia Heard. President Student Government-

Ellen Davis, Andrewena Robinson.

Act of "Pinafore" Given in Concert

Glee Club Assisted by Guest Musicians.

The Agnes Scott Glee Club held its annual recital Saturday evening, April 18, in the college chapel. This is an event to which not only the Glee Club community learns that Dr. Mary but the entire community looks forward with anticipation. The particip-Formal initiations were held Tues- ants under the direction of Mrs. Johnson have been working assiduously for several weeks, and their performance was a credit both to themselves and to their director. The program in-

I. "Fly, Singing Bird," Elgar.

II. "Gypsy Dance," Brahms.

"Alah's Holiday," Rudolph Friml. "By the Bend of the River," Clara Edwards.

III. "Rain," Turner.

"O Lawd, Look Down," arr. by

"Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," arr.

by Huntley. IV. The Last Rose of Summer,"

Old Irish. V. "Sing We and Chant It,"

Thomas Morley.

"Chit Chat," Old English. "Fire, Fire My Heart," Thomas

"Disons Le Chapelet," Breton Canticle.

VI. "Dawn," Curran. "Little Moth," Leoni.

"The Sleigh," Kountz.

H. M. S. Pinafore-Limited to one Loved a Sailor.

American Alumni Councils on Campus

in Alumnae House.

The American Alumni Council, composed of the secretaries of the various members of the new Cabinet, each old alumni associations of all larger col-Cabinet member repeating, "Even as leges and universities throughout the ye have received this light, so joyful- country, held its first southern con- will go to Berlin-Dalhem to study at ly administer it unto others." Follow- vention at the Biltmore, in Atlanta, the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute, being colleges of the solid South-from Viring the installation proper. Diana April 15-19. This was the eighteenth associated there with Dr. Max Hart- ginia to Texas and Oklahoma-took Dyer, the incoming president, made a annual conference of this organization, brief talk and led in prayer. The cabi- and their hosts were the alumni of Agnes Scott, Emory and Tech.

Alumnae House Thursday afternoon, Dr. McCain, Miss Llewellyn Wilburn, Germany, Italy, France, and Eng-Mrs. D. B. Donaldson, Miss Dorothy land. Hutton, Miss Mary Warren and other Secretary—Martha Logan, Douschka resident alumnae. Mrs. J. R. McCain tion was established by former United and Miss Hopkins poured tea. The May States Senator and Mrs. Simon Gugvarious buildings, and things of in- any of the arts. It was established in returned from Europe, has consented of knowledge. They average $2500, to give, on Saturday morning after and are for research either in Mexico, the customary chapel exercises, a Latin America, or Europe. Seventyseries of take-offs on people she en- seven fellowships were awarded this countered abroad. The repertoire of year; there were thirteen women and this talented impersonator includes seven southerners included among many interesting subjects-"An Ef- these. ficient Tourist in a Gondola," "An English Baronet," "An American Boy MacDougall holds an M. A. degree in the Louvre," "A French Doctor," from Randolph-Macon College, an M. and "A Night Club Queen."

A. DUNBAR TO GIVE TAKE-OFF

Miss MacDougall Given Guggenheim Fellowship

Che Agonistic

Professor to Study a Year in Laboratories of Germany and France.

Recognition of her splendid work has come to a member of the Agnes Scott faculty, and it is with much pride and pleasure that the college Stuart MacDougall, head of the Department of Biology, has been awarded a Guggenheim fellowship for react; limited to no acting; limited to search. She will study abroad next no scenery; limited to queer costumes; year, continuing her work on the is everybody happy? or The Lass That | Protozoa. Miss MacDougall is investigating the effect of the ultraviolet rays on unicellular animals. She has proved that one of the mutations obtained by use of ultra-violet rays follows the Mendelian law, which gov erns heredity in the higher animals.

Miss MacDougall will sail for Europe during the summer. About the middle of August she will attend the World Biological Congress in Poland, going afterward into Russia for ten days; while in Russia she will visit the biological laboratory of the Soviet Republic, at Moscow. From there she mann, famuos protozoologist. After six months she will go to the University of Paris, and there will have at her disposal the laboratory of Dr. Agnes Scott entertained these visit- Favre Fremiet, who has also done disors with a tea in the Anna Young tinguished work in this field. Miss MacDougall will visit a number of the biological laboratories in Europe, April 16. In the receiving line were including those in Poland, Russia,

The Guggenheim Memorial Founda-Queen, Miss Mildred Duncan, and her genheim as a memorial to their son, court assisted in serving. The Grand- who died April 26, 1922. It offers a terest. Music was furnished during order to improve the quality of educato provide for the cause of better international understanding. The fel- the colleges of the south. lowships are awarded annually by spe-Augusta Dunbar, '30, who recently cial boards, representing various fields

> A native of Laurinburg, N. C., Miss (Continued on page 4)

MISS LANEY MADE HONORARY MEMBER OF A. S. PHI BETA KAPPA

Annual and Aurora Staffs Announced

Plans for 1932-33 Now Being Made.

Members of the Silhouette and the Aurora staffs for the year 1931-32 have been announced by the heads of these organizations.

Members of the editorial staff of the Silhouette, as announced by next year's editor, will be:

Editor-in-Chief-Penelope Brown. Assistant Editor-Caroline Lingle. Art Editor-Judy Blundell.

Photographic Editor-Imogene Hud-

Joke Editors-Peggy Link, Lucille

Athletic Editor-Caroline Lingle. Kodak Editor-Mary McDonald. Class Editor-Julia Grimmet. Feature Editor-Ruth Green. Faculty Editor-Margaret Ridley. Associate Editor-Charlotte Reid.

The advertising staff, headed by Betty Peeples, advertising manager, and Jule Bethea, assistant, has not been appointed. The printing contract has been let to Foote and Davies Com-

Next year's Aurora staff will be

Editor-in-Chief-Sarah Lane Smith. Assistant Editor-Elizabeth Moore. Business Manager—Virginia Herrin. Business Frances Duke.

Associate Editor—Catherine Baker. Associate Editor-Elizabeth Hick-

Exchange Editor-Virginia Pretty-

Poetry Editor—Gilchrist Powell Art Editor-Douschka Sweets.

Reading Contest Held in Gym

Sponsored by Southern Ass. of Teachers of Speech.

The Southern Association of Teachers of Speech sponsored a verse-speaking contest in the gymnasium-auditorium at Agnes Scott Friday evening, April 17. Representatives of many part in the contest. Martha Skeen, of the Freshman class, represented Agnes

This was the first instance of such a contest in the South, although it has been the custom in New England and at Northwestern University for a number of years. In 1923, John Masefield and dancers are members of the conceived the idea of reading poetry to improve diction, and materialized this idea by holding, in England. the first casion. verse-speaking contest, with representatives from leading colleges taking part. In New England, this contest daughters' Club escorted the visitors number of fellowships in any field of has assumed the form of an annual over the campus, pointing out the knowledge and for creative work in festival. Agnes Scott has taken the initiative in adopting for Southern colleges this idea of Masefield's. It is to the afternoon by the A. P. D. C. or- tion and the practice of arts in the be hoped that, after the success of Fri- Buttermilk" are a few which the chestra under direction of Miss Johnnie United States, to foster research, and day night, the verse-speaking contests will lead to distinctive achievements in

A. S. TO DEBATE VA. COLLEGE

Agnes Scott, in the second engagement of the season, will debate Hampden-Sidney on the question, Resolved: That legal censorship should be abol-Plumer Jones and Macon Reed.

Much Success of Pupils in Field of Poetry Attributed to English Teacher.

At the annual meeting in March, Miss Emma May Laney, associate professor of English here, was elected to honorary membership in the national honor society, Phi Beta Kappa. Miss Laney took her M. A. at Columbia University and her Ph. D. at Yale University. Her election is based on her excellent record at these institutions and the unusual success which she has had as a teacher. All the Agnes Scott students and graduates, who have won prizes for poetry or had their poems published, have received a great part of their training and instruction in this line from her: Mrs. Margaret Bland Sewell, Miss Janef Preston, Alice Jernigan Dowling, Mary Catherine Williamson, Kitty Reid, and Gilchrist Powell have all brought honor to the college in this

Agnes Scott is one of the few woman's colleges in the United States which has a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa and it is quite an honor for members of student body to be elected to its membership. But membership on the basis of graduate work and accomplishments since graduation involves even greater honor and Miss Laney is indeed to be congratulated.

"O-Hello" to Be Presented May 2

Seniorpolitan Opera Co. to Fill Engagement.

The Seniorpolitan Opera Company will fill its customary spring engagement here with the presentation of "O-Hello!" May the second at eightthirty o'clock. This announcement, made Saturday, was received with unusual enthusiasm by all opera lovers who have deplored the absence of opera in Atlanta this year.

"O-Hello" offers the sole opportunity afforded this year to see and hear an operatic performance which will combine melodrama and burlesque into one of the most thrilling, most comical, and most musical ever given on an Agnes Scott stage. With an exciting elopement as a curtain raiser and a breath-taking smothering as a hairraiser, "O-Hello!" will keep you on needles and pins (to be provided by Agnes Scott Laundry). The cast will be named at a later date, but it is needless to add that renowned singers Seniorpolitan Company. At present they are getting in tune for the oc-

Senior Opera is an event to which everyone looks forward. "O-Hello" is but the newest of a long list of highly entertaining burlesques. Trousers," "Polly's Archie," "Ah Heed Her," "Low He Grins," and "Madame various Senior Classes have given after the usual Atlanta Opera season. Last year's, "Il Flows the Gore," won the well-deserved title of being the goriest in opera history.

Opera patrons are urged to send in their orders for boxes and for seats in the dress circle at the earliest possible ished. The event is to take place on date. They are also urged to make the night of April 28 at 8:30. The early orders at hardwood and grocery Agnes Scott team, composed of Anne stores for costume accessories, the Hopkins, Nell Brown, and Katherine latest dress circle styles being modeled Woltz, alternate, will uphold the af- along the vegetable, broom, and frying firmative against the visiting team, pan. Tickets will be fifty and seventy-five cents.

Subscription Price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single Copies, 5 cents.

Published weekly. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF

| Editor           | Betty Bonham        |
|------------------|---------------------|
| Assistant Editor |                     |
| Feature Editor   | Gail Nelson         |
| Society Editor   | Mary Hamilton       |
| Exchange Editor  | Elinor Hamilton     |
| Athletic Editor  | Katharine Woltz     |
| Alumnae Editor   | Letitia Rockmore    |
| Club Editor      | Bessie Meade Friend |
| Joke Editor      | Johnnie Mae York    |
| Giddy Gossip     | Caroline Lingle     |
|                  |                     |

MANAGEMENT

| Advertising Manager           | Clyde Lovejoy      |
|-------------------------------|--------------------|
| Business Manager              | Grace Fincher      |
| Circulation Manager           | Lila Ross Norfleet |
| Assistant Circulation Manager | Imogene Hudson     |

CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

| Nell Brown       | Ruth Green       |
|------------------|------------------|
| Mary Sturtevant  | Margaret Martin  |
| Rosemary May     | Mary MacDonald   |
| Betty Bolton     | Ruth Owen        |
| Gilchrist Powell | Margaret Telford |
| Martha Eskridge  | Carolyn Heyman   |
| Porter Cowles    | Joan Fish        |
|                  |                  |

EDITORIAL

With this issue of the Agonistic, the new staff goes into harness. We have a clean page on which to write. With what are we going to cover it? We answer the question with this: it is our aim to continue the work that has been done in the past, to fulfill during our term of office the real purpose of a college newspaper. We feel that this aim is summed up in the following words: it is the purpose of a college paper to keep the college community posted on coming events of interest, to give an account of past and current news, to report interesting facts concerning other colleges and student organizations, to stimulate student and faculty interest in extra-curricular activities and to be an expression of representative student opinion. We pledge our support and cooperation, personally and as a paper to the success of campus projects and organizations.

This seems to be a time of beginnings and endings, of tying palities throughout the state.—Davidup the last knots and of picking up the strings. The Seniors are sonian. putting the finishing touches on their college careers and the underclassmen are being constantly reminded of the duties and has been diagnosing fatal illnesses of responsibilities, which are being or soon will be shifted to their kings of England, has made the dis-

The tasks which we will soon undertake will not be exceeding- his foot. Histories thus far have rely difficult from day to day, but at times they will grow burden- vealed only that Charles died in 1477 some and we may ask ourselves what all the work and worry accomplishes. It is for this reason that we must fix the final and more or less abstract aim which should be that of every extra-curricular activity on the campus, clearly before us—the good of the

WHAT IS A COLLEGE?

What is a college? Is it the buildings? Is it the faculty? Is it the administration? Is it the students? Or is it all of these plus a certain intangible something, which somehow has a balance of tradition and the progressive spirit—something so intangible that unless one is always conscious of it and its value, one loses it entirely and finds that only an institution is left.

JOURNALISM

Of particular interest to the Agonistic staff and all members of the college community interested in Journalism in any form, is the course in this subject offered next year. It is according to the catalogue "a course in the writing of journalistic prose based on a study of the methods employed by the best modern writers of newspaper and magazine articles. Instruction and practice in gathering suitable material and in presenting that material clearly and interestingly." The course is sure to prove a valuable addition to the curriculum and affords the opportunity of technical training urged to communicate promptly with to those who plan to take up journalism as a career.

Feature

The heading "Agnes Scott Campus Car" which adorned Atlanta street car A. was held at Camp Wilkins, which is work. She has been in Charlotte, N. cards last year, aroused much com- part of the Agricultural School of the C., talking for Agnes Scott. Miss ment, and, perhaps, amusement. The University of Georgia in Athens, Dorothy Hutton, assistant secretary question was raised, "Where are Agnes April 10, 11, 12. Students from all of Agnes Scott College, and Miss Scott's botanical gardens, and what the colleges in Georgia were repreright has she to such a claim?" At sented: Georgia Tech, University of spoke to the students of the Charthe time of the advertisement there Georgia, Piedmont, G. S. C. W., G. S. lotte high school about Agnes Scott. trick Hall was still in process of con- Agnes Scott, Shorter, LaGrange and to the students. struction and the South quadrangle Georgia State College for Men. The suffered from the litter and confusion delegates from Agnes Scott were contingent upon its erection. The care- Diana Dyer, Mary Boyd, Maude Armfully laid out walks, shrubbery, and strong, Margaret Bell, C'Lena McMulthe soft verdant grass plots were still len, Field Shackleford, Chopin Hudson, a dream. But now the dream has been and Mary Sturtevant. realized, and the grass is so beautiful mark casually, "The grass is so pretty, Emory. I wish I were a cow so I could eat it."

all her glory at Agnes Scott. Grace- "the Full and Creative Life." In its violets, crocuses, purple and white flag lilies, and myriads of other flowers bid us come forth and enjoy nature. Shrubs which have bloomed for many years at Agnes Scott are again budding and blossoming. The delicate B. Eleazer, chairman of the Atlanta purple wisteria which hangs gracefully from the top of the tree in front of Buttrick is a lovely sight. The grass by Buttrick is luxuriantly green, and, indeed, the whole campus is beautiful.

Then we are to have a formal garden! The alumnae have long felt the need for a beauty spot near the Alumnae House, and have most generously be well cared for. The Senior class is giving a pool with running water. With the acquisition of the garden and pool, made possible by these generous gifts, the Agnes Scott campus will certainly be a beauty spot, and will well deserve the name of "botanical garden."

Exchanges

Credits for Courtship

A course called, "The Art of Making Love" has been installed at Rollins College. Credit for five hours of work a week is given. We would like the couse, of course, if it is at all practical. It could be taken during "leisure" hours by those who can't go on leave. -Citadel "Bull Dog."

Forty alumni of the University of Nebraska were listed on the Nebraska state ballots at the election this year. The majority of these were graduated from the College of Law and are now practicing law in the various munici-

London, Eng.-Dr. G. W. James, who covery that Charles the Bold died of an ingrowing toe nail which infected

Dr James also has found that Kings Stephen, John, Henry V and Edward I died of typhoid. Mary I, he declares, was a victim of the "fllu."-Davidson-

Stadium to Be Classroom

Norman, Okla.—(IP)—Because a heavy enrollment has placed class room space at a premium at Oklahoma University here, officials are considering making use of the large space underneath the seats in Memorial Stadiuum as extra classrooms.

It is believed that a wall may be built along the outer side of the big athletic plant, and the 50 by 50 feet thus enclosed may be divided into smaller rooms.-Emory Wheel.

College Verse Book Announced by Publisher

Because of the splendid proportions to which American college and university poetry has grown, Henry Harrison, the New York publisher, will issue an anthology called American College Verse.

All students who write poetry are

Y. W. News

The annual conference of the Geor--A Botanical Garden—Go By Street gia Student Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. Charleston, W. Va., on social service was some justice in the question. But- T. C., Wesleyan, Brenau, S. G. W. C.,

Chopin was co-chairman of the conthat one Hottentot was heard to re- ference, with Ed Zeigler from county high school in Asheville. She The was Dr. Smart from Emory. His teaches English, and coaches dra-A few days ago spring awakened in theme for his three splendid talks was matics. ful Japanese cherry trees, jonquils, development he applied the teachings lane School of Social Service, New of Jesus to our modern world, and Orleans. tried to show a workable philosophy of life, based on the life of Christ.

A forum on race was led by Mr. R. Commission on Racial Co-operation. Mr. Claud Nelson, a southern Y. M. secretary, led a discussion on Industry. Besides many group meetings there were several reports, meetings of Y. W. and the Y. M. There were also student group meetings which Curricular Revisions by Utah Under discussed program building, campus arranged for a landscape garden with relations, world relations, vocational beautiful flowers and bulbs, which will counseling, Freshmen, campus segregation and politics.

> The purpose of this conference was to help new cabinets get some training for their work during next year. Each delegate tried to get as many suggestions as possible from the other colleges about how each carried out its work, and everyone agreed that the conference fulfilled its purpose.

be sent full details. The anthology will be edited by Mr. Harrison himself, and illustrated by Charles Cullen.

Prizes of $25, $15 and $10 will be awarded to the authors of the three best poems in this anthology, to be selected by a distinguished board of founded with the original purpose of rection of Dr. William M. Goldsmith. making it a silk producing colony and America's "College on Wheels" offers -Emory Wheel.

In writing for information, students should mention the name of their college. Address Henry Harrison, Publisher, 27 East 7th Street, New York.— The Vassar Miscellany News.

Alumnae News

Ada Knight, '29, is going to Penelope Brown, '32, and Miss Knight They explained scholarships available

Aileen Moore's ('29) baby, Ann, is seven months old. Don is doing commercial photography.

Polly Brown, '29, sang A. S. C. songs over the radio at Asheville and Hendersonville.

Ruth McLean is teaching in the principal speaker is head of the French department,

Juanita Patrick, '30, is at the Tu-

Josephine Gillespy, ex '31, is now Mrs. Edwin Allison, and lives in Ashe-

Annie Miriam Dean, ex '31, is Mrs. J. B. Norman. She lives on Georgia Avenue, Woodruff, S. C.

N.S.F.A. News

Consideration

Salt Lake City, Utah.—"A tentative plan under which Freshmen and Sophomore students of the University of Utah would be organized as a special unit to be termed the 'College of the University of Utah,' in which they would receive more specific preparation for upper division work, has been presented to the faculty for its consideration," Dr. Frederick J. Pack, head of the department of geology and chairman of the president's committee which drew up the plan, stated in outlining the proposed split-up of the classes of the University of Utah.

Enrollment of Omnibus Colleges Reaches 850

Wichita, Kan.—Eight hundred and twenty college students and teachers throughout the country have enrolled in the 1931 Omnibus College, sponsored by the University of Wichita and the Although the state of Georgia was University of Nebraska under the di-the industry was pursued here diligent- six thousand miles of travel, combined ly for a long time, at the present time with study for which three hours of there is not a single silkworm in the university credit will be given, through whole state. This fact was brought to twenty-five states and two Canadian light recently by Dr. Jack P. Corry of provinces. Students travel in buses, the history department who wrote to and camp in tents with comfortable the United States department of sleeping accommodations. An expert agriculture in search of one of the rare dietician, Mrs. Amy H. Goldsmith, A. crawlers. The reply revealed the fact B., head of home economics departthat not only are there no silk worms ment of Southwestern College at Winin the state of Georgia, but there is field, Kansas, is in charge of all meals, but one man in the United States who which are served from cafeteria cars. is known to possess any of the worms. Mrs. Goldsmith also acts as dean of women.

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities.

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

Heigh-ho, Giddy,

over the extended holidays? Me, I continue to experience a glow of excitement (not of scarlet fever) just to -do you know that Laura Brown is positive she's falling victim to scarof a good many of the dear old school chums around here, you'd think the disease was doing its worst. Take a squint at the elect, f'r instance, Peggy Hippee, and Margy Ellis, and Polly Gordon (though I haven't reached that level yet), who, having spent the holidays in Florida, are now eligible for The Sunbeam Club. A nice new shiny letter telling about their pets, Sunday School teachers, and baby brothers. Those who lack the latter may substitute an account of their school Arbor-Day program. Address communications to this column; if possible, destroy before sending—Heavens! Im- do she do it? Such is charm! agine my being carried away by the ion!

Everybody seems to have had a ripping time during the holidays, though

Shirley McPhaul insists that the first Oh, don't mind the salutation! Just part was best: and indeed she might, cial half hour was enjoyed. between me and Rudy Vallee. And are considering the snouzy diamond which you still feeling that schoolgirl thrill appeared on her left hand as soon as Randy gave the measles the go-by. From all reports, Penny Brown literally tore up Winston-Salem: just as think about it. Which all reminds me Betty Preston did Spartanburg! Yes, and what I heard about you, you let fever, because she has pink tooth- big long drink-of-water! 0000h! brush! Now are you amazed! Well, You'd better hurry across with the dejudging from the ruddy appearances tails, or may you sell Fuller brushes till the cows come home!

And since we've come back, there's been plenty of excitement! Didn't Julia Thompson and Bessie Meade Friend date the Davidson debaters last Saturday night? They'd better watch their step. They'll be losing their woman's gift of tongues before they pin will be sent to each little one on know it. Guess that'd hack 'em! But the receipt of twenty-five cents, and a this week's Prize for Potency was won the other night by Peggy Link, who literally swept her date off his feet. Imagine such a way with the men! The poor soul took a tumble of Dr. Davidson's own special variety, and fell out of his chair backwards. How Well, that's the caboose in my train spirit of the moment in such a fash- of thought-Guess I'll be making tracks.

Devotedly,

Aggie.

Martha S.—"Fourth for bridge?" Mary S.—"Okay!"

Martha—"That's great! Now all we need's a third.

THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON TEA—DINNER 11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M. Atlanta—65½ Broad St., N. W. Macon—151 Cotton Ave.

Teacher: Canaan was a land flowing with milk and honey. Now, children, what do you think a land flowing with milk and honey would be like?

Little Chester (age 22): Sticky.— Mountain Goat.

L. CHAJAGE

Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

Carfare to town 5c Carfare home 5c

AND

A New Dress

In Allen's Downstairs Store

$6.90

Printed crepe ensembles— Short sleeve prints-Sunday - nite cantons-Chiffons for afternoon— Cantons for street wear—

Downstairs Store

J. P. ALLEN & CO.

Clubs

K. U. B.

K. U. B. held a very important meeting in the cabinet room Wednesday afternoon, April 15. Miss Christie gave a most interesting and helpful talk, in which she outlined the course in journalism to be offered next year. Individual questions were asked and the members enjoyed a round table discussion, under Miss Christie's charge. At the conclusion of the meeting, a so-

Cotillion Tea-Dance

Cotillion Club was entertained at its regular bi-monthly tea-dance, Wednesday, April 15th, in the Cotillion Clubroom. Dancing was enjoyed from five until six o'clock. The hostesses were Ruth Pringle, Dot Wyatt, and Jeanette Shaw.

Bible Club

The Bible Club held its regular monthly meeting Thursday, April 16, in Mr. Johnson's studio. Mrs. Hamilton, who was born in Japan, has served in the foreign fields of China and Korea, gave an enlightening talk on "The Bible in Foreign Lands." Mrs. Hamilton was well acquainted with the subject and gave interesting and valuable information.

Poetry Club

Poetry Club met with Miss Preston in Gaines, Thursday night at 9 o'clock. Quite a number of interesting poems were read. Raemond Wilson ('30), a former member of the club, was present as a guest. At this meeting arrangements were made for the spring tryouts to be held in seevral weeks.

Poetry Club Tryouts

Poetry Club will hold spring tryouts this week. Anyone who feels the "poetic urge" is asked to submit poems. Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen are eligible. All poems must be submitted not later than Monday, April 27th, and it is suggested that no one person submit more take "Rest in Peace" off that tombthan three poems. The poems must stone I ordered yesterday. be original. For other information see any member of the club or Kitty Reid.

Visit THE EMBLEM SHOP, INC. College and School Jewels Metropolitan Bldg. 81 Forsyth St.

Mother's Day WOMAN'S EXCHANGE -for-GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE FLOWERS

******

De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg. **********

Although spring holidays are not yet out of sight, the Hottentots have Chi dance Friday night. already gone back into the old swing of society rounds. Fraternities seem to be playing a big part in the campus belle's program. Frat dances and Sunday dinners occupy most of their spare

And everybody's rushing off for the week-end in a good-looking spring suit with a bag full of lovely spring clothes. Isn't it thrilling just to look around the campus? Leaves on the trees and early flowers aren't the only things that are coming out! Well, let's just look and see where everybody's going so dressed up.

Penelope Brown attended the Delta Theta Phi law fraternity dance Saturday night.

Among those attending a party given by Nell Chamlee's aunt in Decatur Sunday afternoon were Peggy Kump, Elizabeth Kump, Lucy Guerrant, Carolyn Russell. and Helen Boyd.

Dorothy Dickson spent Sunday with her aunt in Atlanta.

Louise Taylor spent the week-end with Katherine Goodwin in Atlanta, and was the honoree at a buffet supper Saturday night.

Bitsy Fulk, Margaret Friend, Claire Ivy and Peggy White had dinner at Howerton attended a dance at the Canthe Beta Theta Pi house Sunday.

Angry Widow (after learning husband left her nothing): I want you to Stonecutter: I can't do that, but I work: can put something underneath.

A. W.: All right. Put "Till I come." -College Humor.

Hewey's

Buy Your

Toilet Articles-Sundries Remedies—Stationery Sodas, Sandwiches PROMPT DELIVERY Call us Phone Dea. 0640-9110

Louise Crawford attended the Sigma

Mallie White and Plant Ellis spent Sunday with Mrs. Lynch in Atlanta.

Martha Jane Klutz, Clara Knox Nunnally, Betty Harbison, Elinor Hamilton, and Mary Hamilton attended the A. T. O. dance at Tech Friday night.

Howard Wright and Lee Scott Darksdale from Petersburg, Va., visited Martie Friend, Spring holidays.

Penelope Brown had dinner at the Beta Kappa house Sunday.

Mildred Duncan and Markie Mowry attended a dance and buffet supper at the Pi Kappa Phi house Saturday

Helen Duke went to the Phi Chi dance Saturday night.

Kitty Reid attended the Delta Theta Phi dance at the Biltmore Friday

Natilu McKinney and Clara Knox Nunnally went to the Chi Psi dance at Tech Saturday night.

Nina Hammond and Alma Fraser dler Hotel Saturday night.

How to Attract Cadets

- (1) Softly hum or whistle "Anchors Aweigh." If that doesn't work:
- (2) Comment on his uniform. Rave about it in a loud voice. If that doesn't
- (3) Criticize it in a loud voice. If that doesn't work:
- (4) Kick him smartly in the shins. If that doesn't work:
- (5) It's probably not a cadet. It may be an usher from the Paramount .-College Humor.

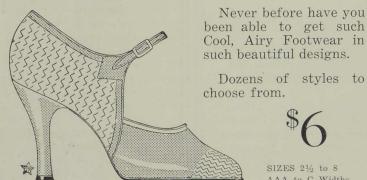

Waiter: How did you find your beef-

Customer: By turning my potato over."-Le Petit Journal.

OUR SLOGAN CLEAN SHOP MODERATE PRICES EXPERT OPINION STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOPPE 153 Sycamore St.

Dearborn 2671

Suva Cloth or Linens

SIZES 21/2 to 8 AAA to C Widths

The Mirror

Quality Footwear 76 Whitehall St.

EUROPE

BELGIUM-HUNGARY-AUSTRIA PORTUGAL-ITALY Sailing May 21, 1931, from New York Returning, July 28, 1931. $995.00 First Class Travel, Excellent Hotels Sixty-Eight Days Small Party

Write for descriptive booklet No. 7 Hoxsey Travel Service 91 Forsyth Street, N. W. (Piedmont Hotel Bldg.) JAckson 0791 Atlanta, Ga.

Senior-Soph 12-3

Playing for the probable school championship of '31, the Seniors and sulted in an overwhelming victory for the lead in the first and maintained it could poll only one run to the Seniors' period began with the score 4 and 3. McCalip then turned professional and straightway fanned out three men, while the Sophomore team went all to pieces under the heavy batting atwas as follows:

SENIOR SOPHOMORE Grey, c. Belote, c. Happoldt, p. McCalip, p. Purdie, 1b. Armstrong, 1b. McAuliff, 2b. Sweets, 2b. Duncan, 3b. Bell, 3b. Watson, s. s. Woltz, s. s. Boswell, l. f. Hudmon, M., l. f. Hudson, c. f. Cowles, c. f. Daniel, r. f. Heath, r. f Substitutions: Sturtevant for Hudmon; Stigall for Heath.

New Ideas for Gym

If you want something different, try the gym work in the Bertham School of Gymnastics for Women in Copenhagen. The custome is merely tunics and sandals. Anxious to increase mobility, elasticity and power and to correct physical faults, corresponding here to our "I. G.," pupils learn to master their body. First there is running, walking, lighter exercises. The exercises gradually increasing to a full hours work are done on balance beams two feet high and five inches wide. First pupils walk, then run, walk backwards, tip-toe, chain step and caterpillar. Finally complete relaxation of the body from the hips is attained, and all unnecessary motion is eliminated. Strain is prevented by the careful elementary work done. The instructor, Miss Prytz, plans to bring a group of students to the U.S. for exhibition, believing our country to be far behind in physical culture.

**************** Fatal Interview Edna St. Vincent Millay Margaret Waite Book Shop 119-123 Peachtree Arcade

Frosh-Junior 12-8

By a score of 12 to 8 the Freshmen team defeated the Juniors for the sec-Sophomores met on the diamond in a ond time this season. The Frosh put game tense with excitement, which re- up an invincible line-up, that the Juniors could not down, and played the Seniors and established their title with a spirit equally undaunted. The of school champions. The Seniors took first inning gave the Juniors the lead with five runs to their credit, while throughout the game. The Sophomores the Freshmen brought in three men. Tillotson, manager and catcher for three. The second inning, however, the Frosh, furnished the thrill of the brought the Sophomores' score within inning by knocking a home run the one run of the Seniors', and the third first thing out of the box. The second inning brought the Freshmen into own, and left the score in their favor by a margin of one run. Excitement ran high as the Juniors stepped up to bat in the third; but the Frosh, tack of the Seniors, and allowed them leading now with a score of 12 to 7, eight runs, leaving the score 12 and 3 held the Juniors to a lone run. The in favor of the Seniors. The line-up game was fast and interesting throughout the three innings; and good baseball was exhibited. The lineup was as follows:

FRESHMAN JUNIOR Tillotsen, c. Russell, p. Schlich, p. Calypool, 1b. Austin, 2b. Dver, 2b. Talmadge, 3b. Boyd, r. f. Kump, l. f. Norman, c. f. Wright, c. f. Kaufmann, s. s. Kane, s. s. Substitutions: Massey for Russell.

MISS MacDOUGALL GIVEN GUGGENHEIM FELLOWSHIP (Continued from page 1)

S. from the University of Chicago, a Ph. D. from Columbia University. She has been at Agnes Scott since 1919. except for two years spent at Columbia and short periods at Johns Hopkins and Harvard as research associate in 1927 and 1930. Since 1925 she has published eight papers in various scientific journals in this country and abroad-two on sugar content of the blood of birds in malaria, one on cytology, and four on her present problem.

Miss MacDougall has been working on this problem for three years. After months of patient experimenting she

Class Officers

The class officers for next year have been elected in the past few weeks and Next, Miss MacDougall crossed the are as follows:

Senior:

President-Louise Stakely. Vice President-Lovelyn Wilson. Secretary and Treasurer - Julia

Exec.-Virginia Herrin.

Junior:

President-Jo Clark.

Vice President-Billie Belote. Secretary and Treasurer - Mary Hudmon and Anne Hudmon.

Exec.—Porter Cowles, Margaret Loranz.

Sophomore:

President-Nancy Rogers. Vice President-Margaret Massie. Secretary-Elinore Hamilton. Treasurer-Elizabeth Hickson.

Exec.—Bella Wilson, Dot Bradley. achieved the remarkable result of permanently changing the form of a animal life. This microscopic single abroad next year. celled creature leads a rather peaceful existence, untroubled by the stock market crash or depression. He is able to navigate his puddle at a lively rate (well we know who have encountered in Freshman zoo lab!) and to reproduce his kind. Miss MacDougall selected a chiloden uncinatus, a particular species of protozoan, and exposed it to ultra-violet rays for fifteen seconds on four occasions. Examination then revealed the chiloden a changed creature. He had acquired certain new characteristics, among them a very decided tail. Now the offsprings of this chiloden likewise possessed this new

LAWRENCE'S PHARMACY

> A Real Drug Store and the Nearest to Agnes Scott

Try our Toasted Sandwiches

Phones Dearborn 0762-0763

309 East College Ave., Opposite Depot, Decatur, Ga.

third and fourth generations-yea, even unto the fortieth generation, where the experimenter left them. tailed chiloden with an unenlightened tailless neighbor. The progeny were modified in form and followed roughly the Mendelian law, by which it has been determined that in human beings certain characteristics are inherited according to a definite ratio. This is the first instance in which the law has been shown to hold for the Protozoa. The fact that by artificial meansultra-violet rays-it was possible to permanently change the form of a single specimen and its progeny is of tremendous importance in evolution. Ultra-violet radiation is simply a concentration of a element of simlight, and Miss MacDougall points out that if that could change the form of a protozoan, perhaps nature used the same means in the evolution of the species. That is what scientists hope to prove someday, though enough information is not yet at hand to make possible the statement of a theory. It is along this line of investigation The Protozoa are the lowest form of that Miss MacDougall will work while

This was true unto the appendage.

********** Phone Hem. 5738 THE PRENCH PASTRY SHOPPE

We specialize in Birthday and Wedding Cakes Fine Pastries for all Occasions Marcel Pahud, Proprietor 985 Peachtree St., N. E., Atlanta

******

Bailey Bros. Shoe Shop 142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies' Work DE. 0172 WE DELIVER

Recognition of her outstanding achievement has come to Miss Mac-Dougall from other sources. Recently she read a paper on "Inheritance in the Tailed Form of Chiloden Uncinatus" before the Georgia Academy of Science, of which she is past president. She has been asked to read this paper before the National Academy of Science at its annual meeting in Washington, D. C., April 27-29. Never in my wildest dreams did I expect such a thing to happen to me," says Miss MacDougall. But it did happen, and Agnes Scott rejoices with

> Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

$$$$$$$$$$$$$

JOS. SIEGEL

Dependable Jeweler DIAMONDS—WATCHES CLOCKS—JEWELRY Watch Repairing a Specialty 131 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga.

ૢ૾ઌ૾ઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌ ADAMSON & COSTER CO.

Cleaners and Dyers

Decatur Branch 104 S. Candler St.

Phone De. 3087 20% Off Cash and Carry

------

STARNES

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER "BIG DEC"

Dennis Lindsey Printing Co.

(Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING and STATIONERY

Phone Dearborn 0976 421 Church St. DECATUR, GA.

$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$

Frocks for Graduation and Vacation

In High's COLLEGIATE SHOP

$6.90 $8.90 $12.90

Daytime frocks for last classes, flying shopping tours and casual hours on the campus! Wash silks and prints.

Frocks for times when you feel ladylike and demure! for Sunday night, and dates and tea dancing! Chiffons, georgettes, crepes.

Playtime frocks that are out and out the smartest things for sports you've seen! Wear them now, and take them vacationing!

mportant dresses that attend the Junior-Senior prom, and dance all summer long 'neath vacation moons! Pastel shades.

High's Second Floor of Fashions

J. M. HIGH CO. Atlanta, Ga.

You Can't Keep A Poker Face Over These Polka Dot Frocks

Mallinson's Pure-Dye Crepes! Mallinson's Pure-Dye Chiffons!

—You'll be reduced to helplessness by these alluringly nonchalant crepe and chiffon frocks! Your lethargy will turn to ecstasy over their insouciance, their verve and vitality! They're by far the smartest of the polka-dot contingent for Spring . . . emphasizing the ultra-chic white accent . brown-and-white, black-and-white, navy-andwhite! All sizes.

> THRIFTSTYLE SHOP -RICH'S THIRD FLOOR.

RICH'S

Vol. XVI

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE, DECATUR, GA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 29, 1931

No. 21

All-Star Cast Will BePresented In "O-Hello"

To Be Assisted By Famous Seniorpolitan Orchestra and Skilled Director.

Great preparations are being made by the Seniorpolitan Opera Company who will misrepresent "O-Hello!" in the gym Saturday evening at eightthirty o'clock. Curious sounds issuing from the direction of the gym announce the presence, on the campus, of a carload of warblers, including coughs, a prima donna, a baritone, and a choice selection of other songsters. The director of the famous Seniorpolitan orchestra is overjoyed by the prospect of giving Agnes Scott the opportunity of hearing such remarksoprano gazooks are developing unusually well, and with the addition of two mandolins and half a dozen drums our orchestra will be—superb!" stated Director Purdie.

Chopin Hudson is directing the the writing committee. Tickets will ly to the class of 1934. be on sale in Buttrick and everyone is urged to make their reservations as early as possible, as orders from the vicinity pour in daily.

Supported by a Mermaid Chorus, a soldiers' chorus, senators, a tavern the incoming officers said, "On you, chorus, ladies in waiting, and an anvil chorus, the cast is as follows:

O-Hello-Shirley McPhaul.

Des A Mourner-Jeanette Shaw. Chicago-Mildred McCalip.

Cash I Owe-Jean Grey.

Porta Rico-Alma Frasier Hower-

Andrew Eggsneak-Knoxie Nunnal-

Spanka-Myra Jervey.

Duke of Venice-Marguerite Ger-

Bananio-Mary Catherine William-

I'm Illier-Laura Brown.

Archery Tournament To Be on May 5

Eight Best Shots Will Be Entered in National Meet.

The annual spring archery tournament is to be held May 5, in the afternoon on the Rebekah range. Although two tournaments are held every year, the silver loving cup is awarded only in the spring.

The regular Columbia Round will be shot. This consists of attempts at Speerman, members of the Atlanta associations. The conference is to be thirty, forty, and fifty yards with twenty-four arrows to each range. This makes seventy-two arrows in all.

The silver loving cup was given to the school last year by Sally Sutherland, a former student. Sallie Peake, '30, was first winner of the trophy.

This year for the first time Agnes Scott will enter the national tourna- Association. Baseball games, exhibiment, sponsored by the University of Wisconsin; the eight best in our tournament will be chosen to represent Agnes Scott. On May 25 their scores will be wired to the University for participation in the national con-

MAY DAY TO BE SATURDAY

Here at last is the longed for oldfashioned English May Day with its Robin Hood, Maid Marian, and everything that goes with them. The scenario by Mary Catherine Williamson is Ellis. crammed with pretty little dances of the milkmaids and chimney sweeps. To be very "newspaperish," it promises to be one of the most interesting social events of the year.

Officers of Class Of '32 Installed

Class of '33 Substitutes Ceremony for "Spring Raid."

Spring Raid, the traditional Sophomore-Freshman institution, took place Thursday night. The raid this year was of a type hitherto unknown on the campus. This change in the policy of the sophomores was assigned to the fact that "the perhaps regrettable desire for sophistication, ever increasing among college girls," makes the former decorative type of raid "a bit inappropriate." Also, it was pointed out that the Freshmen have changed a great deal since their entrance into the college community last fall, and able music. "The tenor, alto and have become "students fully initiated into our college life and fully co-operating in all our activities." Appreciating this fact, the class of 1933 took this opportunity "to bury the hatchet, literally and figuratively," thus instiopera and Ellene Winn is chairman of tuting a ceremony dedicated especial-

> The officers of the incoming Sophomore class were invested by the officers of the present Sophomore class. Porter Cowles, president, in addressing the officers of the incoming Sophomore between your class and the incoming Freshman class. We feel that you and your classmates are entirely capable of maintaining the high standard of relations which we have attempted to your class will maintain the bonds of

Local High School Girls Entertained

Exhibition Athletics, Play and Dance for Guests.

"Fun for all" was indeed an appropriate slogan for Friday, April 24, when two hundred fifty Atlanta and as guests of the college community.

Hottentots might glimpse a definite cross section of life at their future M. Loridans Speaks Alma Mater. Following a sightseeing tour over the campus, the girls were extensively entertained by the Athletic tion riding, swimming, and diving contests had been arranged to fill the afternoon program.

In the evening the visitors were taken to the gymnasium, where Miss Frances K. Gooch, dramatic director to New York as southeastern repre- ing, and was disappointed after sevof Blackfriars, presented "Love Is sentative of the French Alliance As-Like That," a sparkling comedy in one act. The students interpreting the characters were: Mary Lillias Garretson, Lucile Woodberry, and Margaret and Eunice Lawrence sang a solo; a soled herself with the idea that at

As a concluding feature to a day of fun and frolic, the A. P. D. C. or-

The G. A. C. C. W. Meets in Athens At the University

Sarah Bowman and Susan Glenn, Delegates From Agnes Scott.

College Women, an organization which was formed last year, and held its first meeting at Agnes Scott, met with the Women's Athletic Association at the University of Georgia April the twenfrom LaGrange College, Shorter College, Wesleyan College, Agnes Scott College, G. S. C. W. at Valdosta, and University of Georgia attended. Agnes Scott was represented by Susan Glenn and Sarah Bowman.

College of Agriculture, and by Esther teetered daintily across a tight rope-Anderson, president of the University of Georgia W. A. A. A report of the Eastern sectional meeting of the Athlege Women held at Syracuse, N. Y., lions was one of the group? Yesthe delegate from University of Geor-

The A. C. A. C. W. is a national organization of which Agnes Scott is class, rests, to a great extent, the re- a member, which emphasizes "sport usual skill in interpretive dancing, sponsibility for the amiable relations for sport's sake" rather than competiligarbed all the while in a charming tion among the women's colleges of

The Saturday afternoon meeting was devoted to open discussions of problems concerning the Athletic Associations of the various colleges. attain this year. We hope that during | Health Week was discussed by Westhe remainder of your college career leyan, the Standard Point System by Agnes Scott, Changes in Basketball fellowship first cemented by Fresh- Hockey Play Day by Shorter, The Rules by University of Georgia, men caps and snivelling 'subordinat- Southern Division of A. C. A. C. W by University of Georgia, and the Olympic Meet by LaGrange.

The delegates were entertained during the Conference by members of the Clever Take-Offs University of Georgia W. A. A. Friday night a tap dancing contest was held in the Physical Education building. Two former Agnes Scott girls participated, Dot Dudley and Julia Terrell. Saturday a luncheon was given in Soule Hall, and the conference closed Saturday night with a supper hike at Camp Wilkins.

Decatur high school Seniors spent the College Women is to be a permanent afternoon and evening at Agnes Scott organization with the definite purpose personations of types that she met in of bringing college women of this state together for interchange of ideas Nancy Simpson and Isabel Leonard on problems confronting the athletic held next year at Wesleyan College in off on the harrassed traveller, who is Alumnae Association, had arranged Macon. Miss Eunice Partin of Wesevery detail so that the prospective leyan was elected conference chair-

To French Club

Consul and Wife Are Guests at Dinner and Coffee.

M. Loridans, French consul in Atlanta, and Mme. Loridans were guests of the French club at a special meeting, April 20.

sociations of America. The rest of the program was made up of French songs and music typical of spring. Harriet Smith gave a selection by Debussy, three songs suggestive of the season.

Mr. and Mme. Loridans were entertained at dinner in Rebekah Scott and chestra furnished music for ballroom afterwards at coffee by the French tor was begun, but there was not time

New Members of Hoasc Initiated

Great Originality Marks the Entertaining Stunts.

Strange and hitherto unknown talents were revealed to a wondering The Georgia Athletic Conference of group Tuesday night when Hoase held its informal initiation of new members at a banquet at the Candler Hotel. For instance, who would have dreamed that we have harbored a bucking broncho ty-fourth and twenty-fifth. Delegates in our midst? The only specimen of its kind in existence! When you hear that it is straight from Texas and a la S. I. A. S. G., perhaps you will be able to trace its origin. Moreover, there were two very famous vaude-The delegates were welcomed by ville stars from Japan who sang and Dr. Soule, president of the Georgia danced in true Oriental fashion and to add a touch of grace consume the very tight, and startlingly high! And did you know that the heiress to all letic Conference of American Col- the Smith Brothers Cough Drop milin March, was given by Ruth Norris, you may recognize her by the striking resemblance to her father and uncle whose pictures you must know. The editor of this paper showed unhaps the most educational address of the evening was that on the subject "How a Penny Caught a Man."

> The last event brought back the spirit of ancient Rome, for Diana herself appeared, decked in angel robes and garlands, and was wooed by a big, bold Bowman. It hardly seems necessary to say that the evening was both entertaining and enlightening.

Given by Alumna

Impersonations Greeted With Storm of Applause.

Old and new students were equally charmed by the appearance of an old Europe, but the time was so short that she was able to give only one in entirety. This was a very clever takedetermined to stick to a strict schedule and checks off each sight seen and each famous place visited with a sigh of relief. The setting was Venice, and the two required things to be done there were to see the pigeons and a sunset on the Grand Canal. The tourist's attempts to make the gondolier placent satisfaction in being "correct and romantic" was very good. During the trip up the canal she aired her M. Loridans spoke on his recent trip handbook knowledge of Robert Browneral efforts to make the gondolier sing, to find that he had a squeaky voice. The sunset never materialized and a slight rain set in, but the tourist congroup of girls from the club sang least she had seen the place where the sunset "ought to be."

> A second take-off on a French docfor it to be completed.

A. S. C. Play Day To Be Held May 9 In Gymnasium

Seven High Schools Will Participate in Many Events Planned for Them.

"Play for play's sake" is the theme carried out in the program given on the campus for guests from various high schools in Atlanta. When the afternoon of May 9th yearly sees the Agnes Scott hockey field alive with baseball and track, or hears the gym resound to thunders of applause of volley ball or basketball, and feels a mighty splashing in the pool, where water polo is raging, all true Agnes Scotters are invited to come cheer for their guests. An exhibition of swimming and archery by Agnes Scott champions, a posture contest for one and all, or even an old square dance, quieter moments. To conclude the afternoon of excitement and "riotous living" the Agnes Scott hostesses invite their young friends to bring their lunches and join them in a picnic on the hockey field, where the college serves them with the "where-with-all" to quench their thirsts. Thus "prospective Hottentots" may become acquainted with the life of the campus as well as with its personnel, before they venture to swell its numbers.

All of these activities have been previously planned by committees for food, play, invitations, and hostesses, gown, fashioned by Agonistic. Per- chosen, each with an Agnes Scott adviser, on March 28, when all of the Atlanta high schools now represented at Agnes Scott sent two girls to decide upon plans for Play Day. Ten girls came from each of the high schools, which include:

> Decatur North Avenue Girls' High Woodberry Marietta Covington Washington Seminary

Prof. Dieckmann Presents Recital

Is Assisted By Misses Williamson and Chapman.

Saturday afternoon, April 26, at 4:30 Mr. Dieckmann and some of his The Georgia Athletic Conference of favorite in chapel Saturday—Augusta most accomplished students gave a recital in the chanel. Mr. Dieckmann opened the program with "Tocata, G major," by DuBois. The next selection was a piano number, "LeSoir,' Op. 29, No. 2, by Chaminade, which was played by Miss Mary Catherine Williamson and accompanied by Mr. Dickmann on the organ. Miss Chapman of the Ponce de Leon Baptist choir then sang "Il est Doux" from "Herodiade," by Massenet. The fourth number on the program was a group of three lovely piano solos played by Miss Williamson. After this Miss Chapman sang "I Know," by Gilbert Strauss, "Hills of Home," by Faust, and "Come to the Garden, understand her mixture of Italian and Love," by Mary Turner Saltan. The English was comical, and her com- magnificent First Movement of Concerto, op. 54, by Schumann, which Miss Williamson played on the piano, accompanied by Mr. Dieckmann on the organ, concluded a program skillfully selected and presented.

NEW AGONISTIC REPORTERS

The Agonistic is glad to announce the selection of the following new re-

> Nelle Chamblee Martha Elliott Elizabeth Hickson Betty Kump Florence Preston Margaret Ridley Rossie Ritchie Willa Upchurch

Subscription Price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single Copies, 5 cents.

Published weekly. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF

| Editor           | Betty Bonham        |
|------------------|---------------------|
| Assistant Editor | Elizabeth Lightcap  |
| Feature Editor   | Gail Nelson         |
| Society Editor   | Mary Hamilton       |
| Exchange Editor  | Elinor Hamilton     |
| Athletic Editor  | Katharine Woltz     |
| Alumnae Editor   | Letitia Rockmore    |
| Club Editor      | Bessie Meade Friend |
| Joke Editor      | Johnnie Mae York    |
| Giddy Gossip     | Caroline Lingle     |
|                  |                     |

MANAGEMENT

| Advertising Manager           | Clyde Lovejoy       |
|-------------------------------|---------------------|
| Business Manager              | Grace Fincher       |
| Circulation Manager           | _Lila Ross Norfleet |
| Assistant Circulation Manager | Imogene Hudson      |

CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

| Margaret Ridley    | Lila Norfleet   |
|--------------------|-----------------|
| Harriotte Brantley | Mary Wormhoud   |
| Peggy Hippee       | Mary MacDonald  |
| Joan Fish          | Barbara Hart    |
| Carolyn Heyman     | Anne Hopkins    |
| Virginia Herrin    | Margaret Belote |
| Florence Preston   | Elise Jones     |
| Ellen Davis        | Porter Cowles   |
|                    |                 |

EDITORIALS

The most important day of entertainment in the Agnes Scott calendar is to be celebrated on Saturday. May Day and Senior Opera are events which are attended by a great many out-of-town, as well as Atlanta and Decatur, guests and the impression that is made on these occasions is important to the college. These presentations represent the best that Agnes Scott has to offer in these hours more to be completely rested." lines of entertainment and infinite patience and hard labor have been put into making them the splendid successes that they always are. They deserve all the support that we can give them and there versation are two of the most valuable is no doubt that they will give the greatest satisfaction—they always have!

Agnes Scott news, this semester, has been full of accounts of faculty achievement. One honor after another has been bestowed upon professors here and it is fitting that we realize how significant these honors are in respect to the reputation of the college. The success which they have attained in many fields reflects glory not only on themselves and the institutions at which they studied naire which was held sometime ago but also upon Agnes Scott. We appreciate this fact and feel that are now being made known. They others have only recognized what we already knew-the excep-student body which has been here the tional ability and intellectuality which characterizes Agnes Scott longest, to outside activities, R. O. T professors.

The Lecture Association, along with the other organizations chief interest?" are: athletics, 29; reon the campus, is electing officers and appointing representatives cieties, 3; bulling, 2; honorary frafor the coming year. As the officers and representatives of the ternities, 2; music, 2; sleeping, 2; de-Association for 1930-31 retire, it is fitting that a final word be said concerning their splendid work and a final tribute paid to the excellent judgment in selection which they have shown. We that much discussed problem: "Do you believe that never in the history of the college has a more popu- Delta Kappa, or Varsity 'D' the most lar or a more instructive program of lectures been presented: a valuable?" Forty-four gave first place program which included such names as Signor Averardi, the Princess Der Ling, and Commander Byrd.

N. S. F. A. News

Outside Work Hinders Undergraduate Little

Minneapolis, Minn.-"Yes." was the answer Dr. J. G. Umstattd, University of Minnesota, made after a thorough study of the question; it is possible for a student to clerk, wait on tables, mind babies or in any way to work his ful voices, splendid choruses, magnifimuch out of it as the one whose bills are paid by his father.

Dr. Umstattd states that from the results of his survey he finds that the question of what a boy will get out of Seniorpolitan Opera Co. reigns suhis schooling is entirely up to the boy preme in the music world of the city. and whether he pays his own way or not has nothing to do with the material results that he will derive.

In his study, Dr. Umstattd found that students of a given intelligence make approximately the same marks regardless of whether engaged in outside work or not. Going into the question of extra-curricular activities it was found that the more a Freshman earned the more he participated in outside activities such as the Y. M. C. A., literary societies, student government and religious work. Senior earners were found to hold as many campus offices as non-earners and it was found that most of these students worked so that they would be able to participate in other activities.

of the workers replied "none." Rather than a disadvantage, they maintained that they counted it an advantage. time, and have eagerly anticipated the giving light, or are we merely receiv-Very few admitted that it was a curtailment of their social activities, but the majority said it was the only Men" were produced, while in the folmeans by which they would be able to enter any social life at all.

Women Win Collegiate Good Sleep Contest

Hamilton, N. Y .- Girls are far better sleepers than men, according to Dr. Donald Laird, "expert" on the subject of sleep and professor of psychology at Colgate University, where a recent sleep survey was held.

An intercollegiate good sleep contest was held between the men at Colgate and the women at Skidmore col-

Resulting figures showed that girls have less trouble going to sleep, wake up fewer times during the night, are less restless, and have fewer dreams.

In addition, fewer girls have to be called twice in the morning and in general feel more peppy and less grouchy and are less foggy mentally n the morning.

Prof. Laird attributes this to the theory that members of the feminine | sex are neither as active physically or mentally as men.

"Only four hours may be sufficient to recuperate physically," he maintains, "but mentally we need eight

A presentable appearance and the ability to participate in intelligent conassets that an applicant for a teaching position can have, Dr. C. Edward Jones, superintendent of the Albany, N. Y., school system, told the members of Kappa Phi Kappa, national honorary educational fraternity.

Exchanges

Seniors Partial to Phi Beta Kappa Key The results of a Senior Questionshow the attitude of the part of the C., compulsory courses, etc.

The results of the question, "Which extra-curricular activity holds your ligious, 6; publications, 4; literary sobating, 1; fraternity (social), 1; radio, 1, and rifle team, 1.

The next question has to do with consider Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron to Phi Beta Kappa, 18 gave first place to Omicron Delta Kappa, and 3 considered the Varsity "D" most valuable.

Feature

Every year since 1917, the presentation of the Seniorpolitan Opera Company has climaxed the spring musical festivities of Atlanta and vicinity. The way through college and still get as cent costumes, and modishly and aryear the Metropolitan has abandoned its usual Atlanta season, and the We wonder if the Metropolitan humbof a company which it feared would soon outshine it. Be it as it may, opera goers will don their gorgeous raiment exclusively for the Seniorpolitan Opera Company's performance on May 2.

The class of 1917 instituted the custom of the presentation of an original comic opera by the senior class on the night following the May Day presentation. The cause for the establishment of this custom, which has become traditional, was the eternal need deal to the meaning of the talks. of the Seniors for money to defray their expenses. The first Senior Opera ducted in the usual way with student was "Madame Buttermilk." Since then leaders and speakers. On April 19, When asked what the disadvantages many melodramatic, blood-curdling Virginia Gray talked on the revelaof working while in college were most operas have been given, much to the delight of the audiences, who have reserved their "boxes" long ahead of stars. Are we messengers of God performances. In 1918 and 1919, "The Frying Dutchman" and "Car lowing years "Cavalier of the Rusty now until the close of school. Can" and "Sampson and the Liar" were presented. In 1920, the Seniors presented an amusing take off entitled 'William Fell," while the class of 1921 rivaled their performance with "Lucia the Lawn Mower." "Dora's Good Enough" followed the next year.

> quite as clever and fascinating as the earlier ones. The Senior classes of '25 and '26 presented respectively 'Tan Trousers" and "Rend A Letter. 'Polly's Archie," "Laugh, Ricana," and "Ah Heed Her" were the offerings of the following years. Last year the comic opera was "Ill Flows the Gore," and this year the Seniorpolitan Opera Co. will present 'O-Hello."

The college community awaits with eager anticipation the presentation of the Seniorpolitan Opera Co. on May 2. Having been deprived of the usual season of grand opera, we shall thrill more than ever to the exquisite quality of the leads, the unequaled harmony of the choruses, and the superb drama of this comic opera, "O-Hello." hail to May 2 and "O-Hello"!

To the question, "For which one would titled, "Not in the Catalogue." you work the hardest if starting over?" 42 named Phi Beta Kappa, 13 named Omicron Delta Kappa, and 7 '22 and May Queen of that year, has named Varsity "D." While the results been made staff correspondent and of this may be rather surprising, still feature writer for the United States they show that Phi Beta Kappa is Press on the Paris staff. recognized as the supreme achievement of four years of study. Also as noted in the second question, if the four position as Assistant Dean of Women years could be begun again, college at the University of Southern Cali-(Continued on page 4)

Y. W. News

Blue Ridge

Between June 6 and 15 the annual Y. W. C. A. conference for the South will be held at Blue Ridge. This conperformances have rivalled those of ference is not only for those who are the Metropolitan Opera Co. in beauti- on Y. W. Cabinets or who are especially interested in Y. W. work, but for anyone who would care to attend. tistically gowned audiences. But this Various discussion groups are conducted which would be helpful to anyone.

Blue Ridge is situated in the mountains of North Carolina near Asheville; the surrounding country is beautiful. The conference grounds themselves are only a few miles from ly retired from this vicinity in favor Black Mountain. Every afternoon is free, and there is plenty of time for various sports and interesting trips.

The actual expenses for the eight days are thirty-three dollars and sixty-five cents. Round trip tickets from any point to Black Mountain are a one way fare plus one dollar.

For the past two Sundays Y. W. vespers have been held outdoors in the quadrangle behind Main. The services have been unusually effective, and the outdoor setting has lent a great

The vesper services have been contion of God through nature, and on April 26, Maude Armstrong talked on ing it from others?

The Y. W. Sunday night services will probably be held outdoors from

The new Y. W. Cabinet has begun work for the coming year. Margaret Bell has taken charge of the finance committee. All the Y. W. collectors are at work, asking people to pay up on their Y. W. pledges; it is hoped that The more recent operas have been all the money will soon be turned in.

Alumnae News

Miss Almon, a former teacher at Agnes Scott, will be a visitor in the Alumnae House for a few weeks.

Among the visitors for May Day and Senior Opera from Birmingham, Ala., will be: Mary Ray Dobyns, '28; Mary Nelson Logan, '29; Martha Riley Selman, '29; Helen Ridley, '29, and others. They will bring seven of the local high school girls.

The Columbus Alumnae Club joined with other alumnae clubs of that city and entertained the Junior and Senior girls of Columbus High School. Dorothy Hutton, '29, was present as our representative. Louise Baker, '30, and Ruth Bradford, '30, gave a skit en-

Mary Lamar Knight, president of Elizabeth Flinn, '30, has accepted a fornia.

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities.

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

Particular to the test of the or what-have-you,

repeated sighs of relief and settling down for a much needed rest until and Senior Opera Saturday! Whoop, anybody can. can't wait! However, it is not a little disheartening to hear that Miss Haynes and Ruth Green listened for a they believed was Senior Opera pracdisconcerting realization that they'd been reveling in the mellow warble of a rooster! And speaking of warbling, we seem to be about to annex a fine ing from the musical selections handed out by the high school hopefuls the other night at dinner. So we're the problems. And the thing of it isyou know, I'd half suspected it all along. It was hardly a surprise.

By the way, you can just bet those sophomores were surprised the other night after their safe and sane, if sissy raid, to find Peggy White with a front tooth missing! It was quite upsetting, until Peggy explained that she'd taken it out for safe-keeping! I've been scared to look at her ever since, for fear she'll appear minus a leg or arm or come apart before my very eyes. It's the same way when

> Visit THE EMBLEM SHOP, INC. College and School Jewels Metropolitan Bldg. 81 Forsyth St.

Dear old pal of my educational days, Jule Bethea just will go out with that wrestling champion. I'm always un-What with most of those term certain as to whether she'll be all papers off, we're all heaving huge and there next time I see her. You never can tell about these wrestlers. Howexams come loping along. Think of it! ever, Jule is a swell match for him; Time is certainly flying! May Day that gal can take care of herself if lately around this place, all on account This was the last debate before the goodly space the other night to what of Tabby. It seems that being the seventh daughter of a seventh daugh- Sydney, April 28. The subject for detise only to come to the sudden and ter, or something equally impressive, bate was, Resolved: That legal censhe can tell your fortune even better sorship should be abolished. The afthan "your weight-your fortune: 1c." men she's predicting would make a by Katharine Woltz and Andrewena selection of songsters next year, judg- Betty Wales book seem lifeless. Just Robinson. for the joy of the thing, you ought to go and consult her about your life one they care for! That's funny; do you'll believe her! Why she can tell you everything from what kind of tobacco He smokes to which side he parts his hair on!

> And of course, this won't be complete without the latest bulletin on Dr. Davidson. My dear, do you know that he confided to Page the other day that he's planning to grow a beard to mar his too-handsome visage so that the girls won't be so nuts over him! That leaves me speechless!

> > Your own.

Aggie.

Fatal Interview Edna St. Vincent Millay

Margaret Waite Book Shop 119-123 Peachtree Arcade

8444444444444444

Muench and Elsner

Expert Watch, Clock and Jewelry Repairing Diamonds—Watches—Sterling Silver 63 Peachtree Street, N. E. Atlanta, Ga.

For Sports Cotton Mesh Suits

Two-piece washable suits in pastel shades—Just the thing for tennis, golf and spectator sports wear.

Downstairs Store

J. P. Allen & Co.

Clubs

Florida Club

The Florida Club had a social meeting Friday night at 10 o'clock in Rebekah Scott. The hostesses were: Mary Elliot, Ruth Hall, J. P. Reed, Lovelyn Wilson and Sara Mae Love.

Pen and Brush Club

The Pen and Brush Club met in the club room Thursday night, April 23. The following people were elected officers for next year:

President—Julia Blundell. Vice President-Louise Wesley. Secretary-Audrey Rainey. Treasurer-Douschka Sweets.

The Art Department has acquired many excellent prints; the club voted to have an exhibit in the near future.

Pi Alpha Phi

Pi Alpha Phi held a meeting Thurs-Such commotion as has been caused day evening, April 23, in the chapel. intercollegiate debate with Hampdenfirmative was upheld by Nell Brown The ocean voyages and dark young and Anne Hopkins, and the negative

Spanish Club

An interesting meeting of the Spanish classes was held in the Y. W. C. A. cabinet room, Wednesday afternoon, April 22. Mr. Castellavos, professor of Spanish at Georgia Military Academy, gave a graphic picture of the life and customs of Cuba, his na-

Mr. and Mrs. Castellavos were entertained afterwards at dinner in Rebekah Scott dining hall by the Span-

Agnesi Math Club

The Agnesi Math Club held its last meeting of the year Tuesday night, April 21, in the Physics lecture room. The following officers were elected for 1931-1932: President, Margaret Bell; vice-president, Polly Gordon; secretary and treasurer, Mary Louise Robinson.

****** THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON TEA—DINNER

11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M. Atlanta-651/2 Broad St., N. W. Macon-151 Cotton Ave.

THE SCHOOL OF NURSING OF DUKE UNIVERSITY

A three-year course leading to a Diploma Nursing and a five-year course leading to Diploma in Nursing and the Degree of chelor of Science.

The students are selected on the same basis other women students of the University. The educational facilities of Duke University.

The educational facilities of Duke University re open to qualified Students. For Bulletin and information address:

THE DEAN THE SCHOOL OF NURSING OF DUKE UNIVERSITY

Durham, North Carolina

EUROPE

SWITZERLAND-FRANCE-GERMANY BELGIUM-HUNGARY-AUSTRIA PORTUGAL-ITALY Sailing May 21, 1931, from New York Returning, July 28, 1931. $995.00 First Class Travel, Excellent Hotels Sixty-Eight Days Write for descriptive booklet No. 7

Hoxsey Travel Service 91 Forsyth Street, N. W. (Piedmont Hotel Bldg.) JAckson 0791 Atlanta, Ga.

"Oh where are you going my pretty

"I'm going in town to a dance," she

And how true that is of quite a lot of the pretty maids from dear old A. S. C. this week-end. We find them traipsing in to dozens of different kinds of dances, from tea to full-fledg-

And dances aren't the only things affording the Hottentots recreation. There are weddings and week-end trips and visitors, too, to give them their share of society. We never find the Scotters without something to do.

Nina Hammond attended a dance at the Candler Hotel Saturday night.

Clara Knox Nunnally attended Sara Meador's wedding Saturday night.

Alma Frazer Howerton spent the week-end with her cousin, Mrs. Otey, on Cherokee Road.

Nina Hammond had dinner in Griffin Thursday night.

Mary Ella Bedinger's aunt, Mrs. Geston Garner, spent the week-end with her.

Among those attending the co-op dance at Georgia Tech were: Lovelyn Wilson, Caroline Waterman, Upshaw Jones, Johnny Mae York, Mary Miller, Peggy Link, Imogene Hudson, and Penelope Brown.

Natilu McKinney went to the Chi Psi house at Tech for dinner Sunday.

Hewey's

Buy Your

Toilet Articles—Sundries

Remedies-Stationery

Sodas, Sandwiches

PROMPT DELIVERY

Call us

Phone Dea. 0640-9110

Ruth Pringle attended the Chi Phi dinner-dance Saturday night.

Among those attending the Briarean Club dance were Jeanette Shaw, Julia Rowan, Shirley McPhaul, Johnny Mae York, Mary Miller, and Penelope

Martha Eliot spent the week-end at her home in Holly Springs.

Hazel Turner and Martha Jane Klutz went to the Phi Delta Theta dance Friday night.

Jane McLaughlin, Christian Henderson, Marion Lee, and Mary Felts attended a party at Dorothy Seay's Saturday night.

Jane McLaughlin's father spent Tuesday with her.

Claire Ivy and Peggy White attended a Tech dance at the Shrine Mosque Friday night.

Miss Alleah Almon, of Toronto,

Canada, a member of the French and German departments at the Agnes Scott Academy, will be a guest at the Alumnae House for the next week. It is interesting to know that she has lived abroad many years, especially in Germany and Mexico.

While here, Miss Almon will be the recipient of many social courtesies. On April 25, she was honored with a luncheon at the Alumnae House, given by Miss Lillian Smith.

Scotchman (struggling in the water): Help! Help!

Man on Shore: Shall I throw you a life preserver?

Scotchman: Hell, noo. Get a derrick. Ma rooboot nearly sank, and if you dinna hurry, I'll ha' to let goo o' the anchor.—College Humor.

OUR SLOGAN CLEAN SHOP MODERATE PRICES EXPERT OPINION STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOPPE 153 Sycamore St. Dearborn 2671

Keely's

Are pardonably proud that the FROCKS worn in the Agnes Scott May Day Festival Are Fashioned of materials secured from KEELY'S!

—The discrimination of Agnes Scott girls is a foregone conclusion—and their selection of KEELY'S fabrics is further proof that KEELY'S always leads.

Whitehall at Hunter Sts.

Atlanta, Ga.

Seniors Beat Juniors

Friday afternoon, playing before a large group of spectators, the Seniors championship of the year.

The Juniors, handicapped by the lack of one player, seemed unable, in the first two innings, to control their batting and to check the power of the Seniors. However, in the third of the coming seasons. inning the team rallied and put out the first three Senior batters in quick suc- is:

May Schlich and Kitty Purcie both did some very good catching, while Mildred McCalip displayed an excellent brand of pitching.

Line-up for the game were:

Senior. McCalip, p. Brown, p. Wright, c. Gray, c. Purdie, 1b. Schlich, 1b. McCauliffe, 2b. Dyer, 2b. Duncan, 3b. Herrin, 3b. Watson, ss. Kane, ss. Williamson, r. f. Daniel, r. f. Boswell, l. f. Bonham, l. f. Hudson, c. f.

Finally, we have a "Collegiate" wisecrack, and a truly delightful definition of college (page Fulton's "College Life" and "Challenging Essays.")

College (or even the Tech Factory System)—A "Strange Interlude" between blissful prep or high school life and work in the cold, cold world .-Technique.

************ LAWRENCE'S PHARMACY

A Real Drug Store and the

Nearest to Agnes Scott

Try our Toasted Sandwiches Phones Dearborn 0762-0763

309 East College Ave., Opposite Depot, Decatur, Ga.

**************

Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

\

122 Peachtree

> JOS. SIEGEL Dependable Jeweler DIAMONDS—WATCHES CLOCKS—JEWELRY Watch Repairing a Specialty

131 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga.

ૢ૾ઌ૾ઌ૽ઌ૽ઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌ ADAMSON & COSTER CO.

Cleaners and Dyers

Decatur Branch 104 S. Candler St. Phone De. 3087

20% Off Cash and Carry

Dennis Lindsey Printing Co.

(Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING and STATIONERY

Phone Dearborn 0976 421 Church St. DECATUR, GA.

Final Athletics

The Athletic Association is bringing to a close the year's activities with a defeated the Juniors by an overwhelm- round of athletic and social events. ing score of 12-2, to win the baseball | The season's sports, baseball, track, archery, riding, and tennis are ending with a series of tournaments and meets. The old Athletic Association Board is turning to the new board to carry on the work of this year and

The calendar for the closing events

April 30-Ten-mile hike.

May 1—May Day.

May 5-Archery Tournament.

May 6—Track meet.

May 9—Play Day.

May 11—Old board's entertainment of new board at camp.

May 12—Athletic banquet. Installation of new board. Awards.

The management of a local theater at Cornell permits the students to act "collegiate" during the second show Saturday evenings, but demands good behavior the rest of the week. It must be boring to have to act natural six days out of each week.

L. CHAJAGE

Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

******

Mother's Day

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

—for—
GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE
FLOWERS
De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg.

******************

Sophs Defeat Frosh

In the final baseball game of the year, the Freshmen lost to the Sophomores by a score of 6-2.

The game was one of the most interesting of the season, and both teams played good baseball. The outstanding feature of the game was a double play made by the Freshmen in the first inning. The Sophomores made five runs in the first inning; but after that the Freshmen tightened up on their game and held the Sophomores to one additional run. The Freshmen made both their runs in the first in-Line-ups for the game:

Sophomores. Freshmen. Happoldt, p. Russell, p. Belote, c. Tillotson, c. Armstrong, 1b. Claypool, 1b. Sweets, 2b. Boyd, 2b. Bell, 3b. Elliot, 3b. Woltz, ss. O'Brien, ss. Sturtevant, r. f. Kauffman, r. f. Heath, l. f. Austin, l. f. Hudmon, A., c. f. Kump, E., c. f. Substitutions: A. Hudmon, Cowles, Massie.

Bailey Bros. Shoe Shop 142 Sycamore Street

Special Attention to Ladies' DE. 0172 WE DELIVER

******************** Phone Hem. 5738

THE PRENCH PASTRY
SHOPPE

We specialize in Birthday and Wedding Cakes
Fine Pastries for all Occasions
Marcel Pahud, Proprietor
985 Peachtree St., N. E., Atlanta

R. H. Davis & Co.

199 Peachtree St., N. E. ATLANTA

New and Distinctive Wearing

Apparel at the Lowest Possible Prices

Rooms $15 to $22.50 Weekly

The Graduate in New York

THE PARKSIDE provides a residence where young men and women of refinement and good taste see about them

others of their own kind and only their own kind. Rooms have the inviting air of a charming guest suite in a private home. Excellent food. Pent House, reception rooms, and solarium for use of guests. A socially correct address. Opposite Gramercy Park. References required. Write for folder C.

The Parkside

Eighteen Gramercy Park

NEW YORK CITY

EXCHANGES

(Continued from page 2) could be started afresh, 42 would strive for Phi Beta Kappa in preference to the other activities.

In answer to a questionnaire on R O. T. C., 60 considered it an asset while give many of the freshmen and soph- law.-Cornell Daily Sun. omores a ray of hope since it shows the fact that almost the entire Senior class considered their two years as an asset.—The Davidsonian.

Stockholm, Sweden.—A new world language called "Anglic," based on modern English but in simplified spelling, has been launched by a Swedish professor.—The Florida Flambeau.

It costs the City of New York $930,-000 a day to operate its public school system, and the figure is expected to reach a million dollars daily in the near future.—The Florida Flambeau.

"Lie Detector"

going to be used to test a lie detect- ing the One and Only for all importing machine. The "lie detector" will ant occasions.

reveal cheating in examinations. Dr. J. A. Larson, research psychiatrist, announced recently that he would conduct experiments on students who cheated purposely. The purpose is to test the accuracy of the machine and 5 considered it a detriment. This may to demonstrate its value in a court of

> Sayings of the Great Jonah-You can't keep a good man

Cleopatra-You are an easy Mark, Antony.

David—The bigger they are the harder they fall.

Helen of Troy-So this is Paris. Columbus-I don't know where I'm going, but I'm on my way.

Queen Elizabeth—Keep your shirt on, Raleigh.—Ex.

The latest thing, though, at least while you're in college, is an engagement that lets you have dates with University of Chicago students are other people and still be sure of hav-

STARNES

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER "BIG DEC"

You'll Will Find the Sweetest

May Day and Graduation Frocks

in all Atlanta

At Regensteins!

$16.75

Dainty Ruffled Point d'Esprits . . . Crisp, Organdies . . . Eyelet Embroidered Batistes . . . and Breathlessly Lovely Chiffons! Girdled High with Ribands . . . Covering the Shoulders . . . Reaching to the Ankles!

Apparel Shops, Second Floor

REGENSTEIN'S PEACHTREE

MUSE'S Ladies Shop

—in the—

Henry Grady Hotel

LOVELY DRESSES for

Commencement Activities

—Chiffons

-Net

-Point de'Sprit

-Mouselaine de Soie

$16.75 to $29.50

MUSE'S LADIES SHOP in the HENRY GRADY

Old English May Day Meets With Unusual Success

May Court One of the Most Attractive in the History of the College.

In a mood as gay as the friars and frankeleyns of old England, students and many visitors gathered on the Agnes Scott campus Saturday, May 2, to witness the presentation of "Auburn Dell," a pageant which celebrated the annual May Day. With the entrance of the peasants the May Day dell seemed transformed into a festive

The first episode, "The May Morning," opened with the approach of a group of peasants, who, singing and Sake." The questionnaire follows: laughing to express their joy in living, strolled onto the scene and joined in a typical country dance. Among their number were: young girls who gathered green boughs and spring flowers and decorated the throne, which stood why not? ready for the reception of the May Queen; chimney sweeps with faces blackened and sooty from their dirty winter tasks, who entered into the gaiety, realizing that May Day has brought an end to their work of putting out fires; milk-maids whose Polo? Basebell? Volley Ball? Tennis? empty pails revealed that they have Swimming? abandoned work to celebrate. At the approach of the woodsmen the entire company scattered to the woods in search of a tree to be used for the track?

The return of the villagers marked the beginning of the second episode, "The Contest on the Green." This time they brought not only the decorated May Pole, but escorted their fun? beautiful queen, robed in shimmering white, who, accompanied by ten lovely maids, regally took her place on the throne to rule the festivities. While three jesters and the hobby horse were entertaining with ridiculous antics, the merrie men, headed by the gallant Robin Hood and fair Maid Marian, appeared. At a signal from the queen the archery tournament began, each effort being received with loud applause by the enthusiastic yeomen. At its conclusion, Will Scarlet, accompanied by the Merrie Men, sang a lusty old English ballad—"A Somersetshire Hunting Song." In rapid succession came the performance of the Morris dancers in their picturesque green meet this objective? suits and waving white handkerchiefs, the effective rounds of the village member of the Athletic Association? maidens dressed in billowing skirts of blue and pink, and the execution of the Flamborough Sword Dance, which included unique tricks with the swords. At this point, from the hands of the queen herself, Robin Hood received the trophy of the first prize in the archery contest, a red feather, which he presented to Maid Marian who joined him in a gavotte. The day maidens around it.

The recessional began, the queen and her court leading the procession and the others falling in behind until all passed from view among the green foliage of the woods.

PROMINENT GUESTS HERE

Agnes Scott had several distinguished visitors last week. Among them were Mrs. Harbison, Dr. Lingle, Dr. Anderson, Dr. Sweets, Dr. McCallie, and Mr. Alfred Mason. They attended the conference of the Southern Presbyterians which was held in Atlanta, April 28-30, and most of them were present at dinner out here Wedmunity; most of them are relatives of some of our students. Dr. Anderson

A. A. Gives Out Questionnaire

Ass'n Wants Student Reaction to Phases of Work.

Bringing to a close its program of A. P. D. C .- Alive, Pogressive, Democratic, and Cooperative-the Athletic Association distributed a questionnaire among the students to estimate the results of the work of the Association for the year and to get the reaction of the students to different phases of the Association. It is the aim of the Athletic Association to have each Hottentot an active and interested member and to maintain a social and athletic life on the campus in following its motto, "Play for Play's

Do you know there is a lost and found department on the campus?

Do you know its hours?

Do you ever go to camp? If not,

Do you like to play hockey? Basketball? Water polo? Baseball? Volley ball? Tennis? Swim?

What do you like to play best? Watch Hockey? Basketball? Water

What do you like to watch best? Do you think it worth while to have if it would.

Would you like to try?

Do you know when to go out? Do you hike? Why? Points? or

Have you any objection to any sport now sponsored?

Have you any suggestions as to different arrangement of seasons? Do you think too many sports are

Are there any sports not sponsored that you would like to see tried?

Do you dance from 7 to 7:30 on Wednesday night? If not, why not?

Do you think the Athletic Associathe campus?

Blackfriar Spring Tryouts Are Held

Ten Girls Elected for Membership in Dramatic Club.

At the spring tryouts for Blackreached its climax in the raising of friars, held last Monday night, April the May Pole and the dance of the 27, the following girls were elected to membership in the club:

Amelia O'Neal Jo Clark Martha Skeen Louise Scheussler Eve Hill Juliette Kaufman Marjorie Beilfuss Lois Sachs Elaine Heckle Sarah Hollis

day night two plays were presented made brief talks on different phases of hour. under the direction of members of the Blue Ridge, explaining its purpose and nesday evening. All of these visitors play production class. The first was advantages. are well-known to the college com- "Grandma Pulls the String," directed Chandler.

