

CAMPUS CONNECTION

READY, SET, GO!

While I was growing up in St. Louis (sometime after the wagon trains stopped departing but before the arch was built), one of the biggest events of the year was my birthday. I loved dreaming up ideas for my party, dropping hints to my parents about what I really wanted to receive for presents, and waiting for the big day to finally arrive. The beginning of this academic year draws us closer to the start of our centennial celebration—the culmination of many months of planning and preparation by faculty, staff, students, alumnae and friends of Agnes Scott College.

To help you stay informed about all that's happening on campus during this busy year, we're introducing a new internal newsletter, the Campus Connection. You'll be receiving a copy each Friday afternoon, highlighting events and sharing information about the next week, beginning on Sunday. We need your news—our deadline is every Wednesday at noon. Submissions should be made to Sharonne Ward in Public Relations or Dot Markert in the Dean of Students Office.

Director of Communications

OPENING CONVOCATION, I

The Opening Convocation of the 1988-89 academic year, scheduled for Friday, August 26, at 10:25 a.m., will formally reopen the renovated Gaines Chapel and will include an academic procession of the Faculty, an address by President Ruth Schmidt, and an announcement of general interest to the community. Members of the student body, faculty, and staff should plan to be present.

TELECOMMUNICATIONS UPDATE

We have a new name! Telecommunications, formerly Telephone Services, has prepared a "preliminary" telephone listing that was available either in your room or at registration. If you did not get your copy, please call Ext. 439. This sheet is designed to be a temporary listing for the next few weeks—our official campus directory will be published and distributed in late September/early October.

NEWS FROM OFFICE SERVICES/CLERICAL POOL

During the summer months, Office Services has undergone a renovation. In addition to repainting and changing the layout of the office, new copying equipment has been added. The new copiers have special features, including automatic front to back copying and automatic stapling, which will help to process jobs more quickly. As before, those jobs that are too large or have special printing needs can still be turned into Office Services where they will be forwarded to the appropriate outside vendor.

The Clerical Pool will again be available for campus use through Office Services. Please call Ext. 318 to request assistance from a student aide. A new service that is now available is pick-up and delivery. When you have a copying job, call Office Services and an aide will come and pick up the job and then deliver it to you upon completion. (Note: This service will make use of the Clerical Pool aides and there may be times when all aides are "checked out" and the service is not available.)

ENERGY MANAGEMENT- UNDERSTANDING HOW IT WORKS

A significant portion of the College's power bill is determined by our power demand.

Demand is measured in kilowatts, and the charge is determined based on the highest demand recorded within a thirty-minute period over the previous twelve months.

In an effort to control our demand within reasonable limits, the Energy Management System monitors our demand. At Demand Level I (1,000KW), large central air conditioning systems cycle off for 10-20 minutes per hour. If demand continues to move upward, at Demand Level II (1,025KW), these units automatically move to a higher thermostat setting. At Demand Level III (1,050KW), the units shut down until the demand drops or the area reaches 90°F. Even with these limits in place, we have set a new high in demand this year.

The remaining portion of our power bill is determined by the amount of electricity used. We can all help in this area by practicing good conservation habits; turn off lights, fans and other appliances when not needed or when leaving your office or room.

Your understanding and cooperation in our collective efforts to conserve energy are appreciated.

SUNDAY EVENING VESPERS

Sunday evening vespers are a real treat. The singing is good and getting better; the attendance is good and getting better; maybe, the sermons are good and getting better! Vespers this week, on September 18, at 7:00 p.m., will be led by the Rev. Miriam Dunson, College Chaplain. The subject of the sermon, entitled "signposts to Freedom," is a positive look at the Ten Commandments, with a special focus on the first three. Scripture passages for this service are: Exodus 20:1-7, Jeremiah 31:31-33, and Matthew 22:34-40.

On September 25, the last Sunday of the month, the Lord's Supper will be celebrated during the vesper service. The Rev. Martha Jane Peterson (Class of 1975), Associate Pastor of Columbia Presbyterian Church, will lead the worship and Communion service.

The Communion Service on the last Sunday in October, the 31st, will be led by the Rev. John Bonell of the Episcopal Diocese of Atlanta. The Rev. Bonell was on campus last year for a Thanksgiving Worship Service at the invitation of the Christian Association; many students remember his very creative and entertaining look at the Thanksgiving tradition. Remember, vespers are held every Sunday evening at 7:00 p.m. in Thatcher Chapel. The service on the last Sunday of each month will include the celebration of the Lord's Supper.

CENTENNIAL WORSHIP SERVICE

On Sunday, September 25, at 11:00 a.m., there will be a Centennial Worship Service in Gaines Chapel. This service is part of a group of events that mark the beginning of our Centennial celebration. OPINION

Playing the College Rating Game

By James J. Whalen
President, Ithaca College

It is time once again for the college rating game. Newspapers, magazines, and trade publications are gearing up for the fall season. The latest "best of" editions—which rate and rank institutions of higher education—are once again appearing at newsstands and in bookstores across the country.

We are told that the rating game is played in the public interest, that prospective parents and students deserve as much information as can be provided in support of the increasingly complex task of choosing the right college. In more candid moments, we are also told by representatives of publications that such ratings are "in," and that knowing who is number one is what the public wants and will pay for. Clearly, there is money to be made in the college rating game.

Like many of my colleagues, I feel strongly that the superficial popularity contests reflected in these publications do not serve the public interest and can in fact mislead. It is one thing to rank college athletic teams on the basis of a win-loss record; a Dunkel rating for colleges themselves is nonsense.

The institutions that provide higher education to American youngsters are incredibly diverse; that is the essence of our pluralistic education system. In an imperfect world, high school guidance counselors and others conscientiously try to help match a student's needs and objectives to a college or university where those needs might be met. It is a challenging and difficult endeavor in which the confusion added by pop ratings is harmful, not helpful.

There is no question that parents and students deserve all the help they can get in making college choices, and a considerable amount of data is available to inform their decisions. Most institutions, for example, report to the College Board and to other standard references data on Scholastic Aptitude

James J. Whalen

Test scores, the number of applications received, the number of students accepted, and a profile of those who actually attend. The standard college guides also provide characteristics of the general makeup of our faculty as well as our student body, information on financial aid, and our offerings in athletics, extracurricular opportunities, study abroad options, and other special programs.

All institutions are subject to scrutiny by governmental and accrediting agencies which review our programs regularly and comprehensively to determine whether or not we are doing what we say we are doing for our students. Anyone who has participated in an accreditation visit at their own or another institution knows that the teams of professional educators who conduct these reviews examine each institution in detail. They measure our fiscal, physical, administrative, programmatic, scholarly, and general educational viability against commonly accepted criteria for institutional health.

However, even after such detailed analysis, few educators would ever presume to rank one institution relative to another.

Nonetheless, the "best of" publications have no difficulty in making such judgments and in representing them as credible, even scientific, sources of information for parents. This presumptuousness boggles the mind.

To some extent, colleges and universities—and their presidents—help perpetuate the rating game by participating in the surveys that create these popularity polls. Like publishers of the ratings, we are keenly aware of the need to market ourselves well and of the importance of being seen as a first choice school; we fall prey to the fatal attraction of wanting a good rating for our institutions. The prospect of inclusion on the "best of" lists is seductive, and exclusion can be frustrating.

We cannot stop writers and publishers from rating our colleges and universities. What we can do is choose not to participate. We do not have to be held hostage by pseudo-scientific media surveys that we as thoughtful educators can only disdain. We must exercise our responsibility to the public by not appearing to endorse the slick ratings which by definition address superficiality rather than substance.

I believe we enjoy the respect of the American public for our roles as educators and that our institutions hold a well-deserved place of privilege in our society. Let us not endanger that respect by succumbing to the allure of the rating game. I believe we must commit ourselves to a unified position on this matter and be articulate in support of the diversity and integrity of higher education.

All of us expect to be held fully accountable for providing quality education to our students. But let us resist this alarming trend to treat higher education as just another consumer product to be reviewed, rated, and ranked for profit. If we fail to take this issue seriously now, we will pay a price later.

The magazines indexed cover the fields of technology, science, the arts, politics and consumer affairs. The Library will have Academic Index for about six weeks and everyone is encouraged to use this dynamic reference tool.

ENERGY CONSERVATION

DUE TO THE WAY OUR POWER COSTS ARE DETERMINED, OUR EMPHASIS ON ENERGY CONSERVATION MUST NOW SHIFT FROM CONTROLLING DEMAND PEAKS TO MINIMIZING OUR CONSUMPTION (MEASURED IN KILOWATT HOURS.)