Hampden-Sydney Wins Over A. S. In Final Debate

Virginia College Upholds Negative of Censorship Abolishment Question.

The second intercollegiate debate of the year was held Tuesday night, April 28, at 8:30 in the chapel. The Agnes Scott debaters, Nelle Brown and Anne Hopkins, upheld the affirmative side of the question, Resolved: "That legal censorship should be abolished." The Hampden-Sydney team, composed of Plummer Jones and Macon Reid, supported the negative. Mr. Charles D. McKinney, of Decatur, Hampden-Sydney alumnus, presided.

The affirmative argument was developed around two points: legal censorship is a hindrance to creative art; legal censorship is a bar to political progress. On the other hand, the Sara Bowman negative contended that censorship is sound in principle, a sound method of Susan Glenn social control, useful, and logical. Censorship, it was argued, protected the development of immature minds; it has proved useful in times of war; and the government must assume responsibility as no one else can, and if any other agency could, it is doubted Dorothy Kethley

The main speeches were followed by four rebuttals, all of which showed Ruth McAuliffe Have you ever done any archery? skill in refutation. After the refutation the judges rendered a two-to-one decision in favor of the negative.

The debate was followed by a reception for the visiting debaters, given Laura Spivey by the members of Pi Alpha Phi.

Y. W. Blue Ridge Program In Chapel

Announcement is in Form of a Very Entertaining Skit.

The annual Y. W. C. A. Blue Ridge program was presented in chapel on Tuesday, April 28, at which time a skit tion has a definite social objective on written by a Brenau girl and depicting the benefits of Blue Ridge was en-How do you think it does or does not acted by members of the Freshman Class. The skit revealed a bride and Do you feel that you are a real groom-to-be impatiently waiting for a Blanche Lindsey train which would carry them far from the eyes of hard-hearted parents. However, while the young couple were discussing their course of action, a group of the bride-to-be's friends appeared on the scene en route for Blue Ridge. That changed matters, for the young lady insisted on accompanying them—to the great chagrin of her fiance, who finally recovered at the arrival of some of his chums also en route for Blue Ridge. He joined their party, and everything ended quite as it should. The role of Bobbie, the hero, was taken by Martha Skeen; that of Dot, the heroine, by Dorothy Cassel. The rest of the cast included Betty Harbison, Marty Friend, Flor- Miss Christie, associate member, ence Mangis, and Chub Hickson, girls; with others of the faculty were Virginia Tillitson, Margaret Massie, in the receiving line. Tea was Flora Young, and Betty Kump, boys. served at attractively decorated tables

Following the skit, Chopin Hudson, by members of Hoasc. A large num-At the meeting of the club on Tues- Margaret Bell, and Weesa Chandler ber of Freshmen called during the by Mary Esther Wallace, and the sec- Blue Ridge this summer may secure successful in making for a better unmade a series of interesting talks this ond was "Letters," directed by Weesa further information from Chopin Hudderstanding between faculty members knew "he was worth more than that—

Athletic Board Is Announced

Competent Members Elected for Work of Coming Year.

The Athletic Association Board for the coming year has been selected. The old board is turning over its work to a new and competent group with the assurance that the ideals it has strived to attain and the program it has tried to carry out may be realized in the coming year as successfully as they have been during the year now drawing to a close. The members of the old board, their positions, and the members of the new board are as

Old Board Position New Board Mildred McCalip Sara Bowman

President

Susan Glenn Dorothy Kethley

Vice President

Laura Spivey Secretary

Lucile Heath

Treasurer Penelope Brown Katharine Woltz

Social Chairman

Margaret Ellis Frances O'Brien

Hockey Manager

Swimming and Water Polo Mgr. Virginia Tillotson

Tennis Manager

Hiking Manager

Susan Glenn

Basketball Manager

Kitty Purdie Ruth Green Volley Ball Manager

Katharine Woltz Margaret Belote

Baseball Manager

Bessie Meade Friend Margaret Massie Archery Manager

Sara Hill

Track Manager

Kitty Purdie Ruth Green

Camp Manager Ruth Green

Mary Boyd Publicity Chairman

Lucile Heath

Lost and Found Manager

Plant Ellis

Cheer Leaders

Freshman Class Is Entertained At Tea

Faculty Advisers Are Hostesses to Advisees.

The Freshman class was delightfully entertained by the faculty at tea, Tuesday, May 5, at 5 o'clock. This last meeting of Freshmen and advisits was in Day Student Room, which provided a beautiful setting for afternoon tea. Miss Alexander, chairman of the Committee on Admissions, and

The present plan of Freshman faculty advisers has been in use only a a very amusing but impressive story Any who are interested in going to year. It is felt that it has been most about his college days, when his room-

Opera "O-Hello" A Spectacular Presentation

Boxes Filled With Numerous Distinguished and Stylishly Dressed Visitors.

For another year the historic night of May Day has been crowned with a highly amusing Senior Opera. May 2, 1931, the class of '31 presented with marked success their original and remarkable "O-Hello." After the house was packed, the box holders arrived. Old and young, large and small occupied front seats. They wore everything from gay ninety models to frying pans. Need we mention the amusement they afforded the others or the commotion caused by the appearance of the Misses Haynes and Sinclair? Adding to the din of the general hubbub, was the swarthy skinned, sheetshrouded Arab orchestra. What excitement they caused! And could they play-and sing? One could even recognize the "Soldiers Chorus," to say nothing of "Smile, darn you, smile."

As for the opera itself. Well nothing short of seeing the performance itself can do it justice. Oh, how O-Hello could sing! And when he warbled Grace Fincher with Des a Mourner, well, it was just too wonderful. The mermaid chorus was the sensation of the year. Flap my fins! It was good. The under-Lucile Heath Catherine Happoldt takers' chorus at the end was another good one.

The cast was as follows:

O-Hello, Moorish General-Shirley Andrew Eggsneak, his valet—Clara

Knox Nunnally. I'm Illier, first lady-in-waiting to Des' a Mourner-Laura Brown. Des' a Mourner, daughter to Bananio

-Jeanette Shaw. Chicago, villainous soldier-Mildred

Porto Rico, rejected suitor of Des'

a Mourner—Alma Fraser Howerton.

A Wench-Eunice Lawrence. Bananio, a Venetian Senator-Mary Catherine Williamson.

Cap-'n'-Gown, Duke of Venice-Marguerite Gerard. Cash I Owe, a lovely boy-Jean

Polly, a bar maid—Julia Thompson.

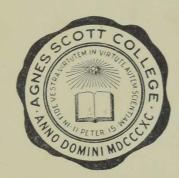

Molly, ditto-Elise Jones.

Spanka, just a girl that men forget-Myra Jervey.

Chopin Hudson was the director of the company, while her co-workers were: Elmore Bellingrath and Elise Jones, directors of ballet; Johnnie Turner, pianist, and Kitty Purdie, orchestra conductor. The writing committee was: Ellene Winn, chairman; Chopin Hudson, Myra Jervey, and Shirley McPhaul. The costume committee was: Elizabeth Woolfolk, Myra Jervey, and Helen Duke. Gertrude Willoughby was the stage manager, Helen Friedman, scenery manager, and Carolyn Heyman, publicity manager; Julia Thompson had charge of

MR. NEWTON Y. W. SPEAKER

The vesper speaker for last Sunday night was Mr. Newton from Druid Hills Baptist Church. His subject was "The Challenge of Christ to the Youth of Today," which he developed in a very interesting manner. The only way for us to be happy, he said, is to deny ourselves daily for Christ. He illustrated his point with mate gave up a lucrative position which was offered him because he to Christ."

Subscription Price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single Copies, 5 cents.

Published weekly. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF

| Editor           | Betty Bonham        |
|------------------|---------------------|
| Assistant Editor | Elizabeth Lightcap  |
| Feature Editor   | Gail Nelson         |
| Society Editor   | Mary Hamilton       |
| Exchange Editor  | Elinor Hamilton     |
| Athletic Editor  | Katharine Woltz     |
| Alumnae Editor   | Letitia Rockmore    |
| Club Editor      | Bessie Meade Friend |
| Joke Editor      | Johnnie Mae York    |
| Giddy Gossip     | Caroline Lingle     |
|                  |                     |

MANAGEMENT

| Advertising Manager           | Clyde Lovejoy      |
|-------------------------------|--------------------|
| Business Manager              | Grace Fincher      |
| Circulation Manager           | Lila Ross Norfleet |
| Assistant Circulation Manager | Imogene Hudson     |

CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

| Betty Bolton    | Eleanor Holferty |
|-----------------|------------------|
| Mary Sturtevant | Nelle Chamlee    |
| Marjorie Daniel | Margaret Belote  |
| Rosemary May    | Gilchrist Powell |
| Willa Upchurch  | Polly Gordon     |
| Margaret Tel    | ford             |

FOR SENIORS

In less than four weeks, you, the class of 1931, will have ed so there would be no question about filed up onto the gymnasium stage, received your diplomas, been my not being there on the dot. The hooded and filed out—to conquer the world, so to speak. There is little need in our telling you what has been told so often,—that Chevalier." My ire rose. Coupled disappointments and hardships of various kinds lie before you. Life won't be conquered or even approached without a struggle on my feet. It was not quite nine and you may come to the place some day when you will cry out,

> "I cannot find my way: there is no star In all the shrouded heavens anywhere."

This, however, will pass and if you "follow the light no matter purse for an extra franc or two. He where it may lead you; follow it in spite of the fact that the wisdom of material experience may believe you a fool," you will down a peculiar alley savoring of garfind that, "in so doing lies the way of wisdom and the way of lic, onions and sour ale. He pushed virtue; develop your own potentialities to the fullest, no matter open a greasy door almost in the face what they may be, for in so doing you are fulfilling your destiny." And then there will come a time when you will be able to sincerely say with old Frosted Moses, "'Tisn't life that matters but the any minute. Five francs worked again Courage yer bring to it."

APPRECIATION

When the Athletic Association made the plans for their work that would belie inner unrest. One or for the year 1930-31, one of the phases of their activity which they determined to emphasize was the social. Out of this determination grew what we know now as the A. P. D. C. Orchestra! Fostered couldn't understand what they said and sponsored by the Athletic Association, composed of the best anyway, and searched avidly for a musicians in the college and directed by the very best talent, it has staircase leading upwards out of the achieved a notable success.

The orchestra has co-operated in a splendid way with the at the moment the center of. Eureka! other organizations on the campus as well as in their own especial | There it was, bless its heart, way over field of Wednesday night dances. The members have given untir- in a corner across the room. Another ing service on all occasions at which their assistance has been rethat barred my flight, and I kept quested. The music has not been makeshift. It has been unusual- going until I heard noises that soundly good for an amateur orchestra and they have spent much time ed like voices and judged that I had learning new numbers for special occasions and increasing their reached the dressing room floor. At general repertoire. We feel the keenest sort of appreciation for the next landing I met a door that the service of this group of girls, who have filled so effectively a was marked, Etolie, and below, fense d'entrer." Which means, "Star," denite need in our campus life and carried out their motto so and "Keep Out-This Means You," all splendidly: Alive, Progressive, Democratic, and Cooperative!

French Movie Star

Agnes Scott is always interested in the achievements of its alumnae, and be excused, but you certainly ought the Agonistic becomes particularly in- not to be a student at Agnes Scott terested when the alumna in question and not be familiar with the following excels in the field of journalism. So set of rules. For these rules are most it is that the Agonistic and Agnes assuredly not ancient history. They Scott in general takes pardonable were passed by the students of aforepride in the journalistic achievements of Mary Knight, '22, who has become | March nineteen hundred thirty! staff correspondent and fashion feature writer for the United Press in for library rules. Ignorance is no ex-Paris. Mary was very prominent cuse. while here on the campus, having been president of her class, president of Blackfriars, and May Queen her Senior year. Her newspaper career has been short, but brilliant. She has interviewed some of the most famous people in Europe, and now has graciously consented to be interviewed herself. Upon the request of a member of the Agonistic staff she has written the following very clever account of one of her famous interviews:

Whatever I can do for you and The Agonistic in the way of an interview will be a pleasure, but—what to say is the item of importance. Let me see. I believe I'll write down a few names at random from my interview book and wager a small bet with myself as to which one would poll the highest vote in a popularity contest with Agonistic readers. Here they are:

The Princess Aspasia of Greece, whose husband, the late King Alexander, was killed by poison from a monkey bite.

The Countess de Chambrun, who is Clara Longworth, sister of the late Nicholas Longworth.

Feodore Chaliapine, Russian basso. Maurice Chevalier.

Foujita, the Japanese artist.

Mary Garden, grand opera prima

How good is my guess that the Frenchman wins? Because I have been asked several times already HOW I got to see him, and what he is like close up, I'll choose him anyway for

By telephone from my office I had been granted an interview about ten o'clock before he went on the stage at the Theatre Chatelet of a certain Saturday evening during Chevalier week in Paris. Upon arriving I sent my card back stage requesting that the exact time of my interview be indicatanswer that came back was, "It will be impossible for you to see Monsieur with righteous indignation, it pushed me right out of my seat and stood me thirty and the show had been going on about an hour. I tipped an attendant five francs, 20 cents, to show me the way to the stage door. He finally did seeing that I didn't fumble in my conducted me personally outside the theatre, around a dark corner and of the custodian of the gate just inside, whose countenance was thunderous enough to bring on a hailstorm and he stood aside to let me pass. The door slammed shut behind me and, unaccustomed as I am to stage doors, I tried to preserve an outward calm two queer looking people lolling around leered at me and made mumbled remarks. I paid no attention and clutter of scenery and artificial pots and boxes of artificial flowers I was tip removed the huge human obstacle was marked, "Etoile," and below, "De-

Alumna Interviews | Do You Know These?

When did Caesar enter Gaul? You may be a major in history and not daughter, Nancy June. know the answer to that question, and mentioned college on the fifth day of

(1) All students shall be responsible

(2) Breaking of library rules shall incur a penalty of exclusion from the library, the length of time to be determined by the librarian. A list of those excluded shall be posted.

(3) Books shall not be taken from the library by day students for overnight before 5 o'clock.

(4) When there are only a few copies of reserve books to be used by a large class, day students shall not take the books out for overnight before 9 o'clock.

(5) The green cards of books on reserve in special rooms shall be left at the main desk when taken out overnight or over the week-end.

(6) Books taken out of their regular places must be returned and not left on the tables.

(7) Reserve books must be used in the library except overnight and week-ends.

And remember—the green cards were orginally intended for the use of the librarian in keeping records of Antonio Bustament, Cuban Judge at library books and not for schoolgirls Geneva and The Hague World Courts. to put away "among their souvenirs"!

> just wide enough for about 125 pounds of humanity, if not too rounded, to scrape through without pushing it open further and causing a possible, and highly probable creaking of the hinges.

I took a chance and slid my 115 through the crack, drew a good breath, and waited. There was no one in sight. I was in a pretty little square room with a few pieces of chintz covered furniture. It opened onto another room with French doors behind cago. which I hoped Brother Chevalier was grooming his stage feathers for his act. I drew nigh, and knocked with a tremulous knuckle. ("Steady now Don't jumble your words. Say what you have to say and then get out of the way," said a still, small voice I recognized as mine from inner circles.) A man came forward—but he was not THE man, and I expected to be thrown out for being in a gentleman's dressing room uninvited, and to be thrown out without ceremony which made me the Alumnae Association is sponsorall the more determined to stay. Then ing. the atmosphere got kind of slate colored and I heard a girl's voice saying a number of things about why she was there and why she was going to stay this past winter. there until a certain actor with whom she had already had an interview arrived, and then the conversation went on in a man's voice explaining that it really wouldn't do any good to wait because it was so late and almost time for the performance and he would have to dress hurriedly for his act. Then consciousness returned and something in last week's issue. Elizabeth Flinn, drew my attention toward the door '30, is going to the University of Calibehind me. It might have been a foot- fornia in Los Angeles to do Y. W in two words. It was open, however, in two words. It was open, however, in two words.

(Continued on page 4)

Alumnae News

Hazel (Brown) Ricks, '29, has a

Betty (Fuller) Veltre, '28, has a son, Frank E. Veltre, III.

Hazel Hood, '29, Edith McGranahan, 29; Sara Townsend, '30; Caroline Mc-Call, '27; Leonora Briggs, '29; Eleanor Lee Norris, '29; Julia Pope, '25; were at the Alumnae House the week-end of May Day and Senior Opera.

Hazel (Wolfle) Frakes, '29, has a daughter, Hazel Stansell Frakes.

Patricia Collins, '28, has been seected from the Senior Law class at Emory University to carry on some research work for the American Law Institute. She is the only girl graduate in this year's class and stands among the first three honor pupils.

Mildred Phippen, '28, recently married Arthur Chandler Dickey, Jr., of Tifton, Georgia.

Mary Lou Thames, '30, has been visiting Leone Bowers Hamilton, '26, in Decatur. Mary Lou was in Mildred Phippen's wedding.

Mary Riviere, '28, now is at 701 Michigan, Chicago, Ill.

Bet Cole, '28, recently visited Josephine Houston, '28, of Charlotte, N. C.

Mildred Greenleaf, '30, spent a week-end in Savannah recently.

Virginia Sears, '30, has a position in the Mobile Library.

Martha Shanklin, '30, is coaching basketball at the Chilhouie (Va.) High School and also plays on an outside Janice Simpson, '30, is working on her M. A. at the University of Chi-Zou Woolford, '30, has been trans-ginia. It is the N. A. M. Hospital, Nassawadox, Va. Elaine Jacobsen, '29, has been doing substitute work at the Atlanta Y. W ferred to a hospital in Eastern Vir-

Violet Weeks, '29, is working on local prospects for the European tours

Josephine Wachtel, ex-'29, has been taking a business course in Savannah

Eliza (Ramey) Gatewood, '29, has a young daughter, Jane

Nan Lingle, '26, spent the past week-end on the campus.

We wish to correct a mistake made

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities.

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

Well, Giddy, May Day and Senior time two weeks from now, the worst we wouldn't raise a howl over the shortness of time. None of us is hankering to spend the rest of her days away from home. Oh, no, it really isn't so bad, especially when we have distinguished visitors, such as the Hampden-Sydney debating team, in our midst. Kitty Woltz certainly is no dub the dear boy hasn't er-a-hm—cover- and the Christian way to meet them. when the male of the species is con- ed himself with glory as regards chemcerned, i. e., inasmuch as, to-wit, she istry lately, and got stepped on by the had one of them-the cutest onetrotting around in her train the entire time; and everywhere that Kitty went -why, he even braved the terrors of Rebekah dining room Wednesday night! I'd call it love at first sight, even if you do insist that it's tuna

Giddy, it's a source of great alarm to me the way these clubs are getting so very hard-boiled around here. Where are the poets of next year? Dun't esk-there ain't none. Not a soul got into Poetry Club this timenot even a half-sole. Which all goes to prove how very prosaic the old

And another thing, I guess you'll admit that being mathematically minded has its rewards! Did you hear about

Fatal Interview

Edna St. Vincent Millay Margaret Waite Book Shop 119-123 Peachtree Arcade

Dr. Robinson's tea for his hopeless wenches? Now let me see: nine cakes, Opera are gathered unto their fathers plus four cups of tea, multiplied by (the rest of the old traditions), and cosine of twenty-three mints equals the we're heading for exams, tra-la! This average amount consumed by the tea guests. What price arithmetic. Maybe will have come. Why, it doesn't seem the Doctor was trying to atone for the a minute since Spring Holidays! But time he got so interested in the dog fight he forgot to umpire the baseball game.

> Shed a tear for poor Lucille Woodbury, her true love's Pa has forbidden him to have any more dates with her! Christianity has to offer to the rest of Ach! Ach! Don't get wrought upyou're being misled. It seems that paternal hoof. Still, I don't see her That, sez I, with a simper.

Guess I'll straggle along.

Devotedly,

Aggie.

Sniff! Dead: one Florida alligator, loved and cherished(??) by all who knew him. Peace to his bones. Funeral held last Thursday night. Mr. A. is survived by the Misses Hart and Rockmore, who were very attached to him. (Impossible). It is thought that his death came as an effect of a thoroughly chapped skin, received while taking a sunbath in an open window during the last cold snap.

OUR SLOGAN CLEAN SHOP MODERATE PRICES EXPERT OPINION STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOPPE 153 Sycamore St. Dearborn 2671

STARNES

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER

"BIG DEC"

When picking your Cottons for Summer---

Pick Cotton Mesh Frocks

$7.95

They're smart—ideal for all sports wear and they wash. Found in several different styles -some with collars and others withoutbutton trimmed styles and vest effects pastel colors and white.

Downstairs Store

J. P. Allen & Co.

Clubs

K. U. B. held a most important meeting Thursday afternoon, May 30, at 5 for the election of officers for the coming year. They are as follows:

President-Letitia Rockmore. Vice President-Porter Cowles.

Secretary and Treasurer—Elizabeth

Chairman of Social Page—Margaret

Wilfong. Chairman of Front Page—Jean

Chairman of Home Town Page-

Harriotte Brantly. It was decided to have a luncheon at the Tavern Saturday, May 5, and but really lots. The population of the

Thursday night, May 30, at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Sydenstricker spoke on "Sharing With Other Faiths," showing what Humanity. After the talk there was a discussion on present day problems Members of Poetry Club gave readings of their poetry before the memwasting away, what an elopement just bers of the Decatur Alumnae Club the other night-Oh, well, Love is Like which met at the Alumnae House Wednesday afternoon, April 29. Miss Laney began the poetry program by giving a brief history of the club and its accomplishments. Helen Friedman, Sara Wilson, Elizabeth Moore and Gilchrist Powell read several selections of original verse. Mrs. Leone Bowers Hamilton was hostess to the Alumnae Club upon this occasion.

"My girl is like a poem." "How's that?"

"Wait'll you meter."—Carolina Buc-

Where the Crowd Meets

122 Peachtree

^

ADAMSON & COSTER CO.

Cleaners and Dyers

Decatur Branch 104 S. Candler St. Phone De. 3087

20% Off Cash and Carry

Senior Opera and May Day! What And of course, it means just thousands | Friday night. of visitors-Oh, maybe not thousands, afterwards to go through the Journal college community certainly increased of April the twenty-fifth with Jo Clark greatly this past week-end. The old in Greenville, Ga. campus didn't look the same with so The Student Volunteer Group met many strange and new people on it. Agnes Scott was really and truly quite

> Then, too, there are the usual outside social activities to make life interesting for the "dizzy debs."

> Dot Wyatt and Mallie White spent Sunday in Atlanta.

Mary Rountree sang at the Decatur Woman's Club Saturday afternoon.

Last Thursday Martie and Bessie Meade Friend had lunch with their Atlanta with her aunt, Mrs. W. L. uncle from Virginia at the Piedmont Inglis. Hotel in Atlanta.

Susan Turner and Margaret Smith of Newnan, Ga., were the guests of Marguerite Manget for May Day.

Eleanor Williams spent the weekend in Atlanta.

Jessie Boten, who attends Florida State College for Women at Tallahassee, Fla., spent the week-end with Louise Taylor.

Stuart Weatherspoon, Bitsy Fulk Louise Taylor, and Peggy White attended a Delta Sigma Phi wiener roast Saturday night.

Clyde Lovejoy, Katherine Woltz, and Natilu McKinney attended the Phi Psi dance at the Tech Gym Friday

Mary Hiner spent the week-end with Mary Cresse in Atlanta.

> Bailey Bros. Shoe Shop

142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies'
Work
DE. 0172 WE DELIVER

The Graduate in New York

GHE PARKSIDE provides a residence where young men and women of refinement and good taste see about them

others of their own kind and only their own kind. Rooms have the inviting air of a charming guest suite in a private home. Excellent food. Pent House, reception rooms, and solarium for use of guests. A socially correct address. Opposite Gramercy Park. References required. Write for folder C.

Rooms $15 to $22.50 Weekly

The Parkside Eighteen Gramercy Park

> SOUTH Corner East 20th Street and Irving Place

NEW YORK CITY

Penelope Brown attended a dance a combination! What an attraction! at the University of Georgia in Athens Betty Thompson spent the week-end

> Peggy Link's mother spent the week-end with her.

> Catherine Cater of Macon, Ga., spent the week-end with Alice Bullard.

> Anita Boswell attended the Chi Psi Pi dance Thursday night at the Shrine

Ann Smith from Brenau spent the week-end with Garth Gray.

Sara May Love spent Sunday in

Mr. Robinson entertained his Math Hazel Turner spent the week-end in classes at a tea Wednesday afternoon, Alice Glenn of the class of '29 spent > the week-end with Martha Faust. Virginia Gray and Elizabeth Sutton > went to a reception given by the Junior class of Columbia Seminary Saturday.

Lovelyn Wilson went to the Pi Kappa Phi buffet supper at Emory Saturday.

Ruth Taylor's mother spent the week-end with her.

Hettie and Etta Mathis spent the week-end in Athens with their aunt.

Kay Morrow had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Whitner in Atlanta Sunday.

Carolyn Waterman attended the Zi

Psi Phi dance at Druid Hills Thursday night.

Betty Harbison's mother, who is attending the Committee on Assemblies' work in Atlanta, has been with her for the past few days.

Frances Arnold attended a dance at the University of Georgia Saturday

Lois Bonner of Rutledge visited Melba Hollis last week-end.

Louise Schuessler had as her visitor last week-end Helen Johnson of Co-

Eloise Polak of Atlanta visited Margaret Rogers last week-end.

Ruth Barnett had recently as her visitor Charlotte Alexander of At-week-end were Jane Zuber and Mildred Andrews.

Grace Fincher's visitors for the Sarah Doyle from G. S. C. W. visited Elizabeth Heath.

Thursday evening Betty Cates had dinner with Nancy Simpson a graduate of last year.

Eleanor Jones of College Park spent the week-end with Margaret Maness.

Mary Ella Bedinger had as her visitors last week-end Mr. and Mrs. Geston Garner and Mrs. Mamie Bedinger.

Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Duncan and Mr. C. K. Duncan, Jr., of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bellingrath of Montgomery, Ala., and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Nunnally of Monroe, Ga., attended May Day.

ALUMNA INTERVIEWS (Continued from page 4)

step I heard, or the thump that a heart makes in an ear when it is being swallowed. I turned and walked toward the opening through which I had slid a few moments before and just escaped colliding with Mr. Maurice Chevalier, in person. We exchanged the customary "Pardon" and then, quite as if I were performing for a Blackfriar tryout, I said my lines and waited. He smiled and patted me on the shoulder. He didn't seem hurried, knowing that he had been placed late on the bill to keep the audience through the rest of the show and that it would wait indefinitely. He answered my questions, partly in French and partly in English, shook hands three times and patted me on the shoulder again and said, "How in the Devil did you get here?"

"I don't know. I'm just here," I managed. "And now I'll be going. Thank you very much. Good bye. I'll be out front listening for 'Living in the Sunlight, Loving in the Moonlight, Having a Wonderful Time."

"You'll get it," he replied, as I was partway down the stairs, stumbling over my own feet. I might very easily have taken a short cut across the stage, footlights and all, and never have noticed, but I didn't, fortunately. I got out somehow and the beads of perspiration that dotted my fevered brow froze when I hit the icy black night. I found a telephone, conveyed

School of Nursing of Yale University

A Profession for the College Woman interested in the modern, scientific agencies of social service.

The twenty-eight months course, pro-viding an intensive and varied experi-ence through the case study method, leads to the degree of BACHELOR OF NURSING.

Present student body includes gradu-tes of leading colleges. Two or more ears of approved college work required or admission. A few scholarships avail-ble for students with advanced qualifications.

The educational facilities of Yale University are open to qualified students.

The Dean
The SCHOOL of NURSING of YALE UNIVERSITY
NEW HAVEN : CONNECTICUT

my information to the man on the FRENCH MOVIE STAR desk at the office, and returned to my three friends in the second balcony whose faces were three well defined question marks. I slid into my seat, a little weak and a great deal thankful that it was over. He sang my song, with five or six others that brought deafening applause. Then the show was over. People were buying records and sheet music, getting in taxies and trickling out of the old French theatre in all directions.

> Back stage, I knew the famous star was again a little greyish looking wtihout his make-up. His smile would not be so spontaneous. His shoulders would droop again, and "tired" was the word that would slip over him like a loose baggy coat as it had when I had seen him a few minutes before. It was great to be home, he had said. My France. My Paris. But he loved New York, and he wanted to get back again to the bright lights of Hollywood. . .

Very cordially, MARY KNIGHT

First: "Why don't chickens lay eggs at night?"

Second: "Because at night they are all roosters."

******* THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON TEA—DINNER 11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M.

Atlanta-651/2 Broad St., N. W. Macon-151 Cotton Ave.

Mother's Day WOMAN'S EXCHANGE —for— GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg.

****

. $44444444

L. CHAJAGE

Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

Exchanges

The Centipede

The centipede is not a myth-Lord love me-She's quite a bird to reckon with

And lives above me.

Each night at two, prepared to snooze But not before

She throws her hundred boots and shoes off Upon the floor.

Whereat to save her odd ten thousand toes

From cold and all

She puts on mules and does "mysterious mose"

All down the hall.

And when the centipede is set for bed, With kicks phenomenable,

She rids herself of mules. Above my head The din's abominable.

-Vassar Miscellany News.

Hewey's

Buy Your

Toilet Articles—Sundries Remedies-Stationery Sodas, Sandwiches

PROMPT DELIVERY Call us

Phone Dea. 0640-9110

1101/2 Forsyth, N. W. CALL ON US

Thurston

Hatcher

and the instructor averaged the two sets of grades to decide the monthly marks of his sheepish students. -

For

Portraits

Graduation

Swarthmore Phoenix.

Another classic student-prof tale has | Dr. G. W. McCastline, medical offigone down in history. This time it was cer of Coumbia university, states that acordingly. The instructor, amazed at the sudden high average of his class, student to reverse his replies. There me? were disastrous results. Eventually a mutual understanding was reacheda blind student and a biology in- the typical Columbia freshman does structor at Yale who furnished the of milk daily; regularly eats his spinnot smoke; drinks two or more glasses story. The student tapped off his yes- ach and lettuce, and prefers swimming no answers to weekly true-false tests as a sport. It is our belief that the on a portable typewriter, and the typical medical officer of Columbia other members of the class listened university is somewhat of a credulous for the clicks and marked their papers | soul.—The Mercer Cluster.

Chinese Patient (on telephone)listened too, and then told the blind Doctor, what time you fixee teeth fo'

Doc-Two-thirty-all right? Chinese-Yes, tooth hurty me all right, but wha' time you fixee?

JOS. SIEGEL

Dependable Jeweler DIAMONDS—WATCHES CLOCKS—JEWELRY Watch Repairing a Specialty 131 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga.

******** LAWRENCE'S PHARMACY

A Real Drug Store and the Nearest to Agnes Scott

Try our Toasted Sandwiches

Phones Dearborn 0762-0763

309 East College Ave., Opposite Depot, Decatur, Ga.

******

CLEARANCE SALE

BRAND NEW SPRING FROCKS At $7.95 and $12.85 Values to $18.00

In gay prints and pastel shades.

NEW TRIMS-NEW STYLES

Think of how many more frocks you can buy when you can get such FROCKS at these prices.

Dennis Lindsey Printing Co.

(Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING and STATIONERY

Phone Dearborn 0976 421 Church St. DECATUR, GA.

Catalina

are worthy of your "Big Moments" — and futhermore they make the coolest and cleverest little street sandals we've seen for years ...

Vivid shades of IMPORTED AWNING CLOTH OR WHITE IRISH LINEN We'll tint these free to match your frock

ORDER BY MAIL

From Hungary Come These Delectably Insouciant

Peasant Frocks

—One might well go into all sorts of Hungarian rhapsodies over this devastating frock with the naive, peasant air! There's a verve . . . a jeunesse . . . a simplicity about it which make it classically and recurrently smart! It's romantic, too . . . calling forth visions of golden Summer fields and fragrant gardens. A dress to wear to dinner these lengthening Spring evenings. . . . to al fresco teas all Summer! Of sheerest white chiffon-voile, hand-smocked and cross-stitched in green, blue, red. All sizes.

> THE DRESS SHOP -RICH'S THIRD FLOOR

RICH'S

No. 23

Vol. XVI

Student Treasurer Gives Final Report Of Year's Finances

Campus Organizations Which Receive Budget Money Publish Records.

The following is a report of the receipts and disbursements of the student treasurer and of the organizations which have received apportionments of the student budget:

The Student Budget

$4,089,15

Disbursements: (First semester) To Student Government____$ 663.10 To Pi Alpha Phi__ 246.30 To the Agonistic _____ 359.97 To the Aurora ---To the Silhouette _____ 1,364.09 To the Athletic Association__ To Hoasc To May Day To the International Rel. Club 37.89

37.89 To the Citizenship Club____ $3,789.15 (Second semester) To Student Government ___$ 255.39 To Pi Alpha Phi___ 233.50 To the Agonistic_____ To the Aurora To the Silhouette____ 525.26 To the Athletic Association. 113.15 To Hoase _____ 14.68 To May Day_ 36.56 To the Inter. Relations Club 14.68 To the Citizenship Club----

> $1,448.83 __$5,237.98

An account of the balance (collections after the second distribution) and disbursements after the second distribution will be posted on the bulletin board in Main not later than May 25th.

Total disbursements _

(Signed) Marjorie Daniel, Student Treasurer.

The Student Government Association

Balance brought forward___$ 545.36 (Continued on page 4)

A. P. D. C. Theme

Board Selected for 1931-32.

The annual Athletic Banquet was night, May 12.

At this banquet the new board was recognized by the old Athletic Board tion was suggested by Miss Hopkins, ceedingly enlightening and inform-"bored" with after dinner speeches of Main. recognition by simply turning over the management of their sports by ernment Executive Committee are as presenting the weapons of their activ- follows: President, Andrewena Robinity. Midred McCalip graciously wel- son; Vice-President, Marguerite Link; comed the new president, Sarah Bow- Secretary, Mary Sturtevant; and

The idea for the program was taken from the A. P. D. C. (Active Progressive, Democratic, Cooperative), motto theme has been carried out previously Wednesday afternoon. The hostesses Miss Louise Lewis, head of the Art this year in both Health Week and were Liza Tway, May Latimer, and Department, has received a scholar-Athletic Rally.

The decorations were made attractequipment.

were Miss Harris, of Memphis, Tenn.; 1931-32 will be as follows: Miss Blanche Miller, the Gym Department, and Dr. McCain.

Coffee was served after dinner in the Rebekah lobby.

Dr. Cunningham Is

Baccalaureate Sermon to Be Delivered by Dr. W. E. Hill

Plans for commencement 1931 have been completed. Two eminent ministers are to be featured on the program. Dr. W. E. Hill, father of Sarah Hill, and pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, of Richmond, Va., will preach the baccalaureate sermon. Dr. Balance brought forward____$ 446.33 Hill was formerly pastor of the West From student body (1st sem.) 3,642.82 End Presbyterian Church, Atlanta.

Dr. J. R. Cunningham, who is comthe Louisville Presbyterian Seminary, the stairs from the basement. From student body (2d sem.) 1,448.83 will make the graduation address. Dr. Cunningham is a brilliant and interesting speaker. Commencement plans are as follows:

> Alumnae Council to consider plans for the real meeting on May 30.

Friday, May 29, the annual meeting 322.08 of the Board of Trustees to decide keeper, the waiters, Mallie White, Auditorium for the benefit of the col-37.89 whether or not it will be possible to go ahead with the new building in the honor of the Seniors and Alumnae.

Sunday, May 31, the baccalaureate provided music for dancing. 94.91 sermon by Dr. Hill.

Class day exercises.

Tuesday, June 2, the graduation "The Youth Movement" Is exercises at 10 o'clock.

7.34 New Members of Exec Installed

Ellen Davis Thanks Students for Co-operation.

The installation service of the new of Student Government was held Tuesof office to the new president, Andrew-Andrewena on the history of Student system was first introduced in Wilheld in Rebekah dining hall, Tuesday liam and Mary College and that Thomas Jefferson fostered it at the who kept the audience from being and was begun in 1906 in room 13

The new officers of the Student Govman, who replied with a short speech. Treasurer, Maude Armstrong.

COTILLION CLUB OFFICERS

The semi-monthly Cotillion tea-Jane McMillan.

After the tea-dance, the last meetive by the use of trophies and sports ing of the year was held in the chapel Those entertained as honor guests for the coming year. The officers for of Architects, which has charge of > President-Lovelyn Wilson. Vice-President-Frances Duke.

Freshmen Entertain | Seniors Honorees Graduation Speaker Juniors At Unusual Party Given May 7

Gymnasium Decorated As Tough Bowery Speakeasy to Carry Out Atmosphere.

For an hour and a half Thursday afternoon, May 7, the Agnes Scott gym was a speakeasy. During this time the Freshman class entertained the Juniors there. The gym had all eon to be held Saturday, May 23, at The bar, from which drinks and hot- function of these sister classes. dogs were served, stood, surrounded Permanent reserve _____ 300.00 pleting his first years as president of by appropriate signs, at the head of Bowery characters added to the atmosphere. couple of drunks, made the speakeasy idea realistic as well as humorous. The employees: Dot Bradley, the bouncer, Margaret Malloy, the doorall fitted convincingly into the setting.

the entertainers. Claire Ivy and nucleus of the musical program. Saturday, May 30, the luncheon Natilu McKenney in their Apache given by the Board of Trustees in dance and Mary and Mildred Thompson singing "My Man" delighted the guests. The A. P. D. C. orchestra

Monday, June 1, final meeting of Dr. McCain Talks at Club Convention

Subject of His Address.

The Sunday Constitution carried the following article, which will be of interest to the college community:

"The Youth Movement" will be the subject discussed by Dr. J. R. McCain, distinguished president of Agnes Scott Stone Mountain Camp Is College in Decatur, at the opening session of the fourth biennial council, the 35th convention of Georgia Federermany, China, and Mrs. ena Robinson, Ellen turned the gavel Turkey, and will deal with it as ap- and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson. and pledge over to her, and in turn plied to those of college age in the Of A. A. Banquet and pledge over to her, and in turn plied to those of conege age in the the new president gave the pledge to United States. Dr. McCain believes the incoming committee. The installa- that as women are dominant in their Work Is Turned Over to the tion was concluded with a talk by influence over youth, it is appropriate for a convention to spend a few mo-Government. She stated that the ments in rapid survey of some modern tendencies on the part of young people. So understanding of, and sympathetic with, the youth of the land is University of Virginia. Our organiza- Dr. McCain, that his talk will be exative to delegates and visitors attend-

Miss Lewis Awarded An Art Scholarship gaieties came to an end by a ride back

Honor Given By American Institute of Architects.

Another member of the Agnes Scott for the orchestra. This same general dance was held in the club room on faculty has been signally honored. ship to the Harvard Fine Arts School for the summer term. The award was made on a consideration of drawings for the purpose of electing the officers submitted to the American Institute presenting a group of scholarships ley provided by the Carnegie Foundation.

This recognition of Miss Lewis' to the college.

Blackfriars and Glee Club to Present Performances.

A round of social activities have been planned for Commencement week as a joyful climax to the period of examinations.

The first momentous occasion of the series is the Sophomore-Senior lunchthe furnishings of a true "joint": half the Piedmont Hotel in Atlanta. Dates of it was partitioned by screens and have been made, surprises hinted, and placed around a space for dancing. this event worthy of being the last

On Friday, May 29, at 7 o'clock the class at a banquet at the Atlanta Washington Seminary. The partici-Women's Club. Besides the members pants were divided into four color Virginia of both classes the Juniors have invit- groups, green, blue, orange, and pur-Prettyman as a drunk sailor with his ed Dr. and Mrs. McCain, Miss Hop- ple. Each group had colored caps and girl, Amelia O'Neal; "Fuzzy" Phillips kins, and the faculty advisers of both was represented on the score chart and "Frankie" Farr, two "skoits"; and classes to be present. The details for by a sea-faring vessel. The green Thursday, May 28, a meeting of the Bertie Wells and "Bitsie" Fulk, a the entertainment have not as yet been group had a sail boat; the blue, a row

> On Saturday, May 30, the Glee Club will give a recital in the Bucher Scott Virginia Tillotson, and Polly Gordon, lege community and their friends. At Hazel Turner, as hostess, introduced by Mr. Dieckmann will form the

> > As a grand finale to a full social season, Blackfriars will present on Monday, June 1, "In Love With Love," a sparkling comedy in three acts. The members of the cast are:

> > Bob Metcalf_____ Jack Gardner____Margaret Belote

Outgoing Athletic Board Entertains

Scene of Festivities.

On Monday, May 11, the out-going members of the Executive Committee ation of Women's Clubs, to be held in Athletic Association Board entertained was a success may be ascertained by Waycross, May 12, 13, 14 and 15, in- the incoming board at camp for the a remark made by one of the high day night in the chapel. Ellen Davis, clusive. The noted educator speaks evening. Invited with the boards were school coaches, who said, "I like to the former Student Government presi- Tuesday evening, May 12, in the First those who have given their services have my Seniors come to Play Day, for dent, gave an interesting talk in Baptist church and will be introduced toward making the work of the as- they won't have another chance; but I which she thanked the student body by Mrs. Samuel M. Inman, of Atlanta. sociation possible this year. They are for the co-operation they have given He will base his address partly on the Miss Haynes, Miss Sinclair, Miss Wil- helps me more next year." her this year. After giving the oath youth movement developed in other burn, Dr. and Mrs. McCain, Dr. and Davidson, Dr

The festivities began at five o'clock when everyone assembled at the Agnes Scott Cottage. After roaming around enjoying nature while the cooks were at work, the crowd heart ily welcomed a spread of a threecourse supper. After supper a short board meeting was called, at which Susan Glenn and Sarah Bowman gave their reports of the Southern Athletic Association Conferences, which met at the University of Georgia. The entertainment for the remainder of the evening consisted in various games, charades, and dancing; and the to school late in the evening by starlight.

BLACKFRIARS ELECT

At the meeting of the Blackfriars held Wednesday night, May 6, the following officers were elected for the coming year:

President-Mary Lillias Garretson. Vice-President-Margaret Belote. Secretary-Barbara Hart.

Treasurer—Catherine Happoldt. Property Manager-Margaret Rid-

Costume Manager—Cecile Mayer. Two plays were presented under Production Class.

Annual High School At Social Events Play Day Success In Spite of Weather

Dancing, Basketball, Track Swimming, Tumbling, Picnic Are Events of Day.

The annual High School Play Day, sponsored by the Athletic Association, vas featured Saturday, May 9, at the gym. Ten representatives and coaches from each of the high schools of Atlanta and Decatur and members of the Athletic Association Board took part canvas and tables and chairs were embryonic plans formulated to make in the events of the afternoon. The schools sending representatives were Decatur High, North Avenue High, Girls' High, Commercial, Covington, Junior class will entertain the Senior Fulton, Sacred Heart, Druid Hills, and boat; the orange, a steamboat; and the purple, a motor boat. Kitty Purdie was in charge of the program for the afternoon.

> The events began at one o'clock this time a sacred cantata composed with a square dance led by Miss Wilburn and followed by an address of welcome by Dr. McCain. General dancing with music by the A. P. D. C. orchestra continued until the basketball game was called. After several games between the various groups, the greens were declared victorious. Tumbling followed basketball, and was Ann Jordan_____Martha Skeen featured by clever optionals and pyra-Mr. Jordan____Julia Grimmet mid-building. Agnes Scott swimmers Julia_____Betty Bolton then gave a diving and water polo _Margaret Ellis exhibition, after which a plunge for Frank Oakes____Catherine Happoldt all was enjoyed. Indoor track, consisting of a three-legged race, human Marion_____Amelia O'Neal croquet, and a leap-frog race, and giant volley ball, an impromptu novel game, were the next events of the day. A posture contest brought the competitions to a close. A picnic supper, spread on cloths of the group colors, ended the afternoon's festivities. The green sail boat led the other groups followed by the orange steamboat to win the contests of the day.

> > That Play Day was worth while and like to have my Juniors come for it

National Music Week Celebrated

Recital Presented by Mr. Dieckmann and Pupils.

In recognition of National Music Week, a most enjoyable musical recital was presented by Mr. C. W. Dieckmann, Sunday, May 10, in the college chapel. In the presentation of this last recital of the school year, Mr. Dieckmann was assisted by Misses Lucile Heath, Mary Ruth Rountree, Amelia Wolf, and Mary Catherine Williamson. The program was as follows:

Organ—"Toccata," Widor — Lucile Heath.

Voice—"La Pastorella," Schubert; "Wohin?" Schubert; "Du bist die Ruh'," Schubert-Mary Ruth Roun-

Piano-"In San Marco," "Ultima notte di carnevale," from "Scene Veneziane", Pirani-Amelia Wolf. (Orchestral part by Mr. Dieckmann at the Voice-"That Day We Met," Braine; "Iris," Ware; "Song of the Open," La-Forge-Mary Ruth Rountree.

Piano and Organ, "Fantasie," Dem-Secretary and Treasurer - Mary ability is a decided honor to her and the direction of members of the Play arest - Mary Catherine Williamson, C. W. Dieckman.

Subscription Price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single Copies, 5 cents.

Published weekly. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF Editor_____Betty Bonham psalmist to put into such beautiful Assistant Editor_____Elizabeth Lightcap Feature Editor____Gail Nelson about our God. Society Editor_____Mary Hamilton Exchange Editor_____Elinor Hamilton Athletic Editor_____Katharine Woltz of God. Our childish fancies pictured, Alumnae Editor____Letitia Rockmore perhaps, a huge being, with form like Club Editor____Bessie Meade Friend

MANAGEMENT

Giddy Gossip_____Caroline Lingle

| Clyde Lovejoy      |
|--------------------|
| Grace Fincher      |
| Lila Ross Norfleet |
| Imogene Hudson     |
|                    |

CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

Willa Upchurch Martha Elliott Margaret Ridley Rossie Ritchie Harriotte Brantley Mary McDonald

Florence Preston Douschka Sweets Margaret Telford Gilchrist Powell Blanche Lindsey Margaret Belote

CO-OPERATION

A great deal has been said concerning co-operation, perhaps too much—and yet do we really know the real meaning of the word and realize its possibilities when directly applied to our campus. A great deal has also been said concerning the lack of interest in certain activities here and we feel that the only remedy for the situation lies in this direction.

Every person on the campus, who contributes at all to its life, is interested in at least one student organization or extra-curricular activity. She is anxious in some degree for its success in the branches against the blue of the sky; projects which it undertakes. She is provoked when lack of stu- rays of sunlight filtering through and dent interest makes the accomplishment of its purpose impossible falling all about—a little of God's own and this is often the case. The member of the Glee Club deplores glory overflowing onto earth, and we small student attendance at concerts; the member of the Athletic stand in awe before this majestic, dig-Board is irritated by student indifference to its endeavors; the as if we want to fall down on our member of the Y. W. Cabinet is discouraged by small vesper audi- knees and worship, there in the stillences; the member of a publication staff complains that students ness and silence of the woods. do not read its work; and so on, the principle applies to every or- groves were God's first temples." And ganization, publication, club and society on the campus.

Suppose, however, that each one of these students, who most assuredly has something of which to complain, examine herself in respect to her co-operation with each of the other activities; grade til we come to a brook babbling along herself on her attendance, interest and sympathy. She has no right to expect co-operation for herself and her projects, if she does not give it to those from whom she expects it. She is not justified in complaining, if she does not give to others what she a while, to commune with God in our requires of them.

Of course none of us are perfect! We cannot be expected to Him, to ask His advice. Then we can, attend everything on a campus as organized as ours. But we can be expected to give a reasonable amount of attention plus a sympathetic interest and if we want any ourselves we must give it.

This is the co-operation which will add new life to the whole campus program and increase the happiness and success of the individual student many times.

ARE YOU EARNING YOUR $250?

The amount required of a student at Agnes Scott for tuition and board expenses for one year is $700. In addition to this, the college spends on each student an average of $250 yearly out of the income from its endowment; that is the administration makes with the mere joy of existing in such a gift of $1000 to each student who attends this college for the a lovely world. We know that as God whole four years. It seems rather useless to point out that the makes the pansy faces smile up at us, recipient of this sum owes something in return; it seems rather so He likes our faces to smile up at absurd that Agnes Scott should ever have to ask for co-operation Him. from the students under these circumstances. Think it over! Ask yourself what you are doing for the college to earn your $250!

God In Nature

(We have been requested to print To Make Study of College Standards the talk which Virginia Gray made in Vespers some weeks ago, and since we feel that it is especially appropriate of Colleges and Secondary schools, was to the season, it follows in full.-The Editors.)

"Praise ye the Lord. Praise ye Him, sun and moon: praise Him, all ye stars of light. Praise Him, ye heavens of heavens and ve waters that be above the heavens. Praise the Lord from the earth, ye mountains, and all hills; fruitful trees, and all cedars. Sing praise unto our God who covereth the heaven with clouds, who prepareth raise for the earth, who maketh grass to grow upon the mountains."

This is the time of year, more than any other, when it seems that "the heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament showeth his handiwork," this season when "spring unlocks the flowers to paint the laughing soil," and this is the season, too, when each of us wishes she had the gifts of the words as his the things which this lovely world about us makes us feel

Because it is through the loveliness of the world that we see God; nature gives us our only tangible conception our own, sitting on a throne, wearing a crown; or, perhaps, a bright, daz- the-Hills, at Cummington. Joke Editor_____Johnnie Mae York | zling light—nothing more; or, maybe, merely a face a kind, loving, father's students the aesthetic benefit of an he causes to be done in the world. But include literature, painting, sculpture, they are abstractions. We see Him in dramatic expression and music, supants are so like Him that they reflect study of other branches of art, and by Himself. But they are persons like courses in psychology, philosophy, aesourselves, and so through them we thetics, history, and general literary cannot see God. But we can see Him criticism as related to art. The student in Nature. He smiles down upon us body will be limited to 100 young men from among the boughs of a tree; He and women who have completed seclooks up at us from the heart of a ondary school requirements.

> ture we see God in His varying as- room routine and recitations. Instrucpects and attitudes toward us.

> whirl of these last few weeks, we'll talks, group discussions, studio prachave time to slip off, alone, to walk tice and independent research. Accordin the woods. These Georgia woods are particularly lovely—the ground all carpeted with pine needles; here will be carried on "under those condiand there clumps of grass, clusters of tions of simplicity and freedom which violets and forget-me-nots, growing among the needles; all about the rough, brown trunks of the pine trees; high overhead the green of the we can easily understand that they might have been not only the first, but also the best, of God's temples.

Then we walk on a little farther unthrough the woods. It's a pretty little brook, clear, shallow water flowing along its bank—a peaceful spot. So we sit down on the bank to think for thoughts, to discuss our problems with as Shakespeare did, find 'Tongues in trees, books in running brooks,

Sermons in stones, and good in everything.'

And then, one day, we are walking beside a pansy bed. We look down at those impish little pansy faces twinkling their eyes at us, wrinkling up their pug noses at us, and we know that our God is a cheerful God. He realizes that we like fun and merriment in our world, that we like to be glad and laughing, and bubbling over

And then the sun no longer shines; clouds begin to gather—there's going (Continued on page 4)

N.S.F.A. News

Chicago, Ill.—The most significant accomplishment at the recent convention of the North Central Association the fact that the general education board of the association has made a She is doing nicely. $110,000 grant for a thorough fiveyear study of college standards, according to educators who attended it.

This study is to be made under the direction of Dean Melvin H. Haggerty, School of Education, University of Minnesota, Dr. Edmonson, School of Education, University of Chicago, President Zook, University of Akron, and Dr. Henry Suzzallo, director of the Central Education Board.

The general objective of the study is to so reorganize college standards that emphasis will be placed on qualitative standards rather than quantitative standards. Heretofore, college standards have emphasized the size of faculty, amount of money available, number and kind of degree, etc. It is hoped that in the future emphasis will be placed on student accomplishment.

Fine Arts Center to Be Established

Cummington, Mass .- Plans are well High schools. under way for the establishment of a unique fine arts center at Cummington, Mass., under the direction of Miss ghai American School. Katherine Fraser, former Mount Holyoke instructor and now director of a fice at Rich's. summer music center, Playhouse-in-

The school will strive to give its face. Now our more mature minds artistic education rather than to prehave ceased to try to picture God, who pare them for professional careers. is a spirit and has no visible form. The three-year course will offer work at the North Avenue Presbyterian We see Him in the good things which in one of the major departments which the good people about us. His serv- plemented by appreciative and cultural kins.

The methods of instruction will be And in the varying moods of Na- a departure from the traditional classtion will come through intimate con-Perhaps some time in the busy tacts with artist-teachers, informal ing to the catalogue, which may be seen in the Music Building, all work the word play best expresses."

(Continued on page 4)

Exchanges

Year

(Continued on page 4)

Alumnae News

Dorothy Hutton, '29, will be bridesmaid at the wedding of her brother in Savannah, June 6.

Evalyn Wilder, '30, has had an operation for appendicitis recently.

Mary Elizabeth Hamilton married recently. She is now Mrs. Spencer Jacobs, 1001 Oakdale Road, Atlanta.

Miss Mary Wallace Kirk, '11, spent Friday night in the Alumnae House. Miss Kirk is a trustee of Agnes Scott.

Tumpsey Flinn was honor guest at a luncheon given on Tuesday by Miss

The Senior Class has been entertained at a series of small teas in the Alumnae House by the Alumnae.

Caroline McCall, '27, will marry Mr. Lloyd Walter Chapin, of Atlanta, in

Mary Boggs, Elizabeth Foreman, Frederica Twining, Roberta Knowles, and Katherine Klutz, were guests of the Alumnae Association for the weekend of May Day and Senior Opera. They are students at the Birmingham

Peggy Lou Armstrong, '30, is enjoying life as a history teacher in Shan-

Marie Baker, '30, is now in the of-

Mabel Marshall, '29, is teaching at the Normal School in Montreat, N. C., this winter, having received her Master's in June of last year from the University of Kentucky.

Jo Walker, '28, is athletic director School, Atlanta, again this year.

Mamie Shaw, '27, is finishing her Junior year in medicine at Johns Hop-

Kenneth Maner, '27, is teaching in Atlanta this year; she and her family have moved to 1761 Boulevard,

Feature

Away with the old idea and false theory that college students, and honor students in particular, impair their health by concentration upon things which tend to keep one indoors. In a recent copy of the Atlanta Journal Sunday Magazine section, the question was asked: "Are college students as healthy as people who spend more time in the open?" The answer was to the effect that the life expectancy of college graduates is over two years greater than the general average, while honor students have an extra two years. Probably Agnes Scott girls consider that their gym work compels Oldest Yale Grad Dies in Hundredth them to spend more time in the open than would be ordinarily customary. Cincinnati, Ohio-(IP).-Edward P. To say the least, Agnes Scott girls Bradstreet, the oldest graduate of have always enjoyed a rather high Yale university, died at his home here standard of health. The idea of an recently at the age of 100. Until about extra two years expectation for honor two years ago Mr. Bradstreet main-students is probably surprising to tained his law office and was active those who consider that many of these in community affairs. He was a mem- students are only "grinds" who enber of the famous class of '53 at Yale danger their health by too close apwhich had 111 members at graduation. plication. But, evidently, such is not When he celebrated his one hundredth the case. Perhaps with the expectaanniversary on June 5 he was honored tion of lengthening their span of life by the Cincinnati Yale club at a ban- by two years, there will be more stuquet. Before going to Yale, Mr. Brad- dents who aspire to the honor roll and Phi Beta Kappa keys!

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE

DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities.

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

Well, old soul,

I lack all semblance of pep, except of any social peanut. Why, even the just enough to emit a few groans over the coming festivities. Imagine! This time next week we'll be grinding away in double-quick time. We may get through with great effort; but it is certainly a drawback not to be able to eat our brain food (page Mr. Hershey) during exams. Oh well, at least that's something to blame it on when the flunk slips come slithering in. Still, you can't help envying them at Wellesley, where tea and coffee are served in the middle of every exam. I guess that's just in self defense because they don't have Miss Christie around to give swell teas like the one she pulled last week. Of course, only the elite were there, but I heard that it was lovely. She ought to receive a vote of thanks for furnishing an opportunity to wear one's newly acquired wearing apparel, summer frippery, and knick-knacks, or what-have you. Did you see Baby Watson in her black and white outfit? She was such a perfect representation of Marlene Dietrich that I instinctively rushed up to her with my autograph album.

Giddy, you have no conception of the activity around the A. M. since Spring and hay fever are in the air. The banquets, luncheons, and other was only after three days of eating shindigs that have been thrown around her meals through the keyhole that

***************** LAWRENCE'S PHARMACY

A Real Drug Store and the

Nearest to Agnes Scott Try our Toasted Sandwiches

Phones Dearborn 0762-0763 309 East College Ave., Opposite Depot, Decatur, Ga.

the common level and give a party. No wonder you're gaping-I forgot to mention that INOHR (notice its resemblance to HONOR (Roll) is a select group comprised of the Intelligentsia Not On the Honor Roll. There! There! Don't be so hasty about applying for entrance. They're quite, nay, very particular about whom they once and preferably twice. If you've flunked Spoken English you're admitted without so much as a quibble. If you'd like to try out, see either poems were read and discussed. Ellene Winn or Weesa Chandler, each of whom insists that she, by virtue of elevated organization!

INOHR is threatening to descend to

I can't resist telling you about Louise Miller's telephoning experience! The other day in answer to several rings, she picked up the rewent to the foot of the stairs, preparatory to yowling up to third floor. Imagine her surprise and chagrin when she was heard to bellow in a loud and business-like manner, "AGNES SCOTT! Telephone!" The poor soul was so embarrassed that she catapulted without more do into her room, locking the door and leaving the telephone to its own devices. It she got up courage and stamina enough to come out of her retirement and face the jeers and taunts of her unsympathetic school chums and college pals.

Ho! Hum! I'm completely exhausted with so much gabbling. Guess I'll be shimmering along-gotta see a lady about a hydrangia.

Love,

Aggie.

"Help! I can't swim! Drop me a line, will you?"

"All right, and you must write me some time, too.'

Clubs

B. O. Z.

B. O. Z. held a business meeting Monday afternoon, May 4, at 4:00. At this time two new members were taken in. They are Virginia Prettyman and Flora Young. Officers for coming year will be elected at the next meeting.

Chemistry Club

The Chemistry Club met recently in the chemistry lecture room. Officers for the next year were elected as fol-

President—Hettie and Etta Mathis. Vice-President-Betty Thompson. Secretary-Gail Nelson.

Treasurer-Helen Bashinski.

Poetry Club

At this meeting election of officers admit. You'll be more certain of for the following year was held. Gilmembership if you've flunked gym christ Powell was made president; business period a group of original see for yourself what they're doing.

Student Volunteer

The Student Volunteer group met her qualifications, is president of the Thursday night at 8 o'clock. Helen Respess, who graduated from Agnes Scott last year, led the meeting and reviewed the book, "Whither Bound in Missions?" Several major aspects of modern missions were given attenceiver, replied, "I'll call her," and tion: especially, the rise of the native Christians to responsible positions of leadership, and the realization that Christian nations can receive from as well as give to the peoples they are trying to serve.

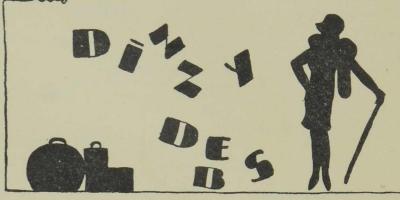

French Club

At the last meeting of the French Club the following officers were elected for 1931-32:

President—Virginia Gray. Vice President—Elizabeth Sutton. Secretary and Treasurer - Louise

> Bailey Bros. Shoe Shop

142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies'
Work DE. 0172 WE DELIVER

Even though the excitement of Senior Opera and May Day is not quite her home in Madison, Ga. past and even though the weather is acting queer-Spring seems to be winds and cold rains—the Hottentots Hills Thursday night. Poetry Cub met Thursday night, are finding plenty to do on the campus May 7, with Vivian Martin, Sara Wil- and off. Would you like to know just son, and Gilchrist Powell as hostesses. what does occupy them socially? Well, to use an unusually springy term, a great many of them are tripping the Vivian Martin, secretary, and Mar- light fantastic this week-end-not to jorie Beilfuss, reporter. After the mention dinner parties and teas. Just > Mary Ruth Rountree's mother and sister spent the week-end with her.

> Margaret Rogers spent the weekend in Atlanta with Mrs. A. V. Polak.

> Margaret and Catherine Maness's mother and sister were with them last week-end.

> Weesa Chandler's mother, who has been spending several days with her, gave her a dinner party at the Tavern, Tuesday night. Some Agnes Scott girls and alumnae were there.

Miss Haynes gave a luncheon for Weesa Chandler's mother at the Alumnae House Thursday.

Margaret Martin spent the weekend in Atlanta.

Martha Faust spent Sunday night in Atlanta.

The following girls attended the Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity dance at East Lake Friday night: Marion Fielder, Ruth Etheridge, Saxon Pope, and Mildred Duncan.

Melba Hollis spent the week-end at Alma Frazer Howerton attended the flirting with winter with these March Sigma Delta Kappa formal at Druid

> Nina Hammond attended a dance at the Candler Hotel Saturday night.

Mrs. Link has been spending several days with Peggy.

Carolyn Waterman, Mary Upshaw Jones, and Penny Brown attended the Phi Kappa Tau dance Friday night at Tech.

Betty Bonham had dinner with Effie Davis of the Emory Library School, Wednesday night.

Peggy Link, Mary Miller, Genie Hudson, and Penny Brown will attend the Beta Kappa dance at East Lake, May 15.

Lila Norfleet will spend the weekend of the twenty-third at Montreat, attending the Davidson house party.

Elizabeth Winn's mother spent last Tuesday with her. Jane Claypool spent the week-end of the second in Gadsden, Ala. Nell Chamlee spent Sunday in Atlanta with Mrs. W. M. Nichols.

Carolyn Russell, Peggy Kump, Nell Chamlee, Helen Boyd, and Lucy Guerrant went on a hay ride, Monday

Mallie White's mother was here last week-end.

Carolyn Russell attended a picnic supper in Decatur, Sunday night.

Sara Lou Bullock and Christian Henderson went to a tea-dance Saturday afternoon.

Claire Ivy and Peggy White went on a steak fry Sunday night.

Anne McCallie's mother spent the week-end of the second with her.

*****

GIVE YOUR FRIENDS SOMETHING TO REMEMBER YOU

From

BINDER'S 117 Peachtree

Opp. Piedmont Hotel

********************

**************** ADAMSON & COSTER CO.

Cleaners and Dyers

Decatur Branch 104 S. Candler St. Phone De. 3087

20% Off Cash and Carry ^

> Fatal Interview Edna St. Vincent Millay Margaret Waite Book Shop

****************

119-123 Peachtree Arcade ***********

Here are Frocks

That Will Attend The Junior-Senior Banquet in Style!

Mouselin de Soi Net and Point d'esprit Solid and Printed -Chiffons

Bewitchingly styled in pastel shades and white, and modestly priced-

$12.90, $15, $18

Sizes 11 to 17 & 14 to 20

COLLEGIATE SHOP--2nd Floor

J. M. High Co. Atlanta, Ga.

Store your Furs at Allen's

OUR VAULTSare on the premises.

OUR CHARGES are only nominal.

OUR SERVICE-

takes your furs from your door—and returns them when you want them.

An even temperature of 22 degrees keeps your furs safe from heat and moths.

Second Floor

J. P. Allen & Co.

STUDENT TREAS. GIVES FINAL REPORT OF YEAR'S FINANCES (Continued from page 1) From telephones _____ Student budget _____ 920.24

From Decatur Bank____ 281.02 $1,846.59 Disbursements: $ 798.94 Total expenses _ Lost in Decatur Bank____ 749.38 $1,558.32

__$ 288.27 (Signed) Andrewena Robinson, Treasurer.

The Agonistic

Receipts: ----$ 839.76 From budget -

$1,601.86 Disbursements: _$,427.09 86.27

$1,513.36 (Signed) Jeanette Shaw,

Business Manager.

The Aurora Receipts: From the budget_____$ 498.65

From other sources_____ Disbursements: Total _____$ 396.30 ---$ 116.79 Balance _.

(Signed) Elmore Bellingrath, Business Manager.

The Athletic Association Receipts: From retiring treasurer___$ 238.12 Student budget _____ 445.33 Other sources _____ 106.98 Less 621/2 % of $260.22 in Decatur Bank _____

Disbursements: Total _____ ---$ 79.64 Balance (Signed) Susan Glenn, Treasurer.

May Day Receipts: Budget (lost in Dec. Bank)_$ 94.73 Budget (second semester)___ Other sources (including dividend from bank) _____ 444.36 $ 480.92 Disbursements: Total _____$ 303.67 Balance _____$ 177.25 Laelius Stallings, (Signed) Business Manager.

Hoasc Receipts: From retiring treasurer____$ From budget _____ 52.57 Initiation fees __ 84.00 Grandmother party _____ 21.60 26.00 7.00 Pins ___ 10.50 Additional dues _ $ 215.71 Disbursements: $ 205.89 Total ___. Balance Citizenship Club

Total ___ 9.65 Balance 16.64 Note-To date the reports of the following organizations are incomplete: Pi Alpha Phi, the Silhouette, and the International Relations Club. These reports will be posted with the student treasurer's final report in 26.29

Receipts: From budget

Disbursements:

Main by May 25.

Dennis Lindsey Printing Co.

(Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING and STATIONERY

Phone Dearborn 0976 421 Church St. DECATUR, GA.

Jokes

train to the station."

"Did he get across?"

monument-maker has finished it."-Bov's Life.

aspirin tablets?"

"Huh?"

"Did you hear the-"

"No!"

Bayers."—College Humor.

sentence last?

2nd Ditto: Three years.

judge gave you four years.

summer school.-College Humor.

a school day.

Banana Peel—A standing invitation your life. to sit down.

Modern Girl-One who can meet the 14.44 wolf at the door and come out with a Love-Exclusive right! excuse for woman's existence.

Kiss-Man's first co-operative move-

Soup-Loose hash.

Grasshopper-A dull lawn mower. -Queens Blues.

THE SCHOOL OF NURSING OF DUKE UNIVERSITY

OFFERS:

A three-year course leading to a Diploma in Nursing and a five-year course leading to Diploma in Nursing and the Degree of Sachelor of Science
The students are selected on the same basis s other women students of the University.
The educational facilities of Duke University re open to qualified Students.
For Bulletin and information address:

THE DEAN THE SCHOOL OF NURSING OF DUKE UNIVERSITY

Durham, North Carolina

OUR SLOGAN CLEAN SHOP MODERATE PRICES EXPERT OPINION STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOPPE 153 Sycamore St.

Dearborn 2671

Hewey's

Buy Your

Toilet Articles-Sundries Remedies—Stationery Sodas, Sandwiches

PROMPT DELIVERY Call us Phone Dea. 0640-9110

GOD IN NATURE (Continued from page 2)

"Yes, his idea was he could neat the there are mountains. And there's serve university in Cleveland.—Emory nothing I'd rather do, in the summer, Wheel. than to stand on my front porch and "Well, he will get it as soon as the watch a thunder storm come down dication of King Alfonso. He goes and over those mountains. The clouds a Republic rules Spain. It is one thing gather, first, far back of the moun- to vote for a republic, another to make tains, dark, ominous clouds. They come it go. Having a king, or no king makes "Did you hear the story of the three sweeping nearer and lower, almost little difference. Alfonso XIII's abdica- Bessie Meade Friend, the archery brushing against the tops of the tion makes Spain the eighth major manager of this year, won the tournamountains. Thunder roars as if it country which has seen its crown would split the earth. Lightning swept aside within the last twenty-one flashes blindingly, great jagged years. The ruling families now exist-"Maybe I should have said the three streaks all up and down the horizon. ing are: George of England, Victor A sort of dark, expectant calm settles Emmanuel of Italy, Albert of Belgium, over everything. Then the clouds are Gustaf of Sweden, Haakon of Norway, 1st Criminal: How long did your down over the mountains, hiding their Christian of Denmark, Wilhelmina of tops from view. You can see great the Netherlands, Carol of Roumania, sheets of rain falling from heaven to Herohito of Japan, Boris of Bulgaria, 1st Criminal: But I thought the earth. The wind begins to blow strong Prajadhipok of Siam, Ras Jafari of in your face, a fresh wind laden with Abyssinia.—Converse Parley Voo. 2nd Ditto: Oh, I made up a year in the feel and the smell of the approaching rain. And then, suddently, it is upon you, sweeping all about you with then prays for a holiday to come on against the wind, almost overwhelmed Voo. with the power of that God, who rules

So whether Nature smiles or frowns she makes us see God; she makes us feel His presence; she makes us want to be near Him, to worship Him, to praise Him, to say to Him-

O Lord of heaven and earth and sea, To Thee all praise and glory be! How shall we show our love to Thee, who givest all?

The golden sunshine, vernal air, Sweet flowers and fruit, Thy love declare;

When harvests ripen, Thou art there, Tech.—The Technique. who givest all.

For peaceful homes and healthful days,

For all the blessings earth displays, We owe Thee thankfulness and praise, who givest all.

ૡૢઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌૢ Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

122 Peachtree *****************************

*** L. CHAJAGE

Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

~ ************

JOS. SIEGEL

Dependable Jeweler DIAMONDS—WATCHES CLOCKS—JEWELRY Watch Repairing a Specialty

131 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga.

Genuine "Suva" Cloth

Summer Footwear

Takes the Lead—

All White

Usual Charge Courtesies

The Mirror

Quality Footwear 76 Whitehall St.

EXCHANGES

(Continued from page 2) to be a thunderstorm. Where I live street was a student at Western Re-

Europe's latest excitement is the ab- the annual archery tournament of the

E. Hamilton

An added attraction of May Day at College-Where one spends several another flash of light and another Sweet Briar is a horse show which is thousand dollars for an education, and deafening crash. And you stand there an annual event. — Converse Parley

> If a miss Thinks a kiss Amiss-She's not the Who received The kiss.

-Converse Parley Voo.

Tech it or leave it-According to the student roll posted recently on the bulletin boards there are thirty-six states and fourteen foreign countries represented in the classes of Georgia

> N. S. F. A. NEWS (Continued from page 2) N. S. F. A. Gleanings

In an attempt to settle the noise problem which has bothered residents of one of the dormitories at Columbia University since the beginning of the fall semester, undergraduate leaders have taken matters into their own hands and organized a "trial jury" system which they hope will ameliorate the abuses speedily and effectively.

Modern woman excels the male when it comes to oratory, claims Jean Campbell Macmillan, public speaking instructor with the University of California Extension Division.

A faculty rating scale will be submitted to the students of Stout Institute, Menomonie, Wisconsin, in order to allow the instructors to find out what the students think of their work. Students will grade their professors on a scale ranging from 0 to 100.

Archery Tournament

On Tuesday, May 5, the hockey field was a scene of much excitement, when year took place. There were thirteen contestants, all of whom put up their best shooting of the season. ment with the score of 195, and will receive the archery cup. It will be interesting to note that the cup last year was won by last year's archery manager, Sallie Peake. The runner-up of the tournament was Diana Dyer, who had a score of 156. The other contestants were Florence Preston, Margaret Weeks, Rebecca Christian, Hettie Mathis, Margaret Massie, Sarah Bowman, Catherine Welborn, Letitia Rockmore, Mary McDonald, Etta Mathis, and Louise Hollingsworth.

Agnes Scott has entered the National Women's Archery Tournament which takes place the latter part of this month. All of the contestants of this tournament are invited to try out for the team which is to represent the college then. The tournament will be held on the archery range, and the results wired to headquarters

Mrs. Harris Visits

The college was glad to welcome Mrs. Weaver Harris, of Nashville, Tenn., as the guest of Miss Llewellyn Wilburn during the May Day festivities. Mrs. Harris came especially for the lovely and successful program Miss Wilburn spent hours of tireless effort in preparing.

Mother's Day WOMAN'S EXCHANGE GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE FLOWERS De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg.

******

******************** THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving
LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON
TEA—DINNER
11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M. Atlanta-651/2 Broad St., N. W. Macon—151 Cotton Ave.

STARNES

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER

"BIG DEC"

The Graduate in New York

THE PARKSIDE provides a residence where young men and women of refinement and good taste see about them

others of their own kind and only their own kind. Rooms have the inviting air of a charming guest suite in a private home. Excellent food. Pent House, reception rooms, and solarium for use of guests. A socially correct address. Opposite Gramercy Park. References required. Write for folder C.

Rooms $15 to $22.50 Weekly

> The Parkside Eighteen Gramercy Park

> > Corner East 20th Street and Irving Place NEW YORK CITY

Vol. XVII

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE, DECATUR, GA., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1931

No. 1

SARA WILSON, '33, SELECTED AS FOREIGN STUDY REPRESENTATIVE

"Campus Etiquette," How to Penny Club Plan and Money," "Friendship."

By the selection of Sara Wilson, '33, Mrs. Thomas K. Glenn and as a representative student who is to pursue her Junior course of study in France, Agnes Scott confers upon her a most coveted honor and at the same ganization, which originated in At- Giovanni Macerata of Venice, Italy. States.

ricula. Under this method students chapel. Mrs. Glenn, the wife of the who have shown ability, initiative, and chairman of the board of the First industry during their Freshman and National Bank of Atlanta, also head ber 30 when Dr. Robert West of the Sophomore years, are allowed to study of the relief movement for the needy, University of Wisconsin will talk according to their own inclinations and conceived the idea of encouraging about "Man the Animal that Talks." desires during their Junior and Senior everyone to lay aside one penny beyears. Since no lectures or classes are fore each meal for those in unfortuncompulsory, the student advised by ate circumstances. faculty members, is able to read and Formerly, Mrs. Glenn was a gay study according to her own tastes and society belle, but now she has should- any disorder of speech that might imtalents and to compass her chosen field ered the responsibility of carrying out pede their success overseas. Dr. of research.

well as a certain fluency in speaking cash to give to the poor. it. She must have done a reasonable Mrs. Glenn addressed Agnes Scott, amount of outside reading in French mainly, through her spokesman, Mr. these players. This is the first visit to literature and history. In addition to Eugene Gunby, an Atlanta lawyer, America of these famous players since an intellectual curiosity, the candidate earnest in the cause of the Penny Club and eager for fellow members. but the Lecture Association hopes that must have strength of character, ex- He explained that Agnes Scott could it will soon be assured. the French language throughout the avoirdupois with her spending money. entire year abroad.

of intellectual initiative and concentra- of the day students. tion of effort.

In adopting this plan of foreign study, Agnes Scott, like every other Mary Roundtree college in the group, has the following three objectives:

The individual student's benefit in the mastery of a foreign language, acquaintance with some of the best minds of another land, familiarity with its drama, music, art, its point of and social.

adequate supply of teachers in the to be held October 5. high schools and the lower ranks in standing and good will.

group includes girls from Smith Col- and Paul Reimers. lege exclusively, the Columbia group is for students of Columbia University, the Trinity College group is organized for Catholic students, while the Delaware group is composed of members from many A1 colleges throughout the country. It is to this last group that Agnes Scott belongs.

The Delaware group provides for a opera, "LaGorge del destino." committee of American instructors in (Continued on page 4, column 4)

Presented to A. S.

Mr. Eugene Gunby Speak.

The Penny Club, a popular new or-her idea and making a success of this, In this group of honor courses be- her Penny Club. She has had wonderlongs the privilege of studying a year ful response, not only in Atlanta, but sources of other diseases. Another inabroad. For, aside from having a also in many other cities, which have teresting event during Dr. West's visit natural aptitude for foreign lan- been fired with this idea for raising guages, the aspiring student must immediate funds to help tide over the have showed her ability to meet the needy through the winter months. requirements that have been designat- The Penny Club does not take the ested will be invited to watch his work ed by the committee on Foreign Study. place of the Community Chest or any here. She must have a ready and accurate other such organization, but is simply reading knowledge of the language as a temporary way of securing ready cellent scholarship, health, adaptabil- be one hundred percent in the giving ity, and a pleasing personality. She of three pennies daily, even though she must be willing to accept the supervis- did not sign the pledge cards; that ion of the Foreign Study Bureau in she could give unfortunates a chance Relations. France and to pledge herself to use instead of unnecessarily adding to her

Boxes for Penny Club deposits are All of the above requirements are now in the lobbies of Rebekah Scott essential, for since the methods of in- and White House for the use of the struction in France are quite different boarding students, and in the Tea from ours, they demand a high degree House and the Book Store for the use view in matters political, economic, ber of the student body, has been recommended by musical authorities to and Scotland. In the United States The second objective is to raise the compete in the annual contest sponsorlevel of modern language teaching in ed by the Julliard Graduate School of Gettysburg, Pa., and drove to Wis- campfire and moonlight the Hottentot unnecessary." In discussing boy and the United States by providing an Music in New York City, the contest heavily endowed of its kind, admits cluded all the main places mentioned The third objective is the least ob- only those students who have won by Virgil in his works: Carthage, vious, the most elusive and at the scholarships. Each year about fifty same time the most important. It is students of music from all parts of the objective of international under- the United States are chosen to attend this school. The awards are made Up to date there are four distinct by a group of distinguished judges, groups that are fathering this foreign among whom are: John Erskine, presieducational undertaking. The Smith dent of the school, Madame Sembrich,

Held by Juilliard Graduate School of Music, Oct. 5.

Miss Rountree will sing the following selections:

Schubert—"Wohin,"

"Dust Bist die Ruh." LaForge-"Song of the Open." Harriett Ware—"Iris." Scarlotti—"O Cessatedi Piagarmi." Verdi-"Pace, Pace, mio dio," from Selection from the Oratoria, "The Messiah."

Tentative Plan for Lectures Disclosed

Dr. Macerata to Talk Nov. 3 Thirty-Four Names

Among the many interesting programs which the various campus organizations offer during the year, the Class of 1933 Leads List with program of the Lecture Association is probably the most interesting.

The first lecture will be given by Dr. time becomes allied with a movement lanta, welcomes everyone who is think- His lecture will be on art. He will that is being sponsored by progressive ing of the unemployed and wishes to probably talk on some particular liberal colleges throughout the United aid them at this time. The founder period during the history of art. This of this club, Mrs. Thomas K. Glenn, Dr. Macerata is a man of great perhas not yet been definitely decided. Since 1922 a number of prominent explained the purpose and plans to be sonal charm and culture. He is not the year 1930-31. universities and colleges have intro- carried out, to the student body of only interested in art but in politics duced honor courses into their cur- Agnes Scott College last week in and language also. This lecture will be illustrated, and it will be given on November 3.