IN AUGUST (LAST AVAILABLE FIGURES) WE USED 435,200 KILOWATT HOURS OF ELECTRICITY AT A COST OF $23,979.05. AT THIS RATE OF CONSUMPTION, OUR ANNUAL COST WILL BE $287,748. DUE TO THE COLDER WINTER MONTHS (WHEN AIR CONDITIONING IS NOT USED), WE ANTICIPATE A REDUCTION IN COST FOR THE YEAR OF APPROXIMATELY $30,000. THIS WILL STILL LEAVE US WITH AN ANNUAL COST OF $257,748. OUR OPERATING BUDGET PROVIDES $215,000 FOR POWER; THEREFORE, TO REACH OUR GOAL, WE MUST CONSERVE $42,748 IN ENERGY COSTS OVER THE NEXT NINE MONTHS OF THE FISCAL YEAR. THIS IS $4,749 PER MONTH IN DOLLARS OR 87,700 KILOWATT HOURS OF CONSUMPTION.

THE PHYSICAL PLANT DEPARTMENT HAS OBTAINED APPROVAL FOR AND IS IN THE PROCESS OF INSTALLING ENERGY-SAVING LIGHTING RETROFITS AND ADDITIONAL ENERGY MANAGEMENT SYSTEM HARDWARE THAT IS PROJECTED TO LOWER OUR POWER CONSUMPTION BY APPROXIMATELY 50% OF THE AMOUNT NEEDED TO MEET OUR BUDGETED GOAL. THE REMAINING 40 - 45,000 KILOWATT HOURS OF CONSUMPTION MUST BE ACHIEVED THROUGH A CAMPUS-WIDE ENERGY CONSERVATION EFFORT INVOLVING THE WHOLE CAMPUS COMMUNITY. YOU CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE! TURN OFF LIGHTS, HEAT, FANS AND APPLIANCES WHEN LEAVING A ROOM OR AREA UNOCCUPIED. YOUR CONTINUED COOPERATION IN OUR ENERGY CONSERVATION EFFORT IS APPRECIATED.

VESPERS SERVICES ANNOUNCED

If you have not been attending Vespers on Sunday nights, you might want to consider attending for the next few Sundays. On Sunday, October 23, following our focus on Anti-Apartheid Week, the Rev. Mabasa Nhehiro from Zambia will lead the Vespers service. He is currently serving as Pastor for International Students at First Baptist Church in Atlanta, and will have some significant thoughts to share.

On the last Sunday evening in the month of October, the Rev. John Bonell, pastor to Episcopal students on various campuses around Atlanta, including Agnes Scott College, will lead the worship service. This will include the celebration of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

During December, leading the Sunday evening Vespers in the Chapel will be the Rev. Gibson Stroupe, Pastor of Oakhurst Presbyterian Church. He will be accompanied by the choir from his church. One of the interesting facts about this church is that it is one of the few truly integrated churches in this area. Also, coming to Agnes Scott in December will be the Rev. Carolyn Morris, Pastor of North Decatur Methodist Church and Dr. Peter Rhea Jones, Pastor of Decatur Baptist Church. Dr. Jones will also bring a singing group with him to provide special music. The Chapel staff is in the process of planning the final Vespers prior to the Christmas break which will be a service of readings and carols.

If you have questions about these services or want to make suggestions, please speak to the Chaplain or to a member of the Chapel staff.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

The Arthritis Foundation is seeking 20 individuals to assist in their "Silent Auction," a fundraiser for their Annual Crystal Ball. Be planning for next year's elections.

TO MEMBERS OF THE CAMPUS COMMUNITY

In the most recent issue of U.S. News and World Report, Agnes Scott College is listed as one of the top five national liberal arts colleges in terms of resources, which includes library resources and endowment per student. Yet Agnes Scott is not listed as one of the 25 highest rated national liberal arts colleges. Recently I have been asked by several friends of the College: "Why were Spelman, Berry and Wesleyan listed in the recent U.S. News and World Report ranking of the so-called top 125 colleges in the nation and Agnes Scott not?"