> The second lecture falls on Novem-Dr. West has been head of the Speech Pathology Department at the University of Wisconsin for the past ten years. He was at Camp Wheeler during the war, examining soldiers for West's work is becoming increasingly popular as people are learning to recognize in speach disorders the here on the campus will be the speech clinic he will hold in Miss Gooch's studio. Physicians from Atlanta and anyone on the campus who is inter-

> The third event on the program will e play given by the Abbey Theatre Irish Players. They will play "The Far-Off Hills," written by Lennox Robinson, who is also the director of but the Lecture Association hopes that

> The last number on the year's program has not yet been decided. It will probably be a lecture on International

Interesting Summer Spent by Faculty

Varied Vacations Both in United States and Abroad.

embers of the Agnes Scott facul ty have spent very interesting sum-In Music Contest mers abroad and in the United States.

Miss Dexter spent the summer in Europe and in the eastern section of the United States. Accompanied by her sister, she traveled for three Miss Mary Ruth Rountree, a mem- Italy, Germany, Holland, and Switzerland, and for three weeks in England she visited Washington, D. C., and consin to visit Miss Omwake.

Miss Lillian Smith made a Virgilian This school, which is one of the most | Cruise and Pilgrimage. The cruise in-(Continued on page 4, column 5)

TO THE ALUMNAE AND FACULTY

If you are interested in subscribing to the Agonistic for the session 1931-32, please send $1.25 with your name and address to Lila Norfleet, Circulation Manager.

FRESHMAN ORIENTATION CLASSES PROVE HELPFUL TO NEW STUDENTS

Are on Honor Roll

Fourteen Honored.

students who have received scholastic after the failure of last year's schedhonors during the past year.

Those on the honor roll were: Class of 1932:

> Catherine Baker Penelope Brown Susan Glenn Virginia Gray Ruth Green Irene Hartselle Rosemary Honiker Saxon Pope Elizabeth Skeen Elizabeth Sutton

Mariam Thompson

Class of 1933:

Bernice Beaty Margaret Belote Elizabeth Bolton Mary D. Clarke Bessie Meade Friend Virginia Heard Cornelia Keaton Roberta Kilpatrick Elizabeth Lightcap Eulalia Napier Gail Nelson LaTrelle Robertson Margaret Telford Sarah Watson

Class of 1934:

Pauline Gordon Lucy Goss Elinor Hamilton Mary Hamilton Margaret Martin Marion Mathews Amelia O'Neal Juliette Puett Louise Schuessler

Ath. Ass'n Welcomes Frosh With Circus

"Sports for Fun—for Everyone," by President.

fore the circus ring to witness by Everyone!" The circus then got under ity. way, Kitty Woltz playing the part of the Barker and announcing the events First discussing orientation and its to take place. The year of sports was meaning to Freshmen, she had the dispresented in order. Each sport was cussion on to problems of the class as represented by a stunt in the ring, un- individuals. Solutions for the time der the direction of the sport manager. and money problems were suggested A feature of the circus was the per- by the model schedule and time budget formance of trained horses, lent by presented and by the plan for budget-Avondale Stables. The orchestra and ing allowances; both plans worked out clowns added much to the merriment for the average A. S. C. Freshman. of the occasion. The Grand Parade She stated the efficient living and sucbrought to a close the Hottentot Cir- cessful careers depend largely on abil-

Opportunity for Combining Language Study and International Understanding

Freshmen Orientation classes were held Friday, October 2, in the chapel. Lectures were given by faculty mem-With the opening of each college bers to the entire Freshman class and year, announcement is made of the a few upperclassmen. The faculty, ule, voted the classes be given on one In chapel, on Friday, September 25, day and that attendance be made com-Dr. McCain announced the honors for pulsory. The faculty plans to hold the classes on Wednesday and Thursday of the first week of the session next

> Miss Laney lectured on "Campus Etiquette" at 8 A. M. This lecture, one of the most practical of the series, discussed in detail the problems of the Freshman. Miss Laney presented solutions to the problems of conduct in this new community and maintenance of one's standard of living in the new freedom by giving information helpful to the girls as individuals and by reminding them of the old principle of "noblesse oblige" as it applies to the girl personally and to the student at A. S. C. Miss Laney also discussed etiquette in academic, social, and recreational fields. Classroom etiquette and courtesy to faculty members in class, in the mail room, and on the campus were stressed, the informal relationship between faculty members is to be encouraged, but the informality must not become so exaggerated as to become discourtesy. The basis for etiquette in chapel, in the dormitory, on the athletic field and on the campus is the "give and take" idea; the unfailing guide, the Emily Post of A. S. C., is the Golden Rule.

> At 9 A. M. Mr. Stukes lectured on "How to Study." As head of our psychology department, Mr. Stukes is well qualified to initiate Freshmen in this field. His discussion of mental processes involved in study has given the Freshman class a new conception of study. His suggested plan for budgeting the hours of greatest mental ability will be helpful to upperclassmen as well as to Freshmen.

At 10:30, Dr. McCain gave a talk on "Friendships." He introduced his subject by discussing the difference between friendliness and friendship. Dr. McCain says, "Everybody can be friendly, but not everybody can be a "Lad-ees and gentle-men! This way, friend because real friendship calls for weeks on the continent, in France, this way to the world's greatest Ath- so much giving of oneself. No friendletic Circus"—and the student body ship, however, can consist merely in was assembled in the grandstands be- giving or receiving. There must be that trust, that generosity of soul which makes explanation of conduct circus of sports! Immediately preced- girl friendships Dr. McCain stated ing the circus, the students had a pic- that lifting the standard of the friendnic supper on the hockey field. Sarah ship is the responsibility of the girl. Bowman, as president of the Athletic friendship illustrated in the stories of Association, welcomed the Hottentots David and Jonathan and of Damon and to the Association and talked of this Pythias and the ultimate fruit of such year's aim, "Sports for Fun-for friendships as it is reaped by poster-

At 11 P. M. Miss Hutton gave a talk on "Budgeting Time and Money."

(Continued on page 3, column 5)

Subscription Price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single copies, 5c.

Published weekly. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF

| Editor           | Betty Bonham        |
|------------------|---------------------|
| Assistant Editor | Elizabeth Lightcap  |
| Feature Editor   | Gail Nelson         |
| Society Editor   | Mary Hamilton       |
| Exchange Editor  | Elinor Hamilton     |
| Athletic Editor  | Katharine Woltz     |
| Alumnae Editor   | Letitia Rockmore    |
| Club Editor      | Bessie Meade Friend |
| Joke Editor      | Johnnie Mae York    |
| Giddy Gossip     | Caroline Lingle     |
|                  |                     |

MANAGEMENT

| Advertising Manager           | Clyde Lovejoy      |
|-------------------------------|--------------------|
| Business Manager              | Grace Fincher      |
| Circulation Manager           | Lila Ross Norfleet |
| Assistant Circulation Manager | Imogene Hudson     |

REPORTERS FOR THIS ISSUE

Margaret Ridley Nelle Chamlee Pauline Gordon Florence Preston Martha Elliott Douschka Sweets Mary Sturtevant

Harriotte Brantley Natilu McKinney Virginia Tillotson Vivian Martin Barbara Hart Martha Eskridge

THE OPPORTUNITY IS YOURS

With three weeks behind us and the 1931-32 session well under nual report this summer that conway, we find ourselves speculating concerning what it holds in store for us. Along with all the deprivations and sacrifices, which the present world-wide depression has made necessary, has come profit making organizations. one compensating factor—the higher purchasing power of the dollar. Can this same dollar that is so much more powerful in the world of commerce, purchase more in the educational world than it could in former times? Can we get more benefit from college this year, just as we can get a larger loaf of bread for ten cents and a better dress for sixteen dollars and seventy-five cents? We can! But in contrast to commercial conditions, whether we get this educational bargain or not lies entirely with us. There are additional contacts, facts, cultural influences and opportunities for ed to the United States August 12. happiness waiting for us on every side if we will only awaken to their existence and take advantage of them.

Let's get out of the ruts of college. There is something here for each of us that we alone can find—that development of our individuality and character which comes as we are influenced by all that is valuable in both our curricular and extra-curricular activities and contacts. Shall we render the sacrifices that our par- the combined Oxford-Cambridge ents are making to send us to college, utterly in vain? Or shall tracksters with a score of 71/2 to 41/2. we make them so proud of what we have achieved, so convinced of the "value received" that they will feel fully repaid for all that they have done to make these opportunities possible for us.

"A DYING PRESIDENT'S VALEDICTORY"

In the Literary Digest, we find an account of Dr. Samuel Palmer Brook's dying message to the students of Baylor University, of which he was president until his recent demise:

"I stand on the border of mortal life, but I face eternal life.

"I look backward to the years of the past to see all pettiness, all triviality shrink to nothing, and disappear.

"There is beauty, there is joy, and there is laughter in life—as out the country. there ought to be.

"But remember my students, not to regard lightly nor to ridi- versity of Chicago believes that a cule the sacred things, those worth-while things. Hold them dear, Bedouin foreman of a mine, working cherish them, for they alone will sustain you in the end. And re- for the Egyptians in the half-century member, too, that only through work and, of times through hard- between 1850-1800 B. C., first used the ships, may they be obtained.

"But the compensation of blessing and sweetness at the last will glorify every hour of work and every heartache from hardship.

"Do not face the future with timidity or with fear. Face it  $\frac{1}{23}$ . solidly, courageously, joyously. Have faith in what it holds."

Gleaned from the Collegiate Press

Franklin, Nebr.—Scottie, a welltrained Scotch collie, owned by W. R. Duckett of this city, probably has attended more universities than any other dog. His "education" has been secured at the University of Chicago, the University of Kansas and Columbia University.

Scottie's master is blind, and the dog for the last three summers has guided Duckett to classes in the universities master of arts degree.

At the close of the past summer session at Columbia, when the students applauded at the close of the last lecjoined the applause with prolonged uated in '31. cheerful barking.

own conduct were given as follows by Mahatma Gandhi:

lated into English as love; Brahma- eign students for this year. charya, which may be inadequately expressed as chastity; restraint of the palate, which he elaborates as eating ing school at Welcome, Ga. for the mere sustenance of the body, abstaining from intoxicating drinks and drugs such as opium and tobacco; at the Alumnae House for a month, time for the Freshman of yesterday abstaining from the possession of while completing a business course. things for themselves; adherence to life's law that one's bread must be earned by the sweat of one's brow; ed from Europe. swadeshi, the belief that man's primary duty is to serve his neighbor; belief in the equality of all mankind; belief in the equality of all the great mathematics at Columbia University. which the Freshmen were made to faiths of the world; fearlessness.

International Student Service at Mount Holyoke College here, Dr. Walter M. Kotschnig of Austria said he their failure to cope with vital economic problems.

Pittsburgh, Pa. - Henry Smith Pritchett, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of tinued exploitation of football as a college money-making game, would lead to governments taxing colleges as

Austin, Texas.—Professor Alfred Kenngott, instructor of romance languages at the University of Texas, while on a visit to Germany this summer, met a woman salesman in a hat later married her. The couple made a wedding trip to Locarno, then return-

Denver.-Stanley M. Moore, student at the Michigan College of Mines, picked him up as a hitch-hiker.

London.—The combined Yale-Harvard track team this summer defeated Flynn, '30, is 574 Hilgarde Ave., Los The event was the tenth of its kind, and the victory gave the Americans at the Chevy Chase Junior College in six wins over their British rivals in Washington, D. C.

New York.—Speaking before the Eastern Association for the Selection of football officials here recently, Major John L. Griffiths, commissioner of the Western Conference, expressed the belief that while football might not draw as many fans this year as in previous years, he expected fully as much interest in the sport through-

Prof. Martin Sprengling of the Unicharacters which have developed into the modern alphabet.

Ohio leads all the states in the number of colleges. It has 41. New York has 40, Pennsylvania 38 and Illinois

(Continued on page 4, column 1)

Alumnae News

Miss Shirley McPhaul, '31, is now Mrs. Randolph Whitfield, Jr., and lives at 29 Peachtree Place, Atlanta.

Miss Julia Rowan, '31, is now Mrs. Eugene Brown, and is living in De-

Willis Benton Pipkin.

Miss Ruth Dunwoody, '31, visited in where he has been studying for his New York this summer. She is now relentless enthusiasm to initiate the

Miss Marion Lee is teaching school oughly squelch them. ture by Dr. William C. Bagley, Scottie in Warrenton, Ga. Marion also grad-

Simia, India.—The ten command- summer with Miss Marguerite Gerard, camp in which to spend the week-end ments which he says have guided his '31, in Miss Gerard's villa at Cannes, before rat week). Even they turned France. Miss Chandler returned on out the lights in the chapel, clanked the same boat with Miss Suzel Triaire chains, shrieked, and otherwise terri-Truth; Ahimsa, which may be trans- and Miss Jaroslava Bienertova, our for- fied the Freshmen. The scroll is like-

Miss Laelius Stallings, '31, is teach- ture!

in New York, where she is studying Sophomores. Many were the feats South Hadley, Mass.—Speaking be- liam and Mary College, where she group of Sophomores forced some fore the tenth annual meeting of the is working for her M. A. in social Freshmen to climb high up into the science.

Among the former Agnes Scott girls believed the unemployment situation at the Training School in Richmond, a night raid which was indeed a most could be blamed on the colleges for Va., this year are: Misses Esther tantalizing affair for the Freshmen. Wright, Sara Hill, Mary Alice Juhan, After several days of costume wear-Jane Grey, Mildred McCalip, Mary ing, writing of letters for Sophomores, next week on her way to visit Alice raid, and truly this was something to Teaching, warned colleges in his an- Jernigan Dowling, also '30, at her home at Sea Island Beach, Ga.

> Miss Martha Shanklin, '30, is studying at the State laboratories in Rich- thank their lucky stars that theirs was mond, Va.

> Miss Raemond Wilson, '30, is at the University of North Carolina working a ceremony for the recognition of on her M. A. in English.

shop, liked her looks, and three days ried to Mr. Turner Rice, Jr., sometime ished (as it soon was by faculty sugin November.

Miss Jean Alexander, '30, is to be was killed here by a gangster who married to Mr. John Christian Bernhardt, Oct. 14.

The address of Miss Elizabeth

Miss Helen Snyder, '30, is registrar

History of Rat Week

"Rat Week" at Agnes Scott is by no means an invention of the modern miss, but, on the contrary, is an institution quite as old as the college itself. In fact, it was soon after Agnes Scott Academy acquired the dignity of being Agnes Scott College that the Miss Ruth Pringle, '31, is now Mrs. students inaugurated the more or less undignified institution of hazing. Then the fun began, for it seems that the girl of yesterday was even more than a match for the girl of today in her teaching second grade at Butler, Ga. Freshmen into the mysteries of college life, and, incidentally, to thor-

Certain features of "rat week" at Agnes Scott have become traditional. Even the girls of 1906 had their Sophomore commission (although they Miss Weesa Chandler, '31, spent the called it a "committee," and had no wise a relic of olden days. Not even the gauntlet is a new or modern fea-

The time from Tuesday night to Friday night of the week designated Miss Elizabeth Woolfolk, '31, will be as rat week was an even more hectic than for the one of today. There was virtually "a battle of fists." Each Miss Jennie Sweeny, '31, has return- Freshman was at the mercy of her individual Sophomore. Sometimes this meant that Freshmen were subjected Miss Martha North Watson, '31, is to much cruelty, if it so pleased their perform. One alumna even tells the Miss Martha Tower, '31, is at Wil-story of her Sophomre days when a tower of Main and paint the tower! Such were the instruments of torture.

In those days "rat week" ended with and the performance of more or less dangerous feats, the Freshmen were Miss Jane Eaves, '30, will be here subjected to the final torture of night be dreaded. After night raid the bedraggled and "sufficiently squelched" Freshmen were allowed to rest in peace. Surely the class of 1935 should not the lot of the Freshmen of 1906 or other early years!

Even in those early days, there was Freshmen as incoming Sophomores and for the installation of their offi-Miss Polly Irwin, '30, will be mar- cers. When the night raid was abolgestion) some of the elements of the night raid were introduced into the Miss Lillian Thomas, '30, is teach- spring ceremony to form a spring ing Latin and French in Eatonton, Ga. raid. Last year a return was made to the simple ceremony, exclusive of any

> It was Dr. Sweet who suggested in 1909 that the Freshmen and Soph-(Continued on page 6, column 3)

> Miss Betty Reid, '30, married Mr. Sam Charles Harrison in June.

> Miss Jo Smith, '30, is on the faculty at Mercer University teaching French.

Agnes Scott College

DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities

For further information, address

J. R. McCAIN, President

Giddy, old pal,

Well, what if you have just settled gratulatons!" from said young thing. back with a sigh of relief, thinking boners.

house a day or two after she got here blind." to ask his permission to go swimming!

meanor inquired of Douschka Sweets, out in the hall. I've got some things "How do you get to be President of for you to do!" And Louise, the presi- ville News, Asheville Citizen. Student Government? Do they force dent of the Senior class, went! it on you?" Also, consider the surprise of the Senior, who with polite that I wouldn't gab so much this year! enthusiasm exclaimed to a blase young I'd better stop this before you do! thing: "Oh, you're from Alabamawhy so am I!" only to be put in her Another approached Betsy Thompthat you wouldn't hear from me at all, son, who was tearing up the piano after the long time I've waited to down at the gym, and queried, "Do write! I'm here to tell you that you're you know 'Me'?" "No," replied Betsy, foiled, because I'm back again, big as "I never saw you before, but I'm glad life, and twice as loquacious. I've got to meet you!" Then, one confided to more to say than you ever heard be- Mr. Stukes that she wasn't so very fore, because somehow, these Fresh- homesick, but she did feel a little lost men just seem adapted to pulling without her mother to tell her which dress to wear. Mr. Stukes: "Well, I'm F'r instance, there's the little dear sorry, but I can't be of much assistwho rushed around to Dr. McCain's ance along that line, because I'm color-

So much for the Freshmen—You've Then there's the pair who, in the gotta admit they're cute Giddy. But throes of hanging their curtains, went it happens that the diamond-rimmed to see Senior Harriotte Brantley: "You spectacles go this week to Maude An-- your Freshman derson, who, feeling her most Sophyear, weren't you? Well, will you tell omorish the other day, jazzed into a Rome Tribune-Herald, Macon Teleus how long were the windows in room where Louise Stakely was sitting and growled in her sternest manner, Then, one of them with serious de- "Stop what you're doing, and come on

To think that I made a resolution Devotedly,

Aggie.

Cleveland, Ohio.—A noted psychologist has given the following requirements of a scholar:

Understanding and appreciation of other races and cultures contemporary

Ability and disposition to weigh evidence in controversial matters.

Ability and disposition to mentally to environment, social and physical. project an undertaking through its successive steps before undertaking it.

Skill in explanation and prediction. Ability and disposition to look be- and contradictions. neath the surface of things before passing judgment.

Daffodil Tea Room

81 Pryor St., N. E. Atlanta, Ga.

***********

Ability to do reflective thinking. Disposition toward continued study and intellectual cultivation.

Critical and questioning attitude toward traditional sanctions.

Clarity in definition.

Discrimination in values in reacting

Analytical approach to propositions

Ability and disposition to observe accurately and systematically.

Understanding and skill in the use and generalization.

The ability to see relationships and party last Friday afternoon. accuracy in their interpretation.

A freshness of interest with respect to the developments of knowledge.

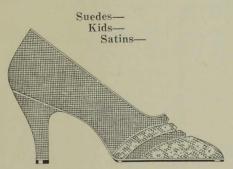

Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of the Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College has charged that selling of teach-

FOR

Exquisite Footwear

College Wear

Including Every New Style and Plenty of Styles on the New Junior and Spectator Sports Heels.

Sizes 21/2 to 8 AAA to C Widths

We Invite Your Charge Account

R. H. DAVIS, Inc.

199 Peachtree St., N. E.

Club News

Poetry Club

Poetry Club met with Miss Laney at the Alumnae House, Thursday, October 1, at 9 o'clock. Plans were made for try-outs, which will be due October 20. It is hoped that many old and new students will submit poems.

Blackfriars

The Blackfriars Executive Board met Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Miss Gooch's studio. With all memplace by a bored, "Really? Well, con- bers of the board present, there was good discussion of plans for the coming year. After the business meeting, Miss Gooch served tea and

K. U. B.

The first meeting of K. U. B. was held Wednesday, September 23.

Committees were revised in order to cover the news on campus more thoroughly. In accordance with Dr. Mc-Cain's suggestion, K. U. B. will correspond this year with the following

Savannah News, Birmingham News, Augusta Chronicle, Charlotte News, Charlotte Observer, Columbus Ledger, graph, Montgomery Advertiser, Jacksonville Times, Chattanooga Times, Griffin News, Athens Banner, Green-

Plans were made to increase mem-

Archery Club

The Archery Club members were entertained at tea Monday afternoon, September 28, in Miss Sinclair's room. Fourteen members attended this first meeting of the year, and were received by Margaret Massie, the president of the club, and Miss Sinclair. Delicious refreshments were served, and tales of summer experiences told over the tea cups. The meeting was at length called to order and a new treasurer was elected. Natilu McKenney was chosen to fill this office during leading to the detection of fallacies the year. It was decided that the club will shoot this year at 2:10 each Wednesday afternoon. Miss Sinclair took orders for bows and arrows.

Tennis Club

The Tennis Club met on the courts by the gym for a progressive tennis

After the party a business meeting was held at which Virginia Tillotson, tennis manager, presided. The club decided to have try-outs in the fall as well as in the spring. Polly Gordon was elected president, and Margaret Bell secretary.

relatives exists on a large scale in the stunted his plane as directed by the audience through a radio hook-up. Another stunter waltzed his plane in time with dance music broadcast from the > *************** Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

Sixty Second Service

፟፝ዹ፟ዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹዹ<sup>ፚ</sup>

122 Peachtree

butterflies flitting around from place all other entertainments on the cam- John R. Dinsmore. pus welcoming the newcomers and the dances and dinners and week-ends in the big city! The Hottentots are, all dressed up in new fall clothes (we see bright suits and smart dresses in as many hues as the October leaves and even now and then on the colder days J. H. Ham. a stylish winter coat). And they certainly have plenty of places to go. Where? Just see for yourself.

Miss Florence Preston spent the week-end in town with her aunt Miss Florence Preston.

Miss Mary Upshaw Jones spent the week-end in Atlanta with relatives.

Miss Maude Armstrong, Miss Frances O'Brian, and Miss Sinclair attended a hockey conference at Montevallo, Ala., last week-end.

Miss Frances McCalla spent Sunday in town with friends.

Miss Winona Pace attended the Phi Sigma Kappa dance at Tech Friday

Hamilton spent the week-end in Atlanta with Miss Ellis' aunt.

Miss Louise Levi spent the week-end in Atlanta with Mrs. W. W. Visanska.

Miss Mary MacDonald spent Sunday in Atlanta with her aunt, Mrs. Frank MacDonald.

Miss Betty Gillies spent the weekend of the September 26 in town with Mrs. Cam D. Dorsey.

Catherine DeHart, Alma Earl Ivy, Duke.

The campus is just full of social Audry Rainey, and Charlotte Regar spent the week-end of the 26th at Fort to place what with the big dance and McPherson with Captain and Mrs.

> Miss Sara Mae Love spent Sunday with her aunt, Mrs. W. L. Englis.

> Miss Catherine Welborn spent the week-end of September 26 with Mrs.

> Miss Margaret Rogers spent the week-end of the 26 with her aunt in > Misses Winona Eubank and Virginia Allen spent the week-end in LaGrange.

> Misses Mildred Hooten and Elizabeth Lightcap spent Sunday, September 27, in Atlanta with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ford.

> Miss Gus Riddle's family spent the week-end of September 26 with her.

> Misses Betty Harbison, Mary Elizabeth Walton, Catherine Maness, Dot Bradley, and Oline Chapman spent the week-end in Greensboro, Ga., at Miss Chapman's home.

Misses Claire Ivy, Catherine De-Miss Plant Ellis and Miss Elinor Hart, Audrey Rainey, Alma Earl Ivy, and Charlotte Regar spent Sunday with Sarah Davis in Atlanta.

> Miss Mattie Lou Robinson spent the week-end in Atlanta with Miss Margaret Wilder.

> Miss Alma Groves spent Sunday, 27th, with Mrs. Robert G. Nixon.

> Miss Louise Stakeley spent the week-end at her home in Atlanta.

Miss Helen Duke, '31, spent the Misses Clair Ivy, Ruth Barnett, week-end of the 26th with Frances

New York .- A lowering of economic standards in the teaching proinization and a lack of adequate pub- fully. licity in the school system," Dr. Wil-Columbia Bureau of Publications.

ing erected in memory of Dean Henry seven and eight o'clock. Burchard Fine, former Princeton of the structure is the mathematical the orientation classes. equations and geometric figures which appear in the stained-glass windows.

great nations of the world, the United weighs 275 pounds. States last year spent more than any other nation on armaments. Other nations spent for arms in the order: that because of the amount of time Soviet Union, France, Great Britain, Australians spend in their surfs, the Italy, Japan, India, Germany, Spain.

FRESHMAN ORIENTATION

(Continued from page 1, column 5) fession has been caused by "overfem- ity to budget time and money skill-

From 11:30 until 12:30 was lunch lard S. Elsbree, associate professor of hour for day students. At 12:30 Miss education at Teachers College, Colum- Leatherman conducted the Freshman At the National Air Races in Cleve- bia University, said in a survey on day students through the library. The ing appointments and giving them to land this summer Lieut. Al Williams "Teachers' Salaries," released by the plan of the library was explained, and much information concerning its use presented. The Freshman boarders Princeton, N. J.—Princeton this fall were taken on tours of inspection will dedicate a new scientific build- Monday and Tuesday night between

The handbook exams for day stumathematician. One of the features dents at 2:10 in the chapel completed

The atlas of the Great Elector of Brandenburg, Germany, said to be the largest book in the world, has been re-Although it has one of the smallest stored to its former beauty. The book of all standing armies among the is 66 inches high, 39 inches wide and

> A Sydney specialist has predicted nation is due to become a darker race.

Dennis Lindsey Printing Company

(Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING AND STATIONERY

421 Church St.

Dearborn 0976

FREE—A DESK BLOTTER TO EVERY STUDENT OF AGNES SCOTT—CALL FOR YOURS BE-FORE NOON OCTOBER 10

Hewey's

Buy Your TOILET ARTICLES SUNDRIES REMEDIES—STATIONERY SODAS—SANDWICHES

PROMPT DELIVERY

Call us Phone Dea. 0640-9110

Season's Sports

With fall comes the call for sports! New interest in old games and new games for old Hottentots! It's the time of "Sports: for fun, for everyone," as A. A. would have it. This fall the sports offered are: swimming, hockey, archery, tennis, golf, and horseback riding. Elsewhere in this week's Agonistic are write-ups of four of these sports. Read about them and join in the fun of playing the game.

GLEANINGS FROM COLLEGE PRESS

(Continued from page 2, column 3) professional game appears to be the September. The game was featured prove your game. most popular great Italian sport, would be of less importance here, it was revealed recently, were it not for of both teams, which were composed of the fall sports, and the doubles material which is imported annually upper classes. Before packed bleachfrom the Argentine, where in 25 years football has grown by leaps and

Within the last 18 months 31 Argentine football players have come to doncha know," and were followed by Italy under contract at salaries of the Spanish Toreadors waving their held in the near future and everyfrom $4,250 to $12,500.

In a game between Rome and Genoa recently seven Argentines played on one side and four on the other.

All of the players, it happens, are sons or grandsons of Italians and have between halves, and added pep to the Italian names, and their Argentine occasion by their cheering squad. The citizenship is not advertised to the public here.

Premier Mussolini recently prohibited further importation of players, but found that this would make for gross inequalities among the various teams of the country, and so lifted the ban temporarily to allow all teams to fit themselves up with enough Argentines to be able to play other strong

Chicago.—The mud pies that children often make could be eaten with enjoyment by many adults in various parts of the world, according to facts revealed in "Geophagy," a book published recently by Dr. Berthold Laufer, curator of anthology at the Field Museum of Natural History.

Dr. Laufer has made extensive research in geophagy, which is the practice of eating clay, loam and other types of soil, and has published the results of his studies throughout many countries in both ancient and modern times. His investigations began with records of earth eating in China.

Traces of the custom have been found in Indo-China, Malayasia, Polynesia, Melanesia, Australia, India, Burma, Siam, Central Asia, Siberia, Persia, Arabia, Africa, Europe, North America, Mexico, Central America and

As a rule not every kind of earth is eaten, according to Dr. Laufer, but only those kinds which recommend themselves through certain qualities of color, odor, flavor, softness and plasticity.

Geophagy occurs among the most civilized nations as well as among primitive tribes. It bears no relation to climate, race, creed or culture. It is a habit that occurs among individuals and not among any particular tribal or social group.

The women of Spain, says Dr. Laufer, once believed the eating of earth was an aid to a delicate complexion and the ladies of the Spanish aristocracy in the 17th Century had such a passion for geophagy that the ecclesiastic and secular authorities took steps to combat the evil.

Moscow.-An ancient city, believed to have thrived in the second to fourth centuries before Christ, has been dised at the station. covered by Soviet archaeologists, buried on the floor of the Black Sea on the southwestern extremity of the Crimean Peninsula.

Divers found the city under 40 feet of water, and reported the ruins to be those of a city in the shape of a great horseshoe, with walls, towers, houses and underground tunnels honeycombing the whole.

The archaelogists believe the city was destroyed in the gradual sinking of the land, which is known to be creeping rapidly into the sea.

The approximate dates of the city were establised by red clay earthenware and crockery lying about.

Exhibition Hockey

by fast and exciting play on the part ers the Angels were the first to flutter

"Anglo-Saxons changed to Angels-

Freshmen, donned in their Freshmen first game of the season—and as such it aroused much interest in the sport.

New York.—The college Senior far-

Freshman in a report issued this past summer by the Carnegie Foundation

According to the report, based on tests given more than 10,000 college students in Pennsylvania colleges and universities, the "ravages of forgetting" caused the Senior to lose, even before getting his sheepskin, much of the knowledge he had acquired during 61 out of 100 words in familiar use by educated persons," the report said.

'The effect of college on the word supply of the ordinary student appears to be almost negligible and in "The school and college curriculum," the report added, "consists of little else but isolated packages of specific and credits from any other living conditions. The sacredness of such systems of credit coinage dominates both

"The raw information which the courses had presented and which, with proper treatment, might have con-to little more than when as a fresh-ins Observatory at Ohio Wesleyan

Wooster, Ohio.—A Sigma Pi pin, lost recently by Mrs. Krauss, wife of Dr. W. E. Krauss, dairy specialist at the experiment station here, was found in the stomach of a cow butcher-

THE EMBLEM SHOP

51 North Forsyth St.

Healey Bldg.

EMBLEMS—JEWELRY

WATCH REPAIRING

man he entered the institution."

stalled in the observatory.

some cases positively injurious."

four years at school.

teacher and pupil. . .

for the Advancement of Teaching.

Hockey! Come Out

"Angels" defeated the "Toreadors" by of tennis, and now, with the opening Ball in. . . . Dribble! . . . Sticks! . . a score of one to nothing as the hockey of the fall season of athletics, is your Free shot! . . . Out! . . . Twenty-five Rome, Italy.—Football, which as a season got under way the last day of opportunity to learn to play, or to im- yard bully! . . . Don't let them get it!

Such are a few of the cries often heard on the hockey field. If you have played before, you know what bullies, dribbles, goals and all such animals are; come out, display your knowledge and work as hard as ever for your wondering what hockey sticks are

SARA WILSON HONORED

For three months previous to their matriculation at the Sarbonne, the stubecome accustomed to colloquial ing and reading the new language, and are intimately associated with French off to such a wonderful start, continue French people have not only opened they have opened their homes, and They are invited to attend outstanding stage, both classic and modern, and

> Forty per cent of the teachers on the island of Porto Rico spent the past summer attending schools in the Unit-

MRS. WILLIS TEA ROOM

1701/2 Peachtree St. Over Hanan's Shoe Store LUNCHEON

DINNER

Tennis Great Game

No matter where you are, it is al-In a closely contested exhibition hockey game the Anglo-Saxon most always possible to get in a game Tennis is one of the most interesting the large number of excellent football of "all star" hockey players from the tournament, which will begin soon, offers everyone, beginner or advanced, an opportunity to play for the fun of out on the field and sing their song of the sport itself as well as for improve-

Tryouts for the Tennis Club will be red kerchiefs at the roaring bull. The one is urged to practice and tryout.

costumes, furnished amusement for is Virginia Tillotson, assisted by La- out to the hockey field for your next tion, and medieval art. the game by their clever performances Myra Kane, Senior manager; Cornelia class practice. Keaton, Junior; Polly Gordon, Sophomore, and Elizabeth Alexander,

Come on everyone, sign up in Main for your court, and let's make this the best tennis season Agnes Scott has ed rather more badly than the college ever had.

Swimming Popular

Rumor has it that swimming is even more popular this year than it has been heretofore. Since it has gotten to don those blue or, if you prefer, their foremost universities and colgreen suits and come on in, the water's "The college Senior recognizes only fine.

> Swimming meets and water polo games are in the offing. Water polo —as you know, or if you don't, you'll learn—is a very popular sport at A. S. C., and it makes for endurance which is so necessary in that Red Cross life saving class.

From this account it is to be inideas, segregated for the time being in self-contained courses, elected semes- ferred that swimming needs you as ter-wise and cut off by examinations much as you need swimming. So up and at 'em, girls.

Philadelphia.—Five hundred thousand dollars which he had in his original will bequeathed to Yale Universitributed to a fine body of intellectual ty, will go to Lehigh University inequipment, was dumped outright at stead, under a codicil discovered in the the close of the successive terms, and will of the late Dr. Charles W. Macwhen the student came out of col- Farlane, economist and engineer, who lege his effective knowledge amounted died last May.

The codicil explained that the exchange was made because the donor believed the money would do more Delaware, Ohio.—Scientists at Perk- good in the smaller school.

The bequest will enable Lehigh to University hope that before the solar complete an economic history of the eclipse visits this part of the country Roman Empire started by Dr. Macnext year they will have ready for use Farlane, who was engaged for many the mammoth 69-inch mirror, the third years in the preparation of the hislargest in the world, now being in- tory and who gathered many thousands excerpts and references to sources, which he partly catalogued.

"All right, team, let's go! . . . Good! . . Send it here! . . . Offsides. . . . .. Rush it! ... A goal! ... Whew!"

(Continued from page 1, column 1) Paris who supervise the election of courses of the girls and boys and who divide the students according to their ability so that all may receive the went to Liepzig to visit Greta Stache, dents are sent to Nancy. Here they French, are drilled intensely in writfamilies and French culture. The leges to the aspiring Americans, but their hearts to exchange students. social functions, are given the opportunity of seeing the best plays of the are brought in close contact with all the culture of the old world.

Government statistics recently published reveal that Soviet Russia's compulsory education campaign is running 110 per cent ahead of schedule. During the czarist regime the most ever in school was 7,235,000. Last year there were 17,612,000 in Russian schools.

-and-

"Home of Quality Dry Cleaning"

20% DISCOUNT TO ALL AGNES SCOTT STUDENTS

Dyeing-Pressing-Rugs-Cold Storage

Decatur Laundry & Dry Cleaning Co.

DEARBORN 3162-3163

DECATUR, GA.

Archery News

Long ago when buffaloes ranged hither and yon, archery was most important to the Indians as a sport, as well as a means of livelihood. Now, in our day, it is still popular though slightly changed. Since there are no wild animals that we may shoot at, we have had to resort to the bull's eye. This season many would-be William Tells have added their names to the list and expressed the desire to take a shot at the two new targets furnished us. Grab a bow and come out and try your luck at Agnes Scott's big

FACULTY SPEND INTERESTING SUMMERS

(Continued from page 1, column 3) Sicily, Crete, Delos, Troy, Mycenae, Delphi, Olympia, and Pompeii. After the cruise Miss Smith spent several class colors. If, however, you are still weeks in Italy and in southern France.

Miss Lewis studied at Harvard, takgood for besides being giraffe's necks, ing advantage of the art scholarship flags, oars, and guns, jump in your awarded her last spring. She took School tennis manager for the year gym clothes, grab a stick, and come courses in design, history of decora-

> Miss Harn "did" Germany this summer. At Berlin she visited Miss Mc-Dougall at the Harlick Haus of Kaiser Wilhelm Institute, where Miss Mc-Dougall has been working in the research laboratories. Together they most benefits from every opportunity. who was our German exchange student in 1929-30. From there Miss Harn traveled to Naulburg, Thuringerin Forests and then to Munich to attend operas at the Wagner Opera Season. Later she returned to Hamburg to visit friends.

> > Miss McDougall plans to stay in Berlin till Christmas; then she will go to the Naples Biological laboratory. Later she will visit various laboratories in southern France.

> > After collecting about 1,000 small bugs, carefully indexing them and placing them in a suit case on a six weeks tour, Prof. John S. Dolley, entomologist at the University of Illinois, had them stolen from his auto, parked on a Chicago street.

or new alliquator calf. AAA to C SHOPS of black or brown suede

168 PEACHTREE ST.

New Students At Agnes Scott

|                                | THE RESERVE OF THE PARTY OF THE |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Ackerman, Helen Page1430 Ar    | ot. A, California Ave., Santa Monica, Cal.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Adams, Marie                   | 1208 Southern Terrace, Moultrie, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Adamson, Martha Josephine      | 1342 Lovering Ave., Wilmington, Del.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|                                | 52 Park Lane, Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|                                | LaFayette, Ala.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                | 407 S. Madison Ave., Monroe, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Allen, Marcha Elizabeth (day)  | Clarkesville, Va.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Arrington, Marjorie Jean (day) | 382 Angier Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Barlow, Amelia Lee             | Bardstown, Ky.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                                | 152 Erie Ave., Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|                                | 135 Superior Ave., Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                | 13 Plavecka St., Prague, Czechoslovakia                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|                                | 21 15th St., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Boggs, Mary Carr               | 1408 So. 22nd St., Birmingham, Ala.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Borden, Mary Kirby             | 111 S. George St., Goldsboro, N. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Brosnan, Sarah Elizabeth (day) | 184 Westminster Drive, Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|                                | Blackville, S. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|                                | Main St., Lithonia, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|                                | 735 Grant St., S. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                                | "Derryland," Lorane, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|                                | 271 Cherokee Ave., S. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                | Midland Dr., Asheville, N. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|                                | 1316 3rd Ave., Columbus, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|                                | Kaysferry St., McDonough, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|                                | Ellenton, S. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Champion, Jennie (day)         | 1323 Ponce de Leon, Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Chapman, Julia (special voice) | 1287 McLendon Ave., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|                                | 317 High St., Chattanooga, Tenn.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|                                | Greenville, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Coates, Catherine (day)        | 1374 Emory Rd., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Coates, Corrie Dorothy (day)   | 1374 Emory Rd., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Cole, Sarah Carolyn (day)      | 749 Peachtree St., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                | 530 E. Broughton, Savannah, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                | Springhaven Ave., Hapeville, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|                                | 658 Sherwood Rd., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                                | Warrenton, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                                | Jarvis Ave., Canton, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Crispin, Rosalyn               | 1005 39th Ave., Gulfport, Miss.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                | 1083 E. Clifton Rd., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|                                | 407 Howard Ave., Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Davis, Sara Griffin (day)      | 897 Courtenay Dr., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Denny Sereh Medlister          | Lumpkin, Ga. 207 Hillcrest Dr., High Point, N. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|                                | Calhoun St., Anderson, S. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|                                | 508 Williams St., Wayeross, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Dorman, Genevieve              | 138 Cambridge St., Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                | 2396 Peachtree Rd., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Duls, Mary Hayward             | 430 Clarice Ave., Charlotte, N. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|                                | 605 N. Poplar St., Florence, Ala.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|                                | 5117 Music Street, New Orleans, La.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Espy, Frances Catherine        | 309 N. Oates St., Dothan, Ala.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

booksons exchange

—for— GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE FLOWERS

De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg.

Diamonds—Jewelry
Watches—Clocks
JOSEPH SIEGEL
Watch Repairing a Specialty
108 E. Ponce de Leon Ave.
Masonic Temple Building
Phone De. 4205 Decatur, Ga

**************************

TRY OUR

SANDWICHES

WE MAKE THEM RIGHT

Lawrence's Pharmacy

Phones De. 0762-0763

| THE AGONISTIC                                               | C                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Eubanks Willie Florence (day)                               | R. F. D. 1, Stone Mountain, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                                             | College & Miller Sts., Fort Valley, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|                                                             | 304 Adams St., Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|                                                             | 2108 19th Ave., South, Nashville, Tenn.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Frierson, Alice Ross (day)                                  | 115 Adams St., Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Garrett, Dorothy Harrison                                   | 1017 Colonial Ave., Norfolk, Va.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Gillies, Marion Elizabeth                                   | 1148 Oakley Ave., Winnetka, Ill.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|                                                             | 846 Adair Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Goodwin, Jane Ewin                                          | Washington Apts., Rome, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|                                                             | 208 First Ave., S. E., Atlanta, Ga.645 Sycamore St., Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Greenfield, Elena V. (day)                                  | 2907 Penn Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Harman, Anne Scott (day)3                                   | 368 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Harp, Daisy MildredHarrison Louise Dulin                | Bardstown, Ky.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Heaton, Elizabeth (day)                                     | 465 Clairmont Ave., Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Henderson, Esther (day)                                     | 363 Mell Ave., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|                                                             | 140 Clairmont Ave., Decatur, Ga16 Worthington Ave., Charlotte, N. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Hertzka, Katherine Margaret (day                            | )799 Frederica St., Apt. 7, Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|                                                             | 210 Peachtree Circle, Atlanta, Ga.145 Greenwood Pl., Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|                                                             | 145 Greenwood Fl., Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Houck, Betty Lou                                            | Bradenton, Fla.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                                             | Clarksdale, Miss.Tate, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                                                             | 2119 S. McDonough St., Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Kendrick, Edith (day)                                       | 90 Westminster Drive, Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| King, Dorothy Nell (day)                                    | Stone Mountain, Ga. Stone Mountain, Ga. Anderson, S. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Landau, Sara (day)                                          | 4 Evelyn Pl., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Latimer, Mary Louise (day)                                  | 230 Meade Rd., Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|                                                             | N. Main St., Abbeville, S. C. Lumberton, N. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Long, Caroline                                              | 335 N. Center St., Statesville, N. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Long, Ruth (day)                                            | 543 Lakeshore Dr., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| McAllister, Lucille                                         | 1129 W. Peachtree St., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| McCalla, Frances Lucinda                                    | 118 Glenn Circle, Decatur, Ga.484 Ridgeway, Little Rock, Ark.305 N. Oates St., Dothan, Ala.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| McClatchey Julia Anderson (day)                             | 305 N. Oates St., Dothan, Ala.55 Woodcrest Ave., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| McConnell, Clara Mitchell (day)                             | 1313 Ponce de Leon Ave., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| McDaniel, Ida Lois (day)                                    | Club Drive, Route 6, Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| McDavid, Marie HamiltonMcGahee Emily Keith              | 507 East North St., Greenville, S. C2136 Forest Ave. Ct., Columbus, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Major, Celestia (day)                                       | 1003 Jackson St., College Park, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Mathis, Helen Rose                                          | .1205 S. McDonough St., Montgomery, Ala.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Miller, Susan ElizabethMitchell. Ada Carr               | Baconton, Ga110 W. Roosevelt St., Phoenix, Ariz.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Moore, Margery Jane (day)                                   | 853 North Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Morris, Marguerite                                          | 233 S. Main, Marion, N. C993 Cleburne Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                                             | 993 Cleburne Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga305 Ponce de Leon, Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Nelson, Virginia Bean (day)                                 | 3131 Piedmont Rd., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Osborn, Nell Malinda (day)                                  | Berkeley Rd., Avondale Estates, Ga817 N. Palafox St., Pensacola, Fla.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Palmour, Alberta Hansell                                    | 306 W. Hawthorne Ave., College Park, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Parke, Nina Woods                                           | 1534 N. 15th St., Philadelphia, Pa.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|                                                             | 612 McDonald, Waycross, Ga.544 E. Ponce de Leon Ave., Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Poliakoff, Eva                                              | 15 Bowie St., Abbeville, S. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                                                             | 611 East College, Seguin, Texas                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                                             | 811 Torbert St., Opelika, Ala.Fayetteville, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Regar, Charlotte                                            | 50 Sunset Dr., Anniston, Ala.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Richards, Loice (day)                                       | 649 E. Ponce de Leon Ave., Decatur, Ga.222 Hurt St., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Riddle, Gussie Rose                                         | 311 W. Washington St., Athens, Tenn.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Robins, Margaret Erwin                                      | South Main St., Asheboro, N. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                                             | Rockbridge Rd., Avondale Estates, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Rubel, Virginia Woods                                       | Lebanon, Ky.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Russell, Georgia                                            | 215 W. 32nd, Savannah, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Scott, Sylvia O                                             | 1003 North Ave., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Sessoms, Eleanor                                            | 25 Church St., Andalusia, Ala.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Shutze, Alsine Sadler (day)                                 | Greensboro, Ga. Greensboro, Ga. Ga. Greensboro, Greensboro, Ga. Greensboro, Greensboro, Ga. Greensboro, Greensboro, Ga. Greensboro, Greensboro, Greensboro, Ga. Greensboro, Greensboro, Greensboro, Ga. Greensboro, Greens |
| Simmons, Marjorie Helene                                    | Jacksonville Beach, Fla.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Sloan, Mary (day)                                           | 550 Culberson St., S. W., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|                                                             | 1034 Euclid Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.Bramwell, W. Va.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Spencer, Ethel Leonora                                      | Bramwell, W. Va. E. Main St., Rock Hill, S. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Squires, Mary Elizabeth                                     | 801 E. Washington St., Greenville, S. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|                                                             | 117 W. 10th Ave., Charlotte, N. C.4103 Swiss Ave., Dallas, Texas                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Stokey, Margaret Clarke (day)                               | 334 Eighth St., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|                                                             | 341 Mayson Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga. kbridge Rd., Route 1, Stone Mountain, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                                                             | Fornigge Rd., Route 1, Stone Mountain, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Tarpley, Susan Nell (day)                                   | 559 Moreland Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Inrasher, Sarah Elizabeth (day)Tomlinson, Sarah Frances | 222 E. Davis St., Decatur, Ga. LINE ST., Marietta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Travis, Frances Elizabeth (day)                             | 602 Church St., Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Triaire, Suzel Mare-RoseBd Crou                             | aet Hotel Beau Soleil, Grasse A. M., France                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|                                                             | 244 Murray Hill Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.122 Greenville, Newnan, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Twining, Geraldine Frederica                                | 3820 Lakeview Ave., Birmingham, Ala.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Underwood, Amy Eugenia                                      | Pine St., Colquitt, Ga. 2004 Bronsford St., Augusta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Wall, Mary Evelyn (day)                                     | University Drive, Brookhaven, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Ward, Mary Seymour (day)                                    | 72 Westminster Dr., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|                                                             | 231 E. Brookside Dr., Larchmont, N. Y. 2213 James St., Greenville, S. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Whitner, Laura Loomis (day)                                 | 2 East Wesley Rd., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Wilder, Laura Belle (day)                                   | Briarcliff Rd., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Wiseberg. Betty Leffler (day)                               | Atlanta, Ga723 Myrtle St., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Withers, Hester Anne                                        | Church St., Waynesville, N. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Wofford, Eleanor Cocke                                      | 571 East Main St., Spartanburg, S. C.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|                                                             | 1666 N. Emory Rd., Atlanta, Ga. College St., Fort Valley, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Wright, Bernice (day)                                       | 703 Clairmont Ave., Decatur, Ga.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Young, Elizabeth (day)                                      | 782 Parkway Dr., Atlanta, Ga.'                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

Grandmothers' Party Is Signal Success

Agnes Scott grandmothers are noted for the efficient and interesting way in which they always entertain their grandchildren, and the grandmothers' party this year was no exception to the rule.

This party, given in the gym Saturday, September 26, had as its theme the well known and widely read funny papers, which should be especially interesting to all grandchildren.

Refreshments were served as the guests entered the gym, and when everyone had arrived, a grand march was held to select the couple with the best costumes. Prizes were awarded to Catherine Happoldt and her grandchild, Georgia Russell.

As a special feature a short skit was given, representing characters from various well known comic stripe.

Inter-class Debate

An inter-class debate, sponsored by Po Alpha Phi, was held in the chapel Tuesday night after Student Government. The Senior-Sophomore team, composed of Diana Dyer and Caroline Russell, upheld the negative, and the Junior-Freshman team, composed of Katharine Woltz and Mary Jane Evans the affirmative of the question, Resolved: That all Freshmen at Agnes Scott should be placed in one dormitory.

Exchange

U. N. C.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill began its 138th session this week with a record enrollment.—Converse Parley Voo.

The Chinese are engaged in translating the English classics. Now who's going to translate them into English again?—M. S. C. W. Spectator.

They tell the one about the Sophomore who went up to a new faculty member and wanted to know who her roommate was and what her room number was in Freshman Hall. So you see the Freshmen aren't the only dumb ones.—Wesleyan Watchtower.

Shakespeare Died from 13 Diseases

London.—The death of William Shakespeare, 42, bard, was due to complication of thirteen diseases, according to an article in Lancet, British medical organ, by MacLeod Yearsley, consulting aural surgeon to St. James Hospital.

According to Yearsley, the famous playwright's death resulted from complication of fever, typhus, typhoid, paralysis, epilepsy, apoplexy, arteriosclerosis, over-smoking, chronic alcoholism, gluttony, angina pectoris, Bright's disease, pulmonary congestion and locomotor ataxia.

Will Accept Cotton for College Tuition
Baton Rouge, La.—Cotton for sheepskins! Dr. James M. Smith, president of Louisiana State University, has announced that sons and daughters of cotton farmers may pay tuition and other fees in that commodity.

The Texas Technilogical College, located at Lubbock, Texas, accepted a truck load of beans from a student in exchange for three months room and board. There's nothing like good home-grown products. That boy certainly learned something at college.—Converse Parley Voo.

Millionaires in Chicago have formed a "Hit-the-Hay" society, made up of former country boys who, in spite of their money, long for the simple joys of ha-mow sleeping.—M. S. C. W. Spectator.

Susy Jones: "Waiter, didn't you tell me this was chicken soup?" Waiter: "Yes, mam."

Susy Jones: "Why there isn't a bit of chicken in it." Waiter: "No, mam, and there ain't Waiter: "No, mam, and there ain't no dog in dog biscuit."

Jokes

She: "And while I was in Europe I saw Pitti Palace."

He: "Oh, didums?"

Solicitor: "Will you give a dime to help the old ladies' home?"

Dizzy: "Are they out again."

Newly-wed to grocer: "I want some fresh vegetables."

Grocer: "I have some nice string

Newly-wed: "Well, how much are they a string?"

Why can't the moon get married? Because it makes only a quarter a week and uses all of that getting full.

A barber and a sculptor are alike. The barber curls up and dyes; the sculptor makes faces and busts.

as they leave.—Wesleyan Watchtower.

It is reported that Gandhi is getting —U. S. C. Gamecock.

Lead pipes manufactured and installed in Rome's water system 1800 years ago is still in perfect condition. before the magnificent Black Cat. agine it's working wonders in an edu--Converse Parley Voo.

Such Crust

Clad only in pajamas, co-eds of Morningside College, Iowa, appeared at breakfast one morning. The college men waiting on the table in the is not in any way the only one. Y. W. residence hall went on a strike. is culpable of exciting this same mob Wesleyan Watchotwer.

Turkish educational officials expect illiteracy to be stamped out in Instabul dedicating herself or not. And what by the end of next year. Within the business is it of Y. W.'s anyway to past three years 218,000 adults have see whether we dedicate ourselves or been taught the new A B C's in the not? That is a matter between our day, I saw that whole end of the hall national alphabet schools there .-Converse Parley Voo.

group, finding that all their students to light one candle and lighting the slipper Miss Cooper smiled grimly as were active in other organizations, and rest from that one. If we confess God that their own group accomplished before men, as the Bible commands, nothing, voluntarily disbanded, with the recommendation that all other we do it far better in our everyday similar campus groups do the same actions, in living our religion, rather ly afflicted. She then asked the rest "and rid their over-loaded campus of than in putting our emotions on plac- of us to meet her in the library at dead clubs. - Spectator, Wisconsin ards for display. Far too many "dumb eleven o'clock. I don't know where State College for Women.

The new home economics department of the Boston University is lighting them. There's no thought, no "2.98" bargain.—Davidsonian.

prize winner, says that the youth of privilege of Y. W. to encourage wor- However, rat week was modified a old," and their reactions to serious paths of spiritual communion, but not topics of the day is summed up in the expression, "Oh, yeah!"

We beg to disagree with Miss Fer- Jones, may I present God?" ber on that point because only last week we heard an extremely bright too. Scholastic work is neglected in become a much saner affair. Yet the person comeback, quick as a flash, with order to play in the game and beat Sophomores of this year feel just as the brilliant retort, "Sez you." That just goes to show that there are potential possibilities in the youth of is more fun to play in the game, but preceding year, and the Freshmen still America, and the right opportunity to are we not sacrificing the greater to show that same stoicism—to endure spring a "fast one" is all that is need- the less important object? Intimate anything, because they can get it back ed to unleash who knows what upon friendships between girls of different on next year's Freshmen. Rat week the world.-Clemson Tiger.

An Old Subject

treatise on the weather was written by of "crush!" Do we never think for States Weather Bureau.—U. S. C. campus? Gamecock.

Longer Life

tional living.—U. S. C. Gamecock. it is said.—U. S. C. Gamecock.

We Think

[Editor's Note: The purpose of this column is to give to each student the opportunity of stating any facts, expressing any criticisms, asking any questions, offering any commendations which she thinks will accomplish something by being printed. We encourage you in, but do not confine you to, constructive criticism. The articles need not be signed. We guarantee to print anything which we feel is the honest opinion of the author and is expressed in order to inform the readers of the Agonistic and not merely in order to give the writer an opportunity to "let off steam." And finally we wish to state emphatically that the opinions expressed herein are not those of the opinions expressed herein are not those of the editors and that we are in no way responsible

We think, or rather, I think, there is entirely too much ceremony on this campus, too much ritual, too much false worship. And very little is behind any of it. It is especially noticeable in the stunts—a great waste of time, money, and energy in an attempt to put a silver bell on a composition Black Cat, worshipped and adored by all classes. Or it is an attempt to compete with another class, to show yours more clever than theirs. And as a result there are at least four hunare burnt-out emotions. Not that I Health, good nature, even friendships cational way at Agnes Scott. are trampled underfoot for the sake of this puissant pussy.

If the Cat is the greatest example of fetishness found on our campus, it spirit so that everyone rushes up and lights candles whether she is really God and ourselves and need not be driven cattle" light candles for fear of the talk they would arouse by not to attempt an introduction—"Miss much modified by faculty suggestion.

age, are frowned upon and gossiped change! "Speaking of the weather" began a about. And consequently many true long time ago. The first scientific friendships are blighted by the rumor | ********************************** Aristotle more than 300 years before ourselves? Are these "graven images" the Christian era, says the United to remain forever on the Agnes Scott

New Typewriter

A German inventor has invented a A European's chances of long life word typewriter to be used in busiare much better than that of Amer- ness correspondence. It employs the icans, is the opinion of a group of words most frequently used in busidoctors who have completed a tour of ness letters. It also has the regula-European health resorts. Periods of tion letter keys. One hundred and rest, exercise and health examinations sixty-four keys are contained in the have made the Europeans health con- keyboard. With this machine it is scious and more concerned with ra- possible to write 1000 words a minute,

Time Turns Back

EXCERPTS FROM THE DIARY OF EMILY DIVVER, A STUDENT IN THE EARLY DAYS

December First (Thursday): Making Christmas presents is the excitement of the day! I'm crocheting some napkin rings out of blue machine cord for the home folks, but- painful tonight. tonholing an edge to chamois skin spectacle wipers for the uncles and aunts, embroidering bookmarks and crocheting fascinators for the girls. We all carry our embroidery bags on trigonometry class today. I felt myour arms, and "sit and knit" on the self more of a numbskull than usual. campus, in the halls, or wherever a Lottie Kefauver was at the board look spare minute catches two or three of us together. It's lots easier to feel Christmassy when we are working on Christmas gifts.

Saturday, December 3: Atlanta today to do Christmas shopping. Kittie, Kate and I had loads of fun trying to spin out our little bits of money to cover the long lists of things we just had to buy. We came embarrassed Lottie looked she hurried that wish to build thereon. At the University of Cambridge dred injured lungs, there are neglect- home on the six o'clock dummy ter- in the sweetest way to help her get students who are expelled from the ed lessons, there are physically and ribly tired, but couldn't miss the started with the problem. After class institution are given a mock funeral mentally exhausted bodies, and there Mnemosynean Society meeting as we were to have an impromptu debate on "Co-education." It was quite a heated Lackadaisical means "affected, pensdo not enjoy the stunts as much as discussion. "Pro" and "con" the arguive or sentimental." ready to retire. His costume would anyone, and I do not wish to do away ment had its supporters. Any member indicate that he's been ready all along. with them at all. They are great fun, could express an opinion and nearly but there is no reason to exaggerate everyone did. The girls for co-educaan inter-class competition to the point tion think that working in class with reception tonight in place of our regu- down by the last legislature, so that boys would be a wonderful stimulant lar meeting. Lots of Decatur people the regents must wait until 1932 bewhere everything is laid for sacrifice to ambition. Maybe so, but I can't im-

> Josie Stephens got another box-a real Florida box—from home today, a demitrain. She invited us in to "partake." This has been a full day in more ways than

Sunday, December Fourth:

Miss Cooper certainly did score some points in favor of church attend-

When I approached the Infirmary to get excused because my ingrowing toenail was very sore and inflamed from my shopping trip to Atlanta yesterfilled with "indisposed" girls. It was drizzling rain so the most prevalent broadcast to the world through any ailment was a sniffly cold. When I A University of Florida honor such Scotch way of striking a match hobbled up in my crocheted bedroom she added my name to her long list. She kept us all waiting until she had examined each girl—and had filled the infirmary beds with the most serious-Miss Cooper found that long dry ser-

HISTORY OF RAT WEEK

(Continued from page 2, column 5) teaching women to shop. Evidently really serious thought, in the candle-omores have "a contest of wits rather they are teaching them what to do lighting service. Dedication to God than a contest of fists," and who thus with the two cents left over from a can only be accomplished beautifully inaugurated the idea of a stunt. The in private. Anything else is hiding the Sophomores chose to retain their idea was enthusiastically accepted, but Edna Ferber, novelist and Pulitzer the truth, a mere ceremony. It is the rat week in addition to the stunt idea. America is "permanently twelve years ship of God, to point along the dim great deal by the institution of stunt

> In fact, it has become "rat day." The There is the fetish of class spirit, battle between Sophs and Frosh has classes, although, perhaps, of the same may change, but the spirit of Sophomore and Freshman will never

> > MRS. HAZLERIGS LUNCH ROOM

313 E. College Ave. Wieners and Hot Dogs Delivered

L. CHAJAGE

> Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

mon she read to us as we sat around on the library floor-the chairs couldn't accommodate half of the congregation. We heard the girls coming up ing of a "university city" have been the board walk from church long be- developed by the regents of the Unifore our sermon had ended. The girls say that Mr. Gaines preached a lovely

My ingrowing nail is much less

Monday, December Fifth:

Miss Watkins certainly is angelic! We must have all been trying in ing like she had the blues terribly, and like she couldn't guess for what pur-Miss Hopkins took a group of us to waiting patiently for her to make a mark Miss Watkins finally said, "Lottie, you seem very lackadaisical today." When she saw how hurt and

Saturday, December Tenth:

I rushed out to find my dictionary.

The Mnemosynean Society gave a came, and we had a lovely time. Mrs. fore they can obtain the necessary Greene sang for us. Helen Mead had legislation. on a stunning new evening dress with

New Religious Spirit

Christianity, as it has been known, is passing from the world claims the Louis, said here in an address before Rev. John Haynes Holmes of New York city, who returned last week from Europe. He declared that the ***************** old religions of Europe are in confused retreat. A new religious spirit is coming—a religion of sacrifice, a quickening to brotherhood, and a belief in the vision of a better world.-U. S. C. Gamecock.

One of a group of five famous American portraits on exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum is one by Samuel Morse, inventor of the telegraph, who was an artist before he took up invention.

Make S. B. S.

Your Beauty Shoppe Special Styles and Features for Thanksgiving 153 Sycamore St. De. 2671 Decatur, Ga.

UNIVERSITY CITY PLANNED

Madison, Wis .- Plans for the creatversity of Wisconsin here, as a means of relieving the meagre housing facilities for the several thousand students of the university.

Discovering that the present dormitory system cares for only 500 men and 365 women, that fraternity and sorority houses take care of only 1,-500 men and 600 women, and that the rest of the 6,000 students stay in rooming houses, poorly ventilated and pose she was standing up there with lighted and without proper toilet facila piece of chalk in her hand. After ities, the regents have worked out a plan whereby the university would purchase land on the ridge overlooking Lake Mendota, and offer rent-free sites to all fraternities and sororities

There would also be college dormitories on the ridge, and each unit would be carefully plotted and landscaped in accord with the whole group. Because of a "lobby" of rooming house owners in the city, permission to go ahead with such a plan was turned Ocean Grove, N. J.—The present generation is "cynical, scoffing and self-willed," Rev. Dr. Walter A. Maier of Concordia Theological Seminary, St. a Luther Day celebration audience.

THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON TEA-DINNER 11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M. Atlanta-651/2 Broad St., N. W. Macon-151 Cotton Ave.

PICTURE FRAMES PICTURES GIFTS

GREETING CARDS You are cordially invited to "browze." The Gifts Will Delight You

BINDER'S 117 Peachtree St.

You can Buck any Line--

attired in Lewis'

Football Fashions!

The line may be a strong one . . . from Tech, Georgia, or Oglethorpe . . . but VICTORY belongs to the smart young miss who looks so jaunty, colorful, youthful and RIGHT-way up there in the Grandstand. We are on HER side, and will stand for no penalties for improper dress! Look in at Lewis' for Sport Coats, woolen dresses, knitted suits, Lapin Jackets, and Fur Coats . . . everything appropriate for the season.

H. G. LEWIS & CO.

102 Whitehall St., S. W.

Vol. XVII

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE, DECATUR, GA., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1931.

No. 2 SILHOUETTE WINS SOUTHWESTERN

N. S. P. A. Gives It Honor Rating

Agnes Scott Year Book Given Grade of 910.

According to the announcement made by Penelope Brown, editor of the 1932 Silhouette, in chapel Friday, October 9, the 1931 Silhouette has been awarded the cup given annually by the Southwestern Photoprocess Company to the year book of a girls college of under five hundred enrollment, for All-American Honor rating by the National Scholastic Press Association.

Her speech follows:

"It gives me great pleasure to announce that the Silhouette of 1931 has been given All-American Honor Rating by the National Scholastic Press Association and because of this rating will receive the cup given by Southwestern Photoprocess Company for the girls school in the Southeastern section receiving all-American rating.

"The Silhouette is a member of the N. S. P. A. which is at the University of Minnesota. Year books from the whole United States are sent in to the association and each is given a personal critical survey and scored according to art work, theme, photography, make-up and balance, finance, etc. A perfect publication would score 1000 points. Our score for 1931 was 910 points and we received the highest honor rating given in our classall-American Honor Rating-that is of female colleges of 500 enrollment or less. In 1930 the cup in the Southeastern section was won by Florida State College for Women for the women's college and by Georgia Tech for the men's. To give you an idea about all-American Rating: the others receiving the same rating as Tech were Stanford, Cal., and Notre Dame.

"This system has been in use since 1924. It is not a competitive feature entirely but serves to establish a standard-which those receiving all-American have to maintain—and other schools have a goal to attain. It serves to create within the school a year-to-year effort to improve the quality of the publication—to establish the ideal of improvement.

"It is this ideal of improvement that we, the staff have ever in mind-but the aim for which we are striving is to have every student feel that she has an integral part in the publication—it is a publication not for the staff-not for the Seniors but for Agnes Scott. We want everyone this year to cooperate and strive toward even a greater score. Points were taken off this year for complete set pictures not being included and so we operation in making the Silhouette of 1932 an all-American year book.

(Continued on page 4, column 5)

PI ALPHA PHI NEW MEMBERS

Pi Alpha Phi takes pleasure in announcing the following new members:

> Page Ackerman Helen Boyd Alma Groves Eleanor Holferty Florence Preston Grace Woodward Flora Young

Stunt Committees Begin Their Work

lent Results.

Committees for the stunts have been announced as follows: Freshman stunt:

Writing-

Louise Harrison, Chairman

Edith Dorne

Betty Gillies Nell Patillo

Scenery-

Marion Calhoun, Chairman Frances Cassels

Betty Fountain

Mary Jane Evans, Chairman Eleanor Allen Elizabeth Alexander Gladys Burns

Julia Henderson

Hester A. Withers Jack Woolfork

Julia Clark, Chairman Sarah Denny Leonora Spencer

Susan Turner

Harriet Dimoock, Chairman

Betty Wiseberg

Alice Fryerson, Chairman Vella Marie Behm

Emily McGahee Property Manager-Luis Richards

Sophomore stunt:

Stunt Chairman-

Frances O'Brien

Writing Committee-Virginia Prettyman Amelia O'Neal

Fuzzy Phillips Chub Hickson

Ann Pennington Advertising and Program: Louise McCain

Polly Gordon Martha Elliott

Dance and Music: Dot Walker Nat McKinney

Margaret Massie

C'Lena McMullen Johnnie Mae York Martha England

Properties:

Flora Young Bella Wilson

Florence Preston

Plant Ellis Mardie Friend

Delegates Attend Hockey Conference

Held at Alabama College October 2-3.

strong, accompanied by Miss Sinclair, years of English. She has always lived given by the members of the faculty They are to be found all over the Unitare asking you again for your co- attended a hockey conference held by in Prague, where her father is an of- for their advisers. This tea marks the ed States, from Florida to Oregon, Alabama College at Montevallo, Oc- ficer in the city hall. After a year beginning of a new custom—that of from California to New York, but the tober 2-3. The delegates, having ar- at Agnes Scott she plans to enter the having the entire faculty entertain at majority are in the northeast and the "It is indeed an honor to receive this rived early Friday morning, im- University in Prague to study law. mediately started practical work on Jaroslava has never been to Amer- each member holding the customary strokes and attended a lecture on rules ica before and is finding our customs group meeting at his home—and it is and tactics. Delegates from Judson, very interesting. She is living in hoped that this plan will do a great Howard, and Auburn attended the con- Sturges Cottage and says she likes deal to promote friendship between students to hear news of two of our ference and contributed many ideas to Agnes Scott very much. Her courses students and teachers. the discussions. In the afternoon there are quite interesting in view of the was actual playing and a discussion fact that she plans to be a lawyer— the tea was given, was lighted by Campbell Brown, '28, of Staunton, Va., group on umpiring. Saturday was Freshman English, sociology, social candles, and a profusion of fall flow-sister of Laura Brown, '31, received filled with alternate playing and dis- psychology, American government and ers added much to the charm of the her Ph.D. degree in chemistry from cussion of theory, after which the con- politics and international law and re- setting. Dr. McCain, Miss Alexander, Johns Hopkins University last June. ference was closed, and the delegates lations. "brought home the bacon" to share in the class hockey team practices since French exchange student this year. Sophomores helped in entertaining the degree in history at the University of no phase of the game was overlooked Suzel lived originally in Nice, but has guests. Punch and cakes were served Pennsylvania, is now studying toward in discussion or demonstration.

Gov. Roosevelt Is Host to Presidents

Warm Springs.

Franklin Roosevelt, Governor of last week the presidents of five Georgia colleges-University of Georgia, Emory University, Georgia Tech, Mer-

Governor Roosevelt, head of the Warm Springs Foundation, has found a second home at Warm Springs, Ga. He has been instrumental in establishing there a colony for victims of infantile tion is purely patriotic, as it comeducational facilities. The suggested Birth of our National Liberty. plan to meet this need is that faculty members from Georgia colleges go to Warm Springs from time to time to lecture to the patients.

Governor Roosevelt, himself a trustee of Vassar, expressed his admiration for Agnes Scott as being one of the leading women's colleges in the

All-Star Concert Series in Atlanta

Famous Musicians to Be Presented.

The All Star Concert Series, conducted by Marvin McDonald and Dudley Glass, will bring six concerts of in the form of an historic park, will importance to the Atlanta Auditorium embrace the island of Jamestown, this fall and winter. A splendid group of artists that all music lovers will be greatly interested in will be presented in the following order: The Don Cossacks Russian Chorus, November 11; Lawrence Tibbett, baritone of the Met- town, where the colonial period ended ropolitan Opera Company, December on October 19, 1781. In the aftersuprano, January 6; La Argentina, Spanish dancer, January 20; Vladimir Horowitz, Russian pianist, February 22; Yehudi Menuhin, boy wonder of the violin, March 28.

Season tickets may still be secured from Mr. Johnson.

Two New Foreign Students at A. S.

Suzel Triare and Yarka Bienertova Representatives.

Agnes Scott again has the pleasure her campus. These two students have S. national liberty. come to Agnes Scott and the United States in order to gain a broader knowledge of American people and customs and in so doing to become more familiar with the English lan-

Jaroslava Bienertova, of Prague, Czechoslovakia is beginning work on her B.A. degree here. Just last year

(Continued on page 4, column 5) throughout the afternoon.

Celebration to Be Held at Yorktown

Personnel Promises Excel- Entertains College Guests at Agnes Scott Girls to Be At- Hoase to Be Chapter of Nat. tendants.

The Yorktown Sesquicentennial cele-States." The purpose of this celebra- will be announced in a later issue.

celebration are some sponsors from of members: one in the Spring from Agnes Scott. Miss Carolyn Russell the number of the Junior class and goes as a sponsor with her maids of one in the fall from the Senior class. honor, Miss Rosalind Ware and Miss This year the fall announcement has Polly Jones. Miss Lucy Goss is also been abandoned. In addition to its to attend.

The program which is drawing peowill be marked by many high lights the same lines. and special features.

The Governor of Virginia will preside over this day, which will recall the colorful English Colonial period of American history. Secretary Ray Ly-Colonial National Monument, which, American history began with the settlement of 1607; parts of the city of Williamsburg, the colonial capital of Virginia; the battlefield area of Yorkpresented.

Saturday, October 17-Revolutionary Day. Gen. Pershing to speak.

Sunday, October 18-God and the Nation Day. Religious services and military religious gathering in the ter may be initiated into Mortar Board evening.

Monday, October 19-National Day. His Excellency Herbert Hoover will address the nation while all America listens by radio.

historical pageants, concerts by Navy and send her name to her own active and military bands, fireworks and searchlight displays.

All people who go will attend in the of having two exchange students on this nation-wide commemoration of U. inal chapter.

Faculty Entertain At Freshman Tea

Advisors Sponsor Faculty-Student Friendship.

The Freshmen were entertained Frances O'Brien and Maude Arm- she completed high school and two Tuesday afternoon, October 6, at a tea enrolled in national Mortar Board. the beginning of the year, instead of middle west.

Mortar Board Will Be Installed Here

Honorary Society.

The installation of Hoasc as a New York, had as his luncheon guests bration, in memory of the defeat of chapter of Mortar Board will take Cornwallis by George Washington one place the week-end of October 30-31. hundred and fifty years ago, is to be The membership was granted about cer University, and Agnes Scott Col- held throughout the nation, October June the first and Hoasc only lacks 16, 17, 18, 19 with an elaborate pro- these installation services to become a gram in Yorktown, Va., according "to regular chapter. Definite plans for an act of the Congress of the United the event have not been completed but

Hoase was organized in 1916. It enparalysis. The need has arisen for memorates the anniversary of the deavors to recognize unselfish service on the campus. It was the custom up Among the throngs to attend this until 1931 to have two announcements ideal of recognition, Hoasc offers opple from all over the United States portunity for further endeavor along

> Mortar Board, a national Senior Friday, October 16, Colonial Day. honorary society for women, was founded on February 16, 1918, at Syracuse, N. Y., by representatives from local Senior honorary groups at man Wilbur of the Interior Depart- Swarthmore College, Ohio State Uniment will speak and dedicate the versity and the University of Michi-

The purpose of the organization as where the English Colonial period of drawn up in the preamble to the Constitution is to provide for the co-operation between these societies, to promote college loyalty, to advance the spirit of service and fellowship and to recognize and encourage leadership 16; Amelita Galli-Curci, coloratura noon a great colonial pageant will be and to stimulate and develop a finer type of college woman. In short, the object is service, leadership and scholarship.

> Alumnae members of a new chapupon request and be allowed to wear the pin. An alumna living away from her own chapter may have an accommodation initiation in which case the Special features will be spectacular nearest active chapter will initiate her chapter to be entered on that regular chapter roll. She will then be conspirit of sympathetic cooperation in sidered an alumna member of her orig-

> > Only groups in colleges or universities which have been accredited by A. A. U. W. or A. A. U. are eligible. The organization must have been organized for at least five years with the sanction of the Dean of Women. There must be no other Senior honorary for women.

> > There are now 48 active chapters

FRANCES BROWN GETS PH.D.

It will be of interest to faculty and alumnae who have been working to-The day student parlor, in which ward their Ph.D. degrees. Frances Miss McKinney, and Mrs. Sydenstrick- Sterling Johnston, '26, who has re-Suzel Marie-Rose Triaire is our er formed the receiving lines; and ten cently completed work for a Master's a Ph.D. degree at Johns Hopkins.

Subscription Price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single copies, 5c.

Published weekly. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF

| Editor           | Betty Bonham        |
|------------------|---------------------|
| Assistant Editor | Elizabeth Lightcap  |
| Feature Editor   | Gail Nelson         |
| Society Editor   | Mary Hamilton       |
| Exchange Editor  | Elinor Hamilton     |
| Athletic Editor  | Katharine Woltz     |
| Alumnae Editor   | Letitia Rockmore    |
| Club Editor      | Bessie Meade Friend |
| Joke Editor      | Johnnie Mae York    |
| Giddy Gossip     | Caroline Lingle     |
|                  |                     |

MANAGEMENT

| Advertising Manager           | Clyde Lovejoy      |
|-------------------------------|--------------------|
| Business Manager              | Grace Fincher      |
| Circulation Manager           | Lila Ross Norfleet |
| Assistant Circulation Manager | Imogene Hudson     |

REPORTERS FOR THIS ISSUE

Polly Gordon Nelle Brown Willa Upchurch Mary MacDonald Elizabeth Hickson Eleanor Holferty Ruth Green

Virginia Herrin Porter Cowles Nancy Rogers Vera Pruit Louise Wise Gail Nelson Olive Weeks

EDITORIAL

A college is best advertised by the accomplishments of its stu- never realized the noise of the com- Place on these mountains all the big dents and alumnae and by the reputation which its organizations bined efforts of one hundred and forty cities east of the Mississippi and build and publications gain in the outside world. It it for this reason that the announcement that the Agnes Scott Annual, the Silhouette for 1931, had been awarded All-American Honor Rating by that someone really does want those the National Scholastic Press Association, was greeted with such announcements heard, or someone an enthusiastic round of applause. For we not only feel a personal really does want to listen. pride in the honor which our year book has received but we realize you've never realized you really could that every award of this sort will increase Agnes Scott's reputation as a well-balanced Liberal Arts College. Her standards of scholar- ized that Miss Hopkins reads the anship have been accepted as irreproachable and now one of her nouncements for our benefit, and any publications has been recognized as the outstanding annual put out lady of good breeding owes her the by a woman's college of an enrollment of less than five hundred in personal courtesy of quiet at these the South.

It is an honor of which we all have reason to be exceedingly proud and we are sure that the whole number of students and faculty join us in extending the heartiest congratulations to the editors, staff and workers who are responsible for the beauty, accuracy and effectiveness of the 1931 Silhouette.

In all the hurry and bustle of getting settled and started in the new session, we have been unable to fully appreciate one of the Alaska during the summer. She will advantages which we have this year at Agnes Scott. On our campus are two girls, who not only give us an opportunity to display our Southern hospitality, American friendliness and a growing feeling of internationalism, but also have much that they can give to us in return.

The world is growing smaller every day, through the media of better means of communication and transportation. As we draw closer to the other nations of the world, we feel a more lively interest in them and in our relations to each other. Never before the campus last week. She is teaching in history has there been more discussion of international problems, particularly the European situation and its relation to us. In the presence of Suzel Marie Rose Triare and Jaroslava Bierertova, in the Alumnae House. She is teachwe have a splendid opportunity for a first hand knowledge of the ing science in Greenwood, S. C. nationalities these girls represent. From an association with Suzel, we can, perhaps, come to a better understanding of the French temperament and consequently consider Franco-American problems with more intelligence. From Jaroslava, we can learn something of that nation whose name is so hard to spell and whose Latin at Ocean Springs, Miss. history as an individual dates only from 1919—Czechoslovakia. As an opportunity of this sort will not be presented to us often, we are sure that you will all agree with us that it should be taken advantage of to as great a degree as their leisure from their studies France. allows.

We Think

[Editor's Note: The purpose of this column is to give to each student the opportunity of stating any facts, expressing any criticisms, asking any questions, offering any commendations which she thinks will accomplish something by being printed. We encourage you in, but do not confine you to, constructive criticism. The articles need not be signed. We guarantee to print anything which we feel is the honest opinion of the author and is expressed in order to inform the readers of the Agonistic and not merely in order to give the writer an opportunity to "let off steam." And writer an opportunity to "let off steam." And finally we wish to state emphatically that the opinions expressed herein are not those of the editors and that we are in no way responsible for them.]

From as far back as I can remember, people have been writing We Thinks about the library situation. Scarcely a conversation occurs, in which some difficulty about library dress. books is not mentioned. "Someone took the book I signed up," "The library is so noisy that I can't study" and like phrases have become stock in our minds, and yet we seem to keep on running in the same old rut.

If the trouble could be placed at the door of any one group of people or any one difficulty in library administration, it would not be hard to find a solution. It is only because the situation involves every person who uses the library (which means all the students and faculty at Agnes Scott) that this problem is such a millstone around our necks. I'll venture to say that there is not a girl on the campus who has a perfectly clear conscience on the subject of infringement of library rules. We are all guilty of being to various degrees-inconsiderate, discourteous and uncooperative in our library behaviour.

that some readers of the Agonistic or work out some scheme which will ers from the marble brink. make conditions more satisfactory both to the library officials and to those who make the library their temporary abode for a large part of the time.

We think that it is a positive dismark to your neighbor, and she to miles and you have Japan." hers. Perhaps you've never realized wait a few minutes to appease your appetites. Perhaps you've never realtimes even if you aren't interested in what she has to say.

I move we cut out the noise!

Alumnae News

Miss Adele Arbuckle is studying in New York.

Miss Elmore Bellingrath visited

Miss Rebecca Christian is working on her M. A. in history at Emory.

Miss Ellen Davis is working on her M. A. in English at the University of Miss Helen Duke was a visitor on

Miss Jean Grey spent last week-end

Miss Chopin Hudson is teaching in Ware Shoals, S. C.

Miss Ruth MacAuliffe is teaching

Miss Ann McCallie has gone to Paris to study at the Sorbonne. Her address is Foyer International, Paris,

(Continued on page 4, column 4)

Four Years Ago This The Stunt Down Week

(From the Agonistic files)

Knight for Lady Agnes' hand.

were elected to Hoase, with Carolina this. McCall making the announcement ad-

Kappa Kappa, is organized.

at two performances.

(Excerpt from Giddy): During Sophomore week every building and wasn't even any dirt under the beds, the severity of the hazing. and you know that's not natural, Giddy. get dusty doing the dirty work, so I don't offer any solution to this Harriet Smith, after a "Keep Klean which Sophomores and Freshmen have problem. I have none. But I do hope Kampaigne" went a-wading in the concentrated their noblest efforts, bathtub. You really should have seen each class determined to make theirs some organization on the campus can her singing songs and picking flow- the best. Outsiders have considered > Eighteen reporters are added to the Agonistic Staff!

> Doctor Logan on being interviewed as to how Japan looked said:

"Take the Appalachian Mountains grace to the homes from which we from the St. Lawrence River on the come, to our former training, and to North to Birmingham, Ala., on the listening to the yelling and cheering our own selves, to listen, or rather try south and drop them into the ocean. and listen, to an announcement made Make the mountain peaks a little in our dining rooms. Perhaps you've higher and the valleys a little deeper. forks, to say nothing of that side re- a town the size of Decatur every two

> One of the newest organizations on the campus is the Pen and Brush Club, tryouts for which are due Oct. 21. This club encourages both artistic training and appreciation.

Exchange

I believe in equality for every one except reporters and photographers .-Mahatma Gandhi.—Davidsonian.

ed suffrage on October 1. The vot- six Freshman classes have succeeded ing age was put at 23.-W. S. C. W. in wresting the trophy from the that of the stuggle for existence to the fore. Everyone awaits with the utquestion of how to spend the addi- most anticipation the performance of tional leisure which we shall have .- this year's stunts. And who knows Assistant Secretary of the Navy Jahn- who will win-Sophomores or Fresh-

Thru the Ages

Stunt night at Agnes Scott was Freshmen, Class of '31, bell black originated in 1909. It is to Dr. Sweet First Freshman class to win that we owe this noble idea which has since 1922. The stunt was a medieval meant loads of fun, lots of secrets, version of the recent Dempsey-Tunney keen competition, a super abundance bout in the "Tunney-ment" between of pep and class spirit, and an all the Green Knight and the Black round good time for Freshmen and Sophomores in particular, and more or less for the rest of the campus and Seven members of the Senior class the general public from that day to

The question might be asked: "How could anyone be inspired with such a splendid idea?" It was this way. A Freshman classical club, Phi There was a general controversy at the time over the danger of Sophomore-Freshman hazing, and Dr. Sweet, A. S. C. girls appear at the Howard in particular, was horrified at the Theatre. A quartet sing two numbers weary and bedraggled condition of the Frosh as well as the casualties which happened occasionally. It was then that Essay Club formed on the campus, she suggested to Miss Hopkins that under sponsoring of Miss Christie. Sophomore-Freshman activities be "a (Ed. Note. This club was named the contest of wits rather than a contest 'Salutation and the Cat" and later of fists." The idea spread like wildcombined with B. O. Z., the short story fire, and was eagerly adopted. However, the girls chose to make it an addition to their activities, rather than a substitute for Rat Week. Neverthewalk on the campus just shone. There less, its immediate result was to lessen

Since that fall of 1909 every Oc-We didn't want the poor Freshmen to tober has brought a stunt night on the stunts remarkable, and have often expressed their admiration for the originality and attractiveness of the stunts, the gay decorations, and the pep and enthusiasm of the two classes. One speaker spoke in chapel of the thrill and inspiration he received from of those two classes, bent on a single purpose-to have that cat!

> People from Atlanta and Decatur have always been interested in the stunts, and look forward every year to watching the spectacle. The stunts were originally held in the chapel, and spectators often had to stand. Notwithstanding this fact, they continued to come and enjoy the stunts. The first year that the gym was finished and the stunts were held there for the first time, 1100 people came to see them! All of which proves that the general public considers our stunts quite worth seeing!

Most of the bells which hang on the black kitty's neck bear the letters of The Women of Madrid were grant- Sophomore classes, but about five or clutches of the Sophomores. Both stunts every year have been most orig-The problem of life will turn from inal and different from any held be-—Davidsonian. men? Only the black kitty can say.

Agnes Scott College

DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities

For further information, address

J. R. McCAIN, President

blame the Hottentots for frolicking in Duke, and Natilu McKenney. to town for a grand and glorious weekend packed full of shows and dances What a delightful time of year it is and Hazel Turner were the guests of just right for social activities of all Dr. Brittain in his box at the Techforget that. Football with all its trim- tober 3. mings—the exciting game in the afternoon and the swell dances that night. Isn't it just too grand?

Miss Imogene Hudson was maid of Georgia. honor in the wedding of her sister, Miss Martha Hudson, which took place in Atlanta Friday night.

Misses Mary Miller and Lila Norwith Miss Penelope Brown.

Miss Betty Thompson attended the Candler-Edmundson wedding and reception in Atlanta, October 8.

Miss Louise Wesley attended the Chi Phi tea-dance at Tech, Thursday afternoon.

Miss Julia Blundell spent Thursday in Atlanta with Miss Elizabeth Young.

Misses Helen McMillan and Clyde Lovejoy spent the week-end in Atlanta with the former's sister.

Misses Marlyn Tate and Virginia Wilson spent the week-end in Atlanta with Mrs. A. M. Malcolm.

Misses Hettie and Etta Mathis had as their guest for the week-end Miss Etta Walker, their aunt.

Miss Clyde Lovejoy attended the Pi Kappa Phi pledge party at Tech Friday, October 2.

Barnett spent the week-end in town at Miss Eldridge Groves in Atlanta. with Mrs. G. M. Pollack.

Miss Catherine Welborn spent the week-end in Canton, Ga. week-end in Athens, Ga., with Miss Hilda McCurdy, '31.

Fall is here! Bright leaves, cool | Among those attending the dance at breezes, spiffy clothes and all. And the Palais Peachtree Friday night with such a combination, can you were Misses Markie Mowry, Frances

Misses Carolyn Russell, Mallie

Miss Madge York spent the weekwho is a student at the University of Miss Mallie White spent the weekend in Atlanta with Mrs. G. C. Lynch.

Misses Carolyn Russell, Rosalind fleet spent the week-end in Atlanta Ware, and Polly Jones are to leave first meeting, Tuesday night, October October 15 for Yorktown, Va., where they will attend the Sesqui-Centennial of the Battle of Yorktown.

> Miss Hazel Turner spent the weekend at her home in LaGrange, Ga.

> Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Young and Miss Jennie Young, of Anderson, S. C., spent the week-end with Miss Flora Young.

> Miss Elinor Hamilton's mother, Mrs. C. L. Hamilton, spent Thursday with > Misses Susan Turner and Marguerite Manget spent the week-end in Atlanta with Miss Ella Hopson.

> Miss Louise Brant spent the weekend in Atlanta with her sister, Mrs. M. J. Herholsheimer.

Miss Eleanor Williams spent the week-end in Atlanta with friends.

Miss Mary Hamilton's mother, Mrs. G. W. Hamilton, and sister, Miss Emily Lilian Hamilton, of Dalton, Ga., spent the week-end with her.

Miss Plant Ellis attended open Misses Margaret Rogers and Ruth house for the Tech Bible class Sunday

Miss Maxine Chrysler spent the Misses Willa Upchurch, Florence Mangis, and Florence Preston spent Misses Ann Penington and Virginia the week-end at the Y. W. C. A. Camp Rubel spent the week-end in Atlanta. with the Girls' Reserve Club.

A shop for

G irls and teachers N ewest of the news

E ach day

S tyles for every taste

S uits—beautiful furred C oats—handsomely

O r jauntily tailored

T hen our frocks

T hese you'll be proud to own!

**********************

Come see for yourselves. Our College Styles at Most reasonable prices.

DRESSES, $9.75 UP COATS, $24.75 UP

Club News

New members of the Glee Club were entertained at a tea in Mr. Johnson's studio, Monday, October 5, from five to six. The following girls, including the officers of the club, were hostesses: Julia Grim met Madge York, Betsy Thompson, Margaret Glass, and Kathleen Bowen. Coffee and wafers were served during the afternoon.

One purpose of the tea was to intiate the new girls. They were given Dearest Giddy, ten minutes in which to prepare a short operetta, and then presented it, for the amusement of the other guests.

Chemistry Club

The Chemistry Club held its first and other such wonderful things? White, Johnnie Mae York, Helen Boyd meeting of the year Monday night, October 5, in the chemistry lecture room. The president, the Mathis twins, welcomed the members after kinds and for football, too; we mustn't South Carolina football game, Oc- which the constitution of the club and the minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Gail Nelson. Dr. Guy, of Emory, made a very interesting talk on the subject "What end in Athens with Miss Lessie Bailey, Chemistry Means to Me," in which he stressed the significance of the chemical laboratory in modern life. At the conclusion of the talk there was a short social hour under the direction of Betsy Thompson, vice president.

Pen and Brush Club

The Pen and Brush Club held its 6. Plans were discussed concerning the club stationery for this year and the try-outs which will be due on October 21. It is hoped that many will try-out.

Bible Club

The Bible Club met on Wednesday, October 7, at 5:10 in Mr. Johnson's studio for a business and social hour. other baffled the worst. (Continued on page 4, column 1)

Hewey's

********************

Buy Your TOILET ARTICLES SUNDRIES REMEDIES—STATIONERY SODAS—SANDWICHES

PROMPT DELIVERY

Call us Phone Dea. 0640-9110

experienced the sensation of standing heard Betsy Thompson exuding over on the edge of the rug in the Exec Bob, the Superman? If you haven't, room, we're really settled down. Do I can tell you this much,—his favoryou realize that we've been here over ite pastime seems to be taking her to a month! You ask how I can tell? weddings. And you'd think Kitty Why, by the old Agnes Scott method- Woltz had gone and opened up a pet I have a test in every subject. Well, shop. Have you seen her 'Gator, and even if it is test time, it's stunt time, heard her Sweet White Dove? I think too; so life isn't really such a weary she's quite attached to both. And now wilderness of woe (alliteration, that Genie Hudson's sister has gone Giddy). That old cat may be a fetish, and gotten married, Genie probably or whatever you call it, but at least thinks she has to get herself tied up it keeps things from being dull around to Steve in a big hurry.

hear about Mr. Stukes' important role it once was. Why, it's gotten so that in the Civitan play last week? I didn't no life-loving girl dares go anywhere see it, but if you can imagine our Mr. at night for fear of being stabbed in Stukes flitting around in a backless the back, or "murder"ed in some mandress, it's more than I can! I'll bet ner. I'm glad I'm such an old cat, behe didn't do it very psychologically, cause the first seven or eight times

Suzel and Yarka strutting around in eke out a miserable existence the way our midst? Why, it reminds me of Mildred Harp does. The poor girl sat the League of Nations. By the way, up on such a tension the other night when Yarka's B. F. comes to see her, waiting for the fire alarm, that she there's always a tussle between him had hysterics. After she's been here a and Cora. It seems that he and Cora century or so, the way we have, she'll can't hit it off very well linguistically, learn to sleep until the alarm, and and they have a bout every time he have the hysterics, or the screaming comes, to see which one can get the jitters, or anything she prefers, after-this wonderful thing called love, Gid- suffering a relapse from such a deldy? Well, let me warn you against uge, but you'll have to make allowit—it's a most ravaging ailment. Just ances for me—I can't always do as look at the inroads it's made on our well as I mean. campus this fall. Haven't you seen Nell Starr sitting around in a brown study most of the time? "Lit" me tell Now that all the new students have you, it's terrible. And haven't you

Giddy, I'm embarrassed to say this, Speaking of stunts, Giddy, did you but the old institute just isn't what one gets murdered are generally a Giddy, do you feel as cosmopolitan little hard to live through. But after these days, as I do, when you see all, I'd just as soon die quickly as to wards.

Did you ever come in contact with And you, poor soul, are probably

Your devoted,

Aggie.

L. CHAJAGE

Dixie's Leading Furrier

220 Peachtree St.

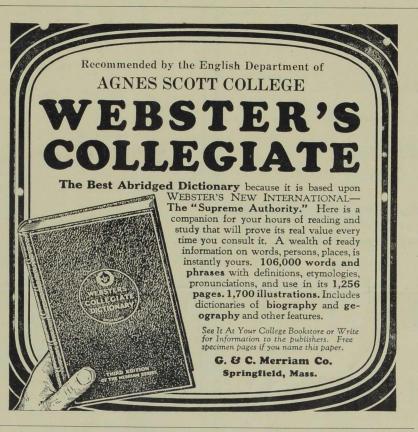

Expert Remodeling

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE

FLOWERS

De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg.

Dennis Lindsey Printing Company

(Incorporated)

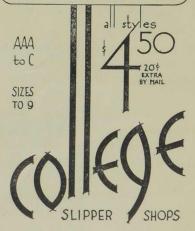

COMMERCIAL PRINTING AND STATIONERY

421 Church St.

Dearborn 0976

Decatur, Ga.

Daintiest piping of silver or gold brings out the clever lines of this pump of.. black, brown or ivy

green suede · · · · ·

168 PEACHTREE ST.

CLUB NEWS

(Continued from page 3, column 3) Olive Weeks presided. Mrs. Sydenstricker gave a brief sketch of the work of the club for the past ten years and of its organization and also an idea of plans for this year's work. Officers were elected as follows:

President-Olive Weeks. Vice-President-Madge York. Secretary-Treasurer—Sarah Strick-

The first Wednesday in each month was set for the regular meeting day. Five groups were chosen to plan the year's program, each group having one month's work to plan. After other minor matters were discussed, the meeting adjourned.

Glee Club

The Glee Club met Monday afternoon, October 5, at 5 o'clock in Mr. Johnson's studio to welcome the members recently received into the club. They are:

First soprano-

Elizabeth Davis Virginia Wood Marjorie Simmons Marlyn Tate

Second soprano-Mary Louise Schuman Elizabeth Winn

First alto-

Isabelle Wilson Margaret Massie

Second alto-Ruth Shippey Marguerite Jones

International Relations Club

The first meeting of the Internaday night, October 8, in Miss Gooch's studio. The meeting was called to order by the president, Florence Kleybecker and a short business meeting was held. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Louise Wise. Floyd Foster was elected vice-president, and Louise Stakely a member of the executive council of the club.

An interesting program was given, consisting of talks about Germany and England: Lila Norfleet. "Russia's Five-Year Plan"; Floyd Foster, "South America"; Maude Armstrong, "Chilean Dictatorship Overthrown."

The club decided to study European countries this semester, choosing the country where the most interesting events were occuring for the program of each month.

The president announced that C. Douglas Booth would speak to the club in November on "The Permanent Court of International Justice."

Athletic News

Now is the time for all good Hottentots to come to Camp Pine Lodge, where "sports for fun for everyone" can be achieved—from mountain 4, with a very inspiring talk by Dean climbing to Swiss yodeling. Camp is DeOvies of St. Philip's Episcopal Caa great relief after six days of history in the library and lab the rest of the time. It allows one to get out into the great open spaces-at least they would be if it weren't for the mountain and a few thousand pine trees-and it gives one a chance to consume all the "steak and" desirable.

The camp is about sixteen miles from school at the back of Stone Mountain on a bosky bit of land loaned to Agnes Scott by the Venables. And many are the Poetry Club tryouts inspired by the view from the doorway. Boisterous square dances are quite a success at camp as well as exciting games of "murder." Sign up for your week-end at camp right away —obey that impulse.

One of the newest and most attractive sports at Agnes Scott is golf. Golfing allures more Hottentots every year to shoulder their sticks and spend their Tuesday afternoons out on the green. Almost every day some prospective golfer can be found driving out lawn behind Gaines. It is rumored that some of these future golf satellites soon forget. have even challenged Bobby Jones, or at least, they intended to until they | ******************* saw him drive out on the East Lake links last week! But just give them tional Relations Club was held Thurs- a few more weeks, and they will show Bobby a thing or three about golf. one would not expect the sport to be so popular, this season of the depression; but in spite of all odds against it, golfing holds its own and finds its ranks increasing every day.

> She: "There used to be something about you that I liked very much." He: "Yes?"

She: "And now you have spent it

A cat may have nine lives but a frog croaks every day.

፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠ SILHOUETTE TEA ROOM Anna Young Alumnae House Hours 4:00-7:00

10:00-10:30

******

Y. W. News

The theme of Y. W. for this term, augurated at Vespers Sunday, October Resident School, West 82nd St.

The Dean brought out the idea that, in order to conquer, an individual must know herself, must develop that individuality which no one else can possess and which she can in no way change. In Nature's kingdom every leaf, every blade of grass is in some way different from every other of its kind. Often it takes the revealing eye difference. So, in our own lives there lanta. an ability individual to each; through the revealing eye of Christ we can discover this gift. Dean De- Executive Training Department of Ovies stressed the fact that not to possess some great ability is no sinbut to allow to lie dormant any ability, great or small which God has given to French and English in the Marion, Va., us is a terrible sin. He appealed to high school. every girl to discover in herself that talent which is hers alone, from Godto conquer with Christ.

Dean DeOvies' delightful manner, his absolute sincerity, and his ability to inspire his audience has made him a favorite speaker on our campus. His on the hockey field or putting on the talk Sunday night carried a challenge which those who heard him will not

> MRS. HAZLERIGS LUNCH ROOM

313 E. College Ave. Wieners and Hot Dogs Delivered

Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

Sixty Second Service 122 Peachtree

*******************

ALUMNAE NEWS

(Continued from page 2, column 3) Miss Clara Knox Nunnally is teaching in a kindergarten in New York "Conquering With Christ," was in- City. Her address is Mrs. Ferguson's > in the laboratories at Grady University under Dr. Leddingham.

> Miss Kitty Reid is working in the advertising department at Rich's. She is living with Dr. and Mrs. Goss in

Miss Jennie Sweeny is taking a technician course at the Henrietta of the microscope to make evident this Eggleston Memorial Hospital in At-

> Miss Martha Sprinkle is with the Macy's, in New York.

Miss Mary Sprinkle is teaching

Miss Louise Ware has accepted a position as recorder in the registrar's office at Emory University.

Miss Gertrude Willoughby is working for the Welfare Office in Gainesville, Fla.

work at Radcliffe.

Miss Annie Zillah Watson, ex '31, will be marired to Mr. Charles Leiff, of Marianna, Fla., October 14. Miss Mollie Childress, '31, will be a brides-

******** BAILEY BROS. SHOE

142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies' Work DE. 0172 WE DELIVER

SILHOUETTE WINS CUP (Continued from page 1, column 1)

rating and all glory and laud for attaining this goes to Mrs. Randolph Whitfield, Shirley McPhaul, editor of the 1931 book, who planned the winning book and to Martha Tower who Miss Katherine Morrow is working had charge of financing it. Theirs is the standard which we the students of 1932 shall strive to maintain.

> "The cup—given by Southwestern Photo Process Co-will be brought from Florida immediately, engraved with Silhouette, 1931, Agnes Scott and the managing editor's name and placed in Buttrick Hall within ten days. It, I might say, is quite an imposing one of about three feet high. We want everyone to see it because it belongs to each and everyone. It's up to us to keep it for three years and then forever. The pace has been setlet's keep it up!"

TWO NEW FOREIGN STUDENTS

(Continued from page 1, column 3) spent the greater part of her life in Grosse. Here she attended the College de Jeunes Filles for seven years. Then she entered the College de Grasse, classe de philosophie in preparation for taking her B.A. degree from the Academie d' Aix in July, 1927. For the past several years she has been studying at the Sorbonne and at the Institute Catholique in Paris. She is primarily interested in English, since Miss Ellene Winn is doing graduate she plans to be a teacher, but she has also studied Italian and Russian.

Suzel is taking a number of English courses this year in addition to a course in Latin. She is very interested in athletics. Suzel lives in 53 Main.

THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON TEA—DINNER 11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M. Atlanta-651/2 Broad St., N. W. Macon—151 Cotton Ave.

STARNES

DELICIOUS SANDWICHES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER

"BIG DEC"

The College Crowd Is All Knit UP!

3-Pc.

— In a brisk and most contemporary manner . . . showing off the trick fastenings, the high, round necklines, the new tiles, greens, browns, blues and blacks that flash into the October lime-

Ribbed Knits

Hand-Knit Effects

Thriftstyle Shop—Third Floor

RICH'S

TRY OUR

SANDWICHES

WE MAKE THEM RIGHT

Lawrence's Pharmacy

Phones De. 0762-0763

HATS!!

Sports, Street or Formal

Moderately Priced

McKINNEY

166 PEACHTREE ST.

Opposite Paramount Theater

Vol. XVII

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE, DECATUR, GA., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1931

No. 3

SOPH STUNT WINS BLACK CAT

Miss Haynes Vesper Speaker, October 18

ject of Splendid Talk.

Miss Harriette Haynes spoke at Y. speech follows:

feel rather as John Bunyan must have, paign, which is to begin Wednesday. on his weary climb, for I am not at all difficulties, not until this talk is over total amount of the pledges from -at least.

In this busy life that we lead we amount, if not exceed it. often lose sight of those people and anxious to be up-to-date-modernthat we are afraid not to read the latest to be left behind.

This is not to be a plea for old "fogy ism" or ultra-modernism, we are all full of platitudes (I trust). Rather I selves.

Plato said: "Know thyself." The Bible has given us many instances which say almost the same thing: "He that hath no rule over his own spirit is like a city that is broken down and without walls." And again-"Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." Shakespeare says: "This above all, to thine ownself be "To thine ownself be true." To say it in our own terms we have "conquer bursts out with:

"Don't try to flee your loneliness, You'll find it in the end; Just get acquainted with yourself, friend."

Education is growth; knowing yourself is spiritual growth. It has been A. S. Preliminary said that thinking is the most unpopular sport on the campus and it has also been said that before a man can learn to think for himself he must Pi Alpha Phi Prepares to learn to think at all.

Why should we want to get out of our mental fogs? Why know a bit more about ourselves? These may bate Agnes Scott, December 10, in the women under thirty years of age. seem like foolish questions but they're not. If possible we want to gain a mature thinking apparatus, for our tion for debate is: "Resolved: That Stowe School and Balliol College, Oxown spiritual growth and independ- American civilization is a greater ford University; in 1930 he took his ence—a chance to get wisdom and danger to the world than that of Rus- honours degree in history at Oxford. with this wisdom an understanding, so sia." that one may be able to be of some help to our fellow men.

minds that at times it seems as though debate. Eight members have been ty. For two years he was the acwe can see neither through them nor chosen to work on the subject. They knowledged leader of conservative around them. But, for these thickets that we all have, I'm going to name some tangible things that meet us at every turn and that we have to struggle with: jealousy, sensitiveness, pessimism, finding fault, failure to analyze, discouragement, reslessness, laziness, indecision, idle talking, disillusionment. always being in a mad rush, loss of faith in self and others. And so onyou can name many more.

But definitely what are some of the things that will help you look inward and upward?

They are: an open mind, a philos-

Y. W. C. A. Presents | Adult Educational

1931-32 Pledges.

As a forerunner of the Y. W. bud-faculty and students will reach this things that have laid the foundation aside from getting the money for the for what we actually are. We are so budget, is to make every person on the campus feel that she has an active and philosophical or educational treatises useful part in the Y. W. work. It is tion at the Alumnae Tea House. The -to say nothing of the fiction. We the hope of the soliciting committee luncheon on Friday is to be followed indifferent, all because we don't want through large pledges from some of lectures of the morning. Saturday the students, but through pledges from all members of the student body.

In his address to the members of the strives for a looking at the old and committee Mr. Stukes stressed specialthe new and an attempt to find our- ly having every student make at least a small pledge so that the college community may have one hundred per cent representation in Y. W.

The money in the budget goes for a great many different things. Part of it is used for social and religious work on our own campus. Every year it is the custom of Y. W. to have some true and it must follow as the night well known minister come to the colthe day, thou canst not be false to any lege and conduct chapel exercises for a week, giving addresses on various subjects of interest. This is done with yourself." Whereas the cheerful cherub money from the budget. Part of the money is sent to Miss Winn, a graduate of Agnes Scott, who is a missionary in Korea. Another part is used to send members of Agnes Scott Y. W. to conventions where they may You'll gain one understanding learn things that will help to improve our Y. W.

Debaters Chosen

Debate Oxford Team.

Bucher Scott gymnasium. The ques-

Pi Apha Phi, with the help of Dr.

Nelle Brown Porter Cowles Margaret Glass Anne Hopkins Katharine Woltz Laura Spivey Mary Hudmon Carolyn Russell

Each of these girls will debate twice before November 13, when the varsity will be announced. After that date, ophy of your own, fortitude for "it the varsity will debate three times be- friends are expected to attend the (Continued from page 1, column 5) fore the intercollegiate debate.

Budget This Week Program Announced

"Personal Thickets" Is Sub- $1,650 Placed as Goal for Lectures to Be Sponsored by Princess Der Ling and Dr. Alumnae Thanksgiving.

A series of lectures on adult educadormitory chairmen, Margaret Bell, holidays, with the general aim of the poster as you entered, with the Wednesday night in the Y. W. cabinet nae as possible for this series and for ber 13. Pilgrim plodding along. I'm afraid I room to discuss plans for the cam- homecoming week. Representative The budget for this year has been Davidson and Miss Lewis, and on Sat- that the sale of 1931-32 season tickets the speakers on this year's lecture program will address the alumnae. Other schools to be represented by lec-The main object of the campaign, tures are Oglethorpe and Emory.

Friday a luncheon is to be given lecturers. for the alumnae in Rebekah Scott dining hall, and on Friday afternoon there will be the Homecoming recepnight, a formal dinner is scheduled to be held also at the Tea House.

This series of lectures will inaugurate this plan here on this campus, and in accordance with the already established custom of several colleges, it is planned to continue it annually.

During the entire period of homecoming, there will be an art exhibit of work done here on the campus.

N. S. F. A. Sends News of Debaters

John Boyd-Carpenter and John Foot Described.

The members of Oxford University debating team, chosen as representatives of the Oxford Union Society, which will meet an Agnes Scott team, December 10, is described in the following extract from information received by Pi Alpha Phi from the N. S. F. A. The N. S. F. A. is managing this team's American tour.

John Archibald Boyd-Carpenter, Cassel, Willa Beckham. Balliol College, Oxford University:

Mr. Boyd-Carpenter is the son of Major Sir Archibald Boyd-Carpenter, a former financial secretary to the treasury and paymaster general in the British Government, a member of the Conservative Party and leader of the Die-Hard Group. He was one of the twelve members of Parliament to op-Oxford University, England, will de- pose the grant of the suffrage to

Mr. Boyd-Carpenter himself is twenty-three years old; he was educated at

He was Librarian of the Oxford Union Society in the Michaelmas term of 1929. During the Michaelmas term There are so many thickets in our Hayes, is already preparing for this of 1930 he was president of this Socieopinion in Oxford, and was President (Continued on page 3, column 1)

MISS HALE TO SPEAK AT INVESTITURE

Miss Louise Hale has been selected, according to an announcement by Louise Stakely, Senior president, as speaker at Investiture, which is scheduled for Saturday November 7, in the

The schedule for Saturday will vary slightly, classes beginning a little before 8 o'clock and ending at eleventhirty. Many alumnae, parents and service.

Take-Off Launches Lecture Ass'n Sale

Averardi Return to Campus.

Two of the lecturers who visited the speakers from the faculty will be Dr. the Lecture Association, announced nese costume, gave an excellent im- during the intermission. personation of the Princess Der Ling, peruse it whether it be good, bad or that the budget will be obtained, not by a round-table discussion on the Dowager of China. She illustrated her the complications arising at El Aggie of which were likenesses of herself.

ing fashion.

The committee in charge of the sale of lecture tickets is composed of:

Faculty-Miss Laney.

Rebekah-Elizabeth Lynch, Charlotte Reid.

Main-Olive Weeks, Carolyn Rus-

Inman - Louise Wise, Katherine Wright, Frederica Twining.

Sturges-Mildred Hooten.

Lupton-Martha Stigall.

Ansley-Vivian Martin. Gaines-Johnnie Turner.

White House-Imogene Hudson.

Day Students-Polly Jones, Dorothy

New Members Taken Into K. U. B.

Formal and Informal Initiations Held This Week.

The list of new members of K. U. B. was announced in chapel last Wednesday morning. The girls are:

> Willa Beckham Nelle Chamlee Ora Craig Martha Elliott Julia Finley Bessie Meade Friend Mary Grist Lucile Heath Anna Humber Cornelia Keeton Vivian Martin Gail Nelson Vera Pruit Margaret Ridgeley Margaret Rogers Mary Louise Schuman Velma Taylor Elizabeth Winn

Formal initiation was held at the May York, Martha England. club meeting Friday afternoon, and informal initiation will be conducted this Friend. week.

Western Stunt Wins For Class of '34

Freshmen Give Competition With "Cloud Hoppers."

The class of '34 won for the second W. Vespers Sunday, October 18, on get campaign, the solicitors from the tion will be sponsored by the Alumnae campus last year—the Princess Der time the coveted privilege of placing the subject "Personal Thickets." Her various dormitories and cottages, the Association during the Thanksgiving Ling and Dr. Franco Bruno Averardi its bell on the neck of the Black Cat —were again presented by the Lecture when the judges of the annual Fresh-"I don't know whether you noticed Y. W. treasurer, and Mr. Stukes met bringing back as many of the alum- Association in chapel, Tuesday, Octo- man-Sophomore stunts gave their decision in favor of the Sophomore class. Polly Cawthon, student chairman of The judges, Misses Janef Preston, Louise Hale, and Martha Crowe, based their decision upon a consideration of sure that I am on top of all my present set at $1,650, and it is hoped that the urday night Dr. Robert West, of the would begin Wednesday, and urged the following: the plot, including the University of Wisconsin, one of students and faculty to take advant- style and merit of the stunt itself; the age of this opportunity of securing setting, including costuming and scenic tickets for all four lectures at a nom- effects; and the presentation. The inal price. She introduced the two competing classes, arrayed in class colors, supported their casts with Maude Armstrong, dressed in Chi-songs and yells between the acts and

> "Oil's Well on the Western Front," lady-in-waiting to the late Empress the Sophomore prize stunt, presented discussion with Chinese pictures, most | Corners, a western ranch, when a Chicago dude, Percy Nality, stepped into Margaret Belote impersonated Dr. the picture and attempted to win the Averardi, and made an enlightening wealthy young Kitty Black, Buster speech. He defined "leeterature" as Rib's best girl. Percy, believing all to "words, paragraphs, and pages," and be fair in love and war, undertook to described and illustrated his points win his lady through a crooked shootabout Italian literature in an amus- ing match, but Buster, the regular rancher, exposed Percy's trick and thereby won Kitty's good graces for himself. Not content with this, Percy tried to kidnap the heroine, only to find his plans foiled again by the appearance of Buster and by an ensuing battle. This time Percy was forced to yield, and all ended well for Buster and Kitty. The Freshman class "put on its take-off in 'Cloud Hoppers'," A stunt which had for its theme an endurance contest between the F35 and the S34. The crash of the S34, brought victory to the F35, and as the curtain was drawn, Will Fly, the winning pilot, was lifted triumphantly to the shoulders of the mob.

The stunt chairmen, Vera Pruit, Freshman, and Frances O'Brien, Sophomore, were called before the curtain by their respective classes. The stunt casts include:

Sophomores: Cast:

Kitty Black-Elizabeth Winn. Buster Rib-Martha Skeen. Percy Nality-Bertie Wells. Getcha Gun-Juliette Kaufmann. Henry Pecked-Mallie White. John de Navvy-Polly Gordon. Speedy World-Margaret Rogers. Juan More Chance—Amelia O'Neal.

Tag Along-Betty Harbison, Laura Aunt Sophy Plush-Martha Eng-

Maria Millionaire—Upshaw Jones.

Ben A. Drinking-Eleanore Hoffer-

Stunt Chairman—Frances O'Brien.

Writing Committee—Virginia Pretty-man, Fuzzy Phillips, Elizabeth Hickson, Amelia O'Neal, Frances Farr.

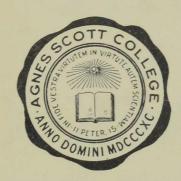

Advertising and Program-Louise McCain, Polly Gordon, Martha Elliott. Properties-Flora Young, Bella Wilson, Florence Preston.

Costumes—C'Lena McMullen, Mary MacDonald.

Dance and Music-Dot Walker, Natilu McKenney, Margaret Massie. Songs-C'Lena McMullen, Johnnie

Cheers - Plant Ellis, Margaret

(Continued on page 4, column 3)

Subscription Price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single copies, 5c.

Published weekly. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF

| Editor           | Betty Bonham        |
|------------------|---------------------|
| Assistant Editor | Elizabeth Lightcap  |
| Feature Editor   | Gail Nelson         |
| Society Editor   | Mary Hamilton       |
| Exchange Editor  | Elinor Hamilton     |
| Athletic Editor  | Katharine Woltz     |
| Alumnae Editor   | Letitia Rockmore    |
| Club Editor      | Bessie Meade Friend |
| Joke Editor      | Johnnie Mae York    |
| Giddy Gossip     | Caroline Lingle     |
|                  |                     |

MANAGEMENT

| Advertising Manager           | Clyde Lovejoy      |
|-------------------------------|--------------------|
| Business Manager              | Grace Fincher      |
| Circulation Manager           | Lila Ross Norfleet |
| Assistant Circulation Manager | Imogene Hudson     |

REPORTERS FOR THIS ISSUE

Rosemary May Mary Sturtevant Nelle Chamlee Martha Elliott Willa Upchurch

Elizabeth Lynch May Schlich Catherine Baker Floyd Foster Margaret Telford

THE POINT SYSTEM

As there have been quite a few complaints at the changes the day are summed up in the expresmade necessary by the recent revision of and steps taken toward an enforcement of the Point System, it might be well that the pur- ment. Merely because it is 99 44/100 pose behind these movements be revealed to the entire college group. It was felt by some people on the campus that the Point dig any deeper below the surface of System could scarcely be effective, if an accurate check was not things as they are than did our diskept on the individual points. When cases were taken up for consideration before the Committee on Revision, it seemed necessary to make some changes in the number of points counted for certain offices. These changes, it was felt, were necessary because of the continuous evolution in many of our campus organizations.

We feel that anyone who has studied the situation with any real interest will agree that the Point System is in itself a good thing. It prevents a small group of girls from carrying all important campus offices. It divides the work and responsibility among as large a number of students as possible, so that each ation. We have, we like to believe, the Atlanta girls who are attending Agnes student may be free to do her job in the very best way possible capacity for serious thought. Why, Scott this year comes an increase in her M.A. at the University of Chicago. and yet not be overworked.

And the Point System can only be effective if it is consistently enforced.

There has been a general atmosphere of rushing and over- library, and a corps of capable prowork on the campus this year. It is the feeling of many that this revision and enforcement of the Point System will relieve this to a certain extent, that our lives will become a little more "ordered," a little less frantic, and that we all, to some degree, may lead happier and more effective existences in the future.

THE LECTURE ASSOCIATION

The Lecture Association of Agnes Scott College is managed experience and to question her, or to by members of the student and faculty bodies for the entertainment and instruction of the entire college community and their desire to think strikes most of us. Said friends. Because its motive is purely unselfish and because the Freshman, however, has just completprograms in the past have been unusually good, the 1931 Lecture pare for the next day, and the urge Association deserves the support of everyone on the campus, who to think joins that great rank and file is financially able to afford a ticket.

They offer this year a most interesting and varied selection of Small wonder American youth is perattractions. Their program cannot be a success unless they are manently 12 years old! It has no time backed financially by us all. Anyone who can afford a ticket and to develop further. does not purchase one, is not only cheating herself out of a great deal of pleasure and instruction, but is also guilty of lack of cooperation with one of the most profitable of our campus organiza- der if the educators ever stopped to tions. So buy your ticket now!

We Think

[Editor's Note: The purpose of this column is to give to each student the opportunity of stating any facts, expressing any criticisms, asking any questions, offering any commendations which she thinks will accomplish something by being printed. We encourage you in, but do not confine you to, constructive criticism. The articles need not be signed. We guarantee to print anything which we feel is the honest opinion of the author and is expressed in order to inform the readers of the Agonistic and not merely in order to give the writer an opportunity to "let off steam." And finally we wish to state emphatically that the opinions expressed herein are not those of the opinions expressed herein are not those of the editors and that we are in no way responsible

Thanks to the writer of two weeks ago's "we think" we really do begin to think. One thing we think is that the writer of that article lacks maturity tion, the editor of the Agonistic, the cussion in Open Forum. Chaperonage and sensibility. With maturity comes, editor of the Aurora, the president of by upper classmen to football games we hope, the ability to weigh values the Senior class, and the student treas- granted. and to "ponder before publishing." In urer are all Presbyterians. this case, if the values were weighed condemns nor commends ceremony to regime," and it was, of course, no more White says, in part: the exclusion of the other side of the than a coincident that all the activities question, and sensibility, being that were headed by members of Baptist endowment, virtue, curse, or blessing churches. which for one thing enables its posogist has said that it is best to write in fury and correct in phlegm. We Presbyterians. fear our friend overlooked the last part of this advice.

But in spite of the above criticism well phrased: and chiefly, it showed an effort, although superficial, on the each. part of the writer to think!—which introduces the problem of the hour: the failure on the part of American youth to think.

Also in that same Agonistic Edna Ferber's widely quoted remark concerning youth was printed. The youth of America, in Miss Ferber's estimation is "permanently 12 years old" and their reactions to serious topics of sion "oh, yeah!" Why is Edna Ferber warranted in making such a stateper cent true! We, the American as announced recently by Dr. McCain youth of today, do rarely think, rarely cussed so-student. (Let me warn the never does think. It has been my privyear, one is a Phi Beta Kappa doing bers. graduate work at the University of Junior year at the University of Methodists and Baptists is usually time, the training for thinking!

Scott as a Freshman is given a prescribed course of study, access to the fessors of Edna Ferber's generation. The course of study, the library, and the professors contrive to keep her nose pretty well to the grindstone. Yet from time to time she is introduced to facts which arouse within her a suppressed demon of unrest and questioning. She experiences an uneasy internal strife, entertains, perhaps, a desire either to seek someone of more draw within herself, seek seclusion, and fight it out alone. Thus the first of suppressed desires as she turns back to conjugating French verbs!

Percy Marks has compared the liberal arts college with a hot-house

(Continued on page 4, column 1)

Presbyterian, Or What Are You?

By Elizabeth Lynch

ant office of campus leadership here bacon bat at Sunset Meadows. at Agnes Scott was filled by a Baptist.

This statement shows a rather strikthe president of student government, parasites in canary birds. the president of Hoase, the president and first vice-president of Y. W. C. A.,

Miss Carrie Scandrett, assistant justly, the results were deliberately dean, was president of student governcolored. Maturity, we think, neither ment during that year of the "Baptist

Presbyterians, who lead in numbers sessor to respect the other person's be- on the campus today, may cool their give one free rein to trample on that with its 400,000 Baptists has more which is held in respect by some. members of that denomination than Moreover, that "We Think" be- any country in the outside world. No trayed a childish desire on the part of other state in this country, except perthe writer to flash, to startle, to give haps Texas, has as many Baptists as a keen wit a fling, even though it cut Georgia. There are fifteen times as someone in its cycle. A noted psychol- many Baptists and ten times as many Methodists in this state as there are

However, in spite of the fact that this college was founded by Presbyterians in a state predominantly Bapthe article had some truth (not to be tist, and located just seven miles from discussed herein!) and several good that state's Methodist-Baptist capital. points. It was well organized: it was there are twelve other denominations represented by from one to 45 students

> There are 13 Jewesses on the campus of this independent, non-denominational institution. Representatives of the Hebrew religion rank fifth in numbers and there are one-seventh as many Jewesses attending Agnes Scott as there are Baptists.

There is an Orthodox Greek at Agnes Scott, and Dr. McCain advises that two years ago a Mormon girl ing Latin. studied here and one other year there was a member of the Alturian church (look it up, I don't know either).

The religious census of the campus shows the following figures: 184 Presbyterians, 106 Methodists, 90 Baptists, 45 Episcopalians, 13 Jews, 5 private school for girls in Rome, Ga. Lutherans, 3 Reformed, 2 Christian reader that I am not saying youth church members, and 1 of each of the following: Catholic, Christian Science, course at University of North Caroilege to know intimately several of my United Brethren, Moravian, Greek, lina. own generation who do think. Of two Seventh Day Adventist, Protestant. of them who were on the campus last Three students are not church mem-

"The margin of the number of she taught last year. Chicago and the other is taking her Presbyterians over and above the Paris!) Why, then, is it that we fail greater than at present," Dr. McCain M.A. in physical education at Columto think? Certainly we have our in- points out, "but with the notable in- bia this year. heritance from Edna Ferber's gener- crease in the number of Georgia and then? The answer is this: we lack the the representatives of the Methodist and Baptist churches. Among our For example, a girl entering Agnes | boarding students from without the York taking a course in social welfare. state the Presbyterians have an even higher majority.

(Continued on page 4, column 5)

Four Years Ago This

Last year's new faculty entertain in Just a few years ago every import- honor of this year's new faculty at a

Miss McDougall publishes new book ing contrast with the fact that today containing results of work on malarial

Greater liberty in chaperonage is the president of the Lecture Associa- granted by College Council after dis-

> From Exchange—In an editorial on the credo of the paper, the Crimson-

"'Constructive criticism' as the phrase is ordinarily used, is just so much rot. Nine times out of ten 'constructive criticism' means nothing liefs and emotions, tends to inhibit surprise at the "Baptist regime" if more than enthusiastic praise of rudeness. Lack of sensibility would they recall that the state of Georgia Things As They Are. So-called 'destructive criticism' is in the truest sense really constructive.

> Many Agnes Scott girls went to see the Lindbergh parade and later heard him speak at the Tech stadium.

> Excerpt from Giddy: But, oh Giddy, the funniest thing I've heard in ages was about a certain aesthetic upper classman asking Sara Townsend to 'play wood nymph" with her on the May Day grounds.

> Twenty-nine new members of Cotillion Club are initiated.

Alumnae News

Ione Gueth, '30, is at home this winter at East McKeesport, Penn., teach-

Jane Bailey Hall Heffner, '30, has a little daughter, Catherine Glass Heff-

Mary McCallie, '30, is teaching in a

Emily Moore, '30, is taking a library

Lynn Moore, '30, is principal of a school near Morristown, Tenn., where

Caro Owen, '30, is working on her

Janice Simpson, '30, is working on

Sarah Townsend, '30, is in New

Dit Quarles, ex-'32, was married to "Baptists, however, do not send their Mr. Willis Irvin Henderson in June. young women to college even as wide- They are making their home in Char-

Agnes Scott College

DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

Club News

Citizenship Club

Pi Alpha Phi

in Miss Gooch's studio.

to the second.

the negative.

wafers were served.

Pi Alpha Phi held its first regular

The feature of the program was a

After plans for the approaching debate season were discussed, coffee and

K. U. B.

the Y. W. C. A. cabinet room Friday,

October 16, at 3 o'clock for the formal initiation of the new members recently received into the club. The inber's signing her name on the roll, fol-of the year's work outlined by the Student Volunteer Club

the old Y. W. C. A. cabinet room, Mon-month from 3 to 4 o'clock.

THE TAVERN

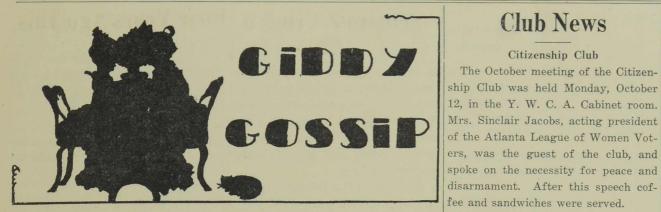

Georgia's Most Unique and

Charming Tea Rooms

Serving LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON

The Student Volunteer Club met in

A meeting of K. U. B. was held in

Giddy, old pal,

were! Why, I could write hawlf a novel away. about it, if I only had time. But you see, it takes all my spare moments to keep my stockings up.

That's all right, the Freshmen put up a good fight-pardon me, flight. They turned out as well as they did to the hockey game last Friday, when they put up a team of eleven players and nineteen substitutes. It can never be said they didn't support their team! And speaking of hockey, during the Senior-Junior game Ruth Green was heard to yell vociferously, "Corner! Pussy Wants a Corner!"

And of course no letter is complete without its love interest, so I'll just a girl of very little intelligence. The have to tell you about our popular other day she went to French class young Upshaw Jones, who is one of and sat for ten minutes before she the most bejeweled persons on this realized that she had a cut in it! campus—being now the possessor of several fraternity pins, to say nothing of a couple of diamond rings, given her

(Continued from page 1, column 3)

of the Oxford University Conservative president of the Raleigh and the Oxford University Imperial Clubs in 1931. He expects to enter political

****************

Hewey's

Buy Your

TOILET ARTICLES

SUNDRIES

REMEDIES—STATIONERY

SODAS—SANDWICHES

PROMPT DELIVERY

Call us

Phone Dea. 0640-9110

NEWS OF DEBATERS

N. S. F. A. SENDS

by a few of her admirers! Did you The stunt has come—and gone; and ever? And from what I can gather the cat stays on with the Sophomores. hear and there Scottie is terribly un-Good—they had to be good! And they happy this year, because Miles is miles meeting this semester Thursday night

Giddy, I'm considering writing a they ought to be dead by now!"

Judy Blundell impresses me as being

John Foot, Balliol College, Oxford itiation consisted in each new mem-University: Mr. Foot is the son of Sir Isaac lowing an old K. U. B. custom. After Foot, a member of the Liberal delega- several technical business matters

Assocation in 1930-31. He was also tion to the recent Indian Round Table were discussed and a brief summary Conference. Mr. Foot, who is now twenty-two president, the new members were years old, was educated at Bembridge further welcomed into the club at a School and studied law at Balliol Col- brief social hour. lege at Oxford. In 1931 he took his honours degree in law.

In the summer of 1930 he was librarian of the Oxford Union Society; by the Lent term of 1931 he became president of the Union Society. Aside from holding these prominent positions in the debating society, he was elected secretary and vice-president of the Oxford University Liberal Club in profession and later to go into politics.

In reply to a questionaire, 90 per cent of the students at the University of London expressed a disbelief in the second and fourth Sundays of each

"We Think" about these new fire places of Elizabeth Lightcap, secre- that goes with it! The stunt—why it's rules. How can we keep from putting tary, and of Mary Sturtevant, council on too much rouge when our mirrors member. Carolyn Russell was elected are full of fire department telephone to the first position and Nelle Brown numbers. And speaking of fireswouldn't Marjorie Gamble just burn you up? Last Sunday at Senior coffee debate on the question, Resolved: That her friends and associates were en- a system of cuts should be inaugurattreating her not to throw away the ed at Agnes Scott. Clyde Lovejoy and whipped cream: "Think of the stary- Virginia Allen upheld the affirmative, ing Armenians," they said. "Aw heck!" and Nelle Brown and Elizabeth Light-Corner!" Quoth Genie Hudson, "Don't replied the Gamble girl, "Those Ar- cap the negative. The decision, made be so childish, Ruth, we're not playing menians have been starving so long by vote of the club, was in favor of

Yes, that put me through, too, Love.

The STUNT—five brilliant, capital letters that mean a thousand thrills and, oh,, so much pep, that mean jokes and laughter, dances and fun, Officers were elected to fill the that mean the "big black cat" and all as exciting as two or three dances rolled up together and maybe a dinner party thrown in too. No wonder all Agnes Scott stayed on the campus to attend that wonderful event. But still lots of the Hottentots find other amusements as well as the stunt to make this a most marvelous week-end.

> Louise Wesley attended a meeting Kitty Woltz. of the Alliance Francaise in Atlanta Thursday afternoon.

Imogene Hudson and Penelope Brown went to a party at the Beta Kappa house Friday night.

the guest of Mary Lou Robinson for the week-end.

mother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prettyman, spent the week-end with her.

of the 10th with Letitia Rockmore in Atlanta. They attended the dance at the Palais Peachtree Saturday night.

day night, October 12, at 7 o'clock. John Minter, regional traveling secre- ed a new custom this year which will tary for the Student Volunteer organ- probably become traditional. Saturday ization, was present and helped direct night, October 17, the club gave a dinthe discussions. The student volun- ner in the Alumnae Tea House, to teers decided to change their club into which each member invited her date. 1930-31. He intends to enter the legal a mission interest group. In this way A delicious four-course dinner was they hope to attract more Agnes Scott served during which the A. P. D. C. students and to better accomplish their orchestra furnished music. Seats were aim in stimulating a greater interest reserved at the stunt for the memin missions. The new group will meet bers and their guests.

> A.: "What three words are the most used by college Freshmen?"

A.: "Correct."

Miss Jewel Wilson, of Atlanta, was stantinople, Turkey.

Virginia Prettyman's father and the week-end.

Brownie Nash spent the week-end

Granddaughters Club

The Granddaughters Club establish-

B.: "I don't know."

*******

Daffodil Tea Room

81 Pryor St., N. E. Atlanta, Ga.

this week-end with the councillors of Camp Toccoa, where she was a councillor this summer.

Lucile Heath went on a house-party

Kitty Woltz spent the week-end in Jo Clark had as her guests for the week-end Misses Louie Clark and Parky Culpepper, of Greenville, Ga.

Atlanta with Letitia Rockmore.

Marybelle Stollenwerck spent the week-end with Elizabeth Lightcap and Maud Armstrong visited friends at Presbyterian College in Clinton, S. C., the week-end of October 10.

Gussie Riddle's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Miles A. Riddle, of Miss Eleanor Jones of College Park Athens, Tenn., spent the week-end with spent the week-end with Margaret her. They were accompanied by Misses Martha and Omagene Johnson. who have recently returned from Con-

> Miss Lyle Davis, of Columbus, Ga., was the guest of Willa Upchurch for Maxine Crisler spent the week-end

Kitty Woltz had dinner with Mrs. Boytin in Atlanta last Sunday.

Sara Denny attended the dance at the Palais Peachtree Saturday night.

Louise Levi spent Sunday in Atlanta with Miss Eleanor Greenfield.

Louise Cawthon spent the week-end at her home in Murfreesborough, Tenn.

Miss Reba Sparkman, of Columbus, Ga., was the guest of Natilu McKennev for the week-end.

Carolyn Russell, Rosalind Ware, and Polly Jones attended the sesqui-centennial of the battle of Yorktown in Yorktown, Va.

Diana Dyer and Peggy Link were the guests of Sara Lane Smith at dinner October 12.

"Dearest," sighed the young man. "Couldn't you learn to love me?"

"I might," said the girl. "I learned to eat spinach."

A WORLD CAN END
Irina Skariatina

Margaret Waite Book Shop
Peachtree Arcade Peachtree Arcade

****

**** WOMAN'S EXCHANGE -for-GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE

FLOWERS De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg.

·

*************** Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

122 Peachtree

፟፟ጜ፟፟፟፟፟፟፟፟ቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝ

Our Junior Dresses

are the toast of the town

$9.95

College girls love them. College girls wear them. Those who don't are eating spinach and drinking orange juice in the fervent hope that they, too, may some day be a size 11, 13, or 15! Sheer woolens, satins, velvets, crepes!

Junior Shop, Second Floor

PEACHTREE . STORE

TEA-DINNER 11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M. Atlanta—65½ Broad St., N. W. Macon-151 Cotton Ave.  L. CHAJAGE Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

STARNES

SANDWICHES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER

"BIG DEC"

Dennis Lindsey Printing Company (Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING AND STATIONERY

421 Church St.

Dearborn 0976

Decatur, Ga.

Sophs 1, Juniors 0

bang Friday afternoon when the you bring to it," a satisfying religion, Sophomores defeated the Juniors by a a sense of humor, steadiness, willingscore of 1-0 in the first game.

Every member of both teams played a good game, especially good for early in the season. The Sophomores' goal was made by Marjorie Tindall, in the second half.

| Line-up for    | the game  | was:          |
|----------------|-----------|---------------|
| SOPHOMO        | RES       | JUNIORS       |
| Maness         | R. W      | Hudmon        |
| Tillotson      | R.I       | Ridley        |
| Tindall        | C.F       | Spivey        |
| O'Brien        | L.I       | Armstrong     |
| Schuessler     | L. W      | Sweets        |
| Boyd           | R. H      | Sturtevant    |
| Preston        | C. H      | Heath         |
| Friend         | L. H      | _ Shackelford |
| Harbison       | R.F       | Thompson      |
| McMullen       | L. F      | Clark         |
| Ames           | G.G       | Loranz        |
| Substitutions: | Sophs-    | E. Hamilton,  |
| Fisher; Junion | rs—Cowles | , Happoldt.   |
|                |           |               |

WE THINK

(Continued from page 2, column 4) compare the beautiful, wild, God-given colleges, excellent though they are in yourself." many respects, have fallen short when it comes to fostering real thought on happy way of ending this: the part of their students. These institutions, which should be raising the who haunt this place, give me beauty intellectual plane of modern life, in the inward soul; and may the outdangle facts before the eyes of the ward and inward man be at one. May dazed students until the time for en- I reckon the wise to be wealthy, and joying has been consumed in acquir- may I have such a quantity of gold as ing. How can a student acquire the a temperate man and he only can bear scientific attitude or produce creative and carry. Anything more? The work in a laboratory which is sched- prayer, I think, is enough for me." uled and ordered from the moment of entrance to the buzz of the dismissing bell? How can anyone form an inti-

The Annual Congress of the National Student Federation will be held at the University of Toledo from December 27 to January 1, inclusive. Convention headquarters will be in the Commodore Perry Hotel. The general subject will be "Modern Trends in Education." Discussions will also be held on student government, publications, honor system and all phases of extra curricular activities.

Exchange

A recent statement sent to the government of Finland, the only dry country in the world besides the United States, by the Federation of Finhaving any better success than this reader that during the twelve years of the existence of the prohibition law liquor has grown, crime has increased and thousands have been convicted of drunkenness. Contempt for the law is common and the younger generation has acquired drinking habits which are threatening the nation's moral and physical future. America is not alone with its troubles over prohibition and one notices that the things which the Finnish Judges complain of are the same as those this country is experiencing at the present time.-Davidson-

Greeks as a people have a philosophy of life that is quite different from that of Americans. Their desire is to round out human beings, and to have an interest more in beauty and life itself than in material successes. Harshness in personal relations is exceptional and as a rule their habits are temperate. They show a liking for the mere process of thinking.-V. M. I. Cadet.

Carrier pigeons are being used by Texas oil men to carry daily reports of progress of oil wells in parts of the state far away from telephone and telegraph service.

John Camp, who inaugurated the plan, takes a coop of seven pigeons to a McMullen County well each week and by them sends back the daily reports.-Converse Parley Voo.

She: "Who gave the bride away?" He: "I could have but I kept my mouth shut."

MISS HAYNES IS VESPER SPEAKER

(Continued on page 4, column 2) The hockey season opened with a isn't life that matters but the courage ness to risk and take responsibility, opportunity to really think, common sense, ability to adjust oneself, respect for others, courage to face life standing on your own two feet, friendships. And then there are such things as vision, joy, peace, sincerity, tolerance, tact, courage, reverence, fairness and graciousness of mind that we want in our souls: things that make for spirituality—for an understanding of ourselves and of others.

I don't think that any of these things can be learned out of a bookthey must be acquired through experience and practice.

Too much introspection is of course Gillies. dangerous. A person who thinks inthinks of himself as himself exclusively, not in his relationship to others.

When the health and integrity of strength of a normal out-of-doors the individual soul are gained and an flower with that of a fragile hothouse unshaken faith in your own ability is specimen! It is my opinion that our reached, you have indeed "conquered Loice Richards,

"Beloved Pan, and all ye other gods mate appreciation of or love for a piece of literature which is bound in a book for the acquisition of which she must tug and wrestle with the other thirty-nine of the class?

Youth is the time for getting acquainted with oneself, for thinking, for dreaming, for philosophizing. But we, the American youth, are permitted no time for such. We are forced to remain 12 years old! Turn us loose in the libraries and in the labs! Put away lecture notes and talk with us for an hour! Who knows? We might surprise even Miss Ferber! Hear our prayers: O Lord, grant us a college which permits, encourages thought!

University of Virginia

Old students have been asked to donate their text books to a library nish Judges, shows that they are not which has been established for the purpose of lending books to those pupils country. This statement tells the who cannot afford to buy them .- Converse Parley Voo.

in Finland the consumption of hard **************** BAILEY BROS. SHOE SHOP 142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladie Work DE. 0172 WE DELIVER $$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$

> 51 North Forsyth St. Healey Bldg. EMBLEMS—JEWELRY WATCH REPAIRING

THE EMBLEM SHOP

SOPH STUNT WINS

THE BLACK CAT (Continued from page 1, column 5) Freshmen:

Flit—Mary Eizabeth Squires. Fly Tox-Frances Cassel.

Mrs. Em Tee-Loice Richards. Little Silly Ette-Josephine Adam-

Mr. Otto B. Goode-Dorothy Bell. Mrs. M. Fuller Prunes-Elizabeth playing was done.

Mr. Yell Moore-Eleanor Williams. Mrs. I. M. Deefe-Rosalyn Crispie. Little Dec-Margarite Morris.

Big Dec-Betty Lou Houck. Mr. But Ter Ricks-Alberta Palm-

Will Fly-Mary Boggs. Haint Flown-Elizabeth Young. Stunt Chairman-Vera Pruit. Committees:

Writing-Louise Harrison, Chairman; Edith Dorne, Nell Pattillo, Betty

Costumes-Mary Jane Evans, chairwardly only, gets a diseased mind for man; Elizabeth Alexander, Eleanor his efforts, but this happens when he Allen, Gladys Burns, Julia Henderson, Jack Woolford, Anna Withers.

> Scenery-Marion Calhoun, chairman; Frances Cassel, Betty Fountain. Vella Marie Behm, Emily McGahee, Decoration—Julia Clarke, chairman; A prayer of Socrates, I think, is a Srah Denny, Caroline Long, Lenora

Spencer, Susan Turner, Jane Cassels. Music—Lucile McAllister, Virginia

Dances-Betty Lou Houck. Properties-Loice Richards.

Well, this depression will certainly put people back on their feet again. The mortgage companies will take back all the automobiles. - Duke Chronicle.

Jou'll this clever pump adortonguly by adortonguly res realizations of the finest stores the finest stores SLIPPER SHOPS

Fine Footwear -20 EXTRA

168 PEACHTREE ST.

TRY OUR

SANDWICHES

WE MAKE THEM RIGHT

Lawrence's Pharmacy

Phones De. 0762-0763

Seniors 7, Frosh 0

In the second game of the opening The Seniors all played well, and the Freshmen showed promise of a good team after a little more practice together; some very good individual

The Senior goals were made by Bowman (4), Kane (2), and Dyer (1).

| Diffe-up was                        | as 1011 | JWS.       |
|-------------------------------------|---------|------------|
| SENIORS                             |         | FRESHMEN   |
| Howard                              | _R.W.   | Pruit      |
| Hudson                              | _R. I   | McCalla    |
| Bowman                              | _C.F    | Harrison   |
| Kane                                | _L.I    | Houck      |
| Fincher                             | _L.W.   | Long       |
| Dyer                                | _R. H   | Dixon      |
| Schlich                             | _C. H   | Carmichael |
| Green                               | _L. H   | Palmer     |
| Brown                               | _R.B    | Williams   |
|                                     |         | Parker     |
| Norfleet                            | _G. G   | Bell       |
| Substitutions: Frosh — Poliacoff,   |         |            |
| Stephens, Constantine, Duls, Young, |         |            |
| Tomlinson, Spencer, Goodwin.        |         |            |

Things are so quiet in New York Program—Alice Frierson, chairman; you can almost hear the stocks fall.— Converse Parley Voo.

> "When do the leaves begin to turn?" "The night before exams."

Make STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOP

Your Beauty Shoppe Special Styles and Features for Thanksgiving 153 Sycamore St. Decatur, Ga.

******

ŀቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝ MRS. HAZLERIGS

LUNCH ROOM 313 E. College Ave. Wieners and Hot Dogs Delivered

************************

PRESBYTERIAN, OR WHAT ARE YOU?

(Continued from page 2, column 3) ly as do Methodists, and thus even of the hockey season the Seniors de- with the influx of Georgia and Atlanta feated the Freshmen by a score of 7-0. girls, the Baptists are not as highly represented as are the Methodists.

"It is important to notice," Dr. Mc-Cain remarked, "that denominational differences do not enter into or in any way influence campus and group activities. Baptists, Presbyterians, Greeks, or Dutch Reformed are indistinguishable in campus organizations.'

And this condition fulfills the purpose of the college, in the opinion of President McCain, for the college's purpose includes development of Christian character, but with assurance of especial care not to interfere in any way with the religious views or church preference of students.

Presbyterian synods of Georgia and Florida have shown their interest in the college by appointing trustees on the board, but technically the college is entirely free from denominational government.

The world trusts a man who admits he likes onions.

***************** We Repair Watches, Clocks and Jewelry MUENCH AND ELSNER 20 Peachtree Street, N. E. (First National Bank Bldg.) Atlanta, Ga.

~ $***********

R. H. DAVIS & CO.

The Specialty Store of Atlanta Sellers of

DRESSES, COATS, SUITS and FURS

for all occasions-of every style -of every price.

"Home of Quality Dry Cleaning"

20% DISCOUNT TO ALL AGNES SCOTT STUDENTS

Dyeing-Pressing-Rugs-Cold Storage

Decatur Laundry & Dry Cleaning Co.

DEARBORN 3162-3163

DECATUR, GA.

COATS!

the Season's Modes

for Less

H. G. LEWIS & CO.

102 Whitehall St., S. W.

No. 4

ATLANTA COMMUNITY CHEST STARTS DRIVE IN DECATUR

A. S. Representatives Pre-Methodist Bishop sent at Campaign Rally.

"Suppose it was you-and nobody cared?" The question is now ringing Present Day Thought Topic throughout all Atlanta and toward the latter part of this week campus representatives of the Community Chest Agnes Scott students.

That pathetic question is being asked not in behalf of the starving in distant China or the suffering in far off India, but in behalf of some 13,000 with a plea for open-mindedness, which destitute families of this very community. Without Agnes Scott's help as small or as large as that help may there was no need of speech since not be fully effected.

sentatives, heard Mr. Frank Muller, structive. executive secretary of the Atlanta ands of unemployed this winter.

"In December of 1930," Mr. Muller last year, but I tell you that peak of one for such accomplishments. burdens for the Community Chest case list has long since been surmounted this year. In July of 1931 that previous mid-winter list of needy was reached—and yet Atlanta must march Three One-Act Plays to Be on to face another December. What can be done?"

Mr. Muller recited most interestingcontributors as well as the recipients of nesday night. aid, from imposters who may scheme interest in charity work.

"The Atlanta Community Chest," cast includes: he said further, "must raise $805,000, of which $340,000 is for the vital extra relief work made necessary by economic conditions. It's not just the regular sort of poor folk who are seekserve our $340,000 extra are the men playing the parts are: who say to us, 'I'm tired asking help from you. I thank you deeply for your aid but I want to feed my own little children, I WANT A JOB!"

Dollars, quarters, dimes, and yes, nickels from Agnes Scott, which will materially aid in the "Everybody give" campaign will be received later this week by the following student campaign workers appointed by Julia Grimmett, the student chairman; Margaret Bell, Mary and Anne Hudmon, Betsy Thompson, Louise Wesley, representatives at large; Floyd Foster, Esther Coxe, Laura Ross, and Virginia (Continued on page 4, column 1)

CLUB ELECTS TWENTY-SEVEN

The French Club received twentyseven new members in the tryouts held Wednesday, October 21. They are:

Betty Harbison, Mary E. Walton, Helen Bashinski, Maude Anderson, Lillian Herring, Lovellyn Wilson, Mary Dunbar, Betty Cobb, Datha Wilson, Laura Belle Wilder, Virginia Wood, Martha Elliott, Thelma Richmond, P. Reid, Louise Schuessler.

Speaks at A. S.

of Address.

City, spoke Wednesday morning, October 21, in chapel. His topic was present day thought.

Bishop McConnell began his talk he illustrated vividly by the story of a mythological island where the minds of all the people were transparent, and consider this an ideal state.

He next pointed out that a great Saturday evening, October 17, at deal that passes for thought today is in the Decatur campaign rally, Miss reality merely a rearrangement of old

The important achievement of the present age is to pick out the really Community Chest organization, give a worthwhile things from the tangle of most informative and inspiring ad- superstition, biased opinions, and radidress on the seriousness of the prob- cal suggestions. For this there must lems faced by Atlanta with her thous- be broadened viewpoints and minds at- dence of things hoped for." tuned to tell the bits of real gold from the dross.

Bishop McConnell concluded by saystated gravely, "Atlanta's needy case ing that the training received in such list reached an astounding peak for schools as Agnes Scott best prepares Lobby. It is a non-partisan organiza-

Blackfriars Will Present Plays

Given November 21.

Three one-act plays will be presently stories of his dealings with the needy ed by Blackfriars on Saturday night, and he assured his audience that every November 21, as announced at the precaution was being taken to protect meeting of the Blackfriar Club, Wed-

The first of the series is a serious to take advantage of the widespread symbolical play, written by Dorothy Clark, entitled The King's Fool. The production of such products as sugar-

> Martha Skeen Margaret Belote Amelia O'Neal Mary Lillias Garretson

The second, At the Wedding Reing aid today, but the men who de- bearsal, is an exciting mystery. Those

> Mary Frances Torrance Julia Grimmet Jule Bethea Letitia Rockmore Lucile Woodbury Jura Taffar Kathleen Bowen Elaine Heckle Mildred Hooten Margaret Bell Rosemary May Juliette Kaufman

The last one-act play, A Pound of Flesh, is a satire on modern dramatic criticism. The cast is:

Catherine Happoldt Clyde Lovejoy Margaret Belote Barbara Hart Martha Skeen

COTILLION ANNOUNCES NEW MEMBERS

following new members:

Blundell, H. Brantley.

World Chaos Discussed

Benjamin Marsh Addresses Citizenship Club.

Mr. Benjamin C. Marsh, executive secretary of the People's Lobby, spoke to a joint meeting of members of the Agnes Scott Citizenship and the Bishop McConnell, president of the Emory Political Science Clubs on Ocwill be asking the same question of Federated Council of Churches of tober 19. Mr. Rogers, president of the Methodist Theological Seminary at America and Bishop of New York Emory Political Science Club, introduced the speaker, who is in Atlanta under the auspices of the Atlanta Forum Association.

Mr. Marsh, who has been for many of public interests, began his talk by be, the great Community Chest cam- everyone knew all of each other's on the subject of unemployment, and, beautiful native Thuringia. In the tional Senior honorary society for paign slogan, "Everybody give," would thoughts. He added that he did not contrary to his first plans, would talk body of his speech he discussed what women on February 16, 1918, at on international co-operation or chaos. In speaking of co-operation, he discussed the three major political parties Louise Hale and Miss Leslie Gaylord prejudices. The mass of people are not of the United States saying that the from the faculty, and student repre- really adding anything that is con- Democratic party was an alibi for the denburg, with much difficulty, is gan. Membership has spread from Republican crimes; "the Republican party had the courage of their crimes, the Democrats the cowardice of their convictions, and the Socialists were the substance of things not seen and evi- employed, of which there will be about

In discussing political parties and their part in international cooperation, he told something about the People's tion for the purpose of inaugurating and carrying through legislation beneficial to the people as a whole in opposition to big interests. The organization, which was formerly the Reconstruction League, is supported by its 1500 members. At the present, it is very much interested in employment insurance legislation.

In presenting the economical problems which confront the world if cooperation is to be gained and chaos avoided, Mr. Marsh cited the report made by the Department of Commerce concerning the necessity of increased cotton, and wheat. He stated that the international inspiration was helping to lead the world to chaos and that the attitude of the United States, backed by the Monroe Doctrine, was an example of "hemispherical selfishness. One of his most startling statements was that in his opinion the depression had only started.

Lecture on Italian Art November 3

"Byzantine Art in Italy" is Dr. Marcerata's Subject.

The illustrated lecture of Dr. Giovanni Marcerata on Byzantine Art In Italy is scheduled for November 3. Dr. Marcerata is an Italian who was born near Padua in the Venetian country, and has devoted his life entirely to the study of the monuments and other works of art of the past of his country. Some idea of the intensity of his studies is given by his rating as a scholar. He holds such positions as professor of languages and literature and doctor of commercial sciences, and held a professorship at the College Alexander Bassi, Vincenza. One of his The Cotillion Club has chosen the most interesting achievements is that of former champion swordsman of 23, with Miss Preston in Gaines. Try-W. Eubanks, A. L. Smith, N. Parks, Italy, by right of conquest.

Virginia Wilson, Clara Morrison, Flor- L. Cargill, L. Wise, A. Barron, M. During the last several years Dr. teen girls who handed in poems, six club's faculty advisor, Miss Lewis, and ence Preston, Elizabeth Winn, Louise Simmons, G. Riddle, S. Traire, M. Mercerata has acted as a guide to were taken into the club. Brant, Betty Fountain, Florence Dunbar, J. Clark, A. Hudmon, M. American tourists visiting the shrines Mangis, Louise Wise, Pansy Kimble, Hudmon, B. Nash, H. Etheridge, M. of Italian art. His lectures have proved Frances Espy, Ruth Green, Elena Sweets. Initiations of the new mem-Sarah Cook, Willie F. Eubanks, Jane White, N. Starr, M. Chrysler, J. popular, both in Europe and in Amer- Greenfield, Eleanor Holferty, and bers will take place at the November

HOASC TO BE INSTALLED FORMALLY INTO MORTAR BOARD

Dr. Melle Describes German Problems

German Theologian Makes Speech in Chapel.

Frankfort - on - the - Main, Germany, Germany in his talk in chapel, Tuesday, October 20.

Dr. Melle, with his air of distincyears an active figure in the promotion tion and charming German accent, was A. A. W. U. or A. A. U. is necessary heartily applauded at the very first stating that he was tired of speaking when he compared Atlanta to his is being thought in Germany today.

The political situation is a real problem, according to Dr. Melle. The twenty-seven different political parties make for a lack of unity, which Hincombatting.

the extremely high taxes and the unseven million this winter.

In his discussion of the religious situation he noted the increase of atheism since the war, but at the same time the revival of the Christian churches to meet the spiritual needs of the distressed nation.

"Penny Club" Stunt Starts Y. W. Drive

Goal for 1931-32 Budget is $1,650.

'Penny Club." Although the intri- dividual college. cate plot delayed the action, a dramatic climax was reached when Mr. Budget refused to admit the Bad Penny own chapter, or they may have an acas a member of the club because he had commodation initiation by the nearest failed to pledge to Y. W.

The cast was as follows: Mr. Budget-Jule Bethea. Publicity Penny—Julia Grimmett. Society Penny-Clyde Lovejoy

Korean Penny-Maude Armstrong. Speaker Penny-Penny Brown.

Vocational Guidance Penny—Judy

Conference Penny-Lucile Wood-

Bad Penny-Bobby Hart.

Margaret Bell, the treasurer of Y. W., gave the year's expense account: Local expense:

Current expenses 250 Conferences ___ 100 Emergency Projects: Loan Fund World Student Christian Federation Rabun Gap Scholarship Missionary . __$1650

NEW MEMBERS OF POETRY CLUB

outs were judged, and out of the fif-

The new members are: Mary Boggs, Emily Squires.

Delegates to Sectional Conference to Meet Here.

The formal initiation of Hoasc as a chapter of Mortar Board, a national Senior honorary society for women, and the conference for this section of Dr. Otto Melle, president of the Mortar Board will be held October

It is a distinct honor that Agnes gave a birds-eye view of conditions in Scott be granted membership in this organization, since there are few Southern colleges possessing a chapter. A collegiate standing accredited by the for membership.

Mortar Board was founded as a na-Syracuse, N. Y., by representatives from local Senior honorary groups at Swarthmore College, Ohio State University, and the University of Michichapters in the colleges and universi-The economic situation is also a ties to those in forty-eight throughout serious one. The chief problems are the United States. Agnes Scott is among the first Southern colleges to be granted a chapter.

The sectional conference will be held at Agnes Scott, Saturday, October 30. Members of this section are those chapters at University of Kentucky, William and Mary College, University of Alabama, Westhampton College, and Florida State College for Women. Miss Katherine Kuhlman from Dayton, Ohio, national director of expansion, will be present. The sectional director, Mrs. F. H. Richards, of Tallahassee, Fla., will also be at the conference and installation. The conference will The Y. W. C. A. Budget Campaign discuss campus problems and moveopened Thursday, October 22, at ments which will better relationships chapel with a stunt, entitled the between colleges, as well as in the in-

> Alumnae members may be initiated into Mortar Board either with their chapter of Mortar Board. Many alumnae are returning for initiation with the active chapter.

Those expected at latest information

Miss Janef Preston, Miss Llewellyn Wilburn, Miss Blanche Miller, Mrs. Leone Bowers Hamilton, Miss Dot Kethley, Miss Elizabeth Woolfolk, Miss Emily Spivey, Miss Florence Perkins, Miss Elizabeth Lynn, Miss Rachel Paxon, Miss Ellen Fain, Miss Mary Ray Dobyns, Miss Anne Ehrlich, Miss Adele Arbuckle, Miss Jean Grey, Miss Lois

PEN AND BRUSH TRYOUTS JUDGED

Pen and Brush Club received a surprisingly large number of try-outs this 50 fall and has admitted more new mem-250 bers than usual. The try-outs were 500 exceptionally good and a number of them, quite interesting. Those new members taken into the club are:

Betty Fountain, Frederica Twinning, Margaret Stokey, Katherine DeHart, Claire Ivy, Loice Richards, Nell Poetry Club met Friday, October Patillo, Frances Cassel, Eugenia Edwards, Lydia Hoke.

The tryouts were judged by the the club officers: Judy Blundell, Louise Wesley, Audrey Rainey and Douschka meeting of the club.

Giddy Gossip_

The Agonistic

Subscription price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single copies, 5c.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF Editor___ Assistant Editor____ Feature Editor_____ Society Editor_ MARY HAMILTON ELIZABETH LYNCH Exchange Editor____ Athletic Editor___ Alumnae Editor___ Club Editor____ Joke Editor_ JOHNNIE MAE YORK

MANAGEMENT

CAROLINE LINGLE

| Advertising Manager           | CLYDE LOVE JOY     |
|-------------------------------|--------------------|
| Business Manager              | GRACE FINCHER      |
| Circulation Manager           | LILA ROSS NORFLEET |
| Assistant Circulation Manager | IMOGENE HUDSON     |

REPORTERS FOR THIS ISSUE

| MARY McDonald      | AUDREY RAINEY   |  |
|--------------------|-----------------|--|
| Martha Elliott     | Alberta Palmour |  |
| Douschka Sweets    | Pauline Gordon  |  |
| Sarah Bowman       | FLOYD FOSTER    |  |
| ELEANOR HOLFERTY   | Barbara Hart    |  |
| LUCILE WOODBURY    | VIVIAN MARTIN   |  |
| HARRIOTTE BRANTLEY | Louise Wesley   |  |
| Margaret Telford   | Frances Duke    |  |
| Julia Blundell     |                 |  |

MORTAR BOARD

Agnes Scott has many honors of which she is very proud and ing in terms of mass movements of about the new instrument: which add prestige to her name; membership in the Southern the electorate. . . . It isn't neces-Association of Schools and Colleges, the American Association of sary that 50,000 American students University Women and other groups for the encouragement of concentrate on the Polish Corridor. All high college standards; a local chapter of the National Honor of them are actively interested in the for the radio will bring many hours of present at Agnes Scott about fourteen Society, Phi Beta Kappa; a reputation as a college which fosters right direction. A small group of high ideals and Christian character.

This week another honor will recognize excellence in a different field—the field of leadership and service. We refer to Dr. Arnold Wolfers, director of the Corps to know that their infirmary is This week another honor will recognize excellence in a great deal. . . . It is a long, slow the installation of Hoase, our honor society which recognizes and School of Politics in Berlin, and Dr. the best college hospital in the state of Some families have sent three or more encourages those qualities, as a chapter of the National Society— Walter M. Kotschnig, general secre- South Carolina. Mortar Board.

Few Southern colleges have been given this privilege and it is declared. a distinct compliment to the life on our campus and those who ents' apathy toward politics to the rave wildly because one poor little mosfoster it. Mortar Board ranks equally with important men's fact that, there being no discoverable honor societies which have the same aim and it is a nationally difference between the Democratic and recognized fact that it is an important force on the campus of the Republican parties, there is no of the Agricultural and Mechanical many well known colleges.

We can expect that the Hoase chapter of Mortar Board will the hands, not of the best of the na- ed over one highly-touted question really find how much it pays to adgo forward with new vigor and strength in the service of Agnes tion, but of the worst." Scott and all of the ideals for which she stands.

Y. W. C. A. BUDGET

Because one cannot see all the results of the money spent by the Y. W. C. A. in tangible accomplishments, is no proof mately concerned their own country, that the money is not well spent. Y. W. exerts an import- they, like Americans, were more or ant influence on our campus for a natural and happy exist- less indifferent to anything remote. ence for every single student. It endeavors to help not only in spiritual well-being but in every phase of student life. Each of us is benefitting unconsciously from many of the endeavors this tuberculosis rate is from twenty to organization sponsors; let us realize this fact and co-operate in fifty per cent of their total number, every way with Y. W. C. A. and its program.

DAY STUDENT PARTICIPATION

It is with much pleasure that we note with what enthusiasm "a greater desire to get into politics day students are entering into campus activities. It is especially themselves and make a change in orfine that with their increase in numbers, day students are taking a der to get a livelihood." larger interest in the clubs, organizations and publications which make up our extra-curricular life. We hope that their participation will lead others of their number to "follow suit" and that the National Student Federation of as a result, we shall have a finer unity and more friendly rela- America to send two German speaktion than we have ever had before.