Agnes Scott College is not in the same category as Spelman, Berry and Wesleyan. Agnes Scott is considered by the Carnegie classification of colleges to be one of 140 highly selective, national liberal arts colleges, meaning that Agnes Scott has national stature and that the criteria used for admissions are among the most stringent in the country. In fact, Agnes Scott and Oglethorpe University are the only national liberal arts colleges listed for Georgia. The colleges ranked under the regional section are considered by the Carnegie classification of colleges to be "less selective, regional" liberal arts colleges.

The cover of U.S. News and World Report unfortunately states that those colleges listed are the top 125 colleges. In reality, what they have listed are the top 25 colleges in five different categories.

Accompanying this article is the Carnegie list of liberal arts I colleges.

I am sorry to inform you that Dr. Rickard B. Scott, Vice-President for Development and Public Affairs, has tendered his resignation and will conclude his work at Agnes Scott College on November 16, 1988. As you may remember from an announcement last spring, Rick's wife Virginia accepted a teaching position at Vanderbilt University, beginning this fall. The Scotts relocated their home to Nashville, and Rick has commuted between Atlanta and his new home since August.

We had hoped to retain Rick's expertise and direction for the remainder of the 1988-89 academic year. However, Rick has accepted the position of Vice-President for Institutional Advancement at Meharry Medical College in Nashville, and will begin his duties on November 21, 1988.

Rick came to Agnes Scott in July of 1983, and under his direction the College has expanded the scope of its fund-raising activities. In these five years, $30.7 million has been added to the endowment and an additional $6 million dollars was raised for the College.

We are grateful to Rick for his service to our community, and wish him well in his new career opportunity.

Because we need to continue the momentum of the campaign, we have begun the search for Rick's successor. The following description will appear in the Atlanta Journal-Constitution and the Chronicle of Higher Education:

"Agnes Scott College, a highly endowed and academically excellent liberal arts college for women in metropolitan Atlanta, seeks a Vice-President for Development and Public Affairs who reports to the President and is in charge of fund-raising, communications, and alumnae affairs. A Centennial Campaign for $35 million is well underway.

Candidates should be committed to the liberal arts and women's education, and have considerable experience in fund-raising and related areas.

Send applications or nominations, with names of three references, to: President Ruth Schmidt, Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Georgia 30030

An Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer
Position to be filled as soon as possible."

At the interviewing stage, I shall include some members of the trustees (particularly the Development Committee) and representatives from the alumnae as well as campus people.

WOMEN & PUBLIC POLICY

Many seminars bring you behind the scenes of official Washington, introduce you to policy-makers and let you observe the system at work. But the Women & Public Policy seminar is unique because it provides the perspective of the Washington women who make and influence policy.

From Jan. 3-13, 1989, women leaders and staff from Congress, courts, executive agencies, media and interest groups will team up with political scientists to teach the seminar. Students will learn how policy is made in Washington and how current public policy affects women.

Applications are available at the Alston Campus Center Information Desk. Final deadline for submittal is Dec. 1, 1988.

GREECE, SUMMER 1989

Professors Richard Parry and Donna Sadler will lead a summer study program to Greece in June, 1989. Students will receive six credits, three in philosophy and three in art history. Come to a preview — including slides from their 1987 experience. Friday, Nov. 11 at 10:25 a.m. in the Film Room. Application forms will be available.

SUMMER OPPORTUNITY

There is a unique opportunity for someone who is adventurous and energetic, and who would like to spend the summer working in Alaska! You can view the gorgeous scenery of mountain, glaciers, ocean, forests, cliffs, coves, ice fields and waterfalls. You will be able to see the wildlife of Alaska, brown bears, bald eagles and many others. Here's what it is about.

The Presbytery of Alaska (Presbyterian Church, U.S. A.) is looking for a group of young adults to work in Southeast Alaska for the summer in mission. Their primary task is to lead vacation Bible schools in the isolated villages, native communities and fishing and lumber camps. Some will act as counselors for the Presbytery's youth camp, leading recreation, leading worship and visiting in the communities.

The only cost to you is the round trip fare to Juneau, Alaska. You do not have to be Presbyterian to be accepted on the staff.

If you are interested in investigating this possibility, please see Miriam Dunson, College Chaplain, ext. 437.

BLOOD DRIVE

The Physical Education Department is sponsoring the annual blood drive on Thursday, Nov. 17 from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. in the Rebekah Reception Room. Sign up sheets will be posted in the Post Office, Dining Hall and the Physical Activities Building. You may donate blood even if you do not sign up in advance.