N.S.F.A. News

Occasionally, one wonders a little about the source of the conviction that in the Alumnae House, October 30. we are an arrogant people. Watching the seventy-five or so American undergraduate delegates at the tenth Granahan), '29, of Opelika Ala., was a annual International Student Service Conference at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., early this month, you couldn't help wondering.

Practically all the contumely heaped on the American student during the lish and history in the Staunton, Va., session was heaped by the American delegates. Only the foreigners had a kind word of him, only the Europeans saw a hope of a "student awakening" here under the stimulus of something less than a cataclysm; only they offered some defense of his indifference to domestic government and foreign af-

The American delegates were humble and despairing. They didn't see much hope. "Nothing but pinching shoes and empty stomachs will ever make American students sit up and BETTY BONHAM realize that they have a government. ELIZABETH LIGHTCAP No outside organization can do any-GAIL NELSON thing for them," said a Harvard '31 man, who had "watched the Harvard Liberal Club die."

His countrymen agreed almost KATHERINE WOLTZ unanimously. Our native undergrad-LETITIA ROCKMORE uate is "shockingly ignorant" of gov-Bessie Meade Friend ernment affairs, and totally apathetic, said Yale, Columbia and New York University. "They don't even know a crisis exists," testified Ed Murrow, N. S. F. A. president. They are "too well-fed" to care about government, and "too remote" to care about foreign affairs. Only a few here and there keep the international relations clubs and the Model League Assemblies alive, and when they graduate, the structures collapse.

And then the outlanders rose to our defense. First, testified delegates from England, Iraq, Soviet Russia and the Philippines, who had visited or studied in colleges here, American undergraduates had shown "genuine interest" in the delegates' native countries. Soviet Russia was "still hoarse' from answering questions at the University of Nebraska.

Second, they reproached the American speakers for their pessimism about the future. "You are so accustomed to thinking in large numbers, you infirmary at the Citadel, Charleston, can't think in small ones. . . . You S. C are too impatient, too used to thinkwe want is to be sure that a handful really determined people can do a very cadets confined to the hospital.

question of principles involved here. College, Starkville, Miss.:

Moreover, according to Dr. Wolfers, Americans seemed to be laboring under a delusion regarding European students. While the latter were in general interested in affairs that inti-"Numbers of German students do not even know what the Kellogg Pact is."

Finally, European students, whose whose living conditions are rigorous, who sometimes have no hope of getting jobs for two, three or four years

The Deutsches Studentenschaft, national student organization of Ger-

(Continued on page 4, column 1)

Alumnae News

Mary McCallie, '30, will be a visitor

Mrs. Winston Smith T (Edith Mcrecent visitor in the Alumnae House.

Laura Brown, '30, spent the summer Tuxedo, N. C. She is teaching Enghigh school.

service examinations.

Mildred Duncan, '31, is taking a business course at Wheeler's Business College in Birmingham.

Louise Ware, '31, will spend the week-end of October 31 with Elise Jones, '31, at Elise's home in Gainesalso be a member of the house party, which is the week-end of the University of Florida home-coming cele-

Mary Catherine Williamson, '31, will spend the winter in Tampa, Fla.,

Charlotte Teasley, ex-'32, known on the stage as Carla Hunter, has, during ahead of her. the season just past, appeared in Lew Cantor's production of The Great Man, and her performance won for her Elaine Exton, ex-'32, entertained recently with an Agnes Scott luncheon in New York City. Among the guests man class disappointed us in not be-Sevier, '28; Betty Gash, '29; Mary one more set would have made the Trammell, '30; Martine Tuller, ex-'32, and Betty Conner, ex-32. Elaine has plans for organizing a New York City complete. Agnes Scott Alumnae Club.

Exchange

RADIO AT INFIRMARY

The Citadel Bull Dog has this to say

prise to almost everyone, and is re- and boarders alike. garded as another one of the most rapid

OH! THE Mosquitos!

If you have heard your roommate

(Continued on page 3, column 1)

Two By Two!

It certainly pays to advertise! The student body of Agnes Scott surely proves the truth of this statement, for it seems almost providential that when one sister in a family attends Agnes Scott the other sisters, almost without exception, choose Agnes Scott as as a councillor at Camp Greystone, their institution of higher learning. Surely the first sister to attend must employ some first class methods of advertising, for she surely gets results. Molly Childress, '31, is taking civil Perhaps some advertising concerns would be interested in her method.

It is rather singular that almost without fail the younger sister follows the older to Agnes Scott, for it is a well known fact that some girls do not want to go to the same college as their sisters because they "want to make ville, Fla.; Jeannette Shaw, '31, will their own way." We strongly suspect that in the case of Agnes Scott, "big sister" has so expounded the virtues of Agnes Scott and advertised it in such a big way, that "little sister" feels that she must come and see in the home of a former music teacher. Agnes Scott's charms for herself, that she just will not let "big sisters" get

Of course, one expects twin sisters to attend the same college, and Agnes a five-year contract from Mr. Can- Scott has been blessed with a number of sets of twins, although this year's number is two pairs less than last year's. It is too bad that the Freshwere: Rowena Runnette, '29; Virginia stowing a set of twins on us. Just number in Dr. Gillespie's Bible class

There are girls here who have waited a long time to follow in the footsteps of their older sisters and see Agnes Scott for themselves. Others have sisters right here in the school A gorgeous big radio set has been in- in some other class. Sisters are not stalled this past week in the college always in "sister classes" although sisters in "sister classes" make a particularly nice combination. There are sisters in every possible combination "This innovation came as a sur- of classes, and among day students

Do you know that there are now untold pleasure to all unfortunate pairs of sisters? Of course, the number would be much greater if we could include all those girls who at some time have had a sister at Agnes Scott. girls to Agnes Scott. Surely this is a test of their belief in it.

The members of the Granddaughters Club are those girls whose mothers quito tries to sing her to sleep-just attended Agnes Scott. Perhaps some show her this one from The Reflector, day someone will organize a Sisters Club, and what a membership it would have. Probably then only, would we

Agnes Scott College

DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

My dear er-ah girl-friend, ute to call my own I've had so much education not learned in books. nosing to do! You know, I sometimes wonder why I don't drop a few classes, several other Sophomores about that so I can attend to business better. extra gal. which was floating around However, I've managed to collect a in the parlor of Main the other night study was planned of such books as

The Freshmen still have a decidedly dental college dates. greenish tinge. Did you hear about the little dear who accosted Dottie Martha Logan, the girl we used to ad-Hutton and anxiously inquired, "If I mire and revere. Sunday she was bushaven't paid my budget, can I still go ily engaged in writing to the great to classes?" And then, didn't Sarah Keith, when she looked up in a pre-Denny waltz up to Dr. McCain at the occupied manner, and asked, "Betty, Faculty-Freshman tea and in a charm- how do you spell 'squeeze'?" And then Spirit in Our Everyday Lives." The ing manner say, "Oh, I'm so glad to she tried to make believe she was tellsee you—somebody told me to look ing him "she had to squeeze every you up!" And Carolyn Dickson on penny"! Nope, Martha, that one won't interested are invited to join the group. her first history test informed Miss go over, even during the depression! Jackson that Pope Leo III was the grandson of Pope Leo I.

learn in one lesson how to tell your the author obstreperous!" date goodnight in the proper Agnes Scott manner, take pointers from Charlotte Reid. I hear that the other night when she was out in front of Main telling her P. C. true-love goodbye, she completely educated an unseen audience which was hanging out of a second floor window. And be-What a week! I haven't had a min- lieve me, it was a part of that higher

Also, you might ask Plant Ellis and when they came down to greet their

Which all reminds me, the other day Sturdy, when asked how Chaucer pre-By the way, Giddy, if you want to sented his plot, exclaimed, "Oh, he was around this place!

Your affectionate

Aggie.

EXCHANGES

after another, but the one nearest us, And I will say civilization." deep in our hearts, feet, hands, and face, has evaded our outcries.

'Gentlemen, I am referring to the 'mosquito plague.'

****** THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms

Serving
LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON
TEA—DINNER
11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M.
Atlanta—65½ Broad St., N. W.
Macon—151 Cotton Ave. $\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagger$\dagg

(Continued from page 2, column 4) mankind, and I could say, civilization.

The Institute of International Education announces that 144 foreign students came to this country for the first We have mosquitos in our rooms time on fellowships and scholarships that can't 'take off' they are so granted by American colleges and unigross. There are easily combatted by versities and administered by the Inthe aid of the sledge-hammer, but stitute for the Academic year beginthere are only a few rooms equipped ning September, 1931. The group inwith sledge-hammers. The growth, cluded nationals from the following size, and numbers of our winged European countries listed in the order enemies this year has exceeded any- of their numerical representation-Germany, France, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Switzerland, Austria, Spain and Italy. There was a delegation from Latin America representing Costa Rica, Panama, Chile, Argentina and Columbia.

> Prof.: "What is the most important date in history?"

Frosh: "Anthony with Ceopatra."

Club News

COTILLION CLUB

The Cotillion Club met Monday night, October 19, in Mr. Johnson's studio. Plans for the tryouts were discussed, and three members besides the officers and faculty advisors were announced as judges. They are:

Helen McMillan Martha Stigall Blanche Lindsey

Plans were also discussed for the annual cotillion fashion shows to be held this fall.

Mission Interest Group

The first meeting of the Mission Interest group was held Sunday afternoon, in the Y. W. cabinet room. A "Humanity Uprooted," "The Clash of World Forces," "The Bantu Are Com-And I'll just have to tell you about ing," and others showing the direct connection of Christian missions to the world problems of today. These books are to be available soon in the library.

Mrs. Sydenstricker led the group in a devotional on "The Power of the Holy ideas and experiences of the recent fall council were discussed. All who are

Granddaughter's Club

The members of the Granddaughter Club entertained at an informal dinner in the Silhouette Tea Room, Sat-And so Who Ask Us is going to urday night, October 17th. Music was change to Murder Board! Things are furnished by four members of the A. certainly going from bad to worse P. D. C. orchestra. It was the first time that the club, which is social in its function, has entertained, and the "Granddaughters" hope to make the occasion an annual event.

Those who were present were: thing heretofore known to human Misses Elaine Heckle, Eleanor Williams, Anne Scott Harmon, Sarah Shadburn, Catherine Baker, Alberta Palmour, Susan Turner, Martha Redwine, Mary Hamilton, Mary Duke, Sarah May Love, Charlotte Reid and Isabelle Lowrance, Messrs. Julian Carmichael, John McBride, Yardy Mellingchamp, Tom Dorsey, Al Matthews, Bill Palmour, Robert Herring, Milton Camp, Walter Davis, Harrold Ragsdale, Ross Davis, J. W. Smith, and Earl Quillian.

Eta Sigma Phi

Eta Sigma Phi entertained with a tea-dance in honor of their new members, students of the Latin department, Wednesday afternoon, October 14, in the gymnasium.

In the receiving line were the officers of the club, including Nell Star, Louise Brant, Catherine Baker, and Elizabeth Sutton, and the faculty advisers, Miss Freed, Miss Torrance, Miss Smith, and Miss Stansfield.

Louise Hollingsworth and Marie Whittle served as refreshments, punch guests of Mary Davis for the weekand wafers.

(Continued on page 4, column 2) $**********

Hewey's

Buy Your TOILET ARTICLES SUNDRIES REMEDIES—STATIONERY SODAS—SANDWICHES

PROMPT DELIVERY

Call us Phone Dea. 0640-9110

ዼ፞፟ ቝቑቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቝቚቝቚቝቚቚቚቚቚቚቚቚቚቚቚ

the many colors of their dresses brighten every corner of the campus. Their laughter rings through the air, and their pleasant chatter comes to us on the fall breezes. And then suddenly on Saturday all is still. The campus is empty except for a little squirrel or two that leap from one tree to another or run along the ground through dry leaves. What causes this desertion? What becomes of the Hottentots, who from Monday morning to Saturday at noon swarm all over campus? Would you really like to know? Well, then, see where they go-

Josephine Clark was in Athens Saturday for the Georgia-Vanderbilt game.

Vivian Martin spent the week-end in Atlanta.

Plant Ellis attended a dance at the All-Saints parish house Saturday night.

Esther Coxe, Alma Brohard, Maude Anderson, Pauline Cureton, and Madge Kennedy went on a wiener roast Saturday night, given by Mary Jackson.

Judy Blundell and Mary Sturtevant had dinner in Atlanta with Penelope Brown, Saturday, October 17.

Louise Brant was in Atlanta for the week-end with her sister, Mrs. M. J. Herbolsheimer.

Cornelia Keeton attended the Delta Sigma Phi dance Saturday night.

Susan Turner, Marguerite Manget, and Ella Hopson spent the week-end in Newnan, Ga.

Johnnie Turner and Louella Dearing were on a Chi Psi house party in Athens for the week-end, where they end. attended the Georgia-Vanderbilt game.

Bee Miller and Kitty Woltz went on wiener roast Saturday at Stone Mountain given by the Emory biological fraternity.

Cornelia and Loretta Haley were the Louise Stakely honored her grandchild (Miriam Steele, with a party Sat- end in Atlanta with Mrs. Henry Hart.

What becomes of all the Hottentots | urday. Among those present were on the week-end? All during the week Helen McMillan, Clyde Lovejoy, Tot Smith, and Sara Lane Smith.

> Marge Simmons spent the week-end in Atlanta with Mrs. R. L. Barry.

> Eleanor Wofford was at her home in Spartanburg, S. C., for the week-end.

> Elizabeth Howard attended a reception given by the K. A.'s at Emory Friday night.

Marge Simmons went to the Lambda Chi Alpha banquet at Emory Saturday

Elizabeth Winn spent the week-end at her home in Greenville, S. C.

Hester Ann Withers stayed in Atlanta for the week-end with her parents from Waynesville, N. C.

Billie Belote and Lucile Heath attended a skating party in Atlanta Sat-

Margaret Rogers was in Atlanta for the week-end.

Gladys Burns spent the week-end with her family at Lakemont.

Among those who went to camp at Stone Mountain this week-end were: Pat Kimble, Irene Hartselle, Eugenia Edwards, Katherine Wright, Amelia Wolf, Burnett Maganos, Virginia Fisher, Marjorie Gamble, and Ada P.

Marguerite Morris attended the K.A. dance at Emory Saturday night.

Martha Redwine was in Decatur with Miss Kate Keagan for the week-

Sarah Cordin visited in Warrington, Ga., last week-end.

Betty Lou Houck spent the weekend with Penelope Brown in Atlanta.

Mae Duls and Miriam Steele had Sunday dinner in Atlanta with Mrs.

Amy Underwood spent the week-

Y. W. News

The stunts are over, and the routine of school life now consists of food, eight of these hobby groups. study, classes, sleep, and an occasional show. There is no longer the wild rush ested in stars, birds, and flowers. to this committee or that meeting that the stunt demanded. Some may feel that the change is a decided improve- mas. ment; others may feel a distinct letdown, a feeling of "Now, what can we lovers. Make yourself a dress or a do?" It is for this latter class that the Freshmen hobby groups have been planned, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. and Freshmen Cabinets. There will be

1. Nature study, for those inter-

2. Crafts, for those who would like to try a hand at leather or silver work, lovely things for Christmas.

3. Sewing for the needle-work handkerchief.

4. Personal worship.

5. Comparative religions. A study group, sponsoring trips to different churches.

6. Social service for those who would like to give some of their time helping and cheering those less fortunate than themselves.

7. Industrial group, including study and factory trips.

8. Charm—what everyone desires! This will consist of discussions on friendship, dress, etiquette, the ideal

These hobbies are absolutely optional. If a Freshman is not interested, she need not join a group. We do not want to give the Freshman just another task to accomplish, but wish to give her an opportunity to do the things she enjoys, and to make friends

(Continued on page 4, column 3)

Muse's Ladies' Shop in the Henry Grady Hotel

NEW FALL DRESSES

—just arrived—

Velvets-Crepes-Wools-

Ordinarily these Dresses would sell for $16.75 and $19.75. We purchased them at a special price and rush the reduction on to

Agnes Scott Girls and Teachers, We have just the campus Dress of Tweed, the Tea Frock of Velvet, The Sports Suit or the Coat— You have been looking for. All of our garments have an irresistible style—and all are within the limits of your allowances. Drop in to see us the next time You are in town— We will welcome you gladly—

N. S. F. A. NEWS

(Continued from page 2, column 3) ing American students on a six weeks speaking tour of German colleges and universities during the months of January and February, 1932. Their entire expenses will be paid by the Deutsches Studentenschaft. There is also a possibility that these two students will be invited to visit the universities of Holland as well as the Student Federation will select the two basis and details for the contest will appear in this bulletin shortly. This invitation is a spontaneous desire on the part of German students for a better understanding between students of the two countries, and marks the first attempt of its kind. The success and general approval of the German debating team brought to America by the Federation last winter has opened the way for a visit to Germany this

Canoe trips on the Danube, hiking trips through the Austrian Tyrol and Black Forest as well as motor trips through various parts of Europe will be offered by the N. S. F. A. Travel Department in addition to regular student travel. The same student guides and hospitality will characterize the European trips. Any student who has been named as leader will receive one complete free trip. Applications should be addressed to Travel Bureau, N. S. F. A., 218 Madison Ave., New York City. Travel to Russia will also be an added feature of this year's travel pro-

COMMUNITY CHEST STARTS

DRIVE IN DECATUR (Continue from page 1, column 1) Tillotson, from Main; Lovelyn Wilson, Elizabeth Lynch, Louise Hollingsworth, Dot Bradley, Carrie Lena Mc-Mullen, and Charlotte Reid, from Rebekah; Saxon Pope, Betty Lou Houck, Jule Bethea, Katherine Wright, and Eugenia Edwards, from Inman; Lucile Woodberry, Sturges; Virginia Herrin, White House; Porter Cowles, Gaines; Carrie Lingle, Lupton; Mary Charles Alexander, Ansley; and Grace Fincher, Mary Duke, Lois Sacks, and Martha Skeen, day student representatives.

All these solicitors for Atlanta's great Community Chest will be asking all students of A. S. C. to remember the words, "Suppose it was you-and nobody cared," and to answer by giving-"everybody, everybody give."

THE EMBLEM SHOP

51 North Forsyth St. Healey Bldg.

EMBLEMS—JEWELRY WATCH REPAIRING

Juniors 5, Frosh 0

In the second hockey game of the Both games were closely contested and What a thrill to start off at a slow exciting throughout.

the Juniors and Freshmen was 5-0 in the cool autumnal days many Hottenfavor of the Juniors. The Juniors Scandanavian countries. The National proved a little too fast for the Frosh, ing off to spend an afternoon of hapteam and showed better co-operation Scott is more popular than ever be-American students on a competition than in their first game. Their line-ups fore. It is not unusual to see girls in

| Well as lollow | J .         |            |
|----------------|-------------|------------|
| JUNIORS        | ]           | FRESHMEN   |
| M. Hudmon      |             |            |
| Ackerman       |             |            |
| Spivey         | _C. F       | Henderson  |
| Happoldt       | I. L        | Russell    |
| Sweets         |             |            |
| Alexander      |             |            |
| Heath          |             |            |
| Shackleford    |             |            |
| Woltz          | _R. B       | Tomlinson  |
| Bell           | L. B        | Spencer    |
| Loranz         | _G. G       | Williams   |
| Calatitution   | a. A 45 400 | atuana fou |

Substitutions: Armstrong for Juniors; Dickson, Houck, and Simpson for Freshmen.

Y. W. NEWS (Continued from page 3, column 5) BLACKFRIAR MEETING

The first regular meeting of Blackfriars was held Tuesday night, October 20, in Miss Gooch's studio. The members taken into the club last spring were formally initiated. Miss Gooch outlined the three one-act plays to be given Thanksgiving, and announced the casts for each. The executive board presented a revised constitution, and the club voted to accept it. Martha Skeen was elected property manager for the coming year.

Bright Freshman to newsdealer: 'Give me Liberty or give me Life.'

L. CHAJAGE

Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

$$$$$$$$$$$$$$ WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

******************

—for— GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE FLOWERS

De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg. ***************

 Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

122 Peachtree

**********

SALE

A timely mid-season sale of Mirror Quality Shoes-worn by Agnes Scott girls for years but never before offered at this low price.

Regular $6 & $7.50 Values

The MIRROR Quality Footwear 76 Whitehall St.

Horseback Riding

Through the autumn woods and season, the Juniors played the Fresh- down by woodland streams, the trail men, and the Seniors the Sophomores. of horseback riders winds its way. trot and end with a breathless gallop The outcome of the battle between at the end of the bridle path! During tots are saddling their horses and ridwho have some good material on their piness. Horseback riding at Agnes chic riding habits stride across the campus, or to see the trail of riders coming back, laughing to the light singlefoot of their horses. The Avondale Stable horses are rented to Agnes Scotters every Tuesday afternoon all the year round. And if you, too, would like to saddle a horse and enjoy the thrills of horseback riding, just don your habit and pick out your horse and go!

CLUB NEWS

(Continued from page 3, column 3) with girls who have the same inter-

Perhaps you have been wondering what is the purpose of the Freshmen Cabinet. We feel that this group should be a connecting link between the Y. W. C. A. work and the Freshman class. The group has chosen as its aim, "Friendship With God and Man," and will work this out through discussions, worship, and fellowship. The girls serving on this cabinet are the following:

Caroline Dickson, chairman; Alberta Palmour, Edith Dorn, Jacqueline Woolfolk, Jane Goodwin, Vera Frances Pruet, Loice Richards, Elizabeth Alexander, Martha Redwine, Leonora

Being a Chinese vegetable peddler, he had to mind his peas and queues.

SILHOUETTE TEA ROOM

Anna Young Alumnae House Hours 7:30-2:00

10:00-10:30 **********

Sophs Tie Seniors

In a most exciting game, the Seniors and Sophs tied, 1-1. No goals were made during first half, but during the last five minutes of play each side scored one goal. Kane made the Seniors', and Preston scored for the | Sophs. Oppo  | sing sides w | ere:       |

|--------------|--------------|------------|
| SENIORS      | SOPH         | OMORES     |
| Dyer         | R. W         | Maness     |
| Hudson       | I. R         | Fisher     |
| Kane         | C. F         | Tindall    |
| Williamson _ | I. L         | O'Brien    |
| Fincher      | L. W         | Hamilton   |
| Dyer         | R. H         | Friend     |
| Schich       | C. H         | Preston    |
| Green        | L. H         | Schuessler |
| Brown        | R. B         | Rogers     |
| Glenn        | L. B         | McMullen   |
| Norfleet     | G. G         | Turner     |
|              |              |            |

Professor: "This examination will be conducted in accordance with the honor system. Pease take seats three apart and in alternate rows."

********

NOTICE!

Will the student who had two pairs of kid pumps repaired last week at the shoe shop in little Decatur, please see Miss Hopkins

The Fight Is On!

If you have ever longed for the days 'when knighthood was in flower" and wished you might attend the exciting tourneys of old, now is your chance to test your skill in combat and to prove how good a Sir Lancelot you are, for the tennis tournament is getting under way. You may have a partner to play the part of your brother knight, and together you may rush to the combat, brandishing your tennis rackets and hurling fast and furious balls at your opponents. You may be still in the ranks of squires; if so there is a beginners tourney, which you can enter. But if you have attained the skill of knighthood, sign up for the advanced.

SOPHS WIN MEET

At the first swimming meet of the year held Thursday night, October 22, in the gym, the Sophomores were victorious, defeating the Seniors by one point. They won by a score of 27; the Seniors were second with 26, and the Freshmen third with 22.

GILCHRIST POWELL

AURORA EDITOR

Gilchrist Powell was elected assistant editor of the Aurora last week to take the place of Elizabeth Moore, who did not come back to school. The other nominees were Elizabeth Lynch and Vivian Martin.

"What a whale of a difference a few lies make," said Jonah, sitting in

Dennis Lindsey Printing Company (Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING AND STATIONERY

421 Church St.

Dearborn 0976

Decatur, Ga.

The Canton Crepe Dress Does Constant Duty

in the busy college girl's life

$16.75

-Sketched: Black dress with contrasting Spanish tile top. Enlivened by big metal button and an unusual metal belt clasp.

-"Clareen" canton crepe dresses are exclusive with Rich's in Atlanta! Come and see our other models . . . they're rife with 1931 fashion details!

Thriftstyle Shop---Third Floor.

RICH'S

No. 5

Affiliation With Associated Press Gained by K.U.B.

Mr. W. F. Caldwell, Head of Atlanta Bureau of A. P. Speaks on Its Activities.

In recognition of the affiliation of K. U. B., the journalism club, with the Associated Press, Mr. W. F. Caldwell, head of the Associated Press bureau in Atlanta, which is the distributing point of the organization for the Southeast, addressed the club and the journalism class Wednesday afternoon, October 28, in the cabinet room.

"The origin of the Associated Press," began Mr. Caldwell, "was in New York City. It is a co-operative, nonhas no politics. The sole policy is to who need food and help. get the news, get the facts.

"There are 13,000 newspapers in the organization. Besides membership of American newspapers, we have affiliations with important papers in Canada, England, France, and Italy. Associated Press bureaus are established in many themselves Americans, know how to spirit which is our birthright. write the news in an interesting way to send back home. For instance, when Bobby Jones was in England during the British Amateur championship, we had our own man there to cover the tournament.

Our wires are leased from the telephone and telegraph companies," Mr. Caldwell continued. "The big cities radiate circuits to smaller cities. Our wires stretch all the way across the continent from Bangor, Maine, to Seattle, Washington; from Seattle to San Diego, California; from San Diego to El Paso, Texas; from El Paso to New Orleans, La.; from New Orleans to Atlanta; from Atlanta to Charlotte, N. C.; from Charlotte to Richmond, Virginia; from Richmond to Washington, D. C.; from Washington to New York City. Wires radiate from New York city to Havana, Cuba. Men in the New York office translate outwhich go to night papers.

well declared. "The revenues are de- skeletons seen in semi-darkness. rived from assessments on the newspapers which are members of the association. Each day 1,000,000 words are transcribed, which equals about 60 fall leaves, jack o' lanterns and colored columns of news in a daily paper. The lights, this cosmopolitan throng of cost a year for operation is $60,000,- merrymakers was left free to duck for 000."

Mr. Caldwell briefly sketched the organization of the Associated Press. It is governed by a Board of Directors composed of a representative from Special features on the program were: every newspaper in the United States a French tango by Suzel Triare and that wishes to be a member. These Carolyn Waterman; a ghost story by directors serve a term of three years

(Continued on page 4, column 1)

JAROSLAVA BIENERTOVA SPEAKS

Jaroslava Bienertova will speak before the League of Women Voters in Czechoslovakia.

It is a long way from Prague to Atlanta, she says, and it is a still greater speech and customs.

Community Chest Drive Initiated

Miss Hale Presents Appeal to Faculty and Students

The necessity and importance of the Community Chest appeal were discussed in chapel Tuesday by Miss Hale, who explained briefly and clearly the

The appeal, said Miss Hale, was opened in Atlanta Monday night with a dinner, at which John Lord O'Brien, assistant to the attorney-general of the U. S., was the chief speaker.

In Atlanta, she stated, there are thirty-eight welfare agencies, such as the Salvation Army, Red Cross, Boy Scouts, and Campfire Girls; they have done a great work in 1930 and 1931, but there is still an enormous number

"Each girl on the Agnes Scott campus," Miss Hale urged, "should do her part, even though it be a little one. Therefore, cards will be given to any who want them, and all students are requested to give as much as they are able. A contest to see who raises the largest sum will be held between the Senior honorary society. Hoase, she two sides of the campus-Inman and foreign capitals such as London, Paris, Rebekah—so let's each save our nickels Rome, Moscow and Pekin. We have and dimes for this cause, in order that our own men in these offices who, we may not betray that American

Blackfriars Elect New Members

The following have been elected new members of Blackfriars on the basis of the recent try-outs:

> Martha England Ruth Shippey Frances Oglesby Helen Etheredge Carr Mitchell Charlotte Reid Mary McDonald Martha Elliot Elizabeth Dobbs

Hallowe'en Party Given by Seniors

Hobgoblins, witches, and ghosts froze the blood of all the gaily-dressed going stories into Spanish, and men in guests at the Senior Hallowe'en party, President of Mortar Board. Havana translate their material into Saturday night, October 31. Bold buc-English for the United States as well as caneers, bewitching gypsy maidens, for a few English newspapers on the Turkish dancers, Italian lovers, saucy island. The Associated Press has 225,- sailors, white-veiled ghosts, black cats 000 leased wires, 136,000 of which go bringing bad fortune: all were received to day newspapers, and 89,000 of and conducted to the Chamber of Horrors where they came against slimy > now attractively decorated with bright apples in tubs of icy water, dance with strange masked creatures, or have fortunes told in fearsome little booths. Blues," by the voices of the dead.

After a grand march, the judges gave the prize for the most original costume to Lois Richards, a jack o' Atlanta next Thursday morning on the lantern who issued from her huge habits and customs of the people of pumpkin helmet to receive the orange cat. The second prize for the most attractive costume went to Winona Euseparation because of the difference in banks, who wore a red Spanish cos-

Forty - Ninth Mortar Investiture to Be Board Chapter Installed at A. S.

Miss Wilburn, Alumnae of Hoase, and Miss Kuhlman,

Hoase was installed as the fortyorganization and plans of this cam- ninth chapter of Mortar Board, the only national senior honorary society sponsibilities. for college women, on Triday, November 30. The installation service was traditional manner. In the processional held late Friday afternoon with Miss the Seniors will march between their Katherine Kuhlman, national director Sophomore class sisters. The Invocation for expansion; Mrs. R. H. Richards, sectional director, and delegates from five other chapters participating.

> The aims and ideals of Mortar Board as a broadened interpretation of Hoasc academic processional to the hymn, Wilburn, an alumnae member of followed by the recessional. Hoase, spoke of the founding and development of Hoase, the Agnes Scott said, was founded in 1916 with a twofold purpose—that of recognition and opportunity for further service. The recognition was of scholarship, leadership, and unselfish service to Agnes Scott. The second purpose was that of giving an opportunity for further service through the banding together of Miss Katherine Kuhlman talked on the history of Mortar Board, the national Senior honorary.

"Mortar Board, the national honor society for Senior women, was organized February 15 and 16, 1918, at Syracuse, N. Y., with groups from Swarthmore College, Cornell University, Ohio State University, and the University of Michigan as charter mem-

"From this date the chapter roll has grown until today there are 49 active Mortar Board chapters (Hoase is the 49th), and 15 organized alumnae groups. Because of the growth of Mortar Board, chapters are now grouped geographically together into sections -there being eight-each section presided over by a sectional director, an active and interested alumna who is in turn responsible to the National

'The National Council of six mempers carries on the work as specified by the active chapter delegates at the bi- scheme of orange and black was carennial conventions. During the alternate year the sectional conferences are held, such as the one now in session at Agnes Scott.

'In affiliating with our national or-"There are no dividends," Mr. Cald- eyeballs, pulpy hands of witches and ganization, we have no wish to tear away from your local group the old traditions built up about it, nor ask Led into the main hall of the gym, that you discard the acts of service by which your group has been known for

Our hope is that by contact with 48 other active groups through our conference, national convention, visits or mons, accompanied by Lucile Heath, correspondence with officers, and by sang "Do You Know My Garden?" means of our magazine, the quarterly, by Hadyn Wood and "Nex' Time," by that the many fine things you've done will be carried on to other chapters for their profit and in turn new ideas

(Continued on page 4, column 2)

SCHEDULE FOR SATURDAY NOVEMBER 7

Regular Schedule. Sat. Schedule 7:55- 8:55 7:55- 8:50 8:55- 9:55 8:50- 9:45 Chapel 9:45-10:40 10:30-11:30 10:40-11:35 11:30-12:30 Investiture: 11:35-12:30

Miss Hale Will Speak on Senior Responsibilities.

Miss Hale, one of the class advisors, Nat'l Exp. Director Speak. will address the Seniors at their Investiture service Saturday, November 7 Her general theme will be Senior re-

> Investiture will be carried out in the will be given by Dr. G. M. Howerton of Fort Pierce, Fla. After the hymn, 'Holy, Holy, Holy," Dr. McCain will introduce the speaker, Miss Hale. At

Agonistic Adds New Reporters to Staff

The Agonistic staff takes great as a result of the recent try-outs:

> Juliette Kaufman Isabel Lowrance Dorothy Cassels Katherine Hertzka Mary Jane Evans Jane Goodwin Mary Boggs Margaret Loranz.

Dr. and Mrs. McCain Entertain Freshmen

Dr. and Mrs. McCain delightfully entertained the Freshman class at a Hallowe'en party at their home on South Candler Street, Tuesday afteroon October 27 at 5 P. M. A color ried out in decorations and refresr-

Realistic jack o' lanterns, black cats 14 to 16 points. and witches hiding in autumn leaves,

Several members of the Freshman class gave a program for the entertainment of the guests. Marge Sim-Evans read "An Old Fashioned Garden," by Mary Wilder Williams. Suzel Triaire sang "Obstination," by Fontenailles, and "Otchi-chiomiae," a Russian song.

The orange and black color scheme was carried out in the refreshments. Orange ice, supporting a diminutive black witch, and chocolate cakes on black and orange plates, marshmallows, sugar cane, apples and peanuts were served. Mrs. McCain was assisted in entertaining by Louise McCain and by

Reapportionment of Saturday Morning Points Made By Revision Committee

Changes Based on Amount of Work Various Campus Offices Require.

At a recent meeting of the point revision committee, under the chairmanship of Louise Hollingsworth, a number of changes were made in the number of points granted for participation in various campus activities. The reapportionment was based on reports made by the heads of each of the leading departments as to the amount of work entailed by each office.

The principle changes made were: the conclusion of the address Miss on the Agonistic staff, business manprofit, non-sectarian organization. It of starving, poverty-stricken people, aims and ideals were presented to the Hopkins will place the cap, indicative ager changed from 20 points to 16; college community at chapel Saturday of Senior achievements and responsi- membership on business staff from 6 morning. Following the traditional bilities, on the head of each Senior as to 4; reporter, from 2 to 4, and exshe kneels. The entire college will join change editor, from 4 to 6. In the 'Ancient of Days," Miss Llewellyn in the "Alma Mater," which will be Athletic Association, the chairman of the social committee was changed from The service will begin at 11:35, Sat- 0 to 12 points; the orchestra leader urday, with a change in class schedules from 0 to 6; membership in orchestra for that morning. Many visitors are from 0 to 2. The assistant editor of expected for Investiture, one of Agnes the Aurora dropped from 12 points to Scott's best loved and most individual 8 and the publicity manager of Blackfriars was changed from 0 to 4. Among class officers, changes were made in the offices of Junior president, from 16 to 14; Junior secretary and treasurer from 10 to 8, and Freshman president changed from 8 to 10.

Glee Club membership rose from 2 pleasure in announcing the fol- to 4, while K. U. B. committee chairlowing additions to its list of reporters, manships also rose from 0 to 6. B. O. Z. offices rose to 4 from 0, as did K. U. B. offices. The chairmanship of May Day changed to 16 from 10; the presidency of the Day Students from 14 to 10; presidency of the Lecture Association dropped from 10 to 8; treasurer of the Lecture Association rose from 8 to 10; membership on May Day Committee rose from 8 to 10, while the office of fire chief dropped from 8 to 6 and the presidency of Cotillion rose from 4 to 6.

As for Student Government, the Junior and Senior members of Exec. gained from 10 to 16, and the Freshmen and Sophomores rose from 8 to 10. The Day Student Representative also changed from 8 to 10; Y. W. C. A. presidency rose to 24 points from 22; first vice-presidency dropped from 20 to 16 and 2nd vice presidency from 18 to 14, while the treasurer rose from Membership in all departmental big fires and shaded lights furnished a clubs, with exception of French Club, 'spooky" setting for a Hallowe'en dropped from 2 to 0, and offices in any departmental club, including French, dropped from 4 to 2.

The members of the revision committee are: Louise Hollingsworth, chairman; Andrewina Robinson, president of Student Government; Diana Dyer, president of Y. W. C. A.; Sarah Bowman, president of Athletic Asociation; Sarah Lane Smith, editor of Francis Brockett Kellogg. Mary Jane Aurora; Betty Bonham, editor of Agonistic; Penelope Brown, editor of Silhouette; Mary Duke, president of Day Students, and Louise Stakely, president of Senior class.

COTILLION GIVES FASHION SHOW

The Cotillion Club is sponsoring a fashion show to be held Wednesday night, November 4, at 7 o'clock in the

The clothes displayed will be from Allen's department store in Atlanta, and the types include dresses for sport, afternoon, and evening wear. A few coats will also be modeled.

Admission will be 15 cents.

Subscription price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single copies, 5c.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

|                 | STAFF               |
|-----------------|---------------------|
|                 | BETTY BONHAM        |
|                 | ELIZABETH LIGHTCAP  |
|                 | GAIL NELSON         |
|                 | MARY HAMILTON       |
| Exchange Editor | ELIZABETH LYNCH     |
| Athletic Editor | KATHERINE WOLTZ     |
| Alumnae Editor  | LETITIA ROCKMORE    |
| Club Editor     | Bessie Meade Friend |
| Joke Editor     | Johnnie Mae York    |
| Giddy Gossip    | CAROLINE LINGLE     |

MANAGEMENT

| Advertising Manager           | CLYDE LOVEJOY      |
|-------------------------------|--------------------|
| Business Manager              | GRACE FINCHER      |
| Circulation Manager           | LILA ROSS NORFLEET |
| Assistant Circulation Manager | Imogene Hudson     |

REPORTERS FOR THIS ISSUE

| SARAH BOWMAN     |
|------------------|
| LETITIA ROCKMORE |
| FLORENCE PRESTON |
| Nelle Chamlee    |
| EMILY SQUIRES    |
| RITTH CREEN      |

ELIZABETH HICKSON VIRGINIA PRETTYMAN CAROLYN RUSSELL ROSALIND WARE Louise Wesley FIELD SHACKLEFORD

COURTESY

Perhaps there is no place where courtesy is more necessary than on a college campus and in college dormitories. If all the rules of the college, all the customs and traditions were narrowed fur-trimmed costume, and then Santa down to their fundamental purposes, we would find that is always accompanied by a devil and never dreamed would be theirs. courtesy is the essential motive behind most of them. If all the inquiring of the children which it is disagreement, unhappiness and unpleasantness on the campus that they deserve—a beating from the and in our relationships with each other were traced to their sources, we would find that at their roots are lack of courtesy.

It is a quality which we should all possess by virtue of our comes on Christmas Eve. A huge dinhome influences, but somehow when we are transplanted into children are ushered into a room which college life we lose it temporarily and do and say things which, if has been closed off for several previous we could see them in their proper light, would horrify us. If days, and there they find presents and "Cheltenham Flier" which makes a each time we do anything that seems a little "off-color," we would stop and ask ourselves, "Is it the courteous thing?" it would not only improve our campus life but would add to the happiness of every girl at Agnes Scott.

So in the library, in the dining room, in the dormitories, in the class room be courteous!

There are few colleges which offer a better opportunity for all-student participation in extra-curricular activities than Agnes Scott. The efficiency of the point system, the small size of our student group and the variety of its activities afford ample opportunity for every girl in the school to interest herself and accomplish something in some line or lines of campus work. Extra-curricular activities are not for the few; they are for the majority, if not the whole and if any girl at the end of college finds herself with empty hands and nothing accomplished, it can be no one's fault but her own.

We feel that the clubs, organizations and publications on our campus fill a definite need in college life, that they add flavor nah where she will take the boat trip and interest to our academic work and offer us splendid recreational values and contacts. In this conviction we are upheld by Scott girls. those who have gone on before, those who felt the need of these activities and initiated them—our alumnae. The opportunity is ours let's take advantage of it and while we are here fill our lives appendicitis' operation. to the brim with scholastic and extra-curricular achievement which will tint the memories of these four years in the most vivid colors.

Hallowe'en and Xmas Customs In Czechoslovakia

By ELIZABETH LYNCH

even Santa Clauses that abide in her 8 by Goodyear for the Navy. country.

"Jarka" is Jaroslava Bienertova, exchange student who left her home. more than 3,000 miles away in Czechoslovakia, to study here at Agnes Scott.

'There is no Hallowe'en in Czechoslovakia," Jarka says, "Oh, no, we don't have a festival with funny coswe don't have that.

"But do you ever have ghosts in Jarka was asked. your country?"

What do you mean American Hallowe'en spookdom she said, "Oh, yes, we have ghosts and witches and such, but not in October. That comes in June on St. Jane's Eve. Out in the country on St. Jane's Eve my people gather about big out-ofdoor firesides and play witches and ghosts, and so. At my home in Prague, though, we do not see much of that festival. But even in that festival they do not dress as clowns and gypsies, and pirates, and we do not have grinning pumpkin faces as do you."

So then 'tis a Hallowe'en in June without any freak costumes and without any black cats and lighted pumpkin heads, which in Jarka's land is the nearest likeness to our season of spooks.

Santa Claus isn't quite so badly slighted as are jack o' lanterns in Czechoslovakia, but even old jolly Santa comes down the chimney 20 he isn't loved and cherished nearly as much as is "Yezisek" by the little folk in the land of ancient Bohemia.

"On the eve of December 5," Jarka relates, "all the little Czechs put their shoes, or maybe their stockings, beside in Washington. the chimney, and when they wake the next morning, they find that Santa has left them nuts and candies and fruits.

"In wealthy families the part of Santa Claus is played by an older member of the family who dresses in red devil or bright candles from the angels.

'But then the happiest time of all the Christmas season for our little folk lovely gitts. "If you should ask a little Czech where his pretty toys came from he would tell you, 'Yezisek' (Little Jesus), came down from heaven with his angels bringing presents for me. He came in Christmas tree with its candles and cookies and candies and gifts!"

Jarka is interesting and so is her homeland. If you want to have an 'educational" as well as a jolly good Digest and daily papers. time-go see her at Sturges, where she'll love to talk to you between beats of what she laughingly calls the 'breadline of telephone and tube calls."

Alumnae News

Dorothy Grubb, '31, is teaching in the public school at Tallahassee, Ala.

Elizabeth Woolfolk, '31, who has been at the Alumnae House for the past month, left Sunday for Savanto New York. She will visit Martha North Watson, '31, and other Agnes Clarene Dorsey, '30, is convalescing at her home in Glasgow, Ky., after an

LaTrelle Robertson, ex-'33, was operated on last week for appendicitis. (Continued on page 3, column 2)

WE SEE BY PAPERS

Out in the World

Huge as the great Navy Zeppelin, the Los Angeles, seemed to those who Last week Jarka saw her very first watched it glide gracefully over the jack o' lantern, and now she has told campus Tuesday, it is only one-third us about the witches and spooks and the size of the Akron, launched August

The Los Angeles contains about two and one-half million cubic feet of helium and is 658 feet long. The Graf contains almost four million cubic feet of gas and is 776 feet long, while the new Akron has a capacity of six and one-half million cubic feet and is 785 tumes and queer lighted faces cut from feet long. The Los Angeles and the -what did you say-watermelon-no Graf both have five motors while the -it was pumpkin you called it. No, Akron has eight with a total horsepower of 4,480.

The Los Angeles has a maximum speed of 73 miles per hour and a cruisghost?" she asked, and after hearing an ing range without refueling of 4,000 explanation of the weird airiness of miles while the two corresponding figures for the Akron are 84, and 10,580.

> "The worst gangster in the world," as Al Capone is called, gnashed his teeth, snarled, and attempted to kill a newspaper photographer, when he heard his sentence of 11 years in the penitentiary and a fine of $50,000 and court costs, last week. He has already started to serve his term at Leaven-

Prentiss Bailey Gilbert, State Department expert on European affairs. has become the first American official to sit with the League of Nations

This Hoover-Stimson "sitting-in polwhole days before Christmas day, and icy," which has advocated Gilbert's attending the League council in view of the Manchurian snarl, may be a peace effort at Geneva, but it may arouse hostilities among the anti-league forces

> More than 1,000,000 Russians, who fled for their lives eleven or twelve years ago are scattered in various sections of the globe and are earning their bread and butter in occupations they

England has rewon the honor of running the fastest start-to-run train. The Canadian Pacific held the record for some years, but Britain's Great Western Railway has recaptured the

The fastest train in the world is the 77-mile run in 60-67 minutes—mak ing an average of 69.18 miles per hour.

At the recent Yorktown celebration, visitors ate 12 miles of wieners, 2,000 the window and brought me this pretty pounds of butter, 200,000 ham sandwiches, 24,000 broilers, 160,000 cups of coffee, and 12,750 bowls of soup.

These items taken from Literary

On Other Campuses

FIRE DRILL AT TECH Don't fuss about fire drills at A. S. C. Read what the Tech boys do:

Special timing tests on Fire Engine House Number Ten were made for a New York laboratory.

Thirty-nine Tech men were part of the smoothly running timing machines. Men were in bed as under actual conditions when the gong rang. They jumped into clothes, slid down the pole, climbed on the truck, and sped to a fire plug 117 feet from the start. A fifty-foot hose was attached to the plug, and water ran out the end of it in exactly twenty-five and twotenths seconds. This time broke the old record by one and one-tenth seconds .- The Technique.

No BRIDGE AT CONVERSE

An article in the Parley Voo, Converse College, tells of a student government meeting at which the president corrected the rumor that the college council was going to overlook bridge playing. She stated that any bridge playing seen would be reported and a penalty would be received by the

The Spectator, publication of the Mississippi State College for Women, carries a full front page column every week on world news shorts. Below are two samples:

The United States has lost to death in the past weeks three of her most splendid citizens: Thomas A. Edison, inventor and man of genius; David Starr Jordan, educator and philosopher, and Dwight Morrow, statesman and citizen of the world.

At the command of Joseph Stalin, leader of the Soviet government, Russia has overthrown the fundamental tenet of communism "from everyone according to his abilities, to everyone according to his needs." In a speech delivered at the Izevastia, Moscow, he announces that temporarily at least, wages will be scaled so that the skilled laborer will receive more pay than the unskilled, and that work will go on in the factories only six days a week instead of seven, as heretofore. Walter Durantes, Russian correspondent for the New York Times, considers this only a maneuver of Stalin's to reach his ultimate goal of a purely communistic state in Russia.

BICYCLES AT SMITH

Smith College has placed a ban on automobiles and as a result there are now over 200 bicycles being used by students on the campus.

Approximately one-fifth of the students at the University of Wisconsin are wholly self-supporting. (Continued on page 4, column 3)

Agnes Scott College

DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities

For further information, address

J. R. McCAIN, President

My old pal, Giddy,

A lot of things have happened since were in love." last I honored you with a line (A line, lowe'en party, and Signor Macerata that's green, isn't it?" with his fencing exhibition. Believe me, Giddy, I'm going to stay on the get her economics lesson, Vivian Margood side of him. I'll never, never pick tin, in an anxious manner asked one a quarrel with that man. Of course I of her fellow-sufferers, "What's our might mention the Cotillion fashion economics assignment?" "Consumpshow tonight, but I'll have to press on. | tion," was the answer. "Well," said I have a few scraps of news that might Vivian, "it may be consumption to Dr. interest you.

Did you know that Lila Ross Norment was so glad to find out, after want to spell your name D-a-w-n. Helen Hayes was all the time, but I wouldn't tell. Anyway, it is hoped, in fact, understood, that Miss Nor- I've got T. B. fleet has contributed the sum, i. e., fifteen dollars ($15) to the Community Chest.

day, and earnestly inquired, "Tot, are elephant in the establishment is named you in love?" "Well, er-ah-gulp, why Maude. It's the same way out here. ah-yes!" said Tot. Whereupon, Mary Seymour sighed happily, and in a relieved tone replied, "I thought so.

Hewey's

Buy Your TOILET ARTICLES SUNDRIES REMEDIES—STATIONERY SODAS—SANDWICHES

PROMPT DELIVERY

Call us Phone Dea. 0640-9110

$################################## WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

.

-for-

GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE FLOWERS

De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg. DE. 0172 WE DELIVER

You're so feminine, I just knew you

Mary Miller certainly shows that she did I say?). Why, I've had my shoes has absorbed boundless knowledge in half-soled and changed the part in my her going-on-four years here. Why, hair. In addition to those two spec- it horns into all her conversation. At tacular events, there have been a few Sunday dinner during an ice cream trivial occurences, such as the instal- discussion, Mary with a confident air

> With ten minutes left in which to Wright, but it's just T. B. to me."

And another thing. Miss Hopkins, fleet beat some poor person out of fif- my dear, has her weaker moments, just teen dollars ($15) the other day? She like the rest of us. Last week, Edith wrote a letter to the Fox telling them Dorn went into her office to sign out. who Helen Hayes is; and the manage- Miss Hopkins: "You know, I always all these years that it remitted fifteen Edith: "My mother always told me I dollars ($15) to Lila. I knew who was a bright child." Miss Hopkins: "Well, I'll just call you "Rosie Dawn."

Guess I'll trot down and find out if

Yours with the "bug,"

Aggie. P. S.—Maude Armstrong was great-Then there's Mary Seymour Ward, ly deflated to find last Sunday on a who approached Tot Smith the other visit to Grant Park that the biggest

ALUMNAE NEWS

(Continued from page 2, column 3) Clara Lundie Askew, ex-'29, of Decatur, has had her book of verse, Sparks from the Anvil, published. It is one of the Verse Craft Series published by the Banner Press, at Emory University.

Mary Ben Wright Erwin, '25, was a recent visitor at the Alumnae House with Mary Ben, Jr.

Mrs. Donaldson and Miss Wilburn visited the Agnes Scott Club in Columbus, Ga., on Tuesday.

Olive Hardwick Cross, '18, of Maynard, Mass., spent the week-end in the Alumnae House.

SHOP

142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies' Work

SPECIAL NOTICE

Our Sandwiches have been reduced from 20c to 15c (not toasted), toasted 20c. Also a reduction in drinks.

We have added Wieners-very delicious.

STARNES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER PHONE US-DE. 2169

OUR NEW COLLECTION OF

Adorable Frocks for Sport, Afternoon and Evening Wear, to Fill All of Your Thanksgiving Needs at IRRESISTABLE PRICES.

Do not overlook us when shopping for your new WINTER COAT

Club News

COTILLION CLUB

The first Cotillion Club tea-dance of the year took place in the gymnasium Friday afternoon, October 30. The officers of the club were the hostesses The new members were welcomed, having been initiated the night before. Coffee, sweet cakes and cheese sticks were served throughout the hour.

FRENCH CLUB

Club, for the initiation of the twentyseven new members was held Monday afternoon in Mr. Johnson's studio.

Crowe as ghosts twenty-five years enchanted week-end. from now.

In addition to this phase of the program Suzel Triare described the festival of Toussaint, which is a religious feast day corresponding to our Halis stressed in their's where the festive Tech Friday. element is uppermost in ours.

Before the meeting there was a short social hour, at which tea and cakes

GLEE CLUB

Glee Club held its regular practise meeting Wednesday night, October 28, in Mr. Johnson's studio. A. F. Howerton was elected president, and two new members were received into the club, Gussie Riddle and Jane Goodwin. Practise on Christmas carols has already been begun.

Pi Alpha Phi

Pi Alpha Phi held its regular meeting in the chapel Thursday night, October 29, at 7 P. M. The question for debate was, Resolved: That present day Russia is a menace to the world. The speakers for the affirmative side were Katharine Woltz and Laura Spivey; those upholding the negative were Porter Cowles and Carolyn Russell.

B. O. Z

The first meeting of B. O. Z. was held on Friday afternoon, October 30, in the Anna Young Alumnae House. The president, Vivian Martin, outlined the program and plans for the year and set November 20 as the date on which all try-outs for admission must be in. As is customary, only Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors will be eligible for membership; they may submit either essays or short stories.

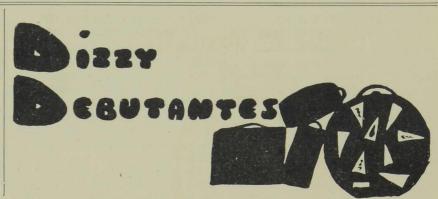

After the business meeting two informal essays by Mary Sturtevant and Flora Young were read and discussed.

COTILLION INITIATIONS

The gathering of many important personages from literature, art circles and the cinema took place in the Cotilthe club held its initiation of new members.

Among those present were: Maude

SILHOUETTE TEA ROOM Anna Young Alumnae House Hours 7:30-2:00 4:00-7:00 10:00-10:30

Ooo ooo ooo—HALLOWE'EN! The October meeting of French Spooks, ghosts, black cats, hoot owls, Phi dance at Emory, Saturday night. and a great big round yellow moon smiling at the crooked-nosed witches that fly in front of it on their tradi-Among the interesting stunts pre- tional broomsticks. It's the time when sented was an interpretation of Em- goblins and spirits rule all, and cast press Eugenie by Elizabeth Winn. their spell over the whole world. And Mary Dunbar, Lovelyn Wilson, Louise oh what fun to eat pumpkin pie, or Schuessler, and J. P. Reed had a clever bob for apples, or see your future lover lation of Mortar Board, and the Hol- exclaimed, "It's Boccacio ice cream debate on the Depression. The Three in a mirror by dim candle light. Or Musketeers in Chicago was a unique if you are more modern, to dance stunt in which Louise Brant, Louise dreamily under bobbing orange and Wise, and Pansey Kimble took part. black balloons or dine in a fine hall To carry out the idea of Hallowe'en decorated with laughing pumpkins. lor's guest for the week-end at Velma's Mary E. Walton and Betty Fountain The Hottentots found lots to do on impersonated Miss Phythian and Miss this magic occasion. It was truly an > Mary Felts attended the Delta Tau Delta dance at Tech Friday night.

Emily McGahee and Maxine Chryslowe'en; however, the religious element ler had dinner at the Beta house at > Kitty Woltz went to a Hallowe'en dance given by the A. K. K.'s Saturday night, at Emory.

> The following girls spent Sunday in Atlanta with Elizabeth Alexander: Hester Ann Withers, Caroline Long, Julia Henderson, and Mary Virginia

> Emily Squires and Alice Bullard were at Alice's home in Machen, Ga., for the week-end of the 24th.

Nell Brown had dinner in Atlanta with Mrs. Forest Booth Sunday.

Louisa Cargill spent the week-end in Atlanta at the Biltmore Apartments with Helen Lowndes.

Alberta Palmour was at her home in College Park for the week-end.

Kitty Woltz attended the Sigma Chi Hallowe'en dinner-dance at Emory Thursday night.

Maxine Chrysler went to the dance at the Palais Peachtree Saturday night.

Emily McGahee, Sarah Denny, and Julia Clark were the guests of Grace Fincher in Atlanta this week-end.

Grace and Marjorie Woodward spent the week-end at their home in College

Mary Louise Robinson was in Atlanta for the week-end.

Nell Starr; and Lydia E. Pinkham, fee," Tot Smith, and "Junior Chocolion Club room Thursday night, when Mary and Anne Hudmon; Suzel lates" rendered selections of songs one Triaire, representing a typical Agnes Dunbar, the tall circus director, work-Muller, Helen Etheridge, in a costume a heavy white sweater, decorated with Brownie Nash. that only Maude could have worn; several fraternity pins, glasses, and Galli-Curci, Marge Simmons, bea perfect slouch. She had even ac- came very temperamental when asked complished the delicate art of chew- to be a Spanish bull fight, but Galliing gum. She sang, danced, and gave Curci herself could not have been betan imitation of her friend, Maurice ter on the trills and high notes. Pade-Chevalier.

her glory. Winona Eubanks, in the form of a ship, sank most gracefully in

Willa Upchurch attended the Chi

Louise Harrison, Dorothy Garret, and Betty Gillies had dinner at the Biltmore, Monday night, October 26, with Betty's parents from Chicago, who were with her for the week-end.

Elizabeth Hickson spent the weekend in Macon at Wesleyan College.

Helen McMillan was Velma Tayhome in Newnan, Ga.

Polly Gordon's family were with her for the week-end.

Gus Riddle went to her home in Athens, Tenn., for the week-end.

Claire Ivy spent the week-end with Capt. and Mrs. J. R. Dinsmore at Fort McPherson.

Floyd Foster attended a Hallowe'en dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving Club, Saturday night.

Louisa Cargill's family visited her

Martha Elliot spent the week-end at her home in Holly Springs, Ga.

Janice Brown and Ruth Barnett were the week-end guests of Mrs. C. A. Alexander in Atlanta.

Eleanor Williams attended the Tech-Vanderbilt game Saturday, after which she had dinner at the Rathskeller.

Upshaw Jones was in Atlanta for the week-end.

Helen Boyd spent the week-end in Atlanta with Johnnie Mae York.

Margaret Deaver, Jean Shaw, and Andrewena Robinson had dinner, Sunday, at the Capital City Club with Mr. John H. Brice, Margaret's uncle.

Carolyn Russell was at home for the week-end.

Elizabeth Howard had as her guest Saturday Elizabeth Thrasher.

Mrs. J. P. Hanson, Betty Hanson's mother, spent the week-end with her.

Martha Norman went to her home in Newnan, Ga., for the week-end.

Tinker Bell, Mallie White, and her dog, a mighty storm at sea. "Senor Cof-Scott student, in a tight skirt, ed marvels with her trained seal, rewski would have been shocked to Harriotte Brantley as "The Last death to have heard his own rendi-Rose of Summer," had truly lost all tion of "Some of These Days" and "Wabash Blues" as played by Gus Riddel.

Agnes Scott College Windshield Stickers, two for 5c

Dennis Lindsey Printing Company

(Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING AND STATIONERY

421 Church St.

Dearborn 0976

Decatur, Ga.

Daffodil Tea Room

**************

81 Pryor St., N. E. Atlanta, Ga.

~ **************

K. U. B. AFFILIATES WITH THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

(Continued from page 1, column 1) and meet annually in New York City. They elect a general manager from and the general manager makes the ap- pus average. pointment.

paper makes a carbon copy of its im- and help make them reality. True portant stories for the Associated leadership means clear thinking, recog- and five-eighths babies. Press. The story must go out as the nition of true values, the determina-Associated Press writes it. If it is in tion of the right way and strength to any way changed, the Board of Direc- withstand unjust or destructive critiand restricts its operation in some way. of leadership.

'No one person can dominate the ortruth. Its cornerstone is accuracy.

In conclusion, Mr. Caldwell said: dence.

Jokes

A Scot was engaged in an argument with a conductor as to whether the fare was 5 or 10 cents. Finally the disgusted conductor picked up the Scotchman's suitcase and tossed it off the train, just as they passed over a bridge. It landed with a splash.

"Man," screams Sandy, "isn't it enough to try and overcharge me, but now you try to drown my little boy?'

A short course in chemistry-I think I know what Carbonate, But where did Iodine?

Drummer: "I'm the fastest man in Sax player: "How's that?" "Well, time flies, doesn't it?" "Yes."

"Well, I beat time."

Jakey: "How's business?" Ikey: "Wonderful. I just sold a man a $50,000 order."

Jakey: "I can't believe it." Ikey: "Well, I did. Come over to the office and I'll show you the cancellation."

"Pa, what do they mean by diplomatic phraseology?'

"Well, son, if you tell a girl that time stands still while you are gazing into her eyes, that's diplomacy. But if you tell her her face would stop a clock, you are in for trouble."

"Do you think I will ever be able to do anything with my voice?"

"It might come in handy in case of Flapper: "Nix on the compliments, Tell me what's the matter with

He: "May I have this dance?" She: "No, I'm engaged." He: "That's nothing. I'm married."

Hell hath no fury like the woman so popular that everybody thought it was no use to invite her.

"What big eyes you have, Grandmother!'

your grandfather."

co-ed who left her negligee in the bathtub and slipped on a cake of soap.

THE EMBLEM SHOP

51 North Forsyth St. Healey Bldg.

EMBLEMS-JEWELRY WATCH REPAIRING

FORTY-NINTH CHAPTER OF MORTAR BOARD AT A. S.

(Continued from page 1, column 3) for future service come back to you. "By scholarship we stress the high College of the City of New York.

among their number, who elects the standards as specified by each school personnel of the organization. He has plus the fact that for Mortar Board the right of "hire and fire." Each membership each initiate must have a local bureau suggests a man to fill the scholastic standing of three points Associated Press position on its staff, above the most recently published cam-

"By service we think of campus acganization," stated Mr. Caldwell. "The tivity as carried on by each local group, of the locks. Associated Press is in the interest of willing, untiring, unselfish service. Your field may be broadened by your national affiliation. The present Mor-"Always remember that your value tar Board service project of "personas a newspaper reporter, granted that nel" intepreted as vocational guidance, you are accurate, fair, and know the as conducted by the National Personnews, will depend upon the way you nel Committee or chapter service to treat people, and keep their confi- the undergraduate will direct you in an organized activity. Ideas will doubtless come to you from the other conference delegates, ideas which the Mortar Board groups will modify and use as seems best suited to their own particular campus.

"To sum this all up:

Vision to see the right our world demands,

Readiness to guard foundations with firm hands,

Enthusiasm not content with dreams, Wisdom, to judge between extremes, Opportunity for those who do not shirk, Judgment to guide real honest work, Tradition with all it means to us, Scholarship, leadership, and worthy

The sectional conference for the eighth division was held Saturday. Reports from the work of the six chapters of this section were given. These chapters are located at William and as "verbal regicides." Mary College, University of Alabama, University of Kentucky, University of Richmond, Florida State College for problems were discussed, and the variety of problems peculiar to the different schools was extremely interesting.

Laney, Dr. Davidson, the delegates, the bating team. active chapter, and many alumnae. Eighteen of the alumnae members were Preston, Miss Emily Spivey, Miss Dot ance its budget. Kethley, Miss Elizabeth Woolfolk, Miss Rachel Paxon, Miss Ellen Fain, Miss Jean Grey, Miss Blanche Miller, Mrs. Leone Bowers Hamilton, Miss dents of colleges and universities in Mary Ray Dobyns, Miss Anne Ehrlich, the United States. Miss Polly Perkins, Mrs. A. P. Meredith, Mrs. V. T. Bryant, Miss Helen Friedman.

She: "Do you still love me?"

He: "That is an unscientific question and by its very nature tends to create the condition it is intended to

The collegiate creed: "Never put off 'till tomorrow what you can do day after tomorrow.'

They laughed when I sat down at "And that, my dear, is how I caught the piano. I had forgotten to bring the piano stool.

> YOU'LL LOVE "LARRY" Meet him at

Margaret Waite Book Shop Peachtree Arcade

ON OTHER CAMPUSES

(Continued from page 2, column 5) Instruction in playing contract bridge is given regularly given at the

At the University of Denver six students were suspended because they attended classes in swimming suits.

"By leadership we mean not only alumni, Princeton University found one, and Virginia Tillotson one. There are 40 bureaus in the United ability to initiate and complete projects out that the average alumnus owns States and 18,000 daily reporters. Each but also to see possibilities in others one and nine-tenths automobiles, six and a half suits of clothes, and has one

Although Yale locks are being used on the doors of the Harvard University tors "cites" the offending newspaper cism. Loyalty and devotion are part buildings, a contract has been made with the manufacturers whereby the name "Yale" will not appear on any

> An effective means of combatting athlete's foot" has been instituted at filled with athlete's foot-preventing chemicals have been placed at the entrances to the swimming pools so that no one may enter or leave the pool room without stepping in them.

ment of the Department of Drama of by Professor George Pierce Baker .- of "The Unemployed" (which had a cir-Swarthmore Phoenix.

Co-ed Freshmen in the business school of City College, New York, are prohibited from wearing lipstick, jewelry, or similar refinements, and they are required to adorn themselves with a lavender bow and black ribbon on their

Columbia University undergraduates are making a drive to bring about the use of correct English on the part of professors. Twenty-six members of the faculty are listed by the Spectator

St. Benedict's College has formally decreed that the official headgear for Women, and Agnes Scott. Campus Freshmen shall be Empress Eugenie hats .- W. and L. Ring-Tum Phi.

Boston University plans to have a A banquet was held in the Alumnae trans-continental debate by radio with House Saturday night which was at- the University of Southern California tended by Miss Kuhlman, Mrs. Rich- and an international contest with a ards, Miss Hopkins, Dr. McCain, Miss representative English university de-

A salary decrease amounting to 10 present at the installation. They are per cent has been accepted by the Ohio Miss Lois Eve, Miss Elizabeth Lynn, Wesleyan University faculty this year Miss Llewellyn Wilburn, Miss Janef in order that the university may bal-

> Statistics reveal that sixty former college athletic heroes are now presi-

ቊጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙጙ

We Repair Watches, Clocks and Jewelry MUENCH AND ELSNER 20 Peachtree Street, N. E. (First National Bank Bldg.) Atlanta, Ga.

Where the Crowd Meets

After the Dance

Sixty Second Service

122 Peachtree

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED

ૡ૽ૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૺૺ૾૽ૺ૽૿ૢ૽ૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡૡ to avail yourself of a Special Consultation on Skin Care and Make-Up with our Mary Grace Threadgill

THREADGILL PHARMACY

who has just returned from a visit to the famous ELIZABETH ARDEN SCHOOL

Sophs 5, Frosh 0

The Sophomores defeated the Freshmen, 5-0, Friday, in the only game of | the afternoon. The Sophomores outclassed the Freshmen, although some Thursday afternoon by a score of 2-0. good playing was done by both teams.

By sending out questionnaires to all for the Sophomores, Frances O'Brien

| Line-ups for  | the game | e were:       |
|---------------|----------|---------------|
| FROSH.        |          |               |
| Policoff      |          |               |
| Young         | I. R     | Tillotson     |
| Henderson     |          |               |
| Constantine   | I. L     | O'Brien       |
| Long          | _L. W    | Maness        |
| Burns         | _R. H    | Friend        |
| Goodwin       |          |               |
| Palmour       | _L. H    | Boyd          |
| Spencer       | _R. B    | Harbison      |
| Tomlinson     | _L. B    | McMullen      |
| Williams      | _G. G    | Turner        |
| Substitutions | · Frosh  | Squires Foun- |

Northwestern University. Troughs tain; Sophs, Rogers, Schuessler, Pres-

The League for Industrial Democracy has just published an emergency magazine, called "Disarm! Disarm!" This aims to be a sweeping graphic Thirty-three states and three foreign assault on war, on war psychology, on countries are represented in the enroll- the causes of war. Not merely negative, "Disarm!" indicates various ways Yale University, which is conducted for affirmative aciton. As was true culation of 315,000 for three issues) "Disarm!" is an example of collaboration of writers and artists who now contribute their work as a united effort against the social horror of war.

Norman Thomas, Heywood Broun, Paul Blanshard, Dorothy Detzer, Kirby Page, John Nevin Sayre, Harriot Stanton Blatch, A. J. Muste, Mc-Alister Coleman, Oscar Ameringer and Harry F. Ward, are among the writers. Clive Weed, Reginald Marsh, Art Young and Fitzpatrick are a few of the cartoonists.

Sweet young thing at dance: You're a dear tonight.

Tech Wise Man: "Nope, I'm a stag; haven't the doe."

Parson Dudley: "Deacon Smith, will you lead us in prayer?'

Deacon Smith (awaking from sound sleep): "Lead yourself, I just dealt."

"Did you say your fiancé stammer-

"Yes, but you only notice it when he speaks.'

Juniors 2, Seniors 0

In one of the most exciting and most closely contested games of the season, the Juniors defeated the Seniors The first part of the game was marked Marjorie Tindale made three goals by hard fighting on the part of both teams without any scoring. The Junior goal was threatened during the first few moments of play; but recovering the ball, the Juniors attacked the Senior goal and, after difficulty, succeeded in making a goal. The second goal was made in short order after the first goal, during the last few minutes of the first half. The last half was marked by long shots and by strenuous fighting to gain the ball. Both teams exhibited good playing, but at times did some wild hitting at the

The line-up for the game was as fol-

| lows:          |           |            |
|----------------|-----------|------------|
| JUNIORS        |           | SENIORS    |
| M. Hudmon      | R. W      | _ Fincher  |
| Ridley         | R. I      | _ Hudson   |
| Spivey         | C. F      | Bowman     |
| Armstrong      | L. I V    | Williamson |
| Sweets         | L. W      | _ Howard   |
| Alexander      | C. F      | _ Schlich  |
| A. Hudmon      |           |            |
| Woltz          | R. H      | Norfleet   |
| Bell           | L. F      | Glenn      |
| Loranz         |           |            |
| Substitutions: | Sturtevan | t for A.   |

Hudmon; Belote for Ridley; Thompson for Alexander.

"What the dickens are you doing down there in the cellar?" demanded "Well, if it's any of your business," replied the hen frigidly, "I'm laying in a supply of coal.'

"That means fight where I come from, stranger. 'Well, why don't you fight?"

"Cause I ain't where I'm from."

Prof.: "All right, Miss Jones, give your impromptu speech." Frosh: "I'm not prepared, sir."

L. CHAJAGE

Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$

Make

Make

THE TAVERN

Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms
Serving

Special Styles and Features for Thanksgiving
153 Sycamore St.
De. 2671

Decatur, Ga.

THE TAVERN

Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms
Serving

LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON
TEA—DINNER
11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M.
Atlanta—65½ Broad St., N. W.
Macon—151 Cotton Ave.

TRY OUR

SANDWICHES

WE MAKE THEM RIGHT

Lawrence's Pharmacy

Phones De. 0762-0763

"Home of Quality Dry Cleaning"

20% DISCOUNT TO ALL AGNES SCOTT STUDENTS

Dyeing-Pressing-Rugs-Cold Storage

Decatur Laundry & Dry Cleaning Co.

DEARBORN 3162-3163

DECATUR, GA.

No. 6

Six Russian Movies Brought to Atlanta

"Foreign Films" Group.

Of unusual interest to Agnes Scott as well as all Atlanta and Decatur is the announcement that Foreign Films, an organization of prominent Atlantians, is bringing to Atlanta this moving-pictures from the studios of Russia.

"Storm Over Asia," the first of the series, was given Tuesday evening, November 10, at 8:30 o'clock at the Atlanta Woman's Club auditorium. Admission price was $1.

As a prologue to "Storm Over Asia," Hugh Hodgson, one of the South's outstanding pianists, played Rubenstein's Concerto in D Minor. The picture was silent, with reading titles in English, and Walter Sheets, former director of the Capitol Theatre orchestra, and a small symphony played the the film.

"Storm Over Asia," based on a true of the attempt of the British to place a descendant of Ghengis-Khan on the Rebekah Scott. throne of Mongolia. The famous Tzam, or Festival of the Masks, held Bulletin Board To by the Llamas of the monastery at Gusinoozersk, Mongolia, is one of the features of the film. This ceremony has never before been photographed and with its gorgeously horrid images, weird ceremonial and primal religious passion is one of the many natural scenes in this unusual picture.

Films will bring to Atlanta this season the following resolutions: are: "Ten Days That Shook the Terrible," January 12, 1932; "Turk-Sib," February 16; "Old and New," March 15, and "China Express," April 19. Season tickets may be obtained for $5.

Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Moore, gifted harpist; James de la Fuenta, violinist; Leonard White, dancer; Mike McDowell and Francis Mitchell, Emory students and planists of note, are among the artists who will appear during the year.

Columbus Alumnae Are Hostesses

Miss Wilburn and Mrs. Donaldson Visit Alumnae Club.

went to Columbus, Ga., November 3, for a meeting of the Columbus Agnes these cards to be found in the dean's half of the poverty-stricken people of Scott Alumnae Association. Eleven office. Notices must be signed or they Atlanta. Hottentots saved nickels and alumnae came to the home of Martha will be disregarded. and Ruth Bradford for the meeting. They had many questions to ask, and __cards are to be printed by the one which is our birthright. Miss Wilburn and Mrs. Donaldson had wishing to give the announcement and many things to tell them about the put in the dean's office to be placed campus: the exchange students, the on the bulletin board. Granddaughters Club, the Alumnae exciting that might interest an alumna.

Miss Wilburn and Mrs. Donaldson enjoyed their stay in Columbus. They spent the night with Mrs. Donaldson's man." To quote Miss Wilburn, "When we asked the way to Fort Benning he self, so he did.'

Alliance Française To Be Entertained

Presentations Sponsored By College Community Invited Fencing Exhibition Prove to Attend One-Act Play.

The Alliance Française, according to the announcement made by Miss Alexander, will be the guest of the French faculty of Agnes Scott, Thursday evening, November 12, at 8 o'clock.

The Atlanta chapter of this inter-The inspirational guidance of M. Charles Loridans, himself a Frenchman and vice president of the Southeast of the Federated groups, has secured the interest and participation of a in social and cultural circles of Atlanta. M. Loridans is no stranger on our campus. The French students of last year still remember the thrill of understanding his French.

present at the program to be given at the Venetians. 8 o'clock in the chapel. L'Etincelle, a one-act play of Pailleron, will be presented with Miss Martha Crowe as Raoul de Géron.

narrative of contemporary history, tells ment continues, the French Club will assist the hostesses in entertaining the guests at a social hour in the lobby of

Be Inaugurated

Students Held Responsible for All Announcements.

The Bulletin Board Committee ap-The other pictures which Foreign Open Forum, November 3, has adopted cathedral.

- which all notices will be posted. This is to relieve the situation caused by the ing's home, which is a well known reading of notices in the dining room and chapel. From the time the board words which are inscribed on a tablet for afternoon, evening, and sports Elaborate prologues have been pre- is placed in Buttrick, no student an- in the front of the poet's house, "Open pared for each picture. Miss Jaqulin nouncements whatsoever are to be given in the dining rooms, and in the chapel only as stunts.
  - are as follows:
  - (a) There shall be five sections: Senior, Junior, Sophomore, Freshman, and General (the last to be used by Community Chest organizations and faculty).
    - (b) Notices shall be posted:
  - by 9:30 A. M. and will remain that | Faculty and Administration. day only unless signified by dates in Miss Wilburn and Mrs. Donaldson the upper right hand corner.
- (4) One notice on one card—posters | garden, and everything else new and and other long announcements shall be Faculty and Administration on the Main (or other) boards and reference to them on the Buttrick one.
- 3. Students shall be absolutely resister, whose husband is stationed at sponsible for all notices posted on this MISS HUTTON'S MOTHER BETTER Fort Benning. They were even per- board—class and general. Students are sonally escorted by "a very nice police- asked to co-operate in these plans to be happy to hear that her mother is in educate themselves to use the bulletin appendicitis operation. Miss Hutton said that he would take us there him- board. It will be placed in Buttrick will be back with us as soon as her as soon as a special one can be made.

"Byzantine Art" Is Subject of Lecture

Interesting.

Dr. Giovanni Macerata's lecture on ture Association series. Dr. Macerata's talk was for the most part an explanseason a series of six of the outstanding national organization is very active. ation of slides illustrating magnificent pieces of architecture.

His introduction was a history of the art. It spread, said Dr. Macerata, from Rome to Constantinople. Round number of men and women prominent lines were introduced at Rome, and the cupola, at St. Sophia. After the Lombards conquered Ravenna, a new art was started. The Christians instead of sculpture and painting in their archi-Alexander, is cordially invited to be ed from Byzantine art, perfected by season.

St. Mark's, declared Dr. Macerata, is the most beautiful church in Italy. He Antoinette, Miss Suzel Triaire as Mme. showed pictures of both the inside and original score during the showing of de Rénot and Miss Margaret Belote as outside of this cathedral. Its beauty is under "en voyage" passports issued by not in its style, continued Dr. Macer-After the program, the announce- ata, but in its color. To appreciate the beauty of the cathedral, one must see the colored marble. A whole century was spent in putting a marble covering over the bricks of which it is made. The 2,500 columns are all gifts.

Dr. Macerata told many entertaining legends and stories about the acquiring of these gifts. One of the most interesting was the story of the famous four horses. Seamen for whom the priests had prayed in order that they might have a successful voyage

The square of St. Mark's is almost perfect. The library is one of the best 1. A bulletin board is to be placed examples of Roman Renaissance. The Hottentot will wear during the fall upholding Agnes Scott's ideals. The World," December 15; "Czar Ivan the in Buttrick Hall in the front lobby on church was a doges palace, and at a later time, an amphitheater.

> After showing a picture of Brownexample of Byzantine architecture, Dr. Macerata closed his speech with the my heart and you will see engraved inside. Italy.'

At the conclusion of his lecture, Dr. Macerata, who is also the champion fencer of Italy, fenced with Mr. 2. The rules for the bulletin board Geraido Mauriz and Mr. Antonio Manfredez, of Havana, from G. M. A., in turn and then with Mr. Paul Wimberley from Tech.

Goal Is Reached

(1) Once a day—they must be in Large Amount Pledged By

The Community Chest Campaign (2) Printed on regulation cards— was started in chapel Tuesday, October dimes for this cause, "in order that we (3) Only through the dean's office may not betray that American spirit

> The results are as follows: Inman side of the campus __ $ 55.51 Rebekah side of the campus

Student total $141.41 _ 991.00 Starvation dinner

$1,147.75

Friends of Miss Dorothy Hutton will family can spare her.

Don Cossack Chorus | Senior Class Is In Atlanta Tonight

tertain Many A. S. Girls.

The Don Cossack Russian Male was the beginning of this year's Lec- All-Star Concert Series, will appear on November 11, at 8:30 at the City Auditorium.

The Don Cossacks, the "Singing Horsemen of the Steppes," are thirtysix former officers of the Russian Imperial Army, conducted by Serge Jaroff. They have given more than 2,000 concerts in Europe, Great Britain, and Australia, and their singing in a few of the larger American cities last year The college community, said Miss tecture used mosaic which they adopt- was one of the great sensations of the

> These Russians first met in a military prison camp, and even now are 'men without a country," traveling the League of Nations. Leading critics have agreed that the Don Cossacks sing more amazingly than any other chorus which has ever appeared in America.

Cotillion Gives Fashion Show

Varied Costumes for All Occasions Are Displayed.

A fashion show, sponsored by the pointed by Student Government at brought the horses back as gifts to the Cotillion Club, was presented Wednesnay night at 7 o'clock in the gymnasium, showing what the smart young these constitute the students' part in and winter seasons.

> the courtesy of J. P. Allen Co., of Atlanta, and displayed the latest fashions wear. Included in the display were also coats and lounging pajamas. The girls modeling the gowns came onto the stage one by one, forming a semicircle, afterward filing off the stage onto the gym floor where the audience was invited to inspect the dresses.

A Russian pantomime, performed by Suzel Triaire, Carolyn Waterman, and Amelia O'Neal, added to the enjoyment of the fashion review.

The girls taking part in the program

Sports:

Natilu McKinney Frances Duke Upshaw Jones

Blanche Lindsey Lucille Heath Eleanor Hamilton

Afternoon:

Mary Hamilton Madge York

A. F. Howerton Martha Stigall

Lounging pajamas: Kitty Woltz Clyde Lovejoy Markie Mowry

Invested Nov. 7

'Singing Horsemen" to En- Miss Hale, As Speaker, Emphasizes A. S. Ideals.

The ceremony of Investiture has Byzantine Art in Italy, Tuesday night Chorus, the first presentation of the again been observed at Agnes Scott. On the morning of November 7 at eleven-thirty, before a chapel crowded with parents and students, the Seniors received official recognition of their position. The procession beginning the ceremony was led by the Sophomores, who, dressed in white, formed a line on either side of the middle aisle. Through this marched the faculty in academic attire, followed by the members of the Senior class, holding their caps in their

> Dr. McCain introduced Dr. G. F. Howerton, who led the assembly in prayer. Dr. McCain then gave a short explanation of Investiture, saying that it was a simple ceremony observed yearly at Agnes Scott, in which the Seniors were invested with their rights. Following this, the assembly sang the hymn, "Holy, Holy, Holy."

Miss Louise Hale, an honorary member of the Senior class, made the Investiture address. In her talk she brought out first the significance of Investiture, then discussed four ideals of Agnes Scott and the Seniors' part in upholding these ideals. The ideals sre mentioned were, a liberal curriculum, a high standard of scholarship, and the glory of God. Maintaining quiet, so that other students may study, promoting co-operation in study, services in praise of God, keeping up Agnes Scott spiritually,-all Senior, Miss Hale said, has a special The frocks were furnished through responsibility, namely to be an example to the rest of the college.

After Miss Hale's talk, Miss Hopkins performed the gesture significant of investiture: each Senior gave her cap to Miss Hopkins, knelt, and the dean placed the cap on her head, signifying that the Senior had now come into her full rights of seniority.

The procession of faculty and Seniors, marching out of chapel, ended the

Golf Tournament Gets Under Way

Twenty-Eight Take Part in First Round.

The first Agnes Scott golf tournament got under way last week when the first round was played off. There are 28 participants in the tournament, and each week a round will be played off at the Forrest Hills Golf Club. The winners of each round play each other, while the losers play in the consolation matches. The finals should be of interest to all Hottentots. Announcemens will be made concerning the time and date of the final round; and those interested may attend and watch the outcome of the match, which will determine Agnes Scott's golf champion. The winners of the first round are as follows:

M. Borden, F. Shakelford, M. Eskridge, H. Brantley, H. Scott, V. Herrin, C. Coates, V. Taylor, N. Kamper, D. Coates, A. L. Smith, B. Lindsay, Harmon, A. B. Nash.

Subscription price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single copies, 5c.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

| STAF             | F                   |
|------------------|---------------------|
| Editor           | BETTY BONHAM        |
| Assistant Editor | ELIZABETH LIGHTCAP  |
| Feature Editor   | GAIL NELSON         |
| Society Editor   | Mary Hamilton       |
| Exchange Editor  | ELIZABETH LYNCH     |
| Athletic Editor  | KATHERINE WOLTZ     |
| Alumnae Editor   |                     |
| Club Editor      | Bessie Meade Friend |
| Joke Editor      | JOHNNIE MAE YORK    |
| Giddy Gossip     | CAROLINE LINGLE     |
| MANAGE           |                     |

| DE LOVEJOY  |
|-------------|
| CE FINCHER  |
| ss Norfleet |
| ENE HUDSON  |
| F           |

REPORTERS FOR THIS ISSUE

| WIARGARET LORANZ |
|------------------|
| WILLA UPCHURCH   |
| ELIZABETH WINN   |
| VIVIAN MARTIN    |
| AUDREY RAINEY    |
| ALBERTA PALMOUR  |

JULIETTE KAUFMAN Rossie Ritchie MARY MACDONALD MARY STURTEVANT MARTHA ESKRIDGE MARTHA ELLIOTT

SENIOR RESPONSIBILITY

After an impressive Investiture service and a frank, practical and stimulating address from Miss Hale, we stop and ask our- been wanting to read a certain book selves the questions "What are we going to do about it? Are for a long time, but every time you Santa Maria will be manned by the we going to settle back into the same old ruts? Are we going to went to the library it was out, and, same number of men as the original continue to shift the burden to other shoulders, when it is our since you could not buy the book, you and will soon dare the Atlantic over all in their power to get the students duty to carry it ourselves? Will we continue to maintain the simply have never read it. Come see the same route which the discoverer of to practice economy. In a letter to same cheap attitude of indifference to vital campus obligations?"

The alternative is not an easy one. It will mean in many the book? cases changes in established habits, in fixed attitudes, in daily pro- Do you want something to make don, but the professor of architecture students will not only learn to apgrams. The aim, however, is not at an impossible goal. The you think? Read The History of Mod- at Liverpool University is pleading for preciate the present financial situation difficulty in accomplishing it lies in the fact that we can do pleasantly and clearly written, and its however, for he'd rather not have Lonnothing separately. On the other hand we can do anything by uniting the efforts of every Senior in accomplishing those aims, lowered by many profitable reflections which New York has been called. so clearly and definitely set forth by Miss Hale.

Seniority is a distinct honor and carries with it many well- to think that they too are thinking." deserved privileges. It also brings serious responsibilities to each member of the class. It is easy enough to say, "Oh, everybody and then go try out her instructions "carrier" of haemophilia—that scourge else will do it; they won't miss me" or "one Senior can't ruin the on those courts behind Rebekah. Per- of the Bourbon dynasty. Alphonso, whole class." But isn't that a cheap, cowardly attitude? It isn't haps some day you too can join that Spain's deposed king, has forbidden his Braam, 81, and the oldest student of fair that the responsibilities of the whole class should rest on a exclusive tennis club. few shoulders. It isn't honest to enjoy the privileges of a position Come and see for yourself. When you condition of the blood which prevents pected to receive his doctor of philosand shirk its duties. It is cheating and the sooner we realize this and roommate are at odds and everyfact, the nearer we will approach a spirit of true class service.

Does our class pride stop with stunts and games? Does it go your troubles in one of these books. and her sister, Christine, also, are "carno deeper than "Rah-Rahs" and surface class rivalry? This is You'll find that you'll forget your riers. the last year that we shall spend on Agnes Scott campus as petty difficulties in the absorbing instudents. The impressions that we make this year by the things that we do will be the most lasting and vivid that we will be "rosy then." Rememthat we do will be the most lasting and vivid that we will leave. ber-"a book is a friend whose face Will they say of you, "Yes, she graduated in '32! That was a never changes." swell class!" or will it be, "I think it was '32. That class never made much impression on me!"

When we come to college, we do not merely lay ourselves open to its influences in a passive way. We assume an obligation to be influences ourselves for the best in campus life. As invested Seniors, we assume a still greater obligation to lead in the right direction and to set an example which will bring glory and honor to the class of '32.

ARMISTICE DAY

November 11 with the celebration of all it means to those nations which took part in the World War comes again. May we remember that the day commemorates not a war but the end of a war; not strife but peace. May we recall that war is not a glorious colorful thing, but a horrible, degrading, barbarous struggle.

Einstein says that if two percent of the population of the world really wanted peace, we would have it. Let us make this and each succeeding Armistice Day celebration advance the cause winter at home in Davidson, N. C. of world peace and universal harmony.

Book Notes

Come browse around among the new books at the library. What? You don't know where they are? Located to the left of the main desk as you enter the library, is a stand with polls last week has been called a favorshelves just crammed full of new books. New books have a fascination all their own, and these books are particularly fascinating when you peer within their covers. Our library is progressive and up-to-date, and each week several new volumes find places on its shelves. There is a catalogue of new books on the shelf beside them, and the list of newest books is found on the bulletin just as you enter the library.

You'll find the widest possible variety of books nestling on these shelves from books about the time of the Egyptians or Plato to discussions of the present financial situation, as well as intriguing novels and absorbing books of poetry. There's a book to suit every personality, and to suit your every mood, for your gayer hours and your deeper musings alike.

about books found on the shelf of newest books which will interest and enlighten you:

get the Czech point of view. Read about the revolutionary movements of the Czechs which led to the building of a new state. Get Mr. Bené's ideas, and then go talk to Jarka about it, and see what she can tell you on the subject. Make your international understanding greater-here's first hand information.

Read Greenfell's Adrift On An Ice ern Georgia. Pan, and thrill with the adventures of the Labrador explorer. This is a short, but very fascinating book.

Have you always wondered all about the secrets of the theater and the romance and glamour about it? Read The Art of Theater Going, by John spect his victim. Drinkwater. Then next time you go to the legitimate theater you can really appreciate the spectacle taking place.

if it isn't among the new books on the America followed. shelves. Is Disraeli, by André Maurois, not above the grasp of readers who like thing seems "dead wrong," come bury does not suffer with the malady she

Note: Reviews are from The Book

Alumnae News

Minnie Clara Boyd, '19, has had an historical book on the history of Alabama published by the Columbia University Press of New York.

Carrie Scandrett, '24, is staying at the International House, 500 Riverside Drive, while studying at Columbia

Mimi O'Beirne, ex-'32, is teaching a kindergarten school at her home on Adele Arbuckle, '31, is spending this (Continued on page 4, column 2)

WE SEE BY PAPERS

Out in the World

Governor F. D. Roosevelt's overwhelming victory at the New York able harbinger for his presidential nomination chances. New York state voted two to one for the reforestration amendment which was opposed by former Governor A. E. Smith.

Five new representatives were chosen November 3 and all five are for out and out repeal of the 18th amendment or for modification. The Democrats have a majority in the lower house at Washington now, for with the five forms meant the intermission from representatives-elect there are 217 Democrats to 214 Republicans.

Cyprus, the little British crown island colony in the Mediterraneans, was gripped by mob rule October 21 when a Greek Orthodox bishop raised a fiery cross symbolizing revolt against Great

The crown colony claims that fourfifths of its people are Greek by birth, Here are a few suggestions and ideas religion, or both, and that they should be united to Greece.

An outspoken British newspaper has declared that, "There is no crown col-Read Bené's My War Memories, and ony in which the moral case for British occupation is weaker.'

> endangered. Georgia state forestry inspectors said last week that the drought has affected its flow and even the beauty of the surroundings of the on a football squad during spring pracstream lauded in song and story is im- tice at Marquette University. They periled by forest fires sweeping south- were Irish, Finnish, Polish, German, As-

> An American hunter and photographer, W. R. Herren, was killed in East Africa a few days ago, when a lion which he had shot suddenly leaped will offer a course in "the perfect wife" at him as the hunter drew near to in- this year-The Reflector.

lumbus' historic flagship, the Santa sorority co-ed remains a better student Perhaps you, like many others, have Maria, will sail for America soon. With than the fraternity man at that instisails and no engines to propel her, the tution.—The Reflector.

attractiveness will be raised rather than don look like the "asparagus bed" Reflector.

Do you want to improve your ten- came to a tragic end last week when it, was picked up late in September in nis game? Read Helen Wills' Tennis, London specialists pronounced her a Hawaii. daughter to marry since the tragedy the University of Cincinnati, died here coagulation and though the princess ophy degree.

-From daily papers and Literary Digest.

On Other Campuses

PLEA FOR CRIP COURSES

A professor at Wesleyan College lauded "crip" and "snap" courses the other day in a chapel program.

"I want to say a kindly word for crip' courses and for the girl who really loafs for about a half an hour out of each day," Professor McKellar declared, "for it is a splendid thing to have a few easy courses on our curriculum which allow time for loafing so that the beauties that lie around us may be seen and enjoyed to the proper extent."

Professor McKellar showed that the word "scholar" in its Greek and Latin work or one who rests between duties.

Life itself is made up of hurry and rush, the speaker stated, and in the majority of cases this very tendency to hurry causes people to lose sight of the beautiful things that surround them.—The Watchtower.

Will Durant, lecturer, traveler, and author of Transition and two popular philosophical books, will lecture, February 20, on the Lyceum course at the Mississippi State College for Women.— The Spectator.

At Drury College, Springfield, Mo., the president will accept pumpkins, cabbage, or home-canned pickles and The glamour of the Suwanee river is preserves instead of money for tuition payment.—Swarthmore Phoenix.

> Eleven nationalities were represented syrian, Italian, Lithuanian, Greek, English, Norwegian and American.-Swarthmore Phoenix.

A college in a northwestern state

Statistics at the University of Min-An exact replica of Christopher Co- nesota reveal that, as in the past, the

The authorities at V. P. I. are doing the parents, the president urges them not to grant permissions for numerous The law forbids sky-scrapers in Lon- trips and pleasures. In this way, the

A toy balloon released at Green-Princess Beatrice's happy romance burg on July 4 with a card attached to

Cincinnati. — (IP) — Maximillian

Maximillian had studied at the University, sometimes by day, sometimes by night, for the last 30 years.—The Reflector.

(Continued on page 4, column 1)

Agnes Scott College DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities

For further information, address

J. R. McCAIN, President

Giddy, my love,

these Seniors goodbye right now. ed the lesson. They've grown up and been invested now there's nothing left but gradua- these men who can make you feel like tion, unless of course, you're going to a penny waiting for change. The other be technical and consider a trifle of day in class, he mentioned crab-apples. seven more months' work, and the Mary Miller with a blank face (so strain of passing it. You should have natural to her) asked, "Crab-apples? seen the little dears on Little Girl Day. What are they?" Dr. Davidson shot They were undeniably the type that her an I-might-have-suspected-it look, they grew up overnight into fine up- of crab-apples? Why, you prize nut!" standing young women of sterling And of course I just can't miss a qualities and high moral character. To chance at Betty Bonham. Just to prove tell the truth, the only fault that that she is the editor of the Aggie, anyone-even Miss Hale-could find Betty pulled an ancient editorial up in the library! There were pints When she got ready to leave, she of tears shed, Giddy, and I didn't see couldn't find her glasses anywhere. For more than half a dozen onions in the fifteen minutes, the whole office force me, I heard that Harriotte Brantley specks, with the result that one quickpromised Page Ackerman a quarter to witted and discerning creature dissneeze when she knelt, so as to drown covered them on Betty's nose! out the noise of her knee cracking. And Page didn't function—the doublecrosser!—but Harriotte's knee did!

whirlwind arrival of Miss Tillotson, tubercular serum on cows! who is regularly exposed at nine. The door burst open, and in dashed Virchair, she threw open her notebook, and began furiously to take notes. Miss at such a demonstration, looked up inquiringly, and asked, "Miss Tillotson, has the bell rung?" Quoth Virginia, in the usual innocent manner of tardy souls who want to save their skins, "Why no, I havent heard it." "Well,"

፟ዸፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙፙ WOMAN'S EXCHANGE -for-GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE

FLOWERS De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg.

said Miss Smith, "if you don't mind, You might as well begin kissing I'll just finish this class," and continu-

Dr. Davidson is just another one of with them was the way they will cut wheezer the other day at the printer's. whole crowd. Just between you and stopped and searched diligently for her

Giddy, are you a member of that ornery-able organization, the T. B. Club? If you are, don't feel exclusive Edwards and Louise Taylor debated on: Virginia Tillotson certainly pulled a __most of the people around here are. boner Saturday when classes were I hear that Dr. Sweet is very gratified moved up. You know, Miss Smith with the large number of tubercular Nelle Patillo represented two pictures has two classes of History 101—one at gals. Well, all I can say is that it's eight, and one at nine. On Saturday good somebody's happy over it! I various initiations were over, the club her eight o'clock was completely didn't mind so much until I heard the voted to decide the best presentabroken up ten minutes early by the disgruntling news that they only use tion. The Play by Claire Ivy, ginia. Plopping herself down in a plenty for this time. I just must tell drew for the prize, given and awarded you one more thing, though! At by the club's faculty adviser, Miss Mortar Board chapel service, when Lewis. Betty Fountain was awarded Smith, naturally not a little astonished Lane Smith rose to make her announce- the prize, a picture. ment, Nancy Kamper whispered to the girl next to her—"Now she's a fine girl the meeting was discussed—among night. government next year!"

> Guess I'll go to the library-I feel sociable.

> > Love,

Jones: "What's the matter with that physical wreck over there? Has he had the flu?"

Smith: "No, but he did everything

H. G. LEWIS & CO. 102 WHITEHALL ST.

SUITS COATS FROCKS

of Individual Character

H. G. LEWIS & CO.

Club News

CHEMISTRY CLUB The Chemistry Club held its regular monthly meeting Monday night, November 2, in the chemistry lecture room. The program was one of the two local programs held each year. Jule Bethea made a very interesting talk on 'Cook," explaining to the club the vital part the cook plays in our everyday lives. Mary Hudmon followed with a talk on "Man-made Germs," in which she explained how the kitchen maid as well as the "big rich" can wear jewelry. our campus this week-end. That solemn Stone Mountain this week-end were: The last talk was made by Virginia occasion, when Seniors really become Natilu McKenney, Joan Raht, Juliette Heard on "Edison-His Life and In- Seniors with a right to wear their mor- Kaufman, Polly Gordon, Dot Cassel, ventions." Her talk was made effect- tar boards and all that that signifies, at- Marty Friend, Bella Wilson, Margaret ive by the fact that the first part tracted many mothers and fathers and Massie, Frances O'Brien, Mary McDonof her talk up to Edison's invention of aunts and uncles to Agnes Scott last ald, and Mary Hamilton. The chaperthe electric light was made by dim Saturday. The solemnity and beauty ons were Miss Sinclair and Miss Miller. candle light, and when she rendered of investiture marked a perfect conthe part where "the miracle was per- trast with gayer events, such as "little formed," the room was suddenly girl" day, the fencing match, and the only a mother could love. But then and said disgustedly, "You never heard brightly illuminated. At the con- fashion show, making this a colorful clusion of the meeting there was a week in the year's picture. short social hour.

PEN AND BRUSH CLUB

Pen and Brush Club held its initiaparlor in Rebekah last Thursday eve- to read about them? ning, November 6. The Man With the Hoe, Frederica Twining; The Age of Innocence, Frances Cassell; A Futuristic Spirit of New York, Varnelle Braddy, were some of the impersonations. Claire Ivy and Loice Richards, as two Americans, went through the Louvre (for the first time) with Betty Fountain as their guide. Eugenia Resolved: That Artists Should Have Loice Richards, and Betty Fountain Well, I've shot my mouth off a was judged the best and those three

After the initiations, the business of —I'll bet she's president of student which was an announcement of a poster contest (National Humane Poster Contest) and a discussion of the posters to be made by the club for the

A social half-hour followed this, after which the meeting adjourned.

SOUTH CAROLINA CLUB

The South Carolina Club held its November meeting Wednesday night with the Mathis twins in Rebekah. tist students' conference in Athens There was very little business to be discussed, and most of the time was given over to a social hour. The two hostesses served delicious sandwiches, cakes, etc.

POETRY CLUB

Poetry Club met Thursday night Friday night. Gilchrist Powell and Markie Mowry in Sturges. It was decided that (Continued on page 4, column 5) | night.

TRY OUR

Investiture brought many visitors to

But all that was on the campus. We can't forget the football game and dances and week-ends in town that gave an extra portion of fun to many tion of new members in the faculty Hottentots last week. Would you like > Fuzzy Phillips spent the week-end in Atlanta with Liza Tway.

> Johnnie Mae York and Helen Boyd attended a League social Friday night.

> Hazel Turner was in Atlanta for the week-end.

Eleanor Williams had as her guest Sunday night Miss Margaret Logan.

Dorothy and Carolyn Dixon went to their home in Anderson, S. C., for the week-end.

Upshaw Jones spent the week-end in

Johnnie Mae York, Penelope Brown end. and Betty Peeples attended a Beta Kappa house dance at Tech Saturday

Eleanor Williams was in Atlanta for the week-end.

Lola Mitchel, from Shorter, was the week-end guest of Mary Grist.

Betty Hanson had dinner in Atlanta with Carolyn Russell Sunday.

Betty Thompson attended the Bapthis week-end.

Josephine Clark spent the week-end at her home in Greenville, Ga.

Marguerite Morris and Sylvia Scott went to a dance at the Hotel Candler

Catherine Happoldt, Billie Belote, at every meeting the two best poems Georgia Russell, and Louise Chapman read would be chosen. Autumn After- had supper at Catherine's Sunday Psi Phi dance at Emory Friday night.

Among those who went to camp at Miriam Steele spent the week-end at her home in Charlotte, N. C.

Margaret Maness and Louise Hollingsworth had dinner in Atlanta Thursday night, after which they attended a musical.

Louise Stakely, Diana Dyer, and Peggy Link went to Chattanooga for the week-end with Louise's mother.

Dr. and Mrs. Howerton were with A. F. for investiture.

Dot Walker attended the Phi Delta Phi dinner-dance at the Forest Hills Country Club Wednesday night.

The Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Maness spent the week-end with their daughters, Margaret and Catherine, for in-Lovelyn Wilson went on a Pi Kappa Phi 'possum hunt Tuesday night.

Louise Hollingsworth's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hollingsworth, were with her for the week-

Mary Boggs had dinner with Mrs. E. Turner, Jr., in Atlanta Saturday night.

Julia Grimmett spent the week-end in Decatur with Kathleen Bowen.

Miss Etta Walker, of Athens, Ga., was the week-end guest of her nieces, Etta and Hettie Mathis.

Helen Mathis attended the Sigma Chi tea-dance at Tech Friday night.

The following girls had tea at Imogene Hudson's in Atlanta last Sunday: Martha Williamson, Susan Glenn, Virginia Herrin, Jaroslava Bienertova, Mary Jane Evans, and Lila Norfleet.

Eleanor Wofford spent the week-end of the first with her mother and father at Mrs. Peeples' at Emory.

Charlotte Reid attended the the Xi

Claire Ivy and Nancy Rogers had dinner with Capt. and Mrs. J. R. Dinsmore at Fort McPherson Monday.

Marge Simmons, accompanied by Lucile Heath, sang at the Interracial Forum Sunday.

L. CHAJAGE

Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

. .

Agnes Scott College Windshield Stickers, two for 5c

SANDWICHES

Lawrence's Pharmacy

Phones De. 0762-0763

WE MAKE THEM RIGHT

Dennis Lindsey Printing Company (Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING AND STATIONERY

421 Church St.

Dearborn 0976

Decatur, Ga.

**************** Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

122 Peachtree ****************** ON OTHER CAMPUSES

(Continued from page 2, column 5) New York. — (IP) — The Hunter College, the only institution of higher learning in New York City which is open to young women exclusively, last week for the first time in its 18 years of history, published cigarette advertis-

The appearance of two large cigarette advertisements in the paper was Seniors Victors described by authorities of the college and representatives of the paper as merely the result of greater enterprise on the part of the paper's advertising department. There has never been a by a score of 2-0 in an interesting ban on such advertising according to hockey game Friday afternoon. One of Dean Annie E. Hickinbottom. Smok- the outstanding features of the game ing is now prohibited in any part of the college's main building at Park Avenue and 68th Street, but it will be team. The Seniors' goals were scored allowed in a social hall in the new by Schlich and Dyer. Hunter College center now under construction at Jerome Park Reservoir, the Bronx.—The Plainsman.

The voices of students of Barnard College of Columbia University will hereafter be recorded on phonograph records when they enter the college as Freshmen, and when they leave as Seniors. This will not only help them to correct their speech manners, but will also be valuable as a cross-section of speech of middle-class America.

Five hundred students at the University of West Virginia found it necessary to leave school because of the failure of two banks in Morgantown.

have been started for the study of the in Lenoir, N. C. Hebrew language.

Jokes

ning loose.'

She: "Certainly not, that's what the police department is for."

A British scientist predicts that in less. We thought in our ignorance living in Flushing, N. Y. that they usually were born that way!

This is the way to write a thoroughly angry business letter:

'Sir: My typist, being a lady, can not take down what I think of you. I, being a gentleman, cannot write it. You, being neither, can guess it all.'

English Prof.: "Tell me two things about John Milton.'

Ruminating Frosh: "Well, he got married and he wrote Paradise Lost. Then his wife died and he wrote Paradise Regained.

She: "Here is your ring. I find we you're dead." are not suited to each other."

He: "Tell me the truth—you love another?"

"Tell me his name—I insist." "You want to harm him."

"No. I want to sell him this ring."

Sister: "What does your card say?" Brother: "This is the mountain from which the ancients used to throw their defective children. Wish you were here. Dad.

THE EMBLEM SHOP

51 North Forsyth St. Healey Bldg.

EMBLEMS—JEWELRY WATCH REPAIRING

Over Freshmen

The Seniors defeated the Freshmen was the improvement of the Freshman

| by beimen an | a Dyen.   |           |     |
|--------------|-----------|-----------|-----|
| The line-up  | was:      |           |     |
| SENIORS      |           | FROS      | H   |
| Fincher      | R. W      | Poliako   | ff  |
| Hudson       | I. R      | McCa      | lla |
| Bowman       | C. F      | Harris    | on  |
| Kane         |           |           |     |
| Howard       | L. W      | Lo        | ng  |
| Dyer         | R. H      | B         | ell |
| Schlich      | C. H      | Henders   | on  |
| Green        | L. H      | Palmo     | ur  |
| Brown        | R. B      | _ Tomlins | on  |
| Glenn        | L. B      | Simps     | on  |
| Norfleet     | G. G      | William   | ns  |
| Substitution | s: Frosh, | Duls ar   | nd  |
| Houck.       |           |           |     |
|              |           |           |     |

ALUMNAE NEWS

(Continued from page 2, column 3) Mr. and Mrs. John C. Bernhardt At Temple University, new classes (née Jean Alexander, '30) are living

> Mary Lou Thames, '30, is now living at home in Charleston, W. Va.

The Baltimore Agnes Scott Alumnae He: "Men of my type aren't run- Club met October 24 with Dr. Florence Brinkley, and had as guests the Agnes Scott alumnae of Washington,

Charlotte Hunter, '29, who taught time to come men will be born tooth- in Winston-Salem last winter, is now

> WHO SAID IT FIRST? The bigger they are, the harder they fall.-David.

Never say die.-Methuselah. Home, Sweet Home.—Babe Ruth.

Be yourself .- Priscilla to John Al-

You look kinda fleshy.—Shylock. All aboard.-Noah.

You poor fish.-Jonah.

You're the only girl in the world for me.—Adam.

Desperado: "Halt! If you move,

Student: "My man, you should be more careful of your English. If I should move, it would be a positive sign that I was alive."

SILHOUETTE TEA ROOM

Anna Young Alumnae House Hours 7:30-2:00 4:00-7:00

10:00-10:30

*****

Hewev's

Buy Your TOILET ARTICLES SUNDRIES REMEDIES—STATIONERY SODAS—SANDWICHES

PROMPT DELIVERY

$$$$$$$$$$$$$$

Call us Phone Dea. 0640-9110

SPECIAL NOTICE

Our Sandwiches have been reduced from 20c to 15c (not toasted), toasted 20c. Also a reduction in drinks. We have added Wieners-very delicious.

STARNES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER PHONE US-DE. 2169

Sophs Win Second Swimming Meet

The swimming meet last Thursday night proved to be one of the most interesting athletic events of the year. The Sophomores won by a margin of one point with a score of 31; the Juniors were second with a score of 30; and the Freshmen third with a score of 20. The ball and spoon relay and the king pigeon race gave variety

Those winning the individual events

40-yard dash (free style): Cassell, F, 25.1 seconds. Lingle, 25.4 seconds. Waterman, 39.1 seconds.

Form trudgeon:

Fincher, 1st. Bradley, 2nd.

Bonham and Gordon, 3rd. Elementary back:

Maness, Elliot and Poth, 1st. Lightcap, 2nd. Mangel, 3rd.

Ball and spoon relay:

Juniors, 1st. Freshmen, 2nd.

Seniors, 3rd.

Front tandem form: Gordon and Ames, 1st. Fincher and Woodward, 2nd.

Eubank, V. Wilson, Waterman, Frierson, Poth, and Cargill, 3rd.

Back tandem form:

Gordon and Ames, 1st. Sturtevant and Blundell, 2nd. Fincher and Woodward, 3rd.

Diving—Intermediate: Weeks, 1st.

Wilson, 2nd. Fincher, 3rd.

Diving—Advanced: Lingle, 1st.

Cassel, F., 2nd. Bradley, 3rd.

Sweet young thing, on a farm, as someone passed the honey: "Oh! I see you keep a bee!"

Jrs. Defeat Sophs In Fast Game

In one of the closest and fastest games of the season the Juniors defeated the Sophomores 1-0, Friday afternoon. In the game there were an unusual number of roll-ins and fouls. Mary Sturtevant scored for the Juniors.

The line-up was: JUNIORS SOPHOMORES M. Hudmon ___ R. W. ____ Maness Ridley I. R. Fisher C.F. O'Brien Spivev Armstrong ____ I. L. Faust L. W. Hamilton Sweets A. Hudmon R. H. Boyd Sturtevant __ C. H. Rogers Shackleford L. H. Friend Harbison my money. Woltz ___ R. B. L.B. Bell Preston Loranz __ _G. G. Schuessler Substitutions were: Sophs, Tillotson, pauper." Tyndale, Massie, O'Brien, and Mc-

Frosh: "Ouch, I just bumped my funny bone."

Junior: "Never mind, just comb your hair different and the bump won't show."

******************* THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving
LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON
TEA—DINNER
11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M.
Atlanta—65½ Broad St., N. W. Macon—151 Cotton Ave. ****

SHOP 142 Sycamore Street DE. 0172
WE DELIVER Special Attention to Ladies'

CLUB NEWS

(Continued from page 3, column 3) noon by Frances Espy and You Kissed Me Last Night by Willa Upchurch were judged the best. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses. New members were cordially welcomed into membership.

Mission Interest Group The Mission Interest Group met Sunday night, November 8, at 9 o'clock. A large number gathered to hear Mr. McGee of Columbia Seminary review the book, Humanity Uprooted, which is a summary of present-day Russian conditions. The review was given from the point of view that Christianity is today facing a gigantic problem in Bolshevistic Russia. What should be our attitude and responsibility?

Teacher: "What is Boston noted

Johnny: "Boots and shoes." Teacher: "Correct. And Chicago?" Johnny: "Shoots and Booze."

Do you believe in heredity? Absolutely, that's the way I got all

Red Cross Worker: "You are a Ragged: "Hurray! Is it a boy or a

OUR BIG PROGRAM PREPARED FOR THE

5th ANNIVERSARY of

Rich's Plays Up

The Polo Coat

Spanish Tile Tally-Ho Green Brown Tan $16.50

-STIMULATING, VIVID, JAUNTY, COLLEGIATE . . . A CAMPUS RIOT . . . AS INTELLIGENTLY MADE AS IT IS ATTRACTIVE LOOKING-ALL WOOL FRIEZE POLO COAT, FULL SILK LINED!

The College Shop—Third Floor.

RICHS

Blackfriar Plays Nov. 21

Vol. XVII

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE, DECATUR, GA., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1931

No. 7

Blackfriars Are To Give Three One-Act Plays November 21

Special Student Rates Are Offered on Tickets Bought Before Saturday Night.

combined in a program of three plays ning, November 12, at 8 o'clock. to be presented by Blackfriars, the night of November 21.

For those who enjoy tales of mysterious happenings there is At the Wedding Rehearsal. A Pound of Flesh, the is a satire on the reading of The Merchant of Venice and gives a glimpse of Will himself as he might have been had he lived in the twentieth century. The third play, The King's Fool, is of a more serious nature and presents a and Lucile Heath. picture of sixteenth century life.

Tickets will be on sale in Buttrick Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Special student rates of 35 cents are being offered to those students who get their tickets before Saturday night.

The casts of the plays are as follows:

At the Wedding Rehearsal: Cousin Jane Dunn-Mary Francis Torrance.

Andy Carpenter-Julia Grimmet. James Dunn-Jule Bethea. Sarah Dunn-Letitia Rockmore. Polly Dunn-Lucile Woodberry. Tom Lane-Jura Taffar. Aunt Julia Stors-Kathleen Bowen. Emma Dunn-Margaret Ridley. Mary Craig-Mildred Hooten. Augusta Stors-Cecile Mayer. Julia Weeks-Margaret Bell. The Rev. Mr. Dobbs-Rosemary

Billy Dunn-Juliet Kaufman.

A Pound of Flesh:

J. S. Walpole-Catharine Happoldt. Anne Hathaway—Clyde Lovejoy. William Shakespeare-Margaret Be-

Johnny, the office boy - Bobby Hart.

Lord Bacon-Martha Skeen. Francis Beaumont—Lois Sachs.

John Fletcher-Elaine Heckle. The King's Fool: Brentano, the artist-Mratha Skeen.

Fleurette, his wife—Amelia O'Neal. Art Critic-Elaine Heckle.

Team To Debate Oxford Is Chosen

Anne Hopkins and Katharine Woltz will compose the Agnes Scott debating team to meet the Oxford University ing or even death be your reward." team, December 10, according to an announcement made Friday morning by Dr. Hayes. Porter Cowles and Nelle Brown will debate Wesleyan College the second week in December. The question for debate is, Resolved: That the civilization of the United States is ford Agnes Scott will uphold the negative, and in the debate with Wesleyan, the affirmative.

three of Dr. Johnson's voice pupils. The following songs were sung:

'Homing," Salmon-Mary Charles

"Elycium"—Mrs. Wallace Wilkes.

Mrs. Wilkes, Mary Ruth Rountree. Each of the numbers was well-rendered, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience, which included a number of Atlanta people.

Alliance Française Entertained at A. S.

"L'Etincelle," One-Act Play, Main Feature of Program.

The members of the Alliance Francaise were the guests of the French Mystery, comedy, and drama are faculty of Agnes Scott, Thursday eve-

The meeting was opened with a talk French consul in Atlanta, who described his recent European trip, emphasizterest to students of Shakespeare, as it French Colonial Exposition in Paris this summer.

> The program proceeded with a colorful peasant dance by Lucile Woodbury, Helen Bashinski, Florence Man-

> The main feature of the program was a delightful one-act play of Pail-Géron.

guests at a social hour in the lobby of sented as follows: Rebekah Scott.

Dr. Scott Speaks On Mission Field

Dr. C. E. Scott, of the Northern Presbyterian Mission Board of China, Serge Jaroff. in an address in chapel Thursday, urged burg," arr. by Serge Jaroff. students when choosing vocations to consider the foreign mission field.

Dr. and Mrs. Scott have been in the Jaroff. province of Shantun, China, a banditinfested area, for almost thirty years. They are now enjoying a year's fur- by Professor Shredoff. lough and a family reunion with their three daughters and two sons.

With his own experiences as illustra- | Shredoff. tions, Dr. Scott pictured the life and life, he pointed out, is always open and says, "Immense is the excitement of vowel formation and similar troubles, This is one of the regular Agnes Scott in need of those who are willing to for- the audience. Russian-wise, the bass get themselves and accept the challenge, "Come over into Macedonia and help us," to which Paul responded willingly. He suggested that often this the tenors make play with singular falhis "Red Shirts" when he planned his women voices, heard afar, softened by march on Rome, "Come and let suffer-

Laura Spivey Is Vesper Speaker

Laura Spivey spoke at Y. W. vespa greater menace to the world than ers, Sunday, November 15, on the subthat of Russia. In the debate with Ox- ject, "Religion Every Day." In her every opportunity it seeks—and gains talk, she emphasized the spiritual -the extremes of precision and connecessity of acting as Christ would in trast. To the end the excitement of test will be given December 11, 1931. every relationship of our lives. All the audience holds taut." VOICE RECITAL, NOVEMBER 10 | the little and big problems which we A charming musical program was encounter, she said, will work themgiven Tuesday night, November 10, by selves out if we carry Him with us in all that we do.

She continued by saying that we would do this out of the loyalty which we feel to Christ, as the very best "Come Unto Him," Handel-Duet, friend of all and that He will be to us all that a friend can be. Laura concluded her talk with a verse which summed up all that she had said about friendship with Christ.

Don Cossack Male Chorus Renders a Splendid Program

Variety of Russian Religious, Military and Folk Songs Are Presented.

The Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus, directed by Serge Jaroff, presented last Wednesday evening, November 11, at the City Auditorium, a by the president, M. Charles Loridans, program of various types of Russian songs and concluded it by the typical Russian dance.

The thirty-six men who compose second play, will be of particular in- ing especially the marvels of the the chorus and their leader are former officers of the Russian imperial army. Their history dates from the prison camp of Tschelenzir, where they were sent after the defeat of General Wrangel. With their transport to Sofia, Bulgaria, they formed for a time the choir in the Russian Orthodox able experience. gis, Maude Anderson, Elizabeth Winn church. The Don Cossacks made their concert debut in Vienna in 1923. Since then, they have sung throughout Europe, the British Isles, and Australia. They visited the United States for the leron, L'Etincelle, excellently presented first time last fall. This group of artby Miss Martha Crowe as Antoinette, ists are "men without a country" and Miss Suzel Triaire as Mme. de Rénot, travel on "Nansen" passes, issued by and Miss Margaret Belote as Raoul de the League of Nations to people without a country.

After the program, the French Club of religious faith, songs of the barassisted the hostesses in entertaining the racks, and folk songs. These were pre-

I. (a) "Credo," Kastolsky.

(b) "Thou Alone Art Immortal," Kastolsky.

noff.

(d) "The Responsory," Gretchaninoff.

II. (a) "Mother Volga," arr. by

(b) "On the Road to St. Peters-

"The Captive Cossacks," Nishtchinsky. (d) "Ay, Oakhnem!" arr. by Serge

(e) "An Old Polka," arr. by I. Dob-III. (a) "The Tipsy Peasant," arr.

(b) "The Red Sarafan," Warlamoff. "War Song of 1812."

(d) "Black Eyes," arr. by Professor

"Song of the Don Cossacks." H. T. Parker in the Boston Evening work of missionaries in China. This Transcript, speaking of this chorus voices of these Cossacks descend to the depths, losing neither volume nor quality. Russian-wise, and beyond any similar body known to American ears, challenge is like that of Garibaldi to setto, less such than an imitation of distance; or else, as in the churchly pieces, of boyish tones, suddenly poised above the deeper, dark hued singing the members of Alumnae Association. men. Russian-wise yet again, the whole choir is capable of quasi-orchestral effects. It hums with a deep murmur; it strums, like violins and violincellos. At one end of the scale, it commands the softest whispers of wisp-like tones; at the other, fills the air with full-throated resonance. At

NOTICE!

We have information from Mr. Tart that practically every railway in the Southeast has agreed to make a fare-plus-athird rate on round trip tickets, good from December 16, 1931, to January 6, 1932!

Miss Scandrett Receives Appointment

To Be Assistant Dean at U. of Syracuse Temporarily.

Miss Carrie ("Dick") Scandrett, secretary to Miss Hopkins, Dean, has accepted a temporary appointment as assistant dean at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., for the remainder of this session, according to an announcement given out by the Agnes Scott administration.

Miss Scandrett has been studying at Columbia University, New York City, in this line of work and takes the step with the approval of the heads of this department there, who feel that work of this sort at a different type of educational institution will give her valu-

Her duties will be chiefly in the field of academic and vocational counselling of women. As a special project she will have work with a dormitory of seventy girls, mostly fine art students.

A graduate of Agnes Scott in the class of '24, a member of Hoase, and closely connected with the history of In the varied program were songs the college for several years, Miss Scandrett has endeared herself to every girl on the campus. The pleasure at her honor will be mixed with regret for our temporary loss.

(c) "We Sing to Thee, Rachmani- Lecture of Nov. 28 To Be By Dr. West

department of Correct Speech of the University of Wisconsin, and professor of Speech Pathology, will lecture on the subject of "Man, the Animal that Talks," Saturday evening, November 28, 8 o'clock, in the gymnasium. Dr. West is the second speaker on this year's program of the Agnes Scott Lecture Association.

Dr. West has done a great deal of work on defections in speech, such as stuttering, stammering, incorrect and in the afternoon will hold a speech lecture series, and will be held in clinic with various other local doctors gymnasium. All other lectures will be held in Buttrick Hall. attending. Miss Gooch has arranged with Dr. West for special interviews to Little Jett Artist be given by him to the members of the spoken English classes. While on the campus, Dr. West will also lecture to

Medical Tests to Be Given Dec. 11

According to announcement made by Miss Omwake, the Association of American Medical Colleges' aptitude This test should be taken by all students who expect to apply for entrance to a medical school by fall of 1932. The test has been adopted by the association as one of the normal requirements for admission.

All students, to whom this applies should make application immediately ******* school year.

Alumnae Week-End To Bring Adult Education Program

Lectures, Exhibits, Games. Luncheons and Teas to Be Events of Reunion.

Friday and Saturday, November 27 and 28, have been designated as Alumnae Week-end, and at that time as many of the alumnae as possible will return to the college for a reunion, and discussion of various subjects of in-

On Friday morning, from 10:30-11:30, there will be an address by Dr. R. H. McLean, from Emory, on "Present Day Conditions in Europe." This will be followed at 11:30 by an address by Miss Wilma Van Dusseldorp from the State Board of Public Welfare of Georgia on "Development of Social Case Work as a Profession."

At 12:30 the Alumnae will be guests at a luncheon in Rebekah Scott dining room, and at 1:00 Miss Mary Wallace Kirk, a graduate of Agnes Scott, will talk on "Etchings." Her talk will be followed by an art and book exhibit in Buttrick, arranged by members of the

From 2:30 to 4:30 the alumnae will be guests of the athletic department at a hockey game between students and faculty, and at exhibitions in riding and archery. At 4:30 there will be a plunge period.

On Friday night there will be a dinner in the Anna Young Alumnae Dr. Robert West, Ph.D., head of the House, with an after-dinner talk on The New Book," by Miss Jessie Hopkins, head of Carnegie Library in At-

On Saturday morning there will be two lectures, one at 10:30 by Dr. Goodrich White, of Emory, on "Psychology of Childhood," and one at 11:30 by Miss Emma May Laney of the Agnes Scott faculty on "Some Aspects of Modern Poetry.

From 4 until 6 there will be the annual alumnae tea in the alumnae house, and at 8:30, all those who wish will attend the lecture on "Man, the Animal That Talks," by Dr. Robert West, of the Speech Pathology department of the University of Wisconsin.

Speaks in Chapel

Rev. Wade C. Smith, pastor of Church of the Covenant of Greensboro, N. C., famous in church circles as the originator of the Little Jetts, spoke in chapel Saturday, November 14, to an audience of students and

He told the story of Abraham and Isaac and illustrated it with Jett drawings. Rev. Smith is an interesting speaker and was doubly welcome because of the personal contacts which he has had with many Agnes Scott girls and their families.

LAST SWIMMING MEET

The final swimming meet of the season will be held Thursday evening at 9 o'clock. This meet promises to be the most interesting and the best of the year. Several novelty races and exhibitions in diving and swimming will be features of the meet. The events to Miss Omwake, for this is the only include: the back tandem and front tandem for speed, elementary back time that the test will be given this stroke, king pigeon race, diving, and a short polo game.

Subscription price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single copies, 5c.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

| ST               | TAFF                |  |
|------------------|---------------------|--|
| Editor           | BETTY BONHAM        |  |
| Assistant Editor | ELIZABETH LIGHTCAP  |  |
| Feature Editor   | GAIL NELSON         |  |
|                  | Mary Hamilton       |  |
|                  | ELIZABETH LYNCH     |  |
| Athletic Editor  | KATHERINE WOLTZ     |  |
| Alumnae Editor   | LETITIA ROCKMORE    |  |
| Club Editor      | Bessie Meade Friend |  |
| Joke Editor      | Johnnie Mae York    |  |
| Giddy Gossip     | Caroline Lingle     |  |
| MANIACEMENIT     |                     |  |

| MANAGEMENI                    |                    |
|-------------------------------|--------------------|
| Advertising Manager           | CLYDE LOVEJOY      |
| Business Manager              | GRACE FINCHER      |
| Circulation Manager           | LILA ROSS NORFLEET |
| Assistant Circulation Manager | IMOGENE HUDSON     |

REPORTERS FOR THIS ISSUE

| ELIZABETH HICKSON |
|-------------------|
| LUCILE WOODBERRY  |
| BARBARA HART      |
| POLLY GORDON      |
| ELEANOR HOLFERTY  |
| MARY MACDONALD    |
| Nelle Chamlee     |
| ROSALIND WARE     |

MARY JANE EVANS MARGARET TELFORD MARY LOUISE ROBINSON LETITIA ROCKMORE MARGARET MASSIE FLORENCE PRESTON LOUISE WISE Louise Wesley

DON'T BE CRITICAL

"Diogenes, carrying his lighted lantern under the noon-day sun, sought for an honest man. The twentieth-century philosopher, in spite of modern improvements of electricity, binoculars, and airships, would have an equally difficult task to find a satisfied man.

"So many of us want what we do not have, and have what we do not want, that it is the rarest thing to come upon some one who is happy in his family, his friends, his work, his income, the place he chose for his summer vacation, or the book he brought home from the library last evening.

"Disappointment treads upon the heels of anticipation, and great expectations are followed by frustration. Our ideals are there before us. But how often like the mirage which vanishes as we approach, or a will-o'-the-wisp, now flashing, now disappearing, filling us with hope, or leaving us to the darkness of doubt and despair.

"We think of our friends as having all the graces and accomplishments and beneficent qualities, and then come the little deceits or the sharp words of everyday experience and we are cut to the heart. We want so much of the world! We expect such fine things of everybody! Surely, we tell ourselves, we ought not world-wide depression, is, one cannot to be obliged to lower our standards, to be content with the in- help feeling, in small part due to the National Guard to fight the raging most girls would live with their par-

"So we continue to look for a road leading from our valley of discontent. We seek a nice broad highway, shady and inviting, financial support from interested outsmooth and easy to the tread. But usually the way out is a little siders which they must have in order twisted footpath, the same one by which we entered, and its to carry on the program they have so name is 'criticism.'

"Criticism is a good old English word which in its pure significance implies carefully weighing and balancing; fine, exact, authoritative judgment. But by usage that word has been debased. Today its implication is not to take the measure of something or someone, but rather to point out the defects of something or some one. And a good many people keep pretty busy telling what is wrong with everything and every one.

"The unfortunate thing is that criticism, like the poisonous barb on the arrow, is apt to prick the one who lets it fly. Blinded by its effects, he magnifies evil and belittles good until presently he has lost the ability to be satisfied or content with anything or

"It is interesting to note how often the tendencies which provoke us in others are the ones to which we ourselves are prone to international socialism is the only way fall victims. Two women, both actuated by self-importance, catastrophe and chaos. will dislike each other for trying to keep the center of the stage. The tapping pencil in the nervous fingers of one man will annoy covery," especially in this country, another. Why? Because he too is tense.

"To 'make the best of things' does not require us to sacrifice ed by changes which Mr. Thomas said our interests and to be satisfied with the inferior, the imperfect. would be essentially socialistic in char-It means that if we will stop criticizing it is within our power to acter and trend. wield the fairy wand which will touch the tawdry, the dull, the dingy, and transmute them into the bright gold which will purchase our contentment, our satisfaction, our peace."—Pictorial it be recorded that, in full possession Review.

N. S. F. A. News

What the only nation-wide studentinitiated and student-administered organization in the United States has accomplished in its six years of existence is recorded in the 1931 report of the United States of America, published agreements can be made. this week. On the outside looking in, it is impossible to remain unimpressed by a reading of it.

Its list of activities and accomplishwhich in the last analysis is most impressive of all has not been expressly listed. The very existence of such an organization as the Federation in this country today, genuinely nation-wide, created entirely by student initiative, independent of any outside affiliation, is something more than an achievement; it is an overwhelming tribute to the limitless energy of the group of undergraduates who set N. S. F. A. on its feet.

In a country whose students have never been conscious of themselves as a unified group with a potential power in the community, and where the immensity of the territory and the multiplicity of colleges and universities have made any student unification nearly impossible, the establishment of a national student federation would have been a colossal task for a group with organizing experience, ample funds, and unlimited quantities of spare time.

For a handful of undergraduates with only college experience, no funds and an academic program filling their time, it was more than a task; it was close to an impossibility. That the Federation exists today as an organization with a paid membership of 160 accredited colleges and universities, with a permanent central office carrying on activities that are a full-fledged contribution to the goal of N. S. F. A., is a minor miracle accomplished by the unflagging zeal of those first few.

Yet, although it has come a long way on the impetus of their faith and on that of those students who took up the job each year where predecessors eft it, the Federation does not pretend that it has as yet accomplished the goal that student representatives from every state in the Union set for it at the Princeton World Court student conference, where the Federation was formed nearly seven years ago.

There is as yet no consciousness of unity, of class responsibility, among students in this country. There is not as yet much "intelligent student opinion" here on "questions of national and international importance," and "world student understanding" is by no means accomplished. But that these things are nearer today than they were in further backing and cooperation of far conducted on a shoestring, they may eventually stimulate a student movement in this country to parallel the most admirable of the European movements—with perhaps a wider, less nationalistic slant.—Helene Blanchard, Public Information, International Student Service Committee in the United

In the third of a series of nationwide radio addresses on "What Youth Can Expect from My Party," sponsored by the National Student Federation, Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, declared: "Modern capitalism has collapsed, but may be a long time dying; out and the only alternative to war,

There might be "some degree of refrom the present economic depression, their crimes and follies," he asserted, (Continued on page 4, column 1)

WE SEE BY THE PAPERS

Out in the World

While Japan continues to mass her troops in the South Manchurian Railway district, China has appealed to the League of Nations for an international National Student Federation of the army of 4,000 men to protect her until that after the past 20 years of Japanese include girls. With the stop watches ments is long, but the achievement influence in Manchuria, that province they timed the length of time it took > launched by the Chinese army on a cases the conversation would go on for railroad zone, which according to sixteen minutes before the subject of Japanese officials is under their admin- women was brought in for the bous istration by a treaty with Russia which analysis. You may be surprised that was duly recognized by China. Japan the average time it takes a bull seslar to those held by the U. S. A. in minutes." the Panama Canal zone. China seems to want all her treaties and relations with Japan "aired" before the League 20,000 pages of parallel a day. of Nations.—Literary Digest.

A SNOOTY CITY

Uh huh! Annapolis has snubbed the gets the horselaugh.

The other day the mayor of Maryland's capital city and his retinue of out so much as a wave or a nod," actown a day or so later and he was not given a wave or a nod by hizzoner, the mayor. Moreover the mayor wrote to President Hoover, telling him just Budapest took their own lives within a what he thought of the presidential snub and demanding an apology or

It's a pity that one of the busiest personages in the world, who has every third of the undergraduates in Amerireason to go quickly and quietly when can colleges and universities today had he travels, cannot do so without being no business ever going beyond high wearied and worried by ceremonies school. which may be politically inspired.—Independent, St. Petersburg.

THESE In-Laws!

President Hoover's brother-in-law, his sister's husband, was arrested last was set for November 16.

become so serious that Governor Rus- campus would make graduation exer-

Instead of complying with that request, however, he has deemed it wiser to request that men and equipment be ton University were recently arrested furnished quickly by the State High- for attaching a Freshman to the flagready appointed in the forestry depart- flagpole-sitting record, as he did it in

Executive departments of the gov-

On Other Campuses

TO WOMEN IN SIX MINUTES Duke University.—"An interesting experiment was tried here a couple of days ago. Two boys who were majoring in psychology equipped themselves Some reports say Japan has acted with stop watches, and went to twenlike a guest who walked into China's ty-five rooms and started twentyhome and is stealing all the silverware, five bull sessions. They introduced any but others have pointed out the fact subject for conversation which did not is the "only sanitary, prosperous and the conversation to turn to the femincivilized region in China." And the ine gender. They would probably start more Japan does for Manchuria, the by saying, "Who do you think will win more Chinese it becomes by Chinese the football game tomorrow?" And some might say, "I don't care as long The whole question at present hinges as I have my girl there." In that case on a violent and provocative attack it took only thirty seconds. In some claims rights in the railroad zone simi- sion to start talking about women is six

Florida State College students read

Approximately 300 to 500 calls are made daily for reserve books on English, history, sociology, and practically every other subject on the campus. President and the mayor of Annapolis Each of these students read, on the average, fifty pages.

The most popular hours for "catching-up" on parallel reading seem to be prominent Annapolians turned out to Monday nights, and afternoons and welcome and acclaim President nights of Tuesday, Wednesday, and Hoover. But the presidential motor Thursday. The Saturday week-end line party passed through the town "with- also often reaches 200. The big rush seasons are the last weeks of quarters cording to Annapolis reports. And and semesters. At this time the rethen the President passed through the serve room reaches its seating capacity of 175.—The Florida Flambeau.

> Five students at the University of week because of poor school grades.

> The dean of men at Princeton declared in a recent address that one-

> At the University of Denver six students were suspended when they attended class in swimming suits.

No co-ed at Michigan State Normal Tuesday, when he emerged from a College "known as a habitual user of building in Santa Monica, Cal., with cigarettes or who smokes in public a "half-a-sack-of-liquor." He pleaded places will be allowed to graduate." If not guilty in police court and was re- the woman happens to be an occasional leased under $250 bond. His hearing user of the weed, the fact will be noted on her report card and will count against her future chances of employ-Forest fires in South Georgia have ment. Such a state of affairs on our sell has been asked to call out the cises look like a "man's retreat" and ents forever. - The Crimson-White.

Three students at George Washingway Board to aid special deputies al- pole. The latter claims an all-time a nightshirt and a pair of socks.

A new machine has been installed at ernment will have $350,000,000 less to the University of California for shin-(Continued on page 4, column 3) | (Continued on page 3, column 2)

Agnes Scott College

DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities

For further information, address

J. R. McCAIN, President

spots this week.

Mrs. Meat."

night, exclaiming, "Oh, I forgot to My girl, do you know that we have hand in that notice about Inman cof- in our midst the champion tatter of fee!" As she was halfway out of the California. Page Ackerman assured dining room, she was stopped by an an- Eleanor Wofford that she held the title, nouncement from Mrs. Finnell, about -and Eleanor believed her! Well, I said coffee. With a relieved, though like to see such credulity in the young simple expression she leaped back to her folks! place sighing, "Oh, I forgot, I did hand that Brownie Nash had lost the blackbottom of her fountain pen.

was quite surprised the other night mas, say in January!" when an unknown male over the phone asked her for a date. "Why, I don't story, but that's a serial, soeven know you," said Dee, in her best Exec voice. "Well, I've met you," said the voice, and proceeded to describe her exactly. "Just the same," replied Dee, "I haven't met you, and I can't

ALL WEEK STARTING FRIDAY!

earest Giddy,
Well, life rolls on. That's all, it just ventional." "Aw, I hate convention," rolls on. And it surely is getting all announced the cute voice. "So do I," balled up, what with term papers in admitted Dee, but she refused. In fact, gave a tango, in costume. Amelia Wolf every subject, and tests to boot. That's she continued to refuse for several the only fault I have to find with this nights. Finally, however, she got all place—the work. It makes me feel wrought up over the attractive voice, poser, Albinez. gloomy just to think about it! How- and consented to a date for Wednesever, there have been quite a few bright day. To her surprise, Wednesday turned out to be her birthday, and she went F'r instance, there was the afternoon to a party. When she called Thursthat a male voice boomed into the day morning to break the date, what White House phone, "Hello, this is was her astonishment to have a Joe Brown, Penny's sister . . . !" confession from the boy to the effect And speaking of Penny, I mustn't omit that he really didn't know her. The meeting was Miriam Thompson, Vir-Harriotte Brantley's brilliant piece of way he heard about her was at a truth repartee on being introduced to her meeting at the Emory K. A. house, mother,—"I'm glad to brown you, when two girls from our A. M. were asked who was the hottest girl at I might add the little scene when Agnes Scott, and they replied Dee Bessie Meade Friend started violently Robinson! Dear, dear, what a disilup from the table last Wednesday lusionment to the campus in general!

But I can't stop until I tell you this it in after all!" By the way, White one. The other day in art history class, House dining room was the scene of Miss Lewis was assigning a term paper. many a maidenly blush the other night, "Well," said she, "I want you to have when a notice was made to the effect plenty of time before the end of the semester, so hand it in about March." 'But," objected the class, "the semester Dear, dear, I've got more dirt on the ends in January!" "Oh! Why-er-a-oh, president of Student Government than yes, of course," fluttered Miss Lewis. you can find under the radiator. Dee "Well then, hand it in before Christ-

Well, I could tell you a Bran new Devotedly,

Aggie.

ON OTHER CAMPUSES

(Continued from page 2, column 5) ing the shoes of the football squad. This will make the shoes last longer, according to Bill Ingram, head coach.

The Sphinx, annual publication at abolished by the faculty because of lack of co-operation on the part of hour. students and their dissatisfaction as to collection and representation in the

Probably the first college class in for practice.

************************ BAILEY BROS. SHOE * SHOP 142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies' Work DE. 0172 * WE DELIVER * *******************

SPECIAL NOTICE

Our Sandwiches have been reduced from 20c to 15c (not toasted), toasted 20c. Also a reduction in drinks.

We have added Wieners-very delicious.

STARNES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER PHONE US-DE. 2169

Agnes Scott College Windshield Stickers, two for 5c

Dennis Lindsey Printing Company (Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING AND STATIONERY

421 Church St.

Dearborn 0976

Decatur, Ga.

Club News

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club met Wednesday, November 11, at five o'clock in Mr. Johnson's studio. Members of the club presented a Spanish program.

Mary Ruth Rountree, as a gallant, sang Estrillita to Sara Lane Smith, a fair lady in a balcony, and was rewarded with a rose. Elizabeth Skeen and Roberta Kilpatrick presented an 'Argonese" dance in costume. Mary Upshaw Jones, and Amelia O'Neal played a selection by the Spanish com-

Tea and cake was served by the social committee of which Dorothy Cassel, Juliette Pruitt, Virginia Fisher and Mary Ames are members. Bessie Meade Friend was elected chairman of the program committee for the next meeting. The committee for this ginia Herrin, and Bernice Beaty.

K. U. B.

K. U. B. held its regular business meeting Wednesday, November 11, in the Day Students' room. The reports of the president, Letitia Rockmore, showed that the club is accomplishing much in its line of work. The Associated Press has already accepted an article on Investiture, written by a member of K. U. B.

COTILLION CLUB

A business meeting of the Cotillion Club was called Thursday night, November 12, in Mr. Johnson's studio. A report from the treasurer was made. Plans for the Thanksgiving dance were discussed, the committees being appointed. Also the prospect of other fashion shows this fall was considered.

Mission Interest Group

Dr. Philip Davidson will speak Sunday, November 22, at 3 P. M., in the Y. W. Cabinet room to the Mission Interest Group. He will review the book, "The Aquisitive Society." All who are interested in Christianity as it faces the present economic problems and attitudes are invited to be pres-

Agnesi Mathematics Club

The Agnesi Mathematics Club held its first meeting of the year, Thursday night, November 12, in the physics lecture room. After a short business Emory and Henry College, has been meeting the club adjourned to the home of Dr. Robinson for a social pated in an inter-collegiate Glee Club ber 7. program presented over WSB Saturradio announcing is now offered at the day afternoon. The club sang two of State University of Iowa. The class its most popular selections, Dawn, ar- Lumpkin, Ga. uses the University's station, WSUI, ranged by Curran, and The Sleigh, by Kountz.

GLEE CLUB

> International Relations Club The regular monthly meeting of the International Relations Club was held michael were in Barnesville for the formerly of Richmond, is now living (Continued on page 4, column 2) week-end.

Take some glorious fall weather with a winter breeze and a summer sun, and Walker visited Martha Walker this a glorious football game with a close week-end. score and lots of pep, and several glorious dances with divine partners and marvelous music, and perhaps a dinner or two to add to the flavor, and mix them all evenly, stirring constantly. What do you get? Why a glorious week-end of course. Just the kind last week-end was. But I'm not at all sure about the proportions of the ingredients, for each Hottentot had her own special recipe and each Hottentot baked her own special week-end. Some of them let us in on their secret. Their receipts were as follows:

Betty Hansen spent the week-end in Atlanta with Elaine Heckle.

Caroline Waterman, Eleanor Williams, and Upshaw Jones were in Atlanta for the week-end with Mrs. J. B. Duncan, Upshaw's aunt.

Suzel Triaire was the guest of Mademoiselle Groleau for the week-end in Atlanta.

Johnnie Mae York attended the Georgia-Tulane game in Athens Satur-

Hazel Turner went to LaGrange, her home, for the week-end.

Helen Boyd had dinner Sunday with Frances Oglesby in Atlanta.

Marguerite Manget and Susan Turner spent the week-end at their home in Newnan, Ga.

Martha Norman's father was with her for the week-end.

Eleanor Holferty had as her guests Sunday Frances and Berry Tufts.

Sylvia Scott went to Athens for the week-end.

Sara Tomlinson was in Marietta for the week-end.

Plant Ellis attended a dance at the The Agnes Scott Glee Club partici- Palais Peachtree, Saturday, Novem-

Alma Hunter spent the week-end in burg, Va.

Nell Starr went on an E. P. E. wiener roast Saturday night.

Marguerite Morris and Trellis Car-

***********************

Dry Cleaning You Will Appreciate and Enjoy

Eugene Harris

MISS HELEN McMILLIAN our personal representative at Agnes Scott, will be glad to serve you.

THE DAFFODIL TEA ROOM, Inc.

81 Pryor Street, N. E.

Across from Pryor St. Entrance to Candler Bldg. UNDER THE MANAGEMENT OF MRS. J. E. McREE

Our Desire is to Please You and Merit Your Confidence in Our Food

Continuous Service from 11:30 A. M. to 8 P. M. Open Sundays-Private Room for Clubs and Banquets

PHONE WALNUT 4794

Mr. and Mrs. Walker and Ray

Among those in Athens this weekend for the Georgia-Tulane game were: Willa Upchurch, Amelia Wolf, Clyde Lovejoy, and Louise Wesley.

Mary McDonald was the week-end guest of Nell Pattillo in Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker and Isabelle Parker were with Aileen for the week-

The following girls spent the weekend in Columbia, Ga.; Louisa Cargill, Juliette Kaufman, and Louise Schuess-

Grace and Marjorie Woodward were at their home in College Park for the week-end.

Mrs. Taylor was the guest of her daughter, Louise, Saturday and Sunday.

Mary Dunbar spent the week-end in Atlanta with Mrs. W. S. Bailey.

Polly Gordon, Page Ackerman, and Marie Whittle were the week-end guests of Mrs. E. K. Large, Page's aunt, in Atlanta.

Catherine Welborn had dinner in Atlanta Sunday with Eugene Traber.

Alice Bullard spent the week-end in Lexington, Ga.

Helen McMillan was the guest of Mattie Lou Mason in Madison for the Mary Ruth Rountree spent the week-end at her home in Summit, Ga.

Sally Williams was at Stone Mountain for the week-end.

Alumnae News

Ruth Etheredge, '31, is teaching school in Golden, Okla.

Elizabeth Willingham, ex-'32, was married to Mr. James T. Allison Crump on November 2, in Fredericks-

Betty and Peggy, Kump, ex-'34, are attending Davis and Elkins College, Elkins W. Va., this winter.

Marie Louise Robinson, ex-'34, in Huntington, W. Va.

Julia Thompson, '31, is planning to spend Thanksgiving week-end in the Alumnae House.

Mary Hiner, ex-'32, is studying at the University of West Virginia.

Ruth Hall, '31, is visiting her sister in Pittsfield, Mass. She will be married on November 25 to Mr. Paul Christensen of that city.

"Bread, bread!" cried the actor, and the curtain came down with a roll.

> Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

*ૹ૾ૣૢૹ૽ઌ૽ઌ૽ઌ૽ઌ૽ઌ૽ઌ૽ઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌઌ*ઌૢઌૢ

122 Peachtree

************

N. S. F. A. NEWS

(Continued from page 2, column 3) of resources and machinery sufficient to abolish poverty, it has but increased economic insecurity and then calmly assured its victims that they starve because they had produced too much.

"Perhaps the most ironic commentary on the collapse of capitalism is the fact that Herbert Hoover has been forced by events to such anti-individualistic and often ill-thought-out measures as his plan for farm relief. his crazy increase of protective tariffs to the hurt of the world, his endless system of commissions and his more intelligent plan of a credit pool for banks that have been unable to save their own system even though bankblind, short-sighted and greedy rulers -of the era of wild speculative and spurious prosperity which preceded and partly caused the present crisis.

extent that they are not just plain showed much enthusiasm and spirit. rackets, live on an outworn philosophy, hand-me-down slogans and pathetic appeals to the memory of great men of the past who would not want to recognize the parties which claim them. It appears that you must support the Democratic Party without knowing what program it will adopt at its next convention. I can assure you that neither it nor the Republican Party will adopt any progress equal to the emergency.

"Socialism has to offer to youth or to the middle-aged a philosophy, a point of view, an idea, a vision, almost a religion in a world of confusion, cynicism and doubt. That philosophy is a philosophy of cooperration; it is the conviction that peace, plenty and freedom can be had in a fellowship of free men who collectively own and democratically and efficiently manage land, natural resources and the principal means of production and distribution for use and not gram was given consisting of: profit."

BARNARD SETS PRECEDENT IN U.S.

A petition favoring world-wide disarmament was sent yesterday to Senof opinion regarding the policy of the promises to be very interesting. United States Government in international affairs to a Senate committee.

TEXAS UNIVERSITY HAS OIL FIELD

The University of Texas not only miniature field of liquid gold on its year. own campus. This field is located in partment of petroleum engineering. It is a perfect imitation of a field which was constructed at Sugarland, Texas, at a cost of one million dollars. There can be found in this minute construction derricks, oil wells, and pipe lines.

DEAN DEFENDS MODERN YOUTH

"So far as capacity and seriousness are concerned, our young men are by *************** no means in a class inferior to their fathers," declared Dean Herbert E. Hawks in an article in the editorial section of the Herald Tribune recently. The Dean defended the college student of today from the accusations concerning drinking and lack of studiousness and of college spirit, which are continually launched at him by members of the older generation.

The Dean said that those who criticize the present generation forget their own youth too easily, and that it is the immaturity of many of the undergraduates which, being conspicuous, strikes the observer first. This, however, presents only the least serious and least significant aspect of their makeup. The inability of youth in many cases to think constructively is traceable, he held, to the indifference which is so common in the world around them and in their own homes.

The main criticism that can be leveled at our youth, said the Dean is that they are not as alive to politics and international affairs as they might be.

Senior, Sophomore Game Scoreless

In the second game Friday afternoon the Seniors held the Sophomores to a 0-0 tie, in one of the closest games of the year. Both teams approached the ers have been the rulers—and what goal several times, but each time the opposing team held its own and kept the game scoreless.

An added feature to this game was "Our major political parties, to the the Senior cheering section, which

> Both teams played well, and hard, and showed their strength to be even-

| ly matched. |             |                |
|-------------|-------------|----------------|
| Line-up as  | follows:    |                |
| SOPHS       |             | SENIORS        |
| Maness      | R. W        | Howard         |
| Tillotson   | R. I        | Hudson         |
| Tindall     | C. F        | Bowman         |
| O'Brien     | I. L        | Kane           |
| Hamilton    | L. W        | Fincher        |
| Friend      | R. H        | Dyer           |
| Rogers      | C. H        | Schlich        |
| Schuessler  | L. H        | Green          |
| McMullen _  | R. B        | Brown          |
| Harbison    | L. B        | Glenn          |
| Turner      | G. G        | Norfleet       |
| Substitutio | ons: Sophs— | -Massie, Pres- |

CLUB NEWS

(Continued from page 3) column 3) Thursday night at eight o'clock in Mr. Johnson's Studio. An interesting pro-

Current Events-Penelope Brown. The Russian Revolution of 1905-Marjorie Gamble.

The Russian Revolution of 1917-Annie Laurie Smith.

Dr. Davidson told the club someator William E. Borah, chairman of the thing about C. Douglas Booth who Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs, will speak Friday night, November 27, by 650 Barnard College students. This on "The Permanent Court of Internais the first time that a student body in tional Justice." The college commun-America has sent a formal declaration ity is invited to hear the speaker, who

BLACKFRIARS

Blackfriars met Tuesday night, November 10, in Miss Gooch's studio. Formal initiation was held for the new members. Several committees were anowns oil fields in the plains of West nounced, and Amelia O'Neal was elect-Texas, but it is also the possessor of a ed property manager for the coming the basement of the Engineering Build- The Sequel, was presented. The cast ing for the use of students in the de- included Betty Peeples, Johnnie Turner, Jo Clark, and Sara Hollis.

After refreshments had been served, the meeting adjourned.

*************** "SPARKS FROM THE ANVIL"

Clara Lundie Askew Margaret Waite Book Shop Peachtree Arcade

Hewey's

Buy Your TOILET ARTICLES SUNDRIES REMEDIES—STATIONERY SODAS—SANDWICHES PROMPT DELIVERY

> Call us Phone Dea. 0640-9110

Make STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOP Your Beauty Shoppe Special Styles and Features for Thanksgiving

Archery News

Some of the members of the archery club met last week to compete in an archery contest made up of several events. The participants were divided into different teams, and each team strove for the highest score, which was to be rewarded by a prize.

First they shot part of a Columbia to show their skill by shooting at a was their first goal this year. The student's cap being placed on her head large gold balloon placed in the center Junior goals were made by Spivey as she kneels before Miss Hopkins. We of the target, and several brightly colored balloons distributed here and there on the target. Archery golf was another event planned, in which each marksman attempted to shoot her arrow from Constantine ___R. W.____ White House to the target in the fewest number of shots. In the last event the club members, following in the steps of William Tell, shot at a large imitation apple. The winner of this Long _____L. W.___ event received an athletic apple. Each Duls of the members of the winning team was awarded a candy lollipop, and all the participants were given small Next Monday, November 23, at 1:10 P. M., the fall archery tournament will be held. All those in the classes are expected to enter, but anyone else who is interested in archery is invited to come out and try her luck also. If you want to enter the archery tournament, don't forget Monday at

OUT IN THE WORLD

(Continued from page 2, column 4) spend next year than they had expected, according to the first public announcement by President Hoover of his estimates for the 1933 budget.

The death of a Democratic senator, T. H. Caraway of Arkansas, restored in the Senate the Republican plurality of one which was lost by the recent death of Senator Dwight W. Morrow. The House of Representatives has a Democratic domination.

-From Daily Papers.

L. CHAJAGE

Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

Student representative wanted for Popular Loose-Leaf Memory Book. For particulars address INTER - COLLEGIATE PRESS.

*****************

Kansas City, Mo. Dept. 3. **********

SILHOUETTE TEA ROOM

Anna Young Alumnae House Hours

7:30-2:00 4:00-7:00 10:00-10:30

********************* THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Charming Tea Rooms
Serving
LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON
TEA—DINNER
11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M.
Atlanta—65½ Broad St., N. W.
Macon—151 Cotton Ave.

We Repair Watches, Clocks and Jewelry MUENCH AND ELSNER 20 Peachtree Street, N. E. (First National Bank Bldg.) Decatur, Ga. & Accessors as a second second

ዹጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜቔቔቔቔጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜጜቝቝ

Juniors Defeat Freshmen, 4-1

the Frosh by a score of 4-1.

put up a real fight. Louise Harrison round. Then they were given a chance made one goal for the Freshmen, which with the beautiful ceremony of each Line-up for the game:

FROSH JUNIORS McCalla _____I. R. ____ Hudmon the abundance of learning and of cul-Harrison ____C. F.____ Spivey Young _____I. L. ___ Armstrong abundance of gold tassels which signify Henderson ____C. H.____ Simpson ____L. H.__ Shackleford Tomlinson ____R. B.____

Autumn Pictures

Spencer _____L. B.____

By MARY JANE EVANS

The Great Artist has painted a beautiful picture for us here on our campus. It is for each of us to enjoy and appreciate in her inmost heart. The trees are bright hues of red and yellow, colors which make us dream of happy times and our golden hopes for the future. There are shades of brown which prophecy the long cold days of winter, and yet there are a few trees which retain their green leaves just to tell us that a warm lovely spring with flowers and the songs of the birds is soon to be here.

The trees with their bright new fall coats and the squirrels playing among the branches make us want to take a long, long walk in the woods-forgetting studies and the difficulties of everyday life, but since few of us have little time to spend in this way let us really see the picture of beauty which has been made for us as we go to and from our classes.

It is better to have loved and lost than never to have been to college at

Charm of Academic Processions

Do you thrill with the first strains of Ancient of Days? Has this hymn come to have a special significance for you? Do you associate with it a long, impressive line of black caps and gowns, swinging in march time to the rhythmic notes resounding from the organ?

Agnes Scott has several impressive ceremonies throughout the year in which the academic procession figures. Friday afternoon, in the first game Not least among these is Investiture, of the afternoon, the Juniors defeated an occasion just passed. The long line of caps and gowns makes an indelible The Freshman team showed much impression upon the mind of each stuimprovement and the Juniors had to dent, and convinces one of the solemnity and significance of the occasion. Investiture is made doubly impressive (three) and Maude Armstrong (one). are then impressed with the full meaning of the privilege of wearing a cap and gown.

As the academic procession swings Hudmon down the aisle, do you ever think of ture represented by our faculty? Surely you have been impressed by the Sweets that so large a percentage of our facul-____R. H.___ Sturtevant ty has attained the rank of doctors of Heath philosophy.

The dignity and solemnity of an occasion are certainly increased by an academic procession, and it is most ap-Clark propriate that the most important Houck _____G. G.____ Loranz academic occasions of the year are accompanied by the procession in full array. The line of black caps and gowns, interspersed by the brilliantly colored hoods and the familiar gold tassels, mades an appearance, beautiful in its simplicity and dignity. Can you fail to feel a thrill when you see it?

 WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

-for-GIFTS—CARDS—HOSE FLOWERS

De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg. .

THE EMBLEM SHOP

51 North Forsyth St. Healey Bldg.

EMBLEMS-JEWELRY WATCH REPAIRING

TRY OUR

SANDWICHES

WE MAKE THEM RIGHT

Lawrence's Pharmacy

Phones De. 0762-0763

"Home of Quality Dry Cleaning"

20% DISCOUNT TO ALL AGNES SCOTT STUDENTS

Dyeing-Pressing-Rugs-Cold Storage

Decatur Laundry & Dry Cleaning Co.

DEARBORN 3162-3163

DECATUR, GA.

Vol. XVII

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE, DECATUR, GA., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1931

No. 8

FIFTY DOLLAR AWARD OFFERED FOR BEST BOOK COLLECTION

"Swarthmore Scheme" In- Blackfriar Plays troduced at Agnes Scott.

To that Agnes Scott student who stantial world" of books as Wordsworth would say, by submitting for inspection the best collection of books which she herself owns, intellectually matic work of the year Saturday, Noand physically, there will be given an award of $50.

offered on this campus in likeness of Flesh, by T. J. Geraghty, and The at yesterday's chapel session. The plan plays were under the direction of Miss is a means of projecting the motives Frances K. Gooch. and interests of Book Week on into the following weeks and months on the els belonging to the bride, and their Agnes Scott campus.

many books, nor the buyer of ex- peremtory Cousin Jane Dunn afforded pensive books will necessarily be awarded the $50, but the prize will go to the girl who best takes advantage of the present issuance of inexpensive editions of good books, and by so doing gathers on her own book shelf, those volums whose subject matter and con-

Not necessarily the full bookcase, but rather the cherished one will win the prize for as Voltaire says, "it is and Lois Sachs, respectively. Shakewith books as with men—a very small speare received encouragement from he will speak here on the World Court. number play a very great part."

This "Swarthmore Scheme" was first tried as an experiment at Swarthmore College by Professor A. E. Spiller of the Department of English.

In a recent letter to Miss Preston and Miss McKinney of the Agnes Scott English Department, Professor Spiller indicates that much intellectual activity has been awakened on the Swarthmore campus through the scheme and that "this has turned out to be quite an adventure for all concerned. I wish the best of success to the plan on your

An "advertisement" of the Swarthmore Scheme appeared recently as an article in the Atlantic Monthly by A. Edward Newton, widely known bibliophile. Mr. Newton is the present donor of the award on the Swarthmore campus, and in his article in the Atlantic Monthly he relates how he de-

Excellent Address Begins Book Week

Made by Mr. W. C. Jones, Editorial Writer of Journal.

Mr. William Cole Jones, editorial writer of the Atlanta Jounnal, spoke in chapel, Tuesday, November 24, initiating Agnes Scott's celebration of Book obtaining books in time past with the ease with which one may collect books, now, when inexpensive editions are so books very attractive. "The great classes for both events. books are truly to have and to hold"; "the reading of a book is really an adventure"; "collect those books which you can call master and friend"; "treasure them in mind and heart," were a few of the effective thoughts also be awarded in this event. which his speech left with his audience.

DR. DAVIDSON SPEAKS TO

Sunday afternoon, November 22. The and Ada Carr Mitchel. program consisted of Dr. Davidson's reciety. He discussed the Christian at- Jerusalem, as we used to play it. titude toward industrial society and its! relation to Christian missions.

Presented Nov. 21

best lives during this year in her "sub- Three Presentations Marked By Variety of Theme.

Blackfriars presented its first dravember 21, in the gymnasium at 8:30 o'clock. The presentation consisted of three one-act plays: At the Wedding Announcement of the award, now Rehearsal, by John Wood; A Pound of the "Swarthmore Scheme," was made King's Fool, by Dorothy Clark. The

At the Wedding Rehearsal presented the mysterious disappearance of jewfinal reappearance in the hands of the Neither the purchaser-at-random of groom. Mary Frances Torrance as the much laughter by her assumed rôle of detective. Lucille Woodberry and Julia Grimmet effectively represented the bride and groom.

The second of the plays, A Pound of Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice. Gooch's studio. Shakespeare, played by Margaret Belote, was presented as receiving many un-Beaumont, played by Catherine Happoldt, Martha Skeen, Elaine Heckle, his friend, Anne Hathaway, played by Clyde Lovejoy, and finally succeeded in having his play produced by another theater. Barbara Hart as the office boy afforded much amusement by her A. A. Adopts Two timely witticisms.

The King's Fool portrayed the life of a poor artist who, striving to paint a Madonna fit to hang in the king's pal- Will Promote Faster Play in ace, failed because of his lack of understanding of human suffering. After he had undergone a few trials himself he recognized the Madonna he desired in his own wife, and painted her, being rewarded by the king himself. The rôle of artist was played by Martha Skeen, his wife by Amelia O'Neal, the King by Elaine Heckle, and the King's Fool by Margaret Belote.

Horse Show to Be Feature of Friday

Ribbons to Be Given for Places in Varied Events.