We are experiencing a blood shortage in the Metropolitan Atlanta area; many volunteers are needed to give blood. Our goal is 100 pints. Please, let's all help!

"COFFEE HOUSE"

The Office of Student Activities will sponsor a "Coffee House" featuring Caroline Aiken on Wednesday, Nov. 16 at 8 p.m. in the Alston Campus Center. This will be the first in a series of Wednesday night activities planned for your enjoyment. This event is free to the Agnes Scott Community and is $3 for the general public. Bring your friends, date or family. Coffee, tea and desserts will be served. Hope to see you there!

Corrie has another son, Andre, who is currently in the Navy. Terika is Corrie's adopted seven year old daughter who attends Hooper Alexander Elementary School. Corrie enjoys spending time with his wife JoAnn and working around his home.

CAMPUS RENOVATION

The renovation of Main, Rebekah and Inman were the topic of a recent article on furnishing schools in the October 1988 issue of School and College magazine. The article stated that "Furniture for education must be appealing and functional. Cost, quality and appearance are major considerations." It went on to say that Agnes Scott had achieved these objectives in a very inexpensive way — through alumnae donations. The buildings were able to retain their Victorian splendor while incorporating the usefulness of the pieces that were donated. Everyone involved with the renovation of Agnes Scott has done a splendid job and deserves a pat on the back.

A SPECIAL THANK YOU

The Admissions Staff would like to express thanks to everyone for "rolling out the red carpet" to all the Great Scott! students and parents who visited our campus last week. "CAMPUS CHARACTER"

Elmer Compton has been the Central Receiving Manager at Agnes Scott for nearly 11 months. Elmer enjoys fishing, hiking, the mountains and the seashore. He has just returned from a trip to Cumberland Island near Jacksonville, Florida, where he experienced the beauty of a totally natural environment. He has one daughter, Vivian, who is 40 years old and one son Kenneth, who is 36 years old.

SUMMER SERVICE IN ALASKA

Several students have responded to the notice we received concerning summer service in Alaska. The dates are from May 29 - July 25, 1989. Skills needed include church school teaching, recreation leadership, arts and crafts, worship leadership, music leadership, drama, group dynamics and camp counseling.

The job includes ten days of orientation and training in Juneau after which the group will be divided into teams of two, three or four. The teams will travel throughout Southeast Alaska to lead Bible schools in about 20 communities for one to two weeks in each place.

Volunteers are mostly housed in private homes, but at times, may have to sleep in their sleeping bags on church floors, aboard ferries, in empty trailers or in logging bunkhouses. Meals are provided by the host church or community. Volunteers must be willing to accept a variety of Native foods, and special diets cannot be accommodated.

Housing, board, travel in Alaska and teaching materials are provided. Limited accident/illness insurance is also available. There is no allowance from the project for travel to and from Alaska, nor is there a stipend while there. Round-trip fare to Alaska is the responsibility of the volunteer.

If interested, respond immediately by telephoning the following person and requesting application forms — Ms. Linda Crawford, Volunteers in Mission/USA, 100 Witherspoon Street - Room 3122, Louisville, KY 40202-1396, 502/569-5284. If you have questions, please contact the College Chaplain.

The five-week formal session consists of a one-week course held by the Center for Creative Leadership in Greensboro, North Carolina; a one-week experience in the Rocky Mountains of Colorado in the Executive Development Program (Outward Bound); and three weeks in Dallas, Texas to meet with guest leaders from business, government and community service. If interested, call Career Planning and Placement at ext. 397. The deadline is Friday, December 9.

STATEMENT OF FACULTY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

DECEMBER 1, 1988

Even as we acknowledge that the College has in recent decades taken strides toward eliminating racial discrimination, Dr. Gayle Pemberton's visit has alerted the faculty to the need to continue this progress. Any form of racial prejudice violates the spirit of our statement of mission and purpose, which values the contributions of individuals from diverse backgrounds. As a faculty we have a special role in assuring that the college provides an affirming environment for students of all cultures and ethnic backgrounds. Therefore, we suggest that the faculty initiate activities such as the following:

- Holding discussions with the committee on community diversity
- Holding discussions with students about the concerns of minorities
- Adopting a statement of non-discrimination
- Developing procedures for dealing with racial incidents
- Devising a process for addressing grievances arising out of racial issues.