A horse show is planned as part of the program for this week-end when so many of the alumnae are expected to visit the campus. It will be given on Friday afternoon at 3:30 on the hockey 3

The first number will be an exhibition of horsemanship by both the Week. He contrasted the difficulty of advanced and beginners classes. There will be two events for each class; three-gaited, and five-gaited horsemanship. Ribbons for first, second, and Mr. Jones made the ownership of third places will be given to both

> The second number will be an exhibition of riding for form. The contestants of this event will be chosen from the previous event. Ribbons will

The next number will be an exhibition of jumping. The students who MISSION INTEREST GROUP will ride in this are: Helen Bashinski, The Mission Interest Group met Marjorie Henderson, Martha Stigall,

The last number will be the famous view of the book The Aquisitive So- game of Musical Chairs, or going to

The judges will be three well known Atlantians interested in riding.

Mr. Booth to Speak To International Relations Club

Carnegie Endowment for International Peace Sends Speaker on World Court.

Mr. C. Douglas Booth, journalist and lecturer, is to speak at a meeting of the International Relations Club,

Flesh, was a satire on the reading of November 27, at 8 o'clock in Miss

Mr. Booth has traveled extensively tent-ideas have awakened in her a love just criticisms on his work, The Mer- on the continent of Europe and has and joy for the "intellectual hobby" of chant of Venice, at the hands of his studied European affairs, being especialproducer and his friends-Walpole, ly interested in Balkan conditions. The Lord Bacon, John Fletcher, and Francis Carnegie Endowment for International and Poth, Freshmen. Peace is sending this speaker to various colleges throughout the country, and > Faculty and students are invited to be the guests of the International Relations Club to hear Mr. Booth.

Court Basketball

Season's Games.

The two division basketball court system is to be inaugurated at Agnes at its last meeting to install this new Gordon, and back by Marjorie Woodsystem with the incoming basketball

By the new rules there will be three forwards and three guards. One forward will play jump center, but may also shoot goals. By this method the game is made much faster, and the players have greater space in which they may play.

CALENDAR

************************

Wednesday, Nov. 25, 8 P. M.-

Thursday, Nov. 26, 10 A. M.-Alumnae-Varsity basketball. 6:10 P. M. — Thanksgiving

Friday, November 27, 10:30 A. M.—"Present Day Conditions in Europe," Dr. R. H. Mc-

11:30 A. M.—"Development of Social Case Work as a Profession," Miss Dusseldorp. 12:30 P. M.—Alumnae luncheon, Rebekah Scott Dining Hall. 1:00 P. M — "Etchings," Miss 🕏 Mary Wallace Kirk.

2:30 P. M .- Athletic Exhi-

Saturday, Nov. 28, 10:30 A. M. -"Psychology of Childhood,"

11:30—"Some aspects of Modern Poetry," Miss Laney. 4:00 P. M -Alumnae tea. 8:30 P. M.—"Man, The Ani-

MISS GOOCH GIVES INTERVIEW ABOUT SATURDAY'S LECTURER

Freshmen Win Last Swimming Contest

Seniors and Juniors Come in Second and Third.

The Freshmen came to the front last Thursday night and won the last swim- terviewed, said: "Dr. West is from an ming meet of the season with a score extremely well-educated family. Both of 19 points. The Seniors were next his father and mother are well-known with 15 points and the Juniors third and recognized in educational circles.

son's work could do, and was the last a sister, who is an authority on econone of the season, some special guests omics, is publishing a book on that subwere invited, including Dr. McCain, ject." Mr. Winship, members of the faculty, and others.

Before the meet proper there was a five minutes exhibition water polo game, which served to introduce the students and guests to the game, which is to be one of the major sports next physiologist, and as a psychologist, and

The first regular event was an elementary back tandem for form, won by Davis and Coons, Freshmen; second place was a tie between Maganos and Wright, Seniors, and Maness and Mc-Cain, Sophomores, third place; Garrett under his study and observation. He

This was followed by a front tandem race. There were two heats to the orders causing nasality, troubles of the race, the first one won by D. Cassel and Gordon, Sophomores, and the second by F. Cassel and Frierson, Freshmen. Final results were obtained by timing in each race, and were:

F. Cassel and Frierson, Freshmen,

D. Cassel and Gordon, Sophomores,

Weeks and Woodward, Seniors,

Some exhibitions in front and back crawl were given next; front by Olive Scott. The Athletic Association voted Weeks, Virginia Wilson, and Polly Waterman.

(Continued on page 4, column 4)

Students Crowd Book Exhibit

Display of Cheap Editions from Atlanta Stores.

Books to suit the student's purse are the featured display at the annual book exhibit, which is being held in Buttrick Hall from Monday night through Saturday night. The exhibit is under the supervision of Miss McKinney and

"The purpose of the book exhibit is to bring to the attention of students attractive, but inexpensive editions of books that they themselves may own, explained Miss Preston, when interviewed.

Publishers and local book stores have been very liberal in their contributions, out, a figure led by Caroline Water-Preston. The important feature is the march. collection of cheap editions from Rich's, Macmillan's, Scribner's, and Scott Foresman's. Other displays include a collection of books on Russia from Rich's, one of children's books from Miller's Book Store, and one of current fiction and biography from Davison-Paxon's.

The books included in the Carnegie gift to the library last spring are on display. A collection of old books is being presented through the courtesy mal that Talks," Dr. Robert 🖫 of Mrs. Elijah A. Brown.

******* Leone Bowers Hamilton.

Has Had Training in Many Varied Fields.

In speaking of Dr. Robert West, who is to deliver the next lecture on the Lecture Association's annual program in the Gymnasium Saturday evening, Miss Frances K. Gooch, when in-A brother has made himself famous in Since this meet showed what a sea- archaeological work and research, and

> "Dr. West," she continued, "is a graduate of University of Wisconsin; he has received all his degrees from that school, and is now head of the department of speech pathology there. He has been trained as a scientist, as a since the time when he received his Master's degree, he has applied his studies specifically toward speechboth normal and abnormal. All types of abnormalities of speech—structural, functional and mental-have come has devoted especial attention to such irregularities as cleft palates or lips, dislarynx causing permanent harshness and hoarseness of speech, spastic paralysis and aphonia."

"All during Saturday," Miss Gooch continued, "Dr. West will hold a free clinic with any students desiring to have throat and voice troubles analyzed. In the afternoon, at 2:30, there will be a special demonstration clinic held with several doctors from Atlanta and Decatur who are interested in such work." "This clinic," Miss Gooch said with emphasis, those scientifically interested, not for ward, Polly Gordon and Margaret those merely curious. However, anyone with a speech defect who wishes examination is cordially invited to attend.'

Miss Gooch became acquainted with Dr. West while she was engaged in doing research work in speech pathology under him at the University of

Cotillion Dance to Be Tonight in Gym

Caroline Waterman and Lovelyn Wilson to Lead Out.

The Cotillion Club is sponsoring the annual Thanksgiving dance to be held Wednesday night, November 26, in the Gym at 8 o'clock.

Music will be furnished by an orchestra from Cable's and the special features will include the Cotillion leadaccording to Miss McKinney and Miss man and Lovelyn Wilson, and a grand

> The chairmen of the various committees are as follows:

Decoration-Field Shackleford; cochairman, Mary Hamilton.

Refreshments-Frances Duke. Orchestra—Blanche Lindsey.

FACULTY ADVISERS TO BE HOSTESSES TO ADVISEES DEC. 1

Faculty advisors will entertain their advisees Tuesday, December 1, from five to six o'clock. New students are A display of book plates, including referred to the poster which will be the Emory collection, is being present- placed in Buttrick with more definite

Subscription price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single copies, 5c.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

| STAFF            |                  |
|------------------|------------------|
| Editor           | BETTY BONHAM     |
| Assistant Editor |                  |
| Feature Editor   | GAIL NELSON      |
| Society Editor   | MARY HAMILTON    |
| Exchange Editor  |                  |
| Athletic Editor  | KATHERINE WOLTZ  |
| Alumnae Editor   | CORNELIA KEATON  |
| Club Editor      |                  |
| Joke Editor      | Johnnie Mae York |
| Giddy Gossip     |                  |

MANAGEMENT

| Advertising Manager           | CLYDE LOVEJOY      |
|-------------------------------|--------------------|
| Business Manager              | GRACE FINCHER      |
| Circulation Manager           | LILA ROSS NORFLEET |
| Assistant Circulation Manager | Imogene Hudson     |

REPORTERS FOR THIS ISSUE

| ELIZABETH LYNCH  | JANE GOODWIN   |
|------------------|----------------|
| Martha Elliott   | Rossie Ritchie |
| Juliette Kaufman | POLLY GORDON   |

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING

There is a tradition that in the planting of New England, the first settlers met with many difficulties and hardships, as is generally the case when a civilized people attempt to establish themselves in a wilderness country.

Being piously disposed, they sought relief from heaven by laying their wants and distresses before the Lord, in frequent set days of fasting and prayer. Constant meditation and discourse times, however. I shall never forget on these subjects kept their minds gloomy and discontented; and my surprise when the history profeslike the children of Israel, there were many disposed to return to sor kept lecturing after the bell (a that Egypt which persecution had induced them to abandon.

At length, when it was proposed in the assembly to proclaim another fast, a farmer of plain sense rose and remarked that the hour longer, utterly regardless of the try inconveniences they suffered, and concerning which they had so often wearied heaven with their complaints were not so great as they might have expected, and were diminishing every day, as the colony strengthened; that the earth began to reward their labor, and to furnish liberally for their subsistence; and above all, all tastes. For the romantic M. de la that they were there in the full enjoyment of liberty, civil and Boissière is ideal: a young man of the tics can ruin any system of govern-country clubs and students as loafers, religious.

He, therefore, thought that it would be more becoming the to do mintary strike in the lazy student who likes to be gratitude they owed to the Divine Being, if, instead of a fast, amused, there is M. Jarden, who weighs lynchings than any other state in the every crumb of higher education they they should proclaim a Thanksgiving. His advice was taken, and about 450 pounds and who tells lovefrom that day to this they have, in every year, observed circumstances of public felicity sufficient to furnish employment for a the really intelligent, M. de Champris Thanksgiving day, which is therefore constantly ordered and religiously observed.—BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.

-From Richardson's American School Reader, 1810.

THANKSGIVING, 1931

Perhaps the most prevalent thought in America today is that we have about as little to be thankful for as it is possible for a civilized nation to enjoy. We of the south, particularly, stone built around an open courtyard. have little in our crops to be glad of. Thanksgiving turkeys will As it's always warmer outside than in be a few pounds lighter this year and the festive board will not be quite so heavily laden, even in those homes which have suffered little from the depression. In many the meal will resemble the getting out just in time to sip one cup fasting, which Franklin says was the first thought of the of tea, listen to a German orchestra Puritans.

But on the other hand, we feel that those of us who do have food to eat, a shelter over our heads and most of the comforts of life, are more conscious of and thankful for them than we have happen on the way. The autobus is ever been before. Poverty and despair have come so close in the big and wide, the street is little and last year and others have been so unfortunate that we, for the narrow, and something is forever first time, realize how many blessings we have been taking for granted.

And then conservative financial forecasts for the last month Nancy streets: they fit each other perhave been slightly more favorable. General opinion is that Oc- fectly.) When at last I reach the tober saw the depression at its lowest ebb and that from now Villa Marie-Jacques, I ring a polished on conditions will gradually improve. If this is true, we have brass doorbell and the huge grilled-iron much to be thankful for, more than in many Thanksgivings gates open with a creak to let me enter.

My day at school is finished! Not a past and with grateful hearts we can truly "praise God from moment of dullness in it, not an inwhom all blessings flow."

A Day in Nancy

(Communication from Sara Wilson, 33, exchange student in France.)

When Vivian and I-you all know "Bulletin on the Foreign Study Plan" last year the one sentence that always hit us with equal force was, "The stu- ever staged for a general election in until after a second run-over vote. dent usually finds his or her life at Nancy harder and far less interesting than the life in Paris." Vivian would shake her head rather dubiously, and I would shake mine rather dolefully, over the prospect of passing three months in a provincial town learning platform was, "Now, honey, do have an exciting time!" And I nodded an "I will," with more of determination than of assurance in my heart.

must have been mistaken: the life in Nancy hasn't been dull for one instant -from the moment Madame wakes me at seven-thirty with a steaming mug of café au lait until she gives me my double good-night kiss (one on each cheek) I am undergoing some totally new and (to me) unheard of experiences.

Remember King Arthur's old custom of refusing to dine before the adventure of the day? I am even more royally treated: my surprises come Cross. usually with meals. Never shall I forwere served chicken with the head on. The ghastly fowl was on a tiny white the essential basis for development of little round head dangled over the edge and fairly bounced as we cautiously passed the platter. Then, too, that were served fish with the eyes in,blue eyes they were. Somehow I don't believe I would have minded so much, if only they had been some other color, —a nice brown, for example, or even

Not all the shocks come at mealcowbell dangled in the courtyard each hour by the janitor) had run. The man continued to talk a goodly halffact that he was interfering with our whole schedule in so doing.

The professors at Nancy are distinctly an asset to the university. There is one of each variety, to suit nobility who is leaving next month of culture, possessing a rapier-like wit committed in Georgia. that compels both admiration and fear.

interesting. It was built in 1875 and Americans I heard the other day) "disgustingly modern." The Faculté des Lettres is in a huge building of grey the huge dark rooms, we often have classes out there.

I stay at the university all day long, murder American jazz, and then dash home. The dashing-home takes usually about half an hour and sometimes more, for the most surprising accidents bumping into the poor overgrown Austin. (Just as a side-note, I think Austins must have been invented for

(Continued on page 3, column 5)

WE SEE BY THE PAPERS

Out in the World

Atlanta may soon have eastern Vivian, don't you?—used to read the standard time, and that means classes an "alleged revolt" over their class-of-

Atlanta is expected for the time issue It seems that a group of "revolters" Teacher Associations in Atlanta.

nothing but French grammar,-ir- of Schools wants the grammar school not in sympathy with the recent radiregular verbs and phonetics. And the schedule to be moved up half an hour cal movements on the campus, the stulast thing Vivian said to me as she kiss- if the new time schedule goes through dent council nevertheless will consider ed me goodbye on the Peachtree station and that would start schools at what a new improved method for nominais now 9 o'clock or at 8 o'clock under tions for next year.—The Technique. Eastern Standard Time.

After many years of experimentation the formula for synthetic rubber But it seems that the bulletin-writer has at last been discovered. Coal and limestone, and salt and water are the only raw materials to be used in making rubber at the new factory which the United Press states has been started expenses of dates with the co-eds, is by E. I. DuPont Company at Deepwater, N. J.

discoverer of the formula, and though he might have reaped fortunes for his equality between the sexes and mainfindings, he took a vow of poverty tenance of a whole-hearted spirit of cowhen he was ordained and now what- operation on dates during the time of ever wealth comes from his work will the depression.' go to the Congregation of the Holy get the first real jour de fete when we land found that acetylene, which can peared in the papers. be made from coal and limestone, was dish just large enough to contain the the rubber formula. He was at that body,—the long, long neck and the time a member of the faculty of Notre the theory of flying and to practice

The new synthetic product cannot as yet be used for automobile tires but other memorable occasion when we it has qualities such as resistance to swelling actions of gasoline and kerosene and to oxygen, ozone, and other chemicals which attack natural rub-> country to adopt the city-manager registered for positions and with the plan of municipal government, has exception of twenty-two, all of these dropped it and gone back to the old have been placed, making a total placemayoral system. The city-manager ment in the teaching field of 279.has become popular in the last few Florida Flambeau. years and has been growing with rapidity and success throughout the coun-> that the abuses of political bossism although the international language is crept into the government through the a credit course at Oxford University. city-manager plan, while others declare that the plan was never given the chance it deserved and that rotten poli-union according to recent reports of are getting. ly little stories about Louis XIV; for the Southern Commission on lynchings. Of the 3,603 lynchings in the students of the landgrant colleges is perfect,—he is a man of charm and United States since 1889, 464 were throughout the country, according to a

The university itself isn't quite so lynched in 1930 "certainly" were in- through, and almost a quarter of the is therefore (according to one of the others were possibly so. About 97 per earnings of students in 1,000 higher cent of the country's lynchings occur institutions are estimated at $32,500,in southern states.

On Other Campuses

Students at Georgia Tech have had may begin at what is now 9 o'clock. ficer elections. Ballot boxes were stolen The largest registration at the polls and no fair vote could be tabulated to be voted on December 2, for the thought the present system of nomina-Eastern Time Committee has met tion of officers was partial to certain favored support from the civic clubs departments of the institution and but much opposition from the Parent- though the student council believes that the "revolters" are small in num-The Fulton County Superintendent ber and that most of the students were

> At Lehigh University, color-blindness will bar students from the military courses this year.

> The 50-50 club, organized on the campus of the University of Southern California for the purpose of sharing fast being adopted at other universities.

The club held a mass meeting re-The Rev. Julius A. Nieuwland is the cently and stated the aims of the club. "The club stands for the principle of

These objectives were stated definitely in order to correct erroneous im-Twenty-five years ago Dr. Nieuw- pressions of the club which have ap-

> An aviation club is being formed at the University of Delaware to study piloting planes and gliders.

Out of the 371 graduates of the class of 1931, at the Florida State College for Women, 299 desired teaching positions. Two hundred twenty-six of this number have been placed, 173 secured positions through the recommendation of the Placement Bureau. The largest city of the 442 in this Seventy-five former graduates also

A course in Esperanto is being organized at the University of Texas. Some Cleveland papers comment Credit will not be given for the course,

The New York Times says that while colleges are being branded as amazing totals are being computed of the boys and girls who are paying, Georgia has been the scene of more in hard and often menial work, for recent government survey," says The At least two of the 21 persons Times, "are working their way nocent, the commission reports, and 11 women, while the combined yearly 000."—The Crimson-White.

Agnes Scott College

DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities

For further information, address

J. R. McCAIN, President

Dearest Giddy,

tainly took its time in getting here, people. . . ." but that's all the better to enjoy it, my you an earful or two.

the party the Y. W. cabinet gave to its faculty advisors last week? They played brain-fever, and murder, amid great uproar. The faculty insisted upon being called by their first names: fact, you can put down on your list of famous saying of great people, Dr. McCain's memorable remark: "Just call me Mac!"

As a matter of fact, Giddy, I want poetic mood the other day, fired the brains and spirits of one of his classes with a brilliant oratorical outburst. Pensively and soulfully, he began:

'Twas the nineteenth of April and all through the house Not a creature wa-

Pardon me, young ladies!" Just an exaggerated case of C. S., I'd venture to say. He must have been pulling the fond papa act, and getting the kiddies ready for Christmas.

moment during a discussion of Pride mit no man can be cute for eight-hunand Prejudice, in which there was a dred pages! dramatic scene between Lizzie, the this scene of Lydia Pinkham?"

********* family!" SILHOUETTE TEA ROOM Anna Young Alumnae House Hours 7:30-2:00 4:00-7:00

10:00-10:30

Well, pal, are you as thankful as I speaking of different degrees of ability am for the holiday, and other minor in Experimental Psych, announced, blessings such as family, friends, and "Now, as you all know, some horses a good digestion? Thanksgiving cer- can pull much heavier loads than other

Now it's time to blush a bit for dear. Before we start in, I must spill Natilu McKenney, who answered the spectacles, looks straight at the ques-For one thing, did you hear about line voice in a business-like tone say, "This is S. G. Stukes. Will you come sonal matters. "Tabby, will I see haste Natilu rushed into the office and announced to Mr. Stukes that she had Sammy Stukes, and Phil Davidson, and a class, but she could be late for it, if psychic power? She herself doesn't E is for etiquette and Emily Post. Jimmy Wright, and Nan Hopkins. In he wanted to see her right away. Im- know. agine her chagrin when S. Guerry asked politely, though blankly, "Was there anything you wanted, Miss Natilu?" Dear! Dear! These Decatur boysyou to realize how the faculty has cut Ain't they just little cut-ups? In fact, up this week. Dr. Davidson, in a Sturges is attributing to them the clippings from Ballyhoo which they receive weekly urging them to "STOP WHISKEY—this is for your own good!" No, don't rush for Sturges-I did, and they've already hidden it!

Speaking of boys, many people have been demanding, "Who is this Tom Jones that everybody talks about all the time? Is he cute?" Anybody in Miss Laney's Novel course would prob- back to normal again.' And then, Dr. Hayes in a weaker ably answer negatively. You gotta ad-

Did you hear what Tabby, in a forheroine, and a certain Bingley, asked, tune-telling orgy, said to Spivey the 'Now who will give me an analysis of other day? 'Law, Miss Laura, I can jes' look at you and tell you is degenerated from an old North Carolina

Well, I'll be seeing you. I've got to see what I can do about my appetite. Love,

And Betty Peeples thinks Pittsburg is in Ohio! At least that's what she told Mortar Board on her exam!

SPECIAL NOTICE

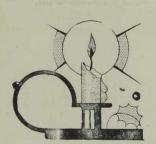

Our Sandwiches have been reduced from 20c to 15c (not toasted), toasted 20c. Also a reduction in drinks.

We have added Wieners-very delicious.

STARNES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER PHONE US-DE. 2169

Before You Go Home for the Holidays

Come Regenstein's

Here are frocks and hats and coats that will dazzle the family and bewitch the town's eligible beaux! Here are gifts and gifts galore . . . including Yardley things for Dad . . . and fascinating gadgets for all the girl friends. With not a price in the place to startle a schoolgirl budget!

Tabby Tells The Future

She is not the seventh daughter of a seventh daughter. But she can tell you what the future holds in store for you, whether you will marry that certain person, or if you will take a trip to Europe. Her name is Tabitha Mc-Calla, but she is called "Tabby"-one of the colored maids who goes quietly Not to be outdone, Miss Omwake in about her work on the second floor of Girls ask her questions. "Tabby, will I get married soon?" "Tabby, what will I be doing ten years from now?" Then Tabby, her eyes keen and searching behind her horn-rimmed phone the other day, to hear a mascu- tionner and tells her. Sometimes the S is for those little suppers, you know. questions are about immediate and perto my office right away?" In great today?" "Will I hear from home?" And Tabby's answers are astonishingly, amazingly, true.

What is the secret of her strange

'My grandmother had the same power," she said when asked. "I was Y is for you and all your beaux. named Tabitha after her. I suppose it's just inherited."

When she was nine years old, Tabby prophesied the Charleston earthquake. it happened," she laughed, "they be- relatives. lieved me then." She foretold the end of the World War, and the failure of the peace conferences. She knew that in Atlanta for the week-end. Al Smith wouldn't be elected long before the election returns.

Tabby's prediction of the end of the spent the week-end. depression. "It will be over by the middle of next spring," she declared. "By the fall of 1932 things will be guest of friends in Atlanta.

When asked about the prohibition question in the coming elections, she Ga., her home, for the week-end. shook her head. "I won't say what I know," was her reply. "All I say is, the W. C. T. U. has a pretty good hold, a pretty good hold.'

How or from what direction the sense of feeling that comes over me," she said. "When I see things, they're suddenly just plain before me-real and lifelike.

"I look at a person's face when I tell anything about her," she explained. "I don't know anything about the palm, or the stars, any more than you do. There is a look here and here," passing her hand across her forehead and temples. "You can always tell by the look there."

make people unhappy-ever," she said. 'I don't ever want to do that. But (Continued on page 4, column 2) round ball." Because we haven't really who was Louisa's guest. grown up so much, we have, this week, a Hottentot's conception of society in a first grader's style:

421 Church St.

O is for the orchestra so sweet and

I for her interest in dances and shows. T is for theatre and hot tea and toast.

And society stands for a lot more

Hazel Turner and Helen Boyd spent No one would believe her. "But after the week-end in Atlanta with Hazel's

Johnnie Mae York was at her home

Edith Dorn attended the Georgia-There is good news for everyone in Auburn game in Columbus, where she

Marie McDavid was the week-end

Martha Elliot went to Holly Springs,

Elizabeth Alexander had as her guest Saturday night her sister, Elaisa.

Among those attending the dance at power of prophecy comes, Tabby the Palais Peachtree Saturday night hasn't the slightest idea. "It's just a were: Helen Boyd, Hazel Turner, Johnnie Mae York, and Fuzzy Phillips.

> Pauline Cureton spent the week-end at her home in Newnan, Ga.

> Janice Brown was the week-end guest of friends in Atlanta.

Carolyn Russell was at her home in Atlanta for the week-end.

Madge York went to her home in 'No, I wouldn't tell anything to Atlanta for the week-end.

Markie Mowry had as her guests this I always have a sense of feeling when week-end Marie Hoffman and Clara Williams of Winchester, Tenn.

In the first grade we learned our A | The following girls spent the week-B C's in rhyme. You remember how end in Columbus, Ga.: Willa Upwe used to say, "A is for apple so rosy church, Joan Raht, Natilu McKenney, and small, and B is for my cute little Louisa Cargill, and Dorothy Garrett,

> Gus Riddle was in Athens, Tenn., her home, for the week-end.

Mary Elizabeth Walton and Betty Harbison were the guests of Marguerite C, for the club where a Hottentot Jones in Atlanta, the week-end of November 14.

> Margaret Rogers, Ruth Barnett, and Florence Mangis had lunch in Atlanta Monday with Mrs. A. V. Polak, and afterwards they went to a show.

> Claire Ivy attended the Delta Sigma Chi dance at Tech Saturday night.

> Mary Hamilton spent the week-end at her home in Dalton, Ga.

Sara Mae Love had as her guests for the week-end Mary Gray Monroe, from Wesleyan, Jessie Shaw, from Florida State College for Women, and Florence Cantey, of Quincy, Fla.

Markie Mowry went to the Phi Chi dance at Emory Wednesday night.

Lucile Woodberry had lunch in Decatur Sunday with Mrs. Anthony

Claire Ivy spent the week-end at Fort McPherson.

Mary Felts attended a K. A. dance at Emory Friday night.

The following girls went to camp at Stone Mountain this week-end: Sara Lane Smith, Louise Stakely, Peggy Link, Diana Dyer, Page Ackerman, Polly Gordon, Marie Whittle, Mary Sturtevant, Laura Spivey, Ruth Green, and Sarah Bowman. The chaperons were Blanche Miller, '30, and Emily Spivey, '25.

Elinor Hamilton and Plant Ellis attended a dance at Saint Mark's parish house Saturday night.

A DAY IN NANCY

(Continued from page 2, column 3) boredom. Everything strange and foreign and wonderful. Nevertheless, for just one tiny minute between dusk and night-fall, my mind turns involuntarily to the people I love a half a world away, and I sometimes wish that once again I were listening to the Georgia Tech Ramblers over Louise Brant's little one-tube radio, or that I were roller-skating once more up and down the brown linoleum of second floor Main, with Gilchrist Powell to pilot me!

Christmas Photographs

Agnes Scott College Windshield Stickers, two for 5c

Dennis Lindsey Printing Company

COMMERCIAL PRINTING AND STATIONERY

Dearborn 0976

SPECIAL OFFER

4 finest 5x7 Lamoyne—and 1 Miniature Photo in Silver Frame or 1 8x10 Lamoyne

$10.00

Decatur, Ga.

Elliott's Peachtree Studio

Paramount Theatre Bldg.

"SPARKS FROM THE ANVIL" Clara Lundie Askew

*****

Margaret Waite Book Shop Peachtree Arcade

*****

THE EMBLEM SHOP

51 North Forsyth St. Healey Bldg.

EMBLEMS—JEWELRY WATCH REPAIRING

N.S.F.A. News

One of the saddest aspects of our present depression is its effect on our Cassel and Frierson, Freshmen; D. Casinstitutions of learning. The University of Mexico, America's oldest educational institution, founded in 1551, is through the generosity of outside contributors.

This University is truly an ancient seat of learning, since it was founded omore, third. ninety years before the establishment of Harvard University. A most diplomatic gesture would be the financing contributions.

programs broadcast in the 1930-1931 school year over the University's broadcasting station KFKU.

Eighteen different departments and schools of the University were represented on the air.

A recent editorial in the Columbia tain look-Spectator calls attention to the fact that the word "sex" has never appeared in the editorial columns of that paper. In making this startling announcement the word "sex" appeared five times.

town, Conn., has successfully completed its century mark in upholding ideals lovely!" was her enthusiastic comof American education. Wesleyan has mendation. "Oh, yes, the questions always merited unusually high rank in they ask are nearly always the same, the measurement of American scholas- about their sweethearts and marriage tic standards, and now has many out- and if they are going to travel." standing Alumni for it ranks fourth in 'Who's Who" for 1930.

Since its small beginning in 1831, it has adhered to the ideals that inspired a liberal view of education, laying much larger, with many new buildstress on the usefulness of one's education as well as on its cultural value. hardly recognize it." Congratulations, Wesleyan.

For those who have long felt that present intelligence tests afford inadequate gauging of one's intelligence, the invention of Dr. H. Brown will be of interest. He has recognized the inadequacy of present tests due to previous knowledge or training and tries to make his tests based on a more fundamental intelligence.

The tests measure chiefly the ability to arrange and discriminate between objects of different shapes and sizes, and the speed with which these feats are accomplished. At the same time the tests are so varied as to bring every facet of the brain into play.

DECATUR NOVELTY AND GIFT SHOP

149 Sycamore St.

************

Novelties, Gifts, Toys, Plaques, and Cut Flowers.

******

ֈ֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎֎ L. CHAJAGE Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

FRESHMEN WIN MEET

(Continued from page 1, column 4) The last regular swimming event was a back tandem race, won by F. sel and Gordon, Sophomores, second, and Duke and Wilson, Juniors, third.

These events were followed by intermediate and advanced diving contests forced to remain in operation with only The advanced divers did the four a skeleton of its organization until ad- standard dives: running or standing a juvenile book, is quite interesting to copies of great books. Permission was ditional funds are made available front, jack knife, swan, and back, and an optional. Results of the diving chosen as the book for November by surprised with the intelligence and keen

Bonham, Senior, second; Fisher, Soph-

Advanced: Lingle, Junior, first; Heath, Junior, second; Frierson, Freshman, third.

of this institution through American king pigeon race. In this race all the cille (Little) Morgan, '23; Mildred contentants sat on one side of the pool, with their hands on their knees. When soe, '27; Frances (Markeley) Roberts, the whistle was blown they swam to '21, from Shanghai, China; Margaret versity of Kansas participated in 318 the other side, pulled themselves up, Keith, '28; Susie (Stukes) Taylor, '25; sat down, and put their hands on their and Ann McCollum, '28. knees. Each time the last ones up were eliminated. The winner was Caree Lingle, and Frances Cassel was second. ed for the Alumnae week-end are: Elise

> TABBY TELLS THE FUTURE (Continued from page 3, column 3) person's life is short. There's a cer-

"Are there any times you can't tell a person's future?" Tabby was asked. Yes, there were some cases hard to tell. They weren't always old people, or girls, but just certain cases it was hard Agnes Scott girls, according to Wesleyan University, at Middle- Tabby, have always been about the same type. "And I will say lovely,-

"What will Agnes Scott be like in about twenty years?" she was asked. "Oh," she answered, "in twenty years everything will be changed, entirely. its founding. It has always expressed It will be all different, and very, very ings. Girls who are here now would man. One day Queen Victoria touch-

> To believe or not to believe—it is hard to determine. But one thing is sure, Tabby will continue in her calm and self-confident way to look into the future, and the Agnes Scott girls will continue to listen and marvel.

"SPARKS FROM THE ANVIL" Clara Lundie Askew

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg.

**************

THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON TEA—DINNER
11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M.
Atlanta—65½ Broad St., N. W.
Macon—151 Cotton Ave.

************* Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

122 Peachtree

TRY OUR

SANDWICHES

WE MAKE THEM RIGHT

Lawrence's Pharmacy

Phones De. 0762-0763

Alumnae News

of the Academy days, has had a book, on college campuses. "Hail, Columbia," published, which is ary world. It is a history of the group of his students to visit Newton's United States, and, although listed as many "first editions" and highly valued adults. "Hail, Columbia" has been granted and Newton was so pleasingly Intermediates: Weeks, Senior, first; is also an artist of note and the illustra- visitors, that he agreed to take part in tions for her book, which have won the "Swarthmore Scheme. high praise, are her own.

Some of the alumnae who have made registrations at the Alumnae House The final event of the evening was a for Thanksgiving week-end are: Lu-(Phippen) Dickey, '28; Maurine Bled-

> Among the '31 girls who are expect-Jones, Jeannette Shaw, Gertrude Wil-Morrow, Shirley (McPhaul) Whitfield, Dorothy Kethley, Elizabeth Woolfolk, Chopin Hudson, Marion Fielder, Fanny Willis Niles, Ruth Dunwoody, and Julia Thompson.

Martha Sprinkle, '31, and Clara ment together at the A. W. A. Club life. House, 353 W. 57th Street, New York.

Elizabeth Woolfolk, '31, spent a day on the campus last week on her way home from New York.

Dorothy Morgenroth, ex-'33, is taking a business course at home in Winston-Salem.

An English lord who had just arrived from England was talking to an American Boy Scout. "My grandfather," he said, "was a very great ed his shoulder with a sword and made him a lord."

'Aw, that's nothing," the Boy Scout replied. "One day an Indian touched my grandfather on the head with a tomahawk and made him an angel."

Love may make the world go around, but it hasn't anything on ewallowing a chew of tobacco.

FIFTY DOLLAR AWARD (Continued from page 1, column 1) veloped an interest in seeing the habit Marie (Abrams) Lawson, a student of reading for intellectual benefit grow receiving marked praise from the liter- Swarthmore asked permission for a at seven o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. library, which by the way contains the Literary Guild of America. She interest in books shown by his young

> The first prize which Mr. Newton awarded to a Swarthmore student went to the owner of a well chosen collection of poetry, essays, fiction, and biography. But the owner's interest or rather his "intellectual ownership" of those books was the factor which brought him the award. The Swarthmore student had become so well acquainted with his books that he had bashful(?) young man, who used a written, on the blank sheets at the very novel method of proposing to his back of each book, neat indexes not of facts and names, but of ideas which he had most enjoyed.

The idea of the whole "Swarthmore loughby, Laelius Stallings, Katherine Scheme," as Mr. Newton pointed out, is that the student may learn to revel in intellectual recreation which personally owned books may bring, and that the student in later years may look back upon his college book shelf and say, "Those books established in me the love of reading, and that love of read-Knox Nunnally, '31, have an apart- ing has been the joy and solace of my

> And it is with like aims and purposes that the award has been offered on this campus. As students here contemplate preparing a collection for submission in the contest, detailed regulations of which will be announced in the next issue of the Agonistic, they are asked to recall Carlyle's suggestion that the main use of college training is to teach one to read, "the true university being collection of books.'

"May I have this dance?" "Yes, if you can find someone to dance with."

**************

We Repair Watches, Clocks and Jewelry MUENCH AND ELSNER 20 Peachtree Street, N. E. (First National Bank Bldg.) Atlanta, Ga.

Y. W. News

The Y. W. C. A. cabinet and its faculty advisors met for an informal The story is that Prof. Spiller of party on Tuesday night, November 17, cabinet room.

> The attractive room was beautifully decorated with many-colored autumn leaves and was lighted by candles placed on window sills, mantle, bookcases and table.

> During the evening "Murder," "Ghosts," "Brain-Fever," and "The Sad Story of Aunt Sue" were played. Hot chocolate with marshmallows, assorted cakes and mints were served.

The following faculty advisors were present: Misses Laney, Hopkins, Smith, Miller, Wilburn, Haines, Hamilton and Drs. McCain, Robinson, Davidson, Wright and Stukes.

Then there's one about the very

Taking her to his family plot in the cemetery he said, "Wouldn't you like to be buried here some day?"

The hen is immortal—her son will

"Hello, is this the city bridge department?" •

'Yes, what do you want?" "How many points do you get for a little slam?'

************

Hewey's

************

TOILET ARTICLES SUNDRIES REMEDIES—STATIONERY SODAS—SANDWICHES

> PROMPT DELIVERY Call us

> Phone Dea. 0640-9110

.

************************ * BAILEY BROS. SHOE * SHOP 142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies' Work DE. 0172 WE DELIVER

Rich's New Party Shop

Revels In 5 O'Clock Dresses

$16.75

5 o'clock's the new hour of the wardrobe when time grows languorous with candlelight, the smell of chrysanthemums and slinky gowns from Rich's new Party Shop!

> This black crepe with beaded white crepe paillette sleeves goes anywhere you please at 5 o'clock in the afternoon!

> THE PARTY SHOP—THIRD FLOOR

RICHS

Vol. XVII

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE, DECATUR, GA., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1931

No. 9

Rules for Book Collection Contest Announced

Names of Entrants to Be Given to Miss McKinney Before December 7.

Agonistic of November 25 of an resulted in improvement of internal award of fifty dollars to be presented conditions, Mr. C. Douglas Booth disto that student who shall have collected during the current year the best Club, on Great Britain's foreign policy. personal library and who shall, at the regulations governing the contest for the award would be announced later. tenal conditions."

The book award committee are particularly desirous of keeping the contest as free from regulations as possible, the book collector, that of joy in acquiring the books that they can, in the words of a recent speaker, "call be spurred to take advantage of every India. opportunity to own the books that she would like to make part of herself, length of time, Russia will be the even to the point perhaps of sacrificing other things that she has come to feel of less importance; and in May she will be visited by the committee, who will very informally give her the opportunity of showing that she has come to own her books intellectually.

The members of the committee would like to leave the matter thus, but they realize that there can be no fair competition without an agreement at the beginning as to the rules of the game, and therefore they announce the following regulations and suggestions.

1. Names of entrants ought to be cember 7, if possible.

of May, the exact date to be announced

3. All books entered in the contest current school year. Books acquired as gifts may be included in the collec-

4. Collections will be judged on the basis of the number and character of which visits the collections.

There is no limitation on the number of books collected, but the prize will not be awarded to any but Students to Visit a worthy collection.

6. No restrictions are made as to the type of books collected. It is desirable that the collection should show To Observe Working Out of catholic taste, but each collector is expected to follow her own bent.

7. The books need not be expensive. In fact, the prize may go to the girl who takes the best advantage of the

(Continued on page 2, column 1)

Fair World Fellowship Feature

Varied Amusements Planned for Guests.

everyone a good time. There will be around $370. merry-go-round.

Dr. C. D. Booth Speaks to Club

Great Britain's Foreign Policy Is Subject.

When England was rich, her people were poor; England is now poor but her people are wealthy. Great Britain's Announcement was made in the change in foreign policy has at least closed when speaking last Friday night before the International Relations

"Before the war," said Mr. Booth, end of the year, have best appropriated "it was our policy to increase our terfor herself the treasures in the books ritory and to maintain our political she calls her own; and it was said that power. After the war the political that Dr. West was already in a measure with a subsequent betterment of in-> furor in England. "England is too hard boiled, as you say," smiled Mr. Booth.

In India, where the people are more will enter into it in the true spirit of munism is the topic of much discussion clinic with Dr. West. and resentment. Gandhi is particularly averse to it. Gandhi is much admired by Mr. Booth, who thinks that he is responsible for the gradual inmaster and friend." The entrant will crease of self-government allowed to > greatest nation in the world," said Mr. Booth, "but I cannot say how soon."

Dr. Smart Gives Y. W. Address

"Loyalty to the Home" Is Topic of Speech.

be a step backward in our social evolu- to have it removed on account of a travel abroad for two months.

dren was the nearest parallel to God's arrangement."

Russia In Summer

Five-Year Plan.

A limited group of American stulate in June, under the leadership of 8. Of course, it is expected that the eminent American educators, they will day trip through European Russia observing the efforts of the Five Year they will enjoy the status and privil- waters came back and he could use his eges of a delegation which means that gills again. Then as time went on, they will meet high officials, receive lungs became more developed, and soon public hospitality and be afforded at a complicated system of valves evolvnominal cost the usual services given ed. Of these, the larynx was develop-As a part of World Fellowship to American tourists. The generosity ed to close the lungs from food part-Week, the World Fellowship Commit- of the Soviet authorities and the co- icles." tee will sponsor a fair in the gym- operation of the participating organizanasium Saturday, December 5, at 8:00 tions make it possible to estimate the fixed expenses of the round trip from The object of the fair is to give New York back to New York at hot dogs, coca-colas, and bams, and Membership will be limited and fortune-telling, a shooting gallery, and selective. Students who wish to be a booth of Chinese goods. The feature considered for membership should of the entertainment will be a real write for information to The Open dividual qualities to speech. And speech placed in Buttrick Hall for the use of be enjoyed by grownups as well as chil-Road, 20 West 43rd Street, New York.

'Man the Animal That Talks' Discussed by Dr. West Presents Picture of Chinese

Noted Speech Pathologist Traces Evolution of Lungs and Larynges.

"Man, the Animal that Talks" was Dr. West was introduced by Dr. Mc-Cain, who called attention to the fact power has fallen to the woking peple, known around the campus since he had been connected in research work with Miss Frances K. Gooch. Dr. McCain Communist propaganda causes little also emphasized the timeliness of Dr. West's talk, on account of the growing interest in Speech Pathology as evidenced in a measure by the large num-

Dr. West in opening his address, mentioned that he had drawn more or less of the plan of his speech from an article written by Winston Churchill on "If Lee Had Won the Battle of Gettysburg" in which Mr. Churchill "I think that after a reasonable had portrayed a possible course of events of human life which might have happened "If Lee had won the Battle of Gettysburg." He said, "I would like to try to picture for you, what would have been the probable course of human events, if there had been no provision made for speech—if there had been no provision made for a larynx.'

Dr. West pointed to some charts of the human throat and voice apparatus, and remarked that there were some re-Dr. W. A. Smart, Professor of markable errors in the blue print of Theology at Emory University, ad- our voice machine, and that if Henry dressed a large audience of faculty and Ford's designers had worked at the cancerous condition. Instead of the Dr. Smart went on to say that he larynx, he has one opening from the when interviewed, is very extensive. It must have been collected during the objected to the much used term mouth—the natural one for food— will include Holland, Belgium, Ger- now involved in a treasonous attempt 'happy marriage'' because it has come and a small hole about under his col- many, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, to secure the throne, returns to London to imply a selfish enjoyment and now lar button. Through this arrange- Italy, and France. A definite plan will the unselfish give and take which is ment, there is no danger of his getting be announced later. necessary for true understanding in the food down the trachea. He can laugh home. Christ, he said, recognized the at a funny story while eating without times, and last conducted a tour in books collected, and on an informal sacredness of the home when he said risking choking himself to death. Al- 1928. Anyone interested in joining test to be given by the committee that the father's feeling for his chil- together, it is a much more efficient the party is invited to discuss the matvelopment of lungs and larynges from Art Collection Mr. Mud-fish I, down to the complex vocal and breathing apparatus of modern humanity. "The first mud-fish," said Dr. West, "lived in some evershallowing river which at certain times of the year became entirely dry. Just imagine the predicament of Mud-fish I when he found himself out of the water and in a foreign environment. dents will visit Russia next summer There was oxygen a-plenty around present opportunity to buy inexpensive under unusual circumstances. Sailing him, but he was not equipped to use it. He had only gills, and without the water to make them usable, he was winner of the prize will use the money make a comprehensive twenty-three helpless. In desperation, he finally gulped a mouthful of air, and swallowed it, forming a puffy bag on his Plan in industry, agriculture and edu- throat which became gradually, the prints. cation, and seeing how the people live. first lung. This way, by swallowing As guests of the students of Russia his air, he managed to exist until the

There are many advantages for the use and development of speech, Dr. West emphasized. A few of them are: because the use of the voice leaves the hands and eyes free. Sound travels for quite a distance in a straight line. Louise Lewis was also displayed. Tone timbre and resonance give in-

Alumna Tells of Her Adventures

Student in Chapel.

The alumna who came from the farthest distant point to be on the Agnes Scott campus during the first Alumnae Week-end lecture program, the subject of the second lecture on was Mrs. Donald Roberts, who for five all men and always will." This was this year's program of the Lecture As- years has lived and studied and taught sociation, given by Dr. Robert West, at Shanghai, China, and who returned of the University of Wisconsin, before for a visit to her alma mater with an audience of the student body and countless interesting stories of advenpatrons, Saturday evening in the gym. ture such as being married during the Theatre Guild and presented at the tumults of 1927 at Shanghai, and of being the "first one" to do several unique things.

Immediately after her graduation here in 1921, Mrs. Roberts became the first secretary to the first and present ten best plays of 1930-1931, Miss Ris-Dean of Agnes Scott College.

After teaching for a time at Miss Fine's college prep school at Princeton, Mrs. Roberts then went to Shanghai since they hope that the contestants mercurical in their tendencies, com- ber of people attending the all-day where she taught in a girls' prep school, and then later continued her study and became the first American woman to receive a degree at the St. John's Uni- conquered by Elizabeth the Queen. versity of Shanghai.

Mrs. Roberts was not only the first, but undoubtedly the only American woman to stage a wedding in Shanghai during the revolution of 1927 The Associated Press thought the wedding so unusual at that particular time (Continued on page 7, column 2)

Miss Gaylord to Conduct Tour

Many Features in Store for Agnes Scott Girls.

and Scotland and one by boat on the shows her this, she will forgive him Mediterranean are among the experienstudents at Y. W. Vespers on the sub- problem that they would have un- ces in store for the party of Agnes ject, "Loyalty to the Home." He em- doubtedly constructed a machine far Scott girls which Miss Leslie Gaylord given to Miss McKinney before De- phasized the fact that the home based different, and more efficient. "There will conduct on a tour of Europe next in his campaign, Cecil and Raleigh set on monogamy is a distinct achievement is a man," he continued, "working summer. The party will sail from about to intercept his letters and those 2. The contest will close the middle and that any abandonment of it would with us who has no larynx. He had New York, June 24, 1932, and will of the queen. She, unable to under-

The itinerary, said Miss Gaylord,

Miss Gaylord has been abroad many ter with her.

Exhibited Nov. 27

$25,000 Gift of Carnegie Corporation of New York.

A series of samples on the history of textiles and on the history of printing are the two most prized exhibits of the Carnegie Corporation of New York to the star, plays the villain, Sir Robert $25,000 art collection, gift of the Agnes Scott, which was first displayed here on Friday, November 27. This combined with the gorgeous costumes collection comprises many beautifully illustrated books on art and mounted tiles contains the material used for dress, ranging from skins, the earliest material used, to our modern printed silks. The printing collection contains "Miss Jimmie Deane" is Miss original colored wood-blocks taken from books printed as early as the fifteenth century to Whistler, the American master of etchings.

The filing cabinet which contains portfolio spaces for the picture collection was also the gift of the Carnegie Corporation.

An original bit of sculpture executed by Saint Gaudens and given to Miss

(Continued on page 7, column 5) the art students.

Elizabeth Risdon Plays Queen in Erlanger Play

Excellent Presentation of "Elizabeth the Queen" Given Nov. 25-28.

"She loves her kingdom more than the queen portrayed by Elizabeth Risdon in Maxwell Anderson's play Elizabeth the Queen, produced by the Erlanger Theater Wednesday night through Saturday night.

In this play, which Burns Mantle places at the head of his list of the don gives a dramatic picture of that queen whose head must always rule her heart. As the action, which centers about the love affair of the aged queen and the young Earl of Essex, proceeds Elizabeth the Woman is ultimately

In the first act the young Lord Essex has lately returned victorious from Spain. Against the wishes of the queen and the advice of his friend, Sir Francis Bacon, he is tricked through his rash pride into accepting the insecure position of Lord Protector of Ireland. Sir Robert Cecil and Sir Walter Raleigh, realizing that he is a stumbling block in their political paths, wish to separate him and the queen and to accomplish his downfall. The queen, with a feeling of apprehension for the future gives Lord Essex A trip by motor through England a ring; she tells him that if he ever

> With Essex doomed to signal failure stand why she has had no word from her favorite, orders him to return. He, with his army. Once in Elizabeth's power he is sent to the Tower.

> In the queen's apartment in the Tower the final struggle takes place between Elizabeth's head and heart. When Essex refuses to return her ring and secure forgiveness, she lets him go to the block. The bell that tolls the hour for his execution sounds the knell for Elizabeth the Woman. There remains only the hollow existence of Elizabeth the Queen.

Miss Risdon is supported by an able cast. George Blackwood, whose voice and bearing fit him to play the lover of a queen, has the rôle of Essex, who at once loves, fears, hates, and adores Elizabeth. Brandon Evans, husband of Cecil. The acting of the entire cast, and stage setting, makes the play a classic of modern theater production.

The collection on the history of tex- Alumna Publishes New Book

Knox's Latest Publication.

Rose B. Knox, an Agnes Scott graduate, has just had published another book for children, which proves to be a worthy successor to The Boys and Sally on a Plantation, which came out last year. In her new book, Miss Jimmie Deane, Miss Knox gives a delightful account of happy experiences This collection will be permanently of childhood in the South, which will

ADULT EDUCATION PROGRAM A SUCCESS

Dr. McLean Gives Lecture on Present Day Europe

"Present Day Conditions in Europe' was the subject discussed by Dr. Ross H. McLean, of Emory University, in an hour's talk before students and alumnae Friday morning. Dr. McLean confined himself chiefly to an exposition of the present situation in Russia and Germany.

To clarify his subject, Dr. McLean began by presenting a theoretical balance sheet, with its credit and debit

"The world war was responsible for both good and bad," he said, "To the credit side of the ledger may be put the emancipation from alien rule of millions of people. Bohemia, Poland, and Finland are now politicalso goes the rise of republican forms feeble-minded or psychopathic. Now, of government in both new and in however, we are coming to consider old states. Two institutions arose from every young person a "problem child," the war, the League of Nations and and in present day psychology the the Cause of International Justice.

"But the war brought about a general economic disintegration. As someone has said, 'Modern war is as dis- abnormal. astrous to the victor as to the loser. The setting up of new states and White was the emphasis on the early stimulation of the national spirit was an obstacle to the advance of disarmament. Political confusion gave rise to Greece, Poland and Spain. This may be presented as the debit side.'

Russia today, in the opinion of Dr. periment in the history of our time. every energy toward a new industrialization eradication of bourgeois princi- tion of childhood ideals." ples, and instruction of youth in com-ness men must make concessions."

Germany has been a republic since 1919, but now faces both criticism creasing emphasis on social and enand revolt from extreme right and left, vironmental influences. Social training must be kept, and there must be some according to Dr. McLean. "But Ger- plays an important part in the life of method. I think you hear the wheels ment, as, for example, the one addressmany is fortunate in having at the the child, and everything that effects squeak. We are unable to work ed to a very irritating man—"I am head of its republic such men as Strese- him influences his personality. Dr. smoothly. man, Boining and Hindenburg. It is White said that one of the most delihoped that the republic will con- cate and important of all influences is creditors, governments and private citi- often disastrous. zens. Germany is unable to pay, for it

BOOK COLLECTION RULES ANNOUNCED

(Continued from page 1, column 1) pictures, or the continuation of her education.

Further announcements may be made later in these columns in regard to the award.

'Child Psychology' By Dr. White

The "Psychology of Childhood" was the subject of Dr. Goodrich White's lecture Saturday morning at 10:30 in Buttrick Hall. Mrs. J. Sam Guy, an Agnes Scott alumna, introduced the speaker as dean of the School of Liberal Arts and professor of psychology at Emory University.

ing that psychology is a young science morning in Buttrick Hall. and child psychology a younger branch of that science, its object is to help parent and teacher in the future.

The first point is the increasing emphasis on the study of the normal child. Previous to this time all atemphasis is laid more on the problems of the normal than on those of the

The second point brought out by Dr. years of childhood, the pre-school life. The patterns of the adult's personality dictatorships in Italy, Jugo-Slavia, are largely determined by the influences of his childhood.

"The adult is more like the child he once was than the youth he has recent-McLean, is undergoing the greatest ex- ly been," said Dr. White. "Adolescence with these people as groups. is a storm in the midst of a voyage, a Russians try to overlook temporary rough stretch or detour in the road. learn how we should study and treat creed short skirts and bobbed hair. suffering for a long sought goal, and Oftentimes, our only way of helping these problems. Experiments of hunto this end the government is bending is to stand by, hoping youth will come dreds and thousands of years have out on the other side with the realiza-

"The third emphasis," continued Dr. White, "is laid on the child's emotions. of domestic relations, behavior clinics, "But the Russian revolution is like Several years ago the importance of I. the French revolution in this respect," Q, was stressed, but the trouble frehe said, "If successful, it will have an quently lies in emotional rather than workers are too technical—that there enormous effect on the rest of the intelligence problems. We don't learn is too much red tape. This concepworld. The capitalistic system will to fear, to get angry, to love, but we certainly have to be modified, and busi- learn what to fear, what to get angry about and what to love.

Dr. White's final point was the in-At present Germany is in financial ent has no right to expect to share has no way of making money. A chart child the best we can do for him," con- method and make the individual re- Alley is the better of the two books, if of German debts and payments which cluded Dr. White, "we must do the spond successfully; and the experience you can't read both," stated Miss Hop-Dr. McLean showed demonstrates that last and hardest job—we must give of the worker herself. the amount borrowed is more than that him up and help him get away. We take their place in the world and the workers are seeking to conduct all the break the easier it will be for them and for us. All the psychology concluded Miss Dusseldorp. for some worthy intellectual project, student is doing is to understand how such as the purchase of more books or the child grows and how to help him. Keep your common-sense, avoid hobby Company allows no advertising whatriders and remember, the child must do his own growing."

> SHOP 142 Sycamore Street Special Attention to Ladies' Work WE DELIVER

> We Repair Watches, Clocks and Jewelry
>
> MUENCH AND ELSNER
>
> 20 Peachtree Street, N. E.
>
> (First National Bank Bldg.)
>
> Atlanta, Ga. Atlanta, Ga.

*********

Social Case Work Discussed by Miss Dusseldorp

"Case work is an outgrowth of the conviction that we must know the physical and mental make-up of the individual, and what stimuli might be given to bring out the best of what is there," said Miss Wilma Van Dusseldorp in her lecture on "Social Case appeal to me," she began. Dr. White began his lecture by stat- Work as a Profession," given Friday mental, and social capacities. There is each side written during the course of novelty in modern poetry, Miss Laney The speaker pointed out from char- a vast portion of the population which twenty-five years. One of the un- chose to discuss the oldest element, sayacteristics in the study of the child. does not have these faculties and is not usual things about the book is its pref- ing, "The newest English poetry reable to respond to what life itself gives. ace." Then Miss Hopkins cleverly pre- echoes the oldest English poetry." This is called the abnormal, mal-adjusted, or poverty-stricken group. Case which traces the friendship of Shaw tention has been paid the abnormal in- work is not restricted to the povertyally independent. To the credit side dividual, the "problem child," either stricken; it merely started on the levels her discussion of this book, she said, poetry. She gave a resumé of Edna St. of economic dependencies, and is grad- "I think this book will go down in Vincent Millay's King's Henchman, a ually growing to be distributed to the history as a classic." independent group.

Her lecture in part follows:

ceptable as we would like. Settlement most appetizing. houses did a great deal of good and stimulated guidance, but they dealt proved that we must treat the individual rather than the group. Today we have the juvenile courts, the courts and trained workers in the churches.

There is a common feeling that the tion reveals a misunderstanding of case work. The workers are too much impressed with and too conscious of their done in a scientific manner records

"In order to decide whether it should quaintance, and kill you." continue, let us consider the philosthe parent-child relationship. The par- ophy and aim, the stimuli and urge to go on. The three main sources are the difficulty. Dr. McLean explained that every problem of the child's life, be-field of literature—the New Testa- books as her source of knowledge, Miss Germany has two kinds of debts-rep- cause everyone has a right to his own ment, biography, history, and novel- Hopkins sketched vividly and humorarations and private debts; two sets of thoughts and over-parental love is which is a stimulus for the gaining of ously the life in Peacock Alley from scientific knowledge; the field of psy- its origin in the Waldorf-Astoria of When there has been given to the chiatry, which helps to analyze the 500 rooms and 250 baths. "Peacock

> "The aims in social case work may prevent the abnormal in the future,"

> The British National Broadcasting soever to be broadcast from its stations and the government owns thirty-three and one-third per cent of the corporations.—C. Douglas Booth.

> > THE EMBLEM SHOP

51 North Forsyth St. Healey Bldg.

EMBLEMS—JEWELRY WATCH REPAIRING

Atlanta Librarian Talks on New Books

Miss Jessie Hopkins, Atlanta Carnegie librarian, in an intimate afterdinner talk on Friday evening, November 27, at the Anna Young Alumnae poetry was asserted by Miss Emma May House, told the alumnae and faculty of Agnes Scott about some of the new books. "I have selected nine books that Saturday morning. "Like old wine in time, Ellen Terry and Bernard Shaw, curs in a great deal of the modern a Correspondence. This book," she ex-"We do not all have equal physical, plained, "consists of 200 letters on sented the contents of the preface and Ellen Terry. At the conclusion of nant characteristics of Anglo-Saxon

"In the past there have been various Hopkins was Peggy Eaton, by Queena this modern version of the wooing of ways of ignoring the delinquent—the Tollock, a very interesting study in the beautiful lady for the king by his survival of the fittest idea. He has American history, which involves the henchman made the diction almost true been ostracised, shown today by the love affair of Peggy and John Henry Anglo-Saxon. untouchables of India. He has been Eaton. From each book mentioned and starving in an endeavor to reform esting and often humorous incidents in him, or put him out of the way. Re- order to give her listeners some idea of "The third book is lighter," said Miss Hopkins. It was The King of Fash-"Social case work is an attempt to ion by Paul Poiret, the man who de-

> The next book selected was the biography of an actress who electrified London, Fanny Kemble, by Dorothie

The new biography of Mark Twain called My Father, by Mark Twain's daughter, Clara Clemens, was one of the most interesting of Miss Hopkins' selection. "This book," she said, touches his life on the continent in a manner not done before." It also reveals that Mark Twain had the habit tools. However, if this work is to be of "blowing off" in his letters. These letters are direct, intense and, to the reader, a constant source of amuseanxious to meet you, make your ac-

Peacock Alley, by McCarthy, and Peacocks on Parade, by Troccate, Miss Hopkins grouped together. With these

Albert E. Wiggam's boom, I'm Sorry raise children that they may live to be summarized by saying that the but You're Wrong About It, a book which explodes some of your favorite earlier we begin to prepare them for phases in order to treat, correct, and theories, and Scotch, or It's Smart to Be Thrifty, by Angus McTavish, ended Miss Hopkins' list of the nine books which appealed to her.

> 'What did you do with Bill's fraternity pin?"

"Well, I had to use it to hang John's picture up with."

'Anglo-Saxon Note In Modern Poetry' By Miss Laney

That the Anglo-Saxon note manifests itself in a number of ways in modern Laney in a lecture which was an important feature of Alumnae Week-end new bottles," said Miss Laney, "the "The first is the sensation of the oldest and least discussed element re-

Because so much has been said of the

Miss Laney read and discussed some modern poetry which reflects the domilibretto or three-act poetic drama, in The second book chosen by Miss which she said that the alliteration of

"The Fire on Belmont Street," by punished by imprisonment, flogging, Miss Hopkins selected intimate, inter- Donald Davidson, compares burning gables in the "Fight at Finnsburg" to the smoke from the Nashville factories. "He uses Anglo-Saxon for a difligious teachings have been more suc- the real flavor of the book in order ferent reason," continued Miss Laney. cessful, but not as efficient and ac- that they may choose for reading the Ralph Hodgson, an English poet, portrays the winsomeness of Eve in an elaboration of an Anglo-Saxon paraphrase of the Scripture in a delightful poem entitled "Eve." Both of these poets have consciously, according to Miss Laney, put "old wine into new bottles.

> Miss Laney stated that some other poets have "unconsciously resung old themes." John Masefield expresses in his poetry the Anglo-Saxon's love for the sea, and A. E. Houseman, another English poet, emphasizes the sober attitude, which the Anglo-Saxons held toward life, and the mystery which Wierd, or Fate, governed. This unexplainable note comes out in several lines of his simple lyrics and is typicaly Anglo-Saxon.

> > "I, a stranger, and afraid, In a world I never made-"

Starting Saturday, Dec. 6

Dry Cleaning You Will Appreciate and Enjoy Eugene Harris

MISS HELEN McMILLIAN our personal representative at Agnes Scott, will be glad to serve you.

\********************************

A. S. C. WELCOMES DAUGHTERS BACK INTO 'SHELTERING ARMS

end is a particularly happy time for all members of the college community, and the "alumnae school," the alumnae turn to renew friendships and conterested in the intellectual and cultural anied by Margaret Belote. A play, lowship and understanding in the com- history, poetry, sociology, psychology Frances Oglesby, Ruth Shippey and mon cause of loyalty to the institution and the like, and the art and book ex- Martha Elliot. and its ideals. Such have been the re- hibits all did their share in making this sults of the alumnae week-end just alumnae week-end really worthwhile.

pleasure in talking over old times, re- the school session, the others having met Friday night at eight o'clock to newing friendships, strolling again occurred at commencement time when hear C. Douglas Booth speak. When along the corridors of Main, dining in a large portion of the students have Mr. Booth announced his subject as White House or Rebekah Scott dining left and therefore do not have the op- "British Foreign Policy," a number of halls, or enjoying out of door sports as portunity of renewing friendships with people were disappointed for they had in former days. There has been many alumnae, or meeting those they do not anticipated a talk on "The Permanent a smile and, perhaps, a few tears as know. The students this year have Court of International Justice," as was they have reflected upon the "happiest reaped rich benefits from their associa- announced. But since Mr. Booth is an days of their lives."

always been eager to call Agnes Scott sociations of their alma mater. houses of its kind in the United States. each of whom has carried forth in her Which was followed by a social hour. Here they always find a welcome and (Continued on page 7, column 4) (Continued on page 7, column 3)

This is the first alumnae week-end The alumnae have found inestimable which has taken place in the midst of Agnes Scott's alumnae have always terday and today have found common try in 1778), and since he is so well been loyal to her. The alumnae have bonds in the traditions, ideals, and as- informed on the subject of foreign af-

MUSE TIES $1 up

Give "HIM" beautiful

Club News

Blackfriars held its regular meeting November 24 in Miss Gooch's studio. Agnes Scott always welcomes her re- a cozy homelike atmosphere, where A financial report was made by the turning alumnae. An alumnae week- they may indeed have a "second home." treasurer, and the property manager In inaugurating the series of lectures announced her committee. Following the regular business meeting a solo, for then Agnes Scott's daughters re- have shown that they are intensely in- by Kathleen Bowen, who was accomptacts within her sacred walls, and past life of the campus, as well as in the "The Cardinal's Kitchen," was presentand present students find a bond of fel- social aspects of it. The lectures on ed with a cast including Carr Mitchell, Punch and cookies were served by the refreshment committee.

The International Relations Club tions with the alumnae. Girls of yes- Englishman (his family left this counfairs, those present found his discustheir "second home." It was in this Students have found inspiration in sion quite instructive. When he finspirit that our alumnae built the Anna talking with various alumnae who replished his lecture he turned the meeting Young Alumnae House, one of the first resent many different vocations and to an open discussion of world affairs,

(e)

Mrs. Roberts Recounts In- seen two children jumping about in a teresting Experiences.

"When I went to college everyone thought I'd be the last one to get married. But now I've got a husband and two children and I'm teaching and studying; so you see anyone has a Mrs. Donald Roberts, '21, laughed as she made the above remark, gathering her things together for another visit that a busy Alumnae weekend thrust upon her. Mrs. Roberts has been in Shanghai for five years at St. John's University. She has been teaching history, and for the last two years seems and I really feel that I haven': has studied history, having received her M.A. in that subject at the last com- the time I get to be eighty and come Mrs. Roberts was Miss Hopkins' first pathetic fact." personal secretary. She was also the editor of the AGONISTIC.

Mrs. Roberts is very interested in her work in Shanghai and from her comments her life must be anything lunch Mrs. Roberts asked their guest but dull. Her two little boys seem to if he had any children and he remarked be two of the main elements of inter- that he had a daughter in college at the est. The oldest one is three and is best school in the South. already on his way to becoming a golf champion. "He goes down the fair- is," said Mrs. Roberts. "It's Agnes way with a crowd of little Chinese Scott. I used to go there myself.' boys hanging around and staring at The guest, who was none other than hom, and his nurse right behind him," Carrie Lena McMullen's father, was so said Mrs. Roberts. "He can make overjoyed that he jumped up from the several of the holes in par. That's table and ran around to hug Mrs. pretty good for a three-year old young- Roberts. ster, don't you think?"

to Mrs. Roberts. "If you have ever world."

train compartment you know what an energetic trip we had," she said.

"All the girls at Agnes Scott look younger and handsomer than in my day," said Mrs. Roberts when questioned. "I sat up in the balcony and looked down at the Cotillion lead-out last night, and I thought that all the members seemed well qualified to be models. But few of them looked old enough to be away from home.'

'No, it doesn't seem strange to be back," she replied to another question. "The older you get the shorter time been away so very long. I guess by back it will only seem a day or two-

When asked if she ever saw any founder of K. Ú. B., the journalistic Americans in Shanghai, she told a very society of Agnes Scott, and at one time interesting experience that she had about a year ago. Her husband telephoned that he was bringing someone home for lunch. While they were at

"I'll bet I know what that school

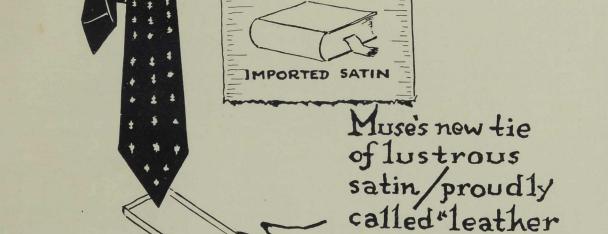

Agnes Scott has not changed so ter-This young prodigy and his brother ribly much for Mrs. Roberts. And were the causes of a very lively journey Miss Hopkins is the same as alwaysfrom Shanghai to Atlanta, according "the most phenomenal woman in the

"Sambo, whar you-all gwine in such

"Ah's gwine to git dat doctah what sewed up my operation wid white thread."

"May I help you pick your teeth, sir?" inquired the clerk at the false teeth counter.

"I hate that chap," quoth the lovable girl, as she rubbed cold cream on back" because of the way it wears. =350

For "HIM," and for "HER," the gifts all prefer are MUSE GIFTS.

For a man's gift trust a man's store!

A man's store is more than likely to have a wider selection of gifts, more complete stocks and more up-to-the-minute style. This man's store has, anyway!

ZACHRY

87 Peachtree Street

Subscription price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single copies, 5c.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF

| Editor           | BETTY BONHAM       |
|------------------|--------------------|
| Assistant Editor | ELIZABETH LIGHTCAP |
| Feature Editor   | GAIL NELSON        |
| Society Editor   | Mary Hamilton      |
| Exchange Editor  | ELIZABETH LYNCH    |
| Athletic Editor  |                    |
| Alumnae Editor   |                    |
| Club Editor      |                    |
| Joke Editor      | Johnnie Mae York   |
| Giddy Gossip     | CAROLINE LINGLE    |
|                  |                    |

MANAGEMENT

| Advertising Manager           | CLYDE LOVEJOY      |
|-------------------------------|--------------------|
| Business Manager              | GRACE FINCHER      |
| Circulation Manager           | LILA ROSS NORFLEET |
| Assistant Circulation Manager | IMOGENE HUDSON     |

REPORTERS FOR THIS ISSUE

| WILLA UPCHURCH    | Douschka Sweets  |
|-------------------|------------------|
| KATHERINE HERTZKA | VIVIAN MARTIN    |
| EMILY SQUIRES     | Pauline Gordon   |
| CHARLOTTE REID    | Alberta Palmour  |
| ELIZABETH CATES   | CATHERINE BAKER  |
| Barbara Hart      | ELEANOR HOLFERTY |
| BARBARA HART      | ELEANOR HOLFERTY |

BOOKS

Beecher has said "A library is not a luxury, but one of the test on Disarmament. The first prize necessities of life. Give me a house furnished with books rather is $40, the second, $25, and the third, than furniture." It must have been with a thought similar to $10, for the best editorial written by this in mind, that those who have initiated the book collection contest undertook the project. There is a purpose behind this Editorials must be limited to 500 words of St. John the Divine in New York contest which has its origin in the feeling that a life without the and must be in the office of the Counenrichment that the possession and cherishing of books bring is cil at 129 East 52nd Street, New York bare; in the feeling that only through familiarity with that City by December 21st. The judges which is great in literature, can we attain breadth of spirit; in the feeling that if we come out of college without having gained Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, of New be 40 feet in diameter and the stone a real love for books, we have missed the very heart of the liberal education we came to get.

ALUMNAE WEEK-END

Attendance at the adult education program during alumnae week-end was most gratifying and the success of the project far exceeded the expectations of those who planned it, for they realized that this was the first year that such a plan had been tried and could not foresee the enthusiasm with which it was greeted.

Its success, we suppose, will insure its establishment as a regular feature of the Thanksgiving homecoming program. Its value Roosevelt graduated from Havard in seaplane has just been put into service lies in the fact that it adds a definite intellectual element to the 1904. otherwise purely social nature of alumnae visits to the campus. It is an excellent addition to our campus activities and we congratulate the alumnae on its successful initiation.

HELP US IN THIS

The Agonistic staff would appreciate it if its readers would of the Rhode Island State College at Suggestions for remedies for hiccoughs that: "College spirit and loyalty stuff give especial attention to its advertising. Read the advertisements Kingston. and when it is possible (and it usually is) patronize those firms which help us put out our paper. Mention the AGONISTIC when you trade in stores that advertise with us and show them that they are getting their money's worth. Thank you.

"In the choice of a dog or of a horse, we exercise the greatest care; we inquire into its pedigree, its training and character, and yet we too often leave the selection of our friends, which is of education. This sets the value of a infinitely greater importance—by whom our whole life will be college education at $65,000. more or less influenced either for good or evil—almost to chance."-Sir John Lubbock.

"Not to be occupied and not to exist amount to the same mum of the average income of a man thing. All people are good except those who are idle."-Voltaire.

"Salt your food with humor, pepper it with wit and sprinkle about $1,400, but this is less than the over it the charm of fellowship. Never poison it with the cares high school graduate makes at that age, of life."—Anon.

"It is not what men eat but what they digest that makes them income goes up rapidly while that of strong; not what we gain, but what we save that makes us rich; the high school graduate mounts more not what we read, but what we remember that makes us learned; slowly. Between 43 and 48, the colnot what we preach, but what we practice that makes us Chris- lege man's earnings usually reach a tians. These are great but common truths, often forgotten by point of rapid increase, whil the high the glutton, the spendthrift, the bookworm and the hypocrite." -Bacon.

N.S.F.A. News

For the past two weeks Barnard College has been running a drive for the unemployed of New York City. 'A Penny a Meal" plan has been worked out whereby students are urged to give a penny for each meal they eat, including teas and ten o'clock "snacks." Boxes are placed at the exits of the dining halls, cafeterias and tea rooms for contributions. Up to date, the scheme has worked well and the fund has been growing by more than fifteen dollars a day.

The University of Pennsylvania is planning to conduct model Republican tions. The conventions will be com- ton. posed of delegations from all states which have representatives in the student body. There will be a chairman for each delegation and the procedure of a regular political convention will scrub timber were swept down by fire. Charlotte over WBT recently. He also be followed.

President Hoover in a recent radio address urged that the nation support the unendowed Liberal Arts Colleges. dent said, "these colleges have been and United States will be found working very highly of their literary publicaare now the seed beds of leadership. They have contributed a large part to the presence in our land of nearly 2,-000,000 college trained men and ament." women. Theirs is a great honor roll of men and women in our nation. The finest traditions of our country are rooted in their associations and their inspiration.'

The Intercollegiate Disarmament only 20 feet, it was reported. Council is sponsoring an editorial conan enrolled undergraduate and published in a college newspaper or magazine. at the cost of $80,000 in the Cathedral away. for the contest are: John Finley, Associate Editor of the New York Times, ers more than a year to build. It will York City, and Mrs. Florence Brewer Broeckel, of the National Council for the Prevention of War.

The Roosevelt-for-President Club is an organization recently started at the Harvard Law School for the purpose of stimulating interest in the coming election and aiding the campaign of Governor Roosevelt. It is planned to Military training in American land grant colleges and universities should open antagonism of radicalism to dem- coughed at the rate of seven times a ocratic government, in the opinion of minute for 15 days and nights. His Dr. Raymond G. Bressler, who has re- serious condition was finally relieved University, recently told the faculty cently assumed his duties as president by removing an infected gall bladder. and student body of Brown University earn $175,000 during his life span, conscious with a left hook. When he the training of character than studies whereas the high school graduate will rallies the hiccoughs will be gone. If and that athletes are more loyal to earn only $110,000, according to William Atherton DuPuy, executive assistant at the Department of the Interior, who has just completed a statistical study of the earning power of

In sharp contrast to the boy with but grade school training, the high school graduate at 18 earns $800. At 22 he nets annually $1,500, the maxiwith grade school education.

The college graduate begins to earn at the age of 22. He starts off at because the latter has been at work four years. By the time the college graduate reaches 26 years of age his school trained man's income is stationary and his momentum slackens. At (Continued on page 6, column 3)

WE SEE BY THE PAPERS

Out in the World

"A plague o' both your houses!" Manchurian complications.

that the United States was relaxing its magorias of human sound, were feaputed areas, the American press reflects and Lee dormitories. predominantly pro-Chinesse public tions as the peace machinery of the managers could stop the wild outburst. world, hangs in the balance is admitand Democratic nominating conven- ted by informed officials at Washing-giving night when some two acres of radio on a nation-wide hook-up from ister Grandi's visit to Washington have been stated thus: "the most that can 'Throughout our history," the Presi- be said was that hereafter Italy and the with the common purpose of marshal- tion. ing world opinion in favor of disarm-

> Field Thursday and Friday putting her students read the publication but some autogiro plane through its paces. Her first take-off was made after a run of

A great rose window, larger than those of the Cathedrals of Rheims, Notre Dame, or Palma, will be erected

The sum was a gift. The great window will take several artists and workmullions which support the beautiful glass will be three feet thick.-New York Times.

the North and South Americas has sume them, and thereby reduce exbeen predicted by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. The flying colonel piloted send speakers to clubs and other or- the giant 40-place American Clipper when the leaders of the movement have ganizations in the vicinity of Boston in on her maiden trip from Miami to straightened out details. the interest of his candidacy. Governor Cristobal, C. Z., last week. The huge by the Pan-American airways.

be continued as a defense against the died of hiccoughs last week. He hic- years in prison instead of the D. D. The college graduate may expect to Hollywood, Calif., "Knock him un- lar activities are more important for I'm wrong, I'll take the right one."— their colleges than scholars. "Athletes," Literary Digest and local papers.

On Other Campuses

There was war on the Washington has been the chorus from many hard- and Lee Campus one night last week. boiled American editors by way of Pistol shots, crashing window panes, saying that they're 'fed up' on the flying milk bottles and apples, and loud voices which rose to a high-pitch Despite the impression in Europe forming one of the strangest phatasstand for Japanese evacuation of dis- tured in the battle between Graham

Nobody knows what the trouble started over but it was long after That the fate of the League of Na- midnight before the monitors and floor -The Ring-Tum Phi.

Dr. Walter Lingle, president of Davidson College (and father of Carrie Stone Mountain was ablaze Thanks- Lingle of this campus), spoke over the delivered an address at Chapel Hill at Accomplishments of Foreign Min- the inauguration service of the new president at the University of North Carolina.—The Davidsonian.

Emory students don't seem to think The editor recently asked for suggestions as to how to improve the Emory Phoenix and answers included these: "Can it," "Unsex it," "Lynch Amelia Earhart was at Candler away with it." 'Cless Lewdness," "Do wrote, "I read it only because I contribute . . . abolish it!"-The Emory

> Because someone took the needles, the weekly phonograph concert at Rutgers University had to be called off, and the largest group ever to attend the meeting had to be turned

The fair young ladies of North Carolina are well on their way to being self-supporting. Hair-dressers, manicurists, seamstresses, cleaner's representatives, saleswomen for different products advertise their services or their products on college bulletin

These girls are now talking of running the campus on a communistic basis. The girls will raise the raw ma-A one-day airline schedule between terials, manufacture the products, conpenses to almost nothing. It is understood that a petition for the establishment of this plan will be drawn up

Two theological students at a Texas university turned bandits in order to get enough money to continue their A man in Mansfield, Ohio, nearly studies for the ministry. They got five Dean Charles M. McConn of Lehigh were sent to Mansfield from all over is pure and simple hokum." The dean the country including this one from attacked the theory that extra-curricu-(Continued on page 6, column 1)

Agnes Scott College

DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

Dearest Giddy,

big struggle. If I could just get those forty-'leven term-papers written, I could sit back and enjoy an exaggerat- enjoy themselves. ed case of C. S.

Wasn't that a ritzy alumnae weekshowed all your modesty, so they'd think we're just as sweet and girlish as they used to be. Laugh, I thought I'd die in student government meeting when Dee announced, "And will you all please remember to be more careful in going to and from the bathrobe!" Sez Gussie Rose, the Riddle girl, "So we'll have to wear bathrobes, will we? Aha! They're trying to make hypocrites of us!"

Speaking of bathrobes—poor Ella Hopson is practically reduced to wearing one. She felt like the original orphan-of-the-storm the other day when she blithely returned to her car which she had parked outside a store in Atlanta, to find that a dress and half a dozen pairs of hose had disappeared they're all wet!" from the suitcase inside. I can understand why somebody would take one dress-after all, they couldn't have but one body-but six pairs of hose! It must have been a centipede.

Have you seen the new shrubbery

Make STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOP Your Beauty Shoppe Special Styles and Features for Thanksgiving 153 Sycamore St.

that's being planted in the alumnae Two more weeks till vacation! Well, garden? It's the gift of the Seniors to I guess we can last that long with a the college. All I can say is that they would give something that they can

I must tell you the crowning blow, Giddy. The other day, Ella answered end we pulled off, Giddy? I hope you the door-bell in Main. There stood a huge man with a white goatee. Without any salutation, he boomed out, 'Where's little Chatterbox?" Then, half suspecting that he had been a little abrupt, he roared, "You don't know who I mean, do you?" "Oh, yessuh I Miss Sally Bowman!" Ella says he told Day, named William Young Harvey. her once before that he certainly was glad that Sally is out here, because she made so much noise at home that he couldn't think! And that, my dear is just another one of the Hints of of North Carolina. Home-life of Campus Characters.

And did you hear Dr. Smart Sunfish have no homelife whatever. Why,

With that, I feel constrained to look into Egyptian Culture at the Time of the Hebrew Bondage, so toodle-loo,

Lovingly,

Aggie. And Sturdy thinks that "Time on My Hands" is the unemployment theme-song!

********** "SPARKS FROM THE ANVIL"

Clara Lundie Askew

Margaret Waite Book Shop Peachtree Arcade

SPECIAL NOTICE

Decatur, Ga.

Our Sandwiches have been reduced from 20c to 15c (not toasted), toasted 20c. Also a reduction in drinks.

> We have added Wieners-very delicious. STARNES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER PHONE US-DE. 2169

Keep Up THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT Give and Share

TIES, HANDKERCHIEFS, MUFFLERS, BELTS, BUCKLES, ETC.

NATIONAL SHIRT SHOPS, Inc. 75 Peachtree Street

You are cordially invited to attend the formal opening of the Davis College Shop Saturday, December 5, 1931.

You will find classroom, street, formal, informal afternoon frocks, and a wide variety of fascinating evening gowns.

Your interest will be greatly appreciated.

R. H. DAVIS & CO.

199 Peachtree

Opp. Georgian Theatre

Alumnae News

Some of the alumnae who were on the campus Thanksgiving Week-end were: Evalyn Wilder, '30; Eugenia Johnston, '31; Marion Lee, '31; Carolyn Heyman, '31; Anita Boswell, '31; Elizabeth Kelly, '31; Nina Hammond, '31; Chopin Hudson, '31; Eunice Lawrence, '31; Jane McLaughlin, '31; Hilda Mc-Curdy, '31; Elizabeth Heath, '31; Harriet Smith, '31; Eleanor Bonham, Mildred Duncan, '31, spent Thanksgiving with Louise Wesley.

Athens, Tenn., and Louise Plum, '27, Some in Atlanta, some in Decatur, of Greenwood, S. C., were guests in some at home, and some on the camthe Alumnae House for Alumnae pus. Although turkey is always turkey week-end.

do," said Ella confidently, "You mean a young son, born on Thanksgiving Thursday.

Elise Roberts, ex-'30, is studying for her M.A. in English at the University

Caro Owen, '30, is Supervisor of day night when he remarked, "Now, Playgrounds at Horace Mann School, connected with Columbia University, where she is studying this winter.

> June Maloney, '30, is teaching history in the high school at McMinnville, > Ione Gueth, '30, is teaching in high school at home in East McKeesport, Pa.

Mary Trammell, '30, has returned to her home in Atlanta after a year's study in New York.

$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$ THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms Serving
LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON
TEA—DINNER
11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M.
Atlanta—65½ Broad St., N. W. Macon-151 Cotton Ave.

Hewey's

The street with the street with the street was the street with the street was the street with the street

TOILET ARTICLES SUNDRIES REMEDIES—STATIONERY SODAS—SANDWICHES

PROMPT DELIVERY

Call us

things in the life of a schoolgirl—a night in Atlanta with her aunt, Mrs. holiday and a turkey. Everybody here R. C. Mizell. She attended a party everybody had turkey, and cranberry Friday night. sauce and plum pudding too. And Reba (Bayless) Boyer, '27, of everybody had it at a different place. no matter where you eat it, some of you might like to know where the Octavia (Young) Harvey, '30, has Hottentots had their big dinners last > Betty Humphrey and Marie Adams rence Mansfield in Atlanta. were in Tate, Ga., for Thanksgiving.

Gladys Burns spent Thanksgiving in Macon, Ga.

Maxine Chrisler and Carolyn Wilder Florida game Saturday, November 21. were the guests of Mrs. J. R. Baker in Atlanta for Thanksgiving.

Louise Hollingsworth and Margaret Clyde's home. Maness went to Monroe, Ga., for the week-end with Louise's grandmother.

Diana Dyer and Miss Blanche Miller had dinner with Dr. and Mrs. Flinn

Mary Elliot and Louise Winslow spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. D. R. Taylor at Fort McPherson.

Mary Miller and Penelope Brown attended the Tech-Georgia game in Athens Saturday.

Susan Glenn had Thanksgiving dinner with Vella Behm in Atlanta.

Sally Betsy Mason, ex-33, who is Alabama, was the guest of Catherine Birmingham, Ala. DeHart, Claire Ivy, and Alma Earle Ivy for Thanksgiving.

Mildred Hooten and Elizabeth Lightcap were Thanksgiving guests of Mrs. Paul Ford.

Catherine and Margaret Maness spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Arthur the latter part of last week. Moore in Atlanta.

Mary Elliot had as her guest the week-end of the twenty-first Dorothy name, my good man?" Cawthorn of Tallahassee, Fla.

Phone Dea. 0640-9110

LaMyra Kane was the guest of Gra and Marjorie Woodward at their hor in College Park for Thanksgiving. LaMyra Kane was the guest of Grace name?" and Marjorie Woodward at their home | Convict: "Naw, that's only me pen

Thanksgiving means two great big | Louise Hollingsworth spent Friday had a holiday this Thanksgiving; and given by Miss Chrystal Hope Wellborn > Andrewena Robinson and Carr Mitchell had dinner the night of Sunday, November 22, with Penelope Brown in Atlanta.

Betty Humphrey was in Athens Sat-

Mary Miller and Martha Logan had Thanksgiving dinner with Mrs. Law-

Gertrude Willoughby, '31, visited Florence Mangis for several days last

Lovelyn Wilson attended the Tech-

Clyde Lovejoy and Helen McMillan spent Thanksgiving in LaGrange,

Charlotte Reid went to Columbia Seminary for Thanksgiving dinner.

Florence Mangis took her Girl Reserve group of Commercial High to Camp Highlands for the week-end.

Page Ackerman had Thanksgiving dinner with Mrs. E. K. Large in At-

Mary Dunbar attended the Tech-Georgia game in Athens Saturday.

Carr Mitchell and Ruth Green had Thanksgiving dinner with Sarah Bowman at her home in Atlanta.

Gilchrist Powell had as her guest for now a student at the University of Thanksgiving Miss Rosalie Pettus, of > Nina Parke's mother, of Philadelphia, was with her for Thanksgiving.

> Natilu McKenney spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Cooksey in Atlanta.

> Louisa Cargill's father was with her

(Continued on page 7, column 1)

Social Worker: "And what's your Convict: "1313."

S. W.: "Oh, but that's not your real

Silk Lingerie

An Amazing Collection In Lovely Pastel Shades

—Bias-cut Slips —Bias-cut Chemise

—Fitted Panties -One Piece Pajamas

-Night Gowns

-Dance Sets

rose and blue.

Adorably styled . . . cut to give one's figure slim, intriguing lines, charmingly tailored or foamy with lace. In flesh, tea-

I. M. HIGH CO. ATLANTA, GA.

Corduroy Pajamas $4.98

Swagger wide trouser, onepiece styles trimmed in large novelty buttons. American beauty, green, blue and lovely shades of graduate from college, for at least they could eat the hot dogs, but they can do nothing with the diplomas." The foregoing statement was given by Dr. W. C. Krueger, instructor in psychology at Detroit college. Dr. Kruger also deplored the present system of required credits, and derided the idea of mathematics and the classics as ideal subjects for improving the mind.

ON OTHER CAMPUSES

(Continued from page 4, column 5) he said, "go out for teams primarily because of a desire for publicity and personal ambition.

"cokes" to the students at M. I. T. in an attempt to alleviate the depression in the soft drink industry.

The Freshman co-eds at Northwest- and "Patriotism." ern University refused to prepare their lessons as a protest against the rule that their lights had to be turned out at did not give them time enough to Joralemon Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. maker in Southeastern Europe. This whose new parliament held its opening meeting last week, is definitely tective tariff.

Italy, has been conferring with Presi- returned to the Youth Disarmament on the part of the other constituent dent Hoover. He agrees with Hoover Petition Committee at the above ad- States of the Balkan Peninsula. on the disarmament question but not so dress before December 1, 1931. fully on the debt problem.

The Daily Texan, publication of the collegiate publication aspiring to the ideals of a typical city newspaper, published a sixteen-page edition on September 20. Section two, composed of eight pages, was solely devoted to fall styles and collegiate society. On October 3 The Daily Texan put out a twenty-four page football supplement ready crowded business world. in the form of a magazine section. Throughout, The Daily Texan is a paper worthy of note.

Cosmopolitanism in cities affords great possibility for race friction. In Berlin Chinese students ordered three Chinese restaurants to put out signs reading, "No Japanese will be served here." When these signs were not posted, the Chinese students formed a boycott league against the restaurants until the signs were put up.

We hear from a Greek student in "College students might as well be America that the problem of over-progiven hot dogs as diplomas when they duction and under-consumption is applicable to the sphere of college as well as to business. He states that the majority of traffic policemen in Athens are graduates of Law School.

In an attempt to seek an expression of undergraduate opinion on current problems, six Amherst students are running a series of articles in World A Coco-Cola company representa- Unity Magazine. World Unity takes very thorny question was going to be ter use both eyes." tive recently distributed 400 ice cold the stand of internationalism, express-solved at a week's sitting, and it may More War," "Necessary Disarmament,"

The British National government, lished a permanent University Emer- nople Womens College. gency Loan Fund for men to be composed of contributions from students per man and each loan must carry the class spirit. unanimous consent of the committee.

> The appeal is in line with President Hoover's appeal, in which he urged questionnaires to about a thousand of that every effort be made to keep the its alumni asking them various ques- being planned at the University of younger generation in school and col- tions about their undergraduate exlege so that it will not enter the al-organ lessons?"

I felt so blooming childish, playing happen." with my feet.

"When I was in China, I saw them hang a girl."

It's Christmas Time At Rich's

Suggesting:

N. S. F. A. NEWS

(Continued from page 4, column 3) 60 the college man is earning $4,000 a year, and at 70, his income drops to this morning, dear.

As was, perhaps, inevitable, the proceedings of the Second Balkan Con- raised my hand to close it after the poet, the Carl Schurz Memorial Founference, held last week in Istanbul, did rain stopped.' not run as smoothly as those of the first session. In Athens last year the Conference agreed that it must face like to ask?" the question of minorities; this year an attempt was made to come to grips is it?" with the problem, and, as was to be expected, it was not altogether successful. No one anticipated that this ing an intelligent world outlook. Well be doubted whether the Confer-Among the titles of the series are: "No ence can do more than emphasize a desire to see the controversy laid to rest and to invite the States immediately concerning to hammer out a solution. What the Second Conference did bring A Youth Disarmament Petition is into prominence seems to have been This petition is being distributed by is to be heartily welcomed. A leader is "It's not the heat," sobbed Hardcase $50. Dino Grandi, foreign minister from having been filled out they are to be the country least exposed to jealousy

> It is interesting to note that four of the delegates to this Conference adopted because, "we feel students who West Virginia University has estab- were former students of the Constanti-

Three Freshmen at Princeton Unicommitted to the adoption of a pro- and faculty members to assist students versity are planning to publish a camthrough the present financial crisis pus humorous publication to be entitled caused by the closing of their local The Dink. It is unique in that it is to

> Haverford College recently sent out periences. The results are interesting for it was discovered that "the things that will occupy a warm spot in one's "Why did you give up your pipe college memory in years to come are not always easily recognized when they

> The University of Oklahoma recently gave wide publicity to the slogan-Work First, Earn Some Money—Then Come to School." The President of "I'll say! Six feet off the ground!" the University explained the slogan was

Jokes

Professor: "I forgot my umbrella

Wife: "How did you remember that you had forgotten it?'

Prof.: "Well, I missed it when I

Prof. (after lengthy lecture):

Voice from rear row: "What time

"I'm looking for a small man with

"If he's very small, I guess you bet-

I rose and gave her my seat, I could not let her stand; She reminded me of my mother, With that strap held in her hand.

Freshman: "This letter says that my sister has a baby, but doesn't say obtainable from Miss Edith Jones, 129 the resolve of Turkey to act as peace- whether it's a boy or girl. Am I an uncle or an aunt?"

many youth peace organizations. After required, and possibly Turkey will be Harry as the warden turned on 500 more volts, "It's the humility that's $50. killing me."

> work cannot get the most out of college when most of his or her time is taken up out of school."

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the opening of Yale-In-China at Changshai was celebrated at Yale University banking institutions at Morgantown, be distinctly a Freshman publication, on November 15. Having steadily University of Texas, an outstanding W. Va. Loans are to be limited to $25 and its purpose is to establish a better grown from its quarters in a rented building. Yale-In-China now has 30 buildings and 42 acres of land.

> Model Disarmament Conferences are in English or in German. Pennsylvania, Bucknell College, Wash- exceed 5000 words. burn College, and at Northwestern.

guage, says Dr. Rufus von KleinSmid, as no promise is given that the manupresident of the University of South- script submitted will be returned. ern California, has been reached on the college campus. In a recent ad- Schurz Memorial Foundation, 225 dress, Dr .von KleinSmid said that of South Fifteenth Street, Philadelphia, the 500 to 600 words with which common laborers are presumed to be endowed, about half make up the col- candidate appear upon the essay. A 'swell' alone," he said, "is used to depea rin its stead. The nom de plume scribe 4972 situations." Dr. von Klein- or motto, the address and institution of ates as unfit for criminals to read.

History Prof: "Why can't you keep these dates in your head?"

Co-ed: "I have too many of my own to remember."

National Goethe Essay Contest

In commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the death of Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, greatest German dation announces a national essay contest, in which the undergraduate students of the Colleges and Universities 'Now, is there anything anyone would of the United States are invited to par-

> One of the following subjects should be chosen:

> Goethe's Conception of Personality. The Art of the Youthful Goethe (to 1776).

Goethe as a Lyric Poet.

Awards:

1st prize in English-$200. 1st prize in German-$200.

2nd prize in English-$100.

2nd prize in German-$100. 3rd prize in English or German-

4th prize in English or German-

5th prize in English or German-

6th prize in English or German-

7th prize in English or German-

Honorable mention will be awarded to a small number of meritorious es-

The announcement of awards will take place during December, 1932.

Rules of the contest:

1. Any student who on November 15, 1931, was matriculated as an undergraduate in any College or University in the United States of America is eligible as a candidate in this con-

2. The essay submitted must be the product of the thought and research of the candidate himself.

3. The essay may be written either

4. In length the essay should not

5. The manuscript should be typewritten. It is suggested that the can-The record low standard of lan- didate retain a carbon copy for himself,

6. Essays must reach the Carl Pa., not later than September 15, 1932.

7. In no case shall the name of the lege Freshman's vocabulary. "The word nom de plume or motto should ap-Smid also condemned the press for fill- the candidate, and a certified statement ing their front pages with news for the to the effect that the candidate was an high school student to read which the undergraduate on November 15, 1931, 'death roller" in penitentiaries obliter- should be enclosed in a sealed envelope attached to the essay.

He: "I've never seen such dreamy

She: "You've never stayed so late be-

Agnes Scott College Windshield Stickers, two for 5c

Dennis Lindsey Printing Company (Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING AND STATIONERY

421 Church St.

Dearborn 0976

Decatur, Ga.

Bags_____$1.95 to $125 Handkerchiefs____15c to $1.25 Scarfs_____59c to $2.98 Gloves_____$1 to $14.95

And every corner of our lovely store is chock full of gay, charming gifts . . . clever and individual, unerringly practical, priced most joyously low!

Novelties_____49c to $1.95

Stationery_____49c to $1.95 Perfumes_____$1 to $30 Novelty Soaps____25c to 98c Toilet Sets_____$2.65 Manicure Sets_____$1 to $7.50 Vanities_____$1 to $14 Jewelry_____$1 to $25 Silk Lingerie____$1.98 to $15.95 Beret and Scarf Sets____$1.98 Hosiery_____$1 to $3.95

"Home of Quality Dry Cleaning"

20% DISCOUNT TO ALL AGNES SCOTT STUDENTS

Dyeing-Pressing-Rugs-Cold Storage

Decatur Laundry & Dry Cleaning Co.

DEARBORN 3162-3163

DECATUR, GA.

(Continued from page 5, column 5) Clara Morrison had as her guests Wednesday night in Atlanta Elinor Hamilton, Mary Hamilton, and Laura Martha Faust spent Thanksgiving System: with Miss Alice Glenn in Atlanta.

Marge Simmons was in Atlanta with Mrs. Barrett for Thanksgiving.

Mary Hamilton was the guest of for Thanksgiving.

Mary Davis, LaMyra Kane, and Marjorie Woodward attended a Pi K A breakfast dance Thursday at Emory.

Betty Gillies went to a tea Tuesday afternoon given by Mrs. Phillips Austen for the debutantes of Atlanta.

at her home in Greenville, Ga. Flora Young was with Elizabeth

Lillian Herring spent Thanksgiving

Young in Atlanta for the holiday.

Martha Elliot went to her home in

Holly Springs, Ga., for Thanksgiving. Martha Norman spent the holidays at her home in West Point, Ga. Charlotte Regar went home to Anniston, Ala., for Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving.

visited Jo's aunt, Mrs. E. M. King, in Hapeville Thanksgiving.

Elizabeth Alexander and Eleanor Williams went to Elizabeth's home in Atlanta for Thanksgiving.

Caroline Long had as her guests for the week-end Misses Marianna and Virginia Davis.

Hazel Turner spent Thanksgiving in Atlanta with relatives.

Carolyn Russel went home for the Florence Preston stayed this weekend with her aunt, Miss Florence Preston, in Atlanta.

Helen Boyd visited Johnnie Mae York in Atlanta Thanksgiving.

MICHIGAN OFFERS LITERARY PRIZES

author of The Bat, and others.

are announced for 1931, while eight ure. minor awards of $250 each are also to be given. When it is recalled that ******************* the famous "Newdigate Prize" at Oxford University, held in the past by so many distinguished British authors, is 3 for only a little over $100, and that

 SILHOUETTE TEA ROOM Anna Young Alumnae House Hours 7:30-2:00 4:00-7:00

10:00-10:30

Holiday Ratees Are Certain

Mr. Tart has received the following

Dear Mr. Tart:

Yours very truly, E. E. Barry.

ALUMNA TELLS ADVENTURES

(Continued from page 1, column 4) that right along with the distressing stories of anxiety and trouble they ran a "boxed feature" of the wedding announcement as a unique item of the to judge tryouts. Those admitted to Edith Dorn was at home for Roberts presented a vivid and pathetic, poned until the following week. yet admirable picture of the Chinese student of today in a chapel address. Jo Adamson and Rosalyn Crispin The Chinese student, according to the studied and thoughtful observations of think I'm so sure of it; what do you Mrs. Roberts, is one who must inten- think of it? tionally look sad on certain "humiliation" days during which he intensely dwells on the weakness of China as a nation. But he is also one who, in spite of the appalling ineffectiveness of his nation, has so much ambition, so much feeling, and so much courage in building a nation, that it behooves students of other nations to expect something entirely worthwhile to evolve from young China's great period of adjust- eral times and asks pupil, "What is ment between old and new.

> the Pulitzer awards are for $1,000 each, some idea of the financial value of the Hopwood Awards is made clear.

Unlike many other similar awards the "Jules and Avery Hopwood Prizes" Upshaw Jones spent the holiday in are very liberal in the type of work which may be submitted, since Mr Hopwood's wishes were to encourage the new, the unusual and the radical. This fact, together with the value of Students throughout the country the prizes, probably makes them unique will be interested to hear that annual in the university field. Any student, awards of $12,000 are offered at the undergraduate or graduate, enrolled in University of Michigan for creative the University of Michigan and taking work in play, fiction, poetry and essay one course in English is eligible to comwriting. These prizes are to be given pete. The aim of the committee on yearly from the income of the estate awards will be to seek out promising of the late Avery Hopwood, Michigan literary beginners who desire to do alumnus, remembered as the author of serious work in the fields of playwritmany plays-Seven Days, The Best ing, essay, fiction or poetry, to en-People, The Alarm Clock-and co- courage their efforts, and in the case of the major awards, to free them com-Four major awards of $2,500 each pletely for a time from financial press-

> PHOTO FRAMES PICTURES ART WARES LAMPS GIFTS CARDS

BINDER'S 117 Peachtree Opp. Piedmont Hotel

NEWS OF THE OLYMPIC GAMES

Stadium Events

The Olympic Stadium, located in letter from the Assistant General Pas- Olyympic Park near the center of ium, in which will be held the swimsenger Agent of the Southern Railway Los Angeles, has just been comming, diving and water polo events of pleted and ready for the games of the Xth Olympiad to be celebrat- the Games of the Xth Olympiad, to be ed from July 30 to August 14, celebrated in this city from July 30 Following our conversation I now have 1932. It has a seating capacity of to August 14, inclusive, 1932, is now definite advice that all lines in the 105,000 people. In it will be held being completed in Olympic Park, near Southeast will participate in round-trip the following events: Opening cere- Olympic Stadium. Starting with the Christmas holiday fares. Therefore, mony (Parade of Nations) July 30; swimming race of the Modern Pentawe will be in position to sell round- Track and Field Athletics, July 31 to thlon on August 5, there will be 11 Penelope Brown at her home in Atlanta trip, holiday tickets from Atlanta to August 7; Demonstration Lacrosse days of water sports. The pool, which all points in the Southeast. The rate August 7, 9 and 12; Field Hockey was designed in accordance with will be one and one-third fares for the (Finals), August 8 and 11; Gymnas- Olympic requirements, will be 50 their name and address to the Ticket 10,000 people. Department Olympic Games Committee, W. M. Garland Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.

CLUB NEWS

(Continued from page 3, column 3) B. O. Z.

B. O. Z. held a short meeting on Wednesday afternoon, November 25, its membership are Ruth Green, Page During her stay on the campus, Mrs. regular monthly meeting was post-

> Prof.: Miss Jones, what do you know of this light theory?

> Miss Jones: Well-uh-I don't

Prof.: I don't think, I know! Miss Jones: I don't think I know,

Co-ed (looking at pretty pictures): Isn't that a conning tower on that submarine?'

Worse: "Yes, it is rather cute, isn't

Music Teacher, after demonstrating half hour on the note C, hits C sev-

Student: "A piano."

"It's funny I do not remember limpng when I left home," said Prof. Bradthe gutter.

Swimming Events

The Los Angeles Swimming Stad-

A. S. C. WELCOMES DAUGHTERS (Continued from page 3, column 2) calling, be it that of business woman,

writer, missionary, homemaker, or any other worthy profession in which Agnes Scott graduates are represented, the high ideals of her Alma Mater.

Many of the alumnae are seeing for the first time the initial stages of the ing in classroom, over the telephone, Ackerman and Mary Hamilton. The creation of Greater Agnes Scott, the first results of the campaign which was 'followed thru." Many of them perhaps feel a little strange at the new sights on the campus, but they feel reassured when they see the buildings which have stood the test of time, and Agnes Scott of yesterday and that of today.

> We hope that we have met the alumnae with a "glad hello" and have given them the welcome they so richly deserved. We have been impressed with many things, material and tangible, during their stay here, but above all we have been impressed with the type of women which our alumnae are. May we, when we become alumnae, embody the same high ideals of our Alma Mater, which do these alumnae who have helped to make Agnes Scott what it is today.

The height of insubordination, it ley as he walked down the street with scems to us, is reached by the person to those one million children denied of one foot on the curb and the other in who sings the vocal parts for Micky

(Continued from page 1, column 3) may be heard in the dark. "The aboreal habits of our ancestors demanded a development of voice, and the assuming of an erect position helped beyond words," he said. "Larynx development," he continued, "has very nearly paralleled physical and intelligent evo-

DR. WEST LECTURES

Dr. West went on to say that if man had not developed a larynx, and with it, a voice, that instead of the billions of earth's population, now, there would probably be only about a few hundred million. "Man," he said, 'would quite likely remain in a state round-trip, tickets being on sale daily tics, August 8 to 12; Demonstration meters (164 feet) in length, 20 meters of utter savagery." On the other hand, December 15th to 25th inclusive, re- American Football, August 8; Eques- (65) feet) in width, and will vary in he pointed out, that the forces of evoturn limit January 6th. Stop-ovres trian Sports (Finals), August 13 and depth from 1.5 meters (4 feet 11 lution might move more rapidly, but if will be permitted at all stations, both 14; Closing Ceremony August 14. The inches) to 5 meters (16 feet 5 inches). so that would be in the direction of going and returning and of course Organizing Committee is now accept- The water will be from the fresh water asceticism. Mankind in this case, baggage will be checked on these tick- ing reservations for tickets to all events supply of the city of Los Angeles, and would have become a race of supermen. of the Olympic Games. A special modern filtration and purification Every woman would have become a Will advise you further, just as soon booklet, giving information on the equipment will be used. The stadium Minerva. "And," he remarked, "to as possible, letting you know whether program of events and ticket prices, will be of reinforced concrete con- this society, the only act of our modthese rates will apply outside of the will be sent to any person mailing struction, with a seating capacity of ern world's pride and boast that would make any appeal to them at all, would be Lindbergh's 'lone eagle' flight to Paris."

In touching on Speech Pathology, that field with which he is most familiar, Dr. West stated that it has been only the past few hundred thousand years that man has been able to speak, and in his opinion, that man was just now learning to really use his voice. He believes that many of the fears which are engendered in us in speaketc., are quite the same as those of some of our anthropoid ancestors when they met a cave bear in the doorway of their home-caves. "Man," he said, "has the greatest amount of speech disorders. There are about eight men to one woman stutterer." The importance of Speech Pathology, he pointed out, may be better realized when it is conserve as a "tie that binds" between the sidered that there are at least one million children in the United States with speech disorders, and this figure does not include adults suffering similarly.

In conclusion, Dr. West said that the need of speech correction might be subdivided into several reasons. He considers the most obvious of these reasons to be the desire for increased economic power and value. Also, in our world which has all to offer to him who speaks, speech is a necessity socially so that the dread of an inferiority complex may be avoided on this count at least. Then, he remarked that the use of speech in romance was probably, after all, the highest form of vocal usage. "And, he concluded," it lies in the field of Speech Pathology to give the joy of existence, the chance to recover this joy, at least partially, so that instead of becoming morbid adults, they may develop into useful and socially alert citizens.

Prof.: Don, define the word "allow-

Don: That which one can't live within or without.

DeKALB THEATRE

East Ponce de Leon Avenue Decatur, Ga.

THURSDAY and FRIDAY, Dec. 3 & 4 "NIGHT NURSE"

Ben Lyon and Barbara Stanwyck

MONDAY and TUESDAY, Dec. 7 & 8
"TRADER HORN"

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 9 "MAYBE IT'S LOVE" -with-Joe E. Brown and Joan Bennett

THURSDAY & FRIDAY, Dec. 10 & 11 Joan Crawford

"LAUGHING SINNERS"

MONDAY & TUESDAY, Dec. 14 & 15 The Four Marx Brothers "MONKEY BUSINESS"

> WEDNESDAY, Dec. 16 Billie Dove

"THE LADY WHO DARED"

THURSDAY & FRIDAY, Dec. 17 & 18 John Barrymore "SVENGALI"

Elliott's Peachtree Studio

Christmas Photographs

SPECIAL OFFER

Paramount Theatre Bldg.

TRY OUR

4 finest 5x7 Lamoyne—and

or 1 8x10 Lamoyne

1 Miniature Photo in Silver Frame

SANDWICHES

WE MAKE THEM RIGHT

Lawrence's Pharmacy

Phones De. 0762-0763

Sports For Fun

ATHLETIC AGGIE

For Evervone

Change in Points Letter Harder to Get

The Athletic Board has recently made some cuts in the point system for athletic awards after careful investigation of the systems of other colleges and universities all over the United States. It was found that Agnes Scott required less of a girl in awarding her an "A.S." than any other school that was taken into consideration. It was decided that the number of letters on the campus was too great in proportion to the number of students; so in order to make the award mean more to the students, a great many of the points were lowered. One thing to be noted is that whereas, heretofore, a girl making a varsity received the points for her class team and squad as well, now, under the new system, she will receive only the highest number of points. Since no other schools awarded points to girls holding executive positions in the Athletic Association, these too have been taken out of the Agnes Scott sys-

A very important addition to the point system was that of points for our two newest sports, horseback riding and golf. The other changes are as follows

| as follows:                 |       |
|-----------------------------|-------|
| Varsities                   |       |
| Major sports                | _ 200 |
| Minor sports                | _ 100 |
| Hiking                      |       |
| Squad                       | _ 100 |
| Little squad                |       |
| Extra 10-mile hike          |       |
| Assistants (per season)     | _ 30  |
| Maximum toward letter       | 400   |
| TENNIS                      |       |
| Advanced:                   |       |
| School championship         | _ 250 |
| Runner-up                   | _ 100 |
| Class championship          | _ 50  |
| Beginners:                  |       |
| School championship         | _ 50  |
| Runner-up                   | _ 25  |
| Each match won              | _ 5   |
| Each match played           | _ 3   |
| Class managers (per season) | _ 30  |
| Archery                     |       |
| School championship         |       |
| Runner-up                   |       |
| Assistants                  | _ 30  |
| Golf                        |       |
| School championship         |       |
| Runner-up                   |       |
| Consolation championship    |       |
| Each match won              |       |
| Each match played           | _ 3   |
| RIDING                      |       |

O'BRIEN WINS HOCKEY STICK

Team

To Frances O'Brien, voted the best hockey player of the Sophomore team, goes this year's award of the hockey stick presented by the Senior

The custom of presenting this stick was begun by the class of 1929; and the award has gone in the past to Chopin Hudson, Mae Schlich, and Douschka Sweets.

> L. CHAJAGE Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St. Expert Remodeling

~ $~$~$~$*$*$*$*$*$*$*$*$

 "SPARKS FROM THE ANVIL" Clara Lundie Askew

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE

De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg. ~ }********************************

Hockey Varsity

Juniors Win Season.

| The 1931 hockey varsity is as fol |
|-----------------------------------|
| lows:                             |
| Maness, KatherineR. W             |
| Armstrong, MaudeR. I              |
| Bowman, SarahC                    |
| O'Brien, FrancesL. I              |
| Sweets, DouschkaL. W              |
| Dyer, DianaR. H                   |
| Schlich, MayC. H                  |
| Sturtevant, MaryL. H              |
| Harbison, Betty                   |
| Preston, FlorenceR. F             |
| Woltz, KatherineL. F              |
| Norfleet, LilaC. C                |
| Places:                           |
| First—Juniors.                    |

Second—Seniors.

Third—Sophomores.

The regular Friday hockey games were postponed until Tuesday because of rain and then had to be cut short on account of the dark. But they were the best games of the season. The Freshmen held the Sophomores to a swimming next fall. scoreless game and the Seniors tied the a very exciting hockey season. All the scores were close and excitement was high both among the players on the field and among the cheerers on the bleachers, who loyally upheld their classes. The Freshmen, although unable to win, were playing with good teamwork by the end of the season.

Forty Go on Hike

Hiking Grows More Popular

Forty Hottentots went on a supper hike on the Seminary road, Wednesday They marched out in groups of three yet been played. to an open space in the woods where two huge fires burned. There "pigs in the blanket" were broiled, on sticks over the fires, and marshmallows were toasted (then eaten, of course), and afterwards in a circle about the larger fire, the crowd sang songs. Then they tramped back again, singing on the small racquets and balls, cannot be Hikes are in style this season, if Last It's fun!

Swimming Varsity

Water Polo Season Begins

The 1931 swimming varsity is as follows:

Grace Fincher Marjorie Woodward Lucile Heath Carrie Lingle Dot Cassel Polly Gordon Alice Frierson Frances Cassel

A very successful swimming season third. which included three big meets has just been completed. The Sophomores won the first two, and in the last one, which was witnessed by many of the trustees and faculty, the Freshmen carried off the honors. The meets drew many enthusiastic spectators and the room fairly burst with echoes of cheers and songs. The events were varied and These meets allowed for participation of many from each class and it is hoped that many more will come out for

But now water polo has begun! It is one of our most thrilling and exhil-These two games brought to a finish erating major sports that is offered.

Golf Tournament

Field Shackleford Wins

In the final match of the golf tournament which was played last week, Field Shackleford was winner and Virginia Herrin runner-up. As the tournament was the first ever put on at Agnes Scott, and as the sport is a comparatively new one here, much interest was displayed in the event. The student body as a whole, was invited to view the final match. The final evening, chaperoned by Dr. Robinson. match in the consolation flight has not

Ping Pong in Inman

Much Interest Shown

Ping Pong, though played with quite said to create a small interest. year several inter-dormitory never before. Almost everybody is tournaments were started, the matches going on ten mile, organized, and un- taking place while Inman coffee was organized, hikes. The Studio drug store being served. If you have ever played is being patronized, especially on Sun- before, find a partner in your dormiday afternoon, so the hikers will have tory and challenge some other dormienough unorganized hikes to make the tory; and if you haven't played, now squad. Come on, girls, let's hike! is the time to learn! Come to Inman lobby and see what you can do.

First Horse Show

Bashinski Wins Firsts

Friday afternoon Agnes Scott's first real horse show was held on the hockey field, as the culminating event of the riding season. The judges were from off-campus, and Dr. Davidson announced the events and their results.

The first event was the three-gaited class for beginners for form which was won by Lovelyn Wilson; Anne Hopkins, second place, and Louise Brant, Next was the five-gaited class for beginners, won by Lovelyn Wilson, with Elizabeth Alexander second, and Lucy Goss third.

The classes for advanced riders came next, the three-gaited class first. Helen Bashinski took first place, Maude Anderson second, and Mary Hutchison included diving, dashes, relays, form third. In the five-gaited class for adswimming and several ridiculous races. vanced riders Bertie Wells came first, Carr Mitchell second, and Maude Anderson third.

> The final event was the jumping for form. First place was won by Helen Bashinski on Diamond; second by Mary Hutchinson on Sun Up; and third by Bertie Wells on Diamond.

> Blue, red and white ribbons were awarded to the winners in each class. All of the events were exciting, and showed a great deal of skill on the part of the riders.

> It is hoped that this first successful horse show will pave the way for future bigger and better ones!

Sports for Faculty

Enjoy Tennis and Hiking

The new annual slogan of the Athletic Association, "Sports for Funfor Everyone," applies not only to the Hottentots in general, but even to their professors who feel the need of vigorous outdoor exercise after confining hours in classrooms.

electrify observers with the rapid bril-lure of brisk walks through the au- an archery season which proved very tumn woods attracts many other in- successful. Quite a number took the tructors. Some of them—Miss Freed, archery classes, and several others Miss Cilley and Miss Preston—are en- joined the club and participated in the thusiastic and active hikers.

Basketball Begins

Varsity 22, Alumnae 10

Basketball, a major sport for the winter season, is to be changed this year from previous years. Instead of a three-division court, a two-division one will be used. The teams will be composed not of two forwards, two guards, and two centers, but of three forwards and three guards, with one forward jumping at center toss-up. This method of playing is being used more and more frequently, because it makes for a faster game and gives a greater opportunity for teamwork. The rules are the same for this as for the threedivision game.

The 1931-32 season was opened Thanksgiving day with the Alumnae-Varsity game. Considering the fact that neither group had practised as a team, the passing and teamwork were very good. Several pretty plays were made, when the ball passed from guard to center to forward was shot for a goal. The final score was 22-10 in favor of the Varsity. The Alumnae team was composed of Misses Wilburn, Sinclair, Emily Spivey, Bee Miller, Sara Slaughter, and Chopin Hudson. The student players were Penny Brown, Sarah Bowman, Mary Sturtevant, Nancy Rogers, Louise Schuessler, Frances O'Brien, Laura Spivey, and Mae Schlich.

Basketball practices for class teams begin this week under the management of Penny Brown for the Seniors, Josephine Clark for the Juniors, Elinor Hamilton for the Sophomores, and Leonora Spencer for the Freshmen.

B. M. Friend Wins

Many In Archery Contest

More than twenty archers gathered on the hockey field Monday, the twenty-third, to compete for the fall archery title. Bessie Meade Friend, who Dr. Davidson and Dr. Hayes daily last year won the cup in the spring tournament, was awarded the chamliance of their tennis, while Miss Hale, pionship for this fall. Shooting the Miss Crow, Miss Laney and Miss Wil- Columbia round quite accurately and burn are such ardent devotees of the consistently, she handed in a final same game that they are willing to risk score of 240, breaking all records made their necks on the poor tennis courts heretofore. Louise Harrison and Nina back of the hockey field during an Parke, two other very accurate marksarchery tournament for the sake of a men, carried off the honors for second and third places, respectively.

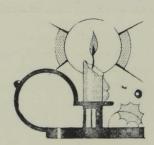

The call of the open road and the This tournament brought to a close activities sponsored by the club.

SPECIAL XMAS SALE

FUR COATS Reduced 1-4 to 1-3

H. G. LEWIS & CO.

Before You Go Home for the Holidays

Come Regenstein's

Here are frocks and hats and coats that will dazzle the family and bewith the town's eligible beaux! Here are gifts and gifts galore . . . including Yardley things for Dad... and fascinating gadgets for all the girl friends. With not a price in the place to startle a schoolgirl budget!

Vol. XVII

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE, DECATUR, GA., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1931

No. 10

TEN DAYS THAT SHOOK THE WORLD' TO BE SHOWN DEC. 15

Picture of Russian Revolution Under Auspices of Bulletin Board Foreign Films.

ment which under Kerensky's leadership held the reins of power in Russia between the abdication of the Czar and the birth of the Soviet Republic in live Bully the Bulletin Board, king of November, 1917, is depicted in "Ten the announcers!" The "Fall and Rise Days That Shook the World," the cinematic spectacle which will be shown at board plan was launched. the Atlanta Womans' Club auditorium Tuesday evening, December 15th, at Students assembled with great deal of 8:30 o'clock.

series of six outstanding productions announcements to the student body, This picture is the second in the of the Russian studios which Foreign and was promptly silenced by the pass-Atlantians, is bringing to Atlanta this and Martha Logan). The student body, Films, an organization of prominent season. The film is silent with reading titles in English and the musical score will be played by Walter Sheets and a small symphony. Admission is at Hoxsey Travel Service, 91 Forsyth Street in the Piedmont Hotel building or may be obtained at the box office at the Womans' Club on the night of the performance.

is directed by S. M. Eisenstein, remem- rooms. The Freshman president and bered far and wide for his masterly three students are the only members in keeping with the epic quality of the announcement. theme, this unusual picture shows the the new epoch in a nation's history. has been installed at the foot of the no plot, as the term is commonly un- dents reading the notices posted on it. Athletic Federation in discussing the derstood. But in his production, Eisenstein has contrived to exemplify his ideal pep meeting, practically all of the Tuesday. Miss Hodgkins is the guest cal schools, teacher-training instituown individual theories of film tech- Sophomores in attendance. A few quesnique. Its unusual and daring camera tions reveals the fact that everybody angles, its superb shots from every side, read the announcement on the bulletin above and below by which Eisenstein board. The sing ends with a snappy believes psychology as well as action salute to Bully the Bulletin Board. may be expressed and the heroic spec- king of announcers. tacles made possible by his genius in handling crowds contribute to making Faculty Advisors this film one of the really distinguished pictures in the history of the cinema. Eisenstein believes that the mass is quite as individual and heroic as the single personality and he has shown in "Ten Days That Shook the World" the heroism and the brutality and the infinitely pathetic quality of the Russian Revolution.

from the book of the same name by to 6. John Reed, a significant figure in the annals of American journalism, who was an eye-witness to the Revolution. Stukes' home, Monday afternoon, in-In the sense that Reed's account was a stead of Tuesday. day by day record, the picture may be Reed's meticulous narrative. The picture employed 120,000 actors and took two years to finish.

(Continued on page 5, column 3)

MARY STURTEVANT TO GO TO TOLEDO

Miss Mary Sturtevant was elected as the Junior representative on the executive committee, who will represent Agnes Scott at the annual congress of the National Student Federation of ing was to help the separate advisers America to be held in Toledo, Ohio, from December 27, 1931, to January quainted, and in a more informal way. 1, 1932.

***************** X RAYS

All who had positive reactions to the tuberculin tests are to have X-ray pictures on Friday and Saturday of this week. Sign up for appointments on the tablet on the last Bulletin Board on the first floor of Buttrick Hall. Report at the gymnasium a few minutes before time.

MARY F. SWEET.

Plan Launched

The fall of the Provisional Govern- Five-Act Chapel Skit Initiates Project.

> "Down with announcements! Long of Announcements" was presented in chapel Tuesday when the new bulletin > Act I was a customary chapel scene. noise and chatter. Miss Hopkins (played by Clyde Lovejoy) rose to make the ing of the 10:17 freight (Mary Miller unaware of the announcements that had been made, passed out in disorder.

Act II was staged in Rebekah Scott dining room. Miss Hopkins attempts $1 and reserved seats are now on sale to make an announcement accompanied by sshing, more chatter and the clatter of dishes and silver. She gives up in despair.

Act III is at a Freshman meeting scheduled for 5:10 and supposedly an-"Ten Days That Shook the World" nounced at chapel and in the dining "Potemkin." In short staccato scenes present because no one has heard the Act IV is Buttrick lobby at 9 A. M. sweep of historic incidents relative to A new bulletin board (Bully the King) The picture has no individual hero and stairs and the lobby is filled with stu-

Entertain Groups on.

Davidson and Mr. Stukes.

Faculty advisers entertained their Freshmen groups at separate gather-The title of the picture is taken ings last Tuesday afternoon from 5

The purpose of the gathering is to said to constitute the screen version, help the faculty and students to bebut it is of course not quite accurate come better acquainted. The time is to call the picture a dramatization of not devoted to the discussion of any particular problems or subjects, but merely to general conversation on subjects of interest to the particular people in that group.

> There are about seven Freshmen in each group, and their adviser is supposed to help them with any question they wish to bring to her.

At the first meeting all the groups met together so that this second meetand advisees to become better ac-

There will be two more meetings during the school year, one in separate groups, and one all together.

WHITE CHRISTMAS, DEC. 13

The White Christmas service will be held in the chapel, Sunday, December 13, at 6 o'clock.

A long time ago some one thought of the idea of White Christmas. No one can forget the impressiveness of the service—a strange new idea of a white tree, its frail beauty against a dark background—candles burning—a vested choir shadowy in the flickering light—then suddenly the strains of the ****** age old carol "Silent Night." ****************

Field Secretary Of N. A. A. F. Makes Address

Miss Hodgkins Guest of Agnes Scott Athletic Association.

"Our ideal is to keep women's athletics free from commercialism and professionalism and to make them absolutely sane," said Miss Anne Hodgkins, field secretary of the Women's compare standards of institutions with Division of the National Amateur others of the same type instead of the Act V at 5:10 in chapel shows an aims of that organization in chapel of the Athletic Association, which is tions, and junior colleges. member of the N. A. A. F.

> ington, by Mrs. Herbert Hoover to ship and none were dropped. find means for preventing women's athletics from taking on the bad features which men's athletics had taken

Miss Hodgkins discussed next three Transfers Are Guests of Dr. needs which the N. A. A. F. is attempting to remedy. There is a need for mass participation, which will in-(Continued on page 5, column 3)

BULLETIN BOARD RULES

*****************

- 1 A bulletin board is placed in Buttrick Hall in the front lobby on which all notices will be posted. No student announcements whatsoever are to be given in the dining rooms, or in the
- 2. The rules for the bulletin board are as follows:
- (a) There shall be five sections: Senior, Junior, Sophomore,
- Freshman, and General. (b) Notices shall be posted:
- (1) Once a day—they must be in by 9:30 A. M. and will remain that day only unless signified by dates in the upper right hand corner.
- (2) Printed on regulation cards—these cards to be found in the dean's office. Notices must be signed.
- (3) Only through the dean's
- (4) One notice on one card posters and other long announcements shall be on the Main (or other) boards and reference to them on the Buttrick one.
- 3. Students shall be absolutely responsible for all notices posted on this board-class and general.

GLEE CLUB GIVES SPLENDID CAROL AND ORGAN SERVICE

Southern Ass'n Meets Dec. 1 to 3

Dr. McCain and Mr. Stukes Represent Agnes Scott.

A slight but encouraging improvement in conditions on campuses of Mrs. Gussie O'Neal Johnson, at 4 southern colleges was noticed by Dr. o'clock Sunday afternoon, December J. R. McCain, who, as chairman of the 6, in the college chapel. The procommittee on Member Institutions, at- gram which showed variety in the tended the recent meeting of the Association of Colleges and Secondary ing was as follows: Schools of the Southern States at Faithful" (Adeste Fideles). Montgomery, Ala.

Two institutions of higher learning were dropped from membership, 22 were put on probation, and 11 were warned, but these figures are slightly lower than those of last year.

[a] Vigan The Congain The Conga

Mr. S. G. Stukes, who also attended the association meeting, addressed the Montgomery Agnes Scott Almnae association during his stay there, and both he and Dr. McCain were cordially welcomed by the alumnae of that city.

The committee of which Dr. Mc-Cain is chairman made two suggestions to the association which are being favorably considered. One was that the long name of the association be changed to the shorter form Southern Association of Colleges. The second suggestion was that the work of the association be redistributed under five committees which may more fairly heterogenious comparison as at present. These five commissions will be one each on colleges, large universities, techni-

The junior college movement is ap-"In 1923," said Miss Hodgkins in parently one of permanency for Dr. outlining the history of the organiza- McCain reports that six new junior intion, a conference was called in Wash- stitutions were admitted to member-of Bargaining.

Alumnae Bazaar Held Dec. 2

Skeen), as president of the organiza- Winn. tion, had charge of the bazaa

The various tables were decorated One displayed linen, another kitchenware; several had candy, jellies, and cakes; another, baby clothes and toys; Wilson. one table sold aprons; and the Japanese table had a display of ivory lemon forks, dolls, and jewelry.

During the afternoon and evening a program consisting of music, dances, and readings, was given. From a table at one end of the room tea and coffee were served by Miss Hopkins, Miss Mc-Kinney, Mrs. Charles Harmon, Mrs. Steven Barnett, Mrs. J. L. Campbell, and Mrs. Clyde King.

Several hundred dollars were cleared at the bazaar, and the profit is to go for the $500 yearly pledge which the Atlanta Alumnae Club made to the campaign fund.

HANDEL'S "MESSIAH" DEC. 13

The thirteenth presentation of the contata, the "Messiah" by Handel, will take place in the chapel Sunday, December 13, at three o'clock.

This presentation is to be given as usual by the Agnes Scott Choral Club. Misses Mary Ruth Rountree, soprano, and Kathleen Bowen, contralto, and Messers. Vaughan Ozmer, tenor, and Walter Herbert, baritone, will have solo parts while Mr. Dieckmann will be organist.

Assisted by Miss Smith and Mr. Dieckmann, Directed by Mrs. Johnson.

The Agnes Scott Glee Club, assisted by Miss Florence E. Smith, violinist, and Mr. C. W. Dieckmann, organist, gave a Christmas carol and organ service under the direction of choice of numbers and excellent train-

Processional—"O Come, All Ye

Glee Club—"God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen," Traditional.

"The First Nowell," Traditional. Organ-"The Holy Virgin," Op.

(b) "The Holy Night."

Glee Club - "While Shepherds Watched," Praetorius (1609).

"The Sleep of the Child Jesus" (French Carol), Gaevert.

"Carol of the Russian Children" (from White Russia), Arr. by Gaul. Organ-"March of the Magi," Du-

Glee Club—"In Excelsis Gloria" (1500), F. Harker.

"An Old Song" (words anon.), Anne Magarey.

"The Virgin at the Crib" (17th Cent.), Montani.

Soprano solo, Mary Rountree. Violin Obbligato, Florence E. Smith.

Organ — "Children's Christmas March," Dieckmann.

Carols-"Great God" and "Come Shepherds, Awake," Guilmant. Glee Club—"Sleep, Holy Babe,"

Candlyn. Contralto solo, Kathleen 'Silent Night, Holy Night," Gruber. Recessional-"O Little Town of Bethlehem," Redner.

Members of Glee Club:

First Sopranos-Mary Charles Alexander, Dorothy Bradley, Maxine Crisler, Elizabeth Davis, Louise Farley, Polly Jones, Audrey Rainey, Mary Ruth Rountree, Marjorie Simmons, Georgian Terrace Is Scene Marlyn Tate, Crystal Hope Wellborn, Virginia Wood, Madge York.

Second Sopranos-Louise Cawthorn, The Atlanta Agnes Scott Alumnae Margaret Friend, Lucille Heath, Mar-Club held its annual bazaar, December garet Glass, Alma Fraser Howerton, 2, from 2 to 10 P. M. in the lounge LaMyra Kane, Gussie Rose Riddle, of the Georgian Terrace hotel. Mrs. Carolyn Russell, Letitia Rockmore, Samuel Inman Cooper (Augusta Mary Louise Schumann, Elizabeth

First Altos-Maude Anderson, Margaret Belote, Kathleen Bowen, Jane with poinsettas and red candles, Goodwin, Mary Green, Julia Grimmet, Harriet Haynes, Octavia Howard, Martha Logan, Margaret Massie, Isabel

> Second Altos - Harriet Howard, Marguerite Jones, Kathrine Maness, Ruth Shippey, Suzell Triare, Elizabeth Thompson.

MR. JENKINS TO SPEAK ON RUSSIA

Mr. Jenkins of Atlanta will address the International Relations Club tonight at 8 o'clock in Miss Gooch's Studio on the subject, "The Cultural Life of the Young People of Russia.' Mrs. Jenkins, who is a native Russian, has also been invited to the meeting.

DEBATE THURSDAY

******************

Oxford University will debate Agnes Scott Thursday, December 10, at 8:30 in the gymnasium. The question for debate is, Resolved: That American civilization is a greater menace to the world than that of Russia. Agnes Scott will uphold the negative.

*********

Subscription price, $1.25 per year in advance. Single copies, 5c.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY. Owned and published by the Students of Agnes Scott College.

Entered as Second Class Matter.

STAFF

| Editor           | BETTY BONHAM        |
|------------------|---------------------|
| Assistant Editor | ELIZABETH LIGHTCAP  |
| Feature Editor   | GAIL NELSON         |
| Society Editor   | Mary Hamilton       |
|                  | ELIZABETH LYNCH     |
| Athletic Editor  | KATHARINE WOLTZ     |
| Alumnae Editor   | Cornelia Keeton     |
| Club Editor      | Bessie Meade Friend |
| Joke Editor      | Johnnie Mae York    |
| Giddy Gossip     | CAROLINE LINGLE     |
|                  |                     |

MANAGEMENT

| Advertising Manager           | CLYDE LOVEJOY      |
|-------------------------------|--------------------|
| Business Manager              | GRACE FINCHER      |
| Circulation Manager           | LILA ROSS NORFLEET |
| Assistant Circulation Manager | Imogene Hudson     |
|                               |                    |

REPORTERS FOR THIS ISSUE

| Pauline Gordon  |  |
|-----------------|--|
| Nelle Chamlee   |  |
| Rossie Ritchie  |  |
| MARY JANE EVANS |  |
| MARTHA ELLIOTT  |  |

MARGARET LORANZ JANE GOODWIN OLIVE WEEKS VIRGINIA PRETTYMAN LETITIA ROCKMORE

MARGARET WEEKS

PEACE ON EARTH

In an article with this title in the December Pictorial Review, Mrs. Sinclair Lewis pleads in an intelligent and eloquent manner for world peace. She voices the desire of people the world over difficult subjects. for relief that disarmament will bring. The whole world is crying for peace—in international relationships, in the domestic troubles of our nation and in our own individual lives. How many times in the last few months have you heard someone say, "If I only had a few minutes peace!"

Perhaps if we could attain this goal in our individual lives, it fices of the China Union Universities. would carry over into national and international affairs. It lies Appeals of this sort from the student within our power. "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give group of one nation to that of another unto you . . . Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be of international unity. It would be afraid." And again the Christmas angels sing, "Glory to God in a significant step in international rela- Daniel. Mr. McDaniel is staff super- Shows Her Medals," recently broadthe highest and on earth peace, good will toward men.'

Under the heading "Self-Made Men," a bookstore catalogue lists two biographies. In big type is advertised Al Capone, with the boast, "It is all there, from the first handshake murder to the the country are now taking a half hour Miss Rainey, among them a beautiful rold Scholarship. last machine-gun bullet—and the trigger finger still writes!"

Beneath this blurb, an apologetic display announces the life versity of the Air. Radio courses on day evening, when Mrs. Nisbet and of another great man—Edison As I Knew Him, by Henry Ford and Samuel Crowther.

Is it really to be wondered that the criminal population auspices of the Advisory Council on grows, when the profits of racketeering are made so attractive, while the "basic rules for success applicable to every life and every enterprise" are made by comparison to appear so picayune? -Ladies' Home Journal.

In every case the guilt of war is confined to a few persons and the many are friends.—Plato.

Ah! how seriously—I have thought—of the terrible folly of pective value for educational uses. Alever quarreling with a true friend on good-for-nothing trifles.— Charles Dickens.

We are never more discontented with others than when we are discontented with ourselves. The consciousness of wrongdoing makes us irritable, and our heart in its cunning quarrels with what is outside it, in order that it may deafen the clamor within.—Amiel's Journal.

Servant of All is a greater title than King of Kings.—Dr. Frank Crane.

If you don't believe in cooperation watch what happens to a the faculty. wagon when one wheel comes off.—Anon.

Did You Pull This One?

Are you fond of "Boners"? Do you eagerly follow those printed each day in a certain Atlanta newspaper? Well, Agnes Scott students have been known to pull boners, too! Here are some of the statements which have appeared on tests and papers and in the class

"Metamorphosis is when an animal such as the frog hops or even leaps in its development."

"Gastrula is the duct which carries the gastric juice to the stomach."

The liver flute went up the bile duck of the sheep.

To the question, "What is mimicry?" "The mimi-cry is the cry of a larvae bee.'

"Michael Angelo climbed a scaffold her father, the French Premier." and painted the Sistine chapel on his

"Mohammedans are good Chris-the man, the wife, and the columbines.

"The organs of indigestion of the crayfish are-

"Carbon dioxide is used for fire distinguishers."

"A paramecium possesses an oral

"The bookworm leaves a condition of scared tissue within the lungs. "Homage is the process of holding

'A mosquito has six tails."

N.S.F.A. News

Latin has been shorn of its worst terrors after many years as the chief ally-in fiction at least-of the hardheaded schoolmaster. A revised plan of instruction is now being tried in many schools, according to Professor W. L. Carr of Teachers College, Columbia tific data and his planes left there in versity of Mexico, America's oldest University, in which less emphasis is being placed on grammar and more on bringing back to life, through the medium of the language, the dead days of the old Romans. This revolution in methods, he believes, may easily help States! Forty out of every thousand outside contributors. blaze the trail that will lead to changes babies die in New Zealand while 100 This university is truly an ancient in the teaching of other admittedly support in the maintenance of peace between China and Japan has been received from President Lin of Fukien Christian University through the ofare of great importance in the creation tions if student initiative would devise some method of supporting fellow students in China.

a week to attend classes of the Uni- dinner in the Alumnae House last Fripsychology and economics are given Miss Margaret Whitington were hosteach week by distinguished authorities esses. on a nation-wide network under the Radio Education. After the first lecture a week ago, more than ten thousand listeners had purchased the 25c 'listeners notebook" published by the University of Chicago Press. Judging by their letters, these adult students welcome the opportunity to brush up on these rapidly changing sciences.

When the radio first became popular, particular stress was laid on its prosthough these predictions have not so far materialized, it is hoped that this new move will make radio education

A plan has been worked out at Brown University whereby the student may consider the temperament of the professor as well as the desirability of his course in making out his program. On the opening day of college a 'Who's Who" is given to each new student, giving a short account of the degrees, professional experience, and principal avocations of each member of

(Continued on page 4, column 1)

WE SEE BY THE PAPERS

Out in the World

There'll probably be some tall tarifftalking at the December session of Congress, for England has answered the Smoot-Hawley tariff with a 50 per cent tariff on finished goods that says, "How do you like it, Sam?" Uncle Sam says "I don't."

The world's best-loved lady has just come a regulation next year. experienced a new kind of incandescent beauty bath." Miss Liberty's oldfashioned lighting effects made her and Robert Montgomery as their favorseem to have a double chin and crow's- ite screen actress and actor. Greta feet around her eyes. So recently her Garbo, Joan Crawford and Janet Gaystatue face has been enhanced by a new nor were the next most popular actshadowless floodlight system which resses while George Arliss, Clark Gable, makes Lady Liberty as charming by and Lew Ayres ran high in popular night as by day. The system was nomination. switched into operation by Mlle. Jose Laval when she was in America with and livid fire which made night into letters. It also has the regulation let-"The Hebrew family consisted of 000 last Thursday night. One whole keys are contained in the keyboard. river front business section was en- With this machine it is possible to dangered by the most spectacular fire write 1,000 words a minute, it is said. in that city since the great fire of 1901. Roofs drenched with recent rains saved the city from a greater fire.

was renamed Atlanta.

Disarmament conferences are being planned for February, 1932, at Geneva are being invented.

The latest one is a great "swimming tank" invented by a British army man. The huge amphibious tank will "swim' across rivers, climb a slope of 30 to 45 degrees and can do better than 40 miles per hour on land.

Admiral Byrd has set next September as the date for the beginning of another South Polar expedition. Scien- institutions of learning. The Uni-'cold storage" last time, are what Byrd educational institution, founded in will go after this trip.

in New Zealand than in the United available through the generosity of per thousand died here until the last seat of learning, since it was founded few years the figure has been lowered ninety years before the establishment to 65. There were 3,000,000 babies of Harvard University. A most diplo-An appeal for American student born in this country last year and 200,- matic gesture would be the financing 000 of them died during their first of this institution through American

On Other Campuses

Roanoke College had their Thanksgiving holiday extended this year from Wednesday afternoon until the following Monday afternoon. If the student body does not abuse this privilege by cutting classes just before and just after the holidays, this practice will be-

Emory students chose Norma Shearer

A German inventor has invented a word typewriter to be used in business correspondence. It employs the Chemicals exploding high in the air words most frequently used in business red day cost Jacksonville, Fla., $600,- ter keys. One hundred and sixty-four Four Georgia Tech men were named to Tech's newest national honorary so-In 1847 the village of Marthasville ciety, O. D. K., last week. They were John Ingle, Howard Moffett, Dan McEver and Jack Conciff.

Some of the "Hints" in the Fresh--and great new deadly engines of war man Bibles which have been given to all the Freshmen at Smith College are: 'Communism has never been successfully worked out. Wear your own clothes and let others wear theirs." 'Bridge is the thief of time." "Remember you came to Smith and not to Amherst."

One of the saddest aspects of our present depression is its effect on our 1551, is forced to remain in operation with only a skeleton of its organiza-A baby has a better chance to live tion until additional funds are made year.—Literary Digest and local papers. | contributions.—Watchtower.

Alumnae News

Frances Rainey, '27, is to be married on December 15, at her home in visor of steel construction with the casted by WSB. Newport News Dry Dock and Shipbuilding Co., and they will make their Elizabeth Hatchett, '29, is getting home in Newport News, Va. Many her M. A. this winter at Columbia Uni of the honor students at Marshall Col- Hours," Books I and II, published by lege ir Huntington, W. Va.

Esther Rice, '29, is living this winter on Mission Court, Brook Road, in Richmond, Va.

Sara Carter, '29, had the leading role Waycross, Ga., to Mr. Carroll Key Mc- in a radio production, "The Old Lady

Men and women from all parts of delightful parties have been given for versity, as winner of the Quenelle Har-

Miss Sally Stribling, student of the Institute days, and now Supervisor of Primary Schools in Greenville, S. C., has recently written two attractive Marie Louise Robinson, ex-'34, is one health primers called "Happy Health (Continued on page 4, column 3)

Agnes Scott College

DECATUR, GA.

A college for women that is widely recognized for its standards of work and for the interesting character of its student activities

For further information, address

J. R. McCain, President

Giddy, my pal, thought of eight more days till vaca- see what I mean.) tion? Tra! La! The whole campus willies pulled this past week.

to look up the Phi Beta Kappa in the me in town!

phone book! Meade was writing a letter to a Spanish lady in her best style the other day. "We want very much to have you come out and speak to our Spanish Club in Spanish about the customs and celebration of Christmas in Spain. We do not understand Spanish, nor do we know anything about the customs, so I am sure your lecture will be a revelation to us"!!!

And Mardy . . . Well, Saturday, she was supposed to meet Lib Howard's brother in front of Davison's and go to a show. You can imagine how forlorn she felt after walking up and down in front of the place for an hour and a half without any sign of the boy. very unpopular member of the younger set. No sooner had she arrived when married! the telephone rang for her. It was said brother. "Where were you?" he demanded. "Well, where were you, you ** zz 1/4 3/4 — & & & !!!???" returned Mardy sweetly. "Why, I walked up and down in front of Davison's for an around loose anywhere, have you?

hour and a half," he replied. And I guess I'll live through this attack then it came out. They had been waitof C. S., but it seems highly improbable ing for each other with each other, and at the moment. Can you stand the hadn't recognized themselves! (If you

Speaking of meeting people, Emily has certainly been in an uproar lately. McGahee was seen down in front of That may account for the peculiar Davison's in a frenzy not long ago. things that have happened. At any On seeing a school chum, she asked rate, there have certainly been a lot of despairingly, "Have you seen Julia Clark? I've been waiting for her an A perfect example is Plant Ellis' hour. "No," replied the Hottentot, romantic gesture in an effort to get in "Are you sure you were to meet her touch with a boy at Tech. "Well," here?" "Well, no," said Emily sheepshe said, "I guess I'll just call him up ishly, "she didn't exactly say any parat his fraternity house," and proceeded ticular place—she just said she'd meet

Then there was the Freshman who Then those Friend sisters just won't went to get permission from Miss Hoplet things dry up around here. Bessie kins. "My brother's in town, and he wants my roommate and I to go out to dinner with him." "And me," said Miss Hopkins in gentle correction. Well," replied the verdant creature, 'he didn't say anything about you, but I know he'd be glad to have you!"

The other day somebody was looking for the Thompson twins. "I just saw one of them," contributed some kind soul, "but I didn't know which one it was." "Well, then it was Mildred," said the first gal with assurance, Whenever you see one by herself, it's always Mildred."

Imagine Blanche Lindsey's surprise on returning to school after Thanks-Finally, she crept home, feeling like a giving to find out from the campus in general that she had gone home to get

> Yes, I'm beginning to feel that it's time to stop, too-

> > Devotedly,

SAD POME Of all sad words Of tongue or pen The saddest are these: "I forgot to sign in!"

L. CHAJAGE Dixie's Leading Furrier 220 Peachtree St.

Expert Remodeling

~ ~ ~ ~

************************

NOW IS YOUR TIME TO SAVE ON COATS

Handsome Furred Coats $24.75-$34.75

New Sport Coats

$14.75

A DRESS SALE EXTRAORDINARY

New Bright Shades

Rough Silks, New Sheer Wools

$7.95-$9.95-$14.75

<sup></sup>

SANDWICHES

Lawrence's Pharmacy

Phones De. 0762-0763

WE MAKE THEM RIGHT

TRY OUR

about time the baby learned to say 'papa.'?''

Mother: "No, I hadn't intended telling him who you are until he becomes a little stronger.'

My friends laughed when I stepped up to the piano. They thought I couldn't lift it. They were right, I couldn't. It was nailed down.

"The drinks are on me," said the waiter as he spilled the tray over him-

Club News

B. O. Z. met December 2 in the Alumnae House. The new members admitted in November tryouts were present for the first time, and after a discussion of the aims of the club a short program was given: the reading of two informal essays by Vivian Martin and Virginia Prettyman.

FRENCH CLUB

The French faculty will entertain December 14, at 5 o'clock in Mr. faces of all the Hottentots with broad sist of a series of French Christmas wonderful, and that's why Agnes Scot-Hayes on "The Neighborhood of to a marvelous dance, and they cram

December 17, the night before the col- they'll be doing in about ten days, three lege closes for the holidays.

SPANISH CLUB

Mrs. J. Edward Campbell, a native Spaniard who is now living in Atlanta, will be the guest of the Spanish Club Wednesday afternoon, December 13, at 5:00 in Mr. Johnson's studio. After a Spanish duet by Kathleen Bowen and with her sister, Mrs. M. J. Herbol- catur. Mragaret Belote, Mrs. Campbell will speak to the club on Christmas customs in Spain. Mrs. Campbell, besides being a native of Spain, has served on the faculty of the International College of that country and has taught at Wel-

After the talk, the members of the club will sing Spanish Christmas carols during an informal social hour.

GLEE CLUB

the Glee Club have been attending special practices in anticipation of the carol service. It was presented Sunday afternoon in the college chapel, You haven't seen a burglar running and will be repeated Sunday, December 13, at 7:30 in the Saint Mark's Methodist church, Atlanta. An im-Proud Father: "Don't you think it's pressive ceremony is planned, and, as a feature of this, the members of the club will carry lighted candles in the processional, which will be to Adeste

> BIBLE CLUB The Bible Club held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday, Decem-

We Repair Watches, Clocks and Jewelry MUENCH AND ELSNER 20 Peachtree Street, N. E. (First National Bank Bldg.) Atlanta, Ga.

Christmas is coming, and that good the French Club Monday afternoon, old Christmas spirit is lighting up the Mrs. W. L. Inglis, for the week-end. Johnson's studio at the regular month- beaming smiles. When one is so very y meeting. The program will con- happy, one just must do something carols and various talks on French life ters are doing such wonderful things and customs. Suzel Triaire will speak and having such wonderful times these on "Christmas in Provence," Mrs. last two weeks. They dash into town Lyons" and Miss Rachael Neeley on their week-ends full of most delicious things such as dinners and shows and things such as dinners and shows and and Mary Hamilton. According to an old tradition of the tea-dances. And even those who don't French Club, the members will go do all these things are certainly socialfrom building to building, singing minded, for they are thinking, as they Christmas carols Thursday night, write those old term papers, of what hours, and fifty minutes. So Christmas means society, and society means Ga., for the week-end.

> Julia Henderson was the week-end with her grandmother in Atlanta. guest of Margaret Goins in Atlanta.

Margaret Waterman had as her guest for the week-end Miss Julie Edwards.

Miss Edna Blake of Converse visited lesley here in the United States for Dorothy Dickson Saturday and Sun-

> Mallie White attended the dance at the Palais Peachtree Saturday night.

Caroline Wilder was the guest of For the past two weeks members of Mrs. J. R. Bakey in Atlanta for the week-end.

> Natilu McKenney spent Saturday night with Mrs. F. W. Cooksey.

Sunday.

ber 2, in the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet room. After the business meeting, presided over by Olive Weeks, A. F. Howerton led the informal program which consisted of a series of short talks on the origin of some of the most beloved hymns. Following the histories, given by A. F. Howerton, Martha Plant Ellis, Elaine Heckle, and Florence Preston, the hymns were Another impossible thing is for two cross-eyed men to look each other in the eye.

Sara Mae Love went to her aunt's,

Ruth Barnett had dinner Sunday in Atlanta with Mrs. C. A. Alexander.

Among those attending the Tech Co-op dance Friday night were: Clyde Lovejoy, Penny Brown, Plant Ellis, Jewel Coxwell entertained the Physic's class Thursday at her home in Decatur.

Eleanor Wofford was in Grantville,

Frances Duke spent the week-end

Mary Miller and Martha Logan had Louise Brant spent the week-end dinner Sunday with Polly Jones in De-

> Penny Brown went to a debutante party at Louise Moore's Tuesday night.

Mary Hamilton spent Friday night with Penelope Brown at her home in Atlanta.

Marge Simmons was the guest of Mrs. R. L. Barett in Atlanta for the week-end. She attended a bridge party at Miss Anna Glass' Saturday night.

Mary MacDonald, Juliette Kaufman, and Mary Hamilton took their Girls' High Girl Reserve Group to camp at Camp Highlands for the week-end.

Bobby Hart and Charlie Alexander Gus Riddle's family was with her had a birthday party in their room the night of December 1.

> The meeting was sudden, The parting was sad; She gave her young life meekly, The only one she had.

She sleeps beneath the willows, Peacefully resting now, But that's what always happens When a freight train meets a cow.

Jokes of Dr. — remind us We can make our grade sublime By bursting forth in joyous laughter At the designnated time.

********** "SPARKS FROM THE ANVIL" -bv-

Clara Lundie Askew

Margaret Waite Book Shop Peachtree Arcade

********** SILHOUETTE TEA ROOM
Anna Young Alumnae House Hours
7:30-2:00
4:00-7:00
10:00-10:30

Where the Crowd Meets After the Dance

*****************

"Sixty Second Service"

፞፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠፠

122 Peachtree

Offer a new line of

MY-STYI Underwear Costume Jewelry

Just in Time for XMAS SHOPPING

OUR FIRST SALE

On Entire Stock of

Coats and Dresses

Now

World Fellowship Dinner

Flags, gay streamers, and decorated tables made the dining halls in Rebekah and White House festive for the World Fellowship dinner, Friday, December 4. There were two French tables in Rebekah and one in White House, where girls who were particularly interested in that language sat. Spanish table in each dining hall.

portraying the people and customs of of her native land, Czechoslovakia.

The money saved on the dinner will in pitching goals, various prizes. be given to the World Fellowship committee for aid in their work in these students and faculty. Wieners, dopes, countries.

(Continued from page 2, column 3)

Among the many significant statements made by the late Thomas A. Edison was: "The more mental apparatus is worked, the longer will the normal person live. Retiring from an active mental life is a dangerous thing." One fears for the longevity of college students if Mr. Edison is right.

and, "What's wrong with the students?" will be the topics of general compiled after the students had interdiscussion at a faculty-student conference arranged by representatives of Oregon State College, Reed College, through questionnaires and personal and the University of Oregon.

Delegates to the conference, who will meet at a hotel atop Mt. Hood, will consider the relationship between given recently in a psychology class at faculty and students, and will criticise the University of Texas. present lecture and classroom pro-

Two philanthropic summer school students at Columbia University dug deep into their pockets and together gave 2c to the University for the advancement of the study of music, philosophy, history and religion.

"No lipstick Saturday," is the warning issued by the Sophomores of Tulane | comparison. University. Freshmen will be forbidden to appear with the slightest trace of lip rouge. A committee of which no cheating was possible. A Sophomores will be on guard ready to method of testing, involving individual go into action when necessary. Refractory Freshmen will have their faces the questions had been prepared. branded with lipstick and be compelled! to sit through the afternoon's football solely experimental and no credit was game with their war paint in prominent view.

Observer delegates will be allowed to attend the Annual Congress of the National Student Federation to be held in courses for its alumni in an attempt to Toledo, Ohio, from December 27, stimulate intellectual relations between 1931, to January 1, 1932.

students at Barnard College has been ing the theory that one's intellectual signed by approximately seven hundred life must end at graduation. The students. It is to be sent to the Amer- courses will be given by prominent ican Delegation to the International members of the faculty on such sub-Conference on Disarmament. After a jects as art, science, and international compulsory assembly at which disarm- relations. Two hours of outside prepament was discussed, six hundred signatures were obtained, and the number is steadily growing.

Here's to the two great American birds! May you always have one on your table and the other in your pocket -the turkey and the eagle.

DECATUR SHOE SHOP Work of the better kind By a skilled mechanic Called for and delivered "Little Dec"

*****

\ Make STEPHENS BEAUTY SHOP Your Beauty Shoppe Special Styles and Features for Christmas 153 Sycamore St. Decatur, Ga. De. 2671

, $\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta\delta

World Fair

December 5, in the gymnasium.

A special feature of this party was Arms of a Vamp" and "A Man Withing number on the program.

There were many unique booths in- Corinthian of a dying people. Korea, Suzel Triaire sang a French cluding: the Oriental booth, where song, and Jaroslava Bienertova a poem many gifts could be bought; a basket-tors for both programs," said Miss ball booth, which awarded those gifted Hodgkins, "We are sponsoring, rather > round furnished amusement to many and educational. and eskimo pies, were served by waiters in caps and aprons.

That South Carolina is being recognized, not only for her athletic prowess, her musical talent, and her scholarship, but also her initiative and practicability is a fact shown by an article staff writer and Hollywood correwhich recently appeared in Retailing, publication of Women's Wear Company, New York.

The article entitled, "Why Do People Buy in Your Store?" is the result "What's wrong with the faculty?" of extensive research made by ten Seniors. The report was based on facts viewed 800 customers and had obtained a total of 37,000 customer reactions observation.

Cheating was compulsory on a quiz

"Look at your neighbor's paper, compare your answers, change your seat if you wish; cheat in any way you can provided you do not talk, were the instructions given at the beginning of the class period. Elated students needed no urging, and with complacent expressions, they carefully copied each others answers and willingly exchanged papers for purposes of

Material covered by this quiz had also been covered by a previous test on codes which were used in answering

The purpose of the second quiz was given. Results of the experiment have not been announced yet.

Columbia University is offering the University and the alumni. This is quite in line with the trend towards A disarmament petition prepared by adult education which is fast disprovaration are required each week.

> THE TAVERN Georgia's Most Unique and Charming Tea Rooms

MRS. HODGKINS MAKES ADDRESS

(Continued from page 1, column 3) The World Fair, under the auspices clude not only the super-athletes, but of the World Fellowship Club of the the physically illiterate and handicap-Y. W. C. A., was presented Saturday, ped as well. In anticipation of the shortening of the working day it is We represent extremes, my friend, necessary to train people for leisure. The third need is the need for health the program of songs and dance. Suzel building in a race where the most Triaire, as a representative of gay Paris, prominent cause of mortality is heart As he winked his embryonic eye, sang two French songs, "thé pour disease. If the physical powers are Deux," and "Flossie." Mary and Mil- neglected and only mental and spiritual I'm rather sorry I began. Also, there were a German table and a dred Thompson next sang, "In the are exercised, the race cannot survive. art, she pointed out that the strong, During the meal a program was out a Woman." An Egyptian dance simple Doric column is the expression given. Florence Preston gave a skit, by Betty Lou Houck was the conclud- of a pioneer race, the more ornate Ionic of a cultured people, and the elaborate

"Since we have not enough instructhan the varsity system, the intramural The ping pong table and merry-go- system, which is more important, vital,

ALUMNAE NEWS

(Continued from page 2, column 5) the Webster Publishing Co. of St. Louis, Mo.

Elizabeth Wilson, '22, who has been connected with the Screenland Company in New York, has been chosen spondent for a new movie magazine, "Screenland Weekly," to be published by this company. Miss Wilson spent last Thursday in Atlanta en route to Hollywood, Cal. For the present, she will live at the Ambassador, but the first of next year she will have her own charming home. Miss Wilson is quite a successful writer and was a frequent contributor to the college publications while a student at Agnes Scott.

"TEN DAYS THAT SHOOK THE WORLD"

(Continued from page 1, column 1)
As a prologue to "Ten Days That Shook the World," James de la Fuente, widely known young violinist will play Wieniawski's Polonaise in A Major and Leonard White, dancer, and ensemble, will give Mr. White's interpretation of Tchaikowski's Marche Slav.

The next production scheduled by Foreign Films is "Czar Ivan The Terrible," starring Leonidoff of the Moscow Art Theatre which will be given at the Atlanta Womans' Club auditorium Tuesday evening, January 12th,

Hewev's

*******************

Buy Your TOILET ARTICLES SUNDRIES REMEDIES-STATIONERY SODAS—SANDWICHES

PROMPT DELIVERY

Call us Phone Dea. 0640-9110

*******

\

"SPARKS FROM THE ANVIL" Clara Lundie Askew

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE De. 3343. DeKalb Theatre Bldg. **********

Charming Tea Rooms
Serving
Serving
LUNCHEON—AFTERNOON
TEA—DINNER
11:30 A. M.-9:00 P. M.
Atlanta—65½ Broad St., N. W.
Macon—151 Cotton Ave.

BAILEY BROS. SHOE
SHOP
142 Sycamore Street
Special Attention to Ladies'
Work
DE. 0172
WE DELIVER

LOCAL and RAILWAY BAGGAGE TRANSFER

Atlanta Baggage & Cab Co. Wa. 3161 Wa. 0200

TAXICABS 5 Ride for Price of 1

2 miles 30c Black & White or Yellow Cabs Wa. 3161 Wa. 0200

Jokes

MIGHT CANCEL THE DEAL Said the Scientist to the Protoplasm, Twixt you and me is a mighty

You the beginning, I the end."

The Protoplasm made reply, Well, when I look at you, old man, -New York Evening Post.

FORGOT HER "AMEN" A mother listening to the evening astonished and amused to hear the fol-

Now I lay me down to sleep I pray the Lord my soul to keep. When he hollers let him go, Eenie, meenie, miny, mo. —Christian Leader.

Nature Stuff Through a MONOCLE

Er—spring! You perfectly priceless old thing! I'm frightfully bucked at the signs that one sees;

trees;

The priceless old lilac, and that sort of

It's so fearfully bright,

So amazingly right And one feels as one feels if one gets rather tight.

There's a tang in the air, If you know what I mean, And the grass, as it were, Is so frightfully green.

the wing.

-London Opinion.

Agnes Scott Included in Survey

Agnes Scott College is one of 100 American colleges and universities included in a survey recently made by Mme. Alice W. de Visme, head of the French department at New Jersey College for Women, who, with her husband, established the first French House at Middlebury College in 1920. Mme. de Visme's survey was for the purpose of determining how many American colleges use a system of prayer of her sleepy little daughter was language houses in connection with the teaching of foreign languages.

In questionnaires which were sent to leading colleges and universities throughout the country, Mme. de Visme described the system of language houses in use, in which a limited number of students who study a foreign tongue live in a special dormitory where they speak that language exclusively. With them live native teachers, who instruct the students not only in pronunciation and gram-The jolly old sap in the topping old mar, but in the customs and social aspects of the native country.

The survey shows that while Middlebury was the first college to establish a It jolly well cheers up a chap, does it French House, New Jersey College for Women now has the largest French house in the country. Other colleges which have foreign language houses are Wheaton, Wellesley and University of Wisconsin. Replies received from the questionnaire show that while only five colleges in the country have foreign language houses the plan is one with which professors of foreign languages everywhere are familiar and in sympa-We shall soon have the jolly old bee on thy. In their replies many colleges asked Madame de Visme to outline a plan for the establishment of language houses at their colleges.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Our Sandwiches have been reduced from 20c to 15c (not toasted), toasted 20c. Also a reduction in drinks. We have added Wieners-very delicious.

STARNES

142 E. PONCE DE LEON AVENUE AT HOTEL CANDLER

Say "Merry Christmas"

with

Frat Jewelry

INDIVIDUAL GIFTS

CHRISTMAS CARDS

PICTURE FRAMES MADE TO ORDER

THE EMBLEM SHOP

51 N. Forsyth St., Healey Bldg. ATLANTA, GA.

Agnes Scott College Windshield Stickers, two for 5c

***********************************

Dennis Lindsey Printing Company (Incorporated)

COMMERCIAL PRINTING AND STATIONERY

421 Church St.

Dearborn 0976

Decatur, Ga.